waiting for daddy

by Kermit Netteburg

We walked hand-in-hand across the campus, as much in love as any two young people at school. Never mind that I had just finished two hours of grading papers and she had just finished playing with her dolly, passing the time waiting for her daddy.

She would much rather have spent the last two hours looking at the cows or digging in the garden, hours that I felt had to be used to determine final grades.

She had patiently waited while I graded papers she considered worthless. How infinitely much more exciting to watch a mushroom for two hours. How definitely much more enthralling to discover the world of God's creation than to discover the world of normal curves, means, and medians. She had waited patiently.

Now daddy was all hers again. She jumped the kind of jump that only a 3-year-old can jump, kind of a right-leg-up, left-leg-up, left-leg-down, right-leg-down jump.

She tugged at my arm to pull me along faster. "That a birdie," she said as she heard a bird's song.

I looked to the nearby tree. No bird there. "Where is the birdie?" I asked.

"Up there." She pointed to the sky.

"What is the birdie saying?"

"God is good; God is good."

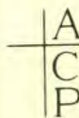

That night when it rained I think it was just the tears of joy from Jesus' face as He knew that one of His little ones had come to Him.

Academies Crusade for Ingathering

Broadview, Cedar Lake and Wisconsin Academy each reported a successful Ingathering field day. The other academies are planning their Ingathering projects at a later date.

The students and teachers in our academies are setting the pace for our union Ingathering crusade by stressing the threefold objectives:

1. By distributing around 50,000 Ingathering magazines on their field day.

2. By enrolling 111 people in the Living Faith Bible Course. The students brought back with them the filled out coupons to be mailed.

3. By receiving $9,015 for the work of the church.

Lana McLouth, a senior at Wisconsin Academy, personally enrolled 41 people in the Bible course. When asked why she tried to enroll every person she met that day, she replied, "It is one of the most important reasons for Ingathering because it is not only an excellent opportunity to tell others about Christ, but it may be the last chance some of these people have to hear about God's love by receiving Bible studies through the mail."

We are so grateful for the enthusiastic, dedicated young people who willingly shared their faith through Ingathering and gave literature to all who would receive it and returned with more than $9,000 for God's work.

May God bless us as we prepare ourselves for a successful Ingathering crusade for 1977.

A continent-wide Teachers Summer School that summer on the banks of the old St. Joe River at Berrien set the keynote of this break with the past. Magan moaned that they had lost 10 years of educational progress, but he hoped they could be made up. The impulsive Jones preached that the time had come among S.D.A.'s for their priests (and by inference their teachers) to have "somewhat to offer," and that meant "self-support," that is nonreliance upon the funds of any conference!

PART THREE OF THE ELIJAH MESSAGE SERIES ON FAMILY LIFE

Where Have the Fathers Gone?

by John and Millie Youngberg

How much time do fathers spend with their sons? A group of 300 seventh- and eighth-grade boys logged accurately the time their fathers actually spent with them over a two-week period. The majority of them only saw dad at the dinner table. Some never saw their father for days at a time. In this particular sample the average time father and son were alone together for an entire week was 7½ minutes!¹

Where have the fathers gone? They have gone many places. But what concerns us here is that they have gone out of the everyday involved lives of their children.

Books on motherhood and child rearing abound, but until recently there have been scarcely any books available on fatherhood. Biller and Meredith in their book Father Power point out that more than 10 percent—about 8 million—of the children in the United States live in fatherless homes at a given time. Three times this number are fatherless for a significant part of their childhood. In some ghettos more than 50 percent of the children are fatherless. However, the most widespread problem is not father-absence, dismal as that picture is. The greater problem is father neglect where fathers live with their families but have lost close, regular contact with their children.²

A father and his young son were walking through the woods. In places the terrain was open and the little fellow ran ahead or found his own way around obstacles. But after awhile they came to a place where there was considerable undergrowth of brush and blackberry bushes. The boy had missed the path and soon found himself entangled. "Daddy, my legs are getting scratched!" Dad lifted him out of his plight and said, "Son, take my hand and step where I step." Within a few minutes they had crossed the thorny place and arrived where they were going. In life happy is the child who when his "legs are getting scratched" can find guidance and support from a wise father. Such a father doesn't just tell the child what to do but models in his own life the better way and can say, "Here son, step where I step." A strong warm father model in childhood can save children from many of the thorns of the way.

Father Deprivation and Offspring Adjustment

Psychiatrist Irving Bieber of the New York Medical College who with his colleagues ran a nine-year study of homosexuals undergoing psychotherapy, declares that he has never interviewed a homosexual who had a close and warm relationship with his father.³ Psychologist Henry B. Biller says that studies of the family backgrounds of both male and female homosexuals uncover a very high occurrence of father-deprivation.⁴

Biller and Meredith point out that father presence or involvement tends to have positive effects on their daughters' relationships with boys. Girls deprived of a father because of divorce are more likely to become "boy-crazy" as they mistakenly seek appreciation from a father figure. Girls whose fathers have died may tend to avoid boys.⁵

A lack of father involvement with the child tends to decrease the child's analytical ability and his ability for productive thinking (translating great plans into appropriate action).⁶

Certainly there are some wonderful fatherless or father-neglected families where sons and daughters have been successfully reared to form happy well-adjusted homes of their own. However, this task is made so much easier and more delightful when father is a strong, dynamic figure in the everyday life of the children.

