VOL. 47, No. 11

COLLEGE PLACE, WASHINGTON, MARCH 17, 1952

A Wire Direct From Southern Europe

The need in Western Africa and Ethiopia is urgent, hence the cable direct from the division headquarters in Northern Europe, under whose direction this needy mission field operates. This cable came direct to the North Pacific Union Conference for all the leaders and members in our Sabbath schools.

As you know, there are four big outstanding events in the calendar year of every Sabbath school. We call these events the Thirteenth Sabbaths. On those special Sabbaths a large and special missions offering is taken up and the overflow from that offering is dedicated to some very needy mission field. Sabbath, March 29, is the date of the first such special Sabbath in 1952. Our Sabbath schools throughout the union are making large plans for an extra big Thirteenth Sabbath offering. In most of the Sabbath schools goals were adopted at the beginning of the quarter based on at least an average of $2 per member or more. We suggest that all of our Sabbath schools set such a goal immediately, if they have not already done so, and encourage each division, class, and individual to set themselves a worthwhile aim for their Thirteenth Sabbath offering on March 29.

We would have to have a heart of stone not to be touched by the urgent appeals and needs in Africa that we have had brought to us all through the quarter in our missions readings each Sabbath. Remember that Jesus had a definite goal in mind when He left heaven to give His life for us. May God help each of us as Sabbath school members to plan for something large and grand for God in the way of our Thirteenth Sabbath offering on March 29. We know our faithful members in the North Pacific will respond in a liberal way to the cable from the division office.

B. M. PRESTON.

A Warning

The Shepherd's Rod people are trying a new approach in order to win our people, especially our young ministers and ministerial students in our schools. During the past weeks they have sent, and still are sending out, a letter with the caption "The International Student Relief Association of America." Then they add the words "Strictly Seventh-day Adventist in Faith and Absolutely Biblical." The letter is addressed: "Dear S. D. A. Ministerial Student and Fellow-servant."

In this letter they make an appeal to our ministerial students to stop worrying about working too much in order to earn their expenses. They quote the testimonies which stress the need for more laborers in the gospel field. The spirit of their letter is to depreciate the value of labor on the part of our students in our schools. They try to support their theory by quotations from the Spirit of prophecy which stress the need of more laborers in the field. The quotations used do not in any way support their theory. The clear teaching of the Spirit of prophecy is in favor of our students receiving a preparation not only of the heart and mind but also of the hand or manual labor. "If a youth has physical strength that he has not put to account in useful toil, it is a mistake for parents to give him money to use freely in taking a ministerial or a medical course." —Special Testimonies, Series B, No. 1, page 30. "Let the study of books be combined with useful manual labor." —Christ's Object Lessons, p. 334.

The letter sent to our ministerial students is written in such a way that some may think that it has been sent out by our conferences. The letter closes by recommending a streamlined ministerial course of study and in parenthesis they say, "Recognized by the Selective Service System of Washington, D. C."

The letter assures our ministerial students, upon completion of this course offered by The Davidic-Levitical Institute, a position. It says: "Remember now that immediately after a successful orientation you will be granted a complete scholarship and with it a full membership in this benevolent Association. Then upon your successfully completing this course, tailored to the need of the hour, you will receive a permanent position with wages plus traveling expenses around the Seventh-day Adventist world first, and finally to every nation throughout the whole vineyard of the Lord!"

We wish to make it clear to all our ministerial students and believers everywhere that the letter sent out by the Shepherd's Rod group has no connection whatsoever with the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Those who are lured into accepting this offer will not benefit themselves. We hope and pray that no one will be led astray by this subtle letter.

When the denomination has a different course to offer its ministerial students to prepare them for God's service, it will be made known through its church paper, the Review and Herald, and other denominational channels. May the Lord help us to see the difference between His divine leadership in the Advent Movement and that of self-appointed men who repeatedly attempt to work under the guise or cloak of the Movement.

