

Sabbath School Evangelism Offering Gets Results

A very important offering will be received in all the churches in the North Pacific Union at the church service on Sabbath, September 27. It is known as the Sabbath School Evangelism Offering. This offering has been approved by Union Committee action and has been taken each year for the past four years. Those who contribute to this important offering may be sure they are making an investment in evangelism that really gets results.

It is this fund that has enabled the conferences to give assistance to Sabbath schools conducting Vacation Bible Schools to purchase their literature and other supplies needed. It is because of this added assistance that many of our churches were able to hold these Vacation Bible Schools. Reports are not all in yet, but on a conservative basis, we estimate there were at least 13,000 boys and girls who attended these Vacation Bible Schools this summer with at least 7,000 of that number from non-Adventist homes. According to preliminary reports, it appears that we had nearly 140 Vacation Bible Schools. The literature needed to operate a school—such as Teacher's Guides, Crafts books, Bible Lesson books for each child averages better than $1 per child, not including the cost of craft materials purchased and used. Without some assistance from the Sabbath School Evangelism Fund, many of the Vacation Bible Schools would have found it difficult to carry on. Every Sabbath there are hundreds of non-SDA children and many of the parents regularly attending Sabbath school service each week—their first contact being through the Vacation Bible School program, which were assisted by this special offering taken a year ago in September. Today some of our Sabbath schools have buses to bring the children each week to Sabbath school—all as a follow-up of the VBS program. Last year we had approximately seventy-five non-SDA children enrolled in our church schools as a direct follow-up of VBS.

The Sabbath School Evangelism Fund is also used to assist churches that operate Branch Sabbath schools or Sunday schools in purchasing lesson quarterlies, children's papers and other needed supplies. The whole program of Sabbath school evangelism has been given wonderful encouragement by the faithfulness of our people in giving a liberal offering the last Sabbath of September for Sabbath school evangelism. What you give in this offering will get results in souls won. If you put your offering in the regular tithing envelope, write in one of the blank spaces "Sabbath School Evangelism." All the loose church service offering received on Sabbath, September 27, will also go for this purpose. Your liberality and sacrifice will get results and God will bless. We are confident that you will do your best.

Peace and Progress in Colombia

The worst of the persecution and most difficult times in Colombia seem to be in the past. We now are enjoying a brief time of peace and must take advantage of it by spreading the gospel. Once in a while we still hear of hostilities directed by the village leaders, but this does not cause much alarm among our Adventist brethren. We, now, are accustomed to living with these threats and attacks.

We thank God for the time of trouble because our faith has been enriched and our hearts have learned to depend on God. In these days of comparative peace, we look with thanksgiving to the brotherhood around the world that united in the special day of prayer and fasting that God would intervene in our behalf. The answer to those prayers came quickly.

The membership of our Sabbath schools throughout the union now numbers 17,600 in the three countries—Colombia, Venezuela, and the Dutch Islands. Four languages are spoken in this area—Spanish, English, Dutch, and Papiamento. To carry on our work, we have to use all means of transportation—plane, train, launch, car, horse, and afoot.

We are starting an accelerated evangelistic program and are employing every available means to win souls. A large, energetic group of lay workers, willing to face all kinds of dangers, has consecrated itself to help finish the work, and they go to the most remote parts. Recently two of our lay members organized 15 branch Sabbath schools in the most hostile, mountainous part of the country. Our youth also join in this missionary activity, as is evidenced by 12-year-old Eddie who won seven people to the truth.

The effects of the days of persecution still leave their scars. In many places laws have been made which establish certain requirements for the places in which meetings can be conducted. Often, due to lack of funds, we are unable to comply with these requirements and, therefore, are not able to preach in these areas.

One of the greatest needs in our field is the establishment of medical work. At the present time it is difficult to hospitalize many of our members because the majority of hospitals are run by organizations that require the members to comply and participate in certain rites and ceremonies that they cannot do conscientiously. Consequently, our Adventists are not admitted to these institutions. If we could have hospitals and clinics they, also, would open many hearts to the message.

We thank you for your prayers and financial help in the past; and, with the blessing of God, we are going forward courageously, looking forward to receiving your continued support.

