Improvement in Our Mission Funds

The later reports bring to us great joy as they indicate an improvement in our mission funds. We hope by the end of this year to see a very decided advance in the various funds that go to make up our forty-cent-a-week fund. There is some improvement in the Sabbath school offerings. We are hoping, however, to see a decided improvement in our contributions to missions in the Sabbath schools. The various other offerings that go to make up our general mission funds are on the increase. We have reasons to believe that our Harvest Ingathering this year will bring in many thousands more than was realized a year ago.

The response of our churches throughout the field has been most heartening. We know that many sacrifices are being made and most earnest endeavors are made by the membership of our churches to meet the urgent needs of this hour.

We are leaving within a few days to attend the Autumn Council of the General Conference committee at which time there will be worked out the budgets for all of the great mission fields. This will be done in the face of a greatly decreased operating reserve in the General Conference, and every increase that we make out in the field will prove a great encouragement as we deal with this problem.

I like to think of our work as something that is ever to increase and strengthen. I cannot think for a moment that the progress of this cause is to be hindered or slowed down. There will be great difficulties, but the Lord's work is to be speeded up and hastened on. These difficulties that appear from time to time are only brought as a challenge to those who love the cause of God to meet the emergency.

We are also encouraged to see a decided improvement in tithe receipts. As a rule our people throughout the field are faithful in this matter. It should be understood by our church members that a large per cent of the tithes paid into the church treasury is set apart for foreign mission work. I well remember the time when each local conference consumed all of its tithe receipts within its field, excepting the ten per cent that was sent on to the General Conference. Now, in some instances the amount of tithe sent on by the local conference to the union and General Conference amounts to nearly fifty per cent. This has been made possible through careful management and economy, and our conference leaders have in a manly and laudable way managed the work so as to maintain a good strong work in the field, although the amount of funds and number of laborers had been decreased. Really, it is most encouraging to think that this past year represents the largest ingathering of souls of any time in our work. I believe that it is a proper thing for us to do as we are doing in passing on a large per cent of the tithe receipts to be used in the foreign mission work. Of course, it means cutting down and economizing here in the home field, which is being done on every hand. I am pleased also that I may pass on this word of encouragement that at the present time in 1934 the North Pacific Union presents the best record of any union conference as to the number baptized and brought in the churches. We say this with appreciation and gratitude with no thought of taking credit to ourselves, but realizing that the Lord is blessing the labors of the ministers and workers in our field.

Field Days

The academies in the North Pacific Union have been having some wonderful field days. Auburn Academy has completed its field day with a very splendid response. We have not received the actual returns as yet, but there was an excellent response on the part of the student body and faculty. This also was true of Mt. Ellis Academy. We had one of the best field days we have ever had at Mt. Ellis, not only in the large number participating, but in the splendid results.

Gem State Academy has held its field day. It was not possible for us to be with them, but reports that have come in are very encouraging. The response at Gem State was very good.

Laurelwood, Columbia and Yakima Valley Academies are holding their field days this week. We greatly appreciate the splendid response on the part of our academies. It indicates their faith in this great soul-winning program. It is an inspiration to be associated with the members of the various faculties and the student bodies in the splendid work that they are doing.

We have just completed our field day at the College with about seventy carloads going out. Three hundred students and teachers took part in the solicitation part of the field day besides many who remained at home and contributed what they earned.

The work of the College is confined to an area whose entire population is only around 62,000. One person in every 47 is a Seventh-day Adventist.

The total proceeds to date amounted to $703.88 as compared with around $500.00 raised last year. The complete returns are not in as yet, but it is believed that the College will reach its goal of $800.00

The College has the largest enrollment to date of any year, and the one hundred per cent cooperation on the part of the faculty with the hearty response of the student body is greatly appreciated. We surely thank the Lord for Christian schools.

With Our Colporteurs

Our colporteurs do have some unusual experiences. The following experience, passed on by Colporteur Butterfield, indicates that even a colporteur might not do his full duty under some circumstances. I believe this experience should be a lesson to us all, not to pass any one by in our missionary work.

