COVER

"Listen" magazine's February issue announces the new Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism. The plan is outlined on pages 2 and 3 of this week's "Herald."

"LISTEN" MAGAZINE ANNOUNCES NEW BREAKTHROUGH IN ALCOHOLISM

Four Dimensional Key To the Cause of Alcoholism

by Ernest H. J. Steed
Temperance Secretary
General Conference

Listen magazine, in its February issue, has a scoop, as journalists would say, on a new breakthrough on the cause of alcoholism.

Never before outlined is the Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism. This new presentation prepared by Seventh-day Adventists is indeed the answer, not only to a national scourge afflicting seven million Americans, but also to an international problem that ranks just behind heart disease, cancer, and mental illness.

"Thank you for sending Listen for the past few years. Frequently, I am able to use various portions of an issue in the classroom. The students tend to respond in a most positive manner, and sometimes request copies for their own personal use. I would be most pleased if you can obtain a sponsor who will provide copies of Listen for each student in my class. I am certain they would be profitably used."—J. H., High School Instructor

In this special Listen issue, the fundamental principles and scientific data spotlight the four dimensions of man in his modern world. This new data has been prepared over the last three years for public programming by the writer, with the assistance of Dr. L. A. Senseman.

The Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism will consist of four evening programs of illustrated lectures and films. This program will then be followed by a selective group counseling session—the 4DK Plan for Better Living.

Attention is first given to the cause of alcoholism, then prevention, then rehabilitation.

Arranged for public presentation to attract the whole family, the four-night program features four specially produced films called "Alcoholism in a New Dimension."

Backing up these films and lecture outlines will be four Walt Disney films featuring the physical, mental, and social life and its development. These films cost $800,000 to produce and are exceptionally impressive.

The Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism is a look at man and alcohol. Man's four dimensions—physical, mental, social, and spiritual—are reviewed. It is emphasized that obedience to the natural laws of life will bring rewards for living. Neglect or impairment of these principles, consciously or unconsciously, develops false cravings and desires that make alcoholism possible.

A proper development and strengthening of man's four-dimensional life will immunize him against the need or desire for alcohol, drugs, or narcotics as a way of life.

Reasoning from cause to effect, we can unfold to the public the wonderful principles of truth that, if followed, will revitalize the life and bring power for victory.

Releasing this news of the Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism keeps Listen and the Seventh-day Adventist church out front with the answer to life's greatest problem—intemperance and the tragic results that bring havoc to our modern civilization.

"I recently borrowed a copy of Listen. I found it most interesting, and it was effective in getting a story across to me. Listen helped me kick the smoking habit."—D. R. A.

Listen has started 1970 with four extra color pages devoted to youth, the result of surveys that show Adventist youth place Listen among their top reading.

February 28 is Listen sponsorship day. Every Adventist can choose to make this publication the most timely missionary journal by sponsoring Listen to friends, college professors, civic leaders, social workers, politicians, religious and youth leaders, and many other thought leaders in the community.

Why not be proud to belong to a church that has something positive to offer in a world of gross intemperance? The public can only get this answer as you are prepared to join those who Listen.

"Through your very kind offices we have been receiving Listen for some three years. It is not only a journal for better living, but also a breath of fresh air when one is subjected to so many publications that have little or nothing to recommend them. It is my opinion that the magazine Listen has a very important role to play in the high schools of our nation, and can be a potent force for a physically and mentally healthy America of the future."—B. J. G., Police Chief

"INSIGHT" CHOSEN NAME OF YOUTH JOURNAL

The name Insight has been selected for the new Adventist youth magazine, which will make its debut May 5.

The name was selected by a committee of nine judges from more than 3,400 entries in the Help the Happening contest. Winner of the $100 first prize is Miss Kit Watts, 26, of Adelphi, Maryland, who was the first of 25 persons to submit Insight.

Second and third prizes go to two students of Southern Missionary College. Mike Foxworth, 21, collects $50 for entering Impact, and John Eggenberger receives $25 for Dimension.

After the judging committee narrowed the choice down to 12 names, Kaaren, staff research assistant, surveyed more than 600 students and adults on their name preference. The prize-winning names were well accepted by those tested.

Voice of Prophecy Reaches!

She is a nun, one of a growing number of those once considered "unreachables" by Seventh-day Adventists. Each night she quietly listens in her convent to the Voice of Prophecy "Night Owl" broadcast over one of America's powerful radio stations.

"I am a cloistered nun," she writes. "Some time ago I began to feel as though I might almost go out of my mind being unable to talk to the others in our order. My friends on the 'outside' learned of my problem and gave me a small transistor radio, thinking it might help.

"What a help my radio is, and what wonderful messages I hear from the Voice of Prophecy! Your thoughts on the sacrifice of Jesus, and the plan of salvation for mankind give me much strength in the Lord!"

