Dear Friends,

Christian education is the primary function of Seventh-day Adventist schools. Religious education is of supreme importance. The purpose of Christian education is to retrace in beauty and holiness the moral image of God which was lost to the child through man's fall.

The ultimate objective is "to restore in man the image of the Maker, to bring him back to the perfection in which he was created, to promote the development of body, mind, and soul, that the divine purpose in His creation might be realized. . . . This. . . is the object of education, the great object of life." Education, pages 15 and 16.

The goal and objective is to develop the spiritual, mental, physical and social aspects of our youth.

Seventh-day Adventists conduct their own schools for the express purpose of transmitting to their children their own beliefs. Christian education is the primary function of SDA schools. The most important thing is to prepare our children for membership in the kingdom of God. Religion must be made the core curriculum around which all other branches of study rotate, and toward which all converge.

In Mid-America, we are blessed with wonderful schools, and dedicated teachers. It is important that we support this necessary phase of our work. Please work and pray and see that every eligible young person is able to attend one of our schools.

Cordially,

Ellsworth S. Reile, President
Mid-America Union Conference

FIRST SETTLEMENT RECEIVED ON DAVENPORT LOANS

Once Upon a Time . . .

(A short parable Adventist parents should read before choosing between public or church school.)

Once upon a time, there lived a very happy family. There was a mother and a father, a little sister and a big brother, and a grandfather.

But Grandfather lived very far away. In fact, the children had never been to see him, but they had heard a lot about him. Mother and Father often talked about how Grandfather could do just about anything—manage a business, repair an automobile, and even build his own house.

“Grandfather is very wise,” Mother and Father would say. “And someday, when you’re old enough, you can take a trip to Grandfather’s house. We want you to meet him and learn from him. He can teach you so much about life.”

Finally, they were old enough! Both children were excited about the new adventure. But now the family had to decide how Brother and Sister would get to Grandfather’s house. This was a major decision. And they had two options.

First, there was the public bus. It was a shiny, double-decker tour bus. It had air conditioning. Padded, reclining seats. Stereo headphones. And several other creature comforts.

But the most attractive thing about the bus was the price of the ticket. It was very reasonable. The cost was well-subsidized by advertisers. Their messages were carried over the stereo system. Four-color display advertising was also posted over each seat.

There was another reason the price of the ticket could be kept so low. The bus company was subsidized by many attractions along its route. From ski resorts to amusement parks, the bus scheduled numerous stopovers. And they really made the trip enticing! However, these “attractions” often turned into “distractions”—and many passengers never arrived at the final destination. Finding the stopovers “just too good to leave”, they stayed. And when the bus arrived at the end of the line, it was often nearly empty.

Now the only alternative to the bus was private car—the family station wagon. The station wagon wasn’t nearly as attractive as the tour bus. And it certainly didn’t have the same luxurious creature comforts! It was an older model, yet it had been kept in good mechanical condition. However, this option had its drawbacks, too. The station wagon really guzzled gasoline! (And gas certainly wasn’t getting any cheaper.) Furthermore, it didn’t have air conditioning. Or a stereo system. It was plain, basic transportation.

The list of drawbacks went on and on. Taking the kids to Grandfather’s house in the family station wagon was going to be a major expense.

Father and Mother had many discussions about the trip. They carefully considered both options. The bus was cheaper and nicer. And the bus station was right around the corner. The kids would meet new people. They’d have some great new experiences while seeing the country. Brother and Sister would certainly receive a broader education on the tour bus than cooped up in the family station wagon.

On the other hand, Mother and Father were a bit concerned about the “distractions along the way”. What if the children found an entertainment so enticing that they decided not to continue their trip? They might never get to Grandfather’s house at all!

Finally the family decided the best thing to do would be to call Grandfather. They’d ask his opinion. After all, he was a very wise man.

They got on the telephone and explained the situation. They carefully listed all the pro’s and con’s of taking the public bus or private car. Grandfather patiently listened to all the information.

“Well, what do you think?” Mother and Father asked.

Grandfather thought for a moment, then quietly answered.

“I guess it all depends on what’s more important—the trip, or arriving at the destination.”

Even Brother and Sister had to agree that Grandfather was a very wise man indeed.

