

Bible Readings Makes Friends

Seventh-day Adventists are not the only people who enjoy Bible Readings and recommend its reading to others. The statement is true that thousands will be converted in a day most of whom will receive their first impressions from the reading of our publications. People of other denominations are accepting the message as a result of reading our literature. This fact impresses us with the urgency of finishing the work with the printed page as quickly as possible. Brother Bruce Aitken of the Upper Columbia Conference recently told of his experience in a home where he met two Catholic priests. He relates the following:

"Brother Lowe passed on to me a card received from Mrs., who had written to the Pacific Press inquiring about Bible Readings. When I called the first time, a Catholic father met me at the door and informed me that Mrs. was away. I returned that night and another priest came to the door. You can imagine my feelings. I again asked for Mrs., and was questioned in regard to my mission, which I assure you I did not reveal at that critical moment. She was called, however, and after a brief canvass on the porch, purchased Bible Readings, paying cash. I put the book back in the paper and she went back into the house, a seeker after truth, a Catholic herself in a den of priests."

May God richly bless the colporteurs as they go from door to door, and may many others step out into the message as a result of their faithful ministry.

Have You A Friend in Britain?

God is blessing the work in Great Britain. As the country is slowly but surely pulling out of its difficulties, so our one hundred churches and our 6,235 church members are courageously struggling toward a new day.

It was my pleasure recently to spend seven weeks with the workers there. I assisted in holding six Sabbath school institutes, a Week of Prayer at Newbold College, and a senior M. V. camp in Scotland, on the banks of Loch Lomond.

It was a pleasure to see some splendid churches which have been acquired in recent years. The churches in Nottingham, Glasgow and Edinburgh are splendid roomy buildings, and the brethren in Belfast and Dublin are working hard to improve their places of worship.

Everywhere I met sincere appreciation for the generous help of friends in America during the past tragic years, and if you are one of those friends, let me say "thank you" for them.

Might I suggest that if you would like to send your friends in Britain a birthday present, or a Christmas present, or any other kind of presents, here is a list of things everyone of them would appreciate:

New current copies of the Sabbath school picture roll, new or used copies of Those Tiny Tots, Those Juniors, Teaching Teachers to Teach, Christian Story Telling, Keith Argraves the Paratrooper, The Light Bearer to the Amazon, The Life of Christ Visualized, New Testament Heroes Visualized, Life of Joseph Visualized, Life of Esther Visualized, and any of the children's reading course books.

It is almost impossible under the present economic conditions, to send money out of Britain to pay for things like this, and I find that there is, however, a pitiful lack all through the land of books for Sabbath school teachers, picture rolls, and books for little children. Bundles of books, up to six pounds, with one end unsealed, marked gift, can be sent in with no customs duty to pay.

Food conditions are improving rapidly, but it is impossible to buy Postum anywhere, and in England fruit is still hard to obtain and is very expensive.

If you have books of the above description which you would like to donate, but do not know anyone in Britain personally, mail them to our conference Sabbath school secretaries:

Pastor E. R. Warland
43 Tavistock Drive
Nottingham, England

Pastor A. C. Vine
780 St. Albans Road
Watford, Herts., England

They will be glad to distribute them where they are needed most. Make someone in Britain happy today.

ERIC B. HARE.

Record Breaking Overflow

Word has just reached us from the General Conference that the 13th Sabbath offering on December 25, 1948 was $314,600 with an overflow of $52,860. This is the largest overflow in the history of the denomination.

This wonderful offering makes available to the Fayoum Training School in Egypt the sum of $17,620 which is $2,620 more than we had dared to even hope for.

Since your Editor was kind enough to publish our letter in the December 7 issue of the GLEANER telling you of the great need for funds to go forward with the Fayoum School project, we are sending this brief note to express our heartfelt appreciation for the great spirit of sacrifice by the believers throughout the North Pacific Union Conference that made this record-breaking offering a reality.

Our courage is made stronger and our burdens lighter by this evidence of your deep interest in advancing the work of saving souls in the far away corners of the Lord's vineyard.

May the Lord richly bless every one who had a part in this wonderful gift to the cause of foreign missions.

bership program, colporteur sales, or missionary clubs.

