C.A.C. - Kids With a Job and a Dream

Collegiate Action for Christ started with four young men and a dream. Today there are sixty young people with that same dream. That dream is a team of highly trained, versatile youth spending a year at a time working with their peers, with the objective to claim the promises of Christ for life now and to share that life with others in the future.

What does C.A.C. do? Just about anything connected with one-to-one evangelism. First, it started giving week of prayer series at academies. Students at Greater Miami Academy paid traveling expenses for the team to come hold their week of prayer this spring. Reactions were enthusiastic: "Thanks for making me happy again. Thanks for bringing Christ back into my life and that's everything to me." "I rejoice at the inner peace you have given me." "I thought it was hard to be a Christian and to get to heaven, but they have showed me different."

This summer, a dozen kids, under the leadership of Allan Wolfson, team director, Ken Wilson and Jim Ayres, co-directors, devoted their summer to a faith ministry in working for fellow youth. Camp meetings and summer camps were included in their schedule as they involved others in singing, discussions, joint witnessing efforts, and personal testimonies, as well as preaching of the Word.

Allan Wolfson, team director, helps one of the students from Greater Miami Academy, Cindy Rirpi, to find Christ on a one-to-one basis. Here they are discussing the principles of the ministry of the Holy Spirit.

What is the difference between the C.A.C. and other groups, such as the Gymnares? Collegiate Action for Christ team works in an evangelistic outreach, getting an interest, and they staying with it until that person is secured in his relationship to Christ, while the Gymnares are primarily an inspirational group, designed to create an interest in Christ through mind, body, and spirit.

If any church or MV society would like to have the Collegiate Action for Christ team come to their church, or if they would like its director to come talk about the revival among the S.D.A. youth in relationship to the church and the older generation, they should write to Collegiate Action for Christ, c/o Andrews University Station, P.O. Box 241, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

One of the principles of Collegiate Action for Christ is the belief in audience involvement. Ken Wilson, co-leader, directs a group of interested students in preparing a musical number for the last Sabbath of the Michigan camp meeting.

Collegiate Action for Christ is still working toward trying to provide scholarships for the team members so that they can return to college. This is a faith ministry. Donations can be sent to the MV department at the Lake Union Conference office.

Team members enjoy a guest meal at Hialeah Hospital in Miami, Florida, after the team helped tape two programs of a spiritual nature for the hospital's TV station.

C.A.C. team members conduct one of several discussion groups involving personal Bible study.

COLPORTEURS RALLY AT PORTAGE

Lake Union literature evangelists at their 1971 mid-summer rally and sales development seminar concentrated on sharpening their tools for making 1972 a record year for soul winning.

Some 400 colporteurs and their families converged on Portage, Wisconsin, from August 22 to 28 for work and recreation. And they found an ample supply of both.

At this summer's retreat, the literature evangelists and their conference and union leaders used round-table discussions and symposium-type forums to get at the areas in which they felt the greatest need.

Guest lecturers for various periods included Ray Hixson from the Pacific Press, J. C. Clemens and Bob Kinney from the Review and Herald, Bill Crofton from the Southern Publishing Association, Norm Matiko from the Voice of Prophecy, Dr. Charles Anderson from Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Dr. Richard Hammill and Dr. Grady Smoot from Andrews University, Elder F. W. Wernick and Elder F. L. Jones of the Lake Union, and the presidents and treasurers of the conferences.

The day started with voluntary prayer bands at 6:30 a.m. with more than 50 in attendance. After breakfast and a morning devotional, the remainder of the morning was spent in instructional meetings with literature evangelists and their field leaders participating. The afternoon program included council meetings and recreation. Evening meetings featured the guest speakers.

During the council, conference administrators and the publishing leaders met to go over the 1972 soul-winning program which is part of Mission '72. Other items discussed were the student literature evangelism program, benefits for literature evangelists, and the Lake Union advertising program through which numerous ads have been placed in many leading journals. Responses from these ads have provided leads for hundreds of colporteurs and have resulted in hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of sales.