The Father's Role

The spirit of prophecy years ago gave us sound considered guidance on how to prevent a myriad of problems which today are associated with low father image. In 1905 Ellen G. White wrote: "The father should enforce in his family the sterner virtues,—energy, integrity, honesty, patience, courage, diligence, and practical usefulness. And what he requires of his children he himself should practice, illustrating these virtues in his own manly bearing." But assertiveness is not enough, for the statement goes on to say: "Combine affection with authority, kindness and sympathy with firm restraint. Give some of your leisure hours to your children; become acquainted with them; associate with them in their work and in their sports, and win their confidence. Cultivate friendship with them, especially with your sons. In this way you will be a strong influence for good."⁷

A study among Seventh-day Adventist families has found that the greater the encouraging role of the father, the lesser the negative roles of the children. This inverse relationship was not nearly so strong when comparing the encouraging role of the mother with the negative roles of the children. In other words, in the sample studied, father encouragement, when moderate and not overdone, was of premium value in family interaction.⁸

Fun Fatherhood

Fathers who take initiative in developing "familiness" enjoy a variety of relationship activities with their sons and daughters. One father who travels considerably takes his sons with him on his business trips. A truck driver has as his traveling companion a different child each week during summer vacation time. These children begin to see the world and the world of their father as well.

In one home a visitor might hear father singing—"Don't sit under the apple tree with anyone else but me," as he and the 4-year-old daughter crouch under the make-believe apple tree (the grand piano). Hide and seek, a bumpy camel ride on dad's back, special stories with all kinds of strange sound effects, are part of this daughter's exciting childhood. Father is a very important person in her life.

One father and teen-age daughter have a close relationship in their physical fitness program. Not only do they play tennis together but football as well. Sunday afternoon is their special afternoon together. Sometimes they watch their favorite ball game on TV. During the commercial time they rush outside to kick a few balls and throw a few passes. In the evening father, mother and daughter talk naturally about spiritual concerns and at times join in a lively discussion on politics.

A ride to the junk yard looking for parts to be used on the old jalopy is an important event for one son. Soon four legs are seen from under the old car as they work together on "their" project of making their pride and joy run. When it's time to join in some missionary endeavor, there is no hassle. It's just another fun time when the family shares with others.

Jesus in Mark 9:12 spoke of the Elijah prophecy referring to John the Baptist and said that this work "restor-eth all things." The culminating work of the Elijah message just before the second coming of Christ again "restor-eth all things." It must restore fathers to an active, involved, even powerful, position in the lives of their children. How else can Mal. 4:6 be fulfilled—"And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers."

Hints for Father - Children Activities

1. Join in playing games and sports with the children and their friends.
2. Take children on Sabbath walks out in nature.
3. Have separate worships with each child once a week.
4. Work with children on a "My Life Notebook."
5. Tell child once or twice a week that you will do anything he would like with him for one hour, such as work with him on his bike or help with multiplication tables.
6. Work on MV honors with the children.
7. When traveling write specific letter or card to each child.
8. For children away at school cut out clippings from local papers about friends, activities and events and send with a newsy home letter.
9. Take boys shopping, looking for men's things.
10. Work together with boys on household repairs.
11. Take a child to your place of business and have him help

- with some small duty if possible for a short period of time.
12. Read to the children.
13. Play table games with the whole family.
14. Listen to their stories and help them solve their problems.
15. Take classes together with children.
16. Take each child separately on a dinner date.
17. Play the "Love Game" by planning surprises for mother and children.
18. Give the child a variety of enriching experiences and then encourage him according to his natural bent.
19. Teach the child father's trade or hobby.
20. Join small children in their pretend world.
21. Several fathers take their children for a camping trip leaving most of the organization and work to the children.
22. Tell each child he is loved. Don't be afraid of hugs and closeness.

How Trust Services Can Serve You

by H. Reese Jenkins

Seventh-day Adventist Christians believe that God has brought this advent movement into existence for the purpose of teaching the everlasting gospel to all the world as a witness to all nations. Just as surely as God has a mission for the church, so surely has He a mission for the individual member. Dedicated Christians are aware that they are stewards of God's multiplied blessings of time, talents and property, and they are privileged to use these blessings for the glory of God and their fellowmen.

God has made man a steward of His grace for his own good. The heavenly Father desires His followers to become like Himself—gracious, benevolent and self-sacrificing. By wisely using his time, talents and possessions he will be able to support the work of God liberally both at home and overseas. He will cheerfully give of his time, property and influence in order that the message of God's redeeming love may be shared with all who are in physical and spiritual need.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church work is carried on through evangelistic, educational, medical and publishing agencies. Each part of God's work is worthy of the sacrificial support of every church member; however, after one has provided for the support of causes he believes in during life, it is natural that he would welcome the privilege to provide for continuation of his stewardship after his death.

