autumn comes but once a year

Autumn is the twilight of the year. It isn't really the death of summer, but rather a season of harvest and fulfillment, vigor, and joy. It is a season when "earth's crammed with heaven, and every common bush afire with God," Elizabeth Barrett Browning once observed.

Officially, autumn happens everywhere; but it happens best on the countryside. The growing season is over, and the land has fulfilled its mission. Now you can see the last hay rolled to the barn and scurrying squirrels and chipmunks gathering caches of seeds and nuts; soon you hear the last whippoorwill, and then the lonely honk of wild geese. It's a time for the smell of crisp red apples, cider and apple butter in the making, all in a haunting stillness "shadowless like silence."

Autumn is a time for walking. To walk with the scuffle of new-fallen leaves, to feel the mild sun and see the clear bulbous sky, to taste the pungent nostalgic fragrance of wood smoke, to have the company of busy squirrels in the woods and restless ducks along the river, is to be in the presence of eternity.

No other time of the year can offer such sheer brilliance of nature nor put you in any finer mood to appreciate it.

—Schuessler

Robert W. Nixon

Robert W. Nixon, former assistant editor of These Times, has been named book editor of the Southern Publishing Association. The board of directors appointed Nixon at their quarterly meeting, held in Nashville recently. He will assume his post immediately.

Nixon joined the Southern Publishing Association staff in 1968. Before moving to Nashville, he was assistant director for the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations.

Nixon graduated from Columbia Union College in Takoma Park, Maryland, and received his master's degree in journalism from Boston University in 1964. He holds membership in the Associated Church Press.

"Our immediate purpose, as we plan our publishing program, is to find out what our readers want and need," states Nixon. "We want to work directly with some special groups within our church, and especially with high school and college young people, so we can produce books which will appeal to a wide variety of readers."

Greggs Return to Africa

Elder Earl J. Gregg, Lake Union Conference auditor for nearly four years, has accepted a call to return to the Trans-Africa Division as secretary-treasurer of the Tanzania Union. He and Mrs. Gregg will leave in December for their new post. They had previously spent 12 years in Africa, carrying various responsibilities.

The conferences and institutions of the Lake Union have appreciated Elder Gregg's kind and efficient manner as auditor and will miss his work and counsel. We wish the Greggs many rich blessings as they depart for another term of mission service.

F. W. Wernick, President
Lake Union Conference

Voice of Prophecy Offers Christmas Cards

If you could give only one gift this coming Christmas, and that gift had to be the best possible one, what would it be?

The Voice of Prophecy suggests that gift is Jesus Christ, the only Saviour of this troubled world.

To help you give that "Best Possible Gift" this Christmas, the Voice of Prophecy is offering to you, free, two different professionally prepared Christmas cards which may be sent to friends enclosed with another Christmas card, or singly.

The attractive cards open to tell the familiar story of Jesus' birth as the Babe of Bethlehem. They declare His way the answer to the problems which plague today's world. An invitation is given to study the life of Jesus through the 22-lesson Light of the World Bible course offered by the Voice of Prophecy.

The two 3 x 5 5/8 inch Christmas cards contain the same message and the same invitation to enroll in the Light of the World Bible course. Card A, however, is adapted to younger persons with its contemporary lettering and format, while card B is rendered in a more traditional art and lettering style. Both cards are surprisingly colorful and of excellent quality. Envelopes are not provided.

If you want to give the "Best Possible Gift" this Christmas, write for your free Christmas cards to: Department FS, The Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, California 90053.

Be sure to specify which cards you want—card A with modern styling, or card B in traditional style. Orders for the cards will not be honored after December 10, so be sure to place your request immediately.

Herbert Ford
Public Relations Secretary

Two different, free Christmas cards are being offered by the Voice of Prophecy for sending to friends this coming Christmas. Card A above is rendered in modern style, while card B is more traditional format.

CEYLON'S POYA WEEK IS PROBLEM FOR ADVENTISTS

COLOMBO, CEYLON—When the Ceylon government discarded the weekly cycle in January, 1966, Seventh-day Adventists faced a problem. Work and school schedules now adhere to the Buddhist Poya Week. In it the holy day is determined by phases of the moon, so it may occur on any day. As a consequence, Seventh-day Adventists have found themselves observing their seventh-day Sabbath, which occurs each Saturday, while the rest of the community may be at work or in school.

