From Whence Come Wars?

by Robert H. Carter, President
Lake Union Conference

UPON my return from a recent trip to the West Coast, I found three issues of Newsweek magazine among the stacks of mail on my desk. All three issues had pictures and headlines relating to the war in the Middle East. The headlines read, "America at War," "The New Science of War" and "Heat of Battle."

Reading about the widespread property destruction and loss of lives that are taking place in that part of the world caused me to reflect on the question asked by the apostle in James 4:1, "From whence come wars and fightings among you?" A better question perhaps, would be, "What causes people to fight and destroy one another with deadly weapons?"

I do not think that I am alone in feeling that nations need to find a better way to resolve disputes. The untimely deaths of soldiers on both sides of the battle front seem so unnecessary. How does one justify the awful toll of innocent civilians whose lives are snuffed out by falling bombs and hurtling missiles?

We are told that wars are caused by a "passion for superiority, for triumph, for power." Far too frequently national leaders are willing to lead their countries into conflict for the sake of personal glory.

W. E. Channing comments on this issue, "The earth holds not a more abandoned monster than the sovereign who, entrusted with the dearest interests of a people, commits them to the dreadful hazards of war, that he may extend his prostituted power, and fill the earth with his worthless name" (The Preacher's Homiletic Commentary, vol. 30, Page 584).

This text in James does not directly refer to national wars, but to the conflicts that occur among the professed people of God. The apostle was troubled when he observed the hostility and strife between members of the household of faith. He attributed the terrible state of affairs to greed and lust.

Notice the indictment that James brought against the believers of that day. In James 4:2 he said, "Ye lust and have not; ye kill and desire to have, and cannot obtain; ye fight and war."

In James' era there was widespread strife among religious groups. Bitterness and rivalries tore people apart. Violence and murder invaded even the sanctity of the Church because of selfish desires. Christ's cause was dishonored.

There is nothing glamorous about war. One has only to read Newsweek to come to this conclusion. War is horrible and needs to be avoided if at all possible.

In the sight of God, war and strife between those claiming to be His disciples is even more disappointing than war between nations. You and I must determine that what happened in the early Christian Church will not happen in the Remnant Church today.

The Heart of The Lake Union

Quilting With Love

by Marilyn Leffler

WITNESSING in the Lake Union happens in a variety of ways. Many times it is through Community Services, but it doesn't often happen through large corporations.

In December 1990, Marjorie Potter of the Grand Rapids, Michigan, Central Church, received the Chairman's Volunteer Service Award from the F. W. Woolworth Corporation where she had been employed for a number of years.

Marjorie had written Woolworth telling about the work of the Central Community Services program, and her part in it. She told them of their providing food, clothing and bedding to those in need. In her letter she said, "We are a group of women of the church and each one uses her talent where needed."

Marjorie explained that she had gotten into the program because of a friend who had some material she wanted to get rid of. "Oh, I think our center could use that," she said. Marjorie took the material and made three quilt tops, which she donated to the center.

"The next thing I knew, the women had me involved," she said, "and I've been enjoying it ever since. I just can't quit!"

Since that time, Marjorie has sewn 62 quilt tops and plans to make a lot more, she said.

Aubrey C. Lewis, vice president of Woolworth Corporation, New York, New York, wrote Marjorie congratulating her for her part in Community Services. He said, "You are a division winner of Woolworth Corporation's International Chairman's Volunteer Service Award program."

The chairman and chief executive officer of Woolworth Corporation, Harry Sells, stated that he "felt a great sense of pride knowing that the spirit of volunteerism is so strong among the Woolworth Corporation family."

Grand Rapids Central Church members are proud of their work in the community and they are especially proud of people like Marjorie who contribute so much to the success of Community Services work in their area and around the world.

The Silver Lining

by Kenneth E. Burr

ON April 29, 1957, the sky was filled with dark gray clouds. Cold March-like winds cut through my coat and clothes, and sent chills throughout my body. I was on my way home from school and I was looking forward to our Boy Scouts meeting that evening.

As I turned a corner, I could see my house and I began to walk faster. There was a strange, cold and eerie feeling in the air and it was not just the chill from the wind. The gray clouds in the sky were a frightening sight. Something just wasn't right. Nature itself seemed to be angry and rebellious.

I had accepted Jesus as my Lord and Savior, the summer of 1956. My uncle had started a Bible study for children that summer. I had been to a Sunday School and church for as long as I could remember, but it wasn't until I started going to my uncle's classes that I really got to know Jesus.

When my mother first told me I had to attend, I was angry about giving up my Saturdays. My uncle's classes were held on Saturdays and that was the only day I had to do what I pleased. But after being reluctant, I obeyed my mother and started attending with my brothers, sisters and other neighborhood children.

From the very first day, I was deeply moved by the teachings of a man who had lived and walked this earth almost 2,000 years ago. He loved me and died on the cross for my sins. I often look back and thank my mother for insisting that I attend those studies.

My love for Jesus grew and grew each week. I would not miss a class. I looked forward to the next week and could hardly wait for it to arrive. I began to really know Jesus, not only as my Savior, but as my best Friend. And I enjoyed telling others about this dear Friend of mine.

Six to eight months later, I started my own Bible study at my home. I gave my classes on Wednesday evenings and continued to attend my uncle's classes on Saturday. I wanted to serve Jesus each day of the week, so I would go to hospitals twice a week with my uncle to visit and pray for the sick.

My uncle was very surprised at how fast I learned and how God had blessed me with a gift of teaching. It wasn't long before my uncle put me in charge of one of his adult Sunday School classes.

Then suddenly, things fell apart.

On April 29, 1957, my father and some of his friends went motor boat riding on the Detroit River. My father never went to church and I am not sure if he even believed in God. He and his friends often drank a lot and on that cold, April day they had been heavily drinking.

My father took my four-year-old brother along with him and his friends on that boat ride. It was my brother's first ride on a boat, and his last. The boat overturned and my brother and one of my father's friends drowned.

As I approached the porch of my house that day, one of my sisters met me at the door and hit me with the heart-breaking news. I was shocked and very deeply hurt. Why did this happen?

I was told everything, from "God could be testing you," to "God could be punishing and warning my father of his sins," to "God works in mysterious ways," and "some things are not meant for us to understand now but after we get to Heaven, all questions will be answered."

I didn't want to wait until I got to Heaven. I wanted to know now. It never dawned on me that Satan was somehow to blame. I never stopped to think that I was playing right into the hands of the devil. He was making it appear that God was to blame for this suffering.

If God was testing me, then I failed the test. I left God, and Satan was waiting with open arms. But it wasn't until I was 17 years old when Satan began to take total control.

For the next 21 years I was a slave to Satan, and he turned me every which way but loose. Starting me out with wine, then to hard liquor, from there to marijuana, to heroine, and finally crack cocaine.

