Laurence Heads Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital

L. Earl Laurence

It is with great pleasure that we welcome to the Lake Union family L. Earl Laurence as the new administrator of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital. He will assume his responsibilities June 1, succeeding William H. Wilson who has accepted the position of vice president of the Southern Adventist Health and Hospital System.

Mr. Laurence will bring a wide berth of experience in hospital administration to the Lake Union. He is presently the executive officer and administrator of the Clinical Center at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Maryland. For the past 15 years he has served in various capacities of the administrative level of the Clinical Center. He has earned for himself respect from health care oriented administrators in the government and has also kept a close relationship with Seventh-day Adventist administrators.

Mr. Laurence is a graduate of Columbia Union College, Takoma Park, Maryland. While attending college he worked at the Washington Adventist Hospital (then the Washington San). Upon completing his undergraduate studies he was employed as administrative assistant at the Clinical Center at the National Institute of Health. He obtained his master's degree in hospital administration from George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

We welcome Earl, his wife, Ann, and their children, Susan, David, and Scott, to the Lake Union and to their responsibilities at the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

ake yourself comfortable in your armchair and follow Jane through a Sabbath with Jesus. It may be that you are this Jane or that you act like this Jane or that you would like to be like this Jane.

Jane has been a Seventh-day Adventist for many years. She really doesn't remember what it is like not to keep the Sabbath. Sabbathkeeping has become a habit to her.

Jane really does not keep the Sabbath so very well, but the Sabbath keeps her. The Sabbath keeps her from forgetting God, from neglecting her relationship with her friend, Jesus, it keeps her from overwork. The Sabbath keeps her in God's hand. And in His strong hands she trusts and relaxes and rejoices.

Jesus is Jane's houseguest all week long. He is there in His special place and takes part in the family activities. Jesus is there for Jane's private morning prayer. He is there for family worship and for breakfast.

But during the week Jane is busy in her work. Jesus is with her all along, but Jane finds it very hard to give Him her individual attention. She will turn to Him with a problem, she will ask Him to fulfill one of her needs. But then she will concentrate on the task at hand and the task absorbs her whole mind.

Jane has learned that her everyday life greatly affects her Sabbathkeeping. During the week she used to take on more work than she could handle, and then she would pray: "Oh, God, give me today 26 hours." And strangely enough, the Lord answered her prayer but not in the way Jane intended. The Lord added hours to Jane's life—many hours, thousands of hours on earth and billions of hours in heaven. On Rudolf E. Klimes, Ph.D., is coordinator and professor of educational administration at Andrews University. Friday night, Jane used to fall exhausted in her soft chair and breathe: "Thanks God, it's Sabbath. Now I can rest." And she used to be so exhausted that all she could do was rest physically. Thus she used to miss the greatest of all rests, her spiritual rest.

To Jane, Jesus has become so overwhelmingly present every day that when on Sabbath she lays aside her work tasks, He rushes in and fills her completely. Whereas during the week she had to make sure that the milk does not boil over, on the Sabbath she is free to give Him her undivided attention. Well, nearly her undivided attention.

Friday afternoon, Jesus sits down with Jane and asks: "How has it been with you this week? Have you been running short on some spiritual supplies?" And then they talk it over. Jane used to do all the talking in prayer, but now she slows her prayers down and gives Jesus a chance to reply. Often He speaks to her through the Bible as she asks the questions and He answers through specific verses.

By now the sun is about to set and Jane and her family gather for sundown worship. The songs are not new but they are fresh. The texts are not new but they, too, are fresh. But the worship story is new and the sundown prayer is new. "Father, I was a child trying to take the peanuts out of the jar. But with the peanuts in my fist my hand was too large and I could not get my hand out. I was caught in the jar. I was pulling hard and injuring my hand, trying to free myself. I was trying to find an escape through my strength. Then You told me to let go and be free, so I let go. Thank you, Jesus."

Sabbath morning the family is up quite early. There is time for family worship, time for a good breakfast, time for an unhurried trip to Sabbath School and church.

Jane has planned for Sabbath guests.

This Sabbath she has invited a group of single young people from church, but her main houseguest is Jesus. And Jesus, the family, and the company fit well together.