Aurora Church Sponsors Two Special Programs

The Aurora, Colorado Church was privileged to host two special programs that involved every church member. The first program featured C. L. Brooks, of the General Conference Sabbath School Department, and William Peeke, of the Mid-America Union Sabbath School Department. Their

C.L. Brooks,
General Conference
Sabbath School Department

weekend program was entitled "Reclaiming Missing Members" and involved an all-out attempt by the Aurora Church to contact their missing members and invite them to become active in the church once again.

Personal invitations were sent to more than 50 families, inviting them to the Friday evening consecration service, special Sabbath School and worship service, and a fellowship dinner in their honor.

In the afternoon, members went to the homes of those who had received invitations to develop friendships so they would know that the church's concern for them went farther than mere words. After the visits the teams came back to the church for a report meeting. Following this, Sabbath vespers closed a week-end of great spiritual enrichment.

The second program featured Dan Matthews, Director of the Faith For Today television program. This special weekend was entitled "Winning Souls Through the Broadcast Ministry".

The program began Friday evening with a consecration service and continued all day Sabbath with special programs, a fellowship dinner, a panel discussion on the needs of the local church in the area of child evangelism, a showing of the Faith For Today film "John Hus", and a stirring sermon by Elder Matthews. The members of the Aurora Church were greatly blessed through these special programs.

VBS At Holyoke

By Kay Smith

Two sets of twins and one set of triplets were eager participants in the annual Vacation Bible School conducted by the Holyoke, Colorado Church. The young people attended daily from 9:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m., and looked forward each day to the interesting craft program directed by Mary Ann Martin. The 34 children, 10 of whom were church members, brought sack lunches and ate in the park, enjoying the opportunity to be outdoors together. Holyoke is a town of less than 2,000 people, so a program was planned that would include all age groups. The directors were thrilled to see that 10 students, age 13 and over, participated in the youth class regularly, which was taught by two teenage boys. The Friday evening program for the parents was attended by 10 non-member families, who gave most generous support with both enthusiastic and financial assistance.

The Holyoke Church, just 33 members strong, is convinced that this community outreach program is well worth the effort.

Kay Smith is the VBS director for the Holyoke Church.

BAPTISMS AT PUEBLO

Pictured here are Dale Brusett, Mid-America Union Evangelist, and Pastor and Mrs. John Martin, of the Pueblo, Colorado Church, with the group baptized as a result of the recent Revelation Lectures held in Pueblo.

More than 800 people attended the opening night and 70 were baptized. Members of the Pueblo Church assisted in the visitation and meetings and each new member is receiving weekly Bible studies from a spiritual guardian.

NEW CHURCH BUILDING AT PAONIA

The construction of a new church building is well under way in the beautiful mountain community of Paonia, Colorado. The footings are in and the slab has been poured, according to Pastor Lloyd Austin. "What we need now are the services of brick layers and carpenters, electricians and plumbers."

The Paonia congregation numbers only about 20 members. "The receipt of a sizeable donation from a church member in California has given us a good start," comments the pastor. "Now we would like to invite those willing to donate their skills and services to join us in getting the building enclosed before winter comes." The phone number and address are: Pastor Lloyd Austin, Route 1, Box 1872 S-50 Drive, Cedaredge, Colorado 81413, Phone: (303) 856-3540.

Pathfinder Award Given

A special honor was given to Robert Rose by Donald Beans, leader of the Poudre Pathfinder Club, in Fort Collins, Colorado. A good conduct plaque was given for Robert's outstanding behavior, both in and out of Pathfinder meetings. Allan Williamson, Conference Youth Director, and Wanda Kempkes reviewed the activities of the past year of the Pathfinder Club.

Cooking School At Leadville

By Denise Trujillo

Twenty-five people were in attendance at the cooking school conducted in the fellowship hall of the Leadville, Colorado Church.

The school, conducted by Gwen Forrester and Mercy Kennedy, combined lectures, films and demonstrations of vegetarian cooking. Twenty-five cookbooks were sold and a real interest in a more healthful lifestyle was manifested.

The cooking school was co-sponsored by the Upper-Arkansas Community Action Agency, which has already requested another school to be conducted in the near future.

The health and community service work is truly proving to be an entering wedge in Leadville.

Denise Trujillo is the communication secretary for the Leadville Church.