According to Elder J. W. Proctor, Lake Union publishing secretary, about 140 student colporteurs this summer sold over $150,000 worth of literature.

Dr. J. G. Smoot (above), Andrews University vice-president, spoke to the literature evangelists at the Sabbath morning service (right).

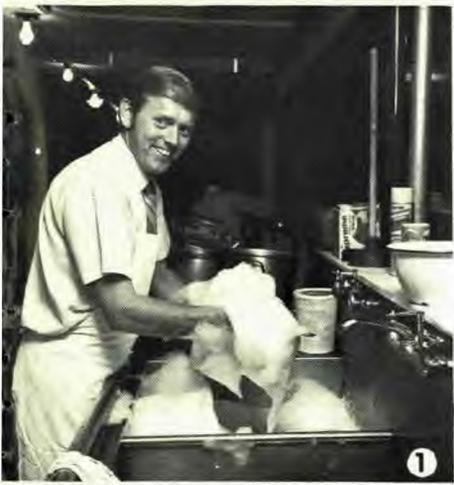

Colporteurs generally agreed that the Friday night communion service (below) was a highlight of the institute.

Elder Proctor pointed to additional publishing department statistics: at the end of July there was a $38,000 gain over the equivalent period last year; he expects $1,800,000 in sales for the Lake Union in 1971; and they look for 200 baptisms by the end of the year from soul-winning activities.

Presently, he stated, there are 200 full-time literature evangelists in the union with an additional 200 part-time workers. This, added to the 140 students, makes about 540 men and women engaged in the literature evangelist's work during the year.

Plans literature evangelists have for the new year and for Mission '72 include a goal of 300 baptisms for the year. Two evangelistic meetings are planned for each of the five conferences. They will be conducted entirely by student literature evangelists.

INSTITUTE SCRAPBOOK

1. Camp duties include dishwashing, a task cheerfully accepted by Gary Ehler. 2. Canvassing has other rewards. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Tidwell, student literature evangelists, spent part of their honeymoon at the Colporteur Institute and were honored at a reception. 3. J. D. Spiva chats with Union President F. W. Wernick under an overhanging rock in the Wisconsin Dells. 4. Elton Dessain, Illinois conference treasurer, brought a telescope for a look at the stars. 5, 6. Music played an important part in every meeting. 7. This group of new literature evangelists joined the Lake Union team during the past year.

DON'T DO IT!

Evidently even Seventh-day Adventists often find the temptation of a free offer overwhelming. The lure of the coupon is too much for them. But when it involves free books offered in connection with Mission '72, please don't do it!

Beginning with the July issue, our three missionary journals have been running a series of Reach Out For Life articles in preparation for Mission '72. With each article is a coupon offering a free book. And a few weeks from now, laymen all across North America will begin distribution of the eight Reach Out For Life pamphlets. Each will offer a free book.

But some Seventh-day Adventists have forgotten that they are to be a part of the follow-up in this great program—not the object of it. Already large numbers of coupons are coming in, with sometimes as many as seven requests from the same individual.

Please don't do it! This is not a matter of discrimination against our own members. Rather, a careful follow-up plan is involved. And Adventist names can only throw a monkey wrench into the machinery.

To begin with, each individual who requests a free book must be personally visited. He goes into the file, and into the plan, as an interest to be followed through. And if we spend our time and our energy and our money in visiting each other, pleasant and helpful as that may be, what will it do to Mission '72?

Wouldn't it be better if church members would cooperate by obtaining their books—the very same books—at their Book and Bible House?

And so, once more, when you see that coupon and feel the urge to send it in—please don't do it!

PRESERVING OUR HERITAGE

"A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men who cultivate them; not by its great forests, but the men who use them; not by its many mines, but by the men who work them; not by the thousands of miles of railroads, and interstate highways and the hundreds of airplanes, but by the men who built them and now operate them."—Heritage.