The work of God could be greatly advanced if each member would make a liberal gift by trust or by will. Due to the uncertainties of life and the impossibility of knowing what future needs might be, increasing numbers of God's people are planning for the future with assistance from Seventh-day Adventist Trust Services. In this way they are able to dedicate all they have to God while providing for themselves and their loved ones.

Services available to members and friends of the Seventh-day Adventist Church through its Trust Services program include, but are not limited to, the following:

* Special gifts during lifetime and by will

* Revocable Trust Agreements

* Charitable Gift Annuities

* Life Income Agreements

* Charitable Remainder Unitrusts

* Charitable Remainder Annuity Trusts

If you desire more specific information, contact your local conference Trust Services office.

The spirit that will finish the work of God was well expressed by a faithful church member who said, "We have never been able to make any large gifts to the Lord's work because of our limited circumstances, but now that our children have received an education and are on their own, we would like to give this property (a modest home) to further the work of God."

When gifts are planned for evangelical, educational or medical purposes, the proper legal entity should be designated as the recipient of the gift with directions which specify the purpose for which the gift should be used. Local churches as a rule are not legally incorporated bodies. In order to make certain that your gift meets the technical requirements for a charitable gift to the church, we suggest that you discuss your gift with your local conference Trust Services representative and that you secure the correct legal name of the charitable beneficiary.

You are invited to avail yourself of the assistance of Seventh-day Adventist Trust Services which has qualified individuals prepared to help you and your legal counsel in planning the most effective and economical way to make a charitable gift for the Lord's work while providing for your own needs and the needs of your dependents.

H. Reese Jenkins is the Trust Services director for the Lake Union Conference.

Epidemic Influenza II

by Herald A. Habenicht, M.D.

Last week we gave a brief background of the events leading up to the nation's massive government-funded and -organized swine flu immunization program. We also discussed the symptoms and natural history of influenza and some of the contraindications and complications of vaccine administration.

Our current emphasis will be to understand better the health principles we must be following before we can claim the promise of Exodus 15:26: "I will put none of the diseases on you... for I, the Lord, am your healer." (New American Standard Bible)

"We can not be too often reminded that health does not depend on chance. It is a result of obedience to law."—Ministry of Healing, p. 128.

The essential laws which must be practiced in the daily life to preserve health are the same laws as those utilized to restore health once lost. They are simply given in outline form on page 127 of this same outstanding chapter in Ministry of Healing. "Pure air, sunlight, abstemiousness, rest, exercise, proper diet, the use of water, trust in divine power,—these are the true remedies. Every person should have a knowledge of nature's remedial agencies and how to apply them." The promise of Exodus 15 was conditional—"give ear to His commandments, and keep all His statutes."

"God pledged Himself to keep this human machinery in healthful action if the human agent will obey His laws and cooperate with God. Every law governing the human machinery is to be considered just as truly divine in origin, in character, and in importance as the word of God.... It is as truly a sin to violate the laws of our being as it is to break the ten commandments."—Counsels on Diet and Foods, p. 17.

The Divine Preventives

Fresh Air

How fortunate we are when we can enjoy pollution free air. Fresh air and exercise naturally go together. Inspiration tells us "Go out and exercise every day, even though some things indoors have to be neglected."—My Life Today, p. 136. "Healthful exercise in the open air will strengthen the muscles, encourage a proper circulation of the blood, help to preserve the body from disease, and will be a great help in spirituality."—Medical Ministry, p. 81.

Organize your day to spend a half hour outdoors—raking leaves, chopping wood, shoveling snow, walking or cycling to work, or some enjoyable form of recreation. This is an important part of religion. (Counsels on Health, p. 173.)

Sunlight

Be sure to spend some time outdoors on bright, sunny days. The vitamin A and germicidal properties of sunshine will be real factors in increasing your natural immunity.

Sleep

Sleep is the great restorer of our physical and emotional being. The person who, on a regular basis, short-changes his body by irregular or inadequate sleep is lowering his vitality and dissipating vital energy which the body needs to resist infection. Our sleeping rooms should be well ventilated while we sleep and not be too warm. During the day the curtains should be drawn open to allow the purifying rays of sunshine to enter and kill germs that may be lurking in dark corners.

A heavy meal should not be eaten just before bedtime or late in the evening. This obliges the digestive process to continue through the sleeping hours. Unpleasant dreams, restless and unrestoring sleep are the results.

Diet

This brings us to other dietary rules that promote health and increase our body's natural resistance to influenza and other diseases. In 1905 God told us through inspiration, "Far too much sugar is ordinarily used in food."—Ministry of Healing, p. 302. At that time 30 pounds of sugar was used by each person during a year. Now more than 120 pounds of sugar is consumed by every man, woman and child each year. In 1890 Mrs. White wrote: "The free use of sugar in any form tends to clog the system, and is not unfrequently a cause of disease."—Counsels on Health, p. 154.

