YOUTH MAGAZINE NAME SOUGHT

Editors of the new Seventh-day Adventist youth magazine have announced a "Help the Happening" contest.

Aimed at finding a name for the new magazine, the contest invites suggestions from anyone between the ages of 16 and 30. Only one name to an entry blank is permitted. Contest closes December 15.

Describing the new magazine as a "bold, weekly magazine for Seventh-day Adventist youth," the editors urge contestants to think in terms of a name that will fit the bright new format and content of the publication.

The person submitting the name selected will receive a first prize of $100. Second and third prizes of $50 and $25 will also be awarded. In event of a tie, the entry bearing the earliest postmark will receive the award, so an early response is indicated.

Contestants may use either cards provided by youth leaders of the church or entry blanks published in church periodicals. A blank is provided on page 14 of this Herald. Entries should be mailed to Help the Happening, Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D.C. 20012.

Plans for the new publication are progressing, with the first issue scheduled for May, 1970.

The editors urge young writers to submit manuscripts or article and story queries. "It's a senior youth publication," they say, "and we want thinking young people to consider this a platform from which they can share their thoughts and experiences and research. Articles may be secular or religious, but all must be written from the standpoint of Biblical Christianity."

Indiana Academy Students Conduct Effort in Kokomo

Indiana Academy students are conducting an evangelistic effort in the Kokomo church. In addition to members of the church who faithfully attend, six to ten non-Adventists have been attending each of the meetings. Most of these have attended regularly and definite interests are developing. One of the men is already trying to get the Sabbath off so that he can attend services on the Sabbath.

Preparations for the meetings began early in September with Elder Donald Anderson from the academy working with the students in a literature distribution program. Elder A. F. Layman and members of the Kokomo church assisted in the door-to-door visitation program. Personal contacts were made for several weeks, followed by the opening service on October 7. The services will continue until late in November.

It is heartening indeed to listen to the basic truths of the advent message preached by our academy youth. Speakers thus far have included Gary Hodge, Debbie Walker, David Brown, Stella Taylor, Anthony Mosley, Beverly Good, and Diana Jones. Ushering and special musical selections are also handled by the students. It will be upon the shoulders of such youth as these that heavy responsibilities in the finishing of God's work will rest in the near future.

Indiana Academy Has Served Youth for Fifty Years

The fiftieth anniversary of the location of Indiana Academy at Cicero finds progress and improvements still the key motto of its faculty, students, and board.

It was in 1919 that the academy, known formerly as Beachwood Academy, was moved from Boggstown, Indiana, to its present location on a 500-acre farm north of Cicero. Its rural atmosphere, bordered as it is by the waters of the Morse Lake reservoir, provides the setting for a deeper appreciation of the handiwork of God.

The academy farm, with some 300 acres under cultivation, provides work for enterprising young men. Recent purchases include a John Deere 4020 Diesel tractor capable of pulling up to six plows. Charles Trubey, farm manager, states that the farm has on order a new truck which will greatly assist farm operations.

The boys' dormitory is now undergoing refurbishing of its main entry, monitors' station, weight room, day room, and hallways. Richard G. Garver, boys' dean, states that the young men are taking a real interest in helping with this project and that dormitory spirit is high.

A Harris Pine Mill assembly plant is located a short distance from the school. William Logan, plant manager, asserts that he has continual good openings for both young men and women who want to earn while they learn. Excellent working conditions in this modern plant provide excellent manual labor training.

Christian Assembly Teachers Like Our Books

The publishing department had the opportunity of having a display of our books at the Winona Lake Christian Assembly for the union meeting of their teachers.

We were blessed with many inquiries, and it made us realize how many other Christians there are searching for the truth that we have the privilege to give. Many of these young teachers showed real enthusiasm over our books. You'll notice Robert Weisner, assistant publishing secretary, giving a picture to one of the teachers who had been back to our booth four times telling us how she enjoyed our work and how she donated a set to one of the schools where she taught.

