Ministers Ordained at Indiana Camp Meeting

Supreme Court Rules On Sabbath Case

LAKE UNION—The United States Supreme Court has recently held as unconstitutional a state law which grants an employee the right to refuse to work on the day of the week which the employee designates as the Sabbath.

The June 26, 1985, ruling was not unexpected and does not represent a change in the law anywhere but in the state of Connecticut.

The eight to one decision came in a case testing the constitutionality of a Connecticut statute. This statute allows an employee to designate a day of the week as a Sabbath and then be excused from work without penalty, even though such action imposes an undue hardship on the person's employer or fellow employees.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, writing for a majority of the Court, said that such a statute violates the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution. However, as noted by Justice Sandra Day O'Connor in her concurring opinion, this decision should not be read as invalidating the religious accommodation provisions of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act.

These provisions preclude employment discrimination based on a person's religion and require private employers to reasonably accommodate the religious practices of employees unless to do so would cause undue hardship to the employer's business. It is these unaffected statutes and regulations which Seventh-day Adventists use in many cases to obtain relief from Sabbath work assignments.

Despite any inaccurate news summaries to the contrary, the right to a reasonable accommodation of one's Sabbath observance is unchanged.

54th General Conference— Report of the Pre-session

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—More than 3,500 ministers and their wives from all parts of the world attended the World Ministers Council.

The council was held four days prior to the 54th General Conference Session and carried the same theme—"Christ Our Hope."

"As the assemblage sang the opening song, directed by Wayne Hooper, I was thrilled to be singing from the new Seventh-day Adventist Hymnal," said Charles C. Case, communication director of the Lake Union Conference.

The World Ministers Council was organized for the presentation of general meetings in the mornings, seminars in the afternoons, and preaching services in the evenings.

The morning devotionals began promptly at 7:45 A.M. The speakers were Leslie V. McMillan, pastor, Bahamas Conference; Benjamin F. Reaves, chairman of the department of religion and theology at Oakwood College, and Dwight K. Nelson, pastor, Pioneer Memorial Church, Michigan Conference.

Their respective subjects were titled "The Minister: A Life With God," "A Person of Integrity," and "The Case of the Missing Heart."

Following the devotionals, theological presentations were made by three professors from the Andrews University Theological Seminary of Berrien Springs, Michigan. Richard M. Davidson presented "The Sanctuary and Adventism," Hans LaRondelle, "The Timeliness of the Three Angels' Messages," and Gerhard Hasel, "The Remnant Church in Prophecy."

The 34 seminars attended by the delegates represented five areas of emphasis: 1) evangelism, 2) management and administration, 3) pastoral ministry, 4) minister's personal life, and 5) theology. These seminars were well attended.

Seminar leaders from the Lake Union Conference area were John and Millie Youngberg, professors at Andrews University; Mark Finley, director of the North American Division Evangelism Institute; Elden Chalmers, psychologist; Raoul Dederen, Andrews Seminary professor; Gerhard Hasel, dean of the Andrews Seminary; Clarence Gruesbeck, director of field education at the Andrews Seminary, and Roy Naden, professor of religious education at Andrews University.

Panel discussions, after the morning presentations, covered the subjects of "The Certainty of the Advent: The Crisis of Delay"—Part I and Part II, and "The Seventh-day Sabbath: Origin and Eschatology." Professors from Andrews University participating in some of these panels were Gottfried Oosterwal, Raoul Dederen, Samuele Bacchiocchi, Mervyn Maxwell, and W. Richard Leshar, president of Andrews University.

The evening preaching services were conducted by Robert Spangler, secretary, General Conference Ministerial Association; Ron Halvorsen, pastor, Takoma Park, Maryland, Church; John Carter, pastor, Wahroonga Church, Australia, and Charles E. Bradford, president of the North American Division.

In attendance at the World Ministers Council from the Lake Union Conference were about 175 pastors, administrators, departmental leaders and their wives.

"I personally felt the presence of the Holy Spirit with us during the council," said Dr. Case. "And I feel that the messages presented, the convictions reaffirmed, and the decisions made will change the lives and the preaching of those of us who were in attendance."

A report of the 54th General Conference Session of Seventh-day Adventists will appear in the July magazine issue of the Lake Union Herald.

Sutherland Home to Be Restored

The Sutherland home located on the campus of Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, will be restored and become a museum.

