Elder Skinner's Visit

The Missionary Volunteers of the North Pacific Union were greatly benefited by the recent visit of Elder L. A. Skinner, associate secretary of the Missionary Volunteer Department of the General Conference. Having served the young people of this union as their leader before going to the General Conference, he found a warm welcome among his friends here.

Beginning his visit in the Medford district on the week end of January 5, Elder Skinner spoke at the Ashland church on Friday night. On Sabbath he preached to the hundreds who crowded into the Medford Junior High School Auditorium from all over southern Oregon. A most interesting and inspiring program had been planned by Elder A. J. Reisig, Oregon Conference MV secretary.

From southern Oregon, Elder Skinner went to Montana where he visited Mt. Ellis Academy, Billings, and Great Falls. Elder Stewart Emery, MV secretary of the Montana Conference, accompanied Elder Skinner on this pleasant visit to his field.

The week end of January 12 was spent in the Seattle area. The Washington Conference MV secretary, Elder T. W. Walters, took Elder Skinner to Auburn Academy for chapel Friday morning. A Youth's Congress held in the Masonic Hall of Seattle brought young people from all over the conference for a most profitable and interesting series of meetings the next day. The Walla Walla College band added to the interest of the Congress by giving a program on Saturday night. A workshop for MV officers, meetings for the church school teachers of the conference, and a banquet for the teachers on Sunday night, brought a most successful week end to a close.

The Upper Columbia Conference was next on the itinerary. Elder M. J. Perry, MV secretary of the conference, took Elder Skinner to Upper Columbia Academy and Walla Walla College for appointments.

Back in the Oregon Conference once more, Elder Skinner was taken by Elder Reisig to Portland Union, Columbia, and Laurelwood academies.

On Sabbath afternoon Elder Reisig held a large rally in the Benson Auditorium in Portland. The musical groups of the three academies, under the direction of Professor Harlyn Abel, provided special music in the afternoon and gave a concert in the evening. Young people from all over the northern part of the Oregon Conference attended these inspirational meetings. A workshop of MV officers of the area was held at the Sunnyside church on Sunday morning.

Elder Skinner next visited Gem State Academy where the teachers of the conference were gathered. Among other things a banquet for the teachers was planned by Elder A. J. Werner, MV secretary of the Idaho Conference. Meetings were also held at Boise, Twin Falls, and Baker.

The last week end of Elder Skinner's visit was spent at Walla Walla College. On Friday night the College MV Society, under the leadership of Gordon Dalrymple and the sponsorship of Dr. W. I. Smith, presented a most beautiful and inspiring pageant of missions. Dr. C. E. Thurston, who was in charge of the program, had spent months in gathering information and planning for this occasion. Scores of people took part. Actual scenes of mission experience, with many of those who had part in the original experience, held the attention of the great throng which crowded Columbia Auditorium. Highlights of the next day were the College MV Society radio broadcast and the meeting of the Blue Mountain Associated MV Society. The radio program was brought into being by the skill and enthusiasm of Elder M. J. Perry, Upper Columbia MV secretary, and the efforts of Dr. Smith, Gordon Dalrymple, Frank Stanyer, Professors Truby and Dortch, and many others whose efforts have made this a most outstanding program. This highly successful program is doing a

Our Missions Giving

One week ago I presented a report of the tithe received in the various conferences in the North Pacific Union. This was a most encouraging report. At this time I should like to present a report of the amounts received which apply on the Seventy-Cent-a-Week Fund of the General Conference. The Seventy-Cent-a-Week Fund, as it has been known for the last two or three years, includes such missions offerings as Sabbath School, Harvest Ingathering, Missions Extension, Second Sabbath Mission Offering, Week of Sacrifice and Annual Offering, etc. The report is as follows:

I should also like to present to you the per capita figures on a weekly basis for each conference in the union. These figures are as follows for this year 1951:

Conference	Per Week	Per Member
Idaho	$.522
Montana	.585
Oregon	.557
Upper Columbia	.492
Washington	.581
Alaska	.804
Union	$.544

It is interesting to note that the Alaska Mission is the only local field which has achieved the Seventy-Cent-a-Week goal during 1951. At the time of the 1951 Autumn Council, the Seventy-Cent-a-Week goal was increased to eighty cents per week so that during the year 1952 an even greater objective is set before us in the matter of our missions giving. For some reason, our missions giving has not kept pace with our increase in tithe. For instance, the year 1951 showed an increase in tithe of 14 per cent over 1950, whereas our increase in mission funds was only 6 per cent.