Pray for our literature evangelists and our displays as we set them up before the public, that they might impress the people and help others in their churches and schools.

Polanskys Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Polansky of Kewanee observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, October 12, in the home of their daughter-in-law. The open house brought many friends and relatives to wish them much happiness in their future years.

Mrs. Polansky, who is a faithful member of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Kewanee, has been a real spiritual blessing to the church.

Three granddaughters of the Polanskys, Miss Judy Polansky, Mrs. Dennis Foster, and Mrs. Frank Polansky, Jr., were at the serving table, which was centered with a four-tier anniversary cake baked by Mrs. Frank Polansky, Sr., Miss Marie Kemerling, another granddaughter, was in charge of the guest book.

Peoria Welfare Center Opened

The Peoria Seventh-day Adventist church opened its new welfare center at 4019 North Knoxville Avenue on Wednesday, October 1, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Standing, left to right, are James Peebles, executive secretary of the Peoria Human Relations Commission; C. O. Smith of the local civil defense unit; Miss Hazelle Harper of the local chapter of the American Red Cross; Mrs. Kenneth Grant, who is in charge of the center, and A. W. Bauer, Lake Union Conference lay activities director.

The center will be open every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The depot will operate primarily as an emergency supply house.

Station WIRL radio and television operators were there for interviews and pictures which were aired throughout the day.

NATIVES FROM PAKISTAN WERE SPECIAL GUESTS ON VISITORS' DAY

Dressed in their Pakistani costumes, the Barois brought to the Broadview church members on Sabbath a very interesting and colorful mission story. Niranjan Baroi greeted us with a salute, which meant "Peace of God." In his story he revealed the needs at Spicer Memorial College where he was the first to be graduated in the business field in 1950. At that time there were 60 men and 40 girls. The enrollment has increased—and so have the needs.

It is extremely dangerous now for Pakistani young people to go to India for their education as the same feeling exists between Pakistan and India as does between East and West Berlin, so many people lose their lives while crossing the border. Recently several Seventh-day Adventist young people from Pakistan risked their lives to further their education. They had to wait until nightfall or else be shot crossing the border. They crossed over safely that night, and then had to sell watches to obtain Indian money to go to school. They can never return to their home in Pakistan again.

The Barois came to this country to educate their three boys, then they plan to return. Mr. Baroi is a teacher at the North Shore church school. In 1961 he graduated from Walla Walla College with a B.S. and M.A. in teaching.

He further stated that Adventists are starting a seminary in Burma. In India most of the people are Hindu. In Pakistan most are Moslem, which makes it very difficult to obtain work when one is a Seventh-day Adventist as Moslems worship on the sixth day of the week. In order for one man in Pakistan to be an Adventist it was necessary for him to hide in his house for three weeks and then go to India to be baptized. In Pakistan there are no taverns as Moslems do not believe in drinking wine. They also abstain from unclean foods.

The young people are not allowed to marry while in school as they must be able to support their wives and have some land and money. Alvera M. LaVelle

NEWS NOTES

A group of young people from the West Frankfort church went to see Meramec Caverns in Missouri on a recent Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Harkness of East Lynn, Illinois, celebrated her 90th birthday at her home on November 7. Many friends came to see her.

Stewardson had planned a recent telescope party on a Friday night. Since it was cloudy, they enjoyed seeing color slides of the heavens at the church.

YOUR NEIGHBOR WAITS!

That neighbor is waiting for you! He needs to share with us the responsibility for strengthening world peace and spiritual prosperity. Help your church as God has instructed you.

LAKE REGION

CONGRATULATIONS!

The rewards for leading the world field in single copy sales of "Life and Health" and "Message" magazines are not all monetary.

T. S. Barber, publishing secretary of the Lake Region Conference, is congratulated by his wife and secretary for his dynamic leadership.

NEWS NOTES

Russell Bates reports that the 1969 Message magazine campaign had an overflow for the first time in the Lake Region's history. The goal of 5,280 was surpassed by 312 subscriptions.