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Trustees of Andrews University recently established the Brooknook Restoration Committee to restore Brooknook, the last original frame structure on campus.

Brooknook is the home originally occupied by the first president of Emmanuel Missionary College (now Andrews University), Edward A. Sutherland, during his term of office from 1901-04.

Through the years the house has served as the president's residence, the campus infirmary and was used for student housing. It is now vacant on its original site overlooking Lemon Creek and the St. Joseph River.

Plans are to restore the first floor of the house to its original appearance. The second story will be renovated and furnished in early 20th-century style with offices for the Institute of World Mission.

All the restoration work is to be financed by donations from alumni and other history buffs. Anyone who has photographs of the house, either inside or outside, is requested to lend them to the Brooknook Restoration Committee at Andrews University.

E. A. Sutherland was noted for his ideas on educational reform and adherence to orthodox positions on faith and morals.

His three major goals during his career were: to introduce health reform, including vegetarian diet and exercise; to introduce curriculum reform giving greater emphasis on the Bible and vocational education, and to foster evangelistic fervor on Adventist campuses.

As president of Battle Creek College he led the relocation to Berrien Springs in 1901. By purchasing 272 acres of choice Michigan farmland, he hoped to build a school entirely on his reform principles.

Opposition to his reforms and his desire to begin a new school in the southern United States brought about his resignation from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1904.

With Percy Magan he went to Tennessee and founded Madison College and Sanitarium outside Nashville where he remained until his retirement. During his tenure at Madison College the institution was self-supporting.

The Sutherland home on the Andrews campus is intended to become a museum honoring the contributions he made to the causes of education and self-supporting work within the denomination during his career. It will also preserve the last of the original E.M.C. structures built during his term as president of the institution.

Those interested in making donations of funds or memorabilia should contact Wes Flory at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104, or call 616-471-3613.

It's Worth the Effort

The Tomahawk, Wisconsin, Church looks forward to summer. The reason—summer means Vacation Bible School time.

As you may remember from seeing "Flowers in God's Garden," the second quarter NO ONE BUT YOU slide-tape program, this 34-member church registers at least 75 children for V.B.S. each year. And the average attendance is 50.

Church members begin planning for Vacation Bible School in January.

Though Ramona Bushor serves as director, she is quick to say, "Vacation Bible School is a whole church program.

Almost everyone in the church gets involved."

Division leaders for this summer's program are Candi Kuhn, juniors; Patty Bryant, primary, and Sally Bushor, kindergarten. Alita Evans will direct the crafts and Mary Peters will be game leader.

Ramona Bushor

Ramona says, "Mary Peters is quite a gal. She's a member of the Rhineland, Wisconsin, Church, and when she finishes helping her church with Vacation Bible School, she comes to help us with ours—and she brings some children with her, too."

In addition to the leaders mentioned, about 13 to 15 other church members will assist with the program. Because of the many who are involved, brainstorming sessions produce innovative ideas.

This year the program will be held from July 29 through August 10. Instead of having the usual indoor closing night program, members have decided to conduct an informal outdoor program, complete with bonfire.

Children enjoy the innovative ideas of the Tomahawk church members.

The children will be taught to pile brush properly and will learn how to tend a fire.

Each day of Vacation Bible School will begin with Ramona talking to puppets managed by Sharon Mundt. Ramona finds that she can give behavioral messages to children through her talks with the puppets.

Sharon's participation in V.B.S. is appreciated. Ramona says, "Sharon is very creative. She can see something once and know how it's put together."

Sharon will assist Ramona in developing creative displays which will emphasize phases of the life of Christ while on earth. The displays will depict Jesus in various settings: the nativity scene, Jesus as a boy, Jesus as a carpenter, Jesus as a healer, et cetera. A new scene will be displayed every day, and all of them will remain assembled in the sanctuary.

Tomahawk church members strive to get the children actively involved in their V.B.S. program. This year members will erect a six-foot trellis at the

Over the top of the trellis will appear the words "Jesus Is My Friend." On a felt bulletin board standing next to the trellis will be another sign that reads "... And So Are You." Children who bring friends to V.B.S. will be photographed under the trellis with crowns on their heads. Their pictures will then be placed on the felt bulletin board and will remain there during the entire two-week program.