It wasn't until I hit rock bottom, that I realized I was letting Satan destroy me. I sought help and entered a rehabilitation program. The hospital did help me face the hate I felt for my father and to bring out the hurt I kept deep within me. But as soon as I walked out the door of the hospital, Satan was there waiting. And before I realized it, I was back on crack.

About a year later, I called out for help again, and guess who was there this time with open arms? My old friend, Jesus. I had fallen asleep one afternoon after thinking of committing suicide, when Jesus spoke to my heart and mind: "Stop fighting me. Your arms are too short to fight with God."

Many times He had tried to bring me back, but I would reject his offer. But He never stopped trying and He had never really abandoned me. He was there all the time, waiting for me to call out His name for help. Only Jesus had the power to help me overcome Satan and drugs.

I confessed my sins and accepted Jesus as my Savior again. In harmony with our Lord's command, I was baptized on December 17, 1988, and received into church fellowship by the City Temple Church in Detroit on December 24. The same church and religion where my father's father had accepted Christ as His Savior.

Home at last. Thank God.

Kenneth E. Burr lives in Detroit.

Perscription for Spiritual Health

by Don English

“THOSE churches who are the most systematic and liberal in sustaining the cause of God are the most prosperous spiritually. ... The spiritual health and prosperity of the church is dependent in a great degree upon her systematic benevolence. It is like the life-blood which must flow through the whole being, vitalizing every member of the body” (Testimonies for the Church, vol. 3, Page 405).

How often have we heard it said — and how often have we said it ourselves — that every problem the Church faces is actually a spiritual problem?

We say it so often and hear it so often that it is in danger of becoming a cliché (if it has not already done so). Like many clichés, however, it is true.

How wonderful then, to learn that the servant of the Lord has placed before us a solution to spiritual lethargy.

Read the quotation at the beginning of this article very carefully. Note that it does not say that those churches which are most prosperous spiritually are the most systematic and liberal in sustaining the cause of God; nor does it say that the systematic benevolence of the Church is dependent in a great degree upon her spiritual health and prosperity.

What it says, is the very opposite — liberal churches are the most spiritually prosperous, and spiritual health and prosperity depend upon systematic benevolence.

Spiritual health and prosperity depend upon systematic benevolence.

The statements are plain and their meaning is clear: when a church liberally sustains God's work, spiritual health and prosperity follow as a natural result.

What would happen if we in the Lake Union Conference should put these inspired statements to the test? What would be the result if we, longing for the spiritual strength that God desires to impart, should make a conscious, deliberate decision to increase our giving beyond anything we have ever done before?

We can find the answers to these questions, brothers and sisters. We can make that decision and give the Lord the opportunity to vindicate the statements of His servant.

Shall we not take advantage of this opportunity to let the Lord “open the windows of heaven?” I pray that we shall and I ask you to join me in this decision.

Planning For Victory

by Charles C. Case

THE goal of worldwide Global Mission is reaching the unreached people and completing the task Christ has given us of taking the Gospel to all the world.

Within the Lake Union territory we are aiming to: 1) reach those people groups who have not been reached with the Gospel of Jesus Christ; 2) encourage vital and dynamic worship, fellowship and service in Bible-based, Christ-centered congregations; 3) reclaim inactive and former members; and 4) present planned awareness programs for those who don't know who we are.

Our focus will be to: 1) introduce special evangelistic outreach programs in the Lake Union cities, towns and villages where there are no Seventh-day Adventists, and 2) in addition, emphasize a strong evangelism program as we have in the past.

The Lake Union Global Mission will be emphasizing a variety of objectives. They are to: 1) provide an ongoing awareness program that will acquaint church members with the need of meeting those unreached people groups and how to do it; 2) increase public and personal evangelism with the church members; 3) develop a strong spiritual stewardship lifestyle among our church members; 4) emphasize the spiritual needs of our church members, reclaim inactive members and increase Sabbath School and church attendance; 5) renew our commitment to Christian education; and 6) emphasize the spiritual and developmental needs of our youth in the local churches.

We would be overjoyed, if through the steps above, we could see a 10 percent increase in our church attendance and school enrollment, and a 5 percent increase in our church membership, mission giving and tithe income. Naturally we would like to see greater increases in each area, but we want realistic expectations. All of these five areas have been decreasing through the last few years and it is our desire to see the trend turned from a negative to a positive direction. God's church should ever be going forward and not retreating.

Pastors and department positions have been cut, therefore the services to the church members have been limited. Of course this is economical, but it reflects a spiritual condition that exists in the Church and under our Global Mission program we want to experience a complete turnaround.

In their daily prayers, church members should lay this at the feet of Jesus, asking Him to help us: 1) become more active in our own personal spiritual and prayer life 2) demonstrate the love of Jesus in our lives so we will be constantly talking about His righteousness and love for all humanity and; 3) become actively involved in the preparation of warm, friendly, caring churches to receive those expected new members so they will not be disappointed.

With every one of our Lake Union churches looking appealing on the outside, serving those who need our help, spreading the Good News of Jesus' love and return, and training church members as active disciples of Christ, we will see more new members brought into Christian fellowship. They will see that we have what they need and want.

Global Mission is our theme, Christ is our guide, the Lake Union is our territory, the Bible is our tool, prayer is our connection with Heaven, and service is our responsibility. Put into practice, with all of these in our lives, victory is assured. Because Jesus died and gave us the victory over sin, now all we need to do is demonstrate that we accept that victory and our Global Mission will succeed.

NASA's Outstanding Trainee

SDA Youth Aims for Space Career

by Sharon Terrell

DAN Flugstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flugstad, Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, spent a week in October 1990 at the NASA Space Academy in Huntsville, Alabama. As one of 90 students at the academy, 15-year-old Dan received the "Outstanding Trainee Award" given to the student with the highest level of achievement. Dan was pleased to receive the award which will qualify him for a scholarship when he attends the academy again in 1991.

A career as a mission specialist is Dan's goal. He had written to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration regarding his interest in a space career and says: "I was real surprised to get a phone call. They told me that math and science were important to a career in space."

Along with writing essays and taken examinations, one of the activities during the week at Space Academy was to go on a "mission." The 90 students were divided into smaller groups for this activity and Dan's group selected him to pilot the simulated flight.

Dan attended the SDA school in Stevens Point before his family moved to Wisconsin Rapids. After he completes his secondary education, his plans include earning a degree in mechanical engineering and then attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge to study aeronautics.

Dan Flugstad holds the "Outstanding Trainee Award" he received in October 1990 from NASA Space Academy, Huntsville, Alabama.

