Ft. Wayne Church Aids Flood Victims

Melting ice and snow, accompanied by severe rains, produced flooding which caused 10,000 people to flee their homes.

FT. WAYNE, Ind.—More than 500 individuals were aided by Ft. Wayne, Ind., church members during a recent flood which caused the evacuation of 10,000 people from their homes.

The swift action of Elder William Hawkes, Ft. Wayne pastor, brought the Indiana Conference disaster van into the area before the local Red Cross had determined where disaster centers would be located.

Providentially, a disaster center opened directly across the street from the Seventh-day Adventist Church. It was housed in the basement of the Church of Christ. There evacuees received shelter and then crossed the street to obtain necessities from the van which had set-up in the Adventist Church parking lot.

Still not as many people were receiving help as the disaster van was equipped to provide, so Paul Merrills, church communication secretary, contacted local newspapers and radio and television stations to inform the city.

Elder William Hawkes' swift action brought the Indiana Conference disaster van to Ft. Wayne before disaster centers were designated. Above, Ruby Reder gestures toward van as Elder Hawkes hands sheets to Candy Spangle.

"The best advertisement was word of mouth," said Jeanette Griffith, acting community services leader. "One afternoon 28 families came for help within one hour."

Mrs. Griffith's telephone number was advertised in the media as a 24-hour emergency number for disaster van assistance. Daily hours for the van were from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Fourteen church members rotated as volunteers for manning the van. Four were generally on duty at any one time. One individual was stationed in the church office to receive telephone calls and type record cards for each family helped; the other three assisted with distribution of goods.

"I was very impressed with the consideration which many of the evacuees expressed for one another," said Mrs. Griffith. "Often people would say, 'I can get along without sheets,' (or some other item) 'I'd rather have you save them for someone else.'"

Many who came for help were unaccustomed to asking for social assistance and showed obvious embarrassment.

An 80-year-old grandmother and blind relative had been hastily evacuated from their home leaving everything behind, yet the grandmother would not seek aid. Finally a granddaughter came to the van explaining, "My grandmother didn't want me to come, but I've been laid off from work and don't have the money to help her." Mrs. Griffith put together a food basket while other volunteers gathered clothing and personal items.

Flood waters also forced a young couple to leave their newly carpeted and redecorated home. The husband apologized for coming to the van by saying, "You don't know how bad I feel about having to come here for help, but I have four feet of water in my house. Our bed is floating in our bedroom."

Perhaps the saddest situation involved a couple in their late 20's who salvaged a few precious belongings from their flood-soaked home and found shelter in the trailer of a friend. While there, however, they reported, a hot water tank exploded, causing a fire which completely gutted the trailer and devoured their last treasured items.

In addition to material needs, Ft. Wayne church members gave each family two leaflets: "A Quick Look at Seventh-day Adventists" and "You're Hurt . . . We're Here to Help."

One woman, thrilled with the material items she received from the van, lingered to browse through a current Sabbath School quarterly. She was encouraged to take the quarterly with her, and returned to attend Sabbath School the following Sabbath.

According to Edward Skoretz, Indiana Conference personal ministries director, many generous donations were given to both the local church and conference by members and non-members throughout the state to assist in the flood relief.

During the flood and aftermath, the Ft. Wayne Church distributed 2,219 bedding items; 2,856 personal items; 1,350 items of clothing and 389 miscellaneous items.

When asked how volunteers could be certain that those coming to the disaster van were really flood victims, Mrs. Griffith responded, "We listen. They talk among themselves about their flood experiences." Mrs. Griffith's voice then softened as she added, "If any are taking advantage of us, they will have to account for that before God. We're here to serve."

Andrews Increases Scholarships for Academy and High School Seniors

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Andrews has announced a major new scholarship policy which will affect seniors in academies and high schools throughout the Lake Union and elsewhere, according to Terry Newmyer, manager of student finance.

Mr. Newmyer said the university expects to award more than $100,000 in academic and leadership achievement scholarships, doubling last year's amount.

Any academy or high school senior who graduates in the top five percent of his class, or has achieved a grade point average of 3.75 or greater, will receive a $1,200 scholarship to attend Andrews next fall.

A $900 scholarship will be given to any student who ranks in the next five percent of his class, or has a grade point average between 3.50 and 3.75.

In addition to these academic achievement scholarships, Mr. Newmyer said that Andrews will begin awarding leadership achievement scholarships of $450 and $300 to 10 percent of each academy or high school graduating class.

The recipients of these awards will be determined by the academy or high school faculty on the basis of the student's leadership contributions in student government, publications or other areas of school life.

Mr. Newmyer said that each Lake Union Academy has been notified of the new policy, but he urges any students in a public high school who think they may be eligible for scholarships to contact his office immediately on the IN-LINE, Andrews toll-free telephone number. In Michigan, call (800) 632-2248. Outside Michigan, call (800) 253-2874.

Grade Schools Need Support on April 24

LAKE UNION—"Fourteen percent of the total number of people baptized in the Lake Union were children in elementary church schools," reports Lake Union Education Director Warren Minder. "That's one of the reasons we are asking church members in the union to be generous in the elementary school offering on April 24."

