Volume LXIII Number 10

John Hayward Assumes Duties As Illinois Conference President

Elder John L. Hayward, former secretary of the Michigan Conference, officially took up his new duties as president of the Illinois Conference following the conference audit, February 17, 1971. Although he is currently in the process of moving to Illinois, he has, since his election on January 5, spent considerable time in the conference, visiting workers, churches, and institutions, and attending the meeting of the conference workers on February 9 where a strong soul-winning program for 1971 was planned.

Elder Nelson decided late in 1970 to retire at the time of the conference audit, February 17. Thus, the conference committee was able to make a careful selection early enough to allow Elder Nelson's successor to confer with him on many items of conference administration which has provided a valuable background for Elder Hayward's leadership and has helped make this a smooth transition for the conference as a whole.

Elder Hayward was born in Naugatuck, Connecticut, attended Greater Boston Academy, and graduated from Atlantic Union College with a B.A. degree in religion in 1950. In 1943 he married Edna Hall. The Haywards have three children: Susan, 17, a senior at Adelphian Academy; Bill, 13, a seventh grader; and Merrilee, 6, a first grader.

Elder Hayward has served as pastor in Connecticut and in Georgia, and as conference evangelist for the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. He was also pastor of the Dallas, Texas, church before coming to Michigan as pastor of the Battle Creek Tabernacle, the position from which he was called in 1969 to be secretary of the Michigan Conference.

FAITH FOR TODAY LAY COUNSELING COMMITTEE ORGANIZED

Recently laymen gathered at Faith for Today headquarters in Carle Place, New York, to organize a counseling committee that will have three objectives: (1) provide counsel regarding major policies for the telecast, (2) serve as an information-gathering group regarding field response to the program, and (3) meet periodically to evaluate the program's soul-winning activities.

At the time the group met at Faith for Today's office in Carle Place, progress reports were made by departmental leaders including E. E. Duncan, Gordon F. Dalrymple, and Franklin Hudgins. Pastor W. A. Fagal noted progress made by the telecast and presented the problems it faces. Pastor W. R. Lawson was master of ceremonies, welcoming the guests and guiding the session.

Helping in organization of the Lay Counseling Committee were Elder Lowell Bock, associate secretary for the General Conference, and Elder J. J. Aitken, General Conference radio-television secretary.

TRAINING AVAILABLE FOR FOOD SERVICE SUPERVISORS

As we look forward to our sixth summer of food service workshops, June 27 to July 15, 1971, we want to include those who have a real interest and aptitude for food supervision in our institutions. Do not hesitate to apply, even though you are not now in this type of work. Grants are available for the trainees for Michigan residents. Jobs are waiting. The greatest need is for people to fill the openings.

Classes will be offered in principles of food preparation, purchasing, food service, nutrition, menu planning and modified diets. Laboratory experience will be given in the Andrews University Food Service facilities. Dietitians with a wide range of experience in institutional food service will be teaching, conducting laboratories, guiding discussion groups, answering questions, and helping to solve problems.

Write for information and applications now. If you need assistance financially we will be glad to tell you how to apply for this also. Address inquiries to: Coordinator Food Service Training Program, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

Do apply very soon as it takes some time to arrange for a grant.

Adventist Position on Family Planning Explored

Parents "have no right to bring children into the world to be a burden to others," declares an editor of the Review and Herald.

Responding to questions from many readers caught up in the current discussion of population explosion, Herbert E. Douglass, associate editor of the Review and Herald, reached back to the 1800s, when church officials first gave counsel on family relationships.

"There is no divine command compelling parents to produce children as fast as nature will allow," says the editor in the February 4 issue of the Review. "In fact, much to the contrary."

Douglass points out specific criteria which should be considered by prospective parents: Has the mother sufficient strength to care for her children, and can the father give such advantages as will rightly mold and educate the child?

The size of family, Douglass states, should vary according to the "resources of affection and material sustenance that will guarantee to each additional member the love, the time to be noticed and nurtured, and the material support required for health as well as his education, which all children deserve. The addition of another child should not deprive older brothers and sisters of the necessities required for health and education. Furthermore, every child should have the right to be wanted."

The editor propounds the thought that "with the principle of responsible planning should go the principle that the privileges of the marriage relationship are not limited only to those times when a child is desired." He points out that the Apostle Paul "warns against abstinence, except in unusual cases (1 Cor. 7:5)."

The church has taken no position on the methods of birth control, the editor points out.

NEW CONTROLS ON CHURCH PROGRAMS INSTALLED BY EAST GERMAN REGIME

EAST BERLIN—Church activities will be substantially affected in East Germany by a new "Assembly Law." Unless indoor or outdoor events or gatherings are sponsored by the Communist regime, the law requires all such events to be registered in advance with local police authorities. All meetings are subject to formal approval by East German authorities. The only exceptions in the field of church activities include purely liturgical or ceremonial events such as worship services, Bible reading sessions, baptisms, and weddings. Meetings which will be affected by the new law would include synods, conferences of church commissions, parish meetings, and regional or local church congresses.