Adventists Dentist Meet

The Northwest Chapter of N.A.S.D.A.D. met Sunday evening, March 2, at Timberline Lodge for a banquet and business meeting. Dr. Tommy Thompson, president for 1951, presided over the meeting and introduced the guests. Elder Lloyd E. Biggs and Elder C. A. Scriven spoke briefly to the group on their responsibility of helping prepare others for the coming of our Saviour.

Dr. Albert E. Burns, secretary-treasurer for the Chapter, told of the history and purpose of the Association. N.A.S.D.A.D., the name chosen by the National Association of Seventh-day Adventist Dentists, was founded in 1943 by Dr. J. R. Mitchel, recently deceased. This first meeting was held in Lansing, Michigan, and had a charter membership of 13. N.A.S.D.A.D. now boasts an active membership of 240.

Speaker for the evening was Elder H. L. Rudy, vice president of the General Conference, who told of the plans now in progress for the new C. M. E. building project.

Much credit for the success of this meeting goes to Dr. Tommy Thompson, Dr. Albert Burns, Dr. Ted Flaiz who arranged the social activities, and Dr. Walter Skreslet who sang two beautiful numbers for the occasion.

Officers elected for the coming year are: president, Dr. Don Coy; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Ted Flaiz; program committee: Dr. John Neufeld and Dr. Shephard.

This was not just a meeting of dentists but a group of consecrated men dedicating their lives and talents to that of spreading the gospel to the far corners of the earth. Surely God will bless and prosper such an organization as this.

Friends Or Relatives In Ireland?

Southern Ireland or Eire, as it is now known, is almost one hundred per cent Catholic. Northern Ireland is approximately one-half Catholic and one-half Protestant. Our work in these countries through the years has made slow progress. It has met with stubborn prejudice and opposition. This antagonism is felt in both countries and from both religious groups. In fact, the opposition by the Protestant church leaders is probably more intense than from the Catholic leaders. Extreme difficulty is encountered in securing suitable halls. Invitations to public meetings beget practically no response.

House-to-house labor, however, has produced a fruitage and our leaders are convinced that for a time at least this method should be followed. Pastor O. M. Dorland, our leader in Ireland, is a worker of long and successful experience and is particularly gifted in personal visitation and cottage meetings. He is desirous of receiving from our brethren and sisters in America the names and addresses of their friends or relatives in Ireland that through them he might make contact which may lead to opportunities to present the truth. If there are those having such contacts in Ireland, will you not send their names along to Pastor Dorland and thus assist him in finding entrance to the homes of some who might be won to the truth? His address is O. M. Dorland, Sunningdale Park, Belfast, Northern Ireland. Do not put it off. If you have such, please send their names along to Brother Dorland, and then pray that he may be able to search them out and bring them to a knowledge of the third angel's message.

Harbor of Hope

During the years that Elder L. L. Grand Pre' has been pastor of the Missoula church and district, he has been on the air with what is known as the Harbor of Hope program. He started this program six years ago when he was in the New York Conference, and has continued it in Montana. The program has been of inestimable value as an advertising medium for public efforts, bringing to the meetings over half of the visitors. It has also served to break down prejudice.

We are quoting a few excerpts which have been selected out of the hundreds of fine letters that he has received commenting favorably upon his radio program.

"Would you please send me a copy of the booklet, Time's Last Hour, and of the Twentieth Century Bible Course." Polson, Montana.

"Please send me the Twentieth Century Bible Course and poem book." Perma, Montana.

"We hear your program every Sunday and think it and the Voice of Prophecy are the best programs on the air." Arlee, Montana.

"Thanks for remembering the old folks and shut-ins in your prayers." Missoula, Montana. (This person has since been baptized.)

We are happy that the message of God can be given by this wonderful medium as well as through personal effort, Bible studies, literature, and the many other ways that God has inspired to save souls.

O. T. GARNER.

"Signs" Prayer List

The distribution of the Signs has been received with mounting enthusiasm this year; for, by the little prayer book plan, the reader not only receives the wonderful truths presented in the doctrinal, prophetic, and devotional articles of the Signs, but is daily impressed to accept those truths by the earnest prayers of the sender.