It is our greatest responsibility as Christians to help in the preservation of our unimpaired heritage, and man is the center of this heritage. God created man in His image after His likeness to become the ruler "over all the earth." (Gen. 1:26)

But man, who should have been the great ruler, who should have had the power over other beings, let intemperance rule him, back there in the Garden of Eden as well as today. He is a slave to his own vices and passion.

I don't know how many of you have read the letter Percy Patrick Pilon, Jr., wrote at the age of 18 just before committing suicide using a gun. The story was published in The Washington Daily News, November 12, 1970. His letter was addressed to the addicted youth. In it he recalls some of his misfortunes and his ordeals. He also stated that he was committing suicide because he was not able to dominate or abandon the vice of drugs to which he had become addicted.

Here is his appeal: "It is never too late to be cured, ask for help, which I am sure you will find before it is too late and when you are cured you will find the re-birth of a new life . . . I want to live, but have chosen this road in order to find peace."

This is today's daily picture. However, man can return to his condition of ruler through the grace of God and his faith in Jesus. Our world-wide program of temperance is one of the ways to help millions under the power of vice to go to Christ, and in this way return to that better way of life which is peace and happiness.

In addition to our effort to help others personally, we can give a generous offering on World Temperance Sabbath, October 23, 1971, with which we can provide the needed material to approach those in distress and in vice. This way we are doing our part in cooperating with the temperance program of our church and helping others enjoy the benefits of Heaven's eternal life.

God has given us a portion of Heaven's wealth to preserve the heritage He has entrusted us, and one of the best ways to use it is to rehabilitate the man to His image and likeness.

Let us give to the Temperance work on Sabbath, October 23, 1971, as the Holy Spirit prompts us, and be assured that this way we will experience satisfaction, strength, and faith in God's rehabilitation plan for man.

MIRACLE OF A V.O.P. BIBLE COURSE ENROLLMENT CARD

This is the story of a lost, crumpled, dirty, greasy Voice of Prophecy Bible course enrollment card, and the miracle it triggered.

Someone—no one knows who—left or lost the card in a car which was traded in. A man in Ozark, Arkansas, whose job it was to clean up second-hand cars for future sale, spied the card among the debris in the trunk. He pulled it out, wiped it off, and put it in his pocket.

Later, at home, he put the card on a shelf and forgot it.

One day this man visited a brother in Chauteau, Oklahoma. During their conversation this man mentioned the card he had at home. He told his brother George that he was going to send the card to him.

A quiet Christian man of the Baptist faith, George soon forgot that he was to get a card from his brother, but one day a letter came and the card was in it. George looked it over. He wasn't impressed. The card went into the trash basket.

Then—he doesn't really remember why—George was impressed that the card was important. He searched through the trash basket, found it, filled it in, and sent it off to the Voice of Prophecy.

The Bible lessons came. George filled out the question sheets, his interest growing. He began to find answers to many questions about the Bible which puzzled him.

On highway 69, at the edge of Chauteau, Lyman and Kathy Williams have a fruit stand. On the stand is a sign which says "Closed on Saturday." The Williams live 60 miles from Chauteau at Gentry, but their fruit stand is at Chauteau.

One day in July, Kathy Williams was hurrying to care for the needs of several people who had stopped at the stand. Suddenly a man asked, "Do you know where there is a church that has services on Saturday? I want to talk to the preacher."

"There is one at Pryor, and the preacher lives there too," said Mrs. Williams hastily, hoping to speak more with the man. But when she turned from the customer she was serving he had gone—she didn't even get his name.

A few minutes later Lyman Williams and his father arrived at the fruit stand and listened to Kathy describe the man who asked about the church that worships on Saturday. She had also noted the kind of car he was driving.

"Well, Chateau isn't all that big," Lyman said. "We can probably find the man if we look around a bit." Finally they found the car—and George.

