THE BIG BEND COUNTRY

Accompanied by my wife, I recently took a ten day trip through the Big Bend country. After spending Sabbath and Sunday in Spokane we left Monday morning on our journey. We spent a few hours in Cheney and reached Sprague in the evening. Besides these places we visited Davenport, Harrington, Odessa, Neppel, Worden, Lind, and Washtucna. Besides visiting many of our isolated members and companies we disposed of five hundred twenty-five books of the World's Crisis series. Two hundred ninety-two of these, Mrs. Grandy sold on the streets of the towns visited.

We had some interesting experiences; among them a night spent in the road with the car stuck fast in the sand. Under the strain of trying to get out, the "go-ahead" part of the gearing gave out. One night was all we could afford to stand still, so the next morning, after repeated efforts, we managed to "back out" of the sand and six miles more into the town of Worden. While I wouldn't recommend this way of traveling, yet we certainly enjoyed the trip—especially as we had been informed that it would cost us at least twenty-five dollars to get towed into town and have the brakes lined. It never pays to stand still even when you're stuck.

Better back up and get a new start when you can't go ahead.

From the time we left Spokane, until we crossed the Columbia on our way home, we did not see a running stream. The only wet spot we saw that was bigger than a well was Moses Lake. This lake is over eighteen miles long and several miles wide. Neppel, where one of our youngest churches was lately organized, is on the banks of Moses Lake. We spent the Sabbath at Neppel and during the service called the attention of the brethren to the $10,000 emergency fund. A liberal response was the result.

One family, whose place has suffered greatly owing to the lack of water caused by a faulty irrigation system, did not see how they could make an offering. In faith though they finally pledged ten dollars. Going down to the lake, after the Sabbath, one of the girls discovered that the carp were running in the little bay that comes up in their land. Hastening to the house, she secured help and with the team and fish net the family soon "towed" in nearly four hundred fish. These they sell for five cents each about one cent per pound, to the fish companies that operate on the lake. In this way, the pledge was raised and something left besides. The Lord provides for his people who are willing to sacrifice for his cause.

It might be of interest to know where these fish go to. They are packed alive in ice and shipped in car load lots to New York where it is said that they arrive ready for market still alive. B. M. Grandy

BIG WEEK NOTES

Through the splendid efforts put forth by our faithful colporteurs, Upper Columbia book sales during the Big Week soared above the two thousand dollar mark. As far as our records show, this is the record week in the history of the book work in our conference. To those of our workers "whose names are thus inscribed on the escutcheon of fame," we know there must come feelings of satisfaction, and the real pleasure of success.

We certainly appreciate the hearty response of our colporteurs to the call of special effort for the Big Week. The splendid effort that has put Upper Columbia "over the top" was accomplished in the face of adverse circumstances. It seemed that the elements together with the adversary conspired to defeat our small army of invincibles. Old Sol poured forth his rays in unrelenting intensity as if he were trying to melt the landscape. But this did not prove an obstacle to the Upper Columbia boys. Another thing that conspired to defeat the big week was sickness. This proved a real handicap to two or three of our small force. This will explain the absence of some reports that otherwise would have added to our already good showing. But in spite of these obstacles we conquered. And we take this occasion to thank all whose efforts have contributed to this fine week's showing.

We print in its entirety, Brother Biggs' report for the Big Week. There are several features about this unusual report that make it of special interest. Any one of the six days reported would make a fair weekly report. We might add that a large per cent of these orders were taken after the supper hours. There is a point in this worth grasping. Where this work was done, was not virgin territory, but a district where a large number of "Practical Guide" had been sold before, and what's more Upper Columbia has plenty of territory just like it.

A glance at the Big Week report shows that it is not necessary to leave your own conference to get "good picking." There is pretty good pasture in old Upper Columbia. It is interesting to note that the territory in which these best records were made is the territory where we had planned to send some of our boys, but they had been informed that it was no good. "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these 'It might have been.'"

Your field agent regrets that on account of sickness he was able to get in only four and one-half days canvassing during the Big Week. An attack of pleurisy put him entirely out of commission after he had, by straining a point, gotten in the traditional forty hours.