As we read the reports of the progress of the work in mission lands, and learn of new opportunities for extending the gospel to earth's remotest bounds, we certainly must accept the challenge which is presented to us and give even more liberally to the cause of missions. Just a little additional effort on the part of every church member will change the entire picture with respect to our report of the foreign missions program. If we would increase our Sabbath school offering by the small amount of 5 cents per week, it would make a tremendous difference in the Sabbath school offerings for the union conference as a whole. It is true that the Lord claims the tithe as His own, but in the matter of freewill offerings, each individual is left to decide how much he shall give. We are counseled however, that we should give as the Lord has prospered us. We also know that "the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." During this year of 1952, let us join wholeheartedly in the support of our great mission program.

great work, both for the youth of the college and the people of the surrounding area. The Blue Mountain A.M.V.S. is also pushing forward in service.

On Sunday, January 27, Elder Skinner left Spokane by plane for New Orleans, Louisiana, where a meeting of the union MV secretaries of North America was to begin the next morning. He carried with him happy memories of the young people of this great field, young people who had pledged their support of the great Share-Your-Faith movement which will have a great part in finishing God's work and hastening our Lord's return.

To Elder Skinner we express our deep appreciation for a most inspiring visit, and we extend an urgent invitation to visit us again as soon as possible.

Educational Opportunities At Portland Sanitarium And Hospital

The Portland Sanitarium and Hospital is the only Seventh-day Adventist medical institution in the North Pacific Union which offers educational courses in the vocations allied with the practice of medicine. It is not very generally known among our people that some of these courses are offered at this institution.

There are two schools connected with the institution, aside from the well-known course in nursing education, both of which are on a fully accredited basis. These are: The School of Medical Technology, and The School for X-Ray Technicians.

In either of these schools the course offered is one year in length. The requirement for the student seeking admission to the School of Medical Technology is at least one year of college, including certain basic sciences. The requirement for admission to the School of X-Ray Technique is graduation from an academy or high school, although the student who has had some work in science in college is very much preferred in this field as well. The minimum age for applicants in either of these schools is nineteen years.

Both men and women applicants are accepted. The enrollment is necessarily limited to quite a small number of students. We are, at the present time, enrolling not more than four students annually, in each of these schools.

It is preferred that about an equal number of men and women applicants be enrolled. At the present time, there are a large number of qualified male applicants but a shortage of women applicants. In the School of X-Ray Technique, there is an opening for a woman student, to begin April

1. In this School, the practice is to enroll one student each three months throughout the year. In the School of Medical Technology, it is preferred that all students enroll at the same time—on July 1 each year, and two women applicants can probably be accepted in the next group. Further particulars regarding either of these courses will be gladly furnished upon application, either by mail or in person.

Remember March 1—Home Foreign Day

Sabbath, March 1, has been designated as Home Foreign Day for North America. On this date, every church is expected to have a special program to emphasize this important part of our missionary program. To aid the church leaders in planning effective presentations, an interesting program on the topic, "Witnessing to Foreign-speaking Neighbors," has been placed in GO magazine for use on March 1.

The 1950 census has proved that there are 10,147,000 foreign born people in the United States. Included in this number are 267,000 displaced persons that have arrived during the past three years. These people are numbered in different parts of the country as follows: Northeast, 5,216,000; North Central, 2,625,000; South, 735,000; West, 1,571,000. Of the total it is estimated that 2,000,000 do not understand the English language. As shown by the census figures, foreigners have scattered to every part of the country. Careful observation will show that there may be some in every church district.

The foreign language ministers are reaching only a few of these people. All churches must now assume the responsibility for giving the message of salvation to foreigners wherever they are located. Home visitation gives opportunity for contacting foreigners in the communities. Some may speak English fairly well, but they can read and understand best in their mother languages. These people usually are attracted by literature because they enjoy reading in their languages. One of the best ways to interest foreigners in our message is through literature.

