Happiness At Home — 6

by W. John Cannon, Associate Secretary
General Conference Education Department

The passage in Ministry of Healing, pages 360 to 362, so clearly covers the guidelines for forming and keeping a happy home.

We have considered some of these pointers. Now your attention is directed to page 362 in Ministry of Healing: "But remember that happiness will not be found in shutting yourselves up to yourselves, satisfied to pour out all your affection upon each other. Seize upon every opportunity for contributing to the happiness of those around you. Remember that true joy can be found only in unselfish service."

This requirement reaches down to the basic rule that all true love is built on divine love. "Human love should draw its closest bonds from divine love." Ibid., page 358. (Let it be noted that the setting for this statement is the marriage alliance.) The nature of divine love is a giving attitude. "God so loved the world that he gave . . ." John 3:16. Have you ever considered that it is giving that builds self-respect, not getting. Surely it is still "more blessed to give than to receive," Acts 20:35. The New English Bible renders this text: "Happiness lies more in giving than in receiving."

From the records of the life of General Gordon, a British general of a century ago, we read of a beautiful incident. He was returning home after the Taeping campaign. His homecoming saw him loaded with honors but moneyless. However, on his leaving China, a grateful emperor presented General Gordon with a large gold medal in recognition of his outstanding service in the Far East. Landing at Plymouth, he read of the famine in the Coventry district. Having nothing else of value to give, he willingly gave his cherished medal, and with it sent a note to the treasurer of the Coventry relief program. "After all, this is the secret of bliss—to give away your medal. Nothing kept back, everything given."

Family life is like that. Husband and wife should find their fullest love in what they can give to each other and not in what they can get. How many homes would change if this were the order of the day!

Then, as a family, why not reach out for another family and share your happiness with them? Why not start family-for-family evangelism? This is not merely an evangelism of preaching, but an evangelism of loving lives touching others—families to families. Why not try it and see it work? The world is hungry for a love that gives.

Remember, friend of mine, that happiness lies more in giving than in receiving. Make it the motto of your life.

Fall Color Retreat And Fly-In

Michigan pilots and aviation enthusiasts are invited to attend the second fall color retreat and fly-in which will be held October 4 to 6 at Ranch Au Sable near Grayling, Michigan.

The welcome mat is also out for pilots from other states, according to Don Blehm of the Michigan youth department, sponsor of this activity.

Featured at the weekend event will be Adventist pilots who have made outstanding contributions to the area of aviation. Elder James Aitken of the General Conference, former president of the South American Division, who helped to establish the denominational air base at Pucallpa, Peru, will have the Sabbath morning church service.

Elder Bob Seamount, currently serving as conference pilot and communication secretary for the Texas Conference, will be featured both on Friday night and on Sabbath afternoon. He will show pictures of some of his trips ferrying aircraft across the ocean to Africa and South America. Seamount is well known for his aviation activities, first as a flying, island-hopping district pastor off the coast of the state of Washington, and then as mission pilot and director of the air base in Pucallpa, Peru.

John Freeman of Maranatha Flights International will be featured on Saturday night. He has just returned from the latest Maranatha project in Hawaii and will have a pictorial report of that.

On Sunday, weather permitting, special events will be scheduled. Concluding the weekend will be a group trip to Mackinaw Island where no automobiles are allowed, but where there is an airstrip for airplanes.

In order to help with the expenses of some of the special guests, a small registration fee of $2.00 per adult and $1.00 per student will be made. Other low rates will be available for the camp accommodations—$1.25 per meal and $3.00 per bed per night.

In announcing the fly-in, Elder Blehm made it clear that all persons are welcome to attend, no matter what mode of transportation they use. In the event that weather conditions are not conducive to fly, pilots are urged to drive in for a weekend of fellowship, inspiration, and recreation during Michigan's annual color spectacular. He also urged that all who read this pass on the information to pilots who may not receive the information initially.

The schedule of events is as follows:

- Friday, October 4

3 to 6 p.m., Registration at Grayling Airport for those who fly and at Ranch Au Sable for those who drive

6:30 p.m., Supper

7:30 p.m., Evening meeting featuring Bob Seamount

11:30 a.m., Church service, Elder James Aitken

1 p.m., Lunch

2:30 p.m., Nature hike

4 to 6 p.m., Bob Seamount

Special music for the weekend will be provided by those in attendance at the fly-in. If you plan to come, please indicate to Elder Blehm whether or not you will have a musical instrument that you can play or whether or not you will be available for any vocal selections.