Well, Boys, it looks like we'd have to take our hats off to Biggs. Biggs evidently is no respecter of persons or of "feelings" or he would exercise more care about quitting his desk job to pull off such audacious stunts as selling over five hundred dollars worth of books in 49 hours. Come to think of it, audacious is hardly an adequate term. As Wall Street said when Wilson beat them to the White House, "what right has a designing old school marm to run for president any way;" so we say, what right has a Tract Society man, who "knows nothing about selling books" to jump out on some auspicious occasion and snatch the laurels away from some of us veterans who know all there is to know about selling books. Audacity! it's an outrage on precedent, and Biggs ought to be voted a censure, and not allowed abroad. Further, if the splendid records of the bookmen are thus to be imperiled by an "ordinary" desk man, action should be taken by the proper authorities to put a stop to it.

Some of the smaller reports appearing in this report are occasioned by poor prospects for crops in certain districts. Brother Liljenberg has sent in some splendid reports in the past, and as soon as he gets into a more favorable territory we can look for good reports from him. Brother Culver is also working in a burnt district, but he is doing excellent service, and is staying by the work.

We wish to call attention to the fine showing made by Brother Terwilligar with "Great Controversy." Thirty-seven hours and $138 is prima facie evidence of salesmanship ability.

A new Starr of first magnitude has recently blazed into view. Look for it in the constellation of Oscar. This name will sound familiar to Walla Walla College students.

Brother John Roberts is a new acquisition to our bookman's force. His first report appears in the Big Week. If this is the way he is going to start out, what will he be doing a little later.

"Where have they gone to, the little girls,
 With laughing eyes and with stunning curls?"

They are conspicuous for their absence in our Bookman's Band. Sister Grandy appears to be the only representative of the gentler sex in our territory who has responded to the colporteurs' work, and if the results that Sister Grandy produces is a representation of what the sisters can do, then Upper Columbia is losing a lot of good business by not having more of the sisters in the book work.

Those of us who feel a little chagrined at Brother Biggs putting it over us will get some satisfaction out of the knowledge that the effort put him in the hospital for two or three days. Serves him right. The doctor diagnosed his case as some kind of fever, but the Field Agent diagnoses it as a pernicious attack of superincontradistinguishabilitiveness. Prognosis very unfavorable.

As far as we are able to ascertain, the sale of $521 worth of books in forty-nine and one-half hours by an individual colporteur is the best that has been done on the Pacific Coast. This is an average of over ten dollars and fifty cents per hour.

It would appear that Sunday is an all right day for presenting "Practical Guide" to the people. $126 worth of P. G. sold on Sunday is pretty good proof of this. Sunday is a day when the Boss is to be found at home, and as he is the one that handles the finance, there is an advantage in seeing him. Of course, there might be some objection in handling our Gospel books on the day that is so generally observed for religious services, but we have no hesitancy in recommending work on Sunday with "Practical Guide." Try it.

When King Arthur was outclassed in the tournament by Lancelot he got a lot of satisfaction out of the fact that he had knighted that invincible champion of the rough life. Do you get the connection?

We gratefully acknowledge the Lord's blessing in the good work that has been accomplished by our faithful colporteurs. In a thousand ways we see his intervening and prosperous hand, and to him be all the glory. Our prayer is that the work that has been done may advance the cause of the Kingdom.

PATEROS, WASH.

I have just returned from the upper Methow valley where I have been putting our truth-filled literature into the homes of the people. There I met honest souls who are seeking light.

As July 3 to 19 was set apart as a special week for the distribution of our literature, I endeavored to put in extra time and can report good sales during the week although for two days I found it difficult to get into the houses, but I kept on trying until Friday then made an extra strong pull.

I had an invitation to attend Sunday school which I accepted, and succeeded in getting the leaders interested in the Present Truth series which they agreed to read in their Sunday school for an after meeting. They asked me to teach a class which I did. We had an interesting study. Two of the heads of families ordered Present Truth. I know the Lord has honest ones and surely does direct the colporteur in finding them.

Pray for the colporteurs.

POST FALLS, IDAHO

The meetings at Post Falls have been in progress for three weeks and while prejudice has been very strong from the first, we believe there are a few honest souls who will accept the truth and for these we thank God.

Some are too prejudiced to enter the tent but we are pleased to see them seated on the side walks outside, behind wood piles, trees, etc. that they may hear the sermons. We trust that even these may allow some seed to fall where it will bear fruit for eternity.

Some are so interested that they say they cannot stay away or miss one meeting.