"When I gave my canvass at one home, there was a large family and an ill hired man in the room listening, but for some reason I could get only the mother and father close enough to see the prospectus of "Bible Readings." The rest of the family, including the hired man, were more or less scattered around the room. When I made the appeal for the order, it was to no avail. I had failed to appeal to the hired help, which I should have done as you will see before I finish this experience. I then pulled out the Six Great Gospel Books, and with the Lord's help I secured an order for this set with a 25c deposit. About ten days later at eight o'clock one Sunday evening, a stranger called at our house. To my surprise he was none other than the hired man mentioned above. After I had invited him in, almost the first words he said were, 'When you were canvassing at our place, why didn't you encourage me to get your book? At that time I was almost persuaded to order it as I had $3.00 in my pocket, and that would have almost paid for the book.' Well, I didn't fail to grasp this opportunity that I had nearly lost, for I immediately went for my prospectus and re-canvassed him with the result that the Lord gave me his order and $1.00 deposit. Well, I have the dollar, but I have something more valuable than dollars as a result of this experience. By the help of God I mean to so work that nobody can say to me in the judgement, 'If you had persuaded me more when you showed me that truth-filled book, I would have ordered it.' Through Jesus' name I will prevail."

We are told in the Spirit of prophecy that, "The lost sheep of God's fold are scattered in every place, and the work that should be done for them is being neglected. From the light given me I know that where there is one canvasser in the field, there should be one hundred." (Vol. 6, p. 315)

Ways to Help the Church School Teacher

No. 3

It is not always a sign that the teacher is at fault when a church school does not accomplish what we expect it to accomplish. We are told in the Spirit of prophecy that there may be other causes for failure.

"If the children attending a church school do not improve in manners, the parents should not unduly blame the teacher. Rather they should closely examine themselves, to see if they are such teachers as God can approve. In many cases children are greatly neglected in the home, and are more disorderly there than they are in the school. If children who for years have been left to follow their own inclinations and desires, are not led by the efforts of the teacher to live Christlike lives, shall the parents, because of this, set in circulation unkind criticisms concerning the teacher? . . .

'Parents should remember that much more will be accomplished by the work of the church school if they themselves realize the advantages that their children will obtain in such a school, and unite wholeheartedly with the teacher. By prayer, by patience, by forbearance, parents can undo much of the wrong caused by impatience and unwise indulgence. Let parents and teacher take hold of the work together, the parents remembering that they themselves will be helped by the presence in the community of an earnest, God-fearing teacher. . . .

"If parents faithfully act their part, the work of the teacher will be greatly lightened. His hope and courage will be increased. Parents whose hearts are filled with the love of Christ will refrain from finding fault, and will do all in their power to encourage and help the one whom they have chosen as teacher for their children. They will be willing to believe that he is just as conscientious in his work as they are in theirs.

"The teachers in the home and the teachers in the school should have a sympathetic understanding of one another's work. They should labor together harmoniously, imbued with the same missionary spirit, striving together to benefit the children physically, mentally, and spiritually, and to develop characters that will stand the test of temptation. . . .

"By hasty, unfounded criticism the influence of the faithful, self-sacrificing teacher is often well-nigh destroyed. Many parents whose children have been spoiled by indulgence, leave to the teacher the unpleasant task of repairing their neglect; and then by their own course they make his task almost hopeless. Their criticism and censure of the school management encourage insubordination in the children, and confirm them in wrong habits.

"If criticism or suggestion in regard to the teacher's work becomes necessary, it should be made to him in private. If this proves ineffective, let the matter be referred to those who are responsible for the management of the school. Nothing should be said or done to weaken the children's respect for the one upon whom their well-being in so great degree depends."—"Counsels to Teachers," pp. 155 to 162.

Walla Walla College Lyceum Course

Walla Walla College cordially invites its friends in the North Pacific Union to attend the College Lyceum Course for 1934-35. In order to accommodate the large student body and the many friends who will gather for these programs, the Davis Auditorium has been secured. Season tickets offering a substantial saving are now available, and single admissions may be obtained at the auditorium before each program.