Send all requests to: Elder Don Blehm, Michigan Conference of S.D.A., Box 900, Lansing, Michigan 48904.

why would anyone

jog

the U.S.A.?

Phil Castleberg and Heinz Wiegand, left, are nearing the end of their cross-country jog which has taken them through 13 states.

Two young Adventist men, Phil Castleberg and Heinz Wiegand, are jogging across the United States in an effort to show by example the value of the Adventist health message.

Both are advocates of Mrs. White's counsel on vigorous walking as being one of the best exercises, besides maintaining a vegetarian diet and making exercise a habit. The benefits these youth derive from jogging include less depression, better body metabolism, and a slowing down of their pulse rate.

The pair started their cross-country trek on June 2 from Seattle, Washington, running 40 miles a day for two weeks. They then increased their daily average to 46 miles until they reached La Crosse, Wisconsin. They plan to run 36 miles per day for the remainder of the trip, reaching Washington, D.C., in time to participate in an 11-mile marathon on Labor Day.

Castleberg and Wiegand jogged in rain through the Cascade Mountains in Washington and then encountered 100-degree heat from Spokane to Wisconsin. They drink three gallons of water a day (about fifty glasses). The water is supplied by Castleberg's sister (an R.N.) and Wiegand's wife who follow on bicycles.

While going down Steven's Pass in the Cascades, Castleberg developed a case of tendonitis and had to use crutches for three days and walked the next two weeks. Since then, the two have not suffered any other injuries. The major problems they have had is battling off the deer flies and mosquitoes.

The joggers were interviewed on a radio station in Montana, and told listeners to honk their car horns if they saw them. So many people responded that Wiegand said the noise was "deafening," and the runners had to ask the people to stop.

The 12-week jog will take these two young men through 135 towns and cities in 13 states, a witness to thousands of Americans. Among their sponsors are the American Temperance Society, Collegedale Distributors, Life and Health magazine, and the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Wiegand speaks for both runners as he says, "Three thousand miles is going to be a long run, but if we can get just one person to start taking care of his body and save his life by doing so, it will be worth every mile."

CATHOLICS COOPERATING WITH BIBLE SOCIETIES

A new trend for Bible societies is increasing cooperation with the Roman Catholic Church. General secretary of the United Bible Societies, Ulrich Fick, says that in some countries, Roman Catholics have become the main Bible distributors. The U.B.S. cooperates with the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate. Last year the U.B.S.'s 56 societies around the world distributed 249 million pieces of Scripture in 1,526 languages.

FIRST CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL IN CAMBODIA MORE THAN HALF FINISHED

The first Christian hospital ever built in Cambodia is now approximately 60 percent completed. World Vision International is constructing a 55-bed pediatric hospital in Monrovia with two operating rooms. The Christian humanitarian organization is presently providing medical care in Cambodia to more than nine thousand refugees each month through mobile medical teams and five clinics.

ECUMENISM UNDERLYING THEME OF CATHOLIC HOLY YEAR

Ecumenism will permeate the Catholic Church's 1975 Holy Year. Plans call for the central themes of the Holy Year—renewal and reconciliation—to be developed in an ecumenical perspective. Highlight of the Holy Year from an ecumenical standpoint will be the Week of Christian Unity, during which prayer services in various churches in Rome will be attended by Christians of different denominations.

POSTAL BILL TO SAVE RELIGIOUS PERIODICALS $1.8 MILLION

One million dollars will be saved by Catholic publications in the next 12 months, due to the approved postal rate adjustments bill, S 411. The bill will also save some 160 member-publications of the predominantly Protestant Associated Church Press an estimated $800,000. Passage of the postal adjustments bill was termed a "signal victory" by four religious press associations—the A.C.P., the Evangelical Press Association, the Catholic Press Association, and the Jewish Press Association.

AIR FORCE CHIEF OF CHAPLAINS AWARDED BY CHURCH

Retiring Air Force Chief of Chaplains Major General Roy M. Terry recently received an expression of appreciation for his years of cooperation with the Adventist Church. Chaplain Terry is retiring shortly after more than thirty years in the service of his country.

tion of the church, presented Chaplain Terry with a medallion bearing symbols of the major beliefs of the church.