We are not taking up subscriptions for Listen in our churches, but are inviting every Seventh-day Adventist to take the pledge and become an active member of the American Temperance Society. The launching of an intensive Pledge Signing Campaign and Membership Drive is therefore our first major objective. All who sign up as active members of the Society will be placed on our regular mailing list and receive Listen gratis. The annual membership dues are as follows: Regular Membership $1; Contributing Membership $5; Sustaining Membership $10; and Life Membership $100.

Membership in the American Temperance Society is not limited to Seventh-day Adventists. We have members from practically every denomination enlisted as active members of the American Temperance Society. So let us invite our friends and neighbors—Jews, Catholics, or Protestants—to take the total abstinence pledge and become active members of our American Temperance Society.

Members who remit the minimum membership fee of $1 will be given a year's subscription to Listen. Contributing members will receive Listen, plus the Temperance Bulletin. Sustaining members will receive Listen, the Temperance Bulletin, and the Speakers' Bureau Releases which are issued monthly.

The Church Temperance Secretary is primarily responsible for the promotion of the annual Pledge-Signing Campaign and Membership Drive. All membership blanks, together with the membership dues are to be passed to the church treasurer weekly. The church treasurer will then forward a list of the various memberships, together with 75% of the membership dues, to the conference treasurer.

Our second major objective is to promote the circulation of Listen on a national scale among public officials, clergymen, physicians, dentists, teachers, law-enforcement officials, school and public libraries. The following plans for the circulation of Listen on a national scale have been agreed upon:

A. The circulation of Listen as a missionary organ should be listed as one of our major projects in every church.

B. Plans have been perfected whereby Listen may be mailed to such individuals in the community as the local church may agree on at a special price.

C. For every $5 sent to the Book and Bible House for this purpose the church may send in the names and addresses of ten people.

D. This rate applies only when Listen is used for missionary purposes, and is not to include subscriptions to our own people. Many laymembers are using the club plan to send Listen to their friends and relatives.

E. A portion of the 25 per cent retained by the local church could well be used for this purpose.

F. All such orders should be handled by the church missionary secretary and placed through the Book and Bible House.

G. We trust that hundreds of temperance-minded lay sisters, young people, and others will be encouraged to enter the single copy sales field on a part time basis.

H. The retail sale of single copies has been fixed at 25 cents per copy. The regular colporteur discount will be granted such magazine workers.

All membership dues are to be handled by the local church and conference treasurers, while all orders for single copies and club subscriptions for missionary purposes are to be handled by the church missionary secretary and the Book and Bible House.

Seventh-day Adventists are handling momentous truths and on the subject of temperance we should be in advance of all other people. Let us quickly build up the circulation of Listen and make our influence felt throughout the nation.

American Temperance Society.

Another Great Network Opens Its Channels to the Voice of Prophecy

One of the most striking evidences that God "will finish the work, and cut it short in righteousness" has just been seen.

Within the last few days, one of the great radio networks of America—The American Broadcasting Company—has announced a change in its policy, a complete reversal of the one it has consistently held through the years of not accepting any paid religious program. ABC's change in policy has now made available to religious programs some of its choice network time on Sundays. You will be pleased to know that one of the first religious programs to be offered a network release over ABC was The Voice of Prophecy.

From 9:00 to 10:00 a.m., which we believe to be the best time of the day for religious broadcasts, has been made available to The Voice of Prophecy by ABC in all four time zones. See your newspaper for local time schedule.

So, on Sunday morning, June 19, listeners over the United States and in many parts of Canada will hear the first Voice of Prophecy broadcast over the ABC network. This will be in addition to the regular network release over the Mutual Broadcasting System. The radio log for the two networks is as follows:

THE MUTUAL SYSTEM

Eastern Time	10:30 a.m.
Central Time	9:30 a.m.
Mountain Time	8:30 a.m.
Pacific Time	8:30 a.m.

THE AMERICAN BROADCASTING COMPANY

Beginning June 19

Eastern Time	9:30 a.m.
Central Time	10:00 a.m.
Mountain Time	9:00 a.m.
Pacific Time	9:30 a.m.

It will be greatly appreciated if our people will pass on to others by telephone and other means the word of the addition of this second national network which can be heard over nearly all the United States and parts of Canada. New radio logs giving the new station times are now available. Write to The Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, California, for a supply.

After The Voice of Prophecy managing board had voted to accept the ABC network offer, a telegram from ABC's head office in New York was received by our advertising agency which read as follows: "Delighted we are to have the Voice of Prophecy on ABC. I know it will be a long and happy association."