Samuel Thomas, lay activities secretary for the Allegheny West Conference, was guest speaker at the Illiana MV Federation in Terre Haute, Indiana, recently. His subject was "Yours to Build a Better World." Mrs. Geraldine Shepherd was elected president of the federation.

Elder C. E. Bradford was a guest at the Southern Union Bible Conference held at Camp Cumby-Gay in Georgia. He presented three messages under the title "The Final Crisis." More than 2,000 young people from the educational institutions were in attendance.

SOUTHSIDE PONTIAC BUILDS OWN CHURCH

For many years the Southside Pontiac church has met in rented quarters. In spite of this disadvantage the church has grown from a small company in 1961 to a full-fledged church in 1969.

Elder R. W. Bates held tent meetings in Pontiac during the summer of 1963. During the pastorates of R. L. Jones, R. T. Andrews, and F. A. Williams funds were raised for building purposes.

Last winter J. M. Phipps and P. W. Jenkins, pastor, conducted a very successful series of meetings in the airtorium, resulting in some 50 baptisms. Almost immediately a suitable building site, composed of two parcels of land, was purchased. One piece will be used for the church building and the other for parking.

Construction has been under way for only a few weeks, but rapid progress has been made. Pastor Jenkins has hopes of occupying the building by January 1, 1970. The members of the church have been liberal not only in their financial support, but also donating their labor and skills in the actual work of construction.

Associate Pastor Comes to Shiloh

Pastor and Mrs. Edward Avinger and family have assumed their new duties in Chicago. He is the associate pastor of the Shiloh church.

Pastor Avinger comes to the Lake Region Conference from Andrews University.

Detroit Federation Plans Meeting in Flint

Detroit area MV representatives lay plans for the next area federation on December 13 in Flint, Michigan.

The new pastor of the City Temple church, Elder J. R. Wagner, will be the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sheley of Holly join Mrs. Vivian Sauter of the Office of Economic Opportunity to examine the fine stockpile of bedding the center has on hand for the winter months.

Holly Welfare Center Opens

On Sunday, November 2, at Holly a health and welfare center was opened. Members and friends met at the Holly church where Elder Watson M. Buckman, director of health and welfare services of the Michigan Conference, explained the purpose of the center, and how important it is that all city and county organizations work together. Elder Earl Zager, local pastor, introduced the special guests.

After the service at the church, the group proceeded to the newly purchased building, a few blocks away, for the ribbon-cutting ceremony. A tour was then conducted and refreshments were served.

The plan to begin a health and welfare center developed when the Holly church building had no room for the welfare work. Mrs. P. P. Anderson of the Adelphian Academy church, and a number of Holly members had to store clothing in their basements. They also used a room in the basement of the boys' dormitory for processing and additional storage of clothing. These workers naturally developed a dream of a health and welfare center to more adequately serve the needy.

This February the Holly church voted to purchase a building. Everett Edminster became chairman of the remodeling committee; his wife Isabelle was already leader of the welfare society. When the Edminsters moved to Berrien Springs, William Bylsma was selected to direct the completion of the remodeling work. Credit for the opening of the center belongs to the many faithful members who donated hundreds of hours of labor in carpentry, plumbing, painting, and other skills to finish the project.

The building now has a waiting room with beautiful drapes and curtains in the front. Directly through the Dutch door is the workroom with two sewing machines, work table, and shelves with rolling bins underneath. Service is installed for a washer and dryer to be installed as soon as possible. A large storage room with shelves in the back is used to store food and clothing donated to the center. Another room will be used as storage for clothing to be shipped to the depot in New York City. Also, a complete new bathroom was installed with a new 40-gallon water heater.

The Pathfinders collected 3,000 cans of food during the Halloween drive to fill the shelves. People from the Holly area are bringing in their used clothing so that welfare workers can distribute it to the needy. We are looking forward to helping all who are in need in the Holly area and to making our welfare center active for Christ.