Jane and her family have a good Sabbath with Jesus. He points out a sick neighbor and tells Jane and her family: "Take a casserole over, they'll appreciate it." He points out the new family down the street that has recently moved to the neighborhood and tells Jane and her family: "Take to them a copy of the book Steps to Christ. With your guidance, they'll find the steps leading to Christ." He points to the wild flowers in the meadow and tells Jane and her family: "Look, these are all for you to admire and rest your eyes and soul on." He points to the cardinal in the birch and tells Jane and her family: "I care for this cardinal, I keep him safe, I provide his food. I care for you, too. I'll keep you safe. I'll provide for you."

Christian witnessing on Sabbath used to be very hard for Jane. She used to do it in an artificial way from a sense of duty. So she took her frustrations to her houseguest, Jesus, and her pastor. They had good counsel: "You are a praying Christian and you talk quite a bit with your friend, Jesus, to those you meet. Tell them what He did for you, what He does for you now. Start with prayer, then include Jesus in your home conversation, in your conversation with your closest friends, in your conversations with acquaintances. After that you will be able to meet the spiritual needs of strangers." And so it worked.

Before the close of the Sabbath the family again gathers to praise the Lord. He has been good.

So you have followed Jane on her Sabbath with Jesus. How about your Sabbaths with Jesus? Is your Sabbath really a day with Jesus? A real full day with Jesus?

To the Seventh-day Adventist nurse restoration includes presenting the principles of how physical, mental, and spiritual health are interrelated and how they effect restoration to God's original design. Because the human mind is the only means man has of communicating with God, a loving and logical God has revealed to us principles which make this possible. Thus, the unique role of the Seventhday Adventist nurse is to help others understand and practice these liferestoring principles. In this way they will have life more abundantly and will ultimately be restored to God's image.

There are many ways that the Seventh-day Adventist nurse can minister to mankind. The situation may differ but the unique message will be the same whether she works at a Seventh-day Adventist hospital, a doctor's office, helps in an evangelistic endeavor, works in a local community health agency, or assists the church by foreign service. The many different types of witnessing and service make it very important for Adventist nurses to have opportunities for continued growth in their understanding of our health message and how to present it to others in a variety of circumstances.

Important to this continued growth is communication with the church as it plans and implements its mission at various levels, and the continuing education programs sponsored by the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Nurses. These programs will include local workshops, weekend retreats, and regional workshops of such quality that continuing education units may be offered. Such a means of communication also sponsors continuing Christian fellowship of professionals with similar interests as they plan for work with others in local church programs to spread the good news of the abundant life.

On this page there is a notice requesting all Seventh-day Adventist nurses to provide some simple information. If you are an Adventist nurse (LPN or RN), please supply the information requested. If you know a SDA nurse, please encourage him or her to send this information to the health department of the General Conference. Nurses who provide us with this data will be sent information about how they may participate in programs designed to help them in their continued professional growth as unique Seventh-day Adventist nurses.

We need to know where you are so we can communicate You are special because you are a Seventh-day Adventist nurse and there is a special role for you in restoring man to the image of God-physically, mentally, and spiritually.

NURSING ASSISTANTS TRAIN FOR SERVICE

What patient needs does the nursing assistant care for in the day-to-day operations at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital?

In one room of the hospital an assistant may be feeding or bathing a patient. In another hospital room an assistant is recording the blood pressure and temperature of a patient.

To help prepare for these and other duties, a nursing assistant without previous hospital experience is required to take a three-week training course taught by the hospital's nursing development staff.

The class is varied and geared to turn out wellinformed, helpful, and efficient workers. First, the student must become acquainted with the philosophy, objectives, and organizational structure of the hospital. Helpful attitudes must be cultivated which are necessary in working with patients.

Ken Hendricks, nursing assistant on the mental health unit, plays ping pong with one of the patients.

Gary Hoyhoe from Michigan takes the temperature of a patient on a medical unit of the hospital.

The class also provides students with theory and practical knowledge in those skills necessary to give basic nursing care including pre- and postoperative care, caring for the patient with IVs, and other duties in a semi-technical capacity.

Working with the registered nurses and practical nurses, the nursing assistants are able to provide the personal care and services the patient may not be able to do for himself. The assistant provides a personal, loving, caring ministry to the needs of a patient.