Quizzes are also conducted for attendees. This year members will divide the children into teams. A felt board will depict Jesus as the Good Shepherd. Each time a team gets the correct answer to a question asked, the team leader will put a felt lamb into the team's designated corral.

Ramona, who is a licensed practical nurse, will also conduct a health series for the children. She will utilize visual aids as much as possible to keep the interest of the youths. To do this, she has acquired a health mannequin that can be taken apart to help the children understand their bodies. She will display wholesome foods and "junk" foods and will show a film on alcoholism.

Sounds like a pretty full program doesn't it? Yet Ramona says, "We love Vacation Bible School; it's so rewarding. It's a lot of work, but it's worth the effort."

The Adrian, Michigan, Luzerios Pathfinder Club hosted six young brain-injured people recently in the gymnasium of the local church school.

Pathfinders Host Brain-Injured Victims

MICHIGAN—When Rhonda Phelps, a junior counselor in the Adrian, Michigan, Luzerios Pathfinder Club was asked if she would coordinate and host an evening of educational activities for a group of brain-injured young people, she at first was surprised and hesitant.

She accepted the challenge, however, and was given the names of the occupational, physical and speech therapists of the Herrick Hospital rehabilitation program to contact for arrangements and appropriate educational activities.

Six young people, ranging in age from the late 20's to early 30's, were transported by wheelchair lift vans to the Benedict Memorial Adventist Elementary School gymnasium.

The physical activities of these young people (all car accident victims) were markedly limited.

Five were confined to wheelchairs, and one was able to walk with a walker.

The Pathfinders and guests had a good time playing table games and Toe-Bender. During the Toe-Bender game, Pathfinders provided the mobility for the wheelchairs, and the brain-injured young people used their feet to kick a ball.

Adrian, Michigan, Luzerios Pathfinders enjoyed playing a game called Toe-Bender with the brain-injured patients.

Following the games a motivational film, "Life Climb," was shown and refreshments were served.

Participation in the program gave the Pathfinders an opportunity to share their capabilities with the handicapped.

Gordon Guild, who was responsible for the activities, said the program allowed the Pathfinders to experience the good feeling that gives one "warm fuzzies" by being able to share with those less fortunate.

Dr. Guild said that brain-injured people are often filled with a significant amount of depression, and he would like to encourage other Pathfinder clubs to become involved with handicapped individuals.

Student Association Officers Chosen

Music Awards Presented at Battle Creek Academy

The honors were conferred upon these individuals by a vote of the other 40 band members. All three students are seniors at the academy.

Michael is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Song and plays both the violin and the clarinet. He has been recognized for his talent in musical organizations outside of his school.

He attended Blue Lake Music Camp in Muskegon, Michigan, and music clinics at Andrews University where he played first chair. He will receive a performance scholarship of $1,200.

Besides music, Michael enjoys sports, stamp collecting and reading. He has been the Student Association president, and has held other class and organizational offices. He is a youth leader at the Battle Creek Tabernacle, has done volunteer Red Cross work and volunteer work for the Y Center, which operates a day care service.

James is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Kwan-Soo Kim and plays first chair in the French horn section. James and his brother, John, often play violin and cello duets for community, social and church functions.

James has received a $500 music scholarship to Albion College. In April James won third place in the Kellogg Community College essay contest, winning him a scholarship award of $100.

James is the current Student Association president and works afternoons at Nature's Pantry, which sells vegetarian foods. Although tennis is his favorite sport, he enjoys all sports. He has held many class and club offices and is a youth leader at his church.

Students voted him Courtesy King for two successive years, and he has served as a volunteer day camp counselor for the Y Center.

Sherrie, daughter of Dean and Fran Davis, received the Director's Award. She has been active in musical organizations for seven years and plays first chair baritone. She is the band president and enjoys music, reading and writing.

She has had materials published in Guide magazine, has led out in youth activities for four years, and carries many school offices. She will receive a $300 leadership scholarship to Andrews University.

Becker Named Honored Alumnus

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—C. Warren Becker, professor of organ at Andrews University, was named an honored alumnus of Walla Walla College during the 1985 Walla Walla Alumni Homecoming Weekend held April 18 to 21.

Dr. Becker received the honor for his accomplishments in the field of music education and his long teaching career and Christian influence on students.