There are publications available in most of the languages that will be encountered. Weekly missionary periodicals may be ordered in German, Swedish, and Danish-Norwegian at the same subscription rates as the English Signs. There are monthly missionary journals in the Italian, Ukrainian, French, and Spanish languages. Many items of inexpensive literature such as small books, tracts, and correspondence lessons dealing with the main teachings of Seventh-day Adventist doctrines are available in twenty languages. This literature may be ordered through your church missionary secretary and the Book and Bible House.

Radio—Television

Radio and television are both being used by the Spirit of God in the great work of presenting our closing message to the cities of America. There is much yet to be done in both these fields, for approximately 15 per cent of our population in the United States is not being reached by the Voice of Prophecy, and in Canada the percentage is much greater.

Television is covering a large metropolitan population in many of our great cities, but as yet it falls short of covering the rural areas and towns of our nation.

At present the Voice of Prophecy is operating only in the radio field while television is being conducted solely from New York under the direction of Elder W. A. Fagal in the Faith for Today telecast.

All requests for television logs and inquiries regarding the television work should be made to Faith for Today, Box 8, New York 8, N. Y. All requests for Voice of Prophecy materials should be sent to The Voice of Prophecy, Box 1511, Glendale 5, California.

The general church offering for television will be taken up in the spring—on Sabbath, March 15—and the annual Voice of Prophecy church offering will be taken up on Sabbath, October 11.

May God continue to bless both of these powerful means as they are utilized for the dissemination of His truth and gospel light, so that the work may be quickly finished.

Food Company Convention

Western Division salesmen of the Loma Linda Food Company under the direction of general sales manager, D. E. Reck, gathered at La Sierra on December 26 and 27 for their annual sales convention.

G. T. Chapman, general manager, pointed out in his address of welcome to the men the great strides that have been made in recent years toward securing increased distribution of the wide variety of Loma Linda Foods; additionally mentioning that the salesmen present had been instrumental during 1951 in reaching and exceeding the greatest sales goal in the company's history, resulting in record net earnings.

Elders C. L. Bauer and F. L. Abbott led out in the devotional period which preceded each day's discussion. Each salesman was made cognizant that he must constantly represent the ethics of Christian salesmanship and be a true representative of the cause of God to the thousands of grocers and food buyers with whom he comes in contact each year.

We were fortunate this year in securing as featured speaker Mr. Neal Ramsey, prominent chain store manager and also director of the National Super Market Institute and president of the Western States Chain Grocers Association, who discussed present day trends in food selling and merchandising.

The men assembled were pleased to learn from the advertising and promotional plans presented that 1952 held still greater opportunities for them. Loma Linda Foods during the current year will receive extensive promotion through the media of television, magazines, newspaper, radio and billboards. This, coupled with the enthusiasm of all salesmen, assures that the year ahead will bring an ever increasing volume on Loma Linda Foods.

Present from the North Pacific Union were Loma Linda's district manager, Ralph Marshall of Portland; Jerry Hanes, Portland; F. W. Cooper, Eugene; Clair Smith, Spokane; Charles Degering, Seattle and Ray Hemple, Seattle.

All sensed an air of enthusiasm throughout the meetings and as the men returned to their territories they did so with a new vigor and determination that assures even greater accomplishments during the year ahead.

Thank You

As a Dorcas leader here in Jamaica, I wish to send our thanks to the many Dorcas Societies that have contributed so liberally to the hurricane relief by sending clothing and other supplies. Hundreds have been warmed and many fed. We thank you for your interest in our behalf.

We are also grateful for the supply of literature and Bibles which has helped wonderfully in our missionary work here in Jamaica.

Auburn Academy Farm Superintendent

We are very happy to introduce to our constituency Mr. Maurice E. Wright, the newly elected superintendent of the Auburn Academy farm and dairy. Mr. Wright comes to us highly recommended with a background of farm experience. He was reared on a farm and worked his way through the last two years of the academy and four years of college by working on the schools farms.