Northern Colorado Dorcas Federation

Faye Campbell from Bradford, Tennessee was the featured speaker at the Northern Colorado Dorcas Federation at the Beebe Seventh-day Adventist School in Fort Collins.

Mrs. Campbell told of her own personal experiences which inspired everyone present. She also challenged everyone, not only Dorcas Society members, to be community-service oriented. Be good listeners, treat others as your friends, accept people for what they are, help them find Christ and help someone, somewhere, every day.

Baptism At St. Louis Central Church

By Shirley Pester

A city-wide evangelism rally by Ken Cox at Powell Auditorium was followed with a fellowship dinner. The dinner was hosted by the Central Seventh-day Adventist Church, and guests included conference representatives, W. D. Wampler, president; D. F. Gilbert, treasurer; and Otis Graves, education director.

After dinner the members moved into the sanctuary where they witnessed the baptism of Joyce Moore. A fellow worker of Joyce's at Normandy South Hospital, Norman Andersen, suggested that Joyce attend a Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking. He encouraged her by accompanying her, and soon she became interested in the spiritual comments as well as the medical information. She completed the Amazing Facts Bible lessons with Norman, and then studied further with Pastor Jack Pester. After careful personal study of each doctrine, Joyce made her decision to be baptized.

Joyce's daughter, Tina, has become involved in the Pathfinder Club and attends church with her mother.

Shirley Pester is the communication secretary for the St. Louis Central Church.

Joyce Moore is baptized by Pastor Jack Pester.

Youth Rallies

Poplar Bluff

More than 200 people were present May 8 at the newly completed Poplar Bluff, Missouri SDA Church for a combined youth rally and Pathfinder investiture. "Living For Jesus" was the theme of the day's program as Ron Scott, youth director, led and coordinated the schedule. W. D. Wampler, Conference President, taught the Sabbath School lesson, and Elder John Thurber, Mid-America Union Youth Director, gave the morning sermon. Youth of the area churches were prominent in all the programs for the day—giving prayer, scripture readings, special musical performances, taking offerings and ushering. The Poplar Bluff choir gave a special number at the 11 o'clock worship service. A potluck meal was served.

Afternoon programs began with a "Spotlight on Sunnydale Academy" with Ray Ostrander, English teacher, and Junior Octubre, a Sunnydale student. Conference departmental leaders gave brief summaries and projections of various programs in the Lord's work.

A Pathfinder Investiture of youth from Poplar Bluff and Sikeston was conducted. At vespers time, several musical numbers were performed by youth and adults, climaxed with John Thurber's second presentation.

The day's activities ended with a sale by the Adventist Book Center.

Kansas City

By Randy Murphy

It is always exciting when there are youth at church. Not only do they show up where the action is, but fun and activity seem to follow them. The Kansas City Central Church teamed with the Iowa-Missouri Youth Department to sponsor a youth rally May 15, 16. It proved to be a very busy and eventful weekend.

Ron Scott, Iowa-Missouri Youth Director, brought together people from all over the country for the rally. Elder Marvin Ponder flew in from Loma Linda, California. Herman Harp drove down from Hinsdale, Illinois pulling a trailer of sound equipment and bringing a technician along. Gene and Marie Jennings arrived from Nashville, Tennessee.

The rally began with Sabbath School and church. Elder Ponder drew everyone's attention to Christ and the two disciples on the Emmaus road.

Elder Scott conducted an investiture service for the church school and Pathfinder children in the afternoon.

From 7:00 to 8:30 the Ponder-Harp-Jennings concert packed the large sanctuary of the Central Church. Following the concert, Harold Zacharias, ABC Manager of Iowa-Missouri, had an attractive book display in the fellowship hall.

Randy Murphy is the pastor of the Kansas City Central Church.

Sioux City Investiture

By June Camarigg

Sixteen young people of the Sioux City Church received badges and awards at the annual Investiture service. Top achiever was Bob Baker, a seventh-grader, who had determined to earn all of the awards he had missed over the years, beginning with the Busy Bee. He completed work for five classes besides earning a number of honor badges.