There followed many visits by George to the fruit stand where, in time between customers, Lyman answered many questions. Soon George began attending Sabbath School at Pryor.

Attendance at evangelistic meetings 40 miles away followed, and soon George felt the Holy Spirit calling him to a new way of life. At the fruit stand one afternoon he found the church pastor, the evangelist, and Lyman together and told them of his decision to be baptized.

"But you aren't ready yet," one of them said. "Look at that cigar you have in your hand!"

"Oh," George laughed, "a friend just gave that to me. You can see it hasn't been lit."

"But how about that," another of the men asked, pointing to a cigar box on the dashboard of George's car.

Reaching inside, George opened the box for the men. "That's where I keep my Bible and Sabbath School quarterly. I guess I should get something else to keep them in."

On December 19, 1970, George was baptized. The miracle of the card was complete.

HOSPITAL ADDS NEW CHAPLAIN

Elder John Erhard has joined the chaplains' staff of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital as the third full-time chaplain employed by the hospital.

Most recently the pastor of the Central Seventh-day Adventist church in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Elder Erhard brings to his new position a total of 20 years of experience in counseling as a local church pastor.

After obtaining his college education at Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan, and further studies at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, now located at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, Elder Erhard entered the church ministry as a local pastor in 1951.

Elder John Erhard, newly appointed chaplain for Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, poses in the small patients' chapel on the main floor of the hospital. He is associated with Chaplains Willis C. Graves and Gordon Hewlett in the hospital's chaplaincy program.

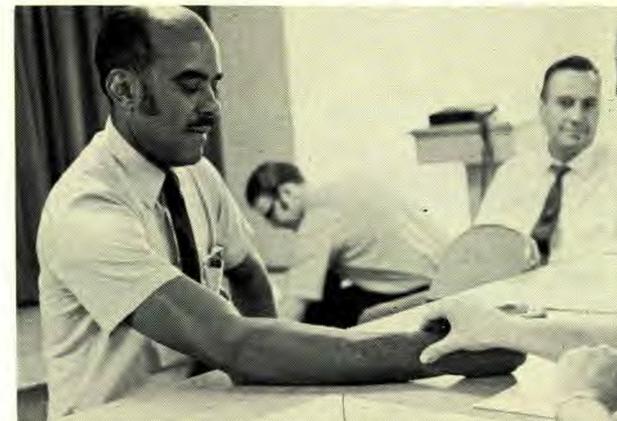

Elder and Mrs. Erhard have five children: Mrs. Allen Snyder, a receptionist in the laboratory of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital; Debra and Susan, 17-year-old twins, both students at Broadview Academy, LaFox, Illinois; Mark, 11; and Paul, 9. Mrs. Erhard is working at the hospital as a receptionist in the outpatient department.

Hospital Board Goes On Grand Tour

The Board of Directors of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital got the tour of their lives recently when they came to the hospital for board orientation.

As the group of directors visited various departments of the hospital, technicians drew blood samples and performed dozens of tests on the board members to ascertain their state of health.

Fittingly, the chairman of the board walked away with highest marks in a "pulse recovery" test designed to check a person's overall physical fitness. Elder Francis W. Wernick, chairman of the hospital board and president of the Lake Union Conference, was clocked at just two beats above his normal heart rate of 68 beats per minute following three minutes of strenuous exercise and a minute of rest.

The pulse recovery test was the last stop in a busy day of activity for the Board of Directors for Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital at their recent orientation program. Shown here, Elder Frank L. Jones, secretary of the Lake Union Conference has his pulse rate checked following moderate exercise and a brief rest.

The men were also tested for glaucoma, high blood pressure, anemia, diabetes, and many other possible physical problems. Blood and urine specimens were examined, and complete chest X-rays and electrocardiograms were given to each member.

Two board members, who both happen to be physicians, doubled as medical counselors, giving specific medical advice at the end of the day to each board member about how he should improve or maintain his health.