"I accidentally turned the radio on one Sunday morning," writes another nun who teaches at an Indian mission school in South Dakota. "Upon hearing a few words—I just wanted to keep on listening . . .

"After hearing your program I wanted to share in your knowledge and thought on the Bible. That is why I requested the Faith Bible correspondence course. I am most grateful to you all for making this program possible, especially to Pastor H. M. S. Richards. God be with you, in all ways."

Another nun, teaching a group of ghetto children in a big city in mid-America, enrolled all of the 39 youngsters in her care in the Voice of Prophecy's Junior Bible correspondence course.

"You were kind in letting us study the course together and I am grateful for your help," notes this teaching nun. "Next year I will be teaching in Italy."

The Voice of Prophecy—saving radio—is reaching behind convent walls; it is entering abbeys, priories, monasteries, and beaming into rectories. Quietly, thoughtfully, nuns, monks, priests, and other members of Roman Catholic orders are sampling the good things of God—via radio and the lessons of the Bible correspondence course.

Pray for the "unreachables" that the Voice of Prophecy is reaching. And get involved—have a personal part in helping and telling about the Voice of Prophecy.

ATHEIST MRS. O'HAIR SETS UP NEW CHURCH

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Madalyn Murray O'Hair, the atheist who won a Supreme Court ban on public school prayer, has set up her own church. The new church is her latest weapon in a campaign to strip all churches of their tax exemptions. Mrs. O'Hair claims her new plan is "air-tight."

"We've drawn from the Mormons, the Christian Scientists. We've drawn from everybody," she claims. "If people try to attack us, they'll be attacking their own tenets."

Mrs. O'Hair calls the new organization Poor Richard's Universal Life Church. In a letter sent to 30,000 people, Mrs. O'Hair said converts to her church can sell or give their property to the church and then operate on a tax-exempt basis.

NEW PREACHER'S MAGAZINE MAKES DEBUT IN DETROIT

DETROIT—A national preacher's magazine has been launched in Detroit with some of the world's most prestigious clergymen as contributors. The first issue has been mailed to 5,000 potential subscribers.

Dr. Theodore Gill, dean of the new Detroit Center for Christian Studies, is the editor of MSS—an abbreviation which stands for both "manuscripts" and "Master Sermon Series."

Among preachers providing sermons for the first issue are Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, general secretary of the World Council of Churches, and Dr. Carl Henry, noted evangelical and former editor of Christianity Today. The sermons in MSS are arranged so they can be taken out and filed as a unit. The back of each page is blank.

FIRST DRAFT OF C.O.C.U. TO BE PRESENTED IN MARCH

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY—A movement toward church union that began with a sermon 10 years ago will reach a major milestone in March. The first draft of a plan of union for nine Protestant denominations will be presented to the annual plenary session of the Consultation on Church Union.

Developed during the past two years by a commission of theologians, denominational officials, pastors, and laymen, the plan proposes to unite the nine churches into one truly catholic, evangelical, and reformed church.

Ten delegates from each of the participating churches will scrutinize the plan for one week. If they accept it, the draft will then go to the individual churches for study and discussion. While no precise timetable has been made, Church Union officials expect crucial decisions during the 1970 decade. If finally approved, the resulting church would have 25 million members, or almost one third of all American Protestants.

CONFERENCE LAYS PLANS FOR EVANGELISM

The past year was a good year for evangelism in Illinois. A total of 427 people were added to our conference by baptism and profession of faith. This represents a gain of 90, or 27 per cent over last year. Conference membership now stands at 7,630. The faithful efforts of pastors and laity have been rewarded. God has blessed, and our spirits have been lifted in hopes of what 1970 can bring.

Approximately 35 public campaigns have been scheduled thus far for this year. Churches in the Chicagoland area where campaigns will be held are Willowbrook, Joliet, Hinsdale, Chicago North Shore, West Central, Waukegan, South and Central Spanish, Italian, Yugoslavian, and Oak Brook. Downstate meetings have been scheduled in Alton, West Frankfort, Lincoln, Aledo, Quincy, Warsaw, Kankakee, Cambridge, Danville, Clinton, Centralia, Moline, and Wilmette.

Evangelism in Illinois will be for all seasons in 1970. Those living in the Chicago area will be looking forward to the Andrew Fearing campaign for all of our suburban churches to be held in the new Hinsdale church March 7 to 28. Dr. Steven Vitano of Andrews University will conduct a field school in the North Shore church the latter part of July and all of August. Early in the fall Elder Lawrence Nelson of the General Conference Youth Department will conduct a major youth-oriented campaign in the West Central church.

The conference evangelistic team, Roland Lehnhoff and David Peterson, have concluded an encouraging campaign with two southern pastors, W. E. Sharpe and William Kromminga in West Frankfort. Several baptisms are anticipated. Kankakee is scheduled for March, Beverly Hills for April, and Alton, Waukegan, and Warsaw for later on. A number of pastors will be holding meetings and will be supported by faithful laymen in all parts of the conference.