Other children who received awards were: Unetta Campbell, Busy Bee and Sunbeam; Greg Cannon, Busy Bee; Lant Colburn, Companion;

Tammy Daniels, Companion; Carrie Dyson, Busy Bee and Helping Hand; Jared Greger, Sunbeam; Renae Krueger, Sunbeam; Jill Mears, Busy Bee; Alicia Quigley, Sunbeam; Jason Quigley, Explorer; Angela Schroeder, Busy Bee; Christina Schwab, Busy Bee; Brian Sullivan, Builder; David Van Tuyl, Friend; Catrina Woodson, Friend.

Officiating at the Investiture were Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Hart, administrators of the school, and Mrs. Carole Colburn, Pathfinder director. All of the children participated in the program, and a slide show on camping concluded the evening's activities.

June Camarigg is the communication secretary for the Sioux City Church.

UNION COLLEGE

Longway and Schwisow to Join College Faculty

Ina Longway and Marilyn Schwisow will join the Union College faculty this fall. Mrs. Longway will teach in the Division of Nursing. Schwisow will teach in the Division of Human Development in the social work department.

Mrs. Longway comes to Union College from Birmingham, Alabama, where she has been working on her doctorate. After receiving a bachelor of science degree in nursing from San Jose State University, she worked in several California hospitals. She began teaching nursing courses in 1962 at San Jose State, then moved to Loma Linda University in 1966. Southern Missionary College hired her in 1975 as chairman of the Division of Nursing. She filled this position until 1980 when she began work on her doctorate.

Mrs. Longway has been a nursing curriculum consultant to Allegheny Jr.

Ina Longway

College, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Antillian Union College, Puerto Rico; and Union College.

The subject of her doctoral dissertation is "Early Parenting: Effect of Presence or Absence of Spouse on Parent-Infant Interaction." She hopes to complete her doctorate during the first semester.

Mrs. Longway was born in Singapore and is the daughter of Norma Youngberg, a well-known Seventh-day Adventist author of Children's books. She and her retired husband, Milton, will be coming to Union College in August.

Marilyn Schwisow, of Washington State, will arrive at Union College on July 15. She will teach sociology and social work classes.

Schwisow received her bachelor's degree in social work from Walla Walla College in 1979. She then worked in a Seventh-day Adventist Adoption Agency in Pascoe, Washington.

In 1980, Schwisow began working on a master's degree in social work with an emphasis in planning and administration at the University of Washington. She was graduated in March 1982.

While at Walla Walla College, she was very active in the campus ministries program, coordinating such programs as Branch Sabbath School, Adopt-a-Grandparent, Big Brother/Sister Program, singing bands and others. She has also worked in a nursing home as the activities director, as a volunteer at a Spanish migrants day-care center, as a student missionary in Guatemala teaching health and English, and in the sociology and social work department at Walla Walla College.

Ms. Schwisow was born in the Oregon area and lived there until five years of age, at which time her parents accepted a medical-missionary call to South America.

Ms. Schwisow became interested in social work during her freshman year at Walla Walla. She saw a real need in the social work field for professional Christian leadership.

She has been spending part of her time this summer preparing for her teaching position this fall. "I am excited about coming to Union," she said. "I can't wait to start using the materials I've prepared."

MAN

Your hands make light work! That is, the Holy Spirit has a unique way of working through you to make the light of the gospel real to your neighbor. And all of us working together to share the good news of salvation make the work easier and more effective.

John Grimm, a Seventh-day Adventist electrician in Minneapolis, traveled the same old route to work each day. One day, for some unknown reason, he stopped to pick up a hitchhiker who turned out to be Joe Weber, a freshman psychology major at the University. The ride-sharing became habitual over a period of time as did their discussions of religion. One thing led to another and today Joe is an active, growing member of the Southview Church in Minneapolis. Now this is not to say everyone should pick up hitchhikers in an attempt to witness. But it was the way the Holy Spirit chose to work through John Grimm to reach Joe Weber.

MINNESCO

Y HANDS MAKE LIGHT WORK

No one is too old, too young, too rich or too poor to share Christ's love. The Brainerd Pathfinders are an active group of young people, dedicated to making life a little bit happier for those around them. One of their current projects involves participating in the traditional sunshine bands. (Here Carol Stowell and Greg Terhark are visiting with a senior citizen at Good Samaritan Nursing Home.) But the Brainerd Pathfinders go beyond the traditional to engage in more extensive activities. For example, they also put on an annual Christmas program at the home that is a highlight of the holiday season for both the Pathfinders and the residents. Here is a situation involving two often overlooked and underestimated groups—the youth and the elderly. The Brainerd church has paired them up to form a winning combination!