Dr. Becker received a bachelor of arts degree in music from Walla Walla College in 1945 and followed this with a master of music degree from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, in 1951. He completed a doctor of musical arts degree in organ performance and pedagogy in 1963, also from the Eastman School of Music.

Prior to coming to Andrews in 1959, Dr. Becker was associate professor of music and chairman of the music department at Pacific Union College. In 1970 he was chosen for the Teacher of the Year award at Andrews.

In 1973 he was honored with the presentation of the John Nevins Andrews Medallion for outstanding contributions to the profession of teaching.

From 1979 to 1981 Dr. Becker took a leave of absence from teaching to complete a revision and expansion of the five-volume series, Music Literature Outlines. He co-authored this series with the late Harold Gleason, renowned organist and former professor at the Eastman School of Music. Dr. Becker considers his work on this series one of his most personally satisfying accomplishments.

He has given numerous recitals across the United States for chapters of the American Guild of Organists and for various church groups and organizations. His organ performances can be heard frequently over the Andrews FM station WAUS.

Two Broadview Students Baptized

ILLINOIS—On the last Sabbath of the school year, Broadview Academy in La Fox, Illinois, witnessed the baptism of two students. Ada Lopez, left, and Henry Kim have taken Bible studies at the academy during the year, and both were baptized by Campus Pastor Jeff Cinquemani, center.

Computers Increase At Andrews

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—A fund-raising effort that began in June 1983 has resulted in four major clusters of computers and a computer in each academic department office at Andrews University.

Albin Grohar, director of foundation research at Andrews, said, "Two years ago we had about 20 microcomputers on campus. Now we have more than 90 microcomputers and almost half that many terminals connected to the computing center's main computer."

"That works out to be one computer or terminal for every 20 students. Our goal is to eventually have one computer or terminal for every 10 students."

Mr. Grohar said that the university feels this has come about largely because of the leadership efforts of Whirlpool and Zenith and their interest in education in Berrien County.

These corporations believe education strengthens the community. Therefore, they have provided chal-

Illinois Conference News Note

• Karen Cassady recently dedicated her two daughters, Karen and Ami, and a son, Donald, to the Lord at the Moline Church. Sharon and Bill Worthington also dedicated their daughter, Ami, during the same service.

Laity at Work In Moline

ILLINOIS—Nine people were recently baptized in the Moline, Illinois, Church as a result of many months of intensive efforts by 16 church members, including youths of the area.

Three teams conducted three different Revelation Seminars. The seminars were followed by two weeks of coordinated nightly follow-up meetings by the laity and pastor.

Approximately 16 more interested people are continuing Bible studies or are meeting weekly in a study group conducted by the laity in Milan, Illinois, on Friday nights.

Pastor Eugene Taylor says that church members "are thrilled with the opportunity to do successful soul-winning work and are looking forward to more such teamwork for the Lord in the future."

lenge grants and donations that have enabled the university to solicit additional support from other private contributors.

In the two years since the project began, $250,000 has been raised toward this project.

According to Mr. Grohar, the next step in the project is to raise an additional $50,000 for more software and printers. The software is needed to help faculty members implement computer technology in their classes. Obvious uses include instruction, evaluation and enrichment of course offerings.

Additional printers are needed to reduce the waiting time involved when printouts are needed.

Students at Andrews will benefit from this computer availability. They will have the marketable skill of being computer literate, and they will have learned specific applications of computers in their major fields of study.

Illinois Business Meeting Produces Changes

ILLINOIS—In a spirit of unity, delegates to the Illinois Conference Annual Business Meeting held at Broadview Academy on May 19, 1985, made several major changes which will affect the work of the church in the state.

The new Illinois Conference Constitution and Bylaws were adopted, and minor changes were made in the Illinois Association Bylaws. Previously the Illinois Conference Constitution had no bylaws. The constitution underwent other major changes which were made to facilitate better representation by the laity for the work of the church. They include the following:

1. Representation from the churches was amended to read "one delegate for the church body and one additional delegate for each 50 members or fraction thereof." Because the conference has had tremendous growth in the past few years, the reduction of the representation (from one delegate for each 25 members) will enable it to provide adequate facilities to hold constituency meetings while reducing the cost of those meetings.

2. Denominational employee representation at the meetings (delegates-at-large) was reduced proportionately, keeping the ratio between workers and laity the same as the old constitution designated.