Today we know that sugar impairs the body's ability to fight disease. The consumption of pies, cakes, ice cream, cookies, candy, jam and jelly, sweetened juices and pop, sugar-coated and sugar-containing prepared cereals and a host of similar unnatural foods are only inviting infections and respiratory diseases. Decreasing the amount of sugar used will give the body a better chance to fight off disease. A diet of natural food is the most conducive to good health.

Water

"In health and in sickness, pure water is one of heaven's choicest blessings. Its proper use promotes health."—Ministry of Healing, p. 237. Water enters into all body functions. Adequate fluid intake assures good transport, good elimination, good temperature control and many other body functions. Be sure to drink 6 to 8 tall glasses of this most essential fluid every day.

Trust in Divine Power

How is trust in divine power helpful in resisting disease? Stress is the greatest waster of vital energy, the same energy used by the body to resist disease. Trust in God reduces stress. "The Holy Spirit will... renew every organ of the body, that God's servants may work acceptably and successfully. Vitality increases under the influence of the Spirit's action.... The influence of the Spirit of God is the very best medicine.... Heaven is all health."—Medical Ministry, p. 12.

Drugs

When stricken by the flu, many will seek in the drugstore or the physician's office relief for their pain and inconvenience. Antibiotics have no benefit for the uncomplicated influenza sufferer. They may be life-saving in those cases of secondary bacterial complications. (Your physician will recognize when antibiotics are needed.)

Antihistamines are very frequently prescribed for the flu sufferer or purchased at the drugstore. A whole new set of problems come from the antihistamines themselves, i.e. (1) a thickening of secretions that makes coughing unproductive, (2) a drying effect on mucus membranes, (3) sedative properties which make mental processes difficult.

Over-the-counter medications advertised for the treatment of influenza may be even worse because they often contain, in addition to antihistamines,

1. decongestants—which raise the blood pressure
2. analgesics—such as aspirin—which cause gastric upset and bleeding.
3. expectorants—a vaporizer would do much better
4. antacids—to neutralize the effect of the aspirin

5. vitamin C—never shown to reduce the severity or the duration of symptoms.

If influenza strikes, go to bed at once. Keep warm, but keep the sick room well ventilated. Use water treatments judiciously to minimize body pain and avoid pulmonary complications (hot fomentations to the chest twice daily). Fever can be controlled by cold compressed to the head, cold water or alcohol frictions, and in small children a cold sheet pack. (If the small child is prone to fever convulsions, consult your physician for an appropriate anticonvulsant.)

Drink large amounts of water and sugar-free juices. Fresh fruits and other easy-to-digest foods can be used as tolerated.

Consult your doctor if complications develop. You can suspect them if the patient has

1. increasing difficulty breathing or rapid respiration
2. blood-stained, pus-like sputum
3. severe earaches
4. stiff neck or convulsions
5. rapid pulse or irregular pulse
6. vomiting and/or diarrhea not controlled by home remedies.

To prevent the disease follow God's rules of health and get your flu shot as soon as it becomes available. My prayer for you comes from 3 John 2: "Beloved, I pray that in all respects you may prosper and be in good health, just as your soul prospers" (New American Standard Bible).

1926 GRADUATES MEET AGAIN

Ten graduates of the 1926 Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing class met on the campus for a class reunion recently. The 10 graduates, including one male nurse, came from as far away as Florida and California to attend the luncheon and tour provided by the hospital. Other friends and classmates also attended the 50th anniversary class reunion. A listing of those 1926 classmates attending the reunion from the Lake Union Conference follows: Ruth Heisel, Pound, Wisconsin; Nancy Huenergardt, Gobles, Michigan; Esther Hammer, Allen Park, Michigan; Alice Gliessman, Hinsdale, Illinois; and Vesta Little, DeKalb, Illinois.

Elder Kloosterhuis looks on while his wife, Ruth, opens a gift at the farewell party held in their honor recently.

recently at a farewell party held in their honor on September 27 at the Hinsdale Church fellowship hall.

Since 1965 Elder Kloosterhuis has served in the Illinois Conference; the last six years as youth director. Having served previously as the secretary-treasurer of the Franco-Haitian Union Mission, he has now accepted the call to become the president there.

Elder Kloosterhuis is married to the former Ruth Schoun. They have two sons, David and James, both students at Andrews University.

All of the staff and workers of the Illinois Conference will miss them and wish them God's blessings as they leave to take up this new important assignment.

ENROLLMENT IN ILLINOIS AT ALL-TIME HIGH

Enrollment is at an all-time high with 974 students enrolled in grades one to eight, according to Elder Melvin Rosen, educational superintendent. Not only is the enrollment high, but three new schools opened this year in Mt. Vernon, Galesburg and Springfield. This brings the total elementary schools in Illinois to 28 with 70 full-time teachers.

Margaret Best and Melvin Rosen direct the In-Service Teachers Meeting held at the southern Illinois camp meeting on September 17.

Because of the higher enrollment several teaching positions had to be filled, as well as a few other minor problems which had to be worked out. But the Lord has blessed and we are now into one of our best school years yet, says Elder Rosen.