Surely you remember the saying, "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." The church members in Faribault capitalized on the old cliché eight years ago. They started Nature's Nook, a health food store and juice bar situated in a strategic location right in the hub of downtown Faribault. Nature's Nook is now owned privately by Terry Mills, a Faribault Church member. Terry says the Nook serves an average of 30 patrons daily and it provides an excellent opportunity to spread the gospel message. Four people joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church last year as a result of this sharing. Already this year two more baptisms can be attributed to Nature's Nook. Terry Mills is proof. You don't have to be a preacher, a literature evangelist, or a missionary to share Christ on the job. Business and outreach can be mixed, too.

A synergism occurs when the action of two or more bodies working together is greater than the sum of the actions of each body working by itself. A synergism is in effect in many situations in nature. A synergism is in effect in a company of Korean Adventists that was recently formed in Minneapolis. The eight families in the company felt that by working together they could be more effective in sharing the gospel with other Koreans in Minneapolis. So they have joined forces to have Sabbath School and church services each week for themselves and the non-Adventists who join them. They are ready to do more, but they really need a leader for their little flock. Right now they are searching for a pastor who can organize them for "more definite evangelism".

These four examples are just a sampling of the many ways in which Minnesotans are helping others to know the love of Christ and to have the assurance of salvation. God has a unique place for you in His plan as well. Discover your part and share in the joy of helping others to "see the Light."

TA 1,000 DAYS OF REAPING

Ordained

By Elmer Haas

Phil Johnson and Joe Wesley Gresham, Jr., were ordained on June 11, 1982 at the Dakota camp meeting at Dakota Adventist Academy. Attending and taking part from the General Conference were Charles E. Bradford, vice-president, who preached the sermon, and George E. Knowles, personal ministries director, who offered the prayer of ordination. George W. Liscombe, secretary, gave the charge and Ben J. Liebelt, president of the Dakota Conference, welcomed the men into the fraternity of ordained men. Pictured is President Liebelt along with Joe and Mary Gresham and Phil and Brenda Johnson. The Johnsons are serving the Bowman-New Leipzig District and the Greshams are serving the Dickinson District.

Lynn Edward Schlisner was ordained to the gospel ministry at the Dakota camp meeting held at Huron College on June 18, 1982. Elder Schlisner is a native South Dakotan and has served the Pierre Adventist Church for four years as pastor. Coming from the Mid-America Union were Ron Halvorsen, evangelist, who preached the sermon and Ellsworth S. Reile, president, who gave the charge. George E. Knowles from the General Conference offered the ordination prayer and Conference President Ben J. Liebelt gave the welcome. Pictured along with Elder Schlisner are the Dakota Conference administrators, Errol L. Eder, treasurer, George W. Liscombe, secretary, and Ben J. Liebelt, president.

Elmer Haas is Director of Communication for the Dakota Conference.

Signs Digest

By Sandy Lambert

The Bismarck Church has been busy distributing the special issue of Signs with excellent results. Twenty-one people have requested subscriptions and there have been eight requests for Bible studies.

Two farm wives took it upon themselves to cover the entire city of Wilton, North Dakota, population about 700. Debbie Dimond and Kathy Fischer of rural Baldwin, drove to Wilton and knocked on each door. Together they distributed 215 Signs to people who accepted them. They didn't leave literature with people who said they were not interested.

The ladies are busy with farm duties now, so they have not yet finished the city of Wilton, but plan to do so. "The town is bigger than I first thought," exclaimed Kathy.

Sandy Lambert is communication secretary for the Bismarck Church.

"We Missed You So"

Adah and Clemens Heinrich welcomed their daughter Trudi as she returned from Costa Rica to her home at Bowdle, South Dakota. She went to the Central American Adventist College in Alajuela, Costa Rica to teach English.

Trudi's year in Central America was arranged for by Union College as part of the student missionary program. She will return to Union this fall as a college junior, majoring in social work.

BAPTISM

Cindy Lehmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lehmann, Jr., was baptized June 19 at the Bismarck Church by retired Elder R. R. Patzer.