In North America the age of decision for Christ and the age of baptism fall within the time frame of the eight-grade elementary schools. Nearly four thousand students were baptized in North America last year as the result of the concerted effort of parents and teachers in these schools.

"The very foundation of the church's educational system is the Christian home," says Charles Taylor, General Conference director of education, and the elementary schools which 'the Lord has given as an aid to parents' for meeting their responsibilities for their children before God in the day of judgment. In the Lake Union 442 elementary school children were baptized last year. Many churches and individuals are heavily committed to supporting their own church school through their combined budget, and the Education Day program on April 24 should stimulate a renewed dedication to that commitment.

The elementary school offering on the same day provides an opportunity for churches and members who are not involved in the day-to-day support of school-age children to demonstrate their concern for the generation that represents our great hope for the tomorrows that stand between us and a finished task.

Alumni Come to Andrews, April 23 to 25

George Vandeman James Londis

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—George Vandeman and James Londis will be the featured Sabbath morning speakers at Andrews' alumni weekend, April 23 to 25, according to Ralph Coupland, executive director of the alumni association.

Elder Vandeman graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1942, and since 1956 has been speaker-director of the It Is Written television program. Elder Londis completed a master's degree at Andrews in 1962, and is presently the senior pastor of Sligo Church in Takoma Park, Maryland.

Mr. Coupland said the weekend will begin Friday evening with the traditional international flag raising ceremony and will be followed by a special musical vespers in Pioneer Memorial Church.

After church services on Sabbath, a campus tour will be directed by V. E. Garber '35, at 2 P.M. The traditional alumni salad supper will be at 5:30 P.M. in the cafeteria, and a vespers of music and meditation will follow at 7 P.M.

Mr. Coupland also said that two special programs will be held on Sabbath afternoon. A symposium focusing on "Christian Scholarship and Responsibility" will be held at 3 P.M. Participants will include former Andrews president Richard Hammill; Fritz Guy '55, '61; Charles E. Bradford; Harold

T. Jones; James Londis and Joseph Smoot.

A concert of sacred music featuring Sam Ocampo '82 and guest artists will begin at 3:30 P.M.

Mr. Coupland said that the highlight of the Saturday evening programming is the presentation of the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" by the University Singers, University Orchestra and guest soloists, directed by Harold Lickey. The program will be held at 8:30 in Johnson Auditorium.

Mr. Coupland said that a variety of other activities of special interest to visiting alumni have been planned for Sunday, including the Alumni Brunch, the business meeting, and the availability of memorabilia items from old Burman Hall.

Honor classes for this year's alumni celebration are 1922, 1932 (golden), 1942, 1952, 1957 (silver), 1962 and 1972.

ASI Plans Spring Fellowship

LAKE UNION—The Lake Union Chapter of Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries (A.S.I.) is planning a spring fellowship weekend, April 30 to May 2, according to Fred Boothby, president.

"Communication in a Business Setting for the Christian Business Person" is the weekend theme which will be held at the union office in Berrien Springs.

Featured speakers include Dr. Kermit Netteburg from Andrews University; Dr. Roger Dudley, author of the books Why Teenagers Reject Religion and What to do About it and When Teenagers Cry Help; Dr. George Akers of Andrews University; Charles Keymer, president of the Michigan Conference; Everett Cumbo, president of the Illinois Conference, and Myron Voegelé, Michigan Conference ministerial director.

A "Communications for Business Seminar" will be directed by Dr. Netteburg, and a "Family Life Seminar" by Dr. Dudley and his wife, Peggy, with emphasis on the challenge of young people to the family and the church.

Some advantages of attending A.S.I. functions include, Christian and professional fellowship, exchange of ideas for greater efficiency in witnessing methods, and professional development through educational training seminars.

Neal C. Wilson, president of the General Conference, remarked in the March 5, 1981, Adventist Review: "If you ever get a chance to attend an A.S.I. sectional meeting or national convention, I hope you will do so. It will electrify your soul, challenge your faith and make you proud of the talents and spiritual stewardship of this unusual group."

If you are not a member of A.S.I. and are a business or professional person who would like more information about joining, contact William Jones, Lake Union Conference, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103, or call (616) 473-4541. A.S.I. needs you!

It Is Written Personalizes Prayer Ministry

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif.—Reflecting God's love is the purpose behind the Prayer Alert Telephone Ministry—the newest addition to It Is Written's total prayer outreach.

Janice Lenhoff (whose husband, Roland, is It Is Written's associate speaker), coordinates the new program and makes the calls on behalf of Pastor George Vandeman and the telecast.

Each week, thousands of requests for prayer pour into It Is Written headquarters in Thousand Oaks, California.

"We read each one and then pray for that request," reports Mrs. Lenhoff. Some needs seem to carry a special urgency, and she calls as many of the people these needs represent as possible.

A viewer's first reaction to receiving such a call is usually surprise. Gratitude, happiness and enthusiasm often follow.

Mrs. Lenhoff says that people appreciate the opportunity to express their needs in greater detail. Often they tell her how their prayers are already being answered.