You, too, can win your loved ones and neighbors to Christ by sending the Signs and praying for souls. If you have not ordered your Signs and made up your prayer list—do so this week.

Mt. Ellis Academy News

Honor roll students for the six weeks' term were led by Waneta Zehm and Dennis McCarthy, who received all A's. Yvonne Badgley received all A's and one B; Roy Conner, Susan Fosdal, and Marian Holman, two A's and two B's; Pat Boucher, one A and two B's; Mary Nell McDowell, all B's. Those with B average were Joe Humble, Jean Kurtz, Marilyn Miller, Donna Lee Seright, Everet Witzel, Marian Wold, and Merna Yeatts.

Elder E. G. Fresk, pastor of the Billings church was the consecration service speaker Friday evening, March 7, presenting a message on the life of Joseph. He brought greetings to the student body from Rosemary Wills and Susan Fosdal, students who have been hospitalized in Billings since their involvement in an automobile accident two weeks ago, and revealed that the girls are making a remarkable recovery.

Miss Anne Elwell, graduate musician of Marylhurst College in Portland, Oregon, presented an organ concert in the assembly hall Saturday night, March 8. The income realized from this program almost completes the amount yet outstanding on the purchase price of the Baldwin electronic organ.

Montana News

We were very happy to have Elders J. C. Kozel, M. V. Tucker, C. S. Joyce, E. S. Humann, and J. T. Porter from the union conference office meet with us March 3 for our annual audit and committee meeting in Bozeman. We rejoice that the conference was able to close its books for 1951 with an operating gain. Every year the Lord has blessed us so that this has been possible.

We had our annual Mt. Ellis Academy board meeting on the following day, March 4. In addition to the union brethren, we were delighted to have Elder L. R. Rasmussen of the General Conference educational department present for the board meeting. It is with much pleasure that we announce the unanimous reelection of Professor C. L. Witzel as principal of the Mt. Ellis Academy and the entire faculty. The program at the school has been moving along smoothly for which we are thankful.

It was a pleasure to have Miss Janice Butzbach, who has been serving in the Alaska Mission office, call at the office this past week.

Should We Do Something?

Sweet Home, Oregon—Four teenage girls arrived in high school so intoxicated and acting so silly under the influence of liquor that they had to be sent home. Should we do something about it?

Portland, Oregon—Not long ago 90 intoxicated men were lodged in the city jail. Several came from respectable families. Can we and should we do something about it?

Oregon Journal—Two men and a woman Monday in municipal court were convicted of driving while drunk. Should we do something about it?

Speaking in a city church, Judge Matthew Hill, associate justice of the Washington State Supreme Court, stated: "Judges throughout the country agree that liquor is the major cause of crime." Should we do something about it?

From the pages of the Spirit of prophecy we learn that the use of alcohol is one of the most important agencies used by the evil one to make it difficult for men and women to accept the truth. We can do something about it.

By taking out a membership in the American Temperance Society we keep informed of what is happening; we learn of what is being done, and we financially support the temperance work of the local church, the conference and the General Conference. Don't you want to help? Then see your local temperance secretary and enroll without delay.

Student Week of Prayer at Columbia Academy

Our Student Week of Prayer began Monday morning, the 4th of February. During this week all classes were shortened to make it possible to have prayer bands before chapel. The boys and girls of each class had separate prayer bands, each group meeting in a different room. Each student received a wonderful blessing from the bands as his earnest and sincere prayer ascended heavenward.

The chapel services were conducted by the students. The speakers were: JoAnn Marx, Delno Hohman, Wilma Jackson, Otis Lee, and Carol Glynn. All the talks were upon our theme "Jesus the Man." The motto hung in the front of the chapel beneath the picture of Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Our Week of Prayer came to an end Friday night, February 8, as Harold Eslinger spoke in Friday night vesper. We were drawn very near to our Master as we came forward during the altar call, determined to live for God, and to pattern our lives after our Lord and Saviour, "Jesus the Man."