In an effort to continually update the quality of education in our schools an In-Service Teachers Meeting was held during the southern Illinois camp meeting on Friday, September 17. This was one of a number that are being held throughout the state. "The purpose of these meetings," says Margaret Best, educational supervisor, "is to discuss the long-range goals of our educational program.

"In years past we have emphasized the need to finish a certain course or set of books, but now we must concentrate on making our education more child-centered. We need to learn ways to continually motivate the children to learn. These are the plans that will help the individual students meet their needs."

SAWVEL CHALLENGES DOCTORS AND MINISTERS

A Medical Ministerial Retreat was held at Timber Ridge Camp the weekend of August 13 to 15. Milo Sawvel, one of the associate directors of the General Conference temperance department, was the guest speaker.

Elder Sawvel shared many personal experiences he has had in using temperance to break down prejudice of people and win confidence in a community.

On the last morning a large display was set up showing materials that can be purchased from the temperance department to assist doctors and ministers in their medical missionary work.

One of the new Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking films just produced by the temperance department was shown. It was the first time it had been shown publicly.

G. W. Morgan, Indiana Conference president, stated that it was time for us to more effectively use the tools and health message God has entrusted to us. He mentioned that study will be given by the conference committee to hiring a health temperance educator who could train our laymen in medical missionary work in their communities.

Elder Schulz has a wide background of experience. He pastored churches four years in Argentina. For two years he served as theology teacher and college chaplain in Uruguay. He also was appointed ministerial director and evangelist in Uruguay. For the last three years he has been director of the Spanish work in the Ohio Conference.

The Schulz family is a missionary family. His grandfather was a pastor. His father is a missionary, and three brothers are in the ministry also. One is serving in Europe, another in Africa and the third in South America.

Being an evangelist at heart, Schulz in his few years of pastoral-evangelistic work has led 300 souls to baptism. In our church in Youngstown, Ohio, Elder Schulz was instrumental in directing our work so that in three years time the church membership was nearly doubled.

The Schulzes have recently been in the Holy Land, and he has written a book about their experience entitled, Flight 657 to Jerusalem.

Mrs. Schulz was the soloist of our TV program in the South American Division. She has also made a number of records.

Both Elder and Mrs. Schulz are from South America with Elder Schulz being born in Hohenau, Paraguay, and Mrs. Schulz born in Entre Rios, Argentina.

It is evident from their past experience that they have a burden for souls. Let's pray that the Lord will continue to bless these dear people as they serve the Spanish people of the East Chicago area.

MIZPAH SCHOOL INCREASES ENROLLMENT

The Mizpah Elementary School in Gary, Indiana, opened August 30, 1976, with an enrollment of 113 students for grades K-8, according to Carolyn Palmer, principal.

The Home and School Association under the leadership of Susie Shootes purchased the following equipment for the new year: reading and mathematics lab sets for remedial teaching, a basketball goal, a piano, and an overhead projector.

Parents and friends organized by chairman Sandra Turner cleaned the school. New desks and chalkboard have been ordered for the upper-grade classroom.

Staff members are Rose Donson, Carmelita Richardson, Rose Campbell, Sheila Gordon and Carolyn Palmer.

PATHFINDER LEADER RETIRES AFTER 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

Corrine Baker

Love for working with youth and her interest in teaching them wholesome activities led Corrine Baker into 20 years of Pathfinding at the Gary-Mizpah Church.

Mrs. Baker and her husband have retired and moved to Huntsville, Alabama. Although she may help with Pathfinding, she states that she will let the younger ones do the directing.

In reminiscing over the past 20 years, Mrs. Baker feels her favorite activity is camping with crafts running a close second. She states, "I love camping and teaching the children about nature. The first night of camping is a little hectic because the campers keep you up most of the first night, but by the second night, they are worn out and get back on a decent schedule."

When asked if she thought the children had changed over the years, she answered that they had changed little, but the slang and fads change quite frequently.

One of the most satisfying rewards to Mrs. Baker is when older young people hug her like a parent and thank her for helping them get a start in life when they were Pathfinders.

The director who replaced Mrs. Baker is Gwendolyn Kennedy who was once a Pathfinder. Mrs. Baker, a Master Guide, is the mother of three grown children and seven grandchildren.

NEWS NOTES

• Sabbath School members of 27 churches in Michigan met or exceeded their goals of the four different Sabbath School offerings (Investment, birthday-thanks, regular and Thirteenth Sabbath offerings) taken up during the first two quarters of the year. They are: Algonac, Belleville, Berrien Springs Spanish, Cadillac, Carson City, Coloma (new church) and Delton, Detroit Korean, Edmore, Escanaba, First Flint and Fremont. Also Juddville, Linden, Livonia, Ludington, Manton, Marquette, Mendon, Morrice, Muskegon, Prativille, St. Charles, St. Johns, Sturgis, Wyoming and West Branch (new church).

• A recent field day for the Northfield Junior Academy at Troy had 40 children from grades five through ten collecting $300 for Ingathering.