3. The quorum for doing business at constituency meetings was 50 delegates and is now 51 percent, and all delegates must be present to vote.

4. The election of officers will be done by secret ballot while all other business will be done viva voce.

5. Representation on the executive committee was increased to 17 members with no one (other than the officers) serving more than two consecutive terms. The committee is to be comprised of individuals who represent expertise in various fields, include both sexes, and represent the conference geographically.

The other major change made at the Annual Business Meeting of the Illinois Conference affects youth ministries. A report from the Camp Committee was presented outlining major considerations for relocation of Little Grassy Lake Camp. Reasons given for such a move were: 1) poor summer camp attendance, 2) programming contingent upon approval from the refuge (The camp is located on leased federal government land.), 3) usage limited to summer use only, (year-round usage would provide a broader financial base), 4) the need for a more central location in order to serve the majority of the constituents, and 5) legal problems associated with visitors on camp property.

With an appraised figure of $390,000 for the buildings, a report was given on the search for the best possible camp location.

After discussion and appeals were heard, the vote was taken to place Little Grassy Lake Camp on the market for possible sale. No further action will be taken on the sale or relocation of the camp until the Illinois constituents are called together in a special meeting to review the proposal.

The Annual Business Meeting closed shortly after 5 P.M. with an appeal by Everett Cumbo, conference president, to continue working together in finishing the Lord's work in Illinois. Ray Rouse, conference treasurer, gave the benediction.

The four sets of happy parents and children included, from left, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Terry and daughter Elizabeth; Pastor and Mrs. Charles Hanlon and son Benjamin Joshua; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Siebert and daughter Megan Michelle, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Huffman and son Kenneth Lee. Pastor Rogers served as guide on a tour with a group from his former parish in Middletown, New York. A party of 14 people formed the group and visited the places Jesus lived and walked. Shawn enjoyed collecting bottles of water from each well-known body of water, such as the Sea of Galilee and Jordan River. ### City Temple Hosts Youth Federation

LAKE REGION—The Motor City Youth Federation was recently held in Detroit, Michigan, at the City Temple Church and the Greater Grace Temple.

The event was spearheaded by Helen C. Bryant, Motor City Federation president.

Charles W. Drake III, pastor of the City Temple Church, extended a welcome to representatives from sister churches when the federation began its sessions on Friday evening.

"In Times Like These" was a fitting theme for the federation meetings, and the theme song was "Renewing of Your Mind."

On Sabbath morning, the Greater Grace Temple's auditorium was filled to capacity as federation members assembled for Sabbath School.

At the beginning of the worship service, Pathfinders, led by Jewel Elliott and Amos Bell, participated in a witnessing parade. The ministry through music was presented by a mass choir.

Guest speaker for the divine worship service was Anthony Lewis, pastor of the Reid Memorial Church in East St. Louis, Illinois.

Sister Bryant was presented with two awards. She was presented the Spirit of Detroit Award from the City Council of Detroit in recognition of the federation's leadership and dedication to improving the quality of life for youths.

The second award was a proclamation from the office of the mayor in recognition of the federation's achievements and services to the city.

The Motor City Federation officers include Allene Loster and Juanita Martin, vice presidents; Sandra Ziglor, secretary; Hudie Davis, treasurer; Helen Alexander and Gertrude Watson, usher coordinators; Theodore Brown, chaplain; Jewel Elliott and Amos Bell, area coordinators for Pathfinders, and Lelia Lindsey, Adventist Youth Booster Club coordinator.

Lake Region Conference News Notes

• Thomas L. Nukes, local elder of the Ephesus Church in Marion, Indiana, was invited to his former church, Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, to be the guest speaker on a Sunday morning during the hour of worship. The title of his sermon was "Motive." The congregation appreciated his sermon so much that he was invited back for a second speaking assignment. This sermon was titled "Law and Grace." Brother Nukes is employed as a laboratory technician for the General Tire Plant.

• Community Guest Day at the Ephesus Church in Marion, Indiana, began with a song service led by Annie Rowe, Adventist Youth leader. Robert Casey, Sabbath School superintendent, later welcomed 50 guests to the church. Guest speaker was Charles Joseph, president of the Lake Region Conference. Elder Joseph's message emphasized how the plight of ancient Israel in the wilderness is closely associated with today's situation. Following the worship service, a fellowship dinner was held at the Prince Hall Housing Authority recreation room. More than 90 members and guests were served.