The first number of the lyceum course will be presented Saturday evening, October 27 at 8 p. m. At that time the Deep River Plantation Singers will offer a program of the best negro chants, melodies and spirituals. They are recognized as outstanding artists in their field, and we know that you will consider their program a most delightful one.

From time to time these programs will be announced in the GLEANER. We trust that many of our friends in the North Pacific Union will avail themselves of the facilities offered by Walla Walla College, including the interesting lyceum programs.

News Notes

Before the close of the second week of school the total enrollment of Walla Walla College stood at 591. This represents an increase of almost 50% over last year's enrollment at the close of registration.

Due to the over-crowded conditions of the College auditorium leaving nearly 100 registered students without regular chapel seats, the local board voted to divide the chapel exercises of the institution in the college and academy groups. The College groups meet for their exercises at the regular hour on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; while the preparatory students meet in the chapel auditorium on Tuesdays and Thursdays. After the College students had been separated, the College chapel, which seats 488 presons remained completely filled with college students.

Doctor F. A. Schilling reports that the School of Theology has an increased enrollment this year with 48 students planning to finish the theological course. This is 18 more than last year. Seven students are seniors who expect to receive the B. Th. degree at the close of this school year.

The first musical recital of the year by Prof. Victor Johnson, Mrs. Edna Smith-Cublely, and Miss Ruth Havstad was presented Saturday night, October 13, in the College chapel. The recital consisted of violin, piano, and vocal selections by the members of the musical faculty of the College.

Fire of unknown origin caused the damage to the dairy and cold storage plant of the College to the amount of some $250 on Sunday morning, October 7. The work of the dairy and pasteurization of milk was continued without any delay.

Over 700 students, faculty members, board members, and patrons gathered at the "Gateway of Service" Saturday evening, October 6, for the annual "handshake." A program of speeches and musical numbers was given in the chapel.

A new book by Prof. George McCready Price, professor of geology at Walla Walla college, entitled "Modern Discoveries Which Help Us to Believe" has just been published by the Fleming H. Revell company, New York. According to the author this volume is written to convince friends and enemies alike that there are great numbers of objective facts which are on the side of fundamentalism. The book surveys new archaeological evidences of the Genesis flood, and includes a refutation of the Darwinian theory as against the Creation record in Genesis.

Walla Walla College Field Day

Tuesday October 16, was a big day for the faculty and students of Walla Walla College as they went forth with faith and courage up and down the beautiful hills and valleys soliciting Harvest Ingathering funds.

Several groups engaged in singing after solciting through the day, and in some sections secured more money in the evening in the residential districts than they had secured during the day.

Although the figures are not yet all in we have:

Cash	$437.30
Labor	80.38
Pledges	64.41
H. I. Sale	121.79
Total	$703.88

At the chapel period Monday morning President Landeen suggested a goal of $800 for the College which was voted unanimously by students and teachers. This is a new thing for Walla Walla College to do. We have every reason to believe that this goal will be reached in just a short time.

Elder W. A. Gosmer reports the village members working strong. He says that he is confident that the church will go over the top in reaching its goal of $1500.

Let us thank the Lord for these encouraging omens. Really, all of our people throughout the conference are bent to finish the work successfully as soon as possible.

News Notes

Prof. H. S. Hanson left the office last Monday for Baker and La Grande. He, with a corps of Harvest Ingathering solicitors, will solicit in a number of small towns.

Brother A. K. Phillips, our new field missionary secretary, is now in the field, and canvassing at the present time. Those interested in the colporteur work should write him at the office.

Elder C. F. Cole passed through Boise last Tuesday on his way to Twin Falls, where he will begin a series of meetings in the church there.

Brother Fred Wagner and wife are now located at Rupert, where they are holding an effort. We are hoping that a number of souls will take their stand as the result of their effort.

The Harvest Ingathering campaign is moving forward nicely in the conference. We hope that our people will put forth a special effort to finish the work as soon as possible. At the present time $3081.70 has been reported as raised. We are hoping to reach our $4500 goal soon.