Though Catholic and Anglican churches have adjusted their schedules so members may work on Sunday when necessary, Adventists still keep Saturday. They believe that the sacredness of the seventh day has been assigned by God and not man. Leaders report a 30 per cent gain in membership in spite of the problems.

Adventist Campuses To Have Chaplains

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Students on Seventh-day Adventist college and university campuses will soon have special campus pastors, or chaplains, available for counseling. Officials of the church took action at their Fall Council recommending the new post.

The campus chaplains will not be involved in formal teaching, but will devote their full time to counseling and direction of religious activities on campus. The church made the move as American colleges and universities rumble with unrest. "Church-related campuses may not always be immune," officials added. The action will affect 12 colleges operated by the church across North America.

SUPREME COURT TO STUDY OBJECTOR CLASSIFICATION

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The U. S. Supreme Court has placed on its docket a hearing on C.O.'s who have no religious grounds for their noncombatant position. The hearing will include study of the "selective objection"—that is, opposition to participation in specific wars rather than all wars, and the constitutionality of a part of the draft law.

The hearings will be on two appeals—one from Boston and one from Los Angeles. In both cases young men claimed conscientious objection on nonreligious grounds. The Boston appeal was based on the ruling of Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, who stated that the Selective Service Act "discriminates against atheists, agnostics, and men, whether they be religious or not, who are motivated by profound moral beliefs which constitute the central convictions of their beings." The Los Angeles appeal concerns the case of a computer engineer sentenced to three years in prison for refusing military induction.

Converted "Untouchables" Get Scholarship Aid

NEW DELHI, INDIA—The Indian government has decided to extend special educational scholarships to former Hindu "untouchables" who have been converted to Buddhism or Christianity. Up until now the converts had been denied scholarship aid.

The government presumed that conversion of an "untouchable" made him free of "untouchability" and its evils, and felt that they did not need financial assistance. Church authorities have long challenged the government's opinion. They pointed out that the economic backwardness of the "Harijans" (former untouchables) should be the ground for special financial aid.

The scholarships will benefit more than a million Christian students, and 3,000 Buddhists. Scholarships will be worth $66.65 a year.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS ANTI-SMOKING MESSAGES

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld a lower court ruling that radio and television stations carrying cigarette commercials may be required to carry anti-smoking messages. The decision endorsed the November, 1968, decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals that broadcasters must devote a significant amount of time each week to public service messages informing the public that smoking may be hazardous to their health.

Battling the decision were the Tobacco Institute, eight cigarette manufacturers, the National Association of Broadcasters, WCBS-TV in New York, and the N.B.C. and A.B.C. networks.

AMERICANS UNITED OPPOSES SUIT CHALLENGING SPACE PRAYERS

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The general council of Americans United for Separation of Church and State will oppose a suit challenging prayer and Bible reading by U.S. astronauts in space. Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair filed the suit last August. She particularly objected to Colonel Frank Borman's reading from Genesis during Apollo 8's flight last Christmas. Americans United stated that the case is a question of free exercise of religion.

"We believe, as the Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly held, that individuals must not be inhibited in the profession and expression of their belief," they said. "But neither should they be compelled to perform religious exercises."

MENNONITE MISSIONS FACE FINANCIAL CRISIS

ELKHART, INDIANA—The executive committee of the Mennonite Board of Missions has reported that it faces a financial crisis. A four per cent increase in giving has not offset the large deficit experienced last year, they say. A 13 per cent increase was actually needed to offset losses last year and maintain the current program based on an average contribution of $33 per member.

The Mennonite church administers a far-reaching relief and social service program.

SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Class of '71 Begins Training

Thirty-nine nursing students arrived from Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Michigan, to begin their junior year on the Hinsdale campus.

Twenty-five students are studying medical-surgical nursing, and 14 are taking obstetric and psychiatric nursing. The group will remain at the san until the third of June, when they will return to Andrews for summer classes.

These students, including four men, will graduate in the Andrews University spring class of 1971 with a B.S. degree in nursing.