• The Bethel Church in Grand Rapids, Michigan, recently celebrated Community Guest Day by taking a heavenly flight. Flight 777 "got off the ground" at 9:15 A.M. during a Sabbath School led by Lucille Barnes, assistant superintendent. Eddie Ward, Sabbath School superintendent, welcomed the guests during the divine worship hour, and Pastor Emmanuel Foxworth introduced the guest speaker for the day, Kenneth Adderly. A fellowship luncheon was served followed by a musical program which featured guests from the Grand Rapids area. "The heavenly flight was then brought to a smooth and safe landing with the pastor's closing remarks and prayer," said Myra Smith, communication secretary.

Voice of Prophecy Prepares Video Programs for Hospitals

H.M.S. Richards Jr. recently completed "SeaWord," a series of five 10-minute videotaped programs designed especially for use on closed-circuit television in hospitals. "SeaWord" brings a word of hope and encouragement to hospital patients by showing that the Creator of the ocean can guide and bring peace to the human heart.

NEWBURY PARK, CALIF.—H.M.S. Richards Jr. will be featured in a new video series, "SeaWord," which will soon be part of the closed-circuit television schedule at hospitals across North America.

The five 10-minute programs will be repeated each week. John Robertson, executive producer of the series, says, "The typical patient is only in the hospital for a week. Each program stands alone, but a person can see the entire series in five days."

The spark for creating "SeaWord" came one day in 1982 when H.M.S. Richards Jr. visited his father in the hospital. "There were closed-circuit programs on every kind of health concern," he says. "I wondered why not do a series that would take the patient out of the hospital room for a glimpse of God's nature and a fresh hope for living."

Each program uses the open sea and the problems confronted by sailors as metaphors for concerns faced by patients.

"Going Alone" deals with loneliness, both for the sailor and the patient. "Lights in the Darkness" takes up the matter of guidance. By showing how various instruments guide the seaman through darkness and fog, Pastor Richards makes the point that the patient can trust in God for guidance through uncertainty.

"Storm Warnings" contrasts storms on the open sea with the storms of life. "The Art of Making Passages" likens passages through life to the old days of sailing around South America, a dangerous passage that required making difficult decisions.

"A Matter of Trust" talks about knowing and understanding shipboard equipment in order to place trust in it, and then shows the necessity of knowing God in order to trust Him.

Pastor Richards notes that the entire series was taped on a schooner rather than in a studio.

World Church News Notes

- Children speak their minds in spontaneous, unrehearsed answers to questions on a new series of public service radio spots released this summer by the Voice of Prophecy. The set examines a concern all families face: how to take time now to build memories for the children. The spots have been sent to every radio station in the United States and Canada. It is expected that about 1,000 stations will air the spots without charge as a public service to their listeners. Major funding for production of the spots came from the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, with staff time provided by the Voice of Prophecy.

- More than 16,000 club members and leaders are expected at the North American Pathfinder Camporee which begins July 31 at Camp Hale near Leadville, Colorado.

- Because of the increased activity at the Adventist Information Ministries 800 number service, a special General Conference appropriation of $125,000 was committed for the project. Each phone call costs about $1.25. Average costs for books and mailings exceed $2,000 monthly.

- Neal C. Wilson, president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, reported that workers in the South Mexican Union baptized 5,819 persons on Sabbath, June 8. That baptism brought the year's total to 15,205—just 795 short of the union's goal for the year.

The Bible book featured will be printed on the spine for quick reference.

Each "mini-commentary" will feature the Bible book studied that quarter.

the reader will have a complete set of small, easy-to-read commentaries on the various books of the Bible.

In the Beginning, the book to be used during July, August, and September, explains the themes woven throughout the book of Genesis and provides additional spiritual insights into this book of beginnings.

Signs to Feature Special Issue On Second Coming

BOISE, IDAHO—In the fall of 1985 Signs of the Times will produce the first in a series of special issues on messages Seventh-day Adventists proclaim as present truth.

With "Planet Earth's Great Homecoming Day" as a theme, the publishers will present the second coming of Christ from three perspectives:

1. When Jesus Christ returns in power and glory, He will experience a homecoming in that He lived on earth 2,000 years ago as Son of God and Son of Man.