She refers people who wish to have Bible studies, or those with special needs or serious problems to a local pastor or another counselor, depending on the situation.

Andrews Begins Archaeological Project in Jordan

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—"The Madaba Plains Project in

Larry Geraty

Jordan, including the archaeological excavation of Tell Jalul, is definitely on for this summer," said Larry Geraty, professor of archaeology and history of antiquity at Andrews University, upon his recent return from a trip to Jordan. "All systems are go in what promises to be Jordan's major archaeological project of the 1980's," he said.

Dr. Geraty, the project director, was accompanied on the trip by Mike Blaine. Mr. Blaine is the project's administrative director and the president of the New East Institute and Archaeological Foundation in Glendale, California, an organization which, along with the Carner Foundation, is sponsoring the Andrews University dig.

"We secured final approval for the project from the Department of Antiquities of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan," said Dr. Geraty.

According to Dr. Geraty this new project aims to continue the research objectives initiated by Siegfried Horn when he began the excavation of Tell Hesban in 1968. Ten years of work there uncovered 19 cities superimposed one upon the other over the course of 2700 years.

The earliest town was founded at that site about 1200 B.C. Now the Andrews University group is moving east six miles to Tell Jalul where human occupation of the region goes back through the period of the biblical patriarchs to the beginning of the Early Bronze Age (about 3000 B.C.) and perhaps even into the Stone Age.

Eventually the team will discover how people in central Jordan—in what the Bible calls the Mishor—have lived and coped with their environment since the beginning of time.

Jalul's ancient name is not known. "If we could discover that," said Mr. Blaine, "and how the data we uncover is related to biblical history, we will feel our efforts will have been even more worthwhile."

"On the planning trip to Jordan we visited the Royal Palace," said Mr. Blaine. "We had an opportunity to discuss our plans with Prince Raad ibn Zeid, the lord chamberlain, and had an audience with His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan. The royal family said they are especially interested to learn if there is anything the ancient inhabitants of the region can teach concerning land use, water resources and exploitation of natural resources."

The project will give scores of students, professors, clergymen, scientists, homemakers and professionals a taste of life in the Holy Land—from biblical times to the present. "It is an unparalleled opportunity for many volunteers," says Dr. Geraty.

If you have a skill you would like to contribute, contact Dr. Geraty in care of the Institute of Archaeology, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104. Telephone numbers are: (616) 471-3201 or 471-3273.

"So be truly glad! There is wonderful joy ahead, even though the going is rough for a while down here." 1 Peter 1:6 LB

Summer Architecture Will Be Taught in Finland

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Andrews University will offer architecture classes in Finland

during summer quarter this year, according to Neville H. Clouten, professor of architecture at the university.

Dr. Clouten and two other lecturers will lead a group of students on a study of historic and contemporary Finnish architecture. Leaving New York City on June 17, they will spend eight weeks visiting sites in Finland, a country Dr. Clouten described as "rich with contemporary architectural thought."

Students will lodge at Toivonlinnan Adventist College on the west coast of Finland during the first month and visit architectural structures in Turku. They will stay at the Helsinki University of Technology for a week while touring Helsinki, the nation's capital. The last few weeks will be spent in camping and traveling throughout central and southern Finland, according to Dr. Clouten.

A Design Synthesis Project relating to Turku's historic center, and special studies in church architecture will be taught by Dr. Clouten. Bill Belles, assistant professor of architecture at Andrews, will teach a class in the History of Architecture and Robert Thornberry, a landscape architect from Springfield, Illinois, and former Ohio State University professor, will teach a course in Landscape Architecture. In addition, students will meet with several Finnish architects.

Anyone may take the summer classes in Finland, according to Dr. Clouten. He urges those who may be interested to contact him at Andrews University's architecture department as soon as possible for further information. The telephone number is (616) 471-3621.

Music Festival Draws 11 Schools

ILLINOIS—Eleven schools in northern Illinois participated in a music festival for grades 3 through 6 at Hinsdale Junior Academy, Sunday, February 28.

David Haynes, band director for Hinsdale Junior Academy, directed the combined bands from North Shore, Hinsdale Junior Academy, and students from the West Suburban school.

While the students practiced, Paul Hamel of Andrews University spoke to parents on the value of music in the home.

In the afternoon Dr. Hamel joined teachers, parents and friends for the final concert.

In addition to the band and combined school choir, each participating school presented special selections.

After the concert Dr. Hamel's comment was, "Christian education is alive in Illinois."

Another music event was a choral clinic for grades 7 through 12 at Broadview Academy, April 2 and 3, with a concert on April 3 at the academy chapel.

Future conference education day features will include the Southern Illinois Music Education Day, April 15, at Decatur, and Western Illinois Music Education Day, May 6, at Peoria.

● Wayne Prusia joined the Sheridan Church by baptism on November 14, 1981, according to Charlie Swanson, communication secretary of the De Kalb Church. He was baptized at De Kalb by Pastor Harold Ashcraft who pastors both the Sheridan and De Kalb churches.