The physicians were Luther Johansen, M.D., and Lenard Heffner, M.D., both Seventh-day Adventist general practitioners in the Hinsdale area.

"We want our board members to know how a hospital really works," explained William H. Wilson, administrator, "and we thought that a complete physical involving many of the departments of the hospital would be the best way to describe our patient services. A lot of boards never see anything in a hospital except the board room," he said.

It was the first such orientation for the hospital's board, but probably not the last, Wilson said. "We'd like to keep our board members as informed—and as healthy—as possible."

Four Complete Lab Course

Lab Graduates Score High

Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital's School of Medical Technology had reason to be particularly proud of its class of graduates who recently passed examinations with the national registry.

The average test scores of the three graduates placed the hospital's school in the upper 15 percent of all 650 schools in the country.

The students were Alban Bacchus, Barbara Foiler, and Lee Forsythe. Both Barbara and Lee are continuing work as medical technologists at the hospital.

NEWS NOTES

- A religious liberty seminar was held in the Hinsdale church on Sabbath, September 18, for the greater Chicagoland churches. Elder Melvin Adams of the General Conference spoke on labor unions. More and more Adventists are withdrawing from unions because of Ellen White's counsel. Problems are developing as God's people prepare for Christ's second advent.

- A seminar for the ministers of Illinois was held September 13 to 15 in the Hinsdale church. The launching of the Mission '72 soul-winning program was outlined and each worker has returned to his district organized for this tremendous endeavor for Christ. Ingathering will be the first contact with the public.

- The Downers Grove church is having its dedication on November 6. Elder Richard Fearing, president of the West Virginia Conference, will be the speaker.

Len and Renee Hickman

LITERATURE EVANGELIST IN CHICAGO

For the past eight months Len Hickman has been involved in full-time literature evangelism in the Chicago area. It hasn't always been easy. When he first began, being only 18 years old, he was probably one of the youngest full-time literature evangelists anywhere. Someone told him he would never sell books, because to be a good salesman he would need to be at least 30 years old. With what seemed all the odds against him and his lovely bride at his side, he began as a full-time literature evangelist in January 1971.

Although some weeks were rough, the last few weeks have shown a tremendous blessing from God. Len's deliveries one week were $720 of Seventh-day Adventist books into the homes of non-members. This is only one week of several. His deliveries for this year will top $15,000.

When asked why he was a literature evangelist, he replied, "Because I love my Lord, and I want to see the work finished." This certainly is the spirit Seventh-day Adventists long for. With this type of dedication, surely Christ's coming will be hastened. The need is great for more Len Hickmans. Don't hesitate to respond if God speaks to your heart. Annual Book and Bible House Autumn Sale at Fox Valley

The autumn sale of books is scheduled for Sunday, October 24, at the Fox Valley Branch on the campus of Broadview Academy, and Monday, October 25, at the Illinois Book and Bible House, Brookfield, Illinois.

This pre-holiday sale is being planned for the convenience of members and their friends. We will have a good supply of both the senior and junior daily devotional volumes for 1972, along with the 1972 Morning Watch booklets and the new Christian Home Calendar.

Already we have over a dozen food items purchased for our case lot sale and undoubtedly there will be more added to the list before the sale date. Food company representatives will be on hand as usual and samples of various items will be offered both on Sunday at the Fox Valley Branch and Monday at the Brookfield store.

Special prices will be in effect for these two days and there will be bargains too numerous to mention. This is the time when opportunity is afforded you to do some "early bird" holiday shopping.

We look forward to seeing you.

BACK TO SCHOOL "SPLASH" PARTY

Climaxing a summer packed with activities and with excitement of the forthcoming school year, 52 Rockford youth met at Russ Gerke's home for a back-to-school swim party planned for them by the Sabbath School youth leaders. Outdoor games and many unexpected splashes in the pool were enjoyed by everyone.