2. On the occasion of His second coming, we who believe will participate in a homecoming in the sense that we will be "at home" with our Heavenly Father.

3. Planet earth, cleansed of rebellion and sin will be welcomed by occupants of other worlds; the reunion will be the homecoming of homecomings, for harmony will once more reign throughout God's great universe.

As a climax to the special issue, readers will be invited to accept our Lord's invitation to attend the great homecoming banquet prepared for the redeemed of the earth. All special issues will be made available at low prices for use in missionary projects.

Resource Catalog to Assist Church Leaders

HAGERSTOWN, MD.—One of the first copies of the NAD Resource Catalog was presented to Robert Carter, right, president of the Lake Union Conference, at the Spring Meeting in Washington, D.C., by Thomas Ashlock, North American Division Sabbath School director. The North American Division, in cooperation with the Review and Herald Publishing Association, has produced this resource catalog for the purpose of helping church leaders utilize products that are available on various subjects of church growth. This catalog lists products such as books, magazines, cassettes, videos, filmstrips, et cetera, to aid churches in carrying out the Caring Church strategy in local communities. The description of each product will help church leaders know if the material is what they are looking for. For instance, if a church is planning a cooking school, or a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, they can refer to the NAD Resource Catalog to see what tools are available on these given subjects.

Letters

Editor's Note: We have appreciated the responses from our readers regarding the two abortion articles which appeared in the May 21, 1985, issue of the Lake Union Herald. We share with you portions of their letters.

I just finished reading the article, "The Abortion Issue: Must the Church Decide" by John Duge, in the May 1985 issue, and I'm not just upset, I'm out and out mad! How someone could consider the life of an unborn child so unimportant I don't understand! This person considers "the way society looks" on women who become pregnant before marriage more important than the life of the little human beings that God has created within them!

The women who do become pregnant before marriage have an alternative to abortion; it's adoption. And I believe it's the only alternative that the Lord can fully sanction. There are thousands of couples who can't bear their own children.

I have a daughter who is now five years old that my husband and I have adopted. I am so thankful to a woman I don't even know for the gift of my daughter. I know enough of the woman's background to know that the easiest way out would have been an abortion, but she loved her baby enough to give her life and fill the dreams of a couple who wanted a child.

If you think pregnancy before marriage is looked down on today, think back about 2,000 years ago. A young girl named Mary became pregnant before marriage, by the Holy Spirit. (Where would we be today if at the last minute she got scared and worried about what people would think of her, and she got an abortion? We'd be lost, forever!) Then after Jesus was born, Joseph adopted Him as his son. How much more biblical can you get than that?

Don't get me wrong, I am not putting down the women who get the abortions, I am against the abortion itself. There is not a person created that Jesus doesn't love, including these women. These women need our support, our love and understanding, but mostly they need to accept Jesus as their personal Saviour, and have a change in life-style.

I am pro-life, and I do not look down on these women. I don't hate them or call them murderers, and to be honest with you, I haven't bombed any abortion clinics, as was mentioned by the author. But let's take a close look at the ugliness he mentioned.

Let's look at a 3-month-old fetus which has been aborted by the suction method—torn to pieces and sucked into a jar. Let's look at the psychological problems women have after an abortion. Let's look at how many women can't bear any more children because their cervixes were weakened, or uterus perforated. That's ugliness!

I believe abortion is acceptable in only one case, if the mother's life is truly in danger.

I believe Jesus considers abortion a sin. Life begins at conception, not somewhere down the road.

Jesus loves the sinner, but hates the sin. By taking no stand, the Seventh-day Adventist Church is saying "Abortion is OK."

Brian and Marjie Shade
Greenville, Michigan

I could hardly believe what I read in the May 21 issue of the Lake Union Herald on the abortion issue. Truly, truly, we are in the last days, when the church is so lukewarm on such an issue. Why be a noncombatant in the service if we think abortions are all right. How can we have the nerve to post that Seventh-day Adventist unwed pregnant women [who had abortions] didn't drop out of school, and more completed academy and remained in the church, and fewer had divorces. Maybe they weren't disfellowshipped for killing their babies, but could it be that the girls that kept their babies were "kicked" out? And maybe it was the so-called members that caused both of these situations to exist.

Why brag we keep the Ten Commandments and then indicate by statistics that abortions are better?