● Evangelist Howard Fish reports 26 people are attending Sabbath worship services which began recently in the LaSalle-Peru area. There has been no Adventist work in this area before.

● A branch Sabbath School begun in Carbondale by Marion church members has 15 to 20 people attending each Sabbath, according to Pastor Earl Simmons.

● Project: Steps to Christ is concentrating its efforts currently in saturating the "dark-county" areas of LaSalle-Peru, Carbondale and Macomb with literature.

● Pastor Larry Spiva reports three baptisms for the Metropolis Church as a result of an evangelistic series in the Paducah, Kentucky, Church.

● Conference Secretary, Robert Everett, reports 15 churches had a total of 50 baptisms during January. Despite bad weather this figure is three more than last year's record-breaking baptismal total.

● More than 400 non-Adventists were present on the opening night of the Rock Falls evangelistic series conducted by Conference Evangelist Dave Merling and David Braun, local pastor.

● A baptism of six was conducted February 13 as the result of a series held in the Rogers Park Church by Evangelist Art Swenson and Pastor Reuben Middleton. Four more people are preparing for baptism.

● The Marion Crusade ended with nine baptisms, reports Pastor Earl Simmons. The series speaker was Conference Evangelist Dave Merling.

● Forty non-Adventists joined 25 church members on opening night of an evangelistic series in Centralia, Illinois. The meetings are being held in a restaurant, the only available place, by Conference Evangelist Art Swenson and Pastor Bob Fekete.

● Don Copsey, who was at that time director of stewardship of the Lake Union, was the guest speaker at the South Suburban Church in Flossmoor on two Sabbaths, February 12 and 20. The theme for both Sabbaths was "Life Management," and Elder Copsey also provided special music. Each Sabbath, after a potluck dinner, he conducted an afternoon presentation. Three evening sessions were also conducted on Family Money Management, according to Roselyn Ladwing, communication secretary.

Pastor Milton Fish and Nancy Knuckles are involved in the project to place Adventist books in local libraries.

Ottawa Members Give Books to Local Libraries

ILLINOIS—Public libraries in the Ottawa area are recent recipients of books by and about Adventists. Members of the Ottawa Church have been donating a variety of books to their local libraries.

The Illinois Valley Community College Library has accepted The Conflict of the Ages series, Steps to Christ and Thoughts from the Mount of Blessing by Ellen G. White. Also accepted was From Sabbath to Sunday, by Samuele Bacchiocchi.

The public libraries of Ottawa and Marseilles have accepted such books as The Seventh Day by Booton Herndon, and Good News For You by Arthur Maxwell, as well as others.

The Marseilles Junior High School Library has accepted health books such as If You Smoke What Have You? and has received a subscription to Listen magazine for two years.

Most of the books were contributed by Helen Meyer, local literature evangelist; John Baugher; Alma Fahey, and Nancy Knuckles.

Conference Science Fair Held at Hinsdale Junior Academy

ILLINOIS—On March 14 a conferencewide science fair was held at Hinsdale Junior Academy. The eight schools which participated were Aurora, Beverly Hills, Hinsdale Junior Academy, Joliet, North Shore, Rockford, South Suburban and West Suburban. A total of 66 entries were submitted.

Projects were selected with the help of parents. Parents or teachers could direct projects.

Principal Doyle Harp of Hinsdale Junior Academy reported that many parents were enthusiastic. "We didn't realize how much fun it would be to get so involved with our children," they said.

The judges were Dr. and Mrs.

James Shoots, teachers in the Orland Park School District; Milton Siepman, associate director of education of the Lake Union Conference, and Kenneth Spaulding of the science department of Broadview Academy.

All entries were judged on how well the pupil could explain the processes in his project.

All entries were given first, second and third place awards. Pupils receiving first place ribbons were also given cash awards.

The Home and School Association of Hinsdale Junior Academy provided a light lunch and the funds for the cash awards.

Muncie, Indiana News Notes

● Sabbath, March 20, the Muncie Church had a fellowship dinner after the church service. This was followed with a blood pressure workshop. The Conference Health Screening Van was at the Muncie Mall, April 4 through 6. Free literature was available and blood pressure readings were taken free of charge. These contacts will be followed up with a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking and a Weight Control Seminar.

● The 22 Muncie Church School children, with their teacher Mrs. Chico Rivera, participated in the Education Fair and music Festival to be held at Indiana Academy in Cicero on April 4.

● On Sunday, April 18, games, sports and swimming will be offered for all church members, especially the youth, at the local Y.M.C.A. Guests are invited to come.

Cicero, Indiana News Notes

● On February 6 and 7, the Cicero Church was honored to participate in senior recognition weekend for Indiana Academy. On Friday evening Elder Archie Moore spoke for the vesper program. On Sabbath Elder Herb Wrate presented a message to the seniors and congregation. Elder Wrate, the Indiana Conference educational superintendent, is also the father of one of the 33 seniors, Colleen Wrate. On Sabbath afternoon the seniors gave a skit portraying the life of one of the soldiers at Christ's tomb, and Saturday night there was a benefit film for the seniors.