Plans have now been finalized for five evangelistic rallies to be held in various sections of the conference. The time and place of these rallies is as follows:

Chicagoland (Hinsdale)	March 28
Central (Peoria)	April 11
Western (Moline)	April 25
Southern (Mount Vernon)	May 9
Eastern (Champaign)	September 12

Further details on these meetings will be given from time to time in the Herald.

Our conference president, Elder W. A. Nelson, has suggested that we attempt to break the 8,000 membership circle by 1971. This is a worthy challenge. Under the blessing of God and with the dedicated, united activities of conference workers and faithful laymen, it can be done.

P. M. Matacio
Ministerial Secretary

Publishing Department Holds Training Session for New Literature Evangelists

On January 11 the publishing department of the Illinois Conference held its first beginners' training school of 1970 at the Decatur church.

Elder Robert L. Chapman, publishing secretary, opened the meeting with a few thoughts from Colporteur Ministry, pages 64 and 65:

"Canvassers need self culture and polished manners . . . and a desire to copy the example of Christ."

"Men should be at work who are willing to be taught as to the best way of approaching individuals and families."

This counsel was heeded by showing films on instruction in literature evangelism. Ways of preparing to meet the prospect, getting in step with the prospect, learning a good presentation, using proper speech, and making it easy for the prospect to buy were all shown.

A literature evangelist is proud of his profession, for he is following in the steps of the Master and is doing a work that angels would delight to do. He will be able to work until Jesus comes.

The need is great for full-time literature evangelists in the Illinois Conference. If you feel the Holy Spirit is calling you to this important work, contact your publishing department secretary.

Beginners in the work of literature evangelism attend a training class at the Decatur church.

Decatur Church Finds Witnessing Opportunities

Decatur church members are trying harder than ever to make Decatur and the surrounding area aware of Seventh-day Adventists.

Early in January an article appeared in the local paper regarding state aid to parochial schools. The article (without asking the church for details) stated that S.D.A.s were in favor of such aid. Elder H. H. White, Decatur pastor, told a reporter that this was in error and was then interviewed regarding Adventist beliefs. A newspaper story appeared in both local papers as a result of the interview.

A lady had called one of the local radio stations regarding our stand on the saluting of the flag, which in turn led to a 45-minute radio interview of the pastor; Thurman Dunnaway, first elder; and Mrs. Julia Potter, press secretary. The three were on a talk show, and the public called in with questions and comments. Consequently, much information regarding our beliefs was given, and the program was well received.

The MV society has undertaken the project of showing the film "Crutch for All Seasons," along with distributing copies of Listen magazine; reprints from the Reader's Digest, "Penny's Dilemma"; and "The Creeping Madness." The film was viewed by the police department, the county school superintendent, and other officials. Through the school superintendent we are being able to contact each of the high schools and junior high schools in Macon County and the surrounding area, making appointments to have the movie shown. This plan is meeting with excellent results.

Mrs. Julia Potter

HEGLUNDS LEAVE FOR LOUISIANA CHURCH

The Wilmette church joined the Waukegan church in a farewell gathering for Pastor Vernon L. Heglund and family at the Waukegan church school Saturday evening, January 24. A gift was presented to them by the church members.

Pastor Heglund served his church in Kansas, Iowa, and Minnesota before coming to the Wilmette-Waukegan District in 1966. He has left with his family to go to his new appointment in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

A new pastor for the Wilmette-Waukegan District is to be named soon.

JMVs Organize at Italian Church

The enthusiastic group you see above is a Pathfinder recruiting line at the new Italian church in Elmhurst on January 25. For nearly seven years the youth activities of this congregation have been sharply curtailed because there were no facilities to organize. But plans for organization are fast becoming a reality. Twenty-five youngsters turned out to register into this worldwide, worthwhile training organization.

Chosen director this year is Ernest Macri, with Peter Rago as assistant. The club is sponsored by John Armando. We wish them the Lord's blessings as they strive to be lights of inspiration to those about them.

NEWS NOTES

• The Mattoon church school, with a present enrollment of eight students, just completed a most successful candy sale. The sale of 288 cans of chocolates netted the school $100. This money, along with funds from the local school board and conference, will be used in purchasing an overhead projector and other equipment for the school.

• The Investment miracle offering for 1969 was an outstanding success in the La Fox Sabbath School, reports William Fuller, Investment secretary. The goal was not a monetary figure, but 100 per cent participation by the church's 39 members. Strengthening their faith by prayer, many members chose more than one project. Some gave a percentage of overtime pay or returned thank offerings for special blessings. Others sold health foods, collected scrap iron and copper for sale, or sought extra jobs. In partnership with Christ, the church raised $1,278.54 during 1969 and already has a good start for 1970 under the leadership of Howard Wein.