In his presentation the N.S.O. director commended Terry for his personal ministry to those in the Air Force regardless of church affiliation. (The Major General, incidentally, is a Methodist.) Elder Smith has worked closely with him during his eight years in the Washington office.

Currently the church has four chaplains in the Air Force, one of whom is stationed in Europe. Thirteen Adventist chaplains are assigned to other branches of the U.S. Armed Services.

There are still 4,000 Adventist young men in military service for the United States, according to the latest report from the N.S.O.

BATTLE CREEK DOCTOR ELECTED TO OPTOMETRISTS' ASSOCIATION

The Association of Seventh-day Adventist Optometrists met this year in the beautiful garden city of Victoria, British Columbia. Hosts for the convention were Dr. and Mrs. Rolland Stickle of Port Alberni on Vancouver Island.

Educational lectures, spiritual emphasis, and time for recreation were all a part of the four-day session, July 11 through 14. Theme of the program was "Your Office, A Mission Station." The Friday evening service was a symposium depicting what is being done in the various offices to share our faith and promote the Gospel.

The Sabbath worship service was a sermon by Dr. Ralph Haynes of Lacombe, Alberta. In the afternoon a mission program was presented by Dr. E. P. Heinrich of Yuba City, California, who spent a year in Bangladesh as a volunteer missionary.

New officers elected were Dr. Al Warren, bulletin editor; Dr. Harry Oster, secretary-treasurer from Omak, Washington; Dr. Lowell Meister of Nowata, Oklahoma, president-elect; Dr. Philipp Makovsky of Redlands, California, president; and Dr. Ralph Howard of Battle Creek, Michigan, public relations officer.

ADVENTIST MISSION GIVING INCREASES

Giving to missions has increased by 17 percent in the Adventist Church, according to a report for the first quarter of this year.

During the first three months of 1974 Adventist churches in the United States and Canada gave a total of $3,723,840 for missions, or $681,181 more than for the same period last year, the undertreasurer, Martin E. Kemmerer, reports.

At the same time, Kemmerer says, tithe went up by 15 percent with a total North America tithe income to the church of $32,047,492. These figures do not take into account member giving to other programs of the church such as its disaster relief program, educational institutions, radio and television programs, temperance programs, church buildings, and other church expenses.

Kemmerer feels that the increase in mission giving demonstrates the members' concern that the church not cut back its overseas mission programs because of inflation. "Seventh-day Adventists have always been a mission-minded people," he says, "and I guess that hasn't changed. If ever the day comes when the members lose interest in missions, then we can expect to see a decline in the spiritual health of the church, and a resulting decline in membership."

A year ago the church sent out an appeal to its members to increase giving in order to meet the inroads of inflation, or see its mission work cut back. Many churches promptly set double-giving goals. The response is beginning to make itself felt, and Adventist missions in nearly two hundred countries of the world are continuing.

NEWS NOTES

• Chaplain Willis Graves appeared on the program of the American Health Congress at McCormick Place in Chicago on August 13. Graves spoke on the topic, "Are Chaplains' Standards Feasible for Hospitals and Nursing Homes?" He stated that the standards as set by the College of Chaplains for the American Protestant Hospital Association were feasible and urged fellow chaplains to subscribe to them.

• Four extremely low and five extremely high blood sugar levels were detected at the diabetes screening program at Michigan camp meeting. The screening was coordinated by Roy Wightman, assistant administrator for health education and rehabilitation. He said that more than twelve hundred Adventists were screened at the program.

• Eight San employees took part in a Maranatha Flights International project in the Hawaiian Islands this summer. The group was part of a team of 182 persons who traveled to Hawaii to help build a church at Hawaiian Central Mission Academy. Employees who went included Mary Kay Beaver, Barbara Fish, Virginia Lamb, June VanBussum, Linda Knodel, Gordon Hewlett, Jo Cathcart, and Alice Wozniak.

• A former candy striper who came back to the hospital for three weeks to do a college project wrote the following note of appreciation: "The experience of candy striping as well as the knowledge I gained during my project has helped me decide that nursing is for me. I found the emergency room the most exciting, pediatrics the most fun, and nuclear medicine the most interesting."

HOSPITAL'S NEW LOOK

With the new south wing of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital virtually complete, the hospital presents a new appearance from Oak Street.