Since 1944 Mr. Wright has been the manager of the Union Springs Academy farm. During this time the farm has prospered under his leadership. The dairy herd was built up from 27 to 80 head and other phases of the farm have developed equally well. For the past five years the farm which Mr. Wright has managed has showed gains up to as much as $6,000, which is an exceptional record for an academy farm.

We at Auburn Academy feel quite fortunate in being able to secure the services of such a successful school farm manager and look forward to the rebuilding of a very successful agricultural program at Auburn Academy. To this end we solicit your continued support and prayers.

Camp Meeting Reservations

A number of requests for room reservations for camp meeting have been received already, but it has been necessary for us to return the money sent in and to inform these individuals that we will not be accepting reservations for a number of months, at least. The reason for this is the fact that we cannot make reservations until we ascertain from Auburn Academy how many rooms will be available and which rooms in the various dormitories. We do know, however, that there will not be any rooms available in South Hall this year, because the academy needs some for their students who are there during the summer, and we were also short rooms for our visiting ministers last year. Therefore, please do not write in for rooms in South Hall, because we will not be able to grant your requests.

Please watch the Washington Conference section of the GLEANER for the announcement when we are ready to accept room reservations. Any orders received before that time will be received.

Winning Men For God

The work of the church today, like that of days gone by, is to seek and win men for God. The year 1952 can be a year of advancement if all enter wholeheartedly into service for our King.

In order to facilitate the spreading of the gospel, the early pioneers of the Advent message began printing the little paper Present Truth. From this small start, the publishing work has grown until today it spans the world. A very important part of this publishing work is sending our weekly missionary paper, the Signs of the Times. Once each year a special campaign is conducted for the Signs at which time reduced prices enable the sending of more subscriptions to more homes.

This year the Pacific Press has provided a wonderful film entitled "Winning Men For God" to help in the Signs promotion. Because we believe this film will be an inspiration to all, we are making it available to the Idaho field on the following places listed:

Boise, Friday night, February 22
Twin Falls, Sunday night, February 24

Rupert, Monday night, February 25.
Pocatello, Tuesday night, February 26
Salmon, Wednesday night, February 27

Payette, Thursday night, February 28
Baker, Friday night, February 29
Cove, Saturday night, March 1
Enterprise, Sunday night, March 2

Elder B. M. Preston of the North Pacific Union will bring to each meeting an inspiring message all will want to hear. Besides the above listed meetings, Elder Preston will speak at:

Eugene District

There is but one reason for the existence of the church in this day—the winning of souls. The Christian may have many things to occupy his mind and many responsibilities in which to engage, but surely he has but one business—the business of saving souls.

Since the turn of the year a number of members in our district are laying a new emphasis on this important work. The picture or projector method is being used with gratifying results. The Elmira church has entered into a friendly contest, forming themselves into missionary teams, to see which team can give the greatest number of studies in the neighborhood in a given length of time. The idea has caught fire. Lay evangelism pays big dividends.

The Eugene church is undertaking a strong missionary program this year. The city is divided into six parts with an elder in personal charge of each. He, with the assistance of other church officers and helpers, provides help for the needy, calls for the discouraged, and Bible studies for the unbeliever.

The Eugene church was asked to have complete charge of the iron lung division of the '52 March of Dimes in the city of Eugene. The General Chairman approached the pastor stating he was personally acquainted with some of our people and felt satisfied that when our people attempted a thing they did it well. It seems this particular responsibility has not been carried too well in previous years. We accepted the responsibility which consisted of distributing, caring for, and finally picking up 800 iron lungs in every part of our city. To do this it required the faithful, coordinated efforts of 32 of our people. Our work is being highly complimented in the press. We believe this work, so well done, will make some contribution, though indirectly, to our soul-saving activities.

As nearly all know by now, Eugene is in the midst of a large church building program. We shall need to spend $90,000 or a little more to complete the project with furnishings. Our people are responding nobly. They have resolved with the people of Nehemiah's day to "arise and build." The seating capacity of the church is about 600 with additional overflow accommodations of around 150. Ample provisions are being made to accommodate our neighbors and friends and all who may wish to join with us in our service to God. The building program is a part of Eugene's soul-winning activities. Together we are pressing forward with courage and zeal to bring to weary and lost men the saving power of Christ in this area, commonly known as the lumber capitol of the world. R. F. BRESEE.