Wisconsin Camp Meeting 1991

by Sharon Terrell

PLANs for the 1991 Wisconsin Camp Meeting, June 14-22 at Camp Go-Seek in Westfield, have been finalized according to Arnold Swanson, Wisconsin Conference president.

Alfred C. McClure will present the message on Friday evening, June 14, and the Sabbath worship hour message, June 15. Prior to being elected NAD president during the recent General Conference Session, McClure was president of the Southern Union Conference. He has served the Church more than 35 years as an evangelist, pastor, departmental secretary and president of local and union conferences.

Speakers for the evening meetings, beginning June 15 and continuing through June 22, include Hyveth Williams, senior pastor of the Boston Temple and Dwight Nelson, senior pastor of Pioneer Memorial Church, Berrien Springs, Michigan.

The first black female pastor in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Pastor Williams is a native Jamaican raised in London, England. She is well known for her weeks of prayer, and seminars for college and academy young people. Her topic for Sabbath and Sunday evenings will be "New Relationships."

Dwight Nelson began his pastorate at Andrews University in 1983 and also serves as adjunct professor for homiletics at the Theological Seminary. For two years Pastor Nelson produced and narrated a radio program titled "Perception," and is currently speaker of a television series, "Perceptions."

In addition to his evening presentations (Monday through the second Sabbath), Pastor Nelson will bring the worship hour message the second Sabbath and provide a workshop for local elders on "Preaching."

As usual, the week will be a spiritual feast. The early morning series will be presented by Dr. William Shea of the Biblical Research Institute of the General Conference.

From the Top: A. C. McClure, NAD president; Hyveth Williams, senior pastor of the Boston Temple; Dwight Nelson, Pioneer Memorial Church senior pastor; Dr. William Shea of the GC Biblical Research Institute; Roger Coon of Ellen G. White Publications; and Harold Lee, stewardship coordinator for the NAD; are all highlights of the Wisconsin Camp Meeting.

Calvin and Virginia Smith, associates in the General Conference Church Ministries Department, will conduct workshops. Calvin Smith will demonstrate Sabbath School Action Units in his series "How to Make Your Church a Dynamic Witnessing Center." Virginia Smith's workshop will be for children's Sabbath School leaders, teachers and parents.

At 11 a.m. Monday through Friday, Roger Coon of Ellen G. White Publications will present a series titled "How Jesus Treated People" and Harold Lee, stewardship coordinator for the NAD Church Ministries Department, has titled his stewardship workshop "By His Spirit."

A special 30-minute family life presentation will be given each evening at 7 p.m. by Charles and Millie Case from the Lake Union Conference and Andrews University, respectively.

The theme for this special camp meeting week is "Like Fire in the Stubble" from The Review and Herald, December 15, 1885 (Selected Messages, book 1, Page 118), "When divine power is combined with human effort, the work will spread like fire in the stubble."

Questions regarding accommodations may be directed to the Wisconsin Conference Office 608-241-5235 or Post Office Box 7310, Madison, WI 53707.

Sharon Terrell is communication director of the Wisconsin Conference in Madison.

With a Knock and a Prayer

Lake Union literature evangelists share their inspiring adventures

YESTERDAY as I was approaching an apartment building I noticed a car driving into the parking lot. I entered the building and soon heard footsteps approaching the door. A young man named Gerry came in. I introduced myself and he invited me into his apartment. It wasn't long until we were friends. Quickly we found we had a common friend in Jesus.

He purchased The Desire of Ages and The Great Controversy. I also placed The Ministry of Healing and Steps to Christ in this home. And because he was a new Christian he wanted to learn more about the Bible, so I left a Bible lesson guide. I believe that soon this young man will be a member of God's remnant church.

I met also another young man from the Middle East. Adnan is a Moslem, and so are his parents, in Kuwait. By God's grace I was able to share the Gospel with him. He allowed me to pray for him, and accepted The Great Controversy and Happiness Digest.

You could see the conviction on his face. The Holy Spirit was impressing him about the truth of the Gospel. Several times he asked me where the SDA Church was in Hartland. God will nurture this contact. Thousands of people are awaiting our knock. I believe I will meet these two men in God's great Kingdom.

living room and asked if we would mind standing while we showed her the volumes, which we did.

She was really impressed with the material. When we shared with her the Bible Readings for the Home that we include with the health books, she said that she wanted them, so we wrote up the contract.

Then because we noticed her enthusiasm for the Bible Readings, we showed her some more books. Her little son liked them. She really got excited about the Bible Story and invited us to come into the living room and sit down. So she bought the Bible Story, Bedtime Stories, Bible Readings, and the medical unit, and put it all on a charge account.

She told us that she was recently divorced and that her ex-husband had never let her go to church or purchase literature of this kind. She wanted them for herself and her boy. We offered prayer and then hurried to the next person.

Praise the Lord for all His beautiful literature. People really appreciate it and they are eagerly waiting for someone to bring these books to their doors.

Why sell medical books? Because the health message is the right arm of the Message, which opens the door to the books that contain the great Bible truths for this hour. We love the literature ministry. We have so many opportunities to witness for Jesus.

published some years ago, and wanted to know where she could purchase a copy. They told her to contact Home Health Education Service, literature evangelists' business organization, who referred her to me.

She works at a Christian church in Chicago, where we met the next day. When she greeted me she said the pastor was expecting me.

Pastor Brown explained that he had inherited his copy of The Desire of Ages from his father, the founder of the church. He told me that he read from it to his children and felt impressed that the Spirit of God was behind it because the "language flowed so beautifully."

He compared his copy to the new one I showed him. He thoroughly inspected it to make sure it was the same book. He then asked if I had anything else "by this White character." I happily showed the other "White" books.

Pastor Brown purchased all the "Conflict of the Ages" books, Bible Readings, Lessons Jesus Taught and the Bible Story for the church. Primarily the books will be for the youth library.

How comforting to know that other congregations are using our books to minister to their youth. They recognize one of the greatest treasures in life is The Desire of Ages.

"They shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God" (Luke 13:29). Many in that church are reading our books. It has been my privilege to place tens of thousands of dollars worth of our books all around Chicago. I rejoice in knowing that I have a part in such a great soul-winning ministry.

God's Team Player

Scoring For Eternity

by Marjorie Snyder

STEVE Streehman is a first-class basketball player at his high school in Byron Center, Michigan — on Tuesday night.

But on Friday night and Saturday, when many of the important games are played, Steve is either at home with his parents or in church.

Steve, 6 feet 6 inches tall and quick on his feet, handles the ball like a guard. Because of his basketball skills, he attracted a number of basketball scouts at the Western Michigan University "big man" camp last summer. Being recruited by public universities, however, is not in Steve's plans. He was raised a Seventh-day Adventist and that kind of a career is not compatible with his Sabbath observance.