Mornings the students may be seen in the san in their familiar blue and white uniforms, giving supervised care to their selected patients. Miss Valorie Rudge is chairman of the department of nursing. Secretary is Mrs. Joyce Petry. Instructors on the Hinsdale campus are: Mrs. Donna Bee, Mrs. Lillian Moore, Mrs. Jean Crider, Miss Noreen Corle, Miss Paula Lamnek, Mrs. Faye Pitman, Mrs. Marilyn Follett, and Mrs. Lena Lantry. Mrs. Elizabeth Durichek is dean of Tupper Hall, where the students reside while at Hinsdale.

Colorful Fall Festival Booths Designed by Hospital Departments

Each year the Hinsdale Sanitarium holds a fall festival for its employees. The various departments of the hospital decorate booths in keeping with a fall festival theme. It's a battle of wits and skill at each booth as one makes his way from booth to booth. Each new one appears a little more colorful than the last until the overall picture is one of a giant kaleidoscope. It gives the employees a time of social relaxation; a chance to mix and mingle on all levels and an opportunity to get acquainted with the other people who work at the san.

The san provided doughnuts and cider. The candy strippers gave cookies and candy as prizes in their booth. Irwin Hansen, operating room coordinator, was the Great Pumpkin, walking around to arouse the curiosity of the very young.

Approximately 13 very fancy booths got the attention of old and young alike and ran the gamut from tepees to rocket firing sites.

Mrs. Melva Hicks, dietitian, who was in charge of refreshments, revealed that 70 dozen doughnuts got away, along with 50 gallons of cider.

The personnel department, under the direction of Durward Wildman, was in charge of the fall festival enjoyed by hundreds of employees.

Mr. Wilson, associate administrator, offers Ike Speakman his choice of a camera or a transistor radio as the door prize at the recent fall festival held for san employees in David Paulson Auditorium.

A. E. Wade's District Raises Ingathering Vanguard Goal

As we lay plans to reach our 1970 Indiana Ingathering Vanguard goal, we are delighted to announce that the Bedford-Bloomfield-Elnora District, under the fine leadership of Pastor A. E. Wade, has already attained Vanguard district victory.

Typical of the work throughout the district was the fine participation and band organization in Bloomfield, where each band in its assigned area worked day after day to achieve Vanguard victory.

The total time for all participation throughout the district, including business solicitation and door-to-door work, was four weeks. Working in lovely late September and October weather, our members were thrilled to achieve this objective so early.

In addition to this Vanguard district, other Vanguard churches, in the order of their victory attainment, are as follows: Seymour, North Vernon, Washington, Glezen, and Hartford City. Several churches have passed the half-way mark toward the Vanguard goal. Soon other churches will be joining to push Indiana into the Vanguard column.

Some fine contacts with interested souls have been made. Without a doubt many people will find their way into the kingdom of heaven because of an Ingathering contact in Indiana this year.

Van at Federation Displays Impresses Local Dignitaries

In the major cities of Indiana during the five fall Dorcas Federation meetings, representatives and dignitaries from these five cities who visited the van on display expressed deep appreciation for the willingness of Seventh-day Adventists to give disaster and emergency relief. These dignitaries included representatives from the Red Cross, Civil Defense, county and city welfare, the mayor's office, city police, and so forth.

Radio, television, and newspaper coverage was excellent in various areas. Elder Wayne Martin from the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations, our guest speaker, brought invaluable counsel and guidance in his presentation at each meeting. He also helped us in arranging publicity for our van in these various areas.

A mountain of clothing for the New York depot has accumulated at our depot. It was scheduled to leave by special van for New York during the first week of November. It was expected to completely fill a 35-foot van.

We thank faithful and loyal members, federation officers, and welfare leaders throughout Indiana who have supported this program with their funds and their time.

Ralph Combes

The Indiana Conference disaster van is a 40-foot unit.

Cicero Holds Farewell for Herrs

On Saturday evening, September 27, a large number of Cicero and Noblesville members and friends gathered to give Elder and Mrs. John Herr their best wishes as they leave Cicero and take up the Lord's work in South Bend.

During the six years that Elder Herr has been pastor of the Cicero District, the church at Elwood has been remodeled, the Noblesville members have moved into a different church, and Cicero has built a beautiful new church school.