Standing are Fred Disbrow, Holly city manager, officially cutting the ribbon, while Father Cyril Rancourt of the Holly Ministerial Association, and Elder E. J. Zager, Holly Adventist pastor, hold the ribbon. Others are: Maynard Lowe, fire chief; Mrs. Dorothea Arwall, staff nurse of the Oakland County Health Department; Bruce Dryer, proprietor, Dryer Funeral Home; Mrs. Lyla Patterson, president of the Southeastern Federation; and Mrs. Adeline Parfitt, local director.

Looking on with approval at the wonderful response of the community to the Halloween trick or treat drive by the Pathfinders are Father Rancourt, Fred Disbrow, city manager, and Mrs. Lyla Patterson, president of the Southeastern Federation.

Church of 30 Has Testimony Countdown

One of the first Michigan congregations to start Testimony Countdown was the small membership of 30 in Menominee. The series was conducted September 17 to November 19, with the progressive members ordering all material early, even the completion certificates.

The group felt privileged to have Elders D. A. Delafield, Arthur White, and Paul Gordon conduct the first part of each meeting on tape. Each of the special countdown tapes were illustrated by appropriate displays to create added interest in the subject being discussed.

The early start was made possible by the leadership of Pastor Edward E. Herr, with the meetings presided over by Earl Nichols, local elder. Mrs. Beulah Simms, assisted by her husband John, taught the lessons. Class members participated in the questions and answers, prayers, and discussions, and they express gratitude for this course which helps them get ready for the very soon coming of Jesus Christ.

"Mrs. Ingathering" Has Collected $650

If you were to visit the Long Lake church on any given Sabbath during the Ingathering campaign, you would be inspired by a certain gray-haired lay activities leader. If you looked closely, you would see pinned on her dress the familiar Ingathering ribbon worn by every solicitor. Her name is Agnes Kuerbitz—or as she is called—Mrs. Ingathering. For over 50 years she has solicited in the farm communities—house to house. She covers only private homes, and much of her area is scattered farm houses.

When asked recently why she was so successful, she said, "I depend upon the Lord and visit every home."

Mrs. Kuerbitz is 78 years young, and as of this report has collected around $650. Mr. Kuerbitz helps his wife by driving her from place to place.

Always a willing worker for the Lord, Mrs. Kuerbitz in her earlier years was a literature evangelist and has been instrumental in bringing several people to Christ.

Known as "Mrs. Ingathering," Agnes Kuerbitz lives up to her name as she visits the farm communities around her.

Annual Sanjo Campaign Held

The Sanjo, official school publication of Andrews University Academy, had its annual subscription campaign September 18 to October 14.

The enthusiastic campaign began during a morning chapel program with a presentation by "the band," a musical conglomeration composed of various Sanjo staff members. Two representatives of each class also told of the various exploits of their respective classes.

David Fishell, campaign and business manager, assisted by Kay Show, Joe Trombetta, Susan Renton, and editors Sharon Sackett and Steve Mauro, worked hard all through the campaign keeping track of money, subs, and the various activities of each class.

The senior class won the campaign, with over $12 per person turned in. The two top prizes went to two seniors, Steve Mauro with $164 and Dan Thomas with $90.

NEWS NOTES

Pfc. Rande Dager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Dager of Muskegon, graduated with honors, seventh in a class of 575, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Medical Training Center. He is assigned to Martin Army Hospital, Fort Benning, Georgia.

A graduate of Cedar Lake Academy, he attended Andrews University for two years. He entered the army in May 1969, and completed basic training at Fort Sam Houston.

Donovan Lee Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Freeman of Berrien Springs was promoted to the rank of Specialist Four in the U.S. Army soon after arriving in Frankfurt, Germany, several months ago. He is office assistant for the 308th Supply and Service Battalion.

In July he returned to Michigan to marry Miss Vera Clayburn, an Andrews University graduate and Grand Rapids church school teacher on leave of absence.

Both are active in the Frankfurt S.D.A. Servicemen's Center. Spec. 4 Freeman is serving as Sabbath School leader and Mrs. Freeman as secretary. They plan to return home June 1, after a tour of Europe.