ASTRONAUT LEFT BIBLE ON MOON

NEW YORK—A special fireproof packet containing microfilm copies of the Scriptures was deposited on the highlands of the moon by astronaut Edgar D. Mitchell. The packet was prepared by the American Bible Society. It contained a complete Bible in the Revised Standard Version, 16 different versions of Genesis 1:1, and other Scripture selections.

PAROCHIAL AID BILLS INCREASING

WASHINGTON, D.C.—According to a release from the Religious Liberty Department of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 40 states are considering aid to parochial schools in 1971.

In Wisconsin the bill to provide $26 million in state aid to parochial schools is being restudied. A similar bill is also being planned for Illinois.

Pennsylvania state aid to parochial and other non-public schools has increased from $6.4 million in the 1969-70 school year to an estimated $36.1 million in the 1971-72 year, according to the state education department. Currently $17.6 million is going to the private schools, most of which are Roman Catholic.

LEND-A-FAMILY PROGRAM ASKED BY CHURCH IN NEED

CINCINNATI—A struggling inner-city Baptist Church has asked more affluent churches in the American Baptist Convention to help it survive. They call it a lend-a-family program. The pastor of the church has asked to "borrow" one, two, or three families or couples for a year from stronger churches. The borrowed families would be active members of the church but retain their membership in their home congregations. The pastor hopes that a revitalized congregation could help meet the tremendous needs of the church's neighborhood and of the young adults around the nearby University of Cincinnati.

Spanish Press Covers Witnesses Convention

MADRID, SPAIN—An indication of a developing spirit of religious toleration in Spain has been evidenced in press coverage of a Jehovah's Witnesses congress. Ever since the passage of the 1967 Religious Liberty Law in Spain, press reports of non-Catholic Christian groups have for the most part been scarce and brief. The coverage of the meetings in Madrid and Barcelona was detailed and generous. Observers of the Spanish scene pointed out that the coverage was more remarkable in light of the fact that the government has prosecuted Witnesses for refusing military service. Early in 1970 about one hundred fifty Witnesses were serving prison sentences. Since then the number has decreased, following pardons issued by Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

HUNTING BARRED ON SUNDAY

AUGUSTA, MAINE—Maine's House of Representatives has rejected a bill which would have permitted hunting on Sunday. All but one of the 13 members of the House Fisheries and Wildlife Committee had opposed the measure.

Alcohol-Related Crime Grows Among the Young

NEW YORK—Among young people there has been a persistent and increasing problem of alcoholism and alcohol-related crimes. The Uniform Crime Reports statistics compiled by the F.B.I. reveal that during the 1960-69 period the number of persons under 18 who were arrested on various alcohol-related charges more than doubled. Arrest rates for girls under 18 more than tripled. The use of alcohol among young people is 25 times as great as the use of drugs.

ADVENTISTS RESTORE HISTORICAL NAME TO GENERAL CHURCH PAPER

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Seventh-day Adventists have restored the historical name to their general church paper. In 1960 with the trend toward abbreviating titles a vote was taken which changed the church paper's name from Advent Review and Sabbath Herald to simply the Review and Herald. Editor of the weekly paper, Kenneth H. Wood, has announced that the Review and Herald Publishing Association Board has taken action to restore the full name to the paper. The full title, which was used when the paper was begun 121 years ago, will appear on the magazine in mid-March. The editor noted that over the past 10 years many readers have lamented the shorter title which deleted the words "Advent" and "Sabbath." The two key doctrines of the church—belief in an eminent second advent, and the keeping of the seventh day according to Biblical instruction—are implied in the full title.

RELIGIOUS TELEVISION PROGRAMS CONSIDERED FOR CUTBACK

LONDON—Time allotted to religious programming on British television may be cut. The British Broadcasting Company and the Independent Television Authority now provide 70 minutes for religious programming on Sunday between 6:15 and 7:25 p.m. It has been suggested that this time be reduced to 45 minutes. The Central Religious Advisory Committee has yet to make up its mind. Any change would have to be approved by the government minister for posts and telecommunications.

SUNDAY LAW FINES ARE PART OF COSTS

NEW YORK—It's against the law to sell "unnecessary" items in New York City on Sundays. Merchants in busy Times Square, which seems to know no sabbath, ignore the law. They calmly pay the fines imposed on them as part of business costs. Businessmen claim they need Sunday business to survive and that the sabbath laws are outdated. The laws are generally confusing, including in the "necessary" category such varied things as foods, beer, drugs, newspapers, flowers, gasoline, cemetery monuments, and souvenirs. Merchants report the police who ticket them are very nice people, and their relations are pleasant. One merchant is ticketed twice each Sunday—once by the morning shift and once by the afternoon. Fines on Sunday law violations range from $5.00 to $25, depending on the judge.