More important than these physical accomplishments are the spiritual blessings which Elder Herr has brought us.

It was with a great deal of love that we gave a small, personal gift to each member of the Herr family, and presented Elder and Mrs. Herr with a set of silverware for eight.

Our thoughts and prayers go with them as they begin their work in South Bend.

Valerie Crabtree

Elder and Mrs. Herr open their gifts at a farewell given for them by members of the Cicero District.

Thanksgiving Day Service Is Tradition at West Central

The West Central church, 1154 Wisconsin, Oak Park, will have another traditional Thanksgiving service on Thanksgiving Day, November 27, at 10 a.m.

The featured speaker will be Elder Arthur N. Patrick from Australia, who has the unique distinction of being a "missionary to the United States," now serving as pastor of the Elgin District in Illinois. Since there is no Thanksgiving Day in Australia, as we know it, Elder Patrick will refer to some of the corresponding traditions of that country in his talk on "Grounds for Gratitude."

Guest musicians, vocal and instrumental, will assist with the musical program. All are welcome.

T. G. Herr, Pastor

Child Evangelism Workshop to Be Held at Brookfield

Your Sabbath School department leaders are happy to announce a Child Evangelism Workshop for Sunday, December 7, from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Elder and Mrs. Clyde Groomer, leaders you are well acquainted with because of their division lesson helps, will be the instructors.

Our church leaders and teachers from all over Illinois are invited to come. This is the only time we can have the Groomers as they are unable to go downstate because of their Michigan program.

A full display of felts and other visual aids will be on sale at that time.

The meeting will be held in the Illinois Conference office building, 3721 Prairie Avenue, Brookfield.

See you Sunday, December 7, at 10:30 a.m.

E. L. Allen

Member Won by Literature Evangelist

On Sabbath, September 27, the members of the Quincy church received into their membership Mrs. Sharon Minor. Just a few weeks before, Elder E. L. Allen had the privilege of baptizing her husband, who is now a literature evangelist.

On Friday night, just before a tornado struck, a voice spoke to Mr. Minor saying, "Get out of your bed." As he jumped up, he warned his wife to leave the bed immediately. She did. Moments later a plate glass window fell on the bed. Although the devil was trying to discourage this couple, the Lord demonstrated His saving power. Early the next morning they arrived at the church.

These victories just don't happen by accident. The Lord was instrumental in bringing the conviction as Mr. Jay Parrick, literature evangelist, worked diligently bringing the message to the Minor home.

May God bless this fine couple as they endeavor to challenge others to live for the Master Teacher.

Peoria Pastor's Wife Dies November 3

Mrs. Sylvia King, wife of Elder William King, passed away in the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital at 8:50 p.m. Monday, November 3. She had been ill for some time.

Elder King is the pastor of the Peoria District. Mrs. King was a strong supporter of the church in all of its activities.

Burial was at West Sumner, Maine.

Want a Different Christmas Card?

A new Christmas greeting card in color has been prepared by the General Conference Religious Liberty Department.

The above picture is on the cover with the words, "The Prince of Peace." Inside, the thought "Let the Stranger Speak" plus "Season's Greetings" and Isaiah 9:6 are printed.

If you desire cards, contact Elder Eston Allen at the Illinois Conference. The cards are available now, 25 to the box for $2.00.

BOOK AND BIBLE HOUSE NOTES

Your Book and Bible House has plans to provide additional service for the holiday season.

On Sabbath, November 22, we will have a special program intended to serve a number of church groups in the southern section. In the morning, guest speakers will visit most of the churches in the Centralia, Du Quoin, and Marion Districts. At the Du Quoin church immediately following sundown, the bookstand will open and we will be on hand until 9 o'clock to serve those who come. It is hoped that many will find this helpful to be able to see and purchase literature, recordings, and other items at reduced holiday prices. A free souvenir from your Bible House is available to all who pay us a visit. A very interesting color motion picture will be shown at 7:30.

The annual Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital book sale is scheduled for its usual location on December 2, 3, and 4. The hours for service will be 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. for each of the three days.