"I Was One of God's Best Robbers"

It is often said of some worthy individual, "He is one of God's best workers," but did you ever hear of one of "God's best robbers"? Probably not. But that is what a Faith for Today TV viewer said of herself a few days ago, after watching a television program on tithing.

"I have been one of God's best robbers," she wrote, "I never really did tithe."

We all know that honest confession is good for the soul, but to be effective, confession must be followed by some kind of action. It is all very well to give assent to the principle of tithing as taught on a television program, but what are the results? Does any additional money actually come in?

Like hundreds of others who saw the tithing telecast, this viewer determined to act on her conviction. But how and to whom could she pay her tithe? She had never attended one of our churches. In fact, she was not a regular churchgoer at all. So, her next question was a natural one, "How can I tithe when I am not a member of a church?"

Doubtless, that is one question that every Adventist would enjoy answering: "The tithe is to be paid into the church," and surely no better answer could be given. But, this viewer was not yet satisfied. She raised no objection to giving her tithe to the Adventist church, but that one television story on stewardship certainly stirred up her conscience for her next query was, "How about all those years when I did not tithe?"

If a TV viewer can be thus influenced to action, one wonders what results can be expected when a viewer is converted and has been baptized into the church. An answer to this query comes from a new member who wrote, "This is my regular gift. I would like it to be a real generous offering for all the blessings our family has received from Faith for Today, and I shall plan to send more later. But we are tithing now, and the big million dollar offering has taken all we can spare."

Faith for Today workers might naturally consider it a tragedy when viewers divert their gifts elsewhere. But actually, just the opposite is true. Success in terms of the television ministry means leading viewers into the church, which includes total consecration of the pocketbook to the expanding program of the church. This is the ultimate goal of every telecast.

We count it a joy to have a part in transforming "God's best robbers" into "God's best givers," staunch members of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Montana Conference

Greetings

Mrs. Taylor and I wish to use the pages of the GLEANER to greet the workers and members of the Montana Conference until such time as we shall have the opportunity to meet you personally. We are happy to be associated with the work of God in Montana "after many days." It was here in "The Treasure State" that I began my ministry and with God's help was able to gather in many precious jewels for His kingdom. Montana has always held a big place in our hearts and now it is to have all of our heart and strength as we labor together with you for the finishing of God's work in this part of the world.

Montana has been blessed with strong leadership in the past and a good foundation has been laid. With God's help we plan to build a strong soul-winning program that will reach every district in the conference. As we have reviewed the reports of faithfulness on the part of the constituency and workers we are confident they love the Lord and are anxious for the work of God to be finished soon.

We with you want to cast away earthly enjoyment as dross, earthly cares as follies, and earthly thoughts and feelings as vanity. With God's help we want to make His work in the earth our first waking thought and our last image before sinking into unconscious sleep. We are living in earth's last hour and what we plan to do for God must be done now. Tomorrow may be too late.

As we take up our duties with you here in Montana, we reconsecrate ourselves to the unfinished task with confidence that with God's blessings the work will go forward to a speedy completion. We look forward with pleasure to meeting many old friends and getting acquainted with many new ones.

GEORGE E. TAYLOR

Church Booth at North Montana Fair

The Seventh-day Adventist church booth at the 6-day North Montana Fair in Great Falls, August 4 to 9, attracted wide attention as thousands of people visited the mercantile building, one of the most popular and centrally located buildings on the grounds. Tucked in between booths promoting hearing aids and encyclopedias, it was within earshot of multiple sounds extolling the merits of varied exhibits from the "finest" of vegetable slicers to ham radio operators keeping in touch with all parts of the world.

Soft music from recordings of religious numbers and the film showing five or six times a day of "One in 20,000" came as an agreeable and informative surprise from our booth.

Approximately 4,000 pieces of literature were given away, featuring such subjects as "Smoke Signals," "Lung Cancer and Its Relation to Smoking," "Alcohol and Its Effects on the Body," "What Seventh-day Adventists Believe," "When God Splits the Atom," and a few copies of God Speaks to Modern Man.