Surely the Spirit of God has had much to do with the change of policy of this network which has so consistently held to "no paid religious programs!" God has worked through various means to bring about this change for the good of His work, thereby opening channels to The Voice of Prophecy for more extensive coverage in North America. With the addition of this great national network to that of Mutual, there will be a decided increase in the number of larger, more powerful stations carrying our program. These big stations are so strategically located that even though the program may not be heard on all stations formerly carrying it, we believe that if our listeners will study the list of powerful transmitters in their part of the country, everyone will find it possible to get good reception from one of these larger stations.

Will you not pray that God, who has opened this unprecedented door of opportunity for reaching more of the great metropolitan areas of North America, will bless this radio ministry so that it will grow ever stronger and reach and prepare more honest hearts for the kingdom of heaven. We truly wish to thank our people most heartily for their prayers and support in past months and years.

Theology Students' Club

The activities of the Theology students at Walla Walla College are tied together in the program of the Theology Club, with the objectives of assisting the students toward a better preparation for the ministry and of taking active leadership in the school's spiritual life.

During the past year, under the presidency of Clare Bishop, the club sponsored its annual week end program, showing the eleven-reel feature film, "The Apostle," a sound treatment of several dramatic episodes in the experience of Paul in his evangelistic ministry.

The organization printed and furnished ribbon bookmarks for two other occasions on the campus, the Week of Prayer series by Dr. Frank H. Yost, and the week end visits of the academy seniors. A radio program was presented each Sunday over radio station KWVB in Walla Walla, giving the message of life under the title "The Desire of Ages." This program is to continue through the summer months, club officers have announced.

An evening banquet during the spring quarter provided social enjoyment for the group, while more concrete benefits were distributed at various times during the year when mimeographed file materials were distributed to the members.

Mr. Bishop was assisted by Kenneth McVay as vice president, Kenneth Hoover as social vice president, Nathan Merkel as treasurer, Donna Spillman as secretary with Lillian Casebolt assisting, and Dean Hickok and Frank Hutchins as publicity agents.

Officers of the club for next year include Kenneth McVay, president; Russell Hanscom, vice president; Don Winger, social vice president; Richard Schwartz, treasurer; Marie Jenkins, secretary; Marion Van Tassel, assistant secretary; and Dan McConnell, publicity agent.

Elder Stoehr to Europe

Elder H. G. Stoehr, assistant professor of modern languages at Walla Walla College, left for New York last Thursday, June 2, en route to Europe where he will engage in the preparation of foreign language Voice of Prophecy broadcasts this summer.

Flying via World Airways from New York on June 16, Elder Stoehr will arrive in Paris on June 17 where he will briefly examine the Voice of Prophecy radio studio. From Paris he will go to Switzerland where he will spend several weeks preparing German script for Voice of Prophecy broadcasts for a whole year.

The radio script prepared, Elder Stoehr will return to the studio in Paris with a native German quartet and make transcriptions for a year of weekly Voice of Prophecy broadcasts. These programs will later be released over Radio Luxemburg and will be beamed into Germany, Switzerland, Alsace-Lorraine and Austria.

If time and traveling conditions permit, Elder Stoehr plans to go to Rome to examine the possibilities for Italian Voice of Prophecy broadcasts. He hopes also to find it possible to visit Berlin, Madrid, and Lisbon.

On his return trip the language professor will spend two days in England visiting our schools and conference headquarters. He will fly from London on September 13, arriving at Walla Walla College in time for the beginning of the new school year.

Expressing his anticipations for the trip, which is being sponsored by the Radio Department of the Southern European Division, Elder Stoehr said that he hopes to find fewer restrictions on passports and visas than he found last year when he made a similar trip to Europe.

Power Plant Progress

Brick veneering on the new power plant is progressing steadily, giving this new addition to the Walla Walla College campus a beautiful exterior that matches the other new buildings on the campus.

One of the new 300 horsepower boilers is in place and will be put into use in about six weeks, according to Mr. Leland Parker, manager of the power plant. At that time the two old boilers will be removed and the second new 300 horsepower boiler installed. This new equipment will supply ample heating for all the college buildings, and will allow for the future addition of other buildings to the campus.

All construction work on the new plant will be completed this summer, Mr. Parker said.