In Brookfield our store will be open on Sundays in December before Christmas. Remember, too, the Bible House is open until 9 p.m. every Monday night of the year except holidays.

Your convenience is our pleasure. Plan this year to give gifts with lasting value. See you at the bookstand in Du Quoin or at the san.

*E. L. Van Sanford, Manager
Illinois Book and Bible House*

Italian Church Holds First Evangelistic Crusade

The Italian Seventh-day Adventist church is holding their first evangelistic crusade in their new church, 216 West Butterfield Road, Elmhurst, beginning November 9 and continuing through the 30th.

The guest speaker for the 12 meetings will be Elder P. M. Matacio who was educated at Pacific Union College in California. He has been a Bible student and prophetic preacher for many years and comes to Elmhurst with a fresh approach to the unique problems of our times. He will point to the Bible as the source of man's liberation and to Christ as the bulwark of man's hopes.

All are invited to enjoy music led by the dedicated baritone voice of Chaplain Gordon Hewlett of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital. All guests will receive a special gift and souvenir.

Mrs. Joan Russo

Three young Alton church school children received prizes in the Puss and Boots Contest. They are, left to right: Linda Moss, first prize, and Eva Pulley, third prize, ages 7 to 9; John Dudrey, third prize, ages 10 to 12.

The pictures were done as part of their art work. There are 21 students in the school and they competed with 140 children in each age group.

There were a total of nine prizes given, each being art supplies of some type.

LAKE REGION

Four Baptized in Saginaw After V.O.P. Course

On Sabbath, October 11, it was my privilege to visit the Saginaw church. During the lay activities period, Amos Lane, church elder, asked if any present had accepted the truth as a result of the Voice of Prophecy Bible course. Two ladies and two children responded.

Then the story unfolded. Elder H. L. Jones had received interest reports from the Voice of Prophecy. He turned them over to Mr. Lane. Bible studies were arranged. Baptisms resulted. A mother, her daughter, and her two children have been added to the Saginaw church.

C. E. Bradford

Changes in Leadership Announced

Jesse Wagner, who for the past six years has pastored the Denver, Colorado, church, is now the pastor of City Temple church in Detroit.

Harold Lindsey, former pastor of City Temple, is now pastoring at the Shiloh church in Chicago.

Horace Jones is pastoring the Gary-East Chicago District. He is succeeded in the Flint-Saginaw District by Ronald Smith from the Central States Conference.

Fred Williams moved from Peoria to the Ecorse-Belle-ville District; Harry Straford assumes the pastorate of the Peoria-Momence District.

Edward Avinger joins the working staff, assisting at Shiloh.

The Independence-Robbins District is under the direction of L. O. Anderson.

David Jones becomes pastor for the Battle Creek-Kalamazoo District.

Morris Wren has charge of the Jackson church.

Lansing has been added to the Pontiac District, under the direction of Phillip W. Jenkins.

The temperance display at the Chicago State College Health Fair attracted thousands of visitors.

Conference Temperance Department Participates in Health Fair

The Chicago State College invited the Lake Region Conference temperance department to participate in the annual health fair, October 20 to 22.

The conference display was flanked by those of the American Cancer Society and the Chicago T.B. Association.

R. D. Barnes, Ruby Johnson, and Cecil Johnson were hard pressed to keep the display supplied with literature. Not only did the students take the literature, but they also took some of the posters.

As part of the fair display, R. D. Barnes and Ivan Van Lange from Shiloh gave a lecture with Smoking Sam and showed the film "Countdown." During the film many persons began putting out their cigarettes. One young man smoked until the end of the presentation, then slowly crushed a pack of cigarettes with his fist.

The spotlight for this week falls on Mrs. Lottie Norman of the Shiloh church, who raised $326.56 for Ingathering. We congratulate Mrs. Norman, who—despite the inclemency of the weather—was able to reach such a high mark.

We trust that this will serve as an incentive for other Lake Region Ingatherers.

Mrs. Angeline Turney of Mount Pleasant celebrated her one hundred and third birthday on September 21.

CENTENARIAN CELEBRATES ONE HUNDRED AND THIRD BIRTHDAY

As she began her one hundred and fourth year of life (her 103rd birthday was on September 21), Mrs. Angeline Turney of Mount Pleasant was in good health and cheerful spirits and a real encouragement to those who called on her to wish her well.