Scarcity of Doctors May Close Hospitals

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A lack of physicians may close down two of the Seventh-day Adventists' 138 hospitals, the church's world headquarters has learned. The hospitals are both situated in East Africa. Director of the denominations' Department of Health in the Afro-Mideast Division, Dr. H. N. Sheffield, reported the crisis. He has appealed to the church's physicians in the United States to help avert the disaster closing the two hospitals would bring to thousands living in that area of East Africa. Last year the two mission hospitals provided medical care for more than 50,000 patients. Nearly 8,000 of these were hospitalized in the two facilities. The hospitals employ 132 people, and have to date retained only two resident physicians each. Adventist world headquarters reports 166 mission vacancies awaiting appointment of personnel. Of this number, 66 are calls for physicians.

JESUS "SPOTS" ON TELEVISION BACKED BY TWO DENOMINATIONS

NEW YORK—A series of television spots based on the life and teachings of Jesus has been announced by broadcast units of the United Methodist and United Presbyterian churches. The one-minute spots will be followed up by joint radio and television specials, syndicated articles, popular music, and a book entitled The Jesus Story. The television spots were filmed in Israel. The campaign is intended to bring fresh ways of looking at established ideas.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE

Blessings may come from different sources. The 17 members of the Springfield church have wished for several years that their church, which was in great need of repairs, could be redecorated. There was always the feeling that "we are so few; we cannot do anything."

All of this was changed by the city inspector who, after examining the building, condemned it. Faced with the possibility of losing their church home, the members, few as they were, pledged to sacrifice a second tithe to pay for the necessary repairs.

The foundation, superstructure, and roof were reinforced, aluminum siding was placed on the outside, the interior was painted, and carpeting was placed on the floor. Now the members worship in safety, beauty, and happiness.

LITERATURE EVANGELISTS CHALLENGED

The Illinois literature evangelists will long remember the rally held at the West Central church, January 29 to 31.

From the beginning of the song service Friday evening to the closing prayer Sunday noon, every hour was filled with blessings.

Elder D. A. McAdams, publishing secretary of the General Conference; our union publishing secretary, Elder J. W. Proctor; Elder J. L. Clements and Elder C. K. Okuno from the Review and Herald Publishing Association; and our own conference president, Elder W. A. Nelson, were used in a mighty way as they inspired and challenged us to determine to do a greater work in spreading the gospel by means of the printed page.

Our literature evangelists told their experiences of how the Lord was blessing them and using them to bring a living message to a dying world.

The Lord is using men and women just like you in performing the miracle of changing hearts, rescuing people from sin, and seeing them turn to the One who says, "Come unto me . . . and I will give you peace."

It may be that you have felt the Holy Spirit tugging at your heartstrings, urging you to join the great army of literature evangelists. If so, get in touch with your publishing secretary.

girls who are not only enthusiastic, but also have singing ability, it provides the special music for church.

Primary leader Mrs. Vivian Wake thus puts that enthusiasm and talent to good use, and by so doing gives the children a Sabbath afternoon church-related activity, and gives the church special music every other week.

On the first Sabbath of the month the children eat their lunch at the church, then have choir practice. During the winter months they worked on scrapbooks, then shared them with elderly shut-in members and sang a few songs for them.

Two junior girls who have been a great help with this primary choir are Janet Wake, piano accompanist, and Jeanna Bennett, who helps with the robes and songbooks.

Mrs. Floyd Turpin (to Elder Carter's left) has about twenty people studying the Bible in the Go Tell program.

22 PERSONS TRAIN COMPLETE LAYMEN'S COURSE

Encouraged by their pastor, Elder G. E. Carter, members of the Bloomington District turned out on Friday night, February 19, for the first meeting in a lay activities training program.

Elder A. W. Bauer, Lake Union lay activities secretary, led out in the training program. On Sabbath afternoon a part of the program consisted in going out in the area and knocking on doors. Forty-four members participated in this visitation, going out to survey religious attitudes in the homes and to enroll persons in Bible correspondence courses. A number of people started taking Bible Says lessons.

Twenty-two members will receive certificates for completing the training course conducted by Elder A. W. Bauer.

INGATHERING EFFORT LAUDABLE DESPITE SLIGHT LAG

Indiana lacked just $300 this year of reaching another all-time high in its Ingathering grand total. Highest total in our history was last year with $135,237.24. We came just $312.31 under that figure this year. Thus we did not quite reach our conference Vanguard goal.

Again our Indiana people have demonstrated their faithfulness in supporting the worldwide program. And to one and all who have participated so faithfully we say a big thank you.

Monticello doubled its Vanguard goal. Many other churches had a fine overflow.