Senior Class Gift

The 1949 senior class gift to Walla Walla College consists of new and adequate lighting installed in attractive pillars on each side of the steps at the south end of the "Hello Walk."

President G. W. Bowers received the gift in a recent assembly period when Marvin Gottschall, president of the senior class, presented to him the granite stone bearing the inscription, "Class of 1949." The stone was immediately put into place in one of the pillars.

The project consists of concrete, brick veneer pillars on each side of the steps. They rise to a height of forty-two inches from the street level, and extend back to the walk level for a distance of eight feet. The top of each pillar is covered with a concrete slab. Built into the side of each pillar facing the steps are light attachments covered with frosted glass. On each of the panes of glass is written, "Hello Walk," to remind all who pass that a bit of extra friendliness is in order when walking that way.

WEDDINGS

The Billings Seventh-day Adventist church was the scene of the candle-light marriage of Ernestine Hoyer of Bayreuth, Germany and Reuben C. Poole of Melstone, Montana. The service was read by E. G. Among The Schools—IX

We go next to Wenatchee in the extreme western part of the conference, next to the snow-covered peaks and dark green wooded slopes of the Cascade Mountains, and are thrilled as we see orchards of apricots coming into full bloom in early April, peach orchards showing reddish hues with traces of pink in the background, and then the quiet, stately, somber apple and peach orchards nestled snugly each in its place among the everlasting hills. We find the Wenatchee Junior Academy located in the western part of town, well up on the slope overlooking the valley and the far-away hills and mountains to the east and north.

This is a fine new brick building situated on a large plot of ground providing a beautiful setting for attractive landscaping with ample playground facilities in the rear. Three large, pleasant classrooms well arranged, lighted, ventilated, and heated, are provided, with another good-sized room set aside for Dorcas interests and use. A full basement is used for recreation on stormy days for the school and provides a social center for the youth of the church from time to time.

The principal of the school is H. J. Bergman, who teaches grades 9 and 10 in a fine, large room with abundance of light from the east, controlled by venetian blinds, with dark green blackboards, hardwood floors, and closets for pupils' wraps in the room at the front. Mr. Bergman drives the school bus which brings about forty pupils to school each morning from an area of eighteen miles, and returns them to their homes in the evening.

In the classroom directly across the hall we find Mrs. Henrietta Thomas with twenty pupils in grades 5-8. This is also a fine large room with full windows on the east extending almost to the ceiling, so the top light can reach across the room giving the pupils farthest from the windows the benefit of natural light. An attractive room with some decorations, a U. S. flag, a piano, daily program neatly arranged and posted in front, a large electric clock, colored butterfly pictures across the top of the front board, a drinking fountain, and a splendid physiology chart, as well as closets for pupils' wraps in the rear of the room.

The primary grades—1-4 with eighteen pupils—are taught by Miss Alice Baker in a very interesting and attractive room filled with interesting things such as a museum collection of insects, cocoons, and butterflies, some of which are mounted, many bird pictures colored neatly and attractively by the pupils, growing plants by the windows, biological specimens in bottles, and several pictures. Our attention was drawn to a Bookland Chart showing the number of books read by the children. One child had read sixty books already this year, and many of the pupils had read ten, twenty-five or thirty-five books each. These books are usually small, but cover the range of child interest and are on the primary reading level of difficulty. Many new library books have been secured recently providing a rich and varied reading program for these boys and girls.

The General Conference Department of Education provides a "Library List" for Seventh-day Adventist elementary schools which lists hundreds of titles of carefully selected books arranged under subject matter content as devotional, biography, nature, fine and applied arts, English language and literature, character building, culture, ethics, science, and social studies, as well as giving the approximate grade level of reading difficulty and other pertinent information of author, publisher, date of publication, and cost. Each elementary and intermediate teacher in the Upper Columbia Conference has been given a copy of this Library List and we hope is making good use of it.

Teachers and parents need to know what their children are reading in school and in the home, because what the children read may have a greater effect upon their minds, hearts, and character than what they eat. In Counsels to Teachers, page 135, we read the statement that "Intemperate habits of reading have an effect upon the brain similar to that which intemperate habits of eating and drinking have upon the body." Again, on page 121, it says that "Through the agency of novels and story magazines, Satan is working to fill with unreal and trivial thoughts, minds that should be diligently studying the word of God." And again we read on page 134, that "Readers of frivolous, exciting tales become unfitted for the duties of practical life. They live in an unreal world . . . the mental taste is perverted, and the mind is not satisfied unless fed upon this unwholesome food." The reading habits children form in school and the home have a great influence upon their lives and characters for time and for eternity. We cannot be too careful upon these matters.