Eight hundred eighty-two people signed for the Bible correspondence course, with their addresses listed in Montana, Illinois, Iowa, Florida, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon, California, Oklahoma, Washington, and Canada. Names were drawn from the enrollment cards, and fourteen awards of Desire of Ages were presented.

The committee on booth arrangements consisted of Dale Davis, Frank Jenson, Walter Rohloff, and Paul Lund. Attendants worked in three daily shifts, with at least two on hand at all times. Helping in this capacity were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davis, Mrs. Donald Woehler, Mrs. Robert Matt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lund, Mrs. Gerald Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hays, T/Sgt. and Mrs. A. L. Halley and their daughter, Jeralene, Bruce Greer, and the writer. Mr. Jenson and Mr. Rohloff arranged to have their vacation that week, so they gave considerable time in running the projector and helping in other ways.

After inspecting some of the free literature, a woman commented: "More people should read this material in preference to the trash filling the newsstands."

A pleasant Catholic woman visited with an attendant several minutes. She wished to know what our church actually believed, so the Bible correspondence was suggested for a clearer view of our belief. She unhesitatingly enrolled, then waited for the film to be shown, and she brought one of her friends over to view it with her.

The jockey manager for the races said he has a copy of Desire of Ages, and he asked outright for God Speaks to Modern Man. He was puffing steadily on a cigarette, but after viewing "One in 20,000" said, "Now I won't be able to live with myself!"

A Sunday school teacher from Ft. Benton looked at the exhibit with much interest. She informed us she bought a copy of Desire of Ages for $7.50 years ago from "a book agent," and has read it through several times. She stated, "Mrs. E. G. White is an exceptional writer and I would like more books written by her. I have already taken your Bible correspondence course which has proved most helpful in my Sunday school teaching." She requested God Speaks to Modern Man in the event her name was drawn for an award. Needless to say, more literature will be mailed to her!

A piano tuner spoke highly of the booth. He has read Desire of Ages from cover to cover, and he thinks Mrs. White has the deepest spiritual insight of any author. He travels over Montana, and when in Bozeman, he stops at the Conference office to buy copies of Desire of Ages to give away although he is not a Seventh-day Adventist.

A man in charge of a booth across from ours came over to inquire if we had a copy of the "poem about a pig." He had misplaced the poem which a Seventh-day Adventist in Salem, Oregon, had given him. As a result of the poem, he gave up the eating of swine's flesh. He admires the principles of our denomination. He offered to buy the copy that was found for him, but he was told literature was not being sold at the booth. However, he insisted on giving $1.25 for our missions.

Once when Mr. Jenson was showing the film about lung cancer, a man came to him and said vehemently, "I smoke, but I'll bet I can beat you in a foot race or in wrestling!"

Our brother replied, "I don't bet, but I will take you up on the racing or wrestling." The man left but came back later and apologized saying, "You people are doing a good work."

With so many strangers and friends from all walks of life showing a real interest in the exhibit, literature, and film, we feel the venture was successful. Already plans are being considered for a larger and more effective display next year.

Junior Camp at Lake Aleknagik

The sun shone radiantly on Camp Polaris at 3 o'clock Monday, August 4, as 31 exuberant boys and girls landed on the Moody brothers' boat. Steady rain had prevailed during the 4 days preceding camp, even while the tents were being pitched. But God answered the prayers of the expectant campers and let the sun shine through for all but one day of camp. The rains, however, resumed immediately when Junior Camp was over!

Promptly at 6:30 every morning, our busy Junior Camp days began. Some highly courageous little boys began some of their days by a dip in the lake at 6:30 a.m. What fortitude! Worship, meals, crafts, recreational pursuits, and campfires consumed the major part of our crowded schedule.

Two craft classes caused almost everyone to generate enthusiasm. The older boys and girls learned some leather craft, specifically the cutting and tooling of belts. Many of the youth may now be seen proudly sporting their prodigious enterprises. The younger group labored pleasantly at the art of glass painting.