She was baptized at the age of 15 by Elder J. N. Loughborough in the baptismal pool he made himself in Ravenswood, near Southampton, England.

To the question, "Have you ever regretted having become a Christian and given your heart to the Lord?" she immediately answered, "Oh no, certainly not. Jesus is dearer to me now than He ever was, and I praise the Lord for His wonderful goodness to me through these 88 years since I was baptized."

Mrs. Turney knew personally many of the pioneers of the advent movement and on numerous occasions has had the privilege of entertaining them in her own home. She delights to tell of the favorite subject of conversation with these pioneer workers—the imminence of Christ's coming. When asked what her explanation was for the long delay, her immediate response reflected utmost confidence in God's sure promises. The delay, she explained, was on our part in getting ready. God, in His mercy, had extended His amazing grace to include many, many more than when she first believed.

Mrs. Turney lives with her widowed daughter, Mrs. Nellie Collin, also a member of the Mount Pleasant church. Although neither one manages to get out of their home very often, they are a great source of encouragement to the many relatives and friends who visit them. Mrs. Collin, who faithfully takes care of mailing out supplies for the extension division of the Sabbath School, also uses her pen to bring cheer to a wide circle of friends.

The table full of cards in her front room was evidence that many had remembered to wish Mrs. Turney a happy birthday as she completed 103 years of joyful Christian living and entered her one hundred and fourth year of life.

Those who raised between $30 and $40 for Ingathering are Cheryl Brown, Sylvia Mosher, Marjorie Hewitt, David Moll, Juanita Manning, Jan Ringer, and Dixie McDonald.

C.L.A. Announces Final Ingathering Total

Cedar Lake Academy is happy to report the results of the most outstanding Ingathering campaign that the school has ever had. At this time of the year, when many churches are just beginning their Ingathering program, academy officials felt that the accomplishments of our young people would be an inspiration.

The accompanying picture shows Cedar Lake young people who raised between $30 and $40 each. The latest figure reported for the school is a grand total of $5,375.06. Close to 100 per cent of the young people participated and worked with a will. The Lord blessed the faculty and students in this worthy annual program.

Fall Federations Have Guests From New York

Michigan's welfare workers were privileged to have Elder and Mrs. Marinus Jensen of New York as the guest speakers for the fall federation meetings. Elder Jensen is the manager of SAWS, the church's overseas relief depot, that ships clothing, bedding, medical supplies, and equipment to disaster areas overseas.

Through the courtesy of SAWS, the Michigan Conference has received 12,000 standardized clothing cartons for the shipment and processing of clothing for overseas relief. The Jensens attended the fall federation meetings to demonstrate and instruct welfare workers and leaders in proper procedures in the processing and preparing of clothing. Helpful information was also given on how to organize for emergency and disaster relief.

Mrs. Barbara Ringer, state federation president, said that 50 tons of clothing were shipped to New York in five 40-foot vans from Lansing Community College last May. The response was so great that another full van had to remain in storage until the fall clothing drive. Since the fall clothing drive came three weeks earlier than usual, it was expected that our fall drive would be rather light. However, the response to our fall clothing drive was overwhelming, and five 40-foot vans left Lansing for the New York depot on October 20.

A large stockpile of bedding has been secured since camp meeting, including single and double sheets, double blankets, baby blankets, diapers, towels, and pillow slips for use in meeting the needs of the poor and underprivileged.

Three centers, Mio, Midland, and Holland, have recently been opened. Others scheduled to open later this year are at Mesick and Grand Haven. Pontiac's open house is scheduled to be held sometime during November.

Inspection visits to all welfare centers will be made between now and May of next year. Advance notice of this projected visit should encourage everyone to get everything in readiness for the arrival of the inspection team.

W. M. Buckman, conference director of health and welfare services, thanks God for the loyalty, support, and cooperation of welfare leaders and workers. He indicated that conference leaders "rejoice over what God hath wrought" in the expansion of the conference welfare program.