"Dial-a-Friend" Service Begins in Melvindale

The Oakwood church in Melvindale has inaugurated a new public service, "Dial-a-Friend," for residents of this Detroit suburb.

By telephoning the number—388-3770—a caller can listen to a two-minute recorded message dealing with some aspect of Christian faith. The service is available 24 hours a day, and a different message is featured each day.

Pastor Leslie Neal, who delivers the meditations, announced that the program's aim is to provide timely and appropriate messages of comfort and inspiration to individuals who are lonely or are confronted with special problems.

The first week's theme was "The Truth About Suffering." The daily topics included "Life's Persistent Question," "The Source of Trouble," "A Personal Devil," "Where Did Sin Originate?" "Is God Responsible for Evil?" "Why God Did Not Destroy the Devil," and "How to Live with Trouble."

NEW DOCTOR IN MICHIGAN

A new physician has joined other Adventist doctors in caring for the medical needs of the Ithaca area. Harold V. Racine, M.D., center, a 1968 graduate of Loma Linda established his practice in the Professional Arts Building recently.

Administrator Welcomes Registrants To Battle Creek Five-Day Plan

For the fourth time in the past year, an evening session of the Five-Day Plan was conducted by the Battle Creek Sanitarium. Richard Lane, hospital administrator, took time from his busy program to be on hand to personally welcome each person.

Of the 45 attending, about one-third were nonsmokers who came to observe the program. The attendance held constantly through the five days, with nearly 100 per cent attending the first of the weekly follow-up meetings.

At that time 80 per cent of the group indicated that they had stopped smoking completely, while the other 20 per cent had cut down drastically, most of them to only one or two cigarettes a day.

The excellent attendance is thought to be a result of the promotion of the stop-smoking plan at the san's booth at the Calhoun County Fair held earlier.

Conducting the plan were Dr. J. D. Henriksen, and hospital chaplains Harold Flynt and Stanley Hyde. Duane Wacker, D.D.S., assisted with the question and answer segments of the program.

While the Five-Day Plan is available almost weekly during the daytime, the next evening session is scheduled for February.

Hardy Teen-agers Rough It at Wilderness Camp

A heavy program of summer camping ended recently at Camp Au Sable, and the weather rapidly points out that the winter season of camp activities is just ahead.

However, before attention is focused on snow and skis, camp officials report on summer and swimming.

According to the conference Missionary Volunteer department, one of the highlights of the vacation ventures was the wilderness camp at Au Sable. This program is a part of the regular camp sessions, but held for teenage boys at an "isolated" spot across the lake from the regular camp.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Winans directed the activities at the wilderness campsite. They had their own project this year—a log cabin which they constructed by themselves in three days.

The purpose of the camp was to teach full outdoor living. It did not include a total living off the land, but it did teach them much of value in this area. They learned how to use local material to build their fires and to make camp equipment. They learned how to make palatable foods under camping conditions. One of the highlights of the wilderness camp was the three-day canoe trip down the Manistee River.

Some say they "rough it" when they attend junior camp. But those who attended the wilderness camp roughed it even more. And, perhaps, that is why the challenge of outdoor living brought more enjoyment to those hardy teen-agers who participated in the experience of living really close to nature.

Home for the Chuck Winanses was this log cabin they constructed at the beginning of the camping season. Chuck and his wife Karen directed the wilderness camping session. They are both students at Andrews University.

Outdoor living makes a healthy boy's appetite even healthier. This happy boy knows nothing is wrong with the camp stew Mrs. Chuck Winans has prepared.

Wilderness camping calls for frequent wash ups at the camp washbasin. Good camping includes good grooming, and that means washing the neck and behind the ears.

Even wilderness living calls for improvements in the area. These young bridge builders are making the best of the materials at hand.

Grand Ledge Academy Has New Look

Grand Ledge Academy has a "new look" these days. The administration building which houses the principal's and registrar's offices, the business offices, library and cafeteria, as well as classrooms for the school, has undergone major interior changes, and will be totally air-conditioned by spring.