Portland Dorcas Federation

On March 11 at the Portland Sanitarium Nurses' Chapel about 200 Dorcas members gathered to enjoy the special music, reports and other treats of the meeting. Floyd Bresee gave some inspirational thoughts from Matthew 25:40. The picture "In His Name" made each realize the much needed work that is yet to be done. Elder Joyce impressed us with the need of welfare centers to be established in the near future.

The Federation is still growing and all old and new members will be welcome to the meeting this fall.

Remember Our Colporteurs

The Upper Columbia Conference has a splendid group of earnest men and women selling our truth-filled books and periodicals. Their deliveries for the first two months of 1952 have averaged more than $1500 per week, and there is an over-all gain in deliveries of $2,972 over a similar period of 1951.

This has required diligent work and earnest prayer on the part of the colporteurs. Let us, as members of the churches throughout this field, also pray for their success, that God will impress those who purchase the books to read their messages and embrace the truth for these last days. Let us remember that "prayer is the key in the hand of faith to unlock heaven's storehouse, where are treasured the boundless resources of Omnipotence." Let us not only pray, but do everything we can to encourage these faithful workers in their service for the Master.

If you are interested in joining the ranks of our colporteur army, we invite you to contact Brother Ray Van Voorst, W. 1025 Indiana Avenue, Spokane 17, Washington.

C. LESTER BOND.

Splendid Gains

The General Conference treasurer's report on the Eighty-Cent-a-Week Fund for the Upper Columbia Conference for the month of January, 1952, shows a splendid gain over January, 1951.

The per capita tithe for the conference is one of the highest among the conferences of the North Pacific Union.

This indicates that the earning power of the members of our churches is equal to that in other fields. Consequently, our gifts for foreign missions should be right at the top. Not every member can give eighty cents per week for foreign missions, but there are those who can give very much more than this without any great degree of sacrifice.

Let us earnestly pray regarding the matter, and ask God to help us to give liberally for the support of His work among peoples who have never heard the gospel story.

We thank you again for your loyal support and earnest cooperation.

C. LESTER BOND.

A Special Appeal

Sunday night, March 2, marked the beginning of a third evangelistic endeavor in the Bible Auditorium at 121 Avenue "C" in Kennewick. The opening service was well attended, but a much larger audience is expected.

The sermon topic for Sunday evening, March 23, will be "Millions Deceived by Religion's Biggest Blunder." Considering the importance of this lecture, and the fact that it alone may lead some who hear to a definite decision for the truth, I make a special appeal to all readers of the GLEANER to write or phone their relatives, friends, and acquaintances in the Kennewick, Pasco, and Richland areas urging them to cancel all other engagements and attend this service in the Bible Auditorium on Sunday, March 23, at 7:30 P.M.

If you succeed in getting them to attend, this one little endeavor on your part in behalf of your friends and loved ones may do more to lead them to an acceptance of the truth than anything else you could possibly do for them.

Although a large attendance is expected at this service, we want our church members in surrounding churches to feel welcome and to attend the service, for, if necessary, we would rather conduct two services on Sunday evenings than to have our members feel that there is not room for them.

The musical talent for the service will be supplied by Walla Walla College. All cannot attend these meetings, but all believers can pray God's richest blessing upon the effort.

C. L. VORIES.

Unsolicited

This is an unsolicited word of praise for a book I have just finished reading. It is in the 1952 Ministerial Book Club, but it should be read by thousands of our people. Especially should this book be read by our young people of high school age who do not have the privilege of attending our schools and who have to sit at the feet of teachers of the modern school who do not believe the Bible to be an authentic history of creation or of the next greatest event in all history, the flood of Noah.

Over and over, George McCready Price is quoted as an authority in this book of 350 pages dealing with the flood. The law of God is given its rightful place. The last chapter, "The Flood, a Prototype of the Final Judgment," reads like it had been written by a Seventh-day Adventist writer, and I like to think of the author as being a good Lutheran Adventist.

You may order this book—The Flood, by Alfred M. Rehwinkel—through the Upper Columbia Book and Bible House. The price of $4.75 will be one of the best investments you can make in the interest of strengthening the faith of old and young in the divine inspiration of the Bible.