• By nearly a two-to-one vote members of Detroit's Metropolitan Church ended 10 months of discussion and research by voting to relocate. A few days later a committee was elected to initiate plans toward implementing the decision. The 12-member committee will ask others to form small committees to work on specific projects. The first task is to get an appraisal of the building and an inventory of equipment and then put the property up for sale.

• The recently organized West Branch Church held their first cooking school during the latter part of September and the first part of October. Three classes were held, one each week, and though "only a few attended" (10) the classes were appreciated. Lillian Buck was the instructor.

• Dr. Arthur Weaver and local Detroit pastors have teamed up to conduct four stop smoking clinics. The first was held October 17 to 21 at the Metropolitan Hospital. This will be followed with one at the Canton Center High School, Plymouth, November 8 to 22; November 15 to 19 at Harper Hospital, and January 4 to 8 at Cranbrook Institute.

• "A Review of the Disappointment of 1844" was a recent slide and sound program presented by the Northfield Junior Academy in the Troy Church. Two new teachers presented the program on October 22, Peggy Smith as choir director and Monte Sayler as slide narrator.

• Another Adventist television program can now be seen in parts of Michigan. Search for Truth, the television ministry of The Quiet Hour, is now on two Canadian stations bordering Michigan. Each Sunday at 9 A.M. persons in the Port Huron and Detroit areas can pick up the telecast on Channel 29 out of Sarnia and 22 out of Windsor. The Quiet Hour and Search for Truth programs feature the father and son ministerial team of J. L. and L. E. Tucker of Redlands, California.

• Harold and Crystal Streelman were honored recently at a surprise luncheon as they handed over the reins of leadership of Grand Rapids Community Services Center after four years of service.

• A baby dedication was held at the Troy Church on October 23.

• Last year 16 persons enrolled in the First Flint Church's new school. This year the enrollment was more than doubled with 36 "very happy" boys and girls. As a result of this increase a ninth grade has been added as well as a needed third teacher. Church members feel their school will continue to grow and before too long they will be able to build a separate school building.

• Art Leavitt, church school teacher from Wilson and a Pathfinder leader, spent a recent weekend at the Ironwood Church to help establish a Pathfinder unit. Leavitt is the special Pathfinder coordinator for the area of the Upper Peninsula.

• The Michigan Conference youth department and the churches of the Upper Peninsula held the second annual Bible Conference for 1976. Elder John Glass, pastor of the Alpena and Gaylord churches, was the guest speaker.

• If you think your church cannot have a cooking school because there is no one to help, look around! The ladies of Grand Ledge did and found 23 helpers from five different churches in their district who were willing to participate in one way or another. Jean Dickerson, coordinator of the program, reported that a total of 83 persons attended including 27 nonmembers.

• Clair and Ori Bryant became members of the Otsego Church when they were recently baptized in a spring-fed pond at the home of Alice and Russell Hoenes.

• Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Lamb of Jackson celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, August 29, in their home. Their son, John, and daughters, Milda Patchin of Hinsdale, Illinois, and Norma Sundin of Temple, Texas, planned the open house in honor of their parents with the help of the 11 grandchildren.

• Mr. and Mrs. Louis Courtney of Bessmer celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary on Sabbath, September 25. The Courtneys have been active members of the Ironwood Church for 18 years giving of their time and talents in various offices.

Elder Earl Zager, left, poses with the baptismal candidates at the lake in Holly as they prepare for the service for each to show their desire to join the church and live for Christ.

HOLLY CHURCH GAINS FIVE NEW MEMBERS

On August 21 in a quiet backyard service at the lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hytinen, five people took their stand for Christ. Officiating in the baptismal service was Elder Earl Zager, pastor of the Holly Church.

Two of the candidates, Eugenia and Wendell Sadler, were baptized as a direct result of witnessing by Stanley Zager, son of Elder and Mrs. Zager. He met the Sadlers when he began to deliver newspapers to their home. Through his witnessing their interest grew and after a series of Bible studies they chose to become members of the remnant church.

The other three candidates are all 12-year-old young men who attend the Holly Church School as seventh graders. Gerald Ayers Jr. has been an avid Ingathering participant since a very early age and enjoys distributing papers and tracts.

Craig DeWitt has been very active in the Community Action summer programs in this area.

Brian Hickman wants to take part in the church and to dedicate his life inwardly as well as outwardly to furthering the work of Christ.

AU SABLE OUTINGS SCHEDULED FOR WINTER

Two special winter outings at Au Sable have been scheduled for December and January according to word from Lester Rilea, director of the conference youth department.

The annual Winter Camp is slated for December 23 to January 2. About a month later, a long weekend is planned for the Michigan Adventist Snow Outing. This will run from Thursday, January 27, to Sunday, the 30th, and has been timed to coincide with the "home leaves" of the academics.

At both winter outings facilities for all types of winter sports will be available including some equipment.

Charges for those attending will be on a daily basis as follows: Adults, $7.50; students, $5; preschoolers, $3. Family rates are available with a maximum of $25 per day for an entire family. Special rates are also available for those providing their own housing and meals.

For reservations and further information write or phone the Michigan Conference Youth Department, Box 19009, Lansing, MI 48901. (517) 485-2226.