Typical of the large overflows was the Lafayette church, membership 160, reaching a per capita amount of $33.27 per member or an overflow of $8.27 per member.

Forty-five churches had an overflow beyond the Vanguard. Only 16 churches failed to reach the Vanguard, and many of those were close to reaching it.

Our church schools again did a mighty job. The grand total reported for them was $25,221.

*Ralph Combes
Lay Activities Department*

Jim Brown, left, of Richmond, who was baptized in November of 1970, is congratulated by Elder D. C. Phillips for turning in $211 during the past Ingathering campaign.

Typical of the devoted laymen who bring in large sums of money each year during Ingathering is Cloyd Lackey of Richmond who brought in over $300 this year. He is being congratulated by his pastor, D. C. Phillips, right.

HEALTH PROGRAM UNITED WITH SPIRITUAL RENEWAL LECTURES

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Hebard from Lafayette have been assisting in the now-concluded spiritual renewal lectures in the Frankfort church. Their lectures on smoking, alcohol, and drug abuse have attracted attention.

The basic health program of the church has been upheld during this series of meetings. Our medical work is truly "the right hand of the gospel" when ministers and physicians join forces in soul winning. The Hebards will assist again during the Scottsburg meetings, April 3 to 24.

Mrs. Hebard, a nurse, assists her husband in the evening's presentation. She also does double duty by furnishing special music on the evenings of the health program.

Dr. H. G. Hebard sets up his equipment to illustrate visually what he is presenting.

MICHIGAN

Unusual Laymen's Workshops to Be Conducted

The first of eight regional workshops to train laymen for greater witness takes place March 14 through 20 in the Detroit Metropolitan church. This will be for church members of the Greater Detroit area and highlights Michigan's participation in the denomination's 1971 Laymen's Year.

Other workshops will be held throughout the conference, ending with one in the Flint-Saginaw area, April 9 through 15.

Miss Mary Walsh, an assistant in the Lay Activities Department of the Pacific Union Conference, is a veteran Bible instructor and trainer of laymen. She was a guest speaker at camp meeting last summer; all who heard her were impressed with her abilities and dedication.

Laymen's Year was voted at the General Conference Session in Atlantic City. Its aim is to increase the activity of the laymen of the church and their effectiveness in bringing answers to the problems of this age to others. To meet this goal, laymen will be instructed in techniques to help them meet the program's objectives: to spend at least one hour in missionary activity per week, in order for each church to have a quarterly baptism composed of candidates which laymen have helped to win.

A former Catholic nun, Miss Walsh has worked very successfully with leading denominational evangelists in North America. During the past 12 years with the Pacific Union Conference she has specialized in the conducting of laymen's workshops. She will be the instructor for the first four of the eight training sessions planned for Michigan. After the Detroit area series she is scheduled for the Battle Creek-Kalamazoo districts, March 21 to 27, at the Battle Creek Tabernacle; she will be at the Berrien Springs Village church, March 28 to April 3, for southwestern Michigan. Her final workshop is to be at the new Lansing church, April 4 to 10, for the Lansing and Jackson districts.

All meetings are scheduled to be held nightly at 7:30 and all day Sabbath until 5:15 p.m. Further specific instructions for these various areas will be made at the local churches. The balance of the workshops will be announced in the Herald at a later date. They will be conducted by Elder Wesley Amundsen, recently retired after a successful ministry, starting in 1921 in Minnesota as a teacher-pastor-evangelist, followed by mission service and then numerous conference departmental and administrative positions, both overseas and at home. Elder Amundsen's ministry ended with his service in several General Conference posts, including that of associate secretary for the Lay Activities Department.

According to Elder Watson M. Buckman, Michigan Conference lay activities secretary, "Nothing like these meetings has ever been held in this conference." He encourages all members to plan now to attend.

YOUTH SERMONIZE ON RADIO

A large number of Battle Creek young people have presented sermons on the "Bible and Youth" radio-broadcast heard each Sunday morning at 9:15 over WBCK-FM and at 9:30 on the AM dial.

Eight students from Battle Creek Academy have presented 158 sermons since the program was started in January of 1968. These have dealt with doctrinal subjects, with emphasis on current events and their relationship to the second coming.

In addition to this group of speakers, many others were active in presenting special music or acting as announcers.

There have been no frequent appeals for mail response, but voluntary requests for copies of sermons have come from listeners. Many faithful followers have also been discovered in the various laymen's and pastors' visitation programs from the churches of the area. The listeners have been impressed by these young people who are vocal for their faith through these broadcasts.

The radio program has also advertised the popular Teen Dial and Dial Your Family Bible programs being presented by means of a special telephone answering device at the Battle Creek Tabernacle.