The Dalles Church Occupies New Building

Sabbath, January 26, was a high day for the group of believers in the city of The Dalles, for it was on this day that they moved into their beautiful new church building.

Elder L. E. Biggs, our conference president, was present and delivered the first sermon in the new sanctuary, which was a stirring message on the need of conversion. In the afternoon the members of the neighboring churches were invited in for a district meeting. W. W. Ring, Brother Neal Losey and the writer are holding a series of evangelistic meetings which opened in the new church the afternoon and evening of Sunday, February 10. Perhaps the progress of this crusade may be reported in a future edition of these columns. However, at this time, recognizing the challenge of the community in which we are to labor, our company of workers invite your prayers that many souls may be won in this dark city before it is too late.

Laurelwood Academy

A large number of students at Laurelwood Academy have proved themselves capable of doing good work as attested to by the large number of honor roll students for the first semester.

The list of honor students given here does not include any of the seniors. Their names will appear in a subsequent issue of the GLEANER. The students receiving honor roll recognition among the freshmen, sophomores and juniors are:

Eight Point: Rodney Applegate, Sharon Armstrong, Hofton Balliou, Mardelle Ballou, Shirley Becker, Harry

Oregon News

Elder George E. Taylor stopped in Portland to visit his father and other relatives while en route to Edmonton, Alberta. Elder Taylor has recently been elected president of the Alberta Conference and is moving from Sacramento, California, to his new field.

Brother Manson Metcalf, of the Brookings district, has secured a good hall at Gold Beach and plans to commence a series of meetings early in March.

We were glad that Elder H. L. Rudy and wife could pay a short visit in Portland. Elder Rudy, we believe, was a one time worker in the Oregon Conference. He is now one of the General Conference vice-presidents.

Elder J. C. Hansen, of the Tillamook district, visited the office while in Portland to secure some material for the church improvements which are being made at Tillamook. During recent months the church there has improved both the church building and the church school.

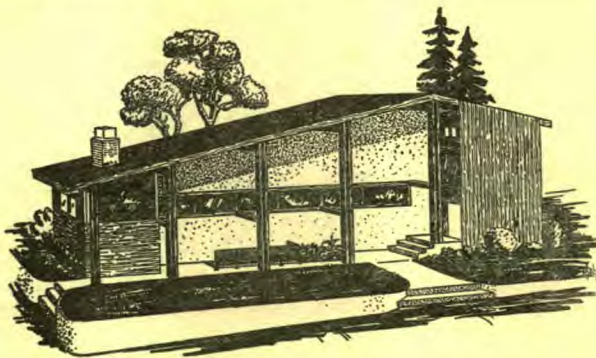

The Vancouver church has commenced work on their new church building which will be located on East Reserve Street and Twelfth. Since the abandonment of Fort Vancouver, a portion of the Fort grounds which is directly across the street from the church property is being occupied by the city. We understand a city park is to be opposite the church location.

On Friday, February 8, Elder John Peterson celebrated his 93rd birthday. Elder Peterson spent 39 years as a minister. He and his wife live in Portland. His five daughters are all in the truth, and four of them were present to help make their father's birthday a happy occasion. These four are Mrs. L. E. C. Joers of Tacoma, Mrs. E. V. Nelson of Spokane, and Mrs. A. M. Running and Miss Vesta Peterson of Portland. Mrs. A. E. Hempel of Boise was the absent daughter.

The new structure features the modern trend in architecture both inside and out, and is well accepted by the church members and others in the community. Redwood siding and stucco are combined with a profusion of glass to produce a unique appearance. Color is the keynote of the interior beauty. The side walls of the nave are finished in light green, and the back wall and narthex are rose stippled plaster. There is a balcony seating seventy persons, and a full basement which when finished will provide three fine Sabbath school rooms.

The class motto is, "Nothing short of the highest," and the aim is, "Keep climbing up though rugged be the heights." The class colors are white and blue and the class flower is the carnation.