Pray for us that God will bless us in helping all such to decide for him.

WESTERN WASHINGTON ACADEMY

The work on the academy at Auburn is progressing nicely. The administration building and boy's dormitory is about ready for the lathers and the girl's dormitory will be ready for them in a few days. The brethren on the job are working overtime in order that the school can be open on time. A supreme effort is being made at this time and our first consideration is to place the dormitories and dining room and kitchen in complete readiness so that each student can be properly cared for. Those who plan to give towards the school or pay pledges will confer a special favor if they pay now so that nothing will come in to hinder the construction work.

God has wrought for the school in many ways and there is no apparent reason why the Western Washington Conference will not be able to throw open to its young people, September 17, the doors of as fine and well-equipped academy as any in the denomination. None should fail to avail themselves of the coming camp meeting that is to be held on the academy farm. You need this spiritual feast; also you will want to see the new school.

I am glad to announce that the school calendars are ready for distribution. Send your address to the academy and we will forward you one. Every Seventh-day Adventist family in the conference especially those having young people should have the calendar. Those planning to attend the school should send in to me the application blank found in the back of the calendar properly filled in so that we can make definite arrangements for your accommodation.

VANCOUVER

We are now, July 27, nearing the close of our public effort, after more than five weeks of nightly services. The final meeting will be held July 29. The attendance and interest during the latter half of our campaign have been much better than during the first half. On the night when the "Seal of God versus the Mark of the Beast" was presented, and when the "Call to Supper" was given, at least twelve persons, all adults, publicly expressed their purpose to keep the Sabbath and to bring their lives into harmony with all the other truths of the message.

Others have assented to the truth of the message, but have not yet the courage to promise loyalty to their convictions. They, of course, need further help, instruction and encouragement. We are hoping that one or two devoted gospel workers will be located here for the purpose of helping the local church and binding off the good interest we leave here. The truth has surely found some fine people here, for which we praise God. The offerings have been more than enough to meet our current expenses.

NEWS NOTES

H. E. Loop was a caller at the office this week.

The dining tent will be in evidence on the ground as well as the store, and every convenience will be provided to make our people as comfortable as possible.

Brother Phillip Nelson has just started to the field with Practical Guide, planning on selling enough to make his scholarship before school starts.

Brother T. M. Cole is handling Practical Guide in Clark County. He is planning on working until he starts for the Fiji Islands the last of the year.

Brother R. C. Bergman who of late made his first attempt at canvassing is working in Clallam County and in seventy hours took $213.00 worth of orders. This is encouraging.

Brother Harold Kahler who has been canvassing with Practical Guide for a scholarship at Walla Walla College has reached it, and is now working for eleven weeks.

Brother Angus Loop has just completed a successful delivery of the orders he took during the Big Week. He is continuing canvassing for Our Day in Pacific County.

Brother Ritzenthaler who is working in Everett will soon have placed seven hundred fifty Purple Hites and some World War in that city, and plans on moving to Bellingham about the 9th of August.

Elder G. W. Pettit recently from India, as well as Brother Harold Oberg of Korea will be visitors at this meeting and lend their influence to enlarge our vision of the needy fields abroad.

Elders Piper, Murrin, Davis, Conway, and Rittenhouse, and T. L. Copeland, and Lyle Wilcox are visiting the churches in the conference in the interest of the new Western Washington Missionary Academy.

Miss Lila Egan who has been connected with the work in the conference office is leaving, and Miss Norma Landry of Bellingham, is taking her place. Miss Egan expects to attend the Western Washington Missionary Academy this coming year.

Brother Lawrence, Brother Harris, and Brother Lehto are still selling small books in Seattle. Brother Lehto reached the high mark of one hundred Perplexities in eight hours. The boys are ordering more books and working steady.

The book tent will be an interesting feature of the camp ground this year and all the latest publications will be on display. One thousand dollars worth of Bibles have been ordered for this meeting so that all can be supplied.

The effort in Seattle was started on Sunday night, July 13, with an attendance of approximately a thousand people. Since that time a weekly attendance has kept up very well with a live interest. It is hoped that there will be fifty or more take their stand for this blessed truth. The spirit of God is surely working on the hearts of the people of the world. The honest are being converted which is a joy to all who have faith in the soon coming of Jesus.