RETIRED BUSINESSMAN PROFITS FROM ONE-TO-ONE EVANGELISTIC APPROACH

Being really alive for the Lord requires a one-to-one enthusiasm which every Seventh-day Adventist should possess.

In June of 1962 Cecil Sutton, owner of the Sutton Carpet Company, now retired for eight years, was baptized and received into church fellowship by the Peoria members.

Mr. Sutton has applied Jesus' command, "Go," to his personal experience. For seven years he has dedicated time to reaching the businessmen of Peoria, encouraging financial aid to the medical work of Adventists. Many opportunities have been opened for discussing Christ's message with these men. This approach has rewarded Mr. Sutton's efforts with $1,000 a year for the last six Ingathering campaigns.

When asked how he got acquainted with this message, Mr. Sutton replied, "I was called of the Lord." From that time forth he has served the Lord faithfully.

Cecil Sutton talks with Elder William King about God's blessing in his Ingathering approach to businessmen.

Gerald Kenyon

Indiana Welcomes the Gerald Kenyon Family

Gerald (Jerry) Kenyon has joined the Indiana Conference staff as assistant treasurer and auditor.

Mr. Kenyon attended Southern Missionary College, majoring in business administration and religion. After his graduation in 1954, he spent one year as an elementary teacher and two years in the Madison College business office. From 1957 to 1964 Mr. Kenyon served as accountant at Forest Lake Academy in Florida. Most recently, the Kenyons have resided in Charlotte, North Carolina, where Mr. Kenyon was assistant treasurer of the Carolina Conference.

Jerry and Evelyn Kenyon have three children, Paul, Doug, and Gail, who are enrolled in the Indianapolis Glendale School.

Cicero Church Hosts Protestant Churches

The Cicero church hosted the Protestant churches of the Hamilton Heights area on January 21. The regular Wednesday night prayer meeting was transformed into a modified Sabbath morning worship service, followed by a question and answer period on the teachings and practices of Seventh-day Adventists.

One hundred and twenty-five members and guests gathered to hear the sermon on the second coming of Christ by Elder S. D. Seltzer entitled "The Ninth Inning." Four non-Adventist pastors and members of their congregations asked questions about Seventh-day Adventist customs and teachings.

The Indiana Academy Choir, under the direction of James Woods, sang the anthem "He Who Watcheth Over Israel," as well as the responses. The Cicero church school, under the direction of Susan Randall, sang "He Lives."

PATHFINDER LEADERS ATTEND WORKSHOP

Twenty-two Pathfinder clubs were represented at the Pathfinder workshop held at the conference office February 1.

Elders Ed Webb of the Lake Union Conference and Merrill Fleming of the Michigan Conference were visiting speakers and gave excellent instruction. Besides having the devotional, Elder Webb spoke on "How to Have Interesting Meetings" and "Financing the Pathfinder Club" and answered various questions on general Pathfinder topics.

Elder Fleming instructed the leaders on "How to Conduct an Exciting Craft Program." Club leaders made rock boards using the scale of hardness of Friedrich Mohs, a German mineralogist. Other crafts discussed were coins, moths and butterflies, metalcraft, basketry, shells, plastercraft, plastics, ceramics, and fossils.

Pathfinder leaders have a tremendous responsibility in helping to mold the characters of our youth. Certainly the inspiration given by Elders Webb and Fleming will benefit our Indiana Pathfinder program.

Academy Temperance Officers Lay Plans

The Indiana Academy American Temperance Society is under way with plans for a good year. Kathy Trojan, A.T.S. president, and Kelly Eick, vice-president, are laying aggressive plans for temperance education both within and without the academy—lectures, antismoking programs for elementary schools, film programs for high schools, and posture and speech competition.

Others who are assisting in this outreach are David Klinger, secretary; Suzie Johnson, treasurer; Bev Good, public relations; Bonnie Scroggs, pastorette; and David Johnson, parliamentarian.

Ten Join Noblesville's First Five-Day Plan

The first Five-Day Plan to be held in Hamilton County began on Sunday, January 25, at the Riverview Hospital, Noblesville. Elder S. D. Seltzer and Dr. Martin Lushbough gave the opening lecture. Ten individuals joined the class.

Doctors from the community are joining visiting speakers in presenting the plan. An excellent relationship is being enjoyed by Noblesville Adventists with the hospital staff and the Hamilton County Medical Association.

WHAT IS YOUR INVESTMENT PROJECT?

It is time to be thinking about Sabbath School Investment projects for 1970. Check with the Investment secretary of your church for ideas.

Joy Wise, the youngest student at Indiana Academy and a member of the National Beta Honor Society, reached her Investment goal last year by sewing for others. She is 13 and is a member of the Bloomfield church.