HOSPITAL NAMES DIRECTOR OF MEDICAL EDUCATION

The search for an Adventist physician with impeccable credentials to direct medical education programs for a mostly non-Adventist medical staff has culminated successfully at Hinsdale.

Everet W. Witzel, M.D., Ph.D., has assumed new responsibilities as director of medical education at the hospital. "We feel extremely fortunate to be able to attract a person of the professional stature of Dr. Witzel to lead out in this important role," commented administrator William H. Wilson on the appointment.

Holding both a master's and a Ph.D. degree in anatomy—in addition to his medical degree—Dr. Witzel has experience in teaching as well as in family practice.

He is a past Diplomate of the National Board of Medical Examiners and a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society, and holds memberships in several other medical societies including the American College of Emergency Physicians and the American Academy of Family Physicians. He also holds the current physician's award from the American Medical Association for continuing medical education.

After graduating from Loma Linda University's School of Medicine in 1962, Dr. Witzel came to Hinsdale to complete a medical internship in 1962-63 and remained in the Chicago area for advanced studies in anatomy at the University of Chicago. From 1965 to 1967 he taught anatomy at the well-known Christian Medical College in Vellore, India. He has also taught anatomy at the L.L.U. School of Medicine, holding an assistant professorship in anatomy before accepting his present position.

Dr. Witzel comes to Hinsdale from Ukiah, California, where he has been in solo private family practice for two years while on leave of absence from Loma Linda. He also served as an instructor in anatomy and physiology at the Mendocino Community College in Ukiah and served on numerous committees at the three local hospitals and medical society. He conducted several Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking and was active in local Sabbath School and church activities.

One of Dr. Witzel's responsibilities will be to explore the possibility of establishing a residency program in family practice at the hospital, according to Wilson. The post-M.D. three-year residency would in many ways replace the internship the hospital offered until medical internships were gradually phased out a few years ago, Wilson said.

NEW STAFF AT B.V.A.

New staff members for Broadview Academy have arrived to assume their new responsibilities.

Mrs. Jacqueline DeGroot has assumed the responsibility of dean of girls. She comes to Broadview with a broad background of 12 years' experience as a dean at Sheyenne River Academy, North Dakota; Platte Valley Academy, Nebraska; Lodi Academy, California; Monterey Bay Academy, California; and her last position was at Auburn Academy, Washington. She has also taught elementary music and conducted choral groups at various schools.

Mrs. DeGroot, new dean of girls, and son Donald.

Mrs. DeGroot was born in North Dakota and graduated from Union College with an emphasis in religion and music. She has taken additional college work for certification. Her son Donald will be a sixth grader this school year. Both Mrs. DeGroot and Donald are avid skiers. For recreational activities Mrs. Degroot also enjoys singing, playing tennis, and sewing.

Richard Willey, Sr., joins the Broadview Academy staff as dean of boys. He comes from Gem State Academy in Idaho, where he was assistant dean of boys and instructor in a career education program of floor covering.

Willey has been a building contractor and owned and operated his own furniture and floor covering business in northern California. Two years ago he and his wife decided they wanted to go into the Lord's work, so they sold their successful business and comfortable home and joined the academy staff at Idaho.

The Willeys have three children—Richard, Jr., who with his wife and child is planning to continue his education at Southern Missionary College; a daughter Donnelle, who will be a sophomore at Southern Missionary College; and Rodney, a senior at B.V.A. Mrs. Willey will be helping out part-time in the cafeteria.

Skiing, golf, and active participation in any organized sport, plus hard work are enjoyed by Willey.

The new cafeteria under construction at B.V.A.

approximately five miles away at Geneva. The students who worked for ten weeks will receive a rebate during the school year for approximately their summer dormitory room charge. This makes it a financially profitable experience.

The water tower, a familiar landmark at B.V.A., will have a new look this fall when the students return. For about ten days a local company worked on the water

KEWANEE VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Lawrence and Susie Wright are good examples of the happy faces seen at the Kewanee Vacation Bible School. The V.B.S. was held July 7 to 18 under the direction of Mrs. Linda Tuthill of Galesburg. More than fifty children attended. Some of the children have attended Sabbath School and Pathfinders following V.B.S., and eight of the children went to Opportunity Camp.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES AT B.V.A.

Summer work at Broadview Academy has come to a close.