ANDREW ROEDEL.

Sprague and Ritzville

Sunday night, March 9, was a new experience for the little town of Sprague, Washington. There was a good crowd of attentive friends as Sunny Liu led a thrilling song service. It was evident that the people were not of our faith, but they enjoyed the singing and the inspiration of their favorite gospel songs. The Lord richly blessed us in our opening meeting and it was a thrill to know that the audience was made up entirely of non-Adventists.

The town of Sprague is located 44 miles from Spokane and 23 miles from Ritzville and has a population of just under 200 people. There are no Adventists living near. We will be holding meetings three nights a week in the town, and ask an interest in your prayers that the Lord will gather a rich harvest from our humble labors.

Monday night, March 17, Elder James Chase, the home missionary secretary of our conference, will begin a series of five meetings in the church in Ritzville. These meetings will start a spring effort that will run three nights a week in this strong Lutheran community. The Lord has richly blessed in Ritzville; and at the present time there are several families planning to follow their Lord in baptism in the near future. Sunny Liu and Clarence Klopfenstein are doing a fine job with the music, and we have the wholehearted cooperation of our faithful members. We are planning for many victories for God this spring.

BILL LOVELESS.

Upper Columbia Academy

It was a privilege for our school family to have two of our leading educational men with us this past week end. Elder L. R. Rasmussen from the General Conference and Elder J. T. Porter inspected our school plant and visited the classes Friday. Elder Rasmussen followed a very busy schedule by speaking in chapel, seminar, the evening vespers, and church service on Sabbath. "What are you getting out of your education," was his theme. The Missionary Volunteer meeting by Elder Porter challenged us to prepare ourselves while here at the academy. We appreciated very much the challenges brought to us by these men.

We are now enjoying a wonderful Week of Prayer. Elder James Ward, chaplain at the Walla Walla General Hospital, is helping us become better acquainted with "The Man, Christ Jesus."

Elders C. Lester Bond and H. J. Perkins visited churches in the Yakima Valley the week end of March 8. ### They See Red

In my tour of the churches I am pleased to find the rightful place that Christian music is given in the order of worship. Consecrated singers and choirs have done much to make our services worshipful as well as seasons of blessing. For this, much credit is due to the choir leaders who have worked untiringly, often under great handicaps. These faithful workers deserve our constant prayers and support.

It is my settled conviction that choir robes make for dignity and uniformity in a church choir. The robes prevent any display of fashion or person that would in any way detract from the spirituality of a church service. The choir robes have been accepted among us and should not be looked upon as being worldly any more than baptismal robes.

However, I wish to call attention to a certain trend which is greatly disturbing the rank and file of our believers. It disturbs them to the extent that they see red, both literally and mentally, thus robbing the conscientious listeners of the blessing they should receive from the singing. I have reference to the increasing tendency on the part of our women singers to participate in choir and singing assignments with their lips painted a brilliant hue.

Singing in a church choir is not only an act of worship but also an act of ministry. It is expected of those who minister in our churches that their attire and facial appearance in no way detract from the act of worship and ministry. Whether one concedes it or not, the brilliantly painted lips of choir singers constitute a breach of good taste as far as Christian church standards are concerned, and are definitely out of place in a Seventh-day Adventist church choir.

It is extremely difficult for our ministers and Bible instructors to win over new believers to Seventh-day Adventist standards when each Sabbath choir members exhibit lips adorned with livid red. It is equally difficult for the teachers in our church schools, academies and colleges to teach our youth one standard when our choir members publicly demonstrate another. That this trend has brought confusion to our youth and perplexity to our new believers, no one will question. It must stop!

By this I mean that those who sing in our churches should adhere to the principles of dignity and good taste for church services as understood by Seventh-day Adventists. Should any church member take exception to this request, then it would be best for such to resign from the choir. If need be, it would be far better to disband the choir than to permit an exhibition to continue which confuses and perplexes our worshipers.