The responses to the program have been such that leaders working with the young people on the project have been encouraged by this radio witness. Elder Glenn Hill, who was the youth pastor for the Tabernacle during the project, believes that "this seed sown through radio will come to fruition in the lives of many of those who have heard, and continue to listen."

David Ruskjer, at the microphone, and Bob Aldridge tape one of the sermons for the "Bible and Youth" broadcast of the Battle Creek Tabernacle. David, the program's first announcer, has presented 10 of the sermons.

Thieves Fail to Live High on the Hog

Selling an increasing amount of health foods to the citizens of Michigan is a rewarding experience for George Hainault of Worthington Foods. But it has also brought the possibility of danger.

Twice recently his refrigerated truck was broken into. On one occasion $400 worth of meat substitutes were taken. Not realizing what the products were, the thieves didn't live "high on the hog," Hainault is sure, and he hopes their tastes may have been improved.

Problems of this nature have changed, however, since Hainault became the owner of Lobo, a 2-year-old, 90-pound Alaskan malamute dog. When he stops to make deliveries, Lobo is tied to the truck, and his deep-throated growl keeps strangers away. This intelligent animal, one of the kind used for years as sled dogs in the frozen North, is also a conversation piece which allows the health food salesman to acquaint people with his products.

Lobo's grandfather was a champion malamute, Hainault said, who won more prizes and broke more records than any other dog of any breed.

Lobo, who is a fiend for water, has developed a noise which Hainault says comes close to sounding like the word "water." He also has a few other "words" which the Hainaults are able to recognize. Perhaps Lobo may not only provide protection for Hainault in his rounds of Michigan, but also prove to be a good traveling companion, holding his own in a conversation.

27 Five-Day Plan Participants Represent 577 years of Smoking

Tobacco chewers and snuff users were among the 27 who stopped using tobacco after the recently held Five-Day Plan at Hastings, Elder Olav Labianca, coordinator, reports.

Also included were two cigar smokers and one who was addicted to the pipe. This added up to an 80 percent success factor for this clinic attended by 33 persons.

Statistics turned in by the participants showed that the 27 former tobacco users smoked 673 cigarettes per day before coming to the clinic. Their combined length of time as smokers amounted to 577 years! Seven smoked two or more packs a day, five averaged one and one-half packs, and nine others used at least one pack per day. None smoked less than 15 cigarettes during a 24-hour period.

Dr. Stewart O. Erhard, Adventist physician from Eaton Rapids, drove the 35 miles to and from Hastings each evening to conduct another of the many clinics he has given.

It was this faithfulness of Dr. Erhard's part which helped one participant to stop his long and insidious habit. "When the doctor is willing to drive, after a busy day, over here and back at this time of the year, just to help me quit, then I ought to do my part to make the program work for me."

Many requests for additional clinics in the Hastings area have already been received and Elder Labianca is laying plans for more clinics in the near future. Assisting Labianca and Erhard were Mrs. Robert Shaffer, Mrs. Dale Slayton, and Mrs. Olav Labianca.

COVER STORY

CHURCH SNOWBOUND IN THE U.P.

Members of the Adventist Ironwood church did not worship together on Sabbath, February 6.

For the fourth time this winter, heavy snows closed schools and businesses and on this occasion prevented church members from getting to church. Not only were most of the members snowbound, but, according to Elder Harry Freese, "there was no parking space at the church" because of the snow-clogged, narrow streets. The storm began on Friday, and on Sabbath morning people began the mammoth job of digging out from under six-to-eight-foot drifts, and snowbanks piled 15 to 20 feet high.

The heavy accumulation of snow damaged the roofs of several large buildings near the church. Elder Freese, to avoid similar problems, also had to shovel snow off the church roof.

The newspaper reported that the area had had 202 inches of snow up to that date this season, with the record of 268 inches being threatened.

GESTURE FOR GUEST

Judy Thompson, center, guest speaker at the Alpena Ingathering victory banquet is shown receiving "The Builders," a book depicting Seventh-day Adventists' work around the world. Presenting the book to Judy, who is a VISTA Volunteer in the Alpena area, is Everett Kittleson, lay activities leader, with Lois Wilke, health and welfare director, looking on. A Valentine (have a heart for humanity) theme was used at the banquet held in Alpena's church gymnasium.

LETTER IS SHOT IN THE ARM TO BANDAGE MAKERS

A letter from the mission field has been a shot in the arm to ladies of the Battle Creek Tabernacle who, for a number of years, have been making bandages for Adventist leprosariums in Africa.

Dr. and Mrs. Jens D. Henriksen (he was formerly on the staff of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, but is now medical director for the European Division) wrote to the folk back home after a recent visit to the 315-member leper settlement at the Masanga Leprosarium in Sierra Leone, West Africa. He said in part: "If I could take you and the dear people who make the bandages on a tour of this hospital, you would certainly see the great need and understand why I am writing. The patients have sores on their hands, feet, and legs and are grateful for the bandages which the dear members of the Tabernacle have been making. The hospital has 300 patients and many out-patients. After washing and sterilizing, the bandages are used again and again until there is nothing left of them. They cannot be bought, so they depend upon our good people in the churches to make them.