REACH OUT FOR LIFE LEADS 14 TO BAPTISM

NEWS NOTES

• October 16 was a special day at the Sheboygan Church. On that date the church celebrated the communion service and ordained Wil McAlpine as elder and Pat Fale and Arturo Ruiz as deacons.

• Elder Wesley Jaster, ministerial director of the Wisconsin Conference, is conducting an evangelistic series at the Sheboygan Church.

• The conference office has nine mini-bikes that they would like to sell. These mini-bikes were used at Camp Wahdoon for six weeks last summer. The conference paid $290 for them new wholesale. They would like to sell them for $190 each. There is one that is not in running condition and this will be sold for $50 (handyman special). These are Honda 50 mini-bikes. If you are interested in purchasing one of these bikes, please contact the conference office by calling (608) 241-5325 or write to Leonard McMillan, P.O. Box 7310, Madison, WI 53707.

The new Portage Church

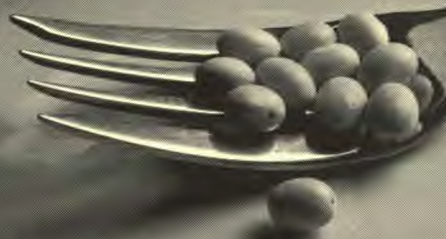

PORTAGE CHURCH DEDICATED

The Portage Church history dates back to 1880, with several breaks in the passing years. In 1954 the 22 members purchased St. John's Lutheran school building, located at the corner of Pierce and Franklin Streets. The building was dedicated in July 1956. The membership has steadily grown until now there are 100 members. In 1969 during the pastorate of Elder Rudy Dolinsky the church purchased 65 acres on Highway 33, two miles east of Portage for $25,000. Later they sold all but six acres for the same amount giving them the property without cost.

In August 1972 ground breaking for the new church took place with Elder Ben Hartmann as pastor, and construction began in the fall. The members did most of the work under the leadership of Bruce Couron and Lloyd Severson with Francis Baker as building committee chairman. The members pledged themselves to build without going into debt, and there was always money on hand. The construction was completed while Elder Ted Green was pastor, and dedication took place on July 24, 1976. The present pastor, Elder Bruce Moore, was present for the occasion. The plans are to build a carport and to blacktop the roads and parking lot bringing the total cost to about $135,000. The church has a church school enrollment of 15, and there are plans to build a separate building in the future. The members are thankful to the Lord for His many blessings and direction in erecting this modern sanctuary in which to worship and praise Him.

WHY TEXTURED VEGETABLE PROTEIN?

Because how many ways can you cook a soybean?

For centuries, soybeans have been an important source of protein. But using them to prepare tasty, varied meals has presented a major challenge for just as long. Even among the most imaginative cooks. That's why Worthington has made the soybean into a variety of delicious textured vegetable protein foods.

A single serving gives you an average of 16.5% of the U.S.
Recommended Daily Allowance for protein.

But that's not all. Worthington's vegetable protein foods also provide the essential amino acids at varying levels. Plus a good balance of fatty acids with polyunsaturates predominating. And, most Worthington foods are fortified with important vitamins and minerals (like Vitamin B₁₂) sometimes lacking in vegetarian diets.

A nutritious alternative to meat.

To help identify with traditional eating patterns, most vegetable protein foods are made to resemble meat, fish and poultry. But the comparison ends there. Worthington products are completely meatless. With no animal fats or other meat derivatives. And no preservatives. Fact is, the ingredients are predominantly from plant sources.

variety in vegetarian cuisine.

Worthington offers more than 40 different textured vegetable protein foods for both total and lacto-ovo vegetarians. All pre-cooked for heat-and-serve convenience, whether you're preparing a quick main course, or creating a sumptuous casserole. To learn more about vegetable protein foods and how they contribute to balanced nutrition, ask for our free brochure and creative recipes at your favorite health store. (K)

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY

THE DEDICATION AND CAPPING service for Andrews University sophomore nursing students will be held Sabbath, November 6, at 4:45 P.M. in Pioneer Memorial Church. There will be approximately 60 young men and women participating. They come from many geographic areas of the United States, Canada, West Indies, and the Orient. The public is cordially invited.

INDIANA

THE INDIANA BOOK AND BIBLE HOUSE will have its annual Christmas sale on Sunday, December 5, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. in all three locations.

JIM AND BARBARA MacLaughlin and Tom and Kay Schroar of ABC Prayer Crusade International will be speaking in the S.D.A. Church at 426 E. Maple St., Jeffersonville, Indiana, November 19 to 27. For more information call Pastor Joel L. Underwood, (812) 948-0261.

WISCONSIN

A YOUTH RALLY, November 13, will be held at the Bethel Church featuring the Wisconsin Academy Choir and Brad McIntyre (songwriter and composer). All of the young at heart are invited to attend. The rally will begin at 9:30 A.M. and will conclude with the recreation hour after sundown. Plan to spend the day with tomorrow's leaders.