Mrs. Lola Turner, Investment secretary from Richmond, writes, "My aim was to win at least one soul and to raise $50. I had $51 in cash and had the privilege of giving studies to a lovely person who has been baptized and is a faithful member. . . . My aim this year is $50 and more than one soul. . . . I am 78 years old, but want to be busy for Jesus."

Apparently age is no barrier to a successful Investment project. What is your project going to be?

Walter R. Howard
Sabbath School Secretary

LAKE REGION

STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM FOSTERED IN LAKE REGION AREA

Elder Walter Starks, second from right, stewardship secretary of the General Conference, discusses the Lake Region stewardship program with Elder Harold A. Lindsey, pastor of the Shiloh church, Elder Richard C. Brown, conference stewardship secretary, and Elder Charles R. Graham, pastor of the Hyde Park church.

Five churches are on the stewardship program. Elder Brown hopes to enroll most of the churches in systematic giving.

COORDINATED EVANGELISM OUTLINED FOR CONFERENCE WORKERS

Elder R. W. Bates, lay activities secretary, has announced a coordinated plan of evangelism for the Lake Region Conference. This plan was adopted at the recent conference workers' meeting.

Coordinated evangelism may be thought of as the united and systematic operation of each department of the church in the preparation of a given territory, the training of needed personnel, and the careful exercise of the sowing and reaping process of evangelism. The committee on coordinated evangelism has drawn from the ideas and programs of various tested and successful methods of coordinated evangelism to offer this schedule for successfully conducting an evangelistic campaign.

The time schedule begins 26 weeks before the preaching begins: Select the church or churches to be involved in the meetings. Arrange with the publishing department for colporteurs to spend six months in the district sowing the seed through the sale and distribution of literature. Names of customers and other interested persons will be turned over to the evangelistic team.

During this week, various departments of the church, under the direction of the departmental secretaries, are to be notified of their involvement so as to have ample time to prepare for a successful campaign.

Thirteen weeks: The secretary of the ministerial department visits the church and organizes visitation teams. The teams consist of persons chosen by the lay activities and MV departments as they are to identify with other phases of the evangelistic program. This team will immediately begin compiling a card file of streets which cover each entire block in the area in which the meeting is to be held.

Twelve weeks: On this Sabbath the lay activities secretary of the conference comes to the church to organize a training program for laymen. This program may last for several days during the week, at which time instructions on how to make the first approach, how to give Bible studies, and the art of obtaining a decision. This training session will give great confidence to these laymen, many of whom will be working as Bible instructors during the campaign.

Line Up Bible Studies

Eleven weeks: Having spent three and one-half months selling and distributing, their efforts will now be concentrated on checking their list of names and lining up Bible studies. The pastor would be encouraged to start a large baptismal class on Sabbath, consisting of names and interests turned in to him earlier by colporteurs and Bible instructors.

Ten weeks: The ministerial, lay activities, and MV secretaries, colporteurs, and other available secretaries meet this Sabbath with the colporteurs to receive the names of their customers and interested persons. These names are divided up among the visitation teams. The colporteur is to accompany the team on the first visit of his contact.

Nine weeks: During this week the educational secretary of the conference visits the church school(s) involved. He will work with the teachers to get names of all unbaptized young people in attendance. He also secures from the church clerk all unbaptized children attending public schools.

Friendship Teams

Eight weeks: On Sabbath during the eleven o'clock hour the conference MV secretary inspires the MV society to work with interested young people. He invites those wishing to participate to return in the afternoon when Friendship Teams are organized. The teams are assigned that afternoon the names of unbaptized public school youth who are children of Adventist parents. A plan for securing additional names by the MV society, using the survey method, is introduced at this time.

Seven weeks: During this week the temperance secretary of the conference visits the local church school(s) to organize and give instructions on how to put on temperance programs for high schools. This program is for the upper-grade students. These programs should be conducted until the start of the campaign. Also during this week the temperance and ministerial secretaries explore the possibilities and feasibility of a Five-Day Plan before or during the meetings.

Five weeks: The public relations secretary of the conference takes this week to tell the church what role advertising will play and then begins to plan with the pastor and church public relations secretary how to best advertise the meetings.

Four weeks: A careful check on those giving Bible studies should be made at this time. The pastor could be invited to go with them to appraise the progress of the interest.

Three weeks: The stewardship secretary may start a series of four lectures to discuss the principles of stewardship in both time and money, to help the members of the church rid themselves of any selfishness which might stand in the way of the success of the forthcoming effort.

One week: Visit each interest and make arrangements to get them to the meeting.

On Sunday night the opening meeting of the series begins. May the Lord bless you abundantly.

More People Choose Not to Smoke Because Of Michigan's Anti-tobacco Crusaders

The whole question of cigarette smoking is being pushed to the front in very prominent ways these days.