The second day of camp, being clear and beautiful, we decided to climb the high mountain just back of camp, an annual event. A large percentage of the way to the summit had to be hatched through thick alder brush. Some of the older boys, who showed a great reserve strength by sprinting the last 100 yards to the top, managed to catch a baby ground squirrel. This little creature served as our entertainment during the well-deserved lunch. The only casualty (meaning hiker who could not make the top) was one of the girls' counselors, who made up for this chagrining experience by her animated skill in the volley ball games.

Because Elder Dopp was unable to lead out in our Junior Camp as he had planned, Mr. Aaron Leno substituted for him and was assisted by Mr. William Boatwright, Mr. Joe Humble, Mr. Roland Moody, Mrs. Bonnie Pleier, and Miss Sally Snyder, as counselors; and Mrs. Jackie Moody, Mrs. Helen Boatwright, Mrs. Barbara Humble, and Miss Myrtle Smith in the chow house.

Sabbath morning we were very happy to have Elder A. L. Zumwalt, president of the Alaska Mission, along with many people from the Aleknagik and Dillingham churches meet with us. During the 11 o'clock service Elder Zumwalt reported on the General Conference session which he attended only shortly before. The beauty of the day, along with the impressive gathering (146) made it an outdoor worship service not soon to be forgotten.

Sunday morning we barely got the tents and equipment packed up and in the boat before the rain came again. We all realized then that God's hand had spread the clouds back for our week of camping. Doubtless this camp will serve as inspiration for many more Junior Camp gatherings at Lake Aleknagik.

Carey Cobbed Shoes— He Practices Medicine

The other day I listened to an Adventist doctor briefly relate what he and his associates were doing along missionary lines. He is a member of a unit operated by six of our medical men. When they completed their lovely, well-equipped unit, they discussed the attitude they should take regarding the spiritual welfare of their patients. Apparently all came to the conclusion that just as William Carey cobbed shoes to proclaim the gospel, they were practicing medicine to do the same thing. This view point has influenced many of their activities. For example, the question arose as to what literature should be found in their spacious waiting room.

As they discussed the matter, they decided that their patients could find Life and Time, The Reader's Digest and The National Geographic in many other places, but they were not likely to find the Signs of the Times and Life and Health on the newsstand. So they unanimously voted that the only literature to be placed in their waiting room would be our truth-filled magazines, books and papers, carefully selected to be of interest especially to their non-Adventist patients. Each physician has three or four examining or interviewing rooms and patients often have to spend considerable time in these rooms. These doctors once more decided that all that would be available in these rooms also, would be the best and most important literature in the world.

At first, I wondered whether this might not be an extreme position, but the more I thought about it, the more I became convinced that these doctors have made a correct decision. Their patients could get all kinds of reading material elsewhere, but this office might be the only place for many patients to get God's assurance of love and mercy.

They were warned that such an emphatic emphasis on Christian witnessing would adversely influence their practice. But as they prayed and studied together they made two or three other decisions which have proved a great asset to them professionally and a great blessing to their patients, spiritually. Like many others of our physicians, they decided that whenever they operated on a patient or whenever opportunity arose in the privacy of their offices, they would suggest that God's blessing be sought. They take the position that a Christian physician, blending Bible philosophy with medical psychiatry, can render the greatest help to the many who today are in trouble and in distress. This feature has also brought them many patients. Men and women have come to them because they wanted to place their cases in the hands of consecrated, praying, Christian physicians.

The third decision they made was to tell their patients, as tactfully as they could, the truth about their condition. So today some come to them because of the reputation they have built up in the community. Neighbors tell one another, "That these are doctors who tell you the truth."

The unit was not organized very long ago but already 14 patients have not only received medical assistance but are rejoicing in the truth.

Shall not all of us, regardless of what our employment or profession might be, decide with these good, Christian doctors, that we are practicing our profession or conducting our business to proclaim the saving gospel of Jesus Christ.

C. J. RITCHIE

Camp Umpqua

Four hundred ten young hearts today cherish fond memories of a wonderful week spent at Camp Umpqua last August. Four hundred ten young lives felt the strengthening influence of dedicated leaders and counselors as they participated in a camping program designed to prove that Christian living in 1958 is the happiest and most enjoyable way of life that this world can offer.