It seems that the term fetus gives permission for abortions—it just glosses over the fact that this fetus is a baby. I know a non-Adventist that had an abortion, and the girl was haunted by what she had done. She told me there isn't a day that goes by that she does not wonder what her baby (not fetus) would have looked like. I also know a girl that had her baby out of wedlock, and when I was studying with her and she began to attend my Seventh-day Adventist church, she was treated with scorn. So who is the greatest sinner, the scornor or the unwed mother?

Your two articles on abortion in the May 21 issue were both very good. Philosophy sounds fine, but I think Dr. Duge has the better argument. Practical reality should direct our attitudes and actions. The Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy nowhere ask us to add to the burdens of other people. For examples I would refer to the latest Ministry Tape-of-the-Month—the presentation of Dr. Beatrice Neall.

Thank you for stimulating our thinking.

This is rather belated, but I would like to commend you on two fairly recent issues of the Lake Union Herald. I thought the cover of the May 7, 1985, issue was wonderful. The picture of the mother and child and the poem by H.M.S. Richards Sr. were very touching. It was certainly an appropriate time to print the poem. Apparently, Elder Richards was granted his request to fall asleep "gently."

I want to applaud the Lake Union Herald for the articles on abortion in the May 21, 1985, issue. I greatly appreciated that both sides of the abortion issue were presented. Though the Adventist Church has not taken a stand against abortion (and, hopefully, never will), it is difficult, at least among the Adventists I know, to find people who share my pro-choice views. It was refreshing to read a pro-choice article by a Seventh-day Adventist. I am sure that I was biased, but I tried to read both articles as objectively as possible. I found Dr. Duge's article sensible, well researched, biblically supported, and compassionate.

I hope that the Herald will continue to print articles on important current issues.

Repairers of the Breach

Everett E. Cumbo
President
Illinois Conference

Isaiah 58:12 says, "And they that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach."

The Bible is such a positive book, telling everyone to take an aggressive stance toward building God's kingdom on this earth. The text in Isaiah 58 is one Adventists use in evangelism to show their special work in the last days of earth's history. The work is to rebuild the walls of truth that have been torn down through the centuries by the enemy of God's people.

Builders and rebuilders are positive people doing a forward work. They do not tear down, but they repair the breach and build anew God's truths. This is the work the Lord speaks about when He says, "They that shall be of thee shall build" (emphasis added).

Some people, unfortunately, feel their work is primarily to tear down. They tear down the truths of God; they tear down those called of God to teach; they tear down the institutions of God. As they do this, they feel they are doing a great service, but in reality they are destroyers.

I am writing this article from New Orleans, where the 54th General Conference Session is being held. Talk about a positive meeting—this is it! The reports of the 1,000 Days of Reaping indicated that 1,171,000 people were baptized in 1,000 days. That's 1,171 people every day for 1,000 days. Each of these individuals represent a brick that went into the wall of truth in these last days.

From throughout the world the walls are being repaired and built to God's glory. Thrilling stories are being heard. Talented musicians are singing, and we in attendance are thrilled with the positive advancement of the cause of God everywhere.

Have you heard the latest report from the Illinois Conference? Let me share it with you. During the 1,000 Days of Reaping 2,735 people were baptized. This means that an average of 2,735 people were baptized every day. The 2,735 individuals baptized represent 122 percent of the objective that was assigned to the Illinois Conference. Illinois is one of only four conferences in the North American Division that reached its objective. We are sorry the others did not, but we are thrilled that God blessed in such a beautiful way in the Illinois Conference.

As I travel throughout our conference, I see new, shining faces in every church—wonderful people who 1,000 days ago were not members of the Adventist Church, but today are rejoicing in the great truths of God. Evangelists, preachers, teachers, literature evangelists and our wonderful laity have shared their faith and have been rebuilding the walls of truth among their friends and relatives.

Now my dear friends, we move into a new era, 1985-1990, when the next General Conference Session is scheduled to be held. The questions I want to leave with you today are: Are we building walls with earnestness and alacrity? Are we sincere about this business that God has assigned to us of being positive wall builders and rebuilders? Are we going to see the job finished before the next General Conference Session is necessary, or is it going to go on and on and on? We have been in this world too long. Certainly our prayers should be the prayer of John as he closed the Bible canon with these words, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."