Cindy says the greatest influence helping her to make her decision to give her life to Jesus was her mother and father. She added the Brentwood Elementary School was also influential.

KANSAS-NEBRASKA

Conference Academy Endowment Fund

By Dwight Mayberry

By Action of the Kansas-Nebraska K-12 Board of Education, the Kansas-Nebraska Adventist Association was asked and authorized to promote and receive gifts to an Endowment Fund for each of our conference-operated academies, namely College View Academy, Enterprise Academy, and Platte Valley Academy. The principal of monies placed in this fund is invested as authorized by the Association Board of Trustees, and the total proceeds of this investment go directly to the respective academy as designated by the donor.

The procedure is very simple: Checks should be made payable to the Endowment Fund of the academy of your choice, and marked "Endowment Fund". These gifts can be outright gifts or they can be revokable. In either case, the academy of your choice receives the monthly income for their operating expenses. In the case of revokable gifts, in a time of emergency the donor may request part or all of the gift to be refunded to him. In the meantime, it is working for your academy, for your boys and girls, for your program of Christian education.

In Nebraska mail your check or request for additional information to Walter Howard, P.O. Box 6037, Lincoln, Nebraska 68506.

In Kansas mail your check or information request to Teddric Mohr, 3440 Urish Road, Topeka, Kansas 66604.

Be sure that the academy of your choice is indicated on all checks.

Dwight Mayberry is the superintendent of education for the Kansas-Nebraska Conference.

Hulda Roper Receives Award

By John Treolo

Hulda Roper was honored recently by the Lincoln Sertoma South Club with their Service to Mankind Award.

Hulda is a retired policewoman, who, with her other civic duties, is serving as Senior Advisor to Lincoln's Good Neighbor Community Center, a post she has held since the Center's inception in 1973.

Center Director, Susan Moon, added that she is an "invaluable asset to the Good Neighbor Center."

The Center is sponsored by the six Lincoln-area Seventh-day Adventist Churches.

John Treolo is Public Relations Director for the Good Neighbor Community Center.

Hulda Roper accepts Lincoln Sertoma South Club's Service to Mankind Award from President Al Thompson.

Hutchinson Vacation Bible School

By Marcedene Wood

The Hutchinson, Kansas Church held a Vacation Bible School June 7-12 with 65 children enrolled, 41 of whom were from non-Seventh-day Adventist homes.

In the opening exercises, Mrs. Andi Nichols, the leader, told character-building stories based on Christ's parables. Besides the Bible and character-building stories in each division—Kindergarten through Junior—the crafts were unusual in that each item made was Christ-centered. The nature studies included a real lamb, goat, talking parrot, and chickens. Mrs. Holly Zenoniani gave a health study one day, and the snacks served were health crackers made from whole grains, carrot sticks, and pure fruit juice (no sugar). The children enjoyed them, and one little fellow asked, "Can we have thirds on carrot sticks?"

The final day was Sabbath when the children attended Sabbath School, and during the 11:00 o'clock hour presented their program of songs and Bible verses following a short sermon by the pastor. A number of the parents of the VBS children were present. The program closed with the presentation of graduation certificates and a picnic dinner served to the children and guests on the church grounds.

Follow-up of the non-SDA children and their parents is being planned.

Marcedene Wood is the communication secretary for the Hutchinson Church.

Enterprise Academy Planting Day

By Jancie Clark

What has come out of the Enterprise Academy greenhouse under the direction of Les Mathis and the E.A. Long Range Planning Committee? To start with it has produced over 70,000 sweet potato plants and 15,000 tomato plants. Those plants helped to make one of the most outstanding days in the history of Enterprise Academy.

Sunday began with a big, delicious farm-style breakfast in the cafeteria followed by worship. The students were divided into teams under the supervision of the faculty and other adults who volunteered their time. Around 8:00 the teams were in the field. Tractors hauled loads of the tomato and sweet potato plants from the greenhouse to the field, which is north of town. After Les Mathis demonstrated how to plant the plants, the team set to work.

Planting tomato plants

About 130 people were spread out over the field planting—tomatoes on one side, sweet potatoes on the other. Some bell peppers were also planted. It was a heart-warming sight. "The students worked hard and exhibited a beautiful, positive attitude. I was very proud of them," stated one of the adults.