Our people in Idaho will face the temperance question in the coming election. All our people should see that they are registered, and they should put forth a special effort to vote against the repeal. The influence of Seventh-day Adventists is going to mean much on this question.

Our tithe for the month of September was good. We are hoping that both tithes and offerings for the month of October will show an improvement over the same month last year. Those who have not paid their tithe during the month should see that it gets into the hands of the treasurers before the remittances are sent at the close of the month.

Because of the urgent needs in mission lands, our people should put forth a special effort to increase the Sabbath school offerings. We hope all will join our Sabbath school officers in rallying to swell this offering.

The Gem State Academy bakery is anxious to secure a delivery car. If any of our people have one and desire to send children to the Academy, correspond with C. E. Noyes, c/o Gem State Academy, Caldwell, Idaho.

Gem State Academy

The writer spent six days recently with the young people and the faculty of the academy. It was the occasion of the fall week of prayer for the school. The Lord blessed us as we prayed and studied His word unitedly, and the good spirit manifested augurs well for the coming school year. The brethren and sisters of the Caldwell church entered heartily into the spirit of revival and reconsecration which was present in a marked degree on the Sabbath day.

Things around the academy have an atmosphere of prosperity, and all in all, the buildings and the premises appear better than I have ever seen them. A new coat of paint decorates all the buildings, including the barn. A bakery is in the process of construction. The enrollment is the largest in several years, and I have never seen a finer class of youth anywhere.

Professor Boynton and his faculty stood back of the week of prayer program in a most harmonious and united way. This is what contributes to the success of our work in any line. United prayer moves the arm of God. I feel that Gem State Academy is a very good place for the young people of the Idaho conference; in fact, it is the very best place for them at this time. May the Lord continue to bless the faculty and the students of the academy.

W. A. GOSMER.

Round the World

On April 18, 1775 General Gage sent a body of British troops to arrest Hancock and Adams who were spending the night at Lexington and to seize some military supplies at Concord. We have all become familiar with the ride of Paul Revere which took place that evening. The next morning on a small triangular plot known as Lexington Green, sixty minutemen gathered to withstand the British. It was there that he British commander cried, "Disperse you Rebels!" and when not obeyed, ordered his troops to fire, killing or wounding eighteen.

From that day to this, minutemen have been famous in American history. A little later that same day the British went to Concord to destroy the military stores found there. At the bridge spanning the Concord river the minutemen from the opposite bank poured a deadly fire into the ranks of the British and drove them back. This story is familiar to all American school children, but to me on several occasions it served as a real inspiration to visit these two memorial spots in American history and to think of the importance which must be given to the memorable day when, as expressed in Emerson's Concord hymn, found engraved upon the monument there at the bridge, these words found their application:

"By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world."

Today in the Advent movement there is a call for minutemen. You will note in this issue of the GLEANER the names of a large number who have enrolled as minutemen in the Upper Columbia Conference. We are appealing to you now, if you have not already done so, to join this list, with us, not to fire a shot in carnal battle, but to sacrifice that the influence of our Harvest Ingathering may be felt "round the world."

Neppel, Wash.

The readers of the GLEANER might be interested to know something of public effort held at Neppel by Brother Beaman Senecal with Brother Marion Mohr leading the music and Anna Allen pianist. The tent was raised the first week in July preparatory to holding first meeting Sunday evening, July 8. The public responded with over one hundred attending the first night, and continued well around that number until Brother Senecal met with an accident which disabled him about two weeks. This caused an unfavorable reaction on the attendance. Elder Detamore was immediately called to continue the meetings. He worked hard and faithfully to rebuild the attendance, and continued with Brother Senecal a good deal of the time after he was able to return to his duties.

The effort continued two months and resulted in twenty-six being buried with their Lord in baptism. Five of these united with the Ruff church eighteen miles east of Neppel. There are still others in the balance, and some convicted but not prepared to pay the price. Many of our Seventh-day Adventist young people took their stand with the remnant people of God. It was a beautiful scene, on the shores of Moses Lake on that memorable Sabbath afternoon, when mothers and children, husbands and wives together set their course towards the city of God. It is our sincere hope and prayer that all may be faithful and prove worthy of a place with that victorious throng on the sea of glass singing the song of Moses and the Lamb.