The assistant can exert a positive influence to the patient. Duties are varied—the chance for service is great. This is a job for people who like to help other people.

If you are looking for something to put meaning in your life, write for more information and an application blank to the personnel department at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, 120 N. Oak Street, Hinsdale, IL 60521. Or call collect, (312) 887-2478.

TEACHER WITNESSES IN CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL

Chuck Geddes, 32, is a math teacher and athletic coach at Notre Dame High School in Quincy, Illinois. Notre Dame is a prominent Catholic high school, and Chuck has been teaching there about seven years.

While working on his master's degree at the University of Idaho, Chuck met an Adventist student who was also working on a graduate degree. He learned of Chuck's interest in the Sabbath and gave him Bible studies. Later, Chuck went home to the East Coast where he met another Seventh-day Adventist student from whom he received more instruction. He became convinced of the correctness of the Sabbath. Chuck was baptized November 15, 1975, at Quincy.

Chuck asked the Lord to direct him and place him where he could serve the Lord the best. He was hired as a teacher and wrestling coach at Notre Dame High School. After explaining that he would not work on Sabbath, mutually satisfactory terms were worked out.

Chuck feels that the Lord has really opened the way for witnessing opportunities.

QUINCY MEMBERS EMPHASIZE MEMORY VERSES

Fifteen members of the Quincy Seventh-day Adventist Church were able to recite all the memory verses of the first quarter's Sabbath School lessons during the Thirteenth Sabbath services last month.

MC INTYRE WELCOMED TO ROCKFORD CHURCH

The Rockford Church was happy to welcome Brad McIntyre of Appleton, Wisconsin, as their guest, March 26 and 27.

Brad, who is a revenue clerk for the Fox River Bus Lines in Appleton, spends every weekend giving spiritual programs to youth groups. He is a singer and guitarist.

For the past two years Brad has composed both the music and lyrics for his Christ-centered songs. His music and testimony reaches all ages. He brought his message in song to several departments of the Rockford Sabbath School as well as the church service. His program in the afternoon was warm and meaningful as he shared his love for the Lord and told experiences that have brought a new dimension to his life.

Brad says, "God is speaking to anyone who will listen. He is touching those who allow themselves to be touched. His arm is long enough to embrace the whole world, and He uses many voices to reach many people."

Don Davis of the Rockford youth department was responsible for Brad's visit to Rockford. We were all richer for this experience.

CAMP MEETING IS A MUST

A real spiritual feast has been planned for you at this year's Indiana camp meeting.

One of the evening service speakers will be Mervyn Maxwell, head of the church history department at Andrews University Theological Seminary. He will speak June 11 to 14. J. R. Spangler from the ministerial department of the General Conference will be here the evenings of June 15 to 17, and H. M. S. Richards Sr. of the Voice of Prophecy will be the speaker for the two final night meetings of camp meeting. Del Delker will be accompanying Elder Richards on this circuit.

Three special series will be held during camp meeting. Carl Coffman, head of the religion department of Andrews University, will speak at the 10:45 to 11:45 morning session, June 13 to 17. His series will be on the Ten Commandments. At the 2 to 3 p.m. meeting, June 13 to 18, Robert Brown of the Geo-Science Institute will conduct a series on the relationship of science to the Bible. The third series will be during the 4 to 5 p.m. meetings when Dr. and Mrs. Albert Patt from the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital will speak on health.

Other guests of the 1976 Indiana camp meeting will be John Hancock, world youth leader, and Ben Liebelt, one of the associates of the General Conference Sabbath School department. Elder Hancock will be on the campground the first weekend and Elder Liebelt the second weekend.

E. Wayne Shepperd, youth leader of the Lake Union Conference, will be the nightly speaker for the youth, June 11 to 17.

The early morning speakers will be local Indiana Conference ministers, Robert Taylor, Charles Buursma, Ed Skoretz, Norman Martin, Dan Neergaard, and Randall Murphy, Jim Evans of Faith for Today, and Ben Liebelt.

On Sunday afternoon, June 13, from 4 to 5 p.m., there will be the annual Adventist Book Center sale in the main auditorium.