"Many people claim to belong to a religious faith, but Steve actually practices his," according to Byron Center Advance sports reporter, Greg Chrapek. "One of the requirements of the Seventh-day Adventist Church is to keep holy their Sabbath, which runs from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday. That means Steve is unable to participate in the Bulldogs' Friday night games," he said.

Steve cannot be a "starter" for his team since he does not participate on Sabbath. "Steve has never started and we will never use him as a starter," his coach, Bill Skilling, said. "Continuity is real important. Starting Steve on Tuesday for eight games would mess that up. He's our sixth man off the bench. We just become a better team on Tuesday."

Steve carries a 3.8 grade point average and is interested in premed. He also has an offer of a scholarship to attend Columbia Union College in Takoma Park, Maryland, next year.

Steve admits that at times there are teams he would like to play against, but can't because of his decision about the Sabbath. "I'd like to see what I could do against them. But I'm just happy the coach lets me play," he said. Athletes usually are not allowed to be members of teams if they can not participate full time.

Steve says he gets a few letters from people who hear about his religious convictions encouraging him to keep it up, and the members at his Grand Rapids Central Church and his family are all very supportive.

A Tale of Two Schools Friendship in Jesus

by Judi Matusik

GREAT Lakes Adventist Academy's gymnastic team, the Aerokhanas, gave a Week of Prayer at Highland View Academy, in Hagerstown, Maryland, during February 17-24. The team voted to participate in this peer sharing adventure rather than their annual trip to Florida.

The entire GLAA student body in Cedar Lake, Michigan, rallied behind the Aeros, praying individually and in small groups that God would use each team member to effectively share what Jesus is doing in his or her life.

The Aeros chose "How His life changed Mine" as their theme. After each meeting, the speakers found themselves surrounded by one or more students saying, "Thank you, it's so good to know someone else feels like I feel," or "Someone has gone through what I am going through." Braving teen peer pressure and speaking earnestly about the victories God had helped them to achieve, the Aeros found many teens at HVA relating positively to their testimonies.

Friendships grew between students from the two schools. In the afterglow of the play, "His Last Days," on Thursday night, students and staff from both schools were sharing encouragement, tears and hugs. God was very close as almost 100 students stood at the foot of the cross after a brief appeal by Coach Fred Matusik. Students who only a few days before had been strangers were now embracing each other in Christian love and saying, "I choose Jesus."

The Friday night Agape Feast started with a skit portraying Christ's friends awaiting Pentecost in an upper room. After sharing a feast of fruit, the students were invited to write their burdens or anything else in their lives that they would like to give to Jesus on a piece of paper and nail it to the cross.

One by one students came forward. No one but themselves and Jesus knew what was written on the papers. When the cross was covered with small pieces of paper, they were taken outside and burned. This signified giving every burden to the Lord.

Sabbath was a culmination of Christian friendships and a new revived relationship with Jesus.

As Sabbath drew to a close and the time to leave was close at hand, it was obvious that HVA students didn't want the GLAA students to leave and neither did the GLAA students want to go! After many personal goodbyes, a circle was formed beside the bus and the group sang the Week of Prayer theme song, "Third Person," for the last time. Tears flowed as they sang, hugged and said goodbye.

As the GLAA bus slowly pulled away, many HVA students ran along side and waved as long as they could. One of the Aeros remarked, "Wow, Coach, this was better than Florida!"

The Aeros came as strangers but left behind their new family in Christ.

They are not perfect and they are not saying, "We are holier than other teenagers." What they are saying is, "I choose Jesus, I may stumble and I may fall, but I choose Jesus."

"With such an army of workers as our youth, rightly trained, might furnish, how soon the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Saviour might be carried to the whole world!" (Education, Page 271)

Physical Fitness Challenge

Walk to Orlando!

by Judy Jordan

WALK to Orlando! I'd rather fly. However, this was the challenge given by Principal Harold Grosboll to the Indiana Academy staff to help promote physical fitness. The staff then challenged the students to a 1,000 mile race, which is equal to the distance from Cicero, Indiana, to Orlando, Florida. The losers were to treat the winners. We had nine weeks to reach our goal.

Each participant could choose one of three methods of exercising: walking, running or bicycling. All mileage was to be recorded and then reported on a weekly basis.

The staff took a commanding lead in the first three or four weeks. They were as far as Nashville, Tennessee, when the students were just arriving in Louisville, Kentucky. As the staff headed toward Atlanta, Georgia, the students began to make progress.

Both students and staff reached Orlando on the same day but the students had more total miles than the staff. Therefore, the students were declared the winners.

The winners were treated to an afternoon of fun at the Indiana Athletic Club and a meal prepared by the staff. Approximately 50 students participated and about 20 staff members and their spouses. Jeremy Davis, the top student, traveled 297 miles utilizing all three methods. Harold Grosboll, leader for the staff, traveled 198 miles also by jogging, walking and cycling.

Andrews University Summer Scholars

A Jump Start on College

by Bruce Closser

IT'S 10:45 on a Monday morning at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Michigan. Freshman Adam Rose from Florida sits in a fundamentals of accounting class in Chan Shun Hall. Across campus in Nethery Hall, Palauan Mason Whipps and Michigan native Becky DeWind turn in English compositions and discuss works they've read for honors literature classes. Elsewhere, Berrien Springs native Gianluca Bacchiocchi operates a computer for his computer aided drafting class.

Aside from the fact that they all attend Andrews University, these very intelligent young college students have one important point in common: they all came to Andrews University by way of the Summer Scholars Program.

Now in its fourth year, Andrews University's Summer Scholars Program has earned its fair share of respect from students and teachers alike. The program attracts ambitious high school and academy juniors and seniors who appreciate a challenge and who want more from their summer vacations than sunburns and volleyball. The four-week program features intensive classroom study combined with travel to regional historical and literary locations.

The Summer Scholars Program was conceived by Dr. Merlene Ogden, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, in 1987. "We wanted to give our outstanding secondary students a head start on their college experience," she observes. "A program like the Summer Scholars not only does that; it also provides an environment conducive to studying with committed Christian university teachers while enjoying the friendship of other outstanding students who also appreciate the challenge of learning."

Every indication suggests that the Summer Scholars Program more than meets these expectations. Sophomore Eric Delaporte, an alumnus of the second Summer Scholars, notes that the program gave him a chance to "taste the flavor of collegiate challenges without the culture shock."

Freshman Debbie Pezet notes that she "was considering going to a non-Adventist college because it would work better with some majors"; but she admits that the Summer Scholars helped her see the importance of being able "to meet friends who share your beliefs and to have faculty and staff who generally care about you other than just as a statistic for a particular program."

Ben Bockich, Andrews Academy senior, observes that the Summer Scholars Program showed him "what Andrews was like as a university." He intends to be a student at Andrews next year.