The time is almost at hand for our people to assemble on the camp ground. We are looking with unusual interest to this meeting inasmuch as it will be held on the Academy grounds near Auburn. In order to accommodate our people we are arranging for one hundred tents from the other conferences. Some of the workers are already on the grounds starting preparations for the meeting. In order that the camp may be fully provided with the fresh spring water a twelve thousand gallon tank is being installed. Special arrangements are being made for jitney service during the meeting. It will not exceed twenty-five cents for passengers and the usual charge for trunks and baggage. A large number of orders for tents has been received and we would suggest all who are interested in having a tent for this meeting to place their order at once with T. L. Copeland, Room I, Lippy Bldg., 3rd and Columbia, Seattle, Wash.

JOY IN SERVICE

The following is a letter from one of our faithful colporteurs after he had spent his first week in the field.

He tells of finding a few scattered Adventists, who had not been assembling for meetings for some time, and tells of his experience in getting them together for services. He finally got together a company of about twenty. Following are his own words.

We certainly got a rich blessing from our meeting yesterday. We will have them each week.

"The harvest truly is ready for me here and I intend to put in the sickle and work courageously as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. I have attained a closer fellowship with my Maker this week for which I am thankful. Of course there has been many hardships and temptations, but the Bible says that tribulation worketh patience and patience is one of the strong characteristics of a fruit bearer. I can, in a good measure at least, see the power and comfort which comes to one when his heart is constantly uplifted to Him for guidance and help. His promises are certain, and the fulfilment thereof sure providing we do our 'Reasonable service.' Our reasonable service according to the Holy Word is to 'Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.' Romans 12:1.

"My courage is good. And I intend to go forth working faithfully, as in the sight of heaven.

"Remember me to my fellow-workers and brethren, and tell them that my love and best wishes and prayers are with them all in Christ Jesus.

"Have you any suggestions to give me? I will appreciate all the pointers you have to offer.

"I will expect to hear from you often and, by the way, you are coming up here in a couple of weeks aren't you? Would be glad to see you.

"Well I close wishing you the blessing of Him who has promised to be with us always even unto the end.

"Yours for the finishing of the work,
Adlai A. Esteb."

The above is a sample letter from one of our faithful colporteurs. These workers are having some wonderful experiences in their work of visiting the homes of the people to place our truth filled literature before them. We have reached the time when people are asking "What do these things mean"? If there ever was a time when we should place ourselves in the Lord's service it is now.

Heaven knows no "Conscription." If we enter King Jehovah's ranks we must enlist. He extends the invitation to you to come. Will you respond? When he has made the supreme sacrifice for you are you willing to do so little for him? Do you hear his gentle pleading voice saying "COME"? ARE YOU WILLING?

NEWBERG

During the past few weeks, we have been conducting a tent effort in this place. Elder A. R. Bell, who has recently come to our conference from Ohio, has been the principal speaker.

We have had some opposition in a public way, through the pulpit and the press. This has assisted by calling the attention of some to the truth who otherwise might not have known of it. We have not yet finished presenting the vital points of our faith, so cannot tell what the results will be, but there seems to be some real interest.

Our Sabbath school membership has reached the one hundred mark, and on Rally Day, July 12, there were one hundred twenty-five in attendance. A year ago when our attendance was seventy, we thought it was especially good. We are glad for this gain, and hope that as a result of our present effort, there may be a further increase.

HERE AND THERE

Bro. Blackenburg passed through Portland Thursday on his way from Bend where he has been laboring, to connect with the effort at Lebanon being started by Elder Ernston.

Elder Cottrell spent Sabbath, July 26 with the church at St. Helens and Elder Hibbard with the church at Hood River.

The pipe for the new heating system is on the ground and the big 60 h. p. boiler will soon be on hand. The route for a pipe line from a copious spring has been surveyed and work on the excavation for the pipe has been begun. This water system, being installed at considerable expense, will provide an abundance of the finest soft water for domestic, irrigating, and possibly power purposes so that the institution may be provided with electric lights.

Brethren Appel and Bishop are still at Bend and apparently the interest is growing. The other ministers of the city are preparing to review the Sabbath question which likely will be a good advertisement for the tent meetings. Elder Hibbard is going over for a few days to assist in replying to the objectors.

Laurelwood Academy

Professor Kay was a recent caller at the office. He says that the construction work at the academy is progressing and that they expect to have the new chapel ready for use by September 17 when the new term of school begins.