Put it on your calendar—June 11 to 19. Big things are planned for the Indiana Conference members at camp meeting. You can't afford to miss the blessings!

BLOOMINGTON 5-DAY PLAN

The Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking is a regular part of community outreach in Bloomington, Indiana. Within the past five months, the Bloomington members have helped Dr. Paul Anderson and Elder J. L. Follett hold three smoking withdrawal plans—two at the Bloomington Hospital and one at the Little Union Baptist Church.

The Bloomington Hospital pays the fees involved and does the advertising in the local paper and on radio. The doctors also help by inviting their patients to attend. Attendees include bank presidents and housewives, lawyers, Indiana University professors, and I.U. students.

A special feature in the March 28 to April 1 plan was the personal witness of ex-smokers who had kicked the habit in the November plan. Their testimonies were a good encouragement to those struggling with tobacco.

J. L. Follett Pastor

BLODGETT RETURNS TO INDIANA

Elder Ralph Blodgett, assistant editor of These Times magazine, came back to the conference in which he started his ministry. On March 23 he met with the ministers of the Indiana Conference to assist them in organizing for the upcoming These Times campaign for 1976.

Blodgett spent five years in Indiana as a ministerial intern and district leader. He interned in the Gary Church and later served as district pastor for Wolf Lake.

BROOKS AND BLENDWRIGHTS COME TO CAPITOL AVENUE

Elder C. D. Brooks, field secretary of the General Conference, conducted a weekend series of meetings at the Capitol Avenue Church in Indianapolis.

The evangelist of worldwide fame was accompanied by the Blendwrights gospel trio of Germantown, Ohio.

There were many who either joined or rededicated themselves to the Lord during this series.

Elder R. P. Stafford, pastor, is fulfilling his commitment of giving the very best to Capitol in 1976.

DORCAS SOCIETY SPONSORS SUNSHINE BAND

Dorcas Day was recently observed at the Main Street Church in Benton Harbor, Michigan. The Dorcas Society is responsible for making many homes happy by providing families with food and clothing. A group of junior-age girls call themselves the Sunshine Band, and twice a month they visit nursing homes and shut-in members. Mrs. Emma Daniels, assisted by Irence Washington, is leader of the society.

YOUTH DAY AT BEACON OF JOY

"Love thy God and thy Neighbor" was the theme for the youth day program at Beacon of Joy Church on February 28.

The Sabbath School was directed by Larry Logan with Greg Robinzine, Henrietta Ferguson, John Wynn, Ora Williams, and Gloria Taylor serving as teachers of the lesson, "God's True People."

Pastor James Kyle of Andrews University delivered the spoken word for worship. In his sermon he mentioned that Christ has a birthright of eternal life and love and an inheritance reserved in heaven for each of us. At the conclusion of his message, five young people decided for Christ and are now members of the baptismal class. Other youth who participated in the youth day program were Lorraine Taylor, Tonia Dixon, Juan Leon, Darryll Davis, Lisa Taylor, Anita Barnett, Earl Collins, Hubert Morgan, Donald Davis, and Richard, Frank, and Aaron Truss. Barry E. Brandon is pastor.

CALVIN CENTER CHURCH HOLDS REVIVAL AND YOUTH WEEK OF PRAYER

A weekend of revival meetings was recently held in the Calvin Center Church of Cassopolis, Michigan. Elder J. Malcolm Phipps, conference evangelist, conducted the Crusade of Hope meetings. The Lord blessed and 15 persons joined the baptismal class. Others still undecided are being visited.

The youth week of prayer followed the weekend meetings. Speaker for the week of prayer was Elder Ivan Warden from Andrews University. The meetings were well attended by both the Dowagiac and Calvin Center members.

Elder Warden's inspirational messages made everyone anxious to return the next evening for more spiritual food. At the conclusion of the week, the members rededicated their lives to the Lord.