Therefore, I am appealing to our people to firmly support the choir leaders in eliminating this trend among us. In doing this we need not offend anyone. No one should be embarrassed or publicly corrected. Those who have charge of singing groups should give quiet talks setting forth our requirements in the matter, and soliciting the cooperation of all. In choosing soloists for any church service, care should be exercised to select those who meet the church's standard. If they do not know, then some mature woman church officer should tactfully speak to such soloists before they sing.

Our choir members and singers are sincere, and it may be our lack of leadership and direction that has brought about the laxity. With all Christian charity and kindness, let us help them to understand what is expected of them and what it means to the church. I am confident that they will not disappoint us and that they will fully cooperate to the end that God's blessing will be our portion.

THEODORE CARCICH.

Unite To Defeat a Common Enemy

"The greatest want of the world is the want of men, men who will not be bought or sold . . . men who will stand for the right though the heavens fall."

These words have become trite to many Seventh-day Adventists but they impressively enunciate the need of this perilous hour.

"Is it not time for us to arouse our God-given capabilities, to catch holy zeal that we have not had as yet? And is it not time that we should stand as Calebs, come to the front, raise our voices, and cry out against the reports that are going all around us? Are we not able to possess the land? We are able in God to do a mighty work upon the point of temperance."—Temperance, p. 256.

Liquor and brewery interests are not timid in their efforts to seduce the entire populace. The industry twenty years ago expressed the keynote of its campaign when on the day following the 1932 election the Brewery News stated: "Not one-tenth of one per cent of the youth of America know the taste of real beer—We must educate them." From that hour to the present these apostles of human destruction have engaged in a persistent, remorseless, amply-subsidized advertising offensive, seeking to suggest to unwary minds that the strong man drinks his whiskey and that it is only the weak who refuse or cannot abide it. They strike at the note in our invertebrate mentality where the defense seems most vulnerable and most easily goes down; they strike and strike again. That point is the herd-instinct's desire to be with the crowd. So, it is fashionable to drink, and if you do not you are queer and not worth giving any attention to, socially or otherwise. Many a page in popular magazines is devoted to beautiful, gorgeously-colored travesties of some fine natural thing now bent to liquor's purpose. This is not but one facet in the long-range purpose to make the United States a drinking nation.

A recent Christmas number of a well-known magazine carried a poem entitled "A Modern Christmas Carol" and advertised a particular brand of whiskey; in another picture a toast was being given to "The Spirit of Christmas." One brewery company used a candy castle and the caption "To Help Make A Child's Dream Come True" and then told of their valuable (?) research.

On another occasion we saw a full-page picture of a family group sending greetings to a boy in service—a very bold beer ad, telling the boy that his mother prayed for him every day.

These are only a few of the pictures I have in mind. Would anyone be interested in making abstinence so attractive, so beautifully pictured? Or possibly a few results of those "hell-promotion" pictures could be sprinkled along through the pages of the same popular magazine. "But who would pay for them? 'Not I,' says the pussy cat, the politician; 'Not I,' says the duck, the drinker; 'Not I,' says the rat, the retailer; 'Not I,' says the pig, the producer; and so the little mother hen, the mother of men, shakes her head and says, 'I might if I could, but I can't.'" —The American Issue, February 1944.

Let us not take the hopeless position that we can do nothing. All of us have a circle in which our influence counts. All of us can support the great national efforts to limit the work of the destroyer. Most of us can be active members of the American Temperance Society and thus join hands with brethren across the country in a larger temperance effort. March is temperance month and your church leaders call for your enlistment as an A.T.S. member.

The great want of the world is for men who are not afraid to stand up and be counted.

"Shall there not be among us as a people a revival of the temperance work? Why are we not putting forth much more decided efforts to oppose the liquor traffic, which is ruining the souls of men, and is causing violence and crime of every description? With the great light that God has intrusted to us, we should be in the forefront of every true reform." —Councils on Health, page 432.

Attention Press Secretaries

Remember the important appointment for Monday, April 7 at 10:00 A.M. at the Caldwell church.

Will You Help Too?