When television's "Today" show features Senator Frank E. Moss of Utah and John Banzaff, a 29-year-old lawyer, as champions of the anti-smoking campaign, it is not only news but a service to the general public.

Banzaff attacks the problem from the civil rights angle—the right of the nonsmoker to have the air he must breathe as free as possible from harmful ingredients. Putting it bluntly, he reports: "on a public carrier, the right of a smoker to breathe into and out of his lungs whatever he wishes, ends exactly where the nonsmoker's nose and lungs begin." The campaign is getting amazing recognition and results.

The current disenchantment with smoking comes in part because of the health education program Adventists have been promoting over the years. This was the contention of an official from the Michigan Council of Smoking and Health who recently visited with Elder Ernest N. Wendth, Michigan Conference director of health services. The official indicated that the continuing health program promoted by the church over the years was a key factor in enabling the surgeon general's report on smoking to quickly take root and grow rapidly in importance.

The denomination's Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking has spawned numerous other stop-smoking aids and clinics. However, the original Five-Day Plan is still a leader in this important field of health education.

Many of our ministers and doctors have teamed up to present Five-Day Plans in various parts of the conference. Among the leaders in this field is Dr. Arthur Weaver of Detroit, now a television and radio personality in his own right because of the plan. Doc Greene, well-known columnist for the Detroit News, in his column of December 4, 1969, credited Dr. Weaver and his program with causing a 15 per cent decrease in smoking in the Detroit area during the time he was on TV.

Another steady and successful promoter of stop-smoking clinics is Dr. Stewart Erhard of Eaton Rapids. He has conducted many clinics during the last few years and started another series in Lansing on February 10 with Elder Dean Burns of Grand Ledge. This medical-ministerial team is planning on another clinic in the near future, using a larger public auditorium promised by city officials. As current president of the Michigan chapter of Loma Linda University's alumni association, Dr. Erhard is planning a campaign with conference officials to enlist more of our medical men and ministers in a program of this type.

The Adventist health message started in Battle Creek many years ago. During the years its influence has been felt with varying degrees of success. Now it is again an important factor in the community, partly because of its twin program to help alcoholics and tobacco addicts. Elder Thomas Williams is a leader in teaching people how to win the "bottle battle," and the sanitarium's chaplain, Elder Harold Flynt, has been pushing a series of stop-smoking clinics.

For nearly seven years the san has offered its guests, as part of its regular program, the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking. In addition, the plan is offered periodically to the public. The latest class started February 1.

San personnel also assist in presenting the plan in surrounding areas. A recent report of a clinic held in Hastings by Elder Flynt and Dr. Gunnar Vetne, also of the san, showed that two thirds of the participating group had "definitely stopped," while the balance had "cut down drastically." Many medical facts were presented during the session, but most of those in attendance were surprised to learn from Dr. Vetne that 98 per cent of lung cancer is caused by the use of tobacco and is readily discernible from the two per cent of this disease found in nonsmokers.

In a letter from Sister M. Lurana of St. Philip's Catholic school in Battle Creek, Chaplain Flynt was thanked for his recent talk to the school's students about the evils of tobacco. According to Sister Lurana, "from the remarks of the students and the questions which they have been posing, I know they are thinking deeply and seriously. God willing," she continued, "many, many will now be able to rise above group pressure and outside influences in this battle against tobacco."

The school is looking forward to Chaplain Flynt's next visit as the general public is continuing to look towards Adventists to continue their work of bringing to all a message of healthful living adapted to our times.

Elder Harold Flynt, chaplain at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, conducts a demonstration of the harmful effects of smoking.

Mrs. Ashley Gilbert, Eaton County representative for the American Cancer Society, receives from John Ross, Student Association president of Grand Ledge Academy, a check for $2,500 as the school's contribution to a worthy cause.

G.L.A. SEES RESULTS OF WALKATHON

Last fall Grand Ledge Academy had a walkathon to raise funds for their new gym and for the American Cancer Society. As a result of the success of that drive, over $5,000 was raised in cash and pledges. During January cash for the pledges needed to put the project over the goal was turned in. At a recent chapel exercise, half of this amount was presented to a local representative of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Ashley Gilbert accepted the check after being pleasantly "stunned and shocked" by the amount. She told the pleased students that the society expected about $100 or $200 and had no idea the check would be for as large an amount as it was.

In making the presentation, John Ross, Student Association president, explained the purpose of the drive and how their half of the funds raised was going to the $4,000 needed for the special flooring of the new gym. He indicated that as a result of the walkathon and other projects the students were within $47 of their goal.

As he left the platform, John was stopped by a photographer who was there to get pictures of the presentation. He was asked to repeat how much cash was still needed. After John repeated $47, Mr. Culp, the photographer, gave $50, thus putting the students over the top in their drive for funds for the gym.