NEWS NOTES

- Ithaca Pathfinders helped to clean up a local park as part of the church's Bicentennial 4-Cs program. The area was chosen, a Pathfinder spokesman said, because the group uses it a lot for club events. Also many of the Pathfinder outdoor honors are earned in the park.
- Pupils of the Williamston Church School purchased a number of small trees for an Arbor Day planting on the school grounds and in other areas in the community.
- An open house for the public was held recently for the Houghton Lake Community Services Center.
- A recent fire injured eight persons in the Academy Apartments in Otsego. According to a newspaper report the building was constructed about 1909 as an Adventist school. This was when that territory was a part of the West Michigan Conference with A. G. Haughey as president.
- Irma Krusac and Bette Ostrem were instructors for classes in the preparation of meatless main dishes offered by the Marshall Church. Classes were held once a week from April 19 to May 17.
- Jack and Jan Nash of Grand Rapids left in early May for Cayman Brac in the British West Indies. He will pastor the church there and try to generate sufficient support for a church school. If successful, he will also become its teacher. The call to this missionary post is on a partially supported basis. By selling some of their personal belongings the couple can plan on a stay of approximately five months. Promises of additional support have come from a group of retired workers in Hendersonville, North Carolina. Former Michigan Conference treasurer, Leonard G. Wartzok, is the treasurer for this project.

• "Proteins in the Adequate Diet" was the opening topic of a four-session vegetarian cooking series presented in the Jackson Community Services Center. The closing program on May 3 featured low-sugar desserts including a sugarless dutch apple pie. Leading out in the series were Mrs. Seth Mahrle, Mrs. Camille DeMan, and Mrs. Robert Tate.

As part of changes of responsibilities Wyman Wager, left, and Jonathan Hamrick, J.D., of the conference office, check over records of trusts held by the Conference Association.

DEPARTMENTAL CHANGES

As a result of recent decisions of the Michigan Conference Executive Committee, Jonathan Hamrick, J.D., has been named director of the religious liberty department. Hamrick's background as a lawyer makes him particularly valuable in this position. He was also asked to be the legal advisor for the conference and will continue to serve in his post as secretary of the Conference Association.

Replacing Hamrick as director of Trust Services is Wyman Wager who has been an associate in the department since January 1974.

For a number of years the conference executive secretary has also promoted the work of the religious liberty department. With the transfer of these responsibilities to Dr. Hamrick, Elder James Hayward, secretary of the conference, has been asked to be the director of personnel. This is a new post which has been recommended by the General Conference and the Lake Union. In addition to his duties as executive secretary, Hayward will also be responsible for the care and updating of all necessary records of those employed by the Michigan Conference.

Other recent changes include the following:

To the Battle Creek Tabernacle, Elder J. Melvyn Clemons of Williamsport, Pennsylvania. He has also been named to the Executive Committee of both the Lake Union and the Michigan Conference.

To the Cadillac and Bristol churches, E. R. Priebe of Holland and Bauer.

To the Detroit Spanish Church from the Berrien Springs Spanish Church, Orval Scully.

To Lansing as temporary assistant, Jim Hopkins of Troy.

To Bay City and Bad Axe, S. R. LaRosa from Three Rivers, Mendon, and Sturgis.

To Howard City, Frost, and Lakeview, Norman Yeager of Lapeer and Otter Lake.

To Grand Rapids Central as an assistant, Douglas Matacio.

To Detroit Metropolitan as an assistant, Clifford Morgan.

To the Adelphian Academy Church, George Clark, in addition to his duties as Bible teacher at the academy.

To Grand Rapids as temporary Bible instructor concentrating on the work for Spanish-speaking people, Norma Barraza from the Detroit Spanish congregation.

The committee also has assigned the responsibility for the Juddville Church to Don Gettys of South Flint. The Manton and Mesick churches are now under the direction of Delmer Burke instead of being part of the Cadillac district.

Two new Adventist congregations will be organized in the near future. The organization of the West Branch company is planned for mid-June and the Spanish Grand Rapids Church for mid-July.

Everyone attending the workshop enjoyed tasting the foods that were demonstrated.

VEGETARIAN COOKERY MADE FUN AND EASY

As a follow-up of a cardiac-risk program the Munising Church members offered a Nutrition Workshop to make "vegetarian cookery easy and fun." Registration was limited to 50 with 48 nonchurch members enrolling.

Helping with the food demonstrations were several new church members who also told of their experiences of changing to vegetarian cooking. A Catholic neighbor of Dr. and Mrs. Don Fahrbach, who is a recent "convert" to vegetarian cookery, participated in one demonstration commenting on her struggles in trying the vegetarian way,

Dr. Fahrbach and Dr. Eugene Hildebrand gave lectures, and films were shown with the informal cooking classes.