Harold Carter and Bob Spies assisted Mr. and Mrs. Gerke with the evening activities including plenty of homemade ice cream.

PREPARING THE WAY

This picture of a graduation a number of years ago is typical of the many held in Adventist schools held around the country. Christian education is essential for the spiritual development of our youth who are soon to lead this church to victory in Christ. You must plan now to enroll your children in an Adventist school. Graduation day can make you a proud parent if that child has been prepared for service in God's cause.

INDIANA

WHY INDIANA ACADEMY?

Jeanne Zacharias

by Jeanne Zacharias

Why did I choose Indiana Academy to go to instead of a public high school? And what makes a Christian school so great? Well, just some things like the traditional Moonlight Hike, ice-skating on the lake with a warm, cheery fire to warm up by when you get too cold to skate, or how about the fall picnic with pie-eating contests and handicapped baseball?

You say, Well, you can do all those things at a public high school. But can you do them with friends that have the same faith as you do?

And another thing. At a public school there would be activities that I couldn't attend because they didn't go along with what I believe as a Seventh-day Adventist, or because they were on a Friday night or Sabbath.

Also, at our school we have a smaller enrollment than a public high school, which makes smaller classes and more individual help for each student, which really makes it nice.

Here at Indiana Academy the teachers are dedicated to their jobs and try to help the students spiritually as well as scholastically.

All in all, a Christian school's the place for me!

LAKE REGION

40 COME TO OPPORTUNITY CAMP

Nearly 40 campers came to Lake Region's opportunity camp from Chicago's Westside, Detroit, and other smaller cities. For many of these boys and girls, whose ages ranged from 9 to 18, this was a new experience.

The camp program, with its early call to worship, room inspection, and camp duties, saw the inner-city youngsters cooperating in a way which amazed the camp staff.

Going into the woods to fell a tree was an altogether different experience than breaking the branches off a tree in their town. Canoeing, horseback riding, and the football exhibitions by Chicago's semi-professional Jim Brown thrilled the campers.

Friday evening vespers around the bonfire, Sabbath morning services, and the afternoon ecological studies were events that will be everlastingly impressed on their fertile minds.

Departure day brought mixed emotions, but it was generally agreed upon by the youth that coming to Camp Valkyrie had given them an unforgettable experience. "Right on!" was echoed by the rest.

Eliot Nunez drives home a point during the teaching of the Sabbath School lesson.

FAMILY FUN AT FAMILY CAMP

Sunny skies and hot temperatures greeted Lake Region campers as they arrived at Camp Valkyrie for family camp.

The Sabbath School was under the leadership of Elizabeth Nunez of Benton Harbor, Michigan, with her husband, Eliot, leading out in the study of the lesson.

For divine worship, the 30 or more campers joined with the Calvin Center church. David Jones, camp pastor, and pastor of the Benton Harbor, Dowagiac, and Niles churches, delivered the message.

Afternoon found the campers involved in the family counseling session led by Reger Smith. Later that day as sunshine gave way to thunder showers, the campers listened unbelievably as an ex-drug addict, Marvin Garth, related the horrors of 17 years an addict. His wife, Phyllis, who has never been on drugs, accompanied Marvin and told what it's like to live with an addict for 14 years. Marvin started on drugs at the early age of 13. They are both involved in programs to help others learn the dangers of this insidious evil.

F. L. Jones tells how to make the dollar stretch by putting God first.

Sunday morning a budgeting session was conducted by F. L. Jones, secretary of the Lake Union Conference. Following lunch the rains descended keeping all activities indoors.

One feature of family camp has been a shuffle board contest. Our winners this year and for the second year in a row were the LaVaugh Wilsons of Ann Arbor. After a final session with our family counselor, prayer was offered invoking divine protection as our campers traveled home.

Students returning to Adelpian Academy are becoming acquainted with four new faculty members and their families.