Music students of the academy joined members of the speech department to present a home talent program in the academy assembly hall Saturday night, February 2. Piano solos, duets, instrumental numbers, readings, and a skit were presented. Claris F. Way, master of ceremonies, announced that another such program would be given in two weeks, February 16, with the addition of selections on the new electronic organ.

Two members of the Theology Club, Earl Witzel and Joe Humble, had charge of the preaching service at Livingston and Big Timber Sabbath, February 2. They were accompanied by Elder K. Eldon Baker, Bible and history teacher, and by Helen Altimus and Roberta Martin, who presented the messages in song.

Signs of the Times

When giving instructions to His disciples for the last days, Jesus told them to scan the heavens and observe the movements of the earth, for startling phenomena and strange sights would take place. These would be signs pointing to the nearness of His coming; and by placing these signs in their proper setting, it would enable them to be ready.

The Signs of the Times will vividly picture these world happenings to the reader which will prepare him for Christ's coming. What a pity should someone, especially a neighbor, friend, or loved one, say, "No one cared enough for my soul to tell me what these things meant." I am confident that we will take advantage of this opportunity to instruct the lost by doing all we can to send out the Signs of the Times.

Christian Education Pays

Many times people are prone to ask the question, "Does Christian education pay?" In dollars and cents it may not always seem practical, but this week we received word from Mr. John Mc-Gee, our teacher at Colville, Washington, stating that ten of his church school students have already been baptized this school year. Baptism, as we know, is the door to the church; these boys and girls of ours are coming into the church to help finish proclaim the message.

The above experience is being duplicated all around the circle of church schools in the Upper Columbia Conference. During this school year, more than one hundred will be baptized—will take their stand with the chosen people of God. We are living in a serious and critical time in this world's history, therefore every boy and girl of Seventh-day Adventist parentage should have a Christian education.

Brother McGee feels that it has been a very great privilege to teach and lead these children in the ways of the Lord, and at last see them take the final step to become members of this great organization. Congratulations, Brother and Sister McGee, for your fine work and the good influence you have had! Only eternity will tell the true value of Christian education.

Child Evangelism

Anyone within convenient travel distance from the Grandview church, and interested in child evangelism, will take note of this appointment: Mrs. Marion Hoel who has given such helpful and interesting studies in child evangelism in some of our churches will be at the Grandview church on Sabbath, February 23, for the 11 o'clock service and a 3 o'clock service in the afternoon. The Grandview church will welcome any visitors who may wish to attend from any of the surrounding churches. We feel sure you will receive help and inspiration from the service that will be presented on that day.

Church location: One-half block north of east city limits.

Was It Enough?—Report No. 4

Personal friends of ours in Denver, Colorado, had sent the Signs to their sister for fourteen years—even though they understood the Signs was never read. Our friends nearly decided to discontinue sending Signs of the Times the fifteenth year. It seemed so hopeless, but they sacrificed again and sent it. That summer the sister and her husband visited our friends in Denver and one of the first things they were told was: "We are reading the Signs of the Times that you send to us. When trouble came to our home, we found it was the paper we needed." The rest of the year they read the Signs, got in touch with the pastor of the district in Ohio where they lived, and as a result of that Signs they were baptized and then began working for a brother and wife and for the father and mother. As a result of that one subscription, eight are now baptized members of the church.

Was it enough to send the Signs for fourteen years? No. It took the fifteenth year of sacrifice and prayer to win!

You have done well before on Signs evangelism. Was it enough?

Aggressive Work in Lewiston

On Sabbath, January 26, Brother Rheberg, the missionary leader, with the pastor of the Lewiston church began their organization for aggressive missionary work for 1952. The pastor spoke on "Every Member a Worker for Christ." Slips had been handed out with the names of different bands and a place to check the band each individual preferred to join. Over sixty members signed up for work in different bands. Territory was arranged for literature distribution, and Brother Dryden appointed as the leader. Each band was given a leader and a definite program of soul winning was inaugurated.

On Friday night, February 8, the pastor started a little series of meetings to cooperate with the church members in soul-saving. The members were to do the advertising, hand out literature, give Bible studies, and use their cars to bring people to the meetings. On the first night, there was a good crowd of interested people that the church members had either found through working with literature, or through giving Bible studies.