"Masanga is the only leprosarium in Sierra Leone, a country of one and one-half million people. About 100,000 of these have leprosy. Rehabilitation consists not only of medication but includes surgery, skin transplants, tendon transplants, loosening of contractures, healing of sores, physical therapy, and occupational therapy."

SOUTH HAVEN LAYMEN STRUGGLE REACH VANGUARD GOAL WITHOUT PASTOR

The 35 members of the South Haven church enter Laymen's Year knowing that they—as laymen—can meet the challenge of tasks set before them.

From habit the group leaned on their pastor to lead them to victory in their World Service Appeal. This time, however, Pastor Donald Gettys was in the process of moving closer to the Hartford church with its 133 members. He couldn't give them the same amount of help as he had in past years, but assured the South Haven members that they were "experienced enough to take the initiative" without him.

Gettys gave the South Haven members a send-off by spending a day in business solicitation, which netted $200 of the $720 church goal. Pastor Gettys also went out several evenings with member John Stachnik, working rural and other less-populated areas.

According to Mrs. June C. Mitchell, active press secretary for the church, "the small force of four to six regulars and as many 'occasionals' felt unequal to the task, but moved out with fervent prayers," feeling they were participating in an "opportunity with God."

The small town of South Haven seemed impossibly large that first night, but "courage mounted as night after night produced rewards for their efforts," Mrs. Mitchell reports.

Faithful new hand Bill Davidson, Jr., went nightly; Bob Sink used his new cassette recorder on the sound car, and solicited when others could drive; even the weather seemed cooperative.

Then Mrs. Violet Niemeyer, one of the few steady solicitors, became ill. The goal seemed far distant, and several nights too cold and wet to proceed. That slow week caused the following one to spin with activity. Contributions doubled, and the goal was reached. Final figures amounted to $966.55, putting the church over its Vanguard goal.

No victory dinner was held this year because the members enjoyed sandwiches and a hot drink at the home of Mrs. Niemeyer nightly after soliciting (the eats were prepared by Evelyn Hunt, Mrs. Niemeyer's sister). During this time the experiences of the evening were shared with the other solicitors, bringing chuckles and a renewed faith in the leading of God.

Through the years news releases and radio announcements concerning the local community services center have brought a gradual high regard of Adventists and their work. Now many come to the door with their offerings ready. Those who need an explanation go for their purses or wallets when the work is explained. South Haven now accepts the work of the center as benefitting the community, not just the Adventist Church as was previously believed.

When the campaign ended, South Haven's members gave a record Christmas offering in what one member called a thank offering because "God saw them through what might have been their first year of failure." He richly blessed, they believe, their humble lay efforts.

HALF MILLION DOLLARS RAISED IN SABBATH SCHOOL OFFERINGS

Michigan Conference Sabbath School offerings reached a new high in 1970 with total offerings going over the half million dollar mark. The Investment Offering, which is a part of the total offerings, came just short of one hundred thousand dollars.

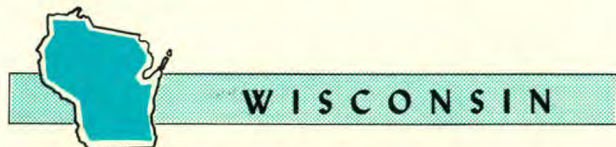

The Investment Offering is traditionally called a partnership with God, since it is an investment of personal funds, the increase from a chosen project going for the mission offering.

Some member occasionally gives a percentage of overtime pay as an Investment project. Such was the case with John Day of the Midland church, who is a railroad man. He dedicated a portion of his overtime pay to the Investment plan, and by the end of the year had turned in $145.

The annual Investment goal, as set by the General Conference, is $6.00 per member, with 81 churches going well over the goal. Ludington reached a total of $1,043.73 with a per capita of $25.45. Next in line was Munising with $18.83, and Mio with $18.05.

The four keys to success in the Investment project, according to Clyde Groomer, Conference Sabbath School secretary, are: faith in God, 100 percent participation, faithful promotion in the churches, and much prayer.

MURDOCHS ASSERT THAT NO GENERATION GAP NEED BE, IF . . .

Dr. W. G. C. Murdoch, dean of the Theological Seminary at A.U., and his wife, Ruth, professor of education at Andrews, shared their personal experiences and professional talents with parents and young people in Madison, February 27 and 28, in a worship service, MV meeting, and a Home and School function Saturday night.

The Murdochs asserted that there does not need to be a gap between generations if parents will listen, love, and pray; and children will lower their voices, be grateful, and time their requests. If all members of the family remember to love and know that they are loved, the Elijah message of harmony between the generations will soon speed the work of evangelism.