● In the primary department of the Sabbath School with the leadership of Linda Reeves and Glenna Wrestler, each child made a Valentine for Pastor Archie Moore. The Valentines were presented during the February 13 church service. Elder Moore was pleased with the thoughtfulness of the children, according to Ramona Trubey, communication secretary.

● Don and Carolyn Crabtree and daughter Sue, recently decided to move to Florida where Don will be engaged in his construction business. Don served as elder and deacon, and he and his wife have worked with the young people of the church. Sue was a church organist. The Cicero church members gave them a gift certificate from the Adventist Book Center as a remembrance of the Cicero Church family.

● Ray Chachere is an electrician with Denomination Builders Services. Ray was in Cicero to help build the new church when he told the story of his conversion. He said he had a good upbringing, but "the ways of the world beckoned," and he sampled "every conceivable form of vice." Then he renewed his acquaintance with an old friend who had become an Adventist. It was not long before Ray became excited about a life without vice and took his stand for the Lord.

● The 1982 Valentine Banquet at Cicero included a meal prepared by Dick Tanner, Indiana Conference publishing director, and a program whose master of ceremonies was Cliff Hoffman, Indiana Conference youth director. Included in the program were songs, poems, a skit entitled "Cheering up the sick on Valentine's Day," a re-marriage ceremony, and a newlyweds game.

New Albany
Claims Promises to Pay Debt

INDIANA—Members of the New Albany Church have decided to take special measures to pay off a sizable debt before camp meeting.

Sara Barney, a member of the church board, tells about her decision to give more to help pay off the debt.

"At our January church board meeting one of the board members said the debt in another church in Indiana had been paid by the members giving another tithe.

"I wondered how I could give that much money on my meager salary. I was already giving more than eight percent to the church budget, plus other offerings. And since the first of the year, I had been cut back to a four-day week.

"I went home and prayed. After reading 'The Legion of the Tenth,' I decided to test the promise of the Lord. I would give a third tithe.

"My faith was strengthened. After the first week, business picked up and I went back to a full five-day week. I must shout, 'Praise the Lord!'"

The New Albany members ask for your prayers as they claim God's promises. Commenting on their plans, Jerry Lastine, conference stewardship and trust services director, said, "Success is assured as we make God first in our lives."

First Babies Dedicated in New Cicero Church

INDIANA—Sabbath, January 23, was the first Sabbath that the Cicero members met in their new church building, according to Ramona Trubey, communication secretary. A highlight of that service was the dedication of several children. Pastor Archie Moore talked about the children and had a dedicatory prayer. Pictured here with their parents and Pastor Moore, right, are the babies who were dedicated: Aaron Meyers, left, Matthew Hoffman, Melissa Klinger, and Sandy and Cindy Thompson.

Grand Ledge ABYL Visits Area Churches

MICHIGAN—The Grand Ledge Academy Adventist Youth for Better Living are sharing a total health message with Adventists, according to their sponsor, Donald Slocum. Besides visiting Adventist schools and presenting a 45-minute program, the young people are scheduled to be in charge of the entire church service in five area churches. The outreach program reinforces the importance of temperance to Adventists and gives the students an opportunity to develop proper communication skills while performing in public, Mr. Slocum said. Tom Scheidt and Steve Adams are presenting the Sabbath sermons, and other students take care of the rest of the service. ABYL officers for this school year are Rex Pfeifle, president; Tom Scheidt, vice president; Kelly Randolph, secretary-treasurer, and Donald Slocum, sponsor. Pictured are, from left, Rex Pfeifle, Chris Davisson, Mr. Slocum, Tom Scheidt and Steve Adams, who recently presented a program at the Charlotte Church.

Health Message
Reaches Out
to Hammand

INDIANA—A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was recently held at St. Mary's Medical Center in Hobart, Indiana. More than 65 people attended the program, most of whom succeeded in quitting the smoking habit.

As part of a health screening program conducted by a local hospital, the Hammond Church sponsored a stop-smoking booth at the Southlake Mall in Merrillville and the Village Mall in Gary. More than 100 people signed up for future stop-smoking programs and hundreds of pieces of literature were given away.

The Hammond Church has started a Witnessing for Christ Training Program to train church members to witness to the community. Already the church is sending hundreds of letters throughout the Hammond area to gauge the spiritual needs of the people through the advertising of Bible studies and health programs.

Hammond
Welcomes
New Members

INDIANA—A desire to know more about the Bible led to the baptism on January 16 of Matt, Amparo and Rosanne Prieto at the Hammond Church.

Their first contact with the Adventist Church was a colporteur who sold them Uncle Arthur's Bedtime Stories in 1964.

A search for inward peace caused the Prietos to join and become active leaders in a charismatic group. They found love and fellowship there but they felt a lack of Bible understanding.

Matt received a book through It Is Written, and then was visited by Homer Leal, a member of the East Chicago Spanish Church.