Ingathering

Reports from the field indicate that our brethren and sisters are taking hold of the Harvest Ingathering work in a good strong way. We appreciate the earnest efforts of our believers, and especially at this time of crisis. Let us keep up our work until the entire territory is finished. We do not have an abundance of territory in the Oregon Conference, so it is necessary to be very thorough in working what we have. Let us not be satisfied until we have reached our goal.

Columbia Academy

Professor and Mrs. Groves were in charge of the entertainment Saturday, October 13, and surprised the students with a hike to Salmon Creek where everyone took part in playing games and roasting marshmallows.

Early Sunday morning, the dormitory boys hiked to Lewis River where they ate their breakfast. They reported that the swimming was good.

Sunday evening Elder and Mrs. Klement and Miss Alice Olsen visited Columbia Academy for a few hours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cobia of LaCenter, Washington, attended church at Meadow Glade Sabbath and visited with Miss Margaret Huntington in the afternoon.

The enrollment of Columbia Academy has reached ninety-three. Hurry, prospective students, so that you may attend the banquet we hope to have given us by Thanksgiving time.

News Notes

Elder and Mrs. Neff returned to the office the first of this week having been absent for more than two weeks. Among other places, they visited Eugene where they found the people of good courage, Elder Dustin having the Harvest Ingathering work well in hand. They also visited Medford, Grant Pass and Ashland. Elder Adolph Johnson, who has recently come to this conference, has located there and is getting hold of his district in a splendid way. The believers are cooperating, and we feel confident that this district will reach its goal.

Word comes from the Illinois Valley church that they are going forward with their church building. They expected to have it inclosed and a roof on this week. Our people in this place have been faithful in doing what they could toward this enterprise. They worked, and also gave what they could so that the church may be erected free from debt.

Seven persons have recently been baptized by Elder N. W. Lawrence, in the vicinity of Meadow Glade. Thus, here a few and there a few, are being gathered out from the world "such as shall be saved."

Elder Dustin reports the recent organization of a new Sabbath school at Marcola. Our Sabbath school family is growing rapidly. All are welcome.

An Encouraging Letter

This is a letter which came from one of our home missionary secretaries in the Oregon Conference:

"These are busy days. The fall is always a busy time, hurrying to get all the fall work over. The beans have to be thrashed by hand; the corn has to be picked and hauled in from the field. We have canned over six hundred quarts of fruit this fall. The boys and I must do our part to help. With all my work they assigned me my territory for Harvest Ingathering.

"I went out one day to see the doctor. I just said to myself, 'While I am out now, I'll take an hour or two to go Harvest Ingathering.' I worked some of the territory assigned to me, and in three and one-half hours I had $6—more than half my goal. Then in about a week I snatched a little time and went out again and got $5, so I had my goal and a little more by going out only twice. The donations ranged from five cents to one dollar.

"I wish I could have taken down some of the conversations I had with the people. I have never enjoyed anything else more than my Harvest Ingathering work. Of course, I did not get an offering at every house, and I was tired, but I loved to meet the people, and they were very nice.

"Someone is always asking me at the church, 'What do you say?' That is a hard thing to answer, because it all depends on the person you are talking to and what she says. I try to make some general remarks. If the person has a dog, and he barks, and she comes to the door to see what he is barking at, I ask about the dog, what kind, how long she has had him, how old he is, and maybe his name. Sometimes I tell a little about a dog I have had or something before I start my canvass. You do not feel out of place or afraid, by the time you are through your little talk, which has taken only a minute, and has made the person forget that you are a stranger. There are many little things with which you can start a canvass—the little things are the best things to start out with. Sometimes you can mention a baby (they are always interesting and easy to talk about), or anything you can honestly compliment—the house or yard. These days when there are so many people and organizations asking for help, you have to get one's confidence in some way before you get his money.