C. J. Wasserman, left, and Harold Carlyle, right, squatting, review briefly a log book each truck driver must fill out and carry with him, as required by the Interstate Commerce Commission. They are flanked by student truck drivers now in training, who will have as their final examination for their course the driving of these five vans to New York and back. Thanks to Lansing Community College!

Caught at the end of an inspirational federation meeting for northern Michigan at Houghton Lake are Mrs. Betty Burnett, president; Mrs. Edna Edwards, state federation secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ann Fowler, western vice-president (pitching in for Barbara Ringer); and Mrs. Martin Sluth, northern secretary-treasurer. Our northern federation has the distinction of having more of our health and welfare workers dressed in green than any other federation in Michigan.

DO YOU WANT AN OLD CAR?

Old car enthusiasts with a yen for a 1939 model Buick should contact Douglas Anderson of the Michigan Conference Book and Bible House, Doug, shown cleaning the windshield of the auto, is selling the car to raise money for Faith for Today.

He has sold other antique cars in the past to benefit other church projects. The sale of the Buick will not leave him without an early-vintage vehicle, for he is currently reconditioning a 1930 Ford sedan.

Family Campers Stay at Wahdoon

Seventy-six Michiganders enjoyed a week of fun and relaxation in a family camp held the last part of August at the Wisconsin Conference's Camp Wahdoon.

These Michigan Adventists traveled by car and trailer as family units to enjoy a period of camping together in an informal but well-organized week of outdoor living.

One enterprising party at an evening fireside related the week's activity in a story built around the names of many of the campers. The author told about going "over the inKLINE and down the HILL"; about taking "to the BUSCH" and the need for "JOHNSON First Aid Kits"; about "the BLACK nights" and of the "precious JEWELS" they sang about at their Sabbath School session.

Much of nature was seen at the camp and surrounding area. The long Sabbath afternoon hike and later activities gave the families the opportunity to see many of Mother Nature's wild creatures, including beavers, deer, and many different birds.

Rock hounds had an opportunity to collect specimens for their hobby with the side trip to Krister, Minnesota. Led by Elder Merrill Fleming of the Michigan Conference office, they came home with many interesting samples. A 30-mile canoe trip down the Red Cedar River was the last big feature of this camping experience.

Family camps are one of the many special activities outlined in the year's activities of the conference MV department. Emphasis on God's great outdoors is but one way of bringing individuals and families closer to God and to each other, Elders Caviness and Fleming believe.

Outdoor Sabbath School class was conducted by Albert Black, D.O., of Charlotte, Michigan.

Nephews Move to Michigan

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Nephew and family have left Wisconsin to go to the Michigan Conference where he will be manager of the youth camp at Au Sable.

The Nephews have worked in Wisconsin for over 11 years and for the past year and one-half, he has been caretaker at Camp Wahdoon and pastor of the Prentice and Ladysmith churches.

Prior to this time he taught school in Eau Claire, Wausau, and Green Bay and was principal there his last two years. They have been very active in the Pathfinder work and also very helpful with the camping program during camp meetings and junior camps.

Their many friends and especially the young people will greatly miss them and their dedicated leadership will long be remembered.

We want to wish them God's continued blessing in their new responsibilities.

Morford's Leave Wisconsin

Elder Morford was born and raised in North Dakota. He graduated from Union College at Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1956. After teaching school in Texas for one year, he went to the Seminary, graduating in August, 1959, with a B.D. degree. Elder Morford moved to Wisconsin with his family in 1959. He was first a pastor at Stoughton, then Rice Lake, and next at Wautoma before coming to the Raymond-Racine District in 1965. He has accepted a call to Hamilton, Ohio, and left Wisconsin on November 3.

Elder Morford will not only be missed by his parishioners but by the many young people who learned to know him and count him as a good friend at the camp meeting primary land. Mrs. Morford will be remembered by many for her kindness and helpfulness while serving as camp nurse for camp meetings and junior camps.

A farewell potluck was held Saturday evening, October 18, at the school gym at which time they were presented with a gift of money.

Witzel Reunion Is Colorful Affair

Shortly after camp meeting, a family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Witzel, Arpin, Wisconsin, which brought together their three sons, Everett, Earl, and Eugene, all of whom have had experience in missionary service.