CARETAKER NEEDED at Camp Wahdoon. Since this is a part-time position, the individual should either be retired or semi-retired. Perhaps someone who is self-employed could also be considered. He would have a beautiful 3-bedroom home with all of his utilities supplied including the telephone. He should be a general handyman in order to be useful around the camp. Most of his work would be done in the summertime and the winter months would be his own. If you are interested, please contact either Leonard McMillan or Warren Dick at

(608) 241-5235 or write to Wisconsin Conference of S.D.A., P.O. Box 7310, Madison, WI 53707.

RICHARDS TO SPEAK AT PENTAGON

Founder and speaker-emeritus of the Voice of Prophecy, Dr. H. M. S. Richards, will be featured guest speaker for the annual Protestant Thanksgiving Service on the Pentagon Concourse in Washington, D.C., November 24.

He will also speak for a chaplains' retreat at Fort McNair on November 23.

Appearing with Dr. Richards at both the chaplains' retreat and the Pentagon will be the King's Heralds quartet.

The V.O.P. team was invited to participate by Major General Gerhardt W. Hyatt, Chief of Chaplains for the U.S. Army.

A series of chaplains' retreats are held each year, and each features a well-known Christian leader. The retreats are conducted for all military chaplains in the Washington area.

Speakers for the retreats held at the time of major religious and national holidays are also often involved in a special program at the Pentagon, known as the Pentagon Protestant Pulpit. The latter is an interdenominational noon-hour program for personnel assigned to duty in the Pentagon.

Purpose of the Pentagon Protestant Pulpit, according to directors of the program, is "to make vivid to our defense forces the great cultural and religious heritage which undergirds our nation."

INSIGHT WRITING CONTEST

The editors of Insight are pleased to announce the 1977 Writing Contest. Cash prizes will total $1,700 and will include a $500 grand award.

The contest is open in two categories: the short story and poetry. Separate judges will be involved. Prizes in each category will be: $250, first; $200, second; $150, third. There will be one grand prize of $500.

MEXICAN HURRICANE BRINGS HELP FROM SAWS

Hurricane Liza, which struck the Mexican Pacific coast on October 1, left nearly 700 persons dead, 1,500 injured and more than 10,000 homeless in the city of La Paz. Another 4,000 are homeless in Los Mochis. SAWS, the Seventh-day Adventist World Service, has rushed $50,000 worth of relief material to the area.

Howard Burbank, executive director and manager of SAWS, reported that another $20,000 in cash was appropriated by SAWS and the Inter-American Division to purchase food and medicine.

The Adventist boarding high school in Navajoa, College of the Pacific, sustained heavy damage during the storm. Several faculty homes, the school barn and dining hall lost their roofs. Church officials estimate the damage at $300,000.

Burbank added that SAWS will mount a home-building and rehabilitation program in the area similar to the present one in Guatemala. More than $500,000 worth of earthquake-resistant homes are being built there at a cost of $75 per home, Burbank said.

New Releases

EL CENTINELA, format changes.

EL CENTINELA, the monthly Spanish journal, will begin 1977 with a completely new look and two new languages in an effort to widen its sphere of influence. To be published in Spanish, French and English, circulation will increase to nearly 600,000 copies.

Production of the magazine will be handled by Pacific Press's new Harris M-100 web offset press. Costing just under half a million dollars, the press will print and fold 14,000 copies an hour. Changes in the number of pages and the use of color will allow the annual subscription rate to drop to $1.50.

The English edition will be available throughout Inter-America while the Spanish and French editions will also serve North America.

"These languages are as different as the nearly 30 countries where this journal will be circulated. But the purpose of publication will be the same: to present the eternal, exalted truths of the Holy Scriptures in a modern context," Dr. Tulio Peverini, editor, explains.

A.U. CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT RECEIVES ACCREDITATION

Andrews University's department of chemistry has received accreditation from the American Chemical Society (A.C.S.), according to Dr. Dwain L. Ford, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. The announcement of accreditation from the A.C.S. headquarters in Washington, D.C., brings A.U.'s total number of such endorsements to seven, more than nearly all other private colleges and universities in Michigan.

Dr. Robert A. Wilkins, chairman of A.U.'s chemistry department, stated that accreditation was more easily achieved when it was demonstrated that the department was actively seeking to serve both pre-medicine students and chemistry majors whose interests lie in the field of chemistry itself. There are presently 40 chemistry majors enrolled at A.U.

STUDENT INCREASE BRINGS DORM SPACE DECREASE

A consecutive four-year enrollment increase has left the Andrews University dormitories bursting at the seams. Lamson Hall is operating with 684 women, 60 above its capacity. Meier Hall is also housing many more than its optimum number of men.

Although many rooms now have three residents instead of the usual two, Dean Kenneth Blanton reports that the general attitude is positive. The Lamson Hall women, says Dean Arlene Friestad, "are for the most part very cooperative and congenial." Some women, temporarily housed in the basement gym, formed a prayer band. "They are fast friends now," remarked Dean Friestad.

Another problem resulting from the increase of Meier Hall residents is the shortage of seating in the Gold Room. An alternate worship has been added in order that all men may participate.