No one ought to be afraid or ashamed to go Harvest Ingathering. This is the way I set it before myself: 'I did not put the Harvest Ingathering program into the church, but it is here; I did not set this time for the Harvest Ingathering work, but this is the time; I did not pick this territory to solicit, but this territory was given me; I did not set the individual goal, but I must make the goal that has been set for me.' Then I set out at the very first possible opportunity to make my goal.

"After I have presented our work the best I can and show the Harvest Ingathering paper, I say, 'Now, we go out only once a year with this work; each member has a territory to cover, and you are in my territory.' Then I usually produce my solicitor's card and show where my name is and what church I belong to and what the neighbors have been giving. I have them sign their names if they will, and the amount they give. Sometimes, though, you find someone that does not want to sign his name, and, of course, that is all right, but I find many times that Mrs. Jones will give because Mrs.

Sabbath, October 27, is one of three days set aside by the General Conference this year for an offering to be taken in all the churches of North America for the Educational work. The entire offering received on this Sabbath is to be retained in the local conference for local educational needs. This paper will reach the hands of our people throughout Montana in time to remind them of this offering. We are still in need of some important repairs and improvements at the Academy and we shall appreciate our people remembering their Academy with a liberal offering at this time. It will be the last regular Sabbath offering this year for our conference educational work. We hope our isolated members will remember this need when they send their tithe and Sabbath school offerings to the conference office at the close of the month.

J. L. MCCONAUGHEY.

Harvest Ingathering in Montana

This is proving to be one of the most interesting and profitable Ingathering campaigns conducted in the Montana conference in a long while. The total receipts as this goes to the GLEANER office is $2,680.40. Already four churches have passed the ten dollar per member goal. They are as follows: Great Falls, Helena, Havre and Miles City. The following additional five churches have passed the conference goal: Anaconda, Butte, Glendive, Jordon, and Marsh. These churches are still working and we are hoping they, too, will reach the ten dollar goal.

On the whole, the public has been most courteous to our people this year as they have called in the interests of our foreign work. In many instances business men have increased and doubled their offerings of a year ago without any hesitation. One of our sisters called on a man who was interested enough to give five dollars. Later, after reading the paper which she left, he sent a check for fifty dollars direct to the General Conference office not knowing who else to send it to. The field day put on by the teachers and students of Mt. Ellis Academy resulted in many interesting experiences. A letter has just been received from one lady visited by two of our academy girls in which she enclosed a dollar bill and expressed her appreciation of the call made upon her by these two students. She had not had the money at the time, but remembering the school from which the girls came, sent this dollar in direct a few days after the girls were there. Brother McConaughey reports that in several instances where he suggested to business men that they increase or double their offerings of a year ago, they consented without any hesitation, seeming glad to do so. One man had visited our exhibit at the Chicago fair with his wife and readily agreed to increase his offering of a year ago after having had this glimpse at the magnitude of our world work. Another business man in one of the Eastern Montana cities stated to Elder McConaughey that he was doing a better business than last year and was glad to double his contribution to our good work. Other similar reports have come to us here at the office that our people are having throughout the state.

Sister G. E. Taylor writes in from Great Falls that it was hard for her to get up the courage to go out this year, but finally she and Sister Hamilton started out going from business house to business house and the money came so easily they determined not to stop until they had worked all the places in their territory. At last report they had a hundred dollars! At Havre, Sister Hallgren reports that the Ingathering work this year has been the most pleasant and profitable it has ever been. It does seem that the Lord has prepared the way for His people this year. How true this always is in times of serious crisis in His cause. When His people respond loyally and courageously to do their part, they find His spirit has preceded them and prepared the way. Those who are having a part in the Harvest Ingathering work this year are being greatly blessed and are finding out that their God does open the hearts and purse strings for the advancement of his truth. What a blessing and inspiration is being missed by those who have had no part in this thrilling work this year! May the Lord still give them courage to do their part while there is opportunity, that they too, may enjoy the blessing and satisfaction that comes to the hearts of his faithful workers this year!