Incidentally, the field also contains some corn, onions, Irish potatoes, eggplant, cabbage, broccoli, and cauliflower. Now one can stand on the little hill and gaze out over the rows of sweet potatoes, tomatoes, bell peppers, and other plants. Mathis plans to plant a few other types of plants later, and also get the other three greenhouses producing. (Mathis has directed this project on top of managing his other business, a welding operation called Mid-Kansas Industries, which he moved to E. A. this year.)

Thank you to the kind people who donated their energy for the good of Enterprise Academy. Thank you for the Les Mathis family and the other members of the E.A. Long Range Planning Committee. Thank you for the potential of financial increase from the fruits of the plants. Les's wife, Myrtle, summed it up in her gentle way, "We're thankful for how greatly the Lord has been blessing."

Jancie Clark is the communication secretary for the Enterprise Church.

HIGHLIGHTS

A Sincere Need At Oakwood College

Nearly 1450 youth were enrolled at Oakwood College at the beginning of the 1981-82 school year. The college was able to provide work for 1000 of those. One of the greatest needs at Oakwood is to provide productive jobs for students when school opens in September, 1982. Recently the college board voted to develop an industrial park near the campus. Some industries have shown an interest in establishing plants at Oakwood to provide jobs for students. The August 14, 1982 Oakwood College Offering will assist greatly in getting this much-needed project started. Oakwood College expects 1500 students for the new school year, 1982-83. With government aid cut so drastically, Oakwood will need jobs to assist these students.

Thanks for your splendid support in years past; the goal for this offering is $300,000.

Seventh-day Adventists—People Helping People

The World's Fair held in Knoxville, Tennessee from May through October affords Seventh-day Adventists a very outstanding opportunity to witness to the 60,000 who pass through the gates each day. The church's booth, manned at all times by six people, is located in one of the best locations on the grounds. The functional exhibit presents the theme "Seventh-day Adventists—People Helping People Around the World."

The booth provides space for a small theater with a 10' by 10' screen for showing a film on the history and mission of the church. It is estimated that some $70,000 worth of literature will be given away at the booth. An appeal is going out all across North America for people to be involved in this project.

Total fixed costs of the booth at the fair amount to $250,000. People are interested to learn that the booth costs $125 per square foot. Our members who are traveling in this area are urged to visit the fair booth. Contributions may be sent to "SDA Church World's Fair Project", P.O. Box 1982, Collegedale, Tennessee 37315. A letter of acceptance and a receipt will be sent to donors.

College and Small Classes... do they compute? Union College says, "YES. Literally."

Union College classes, each of a size small enough to receive individual attention, have literally started to compute. And, with the integration of computing* into the curriculum, Union College reinforces its position as an academic innovator, proving that both high tech courses and small classes can be compatible in today's college environment.

Although not unique in the field of computer instruction, Union is an innovator among colleges in this area, providing on-line time with no restrictions to students on use of the computer. Computing will be in place this fall as an elective, taught by Director of Academic Computing, Fred Galusha. In subsequent years, this course will be a requirement.

Meantime, with a student body just under 1,000 and faculty and staff of nearly 200, small, uncrowded classes continue at Union College, and each student receives valuable personal attention. UNITE, an innovative financial aid program, is available to make college affordable for all students.

Union is the College of the Golden Cords. And the student that selects it joins a great extended family that starts in Lincoln and stretches around the globe with Golden Cords that hold yet yield, bind yet bend.

Call Leona Murray at Union College 1-800-228-4600 for more information.

*Union's technology includes a computer solely for student use with 40-plus terminals on campus offering an exceptionally good computer terminal/student ratio.

Hot-diggity!

New Corn Dogs from Loma Linda

Hot dog on a stick! What a taste thrill for kids of all ages!

To make new Corn Dogs, Loma Linda takes great tasting meatless weiners and dips them in wholesome flavorful corn batter. All you do is sizzle them quickly in your deep-fat fryer, or just heat in your oven or microwave until they're crunchy and hot.

Then watch them disappear as kids and grown-ups reach out and dig in. New Corn Dogs are that easy to prepare, that simple to eat for great on-the-go lunches. New Loma Linda Corn Dogs are just dog-gone good!

Look for them in the frozen food cabinet of your favorite market.