Brother Richard Hall directed the music and had a choir of young people who helped marvelously in the meeting. There was special music, both vocal and instrumental. It was a blessed evening for all.

The Missionary Volunteer Society is doing good work in helping to lead out in missionary endeavors. The Lewiston church invites the prayers of the people of God that souls may be saved in God's eternal kingdom.

Upper Columbia Academy News

Early last summer the construction department erected a Martin metal silo on the farm. This silo will hold 120 to 130 tons of silage. Reports from the farm show that the addition has been a great help for the dairy. They are milking 28 cows which are producing 130 gallons of milk daily. Along with the silo, the department built a large chicken house and remodeled two older buildings. Two metal 1,000 bushel grain storage bins were erected, a new faculty residence built, and numerous repair and remodel jobs were done about the campus.

The wood-work shop has been busy too. Many repair and new jobs have been completed, among which are about 20 new tables for the classrooms. Last fall, the shop was able to purchase several much-needed hand tools; a new wood lathe, and a shaper. These help in the operation of the shop, both in class and regular work. We have a class in woodworking this year who are producing some very fine projects, as well as learning the rudiments of the subject. Another division of the Industrial Arts department is the mechanical drawing class. There are nine in the class, and they are doing very good work. Effort is being put forth to enlarge and equip an Industrial Arts department that will better train our young people for greater service for the cause we all love. A cordial invitation is extended to all visiting our campus to visit this department and see what is being accomplished.

Coming, Saturday night, February 23, Senior Benefit Program: Presenting, Robert Williams, former stage and radio star. Mr. Williams is now a Seventh-day Adventist and is using his talents for the cause of God. You are invited and urged to attend this outstanding performance.

The afternoon of February 3, the Junior Class met for the first time and chose the following officers: president, Gene Schroeder; vice president, Joyce Johnson; secretary, Doris St. Clair; treasurer, Bob Larrabee; chaplain, Terry Finney; sergeant-at-arms, Ralph Garner; adviser, C. S. Wallace.

On January 25, Elder C. Lester Bond spent some time with Brother and Sister William Clements in Goldendale, studying plans for their work and the completion of the church building. Elder Bond spoke to the Goldendale church Sabbath morning, January 26, leaving that evening for the Pacific Press and College of Medical Evangelists constituency meetings. On the return trip, he attended the Harris Pine Mills board meeting in Portland, Friday morning, February 1. The next day, Sabbath, Elder Bond was the guest speaker for the church service in the Yakima church, and in the afternoon, for the Naches church.

Elder M. J. Perry met with the Sandpoint members Sabbath morning, February 2, and in the afternoon, joined with the M. V. societies of the area in re-activating the Pend Oreille Associated M. V. Society. The Sandpoint church was filled, and every church of the area was represented, including the distant Ione church. The new officers chosen for this Associated M. V. Society are: Daniel Davidson, president; Mrs. Homer Drury, vice president; Janice Harbison, secretary; Kathleen Mandigo, associate secretary.

In connection with this meeting in Sandpoint, a large investiture of youth from the church and the church school was conducted. Every Junior MV class was represented. The Missionary Volunteers of this area have several worthwhile projects on their agenda, and we look forward to learning of their accomplishments in the near future.

The Coeur d'Alene church members heard Elder W. C. Loveless at the eleven o'clock hour on February 2, and the Missionary Volunteers of that church were host to him in the afternoon.

Elder M. J. Perry visited the Spokane Valley church on Sabbath, February 9, where he gave the morning sermon. In the afternoon he participated in the Operation Doorbell, assisting the young people in distributing literature preparatory to the effort which will be launched in a few days by Elders Spillman and Lyman. He then spoke to the MV society and discussed some current items of interest in connection with their society work.

Elder James E. Chase, home missionary secretary, reports that church officers and pastors are supporting the Signs Crusade in a marvelous way. From present indications, it would seem that 1952 accomplishments will easily equal and perhaps far surpass the 1951 accomplishments in the number of subscriptions to be taken by Seventh-day Adventists for use in their evangelistic endeavors.