If these reactions are typical, participants of the 1991 version of the Summer Scholars Program, the most ambitious to date, are in for a real treat. Summer Scholars will spend three weeks on the campus of Andrews University studying the culture of the Mississippi River.

Classes in the history, literature, art, and music of the river will prepare students for a 10-day tour of such significant cities along the river as Hannibal, St. Louis, Memphis, and New Orleans. Classes in water ecology of the Berrien Springs area will introduce students to issues of ecology which they will observe first-hand during the river tour.

For their efforts, students will earn seven general education quarter credits, four in humanities and three in natural sciences, all at reduced tuition. Scholarship money is available for those who need it.

Anyone interested in being a 1991 Summer Scholar should call 800-253-2874, or write to Dr. Bruce Closser, English Department, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104-0040.

Voice of Hope Black History Program

Lake Region - The Voice of Hope Church in Michigan City, IN, conducted a Black History Month celebration service on Feb. 2 at 3:30 p.m. for the community.

Pastor Ralph Shelton introduced the idea to the church as a means of sharing common ground with the community. About 500 flyers were printed and many assisted in the distribution.

The program theme centered around slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The program included several of Dr. King's speeches (both audio and video presentations), a 10-point quiz and lots of music. There were also pictures and T-shirts of Dr. King on display.

One member commented, "I enjoyed this program so much we should do this again." Plans are under way for such an event.

Lake Region Conference news notes

• Religious Liberty Day at the Ypsilanti Church was on Jan. 19. Guest speaker, Samuel Flagg, director of religious liberty for the Lake Region Conference, heightened the awareness and appreciation for the freedom we continue to enjoy. Fred Mills, religious liberty leader for the church, challenged members to work while time still allows.

MRS. ETHEL LOWE (center) presented Pastor Walton Rose with a $3,000 check on Jan. 26, for the Ypsilanti Church building project. Mrs. Lowe, aunt of member Roberta Brezzell (right), says she is impressed by the Lord to give as she has been blessed. She has sacrificed both time and money to a number of organized efforts.

She has served on many school and church boards and is acutely aware of the financial needs that exist.

Ypsilanti Records Messages for Soldiers

Lake Region - Ypsilanti Church members recorded messages of encouragement, hope and support for service personnel in Saudi Arabia on Jan. 19 after the divine worship service. Ray Young, communication department leader, organized the taping session to add messages to Gospel music for friends and loved ones who were a part of the Desert Storm campaign.

The Adventist Chaplaincy Ministry of the General Conference listened to and approved the release of tapes to the troops. Young learned about the Adventist Chaplaincy Ministry through his contact with Brother Clarence Bracebridge, former director.

As an interview guest on the church's radio broadcast, Brother Bracebridge gave information about the work of Adventist chaplains and solicited our support by way of correspondence. There are approximately 6-8,000 SDAs in the military and about 800 were serving in the Desert Storm Campaign overseas.

Fifteen chaplains served in the ministry and were overseas providing emotional and spiritual support. Chaplains also support families and loved ones, helping them deal with the separation anxiety they experience during wartime.

There is always something we can do. Many need the comfort of a spiritual shelter from the cares and worries of life. Soldiers working in barren fields need to know that daily prayers ascend on their behalf and that a shelter from the Desert Storm is guaranteed through Jesus Christ.

Indiana Conference news notes

• A Valentine Banquet was attended by 60 members of the Cicero Church on the evening of Feb. 10. One of the elementary school classrooms was decorated for the occasion. Musical numbers, a Valentine Trivia game and a hearty meal were included during the evening activities. Jerry Reutebauch is pictured singing at the banquet.

• Caramia Otto and Philip Skoretz were chosen as the Courtesy King and Queen by their classmates at the Cicero school, according to Ramona Trubey, communication secretary of the Cicero Church.

New Adventurer Club for Cicero

Indiana - Twelve children, ages 7-10, were inducted into the first Adventurer Club for the Cicero-Noblesville, IN, churches on Feb. 2. The induction was held during the church service at Noblesville.

Annette McLamb, director of the club, led out as the young people marched in to the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Rachael Sukow provided special music and Pastor Lyle Davis presented the sermon.

Each child lit a candle depicting their spirit of Adventuring as they were inducted into the club. After reciting the Pledge and Law, the charter Adventurers took the Adventurer Oath and received their certificates.

Pathfinders Present Church Service

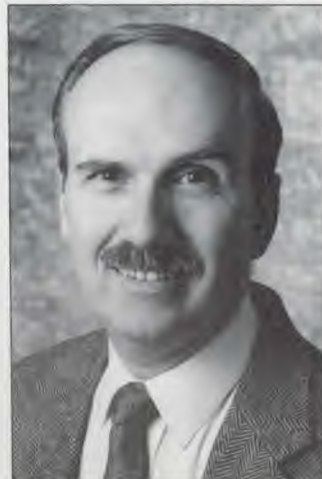

Indiana - The Cicero-Noblesville Pathfinder Club presented the church service at the Cicero Church on Jan. 12 and at the Noblesville Church on Jan. 19. The young people officiated at the service by taking up the offering, telling the children's story, acting as ushers, and providing special music. John Glass, counselor, preached the sermon, focusing on the youth and their ministry in the church.

During the weekend of March 30, the Pathfinders conducted a Camp-In by pitching tents and setting up camp inside the Cicero school. They are also active in working on the "Red Alert Honor" and preparing for the State Camporee and Investiture to be held in May.

Personnel Receive Awards

Andrews University - Awards for achievement and excellence were presented to Andrews University personnel during the annual board of trustees/faculty/staff dinner held Feb. 24.

Louise Dederen, curator of the Adventist Heritage Center from 1966 to the present, received the John Nevins Andrews Medallion. The center is located in the James White Library on campus, and serves as a Seventh-day Adventist archive and research center.

Recipients of Awards for Excellence in Service were Bennett Chilson, director of food service, and Sandra Chilson, payroll supervisor.

The John Nevins Andrews Medallion symbolizes significant achievement in the advancement of knowledge and education by Seventh-day Adventist teachers, scholars and writers. It is the highest non-degree award given by the university.

During her years at Andrews, Dederen has almost single-handedly built an extensive collection of materials relating to the worldwide Adventist Church. The center now houses more than 23,000 books, 2,400 periodical titles, and 10,000 pamphlets. Approximately 100 languages are represented among the publications.

The Awards for Excellence in Service, new this year, recognize individuals who provide excellent service to the university in the non-teaching fields. The recipients, chosen by a committee of staff members, are presented with cash awards and commemorative plaques.

Chilson has been director of food service for the university since 1981. Prior to his work at Andrews, Chilson served as director of food service at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, IL, and Union College in Lincoln, NE.