AID TO PAROCHIAL AND PRIVATE SCHOOLS DISCUSSED IN NEWS CONFERENCE

On March 1 Elder Mel Rosen was able to present to a news conference the S.D.A. stand on separation of church and state in regard to aid for parochial and private schools. The Seventh-day Adventists of Wisconsin have really made an effort to kill the drive for such aid by supplying more signatures against this bill than any other group in Wisconsin.

We thank our many members who came to the assistance of the Educational Department of the Wisconsin Conference.

COMPULSORY UNIONISM OF STATE EMPLOYEES PRESENTED TO THE STATE ASSEMBLY

On February 23 Elder Mel Rosen presented the S.D.A. stand on compulsory labor unions before the state assembly. The attorney employed by the union assured Elder Rosen after his presentation that he will place a conscience clause in this document.

Without this clause many of the teachers and other

S.D.A. state employees would be in trouble and undoubtedly would have to look elsewhere for employment.

Pray that the right decision will be made by the state assembly so our folk can continue their employment and their witness for Christ in these circles.

NEWS NOTES

- Child evangelism is winning friends by bringing children and parents to the Wausau church and hopefully into the S.D.A. message in a coming evangelistic effort.

- Mrs. Ralph Seiler, Vacation Bible School leader for several years in Wausau, has spearheaded a Sabbath afternoon story hour where attendance has reached 21 and gives evidence of growing. Some nonmembers come with their children, and members' children enjoy story hour while mother and father visit Bible study interests.

- A new church school, Rib Mountain S.D.A. school, has been formed by the Merrill, Moon, and Wausau churches. Jerome Ringwelski, board chairman, reports a pre-enrollment of 11 students already for this coming fall.

- Pastors Trevor Delafield of Wausau and Rodger Ratcliffe of Merrill report an ideal attitude of mutual support and cooperation in starting the new Rib Mountain church school. Merrill, for instance, currently has no children for the school, yet have pledged financial assistance so Christian education will be available to new converts and any who move into the area.

- Twenty full-scale evangelistic efforts are in progress or scheduled in Wisconsin for the first five months of 1971.

- If you have relatives or friends in or near Wausau who should receive an invitation to evangelistic meetings, please send their names and addresses to Elder Trevor Delafield, 717 Kildeer Lane, Wausau, Wisconsin 54401.

- On February 6, three people were baptized in Green Bay's first baptism of Laymen's Year. Those baptized were Rollin Payne, Jr., a sixth grader in the Green Bay church school and Mr. and Mrs. Parmentier, who were led into the advent message through literature in the waiting room of Drs. Crawford and McNeal.

- Spring will soon be here and with it the usual spring and summer weddings. There is no better way to get your favorite couple off to a good start than to give them a subscription to the Adventist Home, a magazine especially designed for young married folk and young Adventist families. The price is only $2.00 a year. Order from your Book and Bible House.

LITERATURE EVANGELIST RALLY HELD IN MADISON

An inspiring literature evangelist rally under the leadership of the publishing secretary, Gary Ehlert, was held in the Madison church school on February 28. Forty literature evangelists attended. Wisconsin Big Week sales of $4,000 were reported, with Ray Fitzgerald leading the field with deliveries of over $1,000. There were several prospective literature evangelists present, some of whom will be starting in the field soon.

BREAKIE, Jenette Danielle, was born January 17, 1971, to Lee and Mary (Wilson) Breakie of Pontiac, Michigan.

DOERING, Troyan Lee, was born January 20, 1971, to Al and Sharon (Dykeman) Doering of Sanford, Michigan. The Doerings are members of the Midland church.

KELLEY, David Mark, was born February 6, 1971, to David and Laurel (Turner) Kelley of Hinsdale, Illinois.

REINBOLD, Christopher Brett, was born to George and Patti (Ford) Reinbold of Battle Creek, Michigan, on January 9, 1971.

TODD, Lori Kay, was born November 9, 1970, to Dennis and Karen (Yeary) Todd of Augusta, Michigan.

OBITUARY

CARROLL, CREE, born March 6, 1881, in Allendale, Ill., died Jan. 26, 1971, at Anderson, Ind.

He was preceded in death in 1967 by his wife Edith, to whom he was married Feb. 14, 1906, and a son Walter in 1940.

He was a member of the Indianapolis Glendale church. Funeral services were conducted in Anderson by Elder Teddrick Mohr.

Surviving are a sister, a daughter, Mrs. Hulda Bryant of Anderson, 2 grandchildren, and 2 great-grandchildren.

DENISON, MARY LUETTA TEESDALE, born at Colusa, Ill., June 14, 1880, died in Carthage, Ill., on Dec. 18, 1970.