PIONEER DAY HOMECOMING HELD AT ADELPHIAN ACADEMY

Tributes were paid to former students and faculty members of Adelphian Academy as alumni met on the campus Sabbath, April 10, for the 1976 Pioneer Day Homecoming.

Fourteen graduates, a current senior of the academy, and a former teacher had part in presenting the Sabbath School program. The guest speaker for the worship service was Elder M. S. Culver, a former principal, now of Walla Walla, Washington. Anniversary classes were recognized and flowers presented to graduates of the class of 1926 and earlier.

Approximately 250 alumni and their families met for a fellowship dinner and enjoyed a sacred concert by the band in the afternoon.

EAU CLAIRE CHURCH BUILDS SCHOOL

The Eau Claire Church has begun construction of a $125,000 elementary school next to the church building on Naomi and Old Pipestone roads.

When the first phase is completed, the school will accommodate up to 60 pupils in its three classrooms. The total area of the first phase of the school building will be 6,000 square feet. The complete project will have a total area of 10,000 square feet.

Plans also include a greenhouse (for instructional purposes), a ball diamond, and other recreational facilities. The total size of the church property is five acres.

Presently 45 children in grades one through eight are attending in inadequate facilities adjoining the church building.

Funds for the new building were raised by the members of the church, and members are volunteering their time for most of the construction work.

CHILDREN ASSIST IN 5-DAY PLAN

The children of the Prairie du Chien Sabbath School assisted in the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking by making posters to advertise the program. Pastor Wilbur Neff is shown holding one of the posters. Neff says that five persons were successful in overcoming the smoking habit.

PRIEST SUPPORTS COMMUNITY SERVICES CENTER

Father Brethold, a Roman Catholic priest, is an avid supporter of the SDA Community Services Center in Frederic. He urges his people to support the Center and he plans to establish a similar type of service in a nearby town

It was in August 1975 that three Vietnamese refugee families arrived in Frederic. There were six adults and thirteen children. All were Catholics. The ladies from the Community Services Center phoned Father Brethold and suggested that he bring them over to the Center and pick out what clothing they needed.

The priest was impressed. He put a notice in his church bulletin for his members to bring clothing to replace what the Center had given these families. Later he checked to see what his people had brought and he wasn't satisfied. He put in a second notice for the people to bring clothes and then sent ladies from his parish over to help the SDA ladies take care of the clothing they received.

After studying the Center and its plan of operation, the priest decided to establish a similar Center in a nearby town where he is pastor of a second church. He has also contacted the Board of the Catholic Church to suggest that they institute similar services.

1976 LIVE-IN FIVE-DAY PLANS TO STOP SMOKING

Aided by an experienced medical team, smokers once again had the unique chance to kick the habit in the peace and quiet of the Wisconsin northwoods.

On May 2, the first of five live-in Five-day Plans to Stop Smoking began at River Pines Community Health Center in Stevens Point. Additional programs start June 27, July 11, August 1, and October 3.

"The live-ins are an expanded version of the successful evening Five-day Plan which has been held worldwide," said Dr. Richard T. Walden, director.

The live-in concept is unique in that it allows a smoker to leave his regular environment, to be away from friends that smoke, and away from daily stresses. He will live in a pleasant, relaxing atmosphere, but one that places complete emphasis on stopping smoking.