Camp Umpqua is situated 17 miles east of Canyonville where the Umpqua National Forest comes down to meet the south fork of the Umpqua River. The young people who were privileged to attend this camp found an activity program which led them into the out-of-doors and encouraged them to learn from God's Second Book some of the secrets of His love and power.

Among the craft activities offered at camp were swimming in the clear, comfortable waters of the Umpqua. Under the able direction of Miss Marilyn Emery, most of the campers taking swimming as a craft were able to learn to swim and earn an honor in swimming. Archery drew a large group of campers who enjoyed testing their skill with bow and arrow, with Chief "Shoot-um-Straight-Arrow" (Elder Huntington) as instructor. Campcraft activities claimed the energies of another large group of campers who learned to care for themselves in the out-of-doors. Highlighting the camping activities for the older group of campers was a trip to the "Secret Cave." Located some 25 miles from Camp Umpqua and 6 miles by trail from the nearest road, a large cave once used by Indians was rediscovered by our camping staff. The Master Outpost engineers enjoyed an exciting three-day camp-out in the cave area.

The Wildlife craft, under the supervision of Mr. Sam McMunn, offered a thrilling study of the many forms of wildlife to be found in the area of Camp Umpqua. In addition to the Wildlife craft taught each morning to the Wildlife group, some time each afternoon was given to Wildlife study for the entire group of campers. At these interesting sessions the campers became acquainted with the animals in our camp zoo. Pauncho the monkey and Billie the coon were the favorites that usually stole the show. In addition to the foregoing outdoor craft, leathercraft, ceramics, and model building were offered for those preferring indoor craft activities.

Featured at each of the three weeks of camp was a strong emphasis on the spiritual phase of living. Elder Ray Anderson, assistant camp director, served as camp chaplain for the first camp, and Elder Paul Gordon took the responsibility for the remaining two camps. Each camper was visited personally by the chaplain during his or her stay at camp. Many victories were gained, and a large number indicated a desire for baptism.

We believe that Camp Umpqua is one of the organizations which will help our youth to learn to enjoy Christian living and give them a desire to be loyal and faithful church members in the years to come.

Belknap Retreat

It was with a warm brotherly spirit that thirty-six members of the family of literature evangelists met for their annual rally held at the beautiful Belknap Hot Springs resort. The sound of the rushing McKenzie River and the majestic fir trees surrounding us gave a perfect setting for our Friday evening message presented by the Union Publishing Secretary, Elder C. P. Lampson.

Sabbath school was conducted with much enthusiasm and inspiration as we listened to one of our local missionary evangelists tell how God intervened to save his life from a man demon possessed, and we studied together ways of doing the work more effectively.

We were privileged to have as our speaker for the church service Elder H. K. Christman from the Pacific Press.

The highlight of the day was when nine of the workers told how Signs of the Times opened doors for the sale of our books.

At our Sunday morning meeting Elder Ray Hixson from the Pacific Press presented a challenge to each worker to use Signs of the Times in their work as he explained the new soul-winning program they have launched in this territory.

As each worker and family prepared to leave for home they expressed a new determination to work harder to carry the gospel to all people in the Oregon Conference. Each expressed their desire to meet at our annual institute.

We were happy to also have with us Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turpel from the Pacific Press Branch, Elder and Mrs. C. P. Lampson, Mr. and Mrs. Bonner Allen and family from the Oregon Book and Bible House, Mrs. Olive Powell and daughter, and Miss Lorraine Johnston.

Child Evangelism Offering

Our offering for Child Evangelism will be taken up on Sabbath, September 27. We are glad to report that the baptisms from our Vacation Bible Schools during the last three years make a very nice small church organization. Just two weeks ago Stone Tower baptized seven from their VBS, and many more have been baptized during the last two years.

This year we furnished the activity books for some 3,500 children in our 51 Vacation Bible Schools. Over 2,500 of these children came from non-Seventh-day Adventist homes. The books were furnished from this offering taken a year ago.