A new 15- by 25-foot office has been remodeled for the principal, Duane Potter, and is now large enough to be used for conference periods with teachers, students, or committees.

This allowed for an expansion program to encompass the business offices and the two suites—administrative and business—are now completely partitioned and separated where before they were only partly divided.

The library has been newly carpeted for ease of maintenance and lessening of distracting noise, and new orange drapes have added brightness to the cafeteria dining area. This area also serves for small gatherings and chapel services.

The music department has been relocated in the camp meeting medical building which is centrally located on the campus. The building has been renovated and the main studio carpeted.

The bakery, which offers an opportunity to the students to "earn while they learn" and which furnishes products to many retail outlets in the Grand Ledge-Lansing area, is also being relocated.

The new location across the street from the present one will offer three times the production capacity for the bread and rolls which have become popular in the area, and sweet rolls may possibly be added to the list of baked goods sold at retail.

Students are spray painting all the permanent cottages on the campus which are used annually during the summer camp meeting.

But the really big addition to the facilities at the academy is the new gymnasium-auditorium which is expected to be in use in the near future. The cement block building is 130 by 104 feet with an all-metal roof.

It will be used as a gymnasium for physical education classes, lyceum programs, musical concerts, and large meetings of the Michigan Conference.

Ellises Accept Call to Pakistan Adventist Seminary

Pastor and Mrs. Fred W. Ellis and three sons—Stephen, 6, Timothy, 4, and David, 2—are scheduled to sail from New York December 5 for West Pakistan where Pastor Ellis will join the Bible department of the Pakistan Adventist Seminary.

This school, located near the city of Lahore, has a present enrollment of 193 including elementary through junior college, and is presently developing a senior college curriculum in religion and education for the benefit of students who wish to become workers for the church. This has been necessitated by the political situation which prevents Pakistani students from finishing their training at Spicer College in India as had been done previously.

Since completing his M.A. degree at Andrews University in 1960, Pastor Ellis has been in pastoral work in several areas of Wisconsin, most recently serving as pastor of the Superior District for the past two years.

Pastor and Mrs. Ellis, the former Sylvia Lund, both came from California originally, where they graduated from Pacific Union College in 1959.

They will be visiting relatives in Michigan and California during the next few weeks prior to their departure.

The Superior church held a farewell party and presented them with a gift of money. The Berg Park church also presented them with a gift.

May God's blessing go with the Ellises as they continue their faithful service for Him. Their presence will be greatly missed in Wisconsin.

Branch S.S. Begun At Lake Geneva

These are some of the folks who have been attending the Branch Sabbath School at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. This Sabbath School, started under the direction of Elder Sheldon Seltzer, should soon develop into a church in this area.

NEWS NOTES

The Sparta Seventh-day Adventist church received good publicity recently on the welfare center they are establishing in the church at 903 North Street.

The story featured Mrs. Arnal Young and Mrs. Nels Henrikson in a picture in the local paper. George Rockwell is the church P.R. secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Peterson visited recently in Rockland and Sparta, Wisconsin, on their way to Africa where the Petersons will do mission service as a teacher at Rusango Secondary and Teacher Training School at Monze, Zambia. A graduate of Hylandale Academy and Walla Walla College, Peterson will teach science in Africa.

His wife Eileen is a registered nurse. The Petersons have an eight-month-old daughter.

Elder Hixon reports that 52 families signed up for Bible studies in the Appleton area as a result of the group canvass by 10 Wisconsin literature evangelists.

Laymen from the Appleton church are going to follow through on these interests.

Elder Aufderhar spoke at the annual service at the old Cassville church October 18. No longer used for a regular meeting place, the old church echoes to hymns of praise and the spoken Word as former members from near and far return for a yearly service.

Elder Mazat, Adventist temperance lecturer, spoke at Wisconsin Academy, Janesville, Madison, and La Crosse recently.

• This is Pastor and Mrs. Joseph Blackman and Sandra Jo. The Blackmans pastor the churches at Tomah, Adams, and Oak Grove, Wisconsin. We welcome them to our conference.