Then Pastor Carmelo Mercado started Bible studies with them. They began to attend the Hammond Church on Sabbath while continuing attendance at their other church on Sundays. Their decision to join the Adventist Church has brought negative reactions from their charismatic friends, but the Prietos continue strong and joyful in their new-found faith. On the day of the Prietos baptism five ● Ivey Nedel Reed, the only remaining charter member of the Reed City Church, was honored on February 13 at a program and luncheon. Special guests were Pastor and Mrs. R. K. Nelson, former pastor, and Jack Morrow, whose parents were also charter members. Music for the event was furnished by Pastor Nelson, Donna Starlin and Earl Eytheson.

● Evangelist Jack Nash reported a baptism for 13 people at a recent evangelistic series at Vassar. Those taken into membership were: Harvey, Eleanor and Bryan Sayles; Sandra Rancour, Doug Wilson, Betty Jacobs, Daisy Arnold, Oleta Hoard, Karen MacDonald, Philip and Susan Marcy, Dennis Wentzloff and Vince Wilson.

● Battle Creek Academy has named Lori Kendall its Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen of the Year. Lori lives with her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Harrell, in Hickory Corners. She is president of Battle Creek Academy's Adventist Youth for Better Living Club and has served her class as sergeant-at-arms during her junior year. She enjoys ceramics, water and snow skiing and plays the piano and clarinet in the Battle Creek Academy band. Lori plans to attend Andrews University next year and major in nursing.

● Grand Ledge Academy seniors look forward each year to a jury trial, according to class sponsor, Donald Slocum. During the last week of the semester, the senior government class is divided into two sides, and a specific case is presented to them. "Lawyers" are chosen and must listen intently during the trial in order to present their side. "Defendants" are questioned and cross-examined. Lower classmen serve on the jury.

● Amy Niesen, a member of the Manistee Church, is serving for one year as a student missionary at the English Conversation School in Ujung Pandang, Sulawesi, Indonesia. Amy is sponsored by Andrews University where she will be a junior when she completes her assignment. In her letters home, Amy described the cultural shock when she arrived. But she said, she has learned to "live with the people and not merely among them." She noted the extreme contrast between wealth and poverty. "These people are rich in smiles and they share them generously," she said.

● Members of the Angola Church had a Valentine Social on February 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lint, according to Mary Lint, communication secretary. Pastor and Mrs. Daniel Wandersleben were present for the occasion. Each guest received a red heart with a Bible verse concerning the heart written on it. Before the supper there was a roll call: each person read the verse on his heart.

Adelphian Academy Students Visit the Nation's Capital

MICHIGAN—Senior government students from Adelphian Academy and six staff members recently made a trip to the nation's capital. Roy Boehm served as a guide for the group. "The personal satisfaction I get from such trips is watching students get excited about what they're seeing and learning," he said. Students were asked to list five things that impressed them the most. Included in the list were the White House V.I.P. tour, the Capitol building, meeting with their congressman, the F.B.I. tour, the Smithsonian Institution buildings, and the National Wax Museum. Students also toured the General Conference headquarters and visited the Ellen G. White Estate. Ron Graybill of the White Estate told the story of Ellen White holding a large Bible in vision and several of the students tried to hold the Bible. Other activities included shopping, swimming and a trip to the top of the Washington Monument.

Youth Rally for District 8 to Be Held April 30, May 1

MICHIGAN—The fifth annual District 8 Youth Rally will be held at Adelphian Academy on April 30 and May 1.

Youth evangelism is the emphasis, and youth from any district are invited to attend.

Keynote speaker for the weekend will be William Richardson, professor of religion at Andrews University. The theme, "Go Ye," reflects on the invitation in Matthew 28 to teach all nations.

The rally will begin with the Friday evening service.

On Sabbath afternoon, Pastor Michael Mills of Battle Creek will present a multimedia program on subliminal messages in rock music.

Herman Harp will present a sacred concert at 4 P.M.

Elders Charles Keymer, Charles Case, Chet Damron and Walter

Seven Persons Baptized at Twin Cities

MICHIGAN—During an afternoon service on Sabbath, February 27, three people from Riverdale and four from Twin Cities were baptized. Five of the new members are students at the Twin Cities Elementary Church School. They decided to be baptized at the close of a Week of Prayer series. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Husted live near Riverdale and have been studying the Bible for some time. In the back row, from left, are Elder James Micheff, Mr. and Mrs. Husted, and Bernie Micheff. In the front are Rachel Korona, Chad Richardson, Tessa Harwood, Jennifer Smith and Amy Tiano.

Horton will combine their experience in youth work to present information on evangelism.

On Sabbath evening after vespers, "The Black Stallion" will be shown. There will be a freewill offering taken at the afternoon meeting and the evening film.

Meal tickets for lunch and supper may be purchased in advance from Adelphian Academy, or you may bring your own lunch.

"Many youth have recently felt the call of God to help finish the work, and this is the time for them to pull together," said David Fernandez, youth coordinator.

Weed Whacking and Temperance at Adelphian

MICHIGAN—Twenty-five Adelphian Academy students helped clean up the town of Holly and then campaigned for temperance during the town's annual Carry Nation Festival last September.

All academy students, 17 years of age or older, were offered a chance to help with the project. They were paid $30 for the first hour, and $10 for every hour thereafter if they worked for a total of 12 hours. The offer pleased the students, and a few faculty and mill workers as well, and they all worked hard to earn their money.