We have helped purchase two buses for Stone Tower and one for Tabernacle last week to transport the children that attended Vacation Bible School to Sabbath school. Each Sabbath, Stone Tower has around fifty children at Sabbath school and Tabernacle about thirty. It is this kind of follow-up work that brings people to the truth. The help given on the purchasing of the buses came from this Child Evangelism offering.

A number of Sunday schools and a new branch Sabbath school has also been helped from this offering. The Sunday schools are the follow up of the Vacation Bible Schools.

These are all soul-saving agencies that we could not have conducted without your help. We need a good liberal offering on September 27 to continue this good work. In a few years our Vacation Bible School program will be the largest soul-saving effort in Oregon.

Prineville Welfare Center

Tuesday morning, August 26, at 10 o'clock, the Prineville Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Center was officially opened with Judge W. B. Morse cutting the ribbon. Also on hand was Mrs. Helen Beck, Crook County Welfare Director.

Representing the Oregon Conference was Home Missionary Leader, Elder C. J. Ritchie.

the preparation of the new center. Previous to the opening of the center, Dorcas activities were carried on in various temporary quarters, including the Crook County Fairgrounds.

In a brief speech, Judge Morse expressed his appreciation on behalf of the city for the establishment of such a center and stated that he considered such an event a manifestation of "real practical Christianity."

Mrs. Beck, County Welfare Director, told of the good such a project would do for a community and said her office would cooperate fully with the new center.

With the opening of the Prineville Center, three full-fledged units are now in operation in the Central Oregon area, with other centers located at Redmond and Bend.

Books Wanted

The Sabbath School Department of the Oregon Conference is anxious to obtain two copies of Christian Story-telling by Spaulding. ### Central Oregon Fair Booth

The Central Oregon Seventh-day Adventist churches at Bend, Sisters, Redmond and Prineville sponsored a large attractive booth at the Deschutes County Fair held August 22 to 24 at Redmond, Oregon.

Under the direction of Clair Olson, home missionary leader of Bend, a 12 x 20 foot booth was decorated and equipped for the three-day meet. Theme of the exhibit was "Jesus, The Light of The World." A large globe suspended on the end of an almost invisible fish line leader—giving the illusion of the world suspended in space—caused particular interest.

Also displayed were large pictures of the three Central Oregon Welfare Centers located at Bend, Redmond, and Prineville, together with statistics concerning the help given by these establishments.

Several hundred copies of Listen, These Times, Signs of the Times, Liberty and our young people's magazines were given out to interested people at the exhibit, as well as eleven books. A number of individuals signed up for the 20th Century Bible Course at the booth. Special care was taken to make sure the literature found its way into hands of people who definitely were interested in it.

Assisting Brother Olson in the design and construction of the booth were his wife, Princess Olson, and Sherman Dearth. The signs displayed at the exhibit were painted by L. L. Grand Pre.

All taking part in the presentation of the booth considered it a definite success, and another booth is planned for next year.

October Special

We really live a very quiet life here in the Northwest. It is so different from our friends over on the great continent of Africa.

Wouldn't you enjoy just being over among those interesting people, observing their customs, habits, and sharing some of their more tense moments?

The next best way to visit Africa, other than being there in person, is to do so via the pages of a well-written

Columbia Academy

Over the past three years the Columbia Academy gross enrollment has steadily increased by eight or nine per cent over the past term. A nine per cent enrollment increase is apparent for this present year. Eighteen more young people were registered by the end of registration's second day than the previous year at the same time. Enrollment is rapidly nearing the two hundred mark.

G. G. Davenport

Parents and students are aware of the dangers and temptations in these perilous days in which we live, and they have chosen for Christian education. Lives, attitudes can be greatly influenced by even one year outside the plan of Christian education. We dare not allow the enemy a chance to use his insidious influence on our youth. Christian education does cost, yet, in the end results, it pays great dividends. Only our characters and our children can be taken into the heavenly land.

Work has been a blessing to mankind since the days of Eden. Columbia Academy recognizes the value of vocational work experience as a component part of the educational program. Each student shares this blessing of work by earning part of his expenses, learning the ability to hold employment and avoiding temptation through useful labor. Columbia Academy's folding door industry, which is made possible by our conference Woodfold Corporation, employs ten or twelve youth. This opportunity is greatly appreciated by all. The Ridge Shingle, sponsored by Mr. C. E. Curnutt of Garibaldi, Oregon, enables four students to attend the Academy who otherwise would have problems of finance. Plans are developing for another small industry whereby other students may enter who might not otherwise be able to attend.