FIRST DONATION RECEIVED FOR CONFERENCE WELFARE HEADQUARTERS

A check for $25,000 has been received by Elder Watson M. Buckman, director of lay activities for Michigan, as the first donation in his drive to raise $400,000 toward a headquarters for the health, welfare, and disaster relief services of the conference.

The donation came from the R. E. Olds Foundation of Lansing (now called Ransom Fidelity) and was the first tangible result of months of preparatory work Elder Buckman has been doing with various philanthropic groups within Michigan. He is currently working with a number of other groups and has expressed faith that some will also be at least that generous.

The proposed 75-by-125-foot reinforced steel, cement block, and brick veneer building will also house facilities for community health and education classes, and work and processing areas for clothing. The basement will be constructed as a shelter from nuclear attack as well as a storage area for supplies.

The phenomenal growth of the community services of the church in Michigan has made it necessary to lay plans for the construction of this two-story building. It is expected to be built just to the east of the new Lansing church.

Within the Michigan Conference there are now 56 health and welfare centers and scores of service units. The cash value of health and welfare services to the public runs over one million dollars each year.

With the construction of this proposed $400,000 headquarters building in Lansing, the health and welfare department will be one of the best within the denomination. It will also give the Lansing area a model center in which the local society can work.

Elder Watson M. Buckman, director of lay activities for the Michigan Conference, proudly holds the first donation of $25,000 given for the new health, welfare, and disaster relief building in Lansing.

This is a sketch of the proposed state welfare headquarters.

WELFARE CENTER OPENS DOORS TO 100 GUESTS

Sunday afternoon, December 7, the health and welfare center at Pontiac, Michigan, opened its doors to about 100 guests. In spite of rain, sleet, and ice, many prominent citizens of the area came to visit the greatly enlarged center.

Among those who were escorted on guided tours of the newly completed addition were the very friendly Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Kresge (donors to the center of $12,000 from the Kresge Foundation), Senator L. Harvey Lodge, and representatives from the Pontiac City Commission, Pontiac Police Department, and social service organizations.

Former Pastor Elmer Malcolm, his wife, and their two sons, now of Berrien Springs, attended the open house to share some of the rewards of their previous guidance and labor.

Senator Lodge, in a 20-minute address to the guests, complimented Seventh-day Adventists for their concern for the welfare of their fellowmen. He also spoke highly of his friendship with Elder Malcolm, who had taken time to visit him while he was a patient in a local hospital.

The center was closed during the building of the addition, yet the "Open House Bulletin" presented to each visitor revealed that during the last three years 864 families (3,952 individuals) were assisted with 63,880 articles of clothing.

Since the open house, the center has received as gifts three Singer sewing machines with commercial tables. Also, a 30-pound commercial dryer has been purchased to facilitate the processing of used clothing.

Just recently the center received five tons of used clothing from the Pontiac public schools' clothing drive. This processed clothing will eventually help to clothe many needy persons.

This group of men, under the direction of Elder Elmer Malcolm, third from left, is largely responsible for the thousands of hours of volunteer labor that went into the construction and completion of the new community service building. They are Dr. Raymond Mayor, Paul Tompkins, Forrest Glennie, Howard Noodel, Paul Howell, Bernie Messer, and Raymond Rickel.

Mrs. William Swatek and Mrs. Wilma Mayor, wives of two Pontiac physicians and codirectors of the new Pontiac Community Service Center, show Elder Elmer Malcolm the fine quality of the clothing in stock.

Senator Harvey Lodge, left, Mrs. Pearl Giddings of the Social Services Department, and City Commissioner Wood from Pontiac just can't hush up about those Hush Puppies.

State Representative Loren D. Anderson chats with Dr. Raymond Mayor about the functional layout of the new center.

Stanley Kresge, Jr., chairman of the Kresge Foundation, congratulates Senator Harvey Lodge of Waterford on his fine speech for the occasion.

Elder A. K. Phillips says farewell as he takes up new duties in the Central California Conference.

PHILLIPSES SAY FAREWELL

To our dear friends throughout the Michigan Conference we take this opportunity to say farewell and to express our appreciation for the many expressions of love, the gifts, and the cards that came as we were in the process of moving to California. During this preparation it was impossible to reply to all personally. Until time permits, please accept this message as our sincere appreciation with the assurance of our continued remembrance of the happy years spent in God's service in the Michigan Conference. The blessings we enjoyed in the association with His people throughout the state will never be forgotten.

As we take up our new duties in the Central California Conference in the city of Santa Cruz, we will be happy to hear from our friends in Michigan. Our address is 762 Rio Del Mar Boulevard, Aptos, California 95003.

Always uppermost in our thoughts is this prayer for each of you as expressed in one of Ellen White's favorite hymns:

"O Brother, be faithful! Soon Jesus will come,
For whom we have waited so long;
O, soon we shall enter our glorious home,
And join in the conqueror's song."