Ronald Atkins, a recent graduate of Southern Missionary College, has majors in history and religion. He will be teaching United States history, world history, and government. Mr. Atkins and his wife Jean have two children, Ron and Rhonda.

Miss Verlyne Bartlett is a 1971 graduate of Andrews University who will teach English to the sophomore and junior classes and will be working with the school paper. She has minors in speech and secondary education.

Peter Cheeseman, who is teaching English and French, majored in French at Andrews. Since his graduation in 1964 he has taken advanced work and has almost completed the requirements for a master's degree in English. He also will be working with the school paper and the yearbook. Mr. Cheeseman and his wife Jane have two daughters, Debbie and Janelle.

The fourth new faculty member, Jerry Wasmer, graduated from Walla Walla College and has taken additional work at Ohio State University. He is nearing completion of the requirements for his Ph.D. in zoology. He has been assigned to teach classes in biology and religion.

The new faculty members have various free time activities, some of which will include Adelpian students. Mr. Atkins is interested in sports, particularly football, baseball, and basketball, while Mr. Cheeseman is interested in hockey and electronics. Mr. Wasmer finds time to raise orchids and cycle with his wife, Espie, and Miss Bartlett enjoys sewing and reading.

A FRIENDLY CHURCH

"A social a month keeps the Troy church a friendly church."

This is the feeling of Adventists from Troy and members from other areas who visit the 345-member church.

Close to a hundred people turned out in early September for Christian fellowship at a corn and potato roast. The youth enjoyed the activities and contributed their talents to provide suitable entertainment.

Pastor Roberts, center, enjoys the Troy church cook-out.

Members of the church under the leadership of Elder Ernest Roberts feel these monthly get-togethers are a part of the overall evangelism picture and a prerequisite for Mission '72. For isn't a friendly church a necessity for successful public evangelism?

Troy and Warren Church Schools Combine

Two Detroit area church schools have consolidated to give Adventist young people in that area a stronger educational program.

On registration day, 112 students from the Troy and Warren schools were enrolled at the 10-grade Northfield school at Troy. Charles Holford, who was principal of Northfield last year, continues in the same position in the new arrangement. The five other teachers of the two schools also have been kept on the combined staff.

Besides strengthening the educational program, the consolidation is bringing about a financially stronger school. Four busses are being used to pick up children who live in an area approximately twenty miles square.

The move has also created some problems which will have to be worked out in the months ahead. One of the main needs will be for more adequate class room and associate facilities.

6 BAPTIZED IN JACKSON

JACKSON SABBATH SCHOOL DISPLAYS WIN PRIZES AT COUNTY FAIR

Three of the Jackson Sabbath School departments entered prize winning exhibits in the local county fair's Sunday School exhibit section.

The local church school also entered three exhibits in the school division, which resulted in three first prize awards! A total of $145 in cash was received in prize money.

This is the fourth year in which fair entries have been made and the fourth year ribbons and prize money have been won.

This year the youth division's exhibit had for its theme, "Jesus, the Solution to Soul Pollution." This was done in bright colors and displayed a picture of Christ done by Elwyn Hyde of the youth department. The display received second prize and the money was used to buy new song books for their division.

The juniors and primary youngsters combined their booth this year with the theme, "Thou Shalt Not Kill." This displayed a number of temperance posters and literature on drugs, alcohol, and smoking, and the exhibit won first prize. Two teenagers who were working on the neighboring booth read the posters and commented, "We never thought of it that way before." They were very glad to receive Listen magazine and Wayout enrollment cards.

The Kindergarten made its first entry this year displaying Vacation Bible School workbooks in addition to birds, baskets of flowers, and butterflies with the theme, "God Made Everything." This took second prize.

Those participating felt the displays and the hundreds of pieces of literature handed out, plus the chance to talk with passers-by, proved a wonderful opportunity to witness for the church and the Lord.