The job included picking up garbage and whacking weeds along the railroad within the Holly village limits. Each worker bought his own $5 cutter and started whacking away.

They worked Thursday and Friday afternoons, and Sunday morning. The weather was clear but hot most of the time, and the workers appreciated the relief car that brought them water every couple of hours.

The Carry Nation Festival is a weekend of carnival activities in remembrance of Carry Nation, the Women's Christian Temperance Union crusader.

Though many of the festival's activities poke fun at Carry Nation's techniques of reformation (she is said to have destroyed many a saloon with an ax), the Adventist Youth for Better Living at Adelphian saw in the festivities a golden opportunity to campaign for true temperance.

Students manned a booth which included Smoking Suzy, lung posters, Listen magazines and other health literature. Many people stopped to take literature or look at the displays.

Ithaca Members Share Health Knowledge

Bernie Micheff, Bette Westfall and Virginia Pfeifle served food samples in an old-fashioned setting.

MICHIGAN—"Take Charge of Your Life" was the theme for the Alma College Health Fair held February 24 and 25, in which local Adventists shared their good-health knowledge.

The emphasis on preventive medicine helped the Adventist members to present healthful living in a college setting. This is the third year members of the Ithaca Church have been asked to participate in the fair.

Virginia Pfeifle, a home nutrition instructor, and two pastors' wives, Bernie Micheff and Bette Westfall, served more than 300 food samples to students who attended the fair. Sandra Gee painted an old-fashioned storefront as a backdrop.

In another booth, Pastor J. D. Westfall and Dr. Bruce Lee, both from Ithaca, demonstrated Smoking Sam. They also presented a film, "The Spider's Web," and showed slide presentations of a cancer-damaged lung.

Dr. Bruce Lee and Pastor J. D. Westfall presented the dangers of smoking to the students of Alma College.

Wisconsin News Note

● The Clear Lake Church recently honored its senior citizens with a Valentine's Day banquet at the home of Sally and Sheldon Johnson. Pathfinder leaders and members prepared and served the evening meal to 12 persons. After the meal, the guests enjoyed sharing personal reminiscences, reports Beth Nelson, communication secretary.

Talent Show Presented at Wisconsin Academy

WISCONSIN—"My Favorite Things" was the theme of Wisconsin Academy's Annual Amateur Hour on March 13.

The program began with the Academy Chorales, directed by Jeff Lauritzen, and accompanied by Rosalie Rassmussen. Several children of faculty members held bright balloons and joined the Chorales in singing "It's a Small World."

More than 30 young people then presented a wide variety of special talents.

The prize winners were as follows: for a piano solo, Cliff Sweet; for a piano ensemble, Amy Mummert and Maureen Hamel; for a saxophone solo, Kevin Tillman; for a vocal selection, a quartet comprised of Scott Hagner, Evan Peak, Rick Green and Cliff Sweet; for a comedy demonstration, Kris Pearlberg and Eric Dant.

Eileen AQUI won the grand prize for her piano solo, "Prelude," from "Suite Bergamesque," by Debussy.

I want to say I like the new look of the Herald, and I thank God you are cutting down on expenses. May God guide you in this endeavor.

Being a senior citizen, I think it appears very cheap and much prefer the former appearance. I know prices have soared and I do enjoy all the news and think it was covered very well. It is hard to take after so many years of a dignified and often pretty numbers that we looked forward to in our rural mailbox. I don't exactly feel proud to have our non-SDA mail-carrier see it. You probably did not think that far. I will continue to look forward to getting and reading it from cover to cover.

Mrs. Winifred Schneider
Willowbrook, Illinois

Guess what? I believe nearly 50 percent of the members of our church threw away the new Lake Union Herald thinking it was advertising or junk mail—and am I ever sick because there were two great Rockford articles in the issue! No doubt we'll get used to it—just that the other was so superior in paper quality, I guess. Please don't take my report of the LUH as negative—when I read of the huge savings, how can we go any other way? I vote for the new format—especially when it has pictures by C. Swanson on the front page! He used to be a member in Rockford.

Joyce Friestad
Rockford, Illinois

As a communications professional, I have really appreciated the switch to newspaper format bi-monthly. I find it easy to read and concise. Certainly the savings makes it well worth the sacrifice of high-quality paper.

Jiggs Gallagher
Lincoln, Nebraska

When the first issue of the Lake Union Herald came in its new format it almost went the way of so much of the mail we get with misleading titles. Glancing at it the second time was a shocking experience to see what had happened to our Lake Union Herald. It was no less shocking than it would be to see our offices and schools moved into tar paper shacks or our evangelistic meetings held in the poorest building in the area. You are right in thinking we should be conservative in our spending, but don't you think there is a difference in being conservative and being cheap?