The Pasco two-teacher elementary school located not far from the mighty Columbia River near a new residential development in the southern section of town, has an enrollment of twenty-four pupils in the first four grades under Miss Florence Jones, and twenty-one boys and girls in grades 5-8, taught by Mrs. Leona Chapman. This is a new school building and has many possibilities for development into a most attractive and efficient school plant. A school bus brought many of the pupils to the school each day during the first seven months of the school year, but now pupils are riding bicycles, walking, and some being transported in automobiles to the school.

The lower grade room is well-lighted with windows at the rear and one side, with fluorescent lights for cloudy dark days. Attractive book shelves have been built along one side of the room under the windows where some library and supplementary readers and workbooks are kept, but many more books are needed. Earlier in the school year hot soup was served to the children at the noon hour, provided we understand by Miss Jones. In cold weather a hot food or soup is particularly valuable healthwise for growing boys and girls, and the Home and School organization often takes this project under its strong and well-feathered wing.

The upper grade room has several attractive features also, with book shelves, pictures, dog chart, electric clock, and fluorescent lights. Back school work received a strong shot in the arm by the promise of the educational superintendent to give each pupil having his school work up-to-date some foreign postage stamps. Teacher and superintendent were surprised at the results of the incentive! Pupils not collecting stamps were promised surprise foreign curios for similar achievements, but so far no report of the results has come to the superintendent's attention.

A large play area is available, with some play equipment, but the abundance of sand calls for attention to make the playground more suitable for play. Church and parent interest in the school is strong, with a developing Home and School organization this year. Prospects are bright for a larger school next year with improved facilities, features, and work.

Sandpoint Effort News

On Sabbath, May 28, at the Crusade for Christ Auditorium in Sandpoint, Idaho, Elder L. A. Reynolds conducted a baptismal service for six candidates. This brings the total to 48 new members, who have been welcomed into church fellowship since the evangelistic meetings conducted by W. L. Goffar and associates began in Sandpoint (population 5,500) on October 3, 1948. The program has run continuously except for the month of January despite a most rigorous winter.

Although this marks the official close of the effort, several families are still receiving studies and some are already attending church. Another baptism will be held after camp meeting.

Surely the Lord has poured out His Spirit here in this northern Idaho town and blessed the efforts of all who labored for Him including consecrated lay workers. It is the hope of the congregation to soon have a new church in which to worship, the former church now being too small.

Montana News

We have more good Ingathering news. Big Timber, Custer, Helena, Glendive, Kalispell, Whitefish and Lewistown have gone over their goals. We are happy about this and when every church in Montana can sing the victory song, "what a day of rejoicing that will be." Brother Andrew Roedel spent two days in Lewistown this last week with Elder Skadsheim, working in the Ingathering program.

Word has come that eight of the upper room of the church school in Missoula have earned minute men buttons. This is commendable.

Brother and Sister J. S. Leeper have moved from Miles City to Bozeman, where Brother Leeper, as you know, will be connected with the conference office. We are happy to have them with us at headquarters and we bespeak for him the wholehearted cooperation of all the churches in the home missionary, M. V. and educational fields of endeavor.

OBITUARIES

Walker—Millicent Belle Stanley, was born near Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 23, 1877, and passed away in Portland, Ore., March 1, 1949. She became interested in the beliefs of Seventh-day Adventists through the influence of an older sister, Mrs. Eugene Griffin, and joined the church in her late teens. For more than thirty years she was a loyal and faithful member of the Montavilla church in Portland.

September 5, 1900, she was united in marriage to George Lorry Walker, in Battle Creek. They were called to connect with the Portland Sanitarium in 1907, where Mr. Walker was employed most of the time until his death Jan. 29, 1938. She leaves to cherish her memory her sons, Stanley and George, two granddaughters, and a brother, Leonard T. Stanley of Battle Creek, Mich.

Logan—Carol Ann Logan was born in Billings, Mont., July 24, 1946 and died suddenly April 21, 1949 in Billings.