Mrs. Chilson has been payroll supervisor since 1987. Prior to her current position, she was an accountant for Apple Valley Market, Andrews Industries and the University Medical Center, all in Berrien Springs.

Faculty Awards for Teaching Excellence, which are usually awarded at the dinner, will be presented at a convocation this spring.

Also honored at the dinner were faculty and staff for significant years of employment at Andrews. Honored for 25 years of service were: Mary Jane Cunningham, food service; James Curry, transportation; Gerhard Hasel, seminary; Floyd Kerbs, plant service; S. Clark Rowland, physics; and Robert Wilkins, chemistry.

AU Board of Trustees Re-elects Leshar as President

Andrews University - Andrews University President W. Richard Leshar was re-elected for the quinquennium 1991-1996 at a meeting of the university's board of trustees held Feb. 24 and 25 on the Andrews campus.

Robert Kloosterhuis, general vice president of the General Conference, was re-elected as board chairman.

The board decisions came after the quinquennial corporation meeting, commonly known as the constituency meeting.

Members of the Andrews University corporation voted to reduce membership of the constituency from 579 to approximately 236 people, effective at the next constituency meeting, and to reduce the number of trustee members from 42 to 28, effective immediately. Twenty-eight trustee members were elected to serve for the next five years.

Leshar has served as president of Andrews since May 1984. Prior to joining the administration, he was director of the Biblical Research Institute in Washington, D.C., and general vice president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The trustees approved Leshar's nominations for other university officers, including the vice presidents, other administrators, academic deans, and chairs of the departments. All were standard reappointments with the exception of Douglas Jones, who was newly appointed chair of the English department.

Other trustee actions included approval of a report on the 1991-92 operating budget, and review of the university's audited statements and general institutional finances.

Edward Wines, vice president for financial administration, also reported that Andrews University is operating ahead of budget in the present fiscal year, primarily due to increased enrollment which is up 3 percent over budgeted enrollment and personnel costs that are trailing what was expected.

Wines said Apple Valley Plaza showed an operating profit of $13,000 during fiscal year 1990, its second consecutive gain in 11 years. He reported that during the present fiscal year Apple Valley is continuing to operate at a profit and another gain is expected.

In construction-related matters, Wines reported to the trustees that the Harrigan Hall project is on target financially. Construction is expected to be done June 1, for an estimated cost of $2.45 million. Harrigan Hall will serve as the new College of Technology facility.

Renovations and remodeling of the Old Printers Building will cost an estimated $735,000, said Wines. The building will house Adventist Information Ministry, University Press, the Computing Center, and telephone equipment and offices. Expected date of completion is May 1.

Trustees also voted that the university will not exercise its option of purchasing Rood True Value Hardware, which is located next to Apple Valley Plaza in Berrien Springs. The university sold the property to Rood Hardware Incorporated in 1986.

According to Wines, the deed restrictions for the original sale of the property will continue in perpetuity regarding the prohibition of the sale of alcohol and the use of the property for a retail or wholesale grocery store.

In other matters, the trustees approved a name change from the department of home economics to the department of nutrition and family studies. New faculty and staff appointments were also approved by the trustees.

Andrews Receives Grants

Andrews University - Andrews University recently received grants totaling $91,000 from five separate organizations. Three of these grants were designated for the Community Service Assistantship Program and two for other Andrews programs.

The Whirlpool Corporation of Benton Harbor, MI, contributed $30,000 to be used during the next three years in CSAP's math and science enrichment program. The Ameritech Foundation of Chicago donated $10,000 for the expansion of the same program, which serves 13 elementary schools in the Benton Harbor School District.

The Berrien Community Foundation Inc. of St. Joseph, MI, granted $6,000 to CSAP to provide tuition assistance for students working in senior citizen advocacy in Berrien County.

CSAP provides students to work for non-profit health and human service organizations at no expense to those organizations. In return for their services, students receive hands-on experience and tuition assistance.

The Hearst Foundation of New York donated $25,000 to Andrews' Genesis program, which provides financial aid, child care, counseling and other services that enable single parents to gain a college education. Sixty-eight single parents are currently enrolled in the program, which is now in its third year.

The Amoco Foundation of Chicago pledged $20,000 to the Andrews science department for the purchase of analytical equipment, including an FTIR spectrophotometer.

Green Bay Reaches Goal for 3-ABN

Wisconsin - During 1990 the Green Bay Church raised $60,000 out of a $100,000 goal needed to set up a Three Angels Broadcasting network downlink system in Green Bay.

In February, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Kellogg of Atlanta, GA, asked Danny Shelton, founder and president of 3-ABN, for a needs list of the network. Shelton sent them a long list of needs with the Green Bay downlink included. Brother Kellogg prayed over the list and felt impressed to donate toward the Green Bay project.

Danny Shelton immediately called Marvin Clark, pastor of the Green Bay District and relayed the good news that their goal had been reached and the antenna and other necessary items would soon be installed in Green Bay. Pastor Clark then shared the wonderful news with his excited congregation.

It is expected that the 24-hour Adventist television signal from 3-ABN will extend out from Green Bay to a 30 mile radius and reach a potential of many thousands of people with the Gospel.

Pastor Clark and his congregation are making plans to do several filming sessions at the 3-ABN studio in Illinois which will be broadcast through the Green Bay downlink.

"With cooking classes, Bible studies and family seminars going out to the Green Bay community from a local church," says Pastor Clark, "we hope to attract many of our neighbors to God's house."

Dreams Do Come True

Wisconsin - Grace Jones of Rice Lake experienced a dream come true when on the weekend of Feb. 2, Dr. Hans Diehl, international lecturer, author and heart researcher from Loma Linda, CA, visited Rice Lake and presented a health seminar.

Dr. Diehl's presentations at the 1987 Wisconsin Camp Meeting were instrumental in Jones' choice to completely change her life style. (Jones' story was the July 1990 Herald Story, "Point of Despair" Page 5.)

Since 1987 Jones has avidly told her story to all who noticed the many pounds she had shed. Her dream has been to have Dr. Diehl present a seminar in her hometown.

After praying and planning for many months, Jones' dream was fulfilled. On Sunday, Feb. 2, Dr. Diehl spoke at the Rice Lake Church and David Ousley, mayor of Rice Lake, attended church that day and spoke briefly, proclaiming Feb. 3 "Community Health Day" hereafter in Rice Lake.

Then on Sunday, Feb. 3, Dr. Diehl presented his seminar "Eat More for Better Health" at the Rice Lake High School auditorium for the church and general public.

Follow-up plans include cooking classes in the area.