Robert L. Chapman
Kalamazoo, Michigan

I have just read and enjoyed the March 2 issue of the Lake Union Herald. It is encouraging and uplifting to read about the various Christian activities our churches are involved in throughout the Lake Union. You members of the staff should be commended for the excellent format you have arranged on these issues! However, as for the quality of paper used, I am appalled! I hope you are not seriously considering using this repulsive, inferior grade of paper on future issues. It is comparable to the paper used on cheap, worldly magazines such as the National Enquirer. Our conference is far from penniless. We cannot afford not to upgrade the quality of paper used on this particular magazine, as we must glorify God in all things and maintain our dignity and superiority as Seventh-day Adventists.

Bernace Kirschenbauer
Park Ridge, Illinois

In answer to your request for opinions on our newspaper, I agree with those who say it's fine, we need to cut down on expenses. If it were a periodical for the non-Adventists like Signs or others, I would say no, we should keep it colorful and in good taste. The Lake Union is a family paper to keep us informed at no cost to the individual. We should appreciate this fact and be content to have a local newspaper; its doing the job. I was sorry to read some of the negative responses.

Melinda Ucci
Forest Grove, Illinois

I am ashamed of the folk who wrote derogatory letters because you try to save money. Some of the oldest, most highly respected magazines published do not use glazed paper. My big concern is the content, God bless you. And we need the sunset times in time. I have to send it on to a student of mine.

Edna Pepper
Nekoosa, Wisconsin

About the new Herald, I think you are taking a step in the right direction and economy is the right thing to do, and I am for it. But I believe you should use the best grade of newsprint, the kind used by the big city newspapers. I compared the Herald paper with the Chicago Tribune, and believe their paper quality is better. The print and the picture would be quite satisfactory and still save money as well. And the readership will learn to accept the change and adjust to it before long. May the Lord bless the work you are doing.

Wilyo Hietanen
Hinsdale, Illinois

I have seen the Herald change through the years, and having previously worked at University Printers mailing the Herald I can understand the problems with this type of paper. I like the Herald with all its pictures and news. We still get a color issue once a month for those who don't like this tabloid. I applaud your decision to do whatever needs to be done to save money—especially with the recent postal increase.

Saga Walston
Noble, Illinois

We applaud your efforts to conserve funds. When one-third of the world's people are starving, we do not need to spend money for expensive paper. The newspaper style is harder to read, but this is a small sacrifice to make. The Herald is basically a newspaper, so it does not need to be as durable as other magazines that we pass on to nonmembers or send to the mission field.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Nelson
Clear Lake, Wisconsin

It really hurt to see my brothers and sisters complain about a needed change. I feel it is high time we start waking up and seeing with open-wide eyes just where in time we are. This cut back and change in the Lake Union Herald is only the beginning of things. Much harder times are soon to be upon us as God's children. I enjoyed the way our paper used to be, too. But if we can not give up some of the better things now—as times get harder—how will we ever be prepared to give up everything—as we are told we will have to. I can't believe that we would take the time to put down our good paper (still good!!). As for myself, I kind of feel we are getting something like what the Present Truth must have been like. Those folks back then really enjoyed that. Is the paper the real problem? Or is it us? Dear Friends, let us take this change with grace and praise God anyway. Someday we won't have this paper at all—let alone to have it just the way we want it. May God help us all.

Dear Reader:

Jere Wallack
Editor
The Lake Union Herald

Your letters and personal comments about the new look of the Herald have been most interesting. It is so good to hear from our readers. Pro or con.

We fully expected a mixed reaction to the changes we have made. Change always brings a reaction and we've not been disappointed.

"Junky," "repulsive," "cheap,"

"stinks," "shocked," "appalled," "detest," "disappointed."

"Applaud," "wonderful," "marvelous," "delightful," "terrific,"
"attractive," "economical," "progressive."

You've certainly expressed your feelings!

Many have asked what is the count on the letters—to date they have run just exactly (to the number) 2 to 1 in favor.

Allow me, please, to react to a few of the comments you have made.

1. "The paper looks cheap, like 'off shoot' or 'advertiser' journals." Let me point out that our paper and format is the same as the Wall Street Journal, a prestigious business publication.

2. "The printing quality should be improved." We agree, and we've been working with our printer to improve the quality of the printing and the photographs. Of course, we don't expect it to be the same as the magazine. But it does communicate.

3. "What are you going to do with the $30,000 savings?" That $30,000 is tithe funds, and all of it remains in the five local conferences. Let me explain by sharing with you the 1982 Herald budget.

Balance in account	$ 13,100
Income
Advertising, subscriptions	34,900
Andrews and AHS North Subsidies	17,000
Conferences ($1.35/member/year)	78,000
Lake Union	36,000
Misc.	12,000
TOTAL RESOURCES	$191,000
Expenses
Postage	$ 45,000
Printing	110,000
Data Processing	13,000
Misc.	23,000
TOTAL EXPENSES	$191,000

Notice that from tithe funds the local conferences pay for the Herald at a rate of $1.35 per member for the year. Some of your letters have said, "Cancel my subscription." But of course you are not paying for the Herald. Nor does it come free, as others have said.

The tithe is the Lord's—so in a sense, the Lord is paying for the Herald.

And believe me, that places a very heavy responsibility on your Lake Union Herald Staff. Please pray for us!