Thirty-five students worked in various areas on campus such as the farm, grounds, cafeteria, the dormitories, business office, and janitorial. The majority of the students were employed at Harris Pine Mill, located tower, cleaning, sandblasting, recoating, and repainting both inside and out. The familiar black B.V.A. insignia on a new coat of white paint will be painted on the tower to greet new and returning students.

Warren Ippisch, builder for the new cafeteria, reports progress is proceeding as planned. Equipment has been ordered and the partitions and plastering will soon be completed. The facilities will not be finished until Thanksgiving or Christmas due to some delays and the finish work that always takes time.

Both dormitories have had a face-lifting during the latter part of the summer. New parlor furniture, drapes, and carpet have been installed in both dorms. The parlor of the boys' dorm has been enlarged, and both offices and monitors' areas have been redecorated.

Rooms, doors, and some hallways in the dormitories have been painted to give a fresh clean look. It is planned that the dorms will reflect a home atmosphere this year.

AN EXPLANATION OF A.S.I.

"What is the A.S.I.?" and "What are the benefits of this organization?" were two questions recently asked by an Adventist layman. Perhaps you have wondered, too.

A.S.I. is an organization of loyal laymen of the church who have discovered the value of cooperative endeavors. Membership in the Association of Privately Owned S.D.A. Services and Industries consists of persons who own, operate, conduct, or control activities in such diversified fields as education or medical institutions, Adventist-owned industries, or individual professional people such as C.P.A.'s, lawyers, or store managers.

Application for membership may be made through the local conference A.S.I. secretary by writing to the conference office.

Objectives of the A.S.I. are to encourage privately owned enterprises of Seventh-day Adventists to employ more Adventists and to unite their unlimited potential in furthering and extending the Gospel. The A.S.I. also provides a means whereby members can become more effective in their work through the exchange of ideas, coordination of objectives and efforts, and the inspiration of Christian fellowship.

What is coming for the A.S.I. members of Indiana this fall? First, a union-wide A.S.I. workshop will be held at Timber Ridge from October 11 to 13 followed by the A.S.I. national convention in Hawaii from November 4 to 12.

Seventh-day Adventist businessmen and women are encouraged to join the A.S.I. Write today for more information.

DETROIT CENTER CHURCH LOSES TWO FAMILIES

Mrs. Beulah Cross was introduced to the Detroit Center church at the beginning of an evangelistic effort in November, 1969, conducted by Elder J. M. Phipps.

As a result of the effort, a new church was organized on January 10, 1970. Mrs. Cross became the official Bible instructor for the church in August, 1970. Since coming to the church she has been an inspiration to all of its members as she worked to direct men, women, boys, and girls to their Saviour.

During her brief stay at Detroit Center, she has worked under the leadership of Elders J. M. Phipps, Fred Williams, O. E. Cheatham, and the present pastor, G. H. Rainey. She began her work as Bible instructor 17 years ago in Chicago.

Although she will be leaving the city, her work as an instructor in the Word of God will not cease. She plans with the help of God to start a Branch Sabbath School in Lynn Haven, Florida.

Jerome Pondexter, nephew of Mrs. Cross who resides with her, will also be leaving the city. During his short stay in Detroit, he has been active as Pathfinder director, assistant MV leader, junior elder, and Motor City federation chaplain.

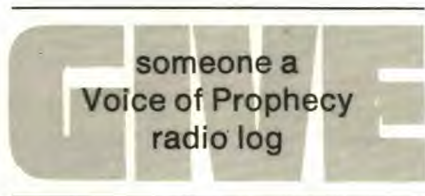

His desire is to become a minister of the Gospel. He plans to continue working with his aunt in Florida.

Rudy and Katie Stewart and daughter Romaine were baptized into the Adventist Church on December 13, 1969. Since joining the Detroit Center church, they have been faithful members. Their youngest daughter Kathy was baptized recently and is looking forward to serving her Saviour more fully.

Stewart has served as custodian, deacon, and Sabbath School teacher. His wife has been Sabbath School teacher, assistant Sabbath School superintendent, and Home and School leader. Romaine has served as assistant MV leader and helped out in the lower divisions.

The members of the church are sorry to see the Stewart family leaving, but they are confident they will continue to be a blessing to the work of God in Midland, Pennsylvania.