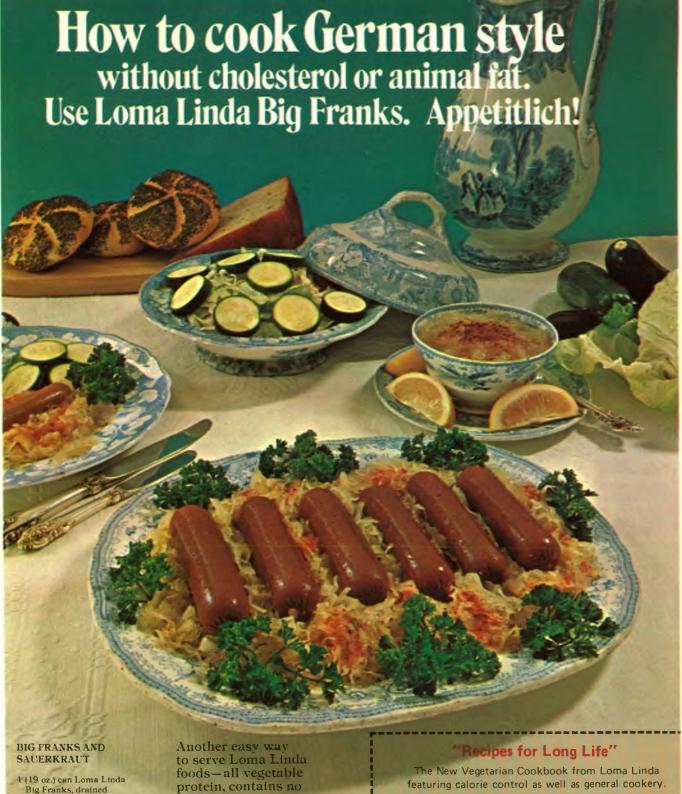

During previous sessions, many two- and three-pack-a-day veteran smokers kicked the habit.

Dr. Walden is the medical director of the Health Conditioning Center at River Pines. For six of his sixteen years at Loma Linda University, he served as chairman of the preventive medicine department where he worked on developing the live-in concept.

Dr. Walden was assisted by a team of specialists in nutrition, physical fitness, and group dynamics. Among them was Glenn Aufderhar, president of Mid-American Health Services, Inc.; Malcolm Olmstad, Mid-American's director of food service; Jerry Montelius, registered physical therapist from River Pines; and selected personnel from Mid-American Health Services.

River Pines is set amid 33 acres of pines overlooking the Wisconsin River. It is less than four hour's drive from Minneapolis-St. Paul, Chicago, or Milwaukee. Airline connections are excellent. Each participant will be met at the airport.

Last summer during Mid-American's first live-in program nearly 20 people were helped in stopping smoking. Many liked the facilities and food so much they wanted to stay after the live-in ended.

- 1 (19 oz.) can Loma Linda Big Franks, drained 1 cup sauerkraut 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 teaspoon celery seed 1 teaspoon caraway seed

Add seasoning to sauerkraut. Place in casserole, Arrange Big Franks on top, Bake at 350° for 30-40 minutes. Serves 6-8. Another easy way to serve Loma Linda foods—all vegetable protein, contains no meat, no cholesterol, no animal fat. It's tomorrow's food.

SINGING GROUP PRESENTS BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM AT A.U.

The Voices of Praise, a 12-member group of young adults from Andrews University performed at Pioneer Memorial Church, Friday, April 23.

To celebrate the Bicentennial, a special highlight of the concert was the presentation of a section from "I Love America," a sacred musical by John W. Peterson and Don Wyrtzen. Performing with the group during this section was a brass ensemble, with accompaniment on piano and Casavant pipe organ.

Begun more than two years ago, Voice of Praise perform under the auspices of the Andrews Campus Ministry Center. Sponsored by Norman Roy, associate director of Admissions and Records, with Bob Clark as coordinator, their programs are tailored for all Christian faiths.

FOOD SERVICE SUPERVISORS WORKSHOP SCHEDULED AT A.U.

A Food Service Supervisors Workshop will be held at Andrews University, July 11 to July 29. The summer's program will include classes in cost control and accounting, personnel management, communications, techniques and tools of management, sanitation, safety, layout, and equipment. Seminars, films, and field trips will be on the agenda.

Any person presently employed or interested in food service supervision for institutions such as schools, hospitals, extended care facilities, or other food-related organizations may apply for the workshop. The program is planned to meet the needs of individuals with assorted academic backgrounds, nationalities, and religious beliefs.

After completing two summer workshop programs plus nine months of in-service training in the students' own institutions, each workshop participant will receive a diploma from Andrews University and will be eligible for membership in the Hospital, Institution, and Educational Food Service Society.

Workshop attendees will be able to earn four quarter hours of college credit each summer session, if they qualify for college entrance and make the appropriate application through the office of the workshop director.

For application blanks write to Fonda L. Chaffee, Director of the Food Service Workshop, Department of Home Economics, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.