The prospects for a large attendance again this year is good. The students will find greatly improved facilities. It is not too late to address Principal Kay with reference to the school for the coming year.

South Beach

Brother R. Dustin writes: "The prospects at South Beach looked rather discouraging at first. New ones are added to our company each evening so we feel much encouraged at present. We desire your prayers that some fruit may be garnered at this place."

Prof. Colcord has returned from the summer school at College Place. He met with the St. Helens members Wednesday evening in the interests of the church school work.

A GOOD EXPERIENCE

A few days after school closed at Laurelwood Academy I started out to canvass for Practical Guide in Yamhill County. The last house I called at on May 27, I sold one of our twenty-five cent books to a man about seventy years of age. Two weeks later I met him and he said the book was worth $5.00 to him. A few weeks later I heard that the man was very much stirred up by the little book, so I decided to call on him again. I found him reading "Captive and Restoration of Israel." He told me that he had been opposed to Seventh-day Adventists, and had always felt they were wrong; but now he feels that we are right. Upon his request I gave him a Bible reading on the Spirit of Prophecy and also on the Sabbath. He feels that we have the truth for these times, and intends to study further into our faith.

We never know who will receive our message through the printed page. Pray for the canvassers as they go from house to house.

WEISER

I came to Weiser on the 15th of July and found Brother Lumper and Brother Leedy already pitching our tent for the effort. Our tent is pitched in a beautiful location on the corner of State and Court Streets in the very heart of the city. After distributing six hundred bills, putting fifty window cards in the business houses of the town, and putting in a large display ad in the paper, also a notice of the meeting which was written up by the editor, we commenced our meeting Friday night, July 18, with an attendance of about sixty, mostly outsiders. There are only a few Adventists in this place. The following Sunday night the elder and home missionary secretary and others of the Ontario church and an auto load from Payette were in attendance at the meeting, and assisted us with a beautiful quartette, which was appreciated very much.

There were about one hundred fifty in attendance that night. The congregation has been ranging in numbers since then from seventy-five to one hundred until last night, July 29. We had an attendance of about one hundred twenty-five. They listened attentively to the presentation of the subject, "The Great Struggle Between Capital and Labor or Heaven's Answer to Earth's Great Problems." They seemed to receive it with different emotions. One man said he wanted to say "Glory." A lady told me at the close of the meeting that she wanted to clap her hands for joy, while another man, as he shook hands with me at the close of the meeting, broke down and cried like a child; while others asked us to pray for them.

There seems to be quite an interest in the meetings and we trust that God will give us some souls for our hire at Weiser. Our tent company consists of Brother Lumper, Brother Leedy, my niece Miss Thurston, who is playing for us, and the writer. Asking your prayers that God may give us success, we are as ever

Watch the Gleaner for the good reports which are coming in each week from the colporteurs.

Elder J. W. Norwood has been in Portland during the past week attending the Portland Sanitarium Board meeting and looking after other items of business.

Elder R. W. Airey called at the office the first of the week on his way to College Place, Washington, to attend the Educational Council.

Brother C. D. Striplin was in the office Wednesday, July 30, and reports a good interest in the tent effort that is being held at Nampa.

We have received good reports from all five of the tent companies which are located at Aberdeen, Ida.; Pocatello, Idaho; Nampa, Idaho; Weiser, Idaho; and Prairie City, Oregon. We are expecting good results from each one of these efforts.

BAKER, OREGON

Brother Siber and family met with the Union church Sabbath, July 12.

On the Midsummer offering Sabbath, we enjoyed the readings prepared for that day. Our offering was $18.71.

Recently Brother and Sister Bell of Cove, and daughter, Mrs. Kellogg, visited the Baker church. Mrs. Katie Bell-Kellogg of Kansas is spending the summer months with her parents.

There are several new faces at church. Some of these first heard the truth at McEwen where Sister Hamer has labored so faithfully in her daily life.

Good reports of the work at Prairie City are coming from the members of the Baker church that are connected with the tent company there.

Sabbath, July 26, Elder Norwood gave the Baker church an unexpected but very profitable visit. In the morning meeting, after briefly explaining the Educational and Equipment Fund, Elder Norwood took up the subject, of the importance of daily Bible study. By questions on doctrinal points, he soon had everyone demonstrating their need of more study on these vital truths. In the afternoon the meeting was continued. All expressed the thought, that the help they had received that day was meat in due season.