May God bless you all.

Elder and Mrs. A. K. Phillips

COUPLE QUIETLY OBSERVES SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, members of the First Flint church, celebrated their seventieth wedding anniversary quietly in their home on January 27. When asked why they didn't have a big celebration, Mrs. Jordan answered they hardly felt equal to it.

However, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are very alert at 89 and 86 respectively. They do their own housework and she still makes her own housedresses. Church friends bring the Jordans to Sabbath School and church, which they enjoy.

This elderly couple has really enjoyed the blessings of God in a long, happy life together.

WEATHERMAN COOPERATES AS CAFETERIA GOES UP

The weatherman has cooperated very well with the building program at Cedar Lake Academy this year. The minimal amount of snow has enabled progress to continue satisfactorily on the new cafeteria. The precast concrete floor has been laid for the kitchen area of the cafeteria. The laundry facilities are below. The dining area proper also has had the concrete poured, and it will not be too long before the blocks will be laid for the walls of the building itself. The entire project is approximately one-fourth completed. The cafeteria area itself should seat 400 students.

Cedar Lake staff members and students are looking forward to its completion, as it will fill a most desperate need in the master plan for the upgrading of the physical facilities of Cedar Lake Academy.

BRANCH B.B.H. TO OPEN SOON

The Michigan Book and Bible House, after a long search for property, was fortunate to be able to purchase a building and lot in a most desirable location to serve our large membership in the Berrien Springs area.

Elder George H. Taggart, Book and Bible House manager, announces the new quarters for this branch of the Bible House will open very soon.

The grand opening sale and official open house is set for Easter Sunday, March 29. On this day church members will be able to take advantage of many special bargains. However, the Bible House will be open for business while transferring books and supplies from the present location in the Lake Union Conference office.

Customers will receive the red carpet treatment, Elder Taggart promises. He stated the red carpeting cost several thousand dollars, but it was purchased to make a convenient and pleasant place to shop.

This new building will provide room for a large display—much larger than the display at the Lansing store. A new feature will be a child evangelism center. Elder C. C. Groomer will be at the open house to help acquaint visitors with this service.

Many other things are planned, and Elder Taggart and his staff feel certain that this new branch of the Bible House will prove a real asset to the community in southwestern Michigan.

MATH STUDENT INTERVIEWED FOR WOODROW WILSON FELLOWSHIP

Roger May, senior mathematics major at Andrews University, was interviewed by a screening committee of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation on January 23. May, nominated to the foundation by Dr. Edward Specht, chairman of the Andrews University mathematics department, is the second A.U. student in the last two years to be interviewed as a candidate for a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship award. Last year Ron Walden, second-year seminary student, was interviewed and named a designate for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship.

May is one of approximately 2,000 students selected for an interview from over 6,000 applications throughout the United States. Of the 2,000 students interviewed, 1,000 will be designated for a fellowship. Final foundation decisions for fellowships will be made the first of March.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowships are designed for graduate students in the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, and mathematics fields who are interested in college teaching.

May plans to continue his study in pure mathematics with a career in teaching and research.

Three Students Attend Businessmen's Project

Three students from A.U. attended a Michigan State and Chamber of Commerce sponsored project called College Business Symposium, held January 28 at Aquinas College, Grand Rapids.

The program, designed to set up more communication between students and businessmen, brought representatives from 16 church-related and community colleges.

Participating in the program from Andrews were Tom Robbins, president of the Student Association, Roy Benton, managing editor of the Student Movement, and Lenora Parrilla, senior business student from Nicaragua.

GYMNICS PROGRAM SHOWS DEXTERITY OF ANDREWS UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

The Andrews University Gymnics presented their new Americana production, "Dimensions in Circlerama," in the Alvin Johnson Auditorium on the A.U. campus on Saturday and Sunday nights, February 14 and 15.

The 40-member team used a special circular stage, and their acts of physical dexterity incorporated music, costuming, and humor of the American West.

The 40-team members range from graduate school age to preschoolers and are individuals who exemplify leadership in the three areas for which Andrews University stands: body, mind, and spirit.

The group was formed by Bob Kalua in 1968 and was the only athletic organization to perform at the Seventh-day Adventist World Youth Congress in Zurich, Switzerland, last summer.

This year's team will give several performances in the Midwest and East. Their schedule lists off-campus appearances in Kettering, Ohio; Oshawa, Ontario; South Lancaster, Massachusetts; Washington, D.C.; Hamburg, Pennsylvania; La Fox and Moline, Illinois; Columbus, Wisconsin; and Battle Creek, Berrien Springs, Holly, Marcellus, Niles, and St. Joseph, Michigan.

In discussing the philosophy of tumbling, Kalua says, "Our bodies are living temples of God and we should care for them to the best of our ability. Tumbling is a tool to show the fruits of Christian living when the body is used and not abused."