In 1905 she joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church; after she moved to Carthage in 1913, she became a charter member of the Carthage church, and was a faithful member until her death.

She is survived by her children, Alice Weinberg of Springfield, Ill., and Ralph and Edward, both of Carthage; 2 sisters, Mrs. Leota Soland and Mrs. Anna Longshie, both of Niota, Ill.; 2 brothers, Dr. Homer Teesdale of Bakersfield, Calif., and Hugh Teesdale of Colusa, Ill.; 2 grandchildren; and 2 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Pastor Mervin Kempert, assisted by Pastor D. S. Weinberg.

FUNK, SAMUEL B., 71, of Manito, Ill., died in November of 1970.

He was born Aug. 31, 1899, and was a member of the Pekin and Peoria churches for over thirty years, also being a resident in these cities.

He is survived by his widow, Etta, 3 sons, 6 daughters, 2 brothers, a sister, 24 grandchildren, and 6 great-grandchildren.

Elders E. M. Tyson and William King performed funeral services.

GUTHRIE, BURTON, 72, died Nov. 21, 1970, in Berrien Springs, Mich.

He was a construction contractor, living in the Berrien Center area and retired to Cassopolis, Mich.

He is survived by his widow, Violet (Craig), 3 daughters, 2 sons, 19 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Berrien Springs with Elder E. L. Malcolm officiating.

PHEGLEY, ETHEL CLARA, of Madison, Ind., died Jan. 21, 1971. She was born in Carroll County, Ky., on March 13, 1902.

In April, 1970, Mrs. Phegley united with the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

She leaves 2 daughters, 3 sons, 12 grandchildren, and 5 great-grandchildren.

STOLDT, LILLIE B., 68, of Peoria, Ill., died Dec. 23, 1970.

She was born in Virden, Ill., Feb. 24, 1902. Springfield, Ill., was her home for many years before she moved to Peoria.

She is survived by her husband Carl, and a stepson, Carl Jr.

She avidly supported Investment, Dorcas work, missions, the Voice of Prophecy, and Faith for Today.

Funeral services were held by Elders E. M. Tyson and L. J. Marsa,

Dr. Frank L. Marsh Named Professor Emeritus

Dr. Frank Lewis Marsh, professor of biology at Andrews University, has recently been named professor emeritus by the Andrews University Board of Trustees. He will be retiring in June.

Dr. Marsh joined the faculty as head of the biology department in 1950. He has 42 years of teaching experience, half of this at Andrews University. During 23 years of his teaching he headed college biology departments (at Union College and at Andrews).

Dr. Marsh received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees from Andrews (then Emmanuel Missionary College) in 1927 and 1929. He was granted a master of science degree in zoology at Northwestern University in 1935 and a Ph.D. in botany at the University of Nebraska in 1940.

He has written over 140 published articles and books and has been a frequent contributor both to Seventh-day Adventist periodicals and to scientific journals. Dr. Marsh is a noted creationist, and the majority of his writings have dealt with questions of science and religion. His presently published books include Evolution, Creation, and Science; Studies in Creationism; Evolution or Special Creation?; and Life, Man, and Time.

He is a member of the Sigma Xi; of the Bible-Science Association (Lutheran-Missouri Synod); of two non-denominational creationist organizations, Evolution-Protest Movement (International) and Creation Research Society (of the latter society Dr. Marsh was one of the 10 original founders); and of the Life Origins Foundation (S.D.A.). He has been a member of the board of directors in both of the latter two organizations.

BLACK HISTORY RECOGNIZED AT A.U.

"The day has come . . . Right on!" was the theme of Black History Week held at Andrews University, February 7 through 13.

Black History Week, observed annually at Andrews, provides an opportunity for students on campus to learn more about the Negro heritage and experience.

"The week reemphasized the necessity of reorientation, unity, cooperation, and education concerning the brotherhood of man," says Charles Upshaw, Seminary student and chairman of the Black History Week committee.

Religious services, assemblies about brotherhood, panel discussions, and an Afro-American fashion show were on the program schedule.

A highlight of the week was a talk by Reverend George Edgar Riddick, director of research for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's Operation Breadbasket.

Concluding the week, Elder T. M. Kelley of the Detroit Burns Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Church conducted a communion service on Friday evening in the campus Pioneer Memorial church, and Dr. Frank W. Hale, Jr., president of Oakwood College, Huntsville, Alabama, spoke at both worship services at the church on Sabbath.

SHIRTTAIL, PLEASE

Gerrie Ann Rusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary W. Rusk, 736 Timberland Drive, Berrien Springs, is the first woman to make her solo flight in the Andrews University aviation program. Above, her instructor, Dan Wenberg, snips off a piece of her shirttail to post on the hangar bulletin board, a tradition that signifies an individual's completion of his first solo flight. Miss Rusk is a sophomore business and mathematics major at Andrews.