In February you read in this column about our plans to improve the conference MV camp. Last year we were able to add two new piers at the waterfront, build a new cabin on the south side, a duplex on the north side of the camp, and put corrugated aluminum on seven of the old cabins. The leveling of the playground near the outdoor chapel was another progressive step. Most of these improvements were possible because of donations in cash, the use of heavy earth moving equipment without charge and free labor.

In June we must plan to make the bridge safe for traffic, build new and better rest rooms, buy two canoes, build at least one new cabin, equip the duplex and make other minor improvements. We estimate this to cost $1500. Camp fees do not cover capital improvements, therefore we need extra help from friends. Already a portion of this sum has been received from those interested in this worthy project. Will you help too? Send your check to MV Camp Improvement, Box 2238, Boise, Idaho. Thank you.

A. J. WERNER.

Lay Effort At Elgin

On February 17, the home missionary department of the La Grande church began holding public meetings at Elgin, Oregon. These meetings have been well attended and a real interest has developed during the past few weeks. The success of these meetings can be attributed largely to the untiring efforts of Brethren John Redfield, Vernon Bretsch, Ralph Martin, and many others who have helped in handing out literature, giving special music, and other items.

In connection with the effort, a branch Sabbath school was organized March 8, and is held in the V.F.W. hall.

It is hoped that there may be a good increase from this fine lay effort. We solicit your prayers and loyal support as these consecrated lay workers move forward in laboring for others.

Idaho News

We are happy to announce to the Idaho believers that the camp meeting dates have been set as June 12-21 and at Caldwell, as usual. While it is too early to know exactly what help we will have from the General Conference and other sources, rumors are such, that we believe we can expect an unusually good camp meeting season. It would be well for all to start laying plans to attend this spiritual feast and time of fellowship.

Elder A. J. Gordon, conference president, is holding a series of eight revival meetings in the Boise church. At this time of writing two meetings have been held and the church was well filled on both nights. The services are held on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights at 7:30 P.M. All are welcome to attend.

Good reports are coming in about fine interest continuing at both the Nampa and Payette efforts. Other workers are holding cottage meetings and Bible studies and the laity in several places are at work winning souls. Prospects look encouraging for a good harvest. Sunday night meetings are also in progress at Enterprise.

Elder Gordon has recently returned from a trip to Los Angeles where he contacted several doctors and medical students in an effort to interest these professional men to settle in our field. The possibility of several locating in the Idaho Conference territory is very good.

Brother Allaway conducted services at the Payette church Sabbath; he also had the young people's meeting in the afternoon. He mentioned that the folks at Payette are really doing some missionary work, especially in their fine welfare center.

On Friday evening, March 7, Elder W. A. Scriven met with the Burns church. The following day he met with the Dayville and Long Creek churches. He was happy to find Brother Harris and family well and carrying on a good missionary work in that area.

Brother Allaway and Brother Scriven will be in Jerome, Gooding, Twin Falls, and Filer this week end.

We are happy that there are new men who are thinking of taking up the colporteur work. Surely there are others who should hear the Lord's call. "The vineyard is large, and the Lord is calling for laborers. Do not allow anything to keep you from the work of soul-saving. The canvassing work is a most successful way of saving souls. Will you not try it?"

We are of good courage at the conference office and feel that the work of God is on the move in Idaho. Let us all continue to pray and work together to the end that the giving of the message to all who will obey may be soon realized and Jesus can come.

Australian Travelogue

During the spring quarter Keith Moxon senior biology major, will tour the Northwest presenting his color travelogue "Australian Walkabout." If you enjoy surprises, love nature, and like plenty of action you will be delighted with this unusual program. In this "Walkabout" an Australian describes the unique and strange features of his country, such as the modern cities, primitive ant-eating people, cuddlesome koala bears, duck billed platypus, as well as the kangaroo, cockatoo, and cassowary. Then there is the virile surf lifesaver wrestling periled lives from the fury of the sea. The yachting scenes in Sydney harbor are a thing of beauty.