Camp meeting has always been a place for the whole family, and this year was no exception. Activities included crafts, ball-games, animal features, swimming, and stories. There was something of interest for even the very youngest, and they usually participated wholeheartedly, as these pictures show.

(Bottom right) For academy-age students, camp meeting holds yet another attraction. A large office was set aside where students could meet with the principals of any of Michigan's five academies, ask questions about school programs, or look over the latest yearbooks as Sandy Mayo and Jody Erhard of Eaton Rapids are doing here.

TEEN LEADERS' WORKSHOP COMING

Whatever your title or position is in the church, if you work with teen-age youth, you will want to attend the teen leaders' workshop being planned for Sunday, September 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Marshall church.

Elder Dick Barron, Lake Union youth leader, will be the featured speaker. Elder Don Blehm, Michigan youth director, will be on hand with resource materials, suggestions, and some items to sell which will strengthen the local church teen program.

The Marshall church is located near the junction of expressways 69 and 94. Take the Marshall exit on 69 and cross back over the freeway. Immediately after crossing the highway, make a left. Go to Verona Road and turn right. The church address is 1115 Verona Road.

Bring a lunch and plan to stay for the day.

4 MICHIGAN PASTORS ORDAINED

These four men who were ordained at camp meeting are shown with their wives and children with the exception of the Yeager and Douglas children. From left: The Andrus family, the Yeagers, the Hafner family, and the Douglasses. For more details see story on page 10 of August 13 issue.

WALK-A-THON BRINGS IN $175

Twenty children from the Burlington church participated in a walk-a-thon recently in an effort to raise funds for the Famine Relief Offering for India and Ethiopia.

A goal of six miles was set, and friends and relatives pledged certain amounts for each half mile walked. Of those who completed the whole stretch, those receiving the highest amounts were Linda Hubbard, $24; Chad Graffith, $19.20; and Jimmy Cesena, $15.

The youngest walker was Brenda Mulling, two years old, who completed two and one-half miles and received $8.00. The largest pledge-raiser in the group was Melita Barrios who received over $29. Total collected by the students was $175.

WISCONSIN PASTOR ORDAINED

Jerry Fore became the thirty-first ordained minister in the Wisconsin Conference after his ordination at camp meeting on Friday night, July 27.

Fore is pastor of the Clear Lake, Frederic, Cumberland, and Spooner churches. Prior to serving in his present district and completing his Seminary training, he served as an intern pastor in Madison.

Elder F. W. Wernick, Lake Union president, gave the sermon and the ordination charge. Other participants in the service were Elder K. J. Mittleider, conference president; Elder C. H. Lauda, secretary of the General Conference North American Missions and executive secretary of the A.S.I.; Elder A. C. Fearing, associate secretary of the General Conference Ministerial Association; Elder R. A. Thompson, lay activities secretary of the conference; and Elder R. J. Wendt, conference pastor.

Fore was born in Detroit and is a graduate of Grand Ledge Academy. He received his B.A. degree from Andrews University in 1968 and master of divinity degree from the Seminary in 1972.

His wife Marilyn is an R.N., a graduate of the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing. They have an infant daughter, Laurie Lynn.

Elder and Mrs. Ernest Wheeler

FORMER WISCONSIN WORKER RETURNS

The Wisconsin Conference recently renewed friendship with Elder and Mrs. Ernest Wheeler, who are back in Wisconsin.

Elder Wheeler pastors the Wisconsin Rapids church and is attempting to raise up a new church in Stevens Point.

The Wheelers have just recently returned from Pakistan where Elder Wheeler was Sabbath School, MV, and lay activities secretaries for the Pakistan Union. He had served as lay activities and Sabbath School director for the Wisconsin Conference for three years prior to going to Pakistan.

He has served as pastor in the Southern New England Conference and stewardship secretary in the Colorado Conference. A 1951 B.A. graduate of Atlantic Union College, he was ordained in South Lancaster in 1956.

His wife Trudie taught the lower grades in Milton Junction when they were previously in Wisconsin. Their daughters, Donna and Cheryl, are both married and living in Lincoln, Nebraska, where Cheryl's husband, Ken Lawson, and Donna's husband, Jim Testerman, are students at Union College.

OFFICERS' TRAINING SESSION SET FOR SEPTEMBER 27-29

The third officers' training session in the conference will be held September 27 to 29 at the Portage campgrounds.