• This fine looking group attended the Wisconsin Conference Teachers' Institute at Green Lake, Wisconsin, October 26 to 28.

• Mrs. Ernestine Belts, new Bible instructor of the Milwaukee area, comes to us from Seattle, Washington, where she had worked in the same capacity for the Washington Conference. Mrs. Belts has three grown children who live in the West. Her dedication and experience will be a great help to the Lord's work in Wisconsin's largest city. Welcome to Wisconsin, Mrs. Belts.

• Many teachers received service pins at the Wisconsin Conference Elementary Teachers' Institute held October 27 to 28. Elder G. E. Hutches, Lake Union educational secretary, and Mrs. Wilbur Brown, conference elementary supervisor, first and second from the right, received pins for more than 25 years of service. Others received pins for 5 to 20 years of service to Seventh-day Adventist education. Miss Lucille Parfitt, former teacher at Wittenberg, was not able to be present, but was awarded her 25-year pin at her home by Elder Melvin Rosen, conference educational secretary.

• Several young people in grades 6 to 8 from the Madison church school were winners in a temperance poster contest held recently under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Hubert Moog. Pictured from left to right, front row, are Marilyn Benson, tied for third place; Julie Heisig, first place; Rhonda Hoppe, tied for third place. In the back row are John Brumfield, second place; Randy Young, honorable mention; Roy Squire, tied for third place; and Orly Rios, honorable mention.

Students to Tutor Benton Harbor Students

Approximately 50 Andrews University students have joined this year's tutorial program for children in Benton Harbor elementary schools, according to Joe Cooper and Rosalyn Hill, center, co-chairmen of the program sponsored by the Andrews Student Association.

Within this program, Andrews students volunteer to assist children in grades 4 through 7 who need special help in understanding their schoolwork. Volunteers also work with the Berrien County Day Care Center for Retarded Children.

NEWS NOTES

Dr. Blythe Owen, composer in residence at Andrews University, recently received word that her new compositions, "Go Lovely Rose" and "Easter," are to be published by the University of Miami Press.

For the second year in a row, C. J. Hall, who joined the A.U. music faculty this summer, has had a work chosen to be performed at the annual Contemporary Music Concert by the Michigan State University Symphony Orchestra. Hall, a doctoral candidate at M.S.U., wrote his "Five Microscopics" for large orchestra during the last school year as part of class requirements for the composition degree. As a result of last year's performance, Hall's composition, "Ulalume," for narrator, soprano, and orchestra, was accepted by Mills Music Company for inclusion in their rental library.

An abstract idea committed to canvas has earned Greg Constantine, assistant professor of art at Andrews, a purchase prize from Michigan Painters-Printmakers Exhibition and has gone on display in the Grand Rapids Art Museum. The painting, entitled Tondo Screen, also appears on the cover of the museum's catalog.

"An Unpublished Memoir of Robert Browning" by William S. Peterson appears in the current issue of Victorian Poetry. The article is based on a document in the British Museum.

Two students at Andrews University Academy, Sharon Sackett and Sherry Bom, received letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, according to H. R. Knudsen, academy principal. The two girls were among the 39,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two per cent of those expected to graduate from high school in 1970.

Featured speaker at a meeting of the Berrien County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, Inc., held at Andrews was Dr. Marion Merchant, assistant professor of behavioral science at A.U. She described her pilot program of using lay people to work with emotionally disturbed children. She developed this highly successful approach to helping maladjusted children in the Franklin County School System in Columbus, Ohio, (1964 to 1966) and the program was later researched by the United States Office of Education.

K. Robert Lang, M.D., assistant professor of health education at Andrews, has published an article entitled, "Surgical Treatment of Serous Otitis Media," in the September, 1969, issue of Medical Bulletin of the U.S. Army-Europe. The article deals with the use of a polyethylene tube in the treatment of some cases of serous otitis media.

A.U. Student Missionaries Available for Programs