Colorful, educational, and interesting this unique program appeals to everyone from the tiniest tot to the oldest adult. Moxon's friendly delivery and unusual descriptive powers, together with his pleasing Australian accent, give added charm to the excellent pictures and provide a ninety minute program that will long be remembered by all who hear him. Watch for further announcements in your local bulletins and papers.

Department of Mathematics

The mathematics department is one of the small departments of the college but is a very important one since it is fundamental to chemistry, physics and engineering students in addition to those who are interested in the subject for its own sake. A long line of distinguished teachers have served in this department. J. L. Kay taught the first 13 years serving five presidents and then became the sixth president in 1905. W. E. Nelson taught five years and gave way to W. I. Smith who became president four years later. George Kretschmar taught a good deal of math along with his work in the physics department. Following him came Clyde Cramlet, and then Herman Sittner. It was in 1923 that W. W. C. granted its first bachelor's degree in math to Lilah Godfrey who had to take some courses at Whitman College. She returned in 1934 to head the department for the next six years. During her first year Cecil Davis and Ralph Gustin graduated, and were the first math majors to receive all their course work in this school. When Miss Godfrey gave up her work to marry Adam Schlotthauer the department was headed by Ralph Davidson assisted by Orason L. Brinker who became the head in 1945, which position he still holds. Later on Mrs. Schlotthauer returned to the staff as assistant in the mathematics department. She holds a Master's degree from the University of Washington, and Mr. Brinker's Master's degree is from the University of Denver. He has taken further work at Washington State College.

The mathematics department has an enrollment of about a hundred students, and graduates several each year. Some of these have made splendid records since leaving college. Eugene Quade ('46) teaches high school physics in The Dalles, Oregon. Calvin Martin ('49) and Louis Wolfkill ('51) are computers for the army engineers at McNary Dam near Umatilla, Oregon. Dick Bredemier ('51) has a graduate assistantship at Oregon State College, and Vernon Jennings ('47) is taking graduate work in physics at the University of Washington. Cecil Davis ('35) is principal of Columbia Academy, and Edward Edstrom is a missionary in Africa. Then there is Florence Moline ('37) teaching math at Union College, and working under Ed Ogden who studied math here but went elsewhere for graduation. Gus Streifling ('45) has charge of the mathematics department at Oshawa Missionary College, and Ed Specht ('37-38), now a Ph. D., is head of the mathematics department at Emmanuel Missionary College.

Such is the record of that energetic group of brave and ambitious students who delight in the manipulations of mathematics, who enjoy dealing with the right triangle and the elusive cosine, and whose minds expand with the rigors of calculus. In the realm where the brave survive and the feeble falter, the department of mathematics is playing a fundamental role in the lives of many students, and awaits the coming of many more.

History Project Progresses

The history project, jointly launched last year by the college, the alumni, and the students, has made good progress. Over 350 pages of typed source material have been assembled, and there are more than 50 pages of other material waiting to be copied. In addition to the hundreds of pictures available here, former students have loaned about 200 others which have been copied and returned to their owners. There are about 100 more that are either being copied or awaiting that procedure. A detailed outline of the book has been prepared, and is being revised by the working committees. The dummy is ready for the editorial committee to set up. Printing and binding supplies are on hand, so there need be no delay in production, once the writing is completed. The compilation of statistical material is nearly finished.

The cover design contest is about to close with a number of excellent entries already turned in. Gordon Dalrymple, student representative on the steering committee, is in charge of the contest. Judges for the contest are being chosen, and it is expected that they will make final decisions later this month. Henry Montgomery's student committee and Dr. W. I. Smith's alumni committee are steadily at work gathering material for the book, but much more is needed. In the near future a list of additional material desired will be tabulated in this column. As soon as a cover design has been selected, and a sample volume is ready for display, a subscription drive will be launched. The students' association has appointed a committee to lead out in this feature of the project, and its members, under the leadership of Juanita Thiebaud, are working on plans for starting it in the near future.

The history of our college is both colorful and fascinating, and the compilation of its story is long overdue. Let us put forth a special effort to finish the task, and we may then enjoy the result of our labors, with a book in which we can all take a just pride.