Senior Wins Medals

Wisconsin - Robert Berger of Wisconsin Rapids recently won two gold and two bronze medals at the Senior Olympics in Battle Creek, MI. Supervisor at Villa Pines Nursing Home in Adams and first elder of the Wisconsin Rapids Church, Berger won golds in the high jump and long jump and two bronze medals in the 200 and 400 meter runs.

This summer Berger plans to compete in the National Senior Olympics in Syracuse, NY, in those events that do not fall on Sabbath. To get ready for this competition, Robert runs each morning before reporting to work at 6 a.m., regularly swims at the YMCA and practices on his own high jump which he built.

Something Better to Eat

Wisconsin - Veggie Taste '91 presented by the Franklin Church in suburban Milwaukee got off to a fine start early in February when a vibrant and excited group of 20 gathered to explore healthful alternatives to the standard fare of Mid-Americans.

Mrs. Dee Kessen of the Germantown Village Church is director and speaker. Kessen not only presents tasty recipes but also shares important principles of nutrition. It is characteristic of Kessen to personally take around and show each person the dish which she is preparing. Add to that the wafting fragrance of cooking food and then the opportunity to sample it! All this contributes to the success of sharing "Something Better to Eat."

A Snowy Retreat for Teens

Michigan - Pathfinder teens came to Camp Au Sable in Grayling from all over the state on the weekend of Jan. 18-20 for fellowship and growth in their relationship with Jesus. Teens and leaders began arriving Friday afternoon and almost everyone was present for supper and the opening meeting.

Pastor Doug Carlson from the Edenville, Estey and Gladwin churches, was the guest speaker for the weekend. Everyone was given an opportunity to make a commitment to Jesus.

Friday evening, Mike Hill Jr. told what it was like to be a part of "Witness Through Roses." Mike was the Lake Union Conference representative on the SDA float in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

The "Teen Mission Impact" teens, under the direction of Kim Willis of Charlotte, presented Sabbath School. Kim was a staff member on the recent Teen Mission to the Dominican Republic.

Sabbath afternoon activities included a visit to the Hartwick Pines, a tour of the Nature Center, hiking and snow sculpture Bible pictures. Saturday night and Sunday became more energetic as teens enjoyed downhill skiing, skating, sledding, cross-country skiing and snowmobile and sleigh rides.

Thanks go to the area coordinators and Camp Au Sable staff for making the weekend a huge success and a memorable experience.

Michigan - The Adventist Book Center in Berrien Springs opened their Feb. 10-15 Remodeling Sale to a parking lot full of enthusiastic customers. By the end of the week, the door prize box was stuffed with customers' names.

Dawn Moser of Hartford won first prize: a three-volume set of the Index to the Writings of E. G. White valued at $69.95. The first-place winner at the Lansing store was Lori Fraser of St. Charles. Lori won a red Radio Flyer wagon and stuffed "Rocky" bear.

Plan now for the annual camp meeting sale in June!

Lansing Juniors Support Service People

Michigan - "Learn all you can from Pathfinders. You never know where on this earth you'll be using these lessons. I never dreamed I'd be in Saudi Arabia," wrote Chaplain Jeffrey Fisher to the juniors in the Lansing, MI, Sabbath School department.

The young people baked more than 300 cookies and sent other goodies and toilet articles to service people through Adventist chaplains serving in the war area. They received a number of replies from the people who received their gifts.

Michigan Conference news notes

- The Alpena Church sponsored a cooking/nutrition school, Oct. 23-Jan. 8, using the New Start Homestyle program from Weimar Institute, CA. The classes were held in the Northwest Michigan Community Health Services building in Alpena, MI. Fifteen guests, plus church members, regularly attended the eight sessions. John Woodhall, Debbie Hayner, Mike Fehik, and Cami Wilke coordinated the program and shared in the demonstration of recipes. Follow-up classes are scheduled.
- Students from 29 Battle Creek, MI area junior high schools recently put their spelling skills together at the annual McDonald's Spelling Bee. Doug Jerzyk of Battle Creek Academy was the overall winner of the bee.
- A stress reduction seminar was held in January at Charlotte by Cleveland Henry, a counselor with the Lansing Public Schools and a member of the Lansing Church. The seminar was designed to help people understand how stress affects them and how to effectively deal with it. Child care and a sign language interpreter were available during the seminar.

Simplicity of the Gospel Wins Souls

Michigan - If you attend evangelistic meetings conducted by Pastor Mark Finley you will not see a lot of preliminaries before the preaching begins.

The Niles evangelistic meetings began a long time before opening night. In order to reap souls, Finley believes that a lot of seed sowing must occur before the meetings begin. A number of activities have been carried on in the Niles Church in the past few months, including a cooking school that was filled beyond capacity and a Revelation Seminar.

Opening night about 700 people crowded into the church and an adjoining room where closed-circuit television viewing was available. On Sabbath two meetings were held each evening.

Part way through the meetings, Finley began holding a special seminar on Sabbath morning for people who had attended the meetings. Church members were asked to attend their regular Sabbath School classes. One hundred thirty-five people crowded into the room set aside for the seminar.

Support by the members has been outstanding and a fully staffed meeting is held for the children each night. Children receive stories each night that relate to some of the materials Finley presents to the adults and they do a craft at the close of their meeting.

Finley's wife, Teeny, is the ever-present-behind-the-scenes assistant that all good evangelists depend on. She takes care of many of the details and gets very involved in Bible studies with some of the interested people who attend the meetings.

In the King's Service

WA - In the local newspaper of my hometown they have recently started a section titled "In the Service." It was initiated because of all the turmoil in the Middle East and the deployment of troops to Saudi Arabia. This column gives a personal profile of each of the soldiers, listing not only where they're stationed, but also when and where they graduated and various awards they may have earned.

This got me to thinking. The entire world is going through a conflict, and it's more important than just oil rights and chemical warfare. It is characterized by hostages, life and death, and is the epitome of a "Holy War."

The battle between good and evil is one in which we are drafted. We have no choice whether or not we are in the war, but we do have a choice on which side to serve.

When my name is listed to be "In the Service," it might say: "Connie Thompson, daughter of Fred and Juanita Thompson and a 1991 graduate of Wisconsin Academy, recently enlisted in the King's Service. Thompson has earned a leadership and literary award, and has been responsible for the recruitment of five area residents for service in the past year. Thompson will be assigned to college for Advanced Individual Training in preparation for active duty in Operation Second Advent."

With the Lord's help, we will be winners in this battle for He has provided us with full armor (See Ephesians 6:10-13).

NHS Inducts New Members

AA - The Alma L. Campbell Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted 11 new members in a ceremony held Feb. 11 at Andrews Academy.

New members are: Hencelyn Labro, Julie Wines, Sabrina Pusey, Megan Stenbridge, Cindy Robinson, Keith Kerbs, Barbara Rowland, Stephen DeWitt, Nicole Pezet, Cara Gillespie, and Monte Puymon.