OBITUARIES

Carnahan—In the winter of 1907-8 Bro. S. H. Carnahan and Sister Ida Fischer-Carnahan were among the charter members to the Walla Walla College Foreign Mission Band, and went to Cuba in 1908. Mrs. Carnahan was the eldest daughter of Elder John F. Jones of Maryland who died a few years ago at Milton, Oregon. After earning her own way through some years of schooling at Battle Creek and Union College, she with her husband, Albert M. Fischer entered Porto Rico as our pioneer workers there, where Brother Fischer soon succumbed to typhoid fever. For some time she was connected with Eld. B. E. Connerly and wife who went to augment the work there.

During the two winters 1906-7-8 she took up some special College and Sanitarium work at College Place. Since then she has been almost incessantly engaged in teaching in Cuba in self-supporting or conference mission schools; and during some of the few vacations has had charge of the lady canvassers in Cuba. And too many days and nights she was called upon to care for the sick in the homes of the people or at the school home. So her labors were very arduous and ardently entered into. Hence her life was, really a victim to overwork, given as a sacrifice to the cause she loved.

She fell asleep in death July 4, 1919 and was laid to rest in the cemetery (Continued on page 8)

STUDY AT HOME

If you can not go to school, you can study at home and make as good improvement as you could in school, in proportion to the time you can devote to study. The certificates of credit of the Fireside Correspondence School are recognized by all Seventh-day Adventist schools and probably by other schools. Form the habit of home study. The President of the General Conference says, "I believe your school is conferring an inestimable benefit upon our people." Write for information about subjects, prices, and how to earn your tuition. Address C. C. Lewis, Principal, Fireside Correspondence School, Takoma Park, D. C.

CAMP MEETINGS

Southern Oregon -----Aug. 12-17
Ashland

Western Washington--August 21-31
Auburn, Wash.

Montana -----Sept. 5-14

sion is to rally the largest number possible of our boys and girls into our schools of all grades. We are living in solemn times. Nearly one-half of our boys and girls of school age are either attending secular schools, or not in school at all. They need the special help that our own schools can give them, and the cause greatly needs additional recruits for labor that can be developed in these schools.

Suitable readings have been prepared for all the churches, isolated companies, and members. These readings are already off the press and have been mailed out to church elders, educational secretaries and superintendents, normal directors and the heads of our colleges and academies. They will go also to our foreign fields. If any miss receiving these, who desire them, we can still supply a few.

There is no reason why this should not be the greatest Educational Rally we have ever had. Let everyone pray and work to this end.

THE CIVIL SABBATH

This spirit of liberty has given rise, not only in the States, but in English-speaking countries generally, outside of Great Britain proper, to political systems designed to guarantee religious liberty and separation of church and state. In the United States especially, the legality of Sunday laws has been assailed in the courts on the ground that being a religious institution it could not be rightfully enforced by civil government. It was this that led to the discovery of the "civil Sabbath;" for not until the right of Sunday laws was challenged did anybody so much as hear of the "civil Sabbath" as something so separate and distinct from the religious Sabbath, that while the latter could not be the subject of civil legislation, the former might properly be enforced alike upon all by fine or imprisonment.

It is so difficult to lay aside prejudice, to step outside of one's self, as it were, and to look at any subject in a perfectly impartial light, that it may assist us in getting at the real principle involved to take for illustration some other institution with which we are less familiar, or which, at least, we have not all our lives been accustomed to see enforced by civil law. Suppose, for instance, that in the State of Massachusetts, which has a very large Roman Catholic population, a demand should be made upon the Legislature, not only to make Good Friday a legal holiday, but to make it a legal holy day, enforcing its observance as Sunday observance is enforced, forbidding under penalty labor and business,—and suppose that such a statute were really enacted, being worded as nearly as possible like Sunday laws, now so common, prohibiting "secular labor" and "business," or "all labor and business, works of necessity and mercy only excepted," or "works of religion and charity only excepted," as it reads in the codes of some States; could anybody be made to believe that the day thus set apart was not a religious day, or that the act setting it apart and requiring its observance was not religious legislation?—Most certainly not; and nobody supposes for a moment that the courts would sustain such an act. And yet Good Friday, enforced by civil law, would be just as truly civil as is the legal Sunday of English and American law.