Many people have written in asking for information on how they may secure films and projectors to be used in lay evangelism. Write for details to: Home Missionary Department, W. 1025 Indiana Ave., Spokane, Washington. The offer applies only to Adventists living in the Upper Columbia Conference.

Elder H. K. Christman, circulation manager of the Pacific Press Publishing Association, visited the office on Tuesday, February 12, in regards to the Signs Crusade.

Sister Pearl Tiffany, member of the Spokane Central church, reports to the Home Missionary Department that she is currently giving at least two Bible studies per week, in addition to caring for her family of seven—four of the children are being cared for from another family. She is "on fire for God," and when people love the Lord sincerely and fervently they find time to work for Him. We thank God for Sister Tiffany and the example she sets for us in her soul-winning endeavors. Let us remember her in our prayers.

New Features in Home Economics

A definite contribution to progress has been made by the home economics department of Walla Walla College through the introduction of Hand-Weaving, and Upholstery into its curriculum. Over-crowded in its present quarters, expansion was necessary before these courses could be offered. An old shed back of the cottage was repaired, remodelled, and redecorated. Into this small building went two looms, a few hammers, some tacks, webbing, and other paraphernalia, and here the girls went to work in what they call the "Little Loom House." When the upholstery course was started another room was necessary and this had to be built on to the one then in use. Decorated with a touch of Early American beauty, these light and airy rooms are a delightful workshop for nimble fingers in their creative search for something new.

A Practical Art

The art of weaving has long been known, and universally practiced. The wise man (of Proverbs) speaks thus concerning a virtuous woman, "She seeketh wool, and flax, and worketh willingly with her hands. . . . She layeth her hands to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaff. . . . She maketh herself coverings of tapestry; her clothing is silk and purple. . . . She maketh fine linen, and selleth it." In spite of the machine age, portions of the Old World still make hand woven fabrics and they provide some of our most beautiful garments. A recent revival of the art in this country provides a means of livelihood as well as an interesting hobby, and at the same time affords a great deal of satisfaction to the one engaged in it. Veterans' Hospitals use weaving a good deal for physical therapy, because it activates stiffened muscles and relaxes tensed nerves. The weaver, at his loom, is stimulated to create new color schemes, new plays of texture, and original designs. Thus his ingenious manipulations produce materials of both beauty and quality.

Valuable in Mission Fields

Marjorie Johnson (class of '45) writes from the Gwelo Mission school in Southern Rhodesia where she is in charge of the girls' work: "Please send us a blueprint of your loom. I think our boys in the shop could make one and save the expense of transportation. I am anxious to teach our girls how to weave. There are so many lovely grasses and reeds growing wild here, I am sure we could make many beautiful mats, tablecloths, and other articles to sell. The girls greatly need some way by which they can earn part of their school expense." Over on the other side of the world, Mrs. Robert Youngberg (Evaline Woods) sends a similar appeal: "I wish I had taken your course in hand weaving while there at the college. We need to help our girls find some way to earn money. I believe they could learn to weave beautiful dresser scarves, table runners, and luncheon sets from the many grasses and fibers which grow wild here. Could you send me a small loom, or tell me where I can get one, and please send me a book showing how to work the thing."

Upholstery a Practical Training

The upholstery class has proved from the start to be both practical and fascinating. It makes possible the giving of new life to an old chair, the converting of a discarded heirloom to a parlor piece once more, and the provision of new beauty in a home made more attractive thereby. Ripping apart the well worn covering students go to the bottom of a dilapidated article, install new webbing, repair and re-tie springs, and re-finish scratched woodwork, until finally more padding and a clean fabric cover convert an attic relic to a parlor chair. In a similar manner an old barrel, a saw, some padding, a cover, a few nails, and a little paint makes a valuable article in the home from something of negligible value at the start. This phase of the Home Economics activities is also very useful in the mission field. From Alaska comes this doleful message in a letter from Mrs. Sherbourne Smith (Shirley Quackenbush), "I wish you had taught upholstery before I left college. Now I have to work with one hand while holding a magazine (giving instructions) with the other." In these ways and many others, the Home Economics department strives to do its part in "The School That Educates for Life."