Literature Evangelism Brings Results

An Upper Peninsula literature evangelist, Paul Adams, found a young woman, Mrs. Ann Blanchard, interested in religion. Through her efforts others were located and a Bible study class arranged. As a result, a summer baptism by Elder Harry Freese of the Ironwood church was held in a nearby lake with Mrs. Blanchard joining the church. Two other members of the class, Marlene Ruby and David Rawls, were also baptized. More baptisms are expected this fall as a result of the study group and the initial colporteur contact. Shown in the picture are, left to right, Elder Harry Freese, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adams, Mrs. Blanchard, Marlene Ruby, and David Rawls. David and Marlene were married the day following their baptism.

WISCONSIN ACADEMY ENROLLMENT UP

Enrollment soared to a long time high as three events marked Wisconsin Academy's registration days.

The 1971-72 school year officially started when the staff and 256 students participated in the annual handshake, orientation day, and the A.S.B. corn roast.

Registration is a three-day event. Following enrollment Elder Robert Knutson, principal, led the staff and students in a get-acquainted program by introducing the president of the associated student body, Dean Thomas, a senior from Wausau, who in turn led the annual handshake. The third day started with short classes and job orientation and ended with the annual corn roast.

Late registration by six students and one or two cases of homesickness holds the enrollment near 260, with 45 students coming from out of state. There are 80 seniors, 65 juniors, 65 sophomores, and 42 freshmen.

Everybody's dropping out. Well, a lot of people are. A lot of young people. We come on strong with exactly the opposite message: drop in, not out. Get into the life of faith. Start defusing hatred, igniting compassion, spreading the Good News. Share Christ's anguish and hope, His humility and courage, His indignation and love.

It is, we admit, a tough message, not likely to go over well with people who are soft on sin. But if enough people take it seriously, things might change. For the better.

Keith Hannah

INSTRUCTOR DROWNED ATTEMPTING RESCUE

An attempt to rescue his small dog resulted in the drowning of Keith Hannah, instructor in business administration at Andrews University on Saturday, September 11.

The accident occurred at about 6:00 p.m. at the north pier near Tiscornia Park in St. Joseph, Michigan, where the 28-year-old Hannah was walking with his sister, Elaine, 17, and friends Mr. and Mrs. John Vaden of Pontiac. About 200 feet from shore, a wave swept Hannah's poodle off the pier on the channel side, and Hannah immediately jumped in to save it.

He reached the dog and gave it a push toward the pier, but the strong current of the river entering the lake, coupled with a six-foot swell and a north wind at 15 knots prevented Hannah from returning to the pier. In addition, he was wearing hiking boots at the time.

Vaden was unsuccessful in reaching Hannah with a T-shirt and a branch. In the attempt, he fell into the water also, but got back to the pier. The dog was retrieved unharmed.

About 30 feet out from the pier, Hannah sank in 25-foot deep water.

Memorial services were held for Hannah on Tuesday, September 21, at the campus Pioneer Memorial Church. Instead of having flowers for the service, the family suggested that a memorial fund be set up in Hannah's honor. Checks may be made out to Andrews University and sent in care of Dr. Robert E. Firth, Chairman of the Department of Business Administration, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

Hannah was currently working on his dissertation for a doctorate in economics at Ohio State University. He earned his bachelor of science degree in business administration from Andrews University and his master of business administration degree from Bowling Green University in Ohio. He had been on the A.U. faculty since 1967.

He had recently been selected to appear in the 1971 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. He was a member of the Midwest Business Administration Association.

Survivors include his widow, the former Pamela Jean Weiss; a son, Keith, Jr., 3; and a daughter, Keely, 1; a sister, Elaine, a junior at Andrews Academy in Berrien Springs and living at his home; two brothers, Dean, 15, and Spencer, 13, and a sister, Dawn, 15, all living at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester R. Hannah, of Cygnet, Ohio; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Payne, of Bridgeport, West Virginia; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. June Summers, Parkersburg, West Virginia.