Held every two years, the purpose of the session is to give the officers special instructions in areas of church responsibility.

Elder C. E. Bradford, associate secretary of the General Conference, will be the guest speaker for the session. Other speakers will include representatives from the Lake Union and Wisconsin conferences.

This year, one of the new ideas which will be presented is the "lay pastor" idea. This will be discussed in detail at the session.

The first training session was held about four years ago. Only one hundred officers were expected, but the conference officers were thrilled to have over five hundred present. Two years ago, seven hundred officers attended on the Sabbath day.

Officers should plan to attend these important and valuable training classes.

LA CROSSE CHURCH HAS FAIR BOOTH

For the first time, the La Crosse church had a fair booth in the Interstate Fair held July 9 to 14.

On display in the booth was an emphysematous lung loaned by the pathology department of Gunderson Clinic and a spirometer, equipment used to measure a person's breathing capacity. Also featured were Smoking Sam, health slides and tapes, drug and alcohol wheels, question-and-answer devices pertaining to drugs and alcoholic beverages, and Worthington health food materials.

Drawings were held at the booth daily, and five vegetarian cookbooks were given away each day. The award for the final drawing on the last day was a three-volume set of home health books. It was won by Mrs. Don Blank of 4101 Markle Road. The books were awarded to the winners personally by Pastor Don Whittle and Larry LaSeure, lay activities leader.

A copy of Steps to Christ was given to each person who registered at the booth. All persons who signed up were offered free Bible courses. Two thousand pieces of literature were given out.

The largest one-day attendance at the fair grounds was 25,000.

FAITH FOR TODAY

This sterling silver centennial spoon (shown front and back) has been issued by Andrews University to commemorate selected highlights of its history. Scenes depict the school's growth from its beginning in 1874 as Battle Creek College, through its moves to rural Berrien Springs in 1901 as Emmanuel Missionary College, to its expansion in 1960 as Andrews University.

COLLECTOR'S SPOON ISSUED TO COMMEMORATE A.U. CENTENNIAL

A centennial collector's spoon has been issued by Andrews University to commemorate selected highlights of its history.

The spoon was designed by Irvin Althage, a former member of the A.U. art department faculty, and manufactured by J. T. Inman Company, Inc., North Attleboro, Massachusetts.

The bowl of the spoon depicts Berrien County's original courthouse, where college classes were held in 1901 when the school moved here from Battle Creek and changed its name to Emmanuel Missionary College. The building, Michigan's oldest county courthouse, was constructed in 1839 and is a fine example of Greek revival architecture.

Shown on the front of the spoon handle are the school's original building at Battle Creek College; South Hall, built at the Berrien Springs campus in 1903 to house the first classrooms and administrative offices there; and the Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan Electric Company interurban, which from 1906 to 1934 provided transportation to the surrounding area with Stop 21 located at the edge of the campus.

On the back of the handle are Nethery Hall, the 1942 administration building which now serves as classrooms; Pioneer Memorial church, the first campus church, constructed in 1958 as "an house of prayer for all people;" the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, moved in 1960 from Washington, D.C., and consolidated with E.M.C. under the name Andrews University; and a cardinal, symbol of the student yearbook, published since 1923.

$8,000 GRANT TO AID ELECTRON MICROSCOPE RESEARCH ON PARASITES

An $8,000 grant from the Merck Company Foundation will aid in Andrews University's parasitology research at the electron microscope level.

The studies of coccidian parasites are being conducted by Dr. Bill Chobotar, associate professor of biology. Tissue samples will be prepared at A.U. and then taken to Argonne National Laboratory west of Chicago where Dr. Chobotar has been granted use of an electron microscope.

The $8,000 Merck Grant for Faculty Development will help set up a laboratory at A.U. for preparing samples. New equipment being purchased includes an ultramicrotome for preparing very thin samples and vacuum chambers for coating and shadowing specimens.

Dr. Chobotar's research seeks the reason why some animal parasites mature and become active in a host more quickly than do others. Although the parasites being studied are from kangaroo rats and mice, they are the same type found in many domestic animals and are related to ones found in man. Research results may aid in treatment of parasite problems.

During the summer, Dr. Chobotar is working in Bonn, West Germany, under one of the world's experts in techniques at the electron level.

He began his study of electron microscope techniques at Utah State University, where he earlier received his Ph.D. degree in zoology.