Melting Pot Returns

A few weeks after the Melting Pot offering was taken last spring the jewelry began to reach this office. We sent it along to the General Conference since they had made arrangements for its disposition. We have recently received from the General Conference the net proceeds from the sale of this jewelry. A portion of it was sold to the United States mint in Philadelphia, and some that was not of sufficient purity was sold elsewhere. The total of the checks we have received is $2,403.55. With the amounts previously reported we have a total of $2,619.02, and the end is not yet.

It is obviously impossible to credit each individual or church with the portion of this offering that was received from them. We cannot know what the watches, chains and rings turned in by different persons brought. But each conference has been credited with the pro rata share of the proceeds. And most important of all, the money that has been tied up in these different articles has been released and is now helping to spread the gospel message.

R. T. EMERY.

An Encouraging Letter

Smith gave, and sometimes they try to outdo each other. In town it is the same way, one garage will try to give at least what the other one gave, etc.

"This year, I solicited mostly from farm houses. They were quite scattered, but I enjoyed every minute I was out. I was asked to come back and call again at quite a few places. Some said they would like to know me better, so when I leave, I always say—'Well, I'll see you again at this time next year.' Some seem to take a deep interest and ask quite a few questions. One man said, 'Well, the talk was worth a quarter.'

"Of course, one must pray and go out into the work with love for those we are trying to help, and for those we are trying to get money from, if they seem cold and hard, we must be more kind and loving. That is the way in any line of Christian work. We have to love and be patient and tender to the unloving, to the cold, to the unjust, to the ungrateful, to the unkind. just as Jesus did, and 'love never faileth!'

"I always give my best smile and heartiest 'thank you' to those who seem to sneer and never give a cent. I think it will help those who may go next year, and after I am gone from the house, they may think differently and send in an offering after all. Anyhow the kind feelings might be contagious."

In the same mail I received a letter from a sister asking this question. "I believe we should all be responsible for the mission field for one minute by sending $10.64 in to the conference, but how can I get the $10.64, and where is it coming from?" Such a contrast in the two letters!

I am sure many will take heart by reading the first letter. We do not know how much we can accomplish until we get a real vision of what others are doing around us.

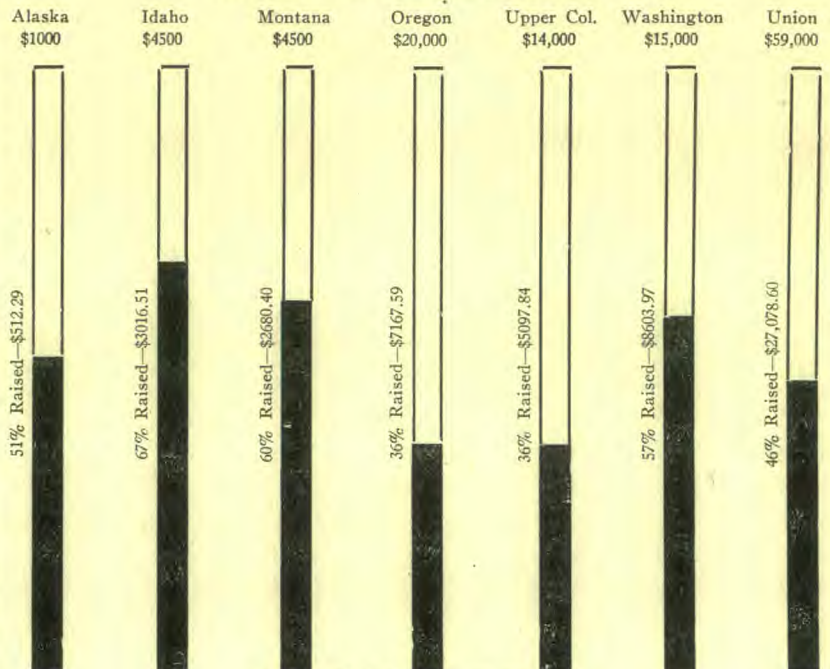

L. A. REYNOLDS.

Elementary School Offering

The regular quarterly Elementary School offering is to be taken up in all our churches Sabbath, October 27, and turned in with the regular monthly remittance. Whether you have a school in connection with your church or not, all churches are asked to take up this offering Sabbath, October 27.