John Baldwin, associate professor of theology at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, was the speaker at the induction ceremony.

Seniors Recognized

IA - Senior Recognition at Indiana Academy in Cicero was held during the weekend of Feb 2. The special weekend began on Friday night, which also concluded the Student Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Members of the senior class provided the Friday evening vesper service through speaking and music. During this service the freshman class presented each senior with a red rose, the class flower and a short verbal tribute.

"The Pineapple Story," a skit which depicted the story of learning to give your all for Jesus, was presented for Sabbath School. Stan Schone, class pastor, and Pam Ward, class president, were the speakers for the church service. Saturday night the play "Father of the Bride" was featured in the gym.

"IT IS WRITTEN" April 7: On March 24, 1989, the pristine waters of Prince William Sound turned suddenly black and toxic. Pastor Vandeman talks about how God dealt with that original "Oil Spill in Eden" which sent the dark shadow of sin over the entire human race. April 14: On "When Faith Slips Away." Pastor Vandeman shares how we can get a firm grip on a faith which will go through the wear and tear of trial and temptation. April 21: "At the Scene of the Crime." Why did 38 people do nothing one terrible night in New York City as a woman screamed for help and bled to death in the street outside their apartments? Pastor Vandeman describes how people turn from bystanders into rescuers, and explains why each one of us must get involved at the scene of the greatest crime: Golgotha. April 28: On "Overwhelming Evil," author Jerry Johnston shares what he has discovered after traveling North America to research the dark world of Satanism.

"IT IS WRITTEN" May 5: On "The Cruellest Barrier" Pastor Vandeman explains why prejudice wars against the Gospel of Jesus Christ. May 12: On "Good News From China" Dr. Wilbur Nelson, a firsthand China observer, shares unexpectedly good news about the courageous activities of Christians in China. May 19: Don't miss the dramatic World War II story of "One Sailor and God's Sign" and the providential beginnings of the first Protestant church in Guam. May 26: On "An End to Broken Promises" Pastor Vandeman tells the unforgettable story of Ian and Bridget - and the sacrifice of Christ.

MOTHER SAID THERE WOULD BE DAYS LIKE THIS!

The kids are fighting. The house looks like it should be condemned. You're exhausted and ready to send the children to an orphanage. And on top of it all, you're guilt-ridden because Christians aren't supposed to feel this way.

Sound familiar? Sometimes I Don't Like My Kids, by Candace Schap, deals with the frustrations of mothering and gives common-sense suggestions for recovering your joy in the Lord and in your family.

You can come home again!

Coming home is the message of the gospel. No matter how far we may drift from God, we can always come home.

In one of his most hope-filled books yet, Morris Venden shatters the myths about backsliders and denies the idea that it's difficult to be saved. Hard to Be Lost gives the good news that God won't give us up without a fight.

Friends Are Friends Forever

at Great Lakes Adventist Academy

I like singing and playing basketball with my friends at GLAA.

Vidal Harrison

The best thing about boarding school is that your friends are with you twenty-four hours a day. You do everything together, go to classes, study for tests, lounge around the dorm, even pray together. Everyone is a big family.

Jackie Marietta

I enjoy recreation with my friends, and I enjoy touring with Aeros (the gymnastics team), especially to conduct witnessing programs. Also, the teachers at GLAA are my friends too. I don't feel like a number or another student — I feel loved!

Chad Bernard

Talking and being with friends can strengthen you, build your self-esteem, and cheer up your grayest days. I enjoy going with my friends to put on Sabbath services in others churches.

YOU ARE SOMEBODY!

"Mommy, before I was a kid, what was I?" A little boy's question has just opened the door to one of life's greatest truths. The answer will thrill parent and child with the wonderful reality that we have always been loved by God—even before we were born—and always will be. Before I Was a Kid, by Reta Spears-Stewart, gives children the gift of self-worth and the advantage of knowing they aren't here by accident.

Pulse of the Lake Union

Letters to the Editor and personal opinion responses are welcome. Please limit opinions to 400 words and letters to 75 words; include name, city and state. The Lake Union Herald reserves the right to edit all material. Mail to: Herald Pulse, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Letters

Correction: The Herald staff regrets that a letter written to the Adventist Review by Mrs. William Falconer was inadvertently printed in the March "Pulse of the Lake Union" without her permission.

Thank you for the Lake Union Herald.

Below is an interesting incident that recently happened.

Sabbath, Feb. 16, was Mrs. Lily Pryor's 96th birthday and her daughter, Mrs. Julia Potter, brought her to the Decatur, IL, Church. Mrs. Pryor had had a light stroke and Mrs. Potter took her back to the nursing home. But Mrs. Potter left her Bible at the church.

Monday, Feb. 18, Mrs. Potter remembered her Bible was at the church. Upon arriving at the church, she smelled gas. She immediately called a member that lives one-half mile away to come and check the gas furnace units that are on the outside of the church.

The member was glad that he walked over to the church because upon arriving at the driveway, he heard the sound of gas escaping from the meter. He got a wrench and shut off the gas and called the gas company. After what seemed like an eternity, they finally came and fixed the pressure valve that had popped off.

I trust this article will be of inspiration to you.

Thank you for your consistently good and interesting monthly paper which this longtime Michigan resident (total 43 years) values very highly.

I do volunteer work for It Is Written at the Adventist Media Center and we are very happy to have as our new AMC president the former Michigan Conference president, Glenn Aufderhar.

It's simply wonderful being a SDA and personally knowing some of our church leaders, including Elders Aufderhar, Robert Folkenberg and George Vandeman.

Keep up the good work in giving us a fine monthly paper. The covers and articles are timely and excellent.

Global Mission

“... The world is so vast, the task so great,
I am only one person, What can I do?”

Coming to your Church April 27, 1991

For less than the price of one of these...

...you can share God's love and truth with someone you care about for an entire year.

You care about them. They matter to you.

Family members who don't know Jesus as you do. Close friends who are caught up in all sorts of strange beliefs and ideas the Bible doesn't teach. Good people. Decent, friendly people. And you want very much for them to know Jesus as you do.

Have you thought of sending them SIGNS?

For a limited time, you can send SIGNS for just $9.50—less than a single Saturday-night pizza.

Order your gift subscriptions now through the Personal Ministries coordinator in your local church. Or through your nearest Adventist Book Center.

When God sent just one Gift, it made an enormous difference. So will yours.

☐ Please send a twelve-month gift subscription of award-winning Signs of the Times to each of the people listed below. I have enclosed $9.50 for each gift.

Order from your Adventist Book Center or ABC Mailing Service, P.O. Box 7000, Boise, Idaho 83707. Or, simply contact your Personal Ministries coordinator at church.

Make check payable to Adventist Book Center.