In the picture above, Everett, left, is dressed as an Indian coolie, wearing a skirt or dhoti and carrying a shovel of mumpti. He spent two years teaching anatomy to medical students at the Christian Medical College in Vellore, South India. At the present time he is assistant professor of anatomy at Loma Linda University. His wife is the former Joan Myers of Evanston, Illinois, and they have three children.

Eugene, second from left, is dressed in a Yoruba outfit, the tribal dress of the western Nigerians. He is holding a farm tool from northern Nigeria. His father is holding the twin gods which are set up in any home where twins are born to protect them. They are also holding a python snake skin. He has been farm manager and teacher at the Adventist College of West Africa for two and one-half years. There are many tribal languages, but English is used in the schools and businesses, Witzel says. His wife is the former Irene Klute of Glen Ellyn, Illinois, and they have three children.

Earl, right, on furlough from Brazil College, is dressed in the all-leather cowboy or vaquero outfit of the interior of northeast Brazil. He is back in the States now studying at the University of Wisconsin in Madison to get his master's degree in agronomy. Next July he plans to go back to Brazil. His wife is the former Myrna Yeatts of Butte, Montana, and they have three children.

Their mother is also shown with them in the picture. Others of the family home for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Witzel and two children of Ukiah, California; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witzel and two children of Sherman Oaks, California; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Witzel and two children of Milton Junction, Wisconsin; Allen Witzel of Wisconsin Academy; and Alberta, a daughter at home attending Bethel Junior Academy.

At this writing, Eugene and family have returned to their mission field in Nigeria.

Dr. Horn Translates Old Amman Citadel Inscription

Siegfried H. Horn, professor of archaeology and history of antiquity at Andrews University, has successfully translated a complex inscription on a ninth century B.C. stone slab found near Amman, Jordan.

The stone, known as the Amman Citadel Inscription, had been in the possession of Jordanian archaeologists who found it in 1961, but none of them had been able to completely decipher the damaged writing on its face.

Officials of the Archaeological Museum in Amman asked Horn to translate the inscription in the summer of 1968 while he was in Jordan on an expedition to Heshbon. He ordered a latex squeeze (liquid rubber poured on the face of the stone, reproducing it to the smallest detail when hardened and removed) and analyzed the writing upon returning to the United States at the end of the summer.

The Amman Citadel Inscription and its translation is a valuable contribution to Biblical archaeology, since its text is the third longest that has been discovered in Palestine during the past century of exploration and it is the earliest inscription in the ancient Ammonite language in the possession of scholars which has any significant length.

The original stone has been placed in the Archaeological Museum in Amman, Jordan, and Dr. Horn has placed his latex squeeze of the inscription on display in the Andrews University Archaeological Museum.

S.D.A. COLLEGE JOURNALISTS MEET AT ANDREWS FOR WORKSHOP

Thirty editors, writers, and sponsors of Seventh-day Adventist college newspapers met at Andrews University recently for the first annual convention of the S.D.A. Student Press Association.

Ten of the 12 Adventist colleges in North America were represented at the convention.

Early sessions centered on the mechanics of newspaper production. On the closing day, three topics dealt with the philosophy of college journalism. Dr. Richard Hammill, A.U. president, outlined "What the Administration Expects of the Student Newspaper"; Eric Anderson, editor of the A.U. student newspaper, presented the staff's view of "What the Student Newspaper Expects of the Administration"; and Donald Yost, associate editor of the Review and Herald, chaired a discussion on "What the Church Expects of the Student Newspaper."

Field Education Council Plans Practical Training for Ministerial Students

"The pastors in this area have one of the finest opportunities in this denomination to influence our future ministers in the proper conduct of the Lord's work," said Francis W. Wernick, president of the Lake Union Conference, in giving the keynote address of the annual meeting of the Field Education Council of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University.

One ministerial association secretary, three conference presidents, and 60 pastors met with the Seminary faculty on Sunday, September 28, to lay plans for the field training of ministerial students in 12 areas of pastoral ministry during the 1969-70 school year. "The most important task we face," stated Wilber Alexander, chairman of the Seminary department of church and ministry, "is the domestication of theology to bridge the gap between doing the task and thinking theologically."

Approximately 135 Seminary students have been assigned to work in 70 churches in Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan.