Pray with us that as teachers, parents, and students, we may so work in the school, in the home, and in the church, that God can use us in the salvation of souls.

Academy Improvement Fund

In my last appeal to our people in behalf of our academy improvement program I promised that in my next article I would give you somewhat of a detailed report of funds received from the churches since the meeting at the school when representatives from all the churches were present.

Our objective to meet the very necessities at the school is the equivalent of $10 per member. While the accompanying report is a long way from this amount, yet we can say we have a good start and when we consider that the conference has added an equal amount, this has given us a nice start.

Again we appeal to our people to join us in this emergency and by the Lord's help save the situation at our academy.

Deer Park Church Dedication

Sabbath, July 12, was a happy day for the members of the Deer Park, Washington, church. On this Sabbath the Deer Park church was dedicated, free of debt.

The history of the Deer Park church began on Sabbath, February 16, 1952, when a handful of scattered members was organized into a Sabbath school by Elder Dalles Dull, the district superintendent, and Evangelist Dean Dudley. Shortly thereafter, Elder Dudley, assisted by Brother John McGhee, conducted a fruitful evangelistic effort; and on Sabbath, July 14, of that year Elder Dudley baptized 28 souls and organized the Deer Park church. The church group was a part of the Spokane district with Elder Melvin Lukens and George Knowles as their pastors. As the members had no meeting place it was decided to purchase a vacant cafe on the edge of the business district and renovate it into a respectable meeting house. During the last six years, improvements and additions have been put on the original building until now we have a church that is truly representative of our message. This church is now valued at $20,000.

With an original membership of 35 only six years ago, this small group 20 miles north of Spokane, has grown in size and spirit until now we have a thriving, enthusiastic church of 94 members.

In the last year and a half the Deer Park church has purchased $2,700 worth of new church pews, and with an eye toward the future has purchased and paid for in full four acres of land in an excellent location of the city for a future new church and church school site. They have also built, completely equipped and paid for a new 22-ft. by 30-ft. pumice block school room attached to the rear of the church, costing another $2,500. This room also provides additional room for the Sabbath School Department. Our first year of church school at Deer Park was held last year.

The Dorcas Society has also been operating a successful welfare and clothing center for over two years in a rented store building on Main Street.

The members of this church also have a burden for souls. During the last four months every week they have been mailing the complete series of Present Truth magazine to every one of the 360 homes in Deer Park, preparing the hearts of the people for a series of evangelistic meetings to be held soon in that community.

We believe the Deer Park church has a bright future, and through the faithful lives and witnessing of its members, many who now sit in darkness will see a great light and swell the ranks of those who are waiting for the soon coming of Jesus.

Evangelistic Meetings in Elma and Montesano

The small congregation in Montesano has been working hard the last year and one half, building a lovely new church which they plan to dedicate the last of October. This is a church you can be proud to tell your friends to come to. We build churches and do a lot of tasks that sometimes seem to be such indirect work for the Lord and yet they must be done. The failure comes when we stop there and do not press on. We have the building, now we want it filled. An evangelistic series will begin October 12 carried on by Elder Anderson and the District Pastor.

We would appreciate any names of relatives, friends, or former SDA's that you know in the Elma, Montesano, Central Park area. Please give clear addresses and explanation of background. Mail these names and addresses of interests to Clinton Shankel, Box 34, Elma, Washington.

Pray for these meetings that God may work and soon all of us may go home.

Auburn Academy

On September 2 Auburn Academy opened its doors for the fortieth year.

C. L. WITZEL

Well over three hundred students have registered to fill the halls, classrooms and dormitories. Back in 1919 the doors were first opened to receive students under the name of Western Washington Missionary Academy and through the years it has served well the Washington Conference. Many youth have gone forth from its doors and become leaders in our great worldwide work.

As this news was made up, there were 85 Seniors, 95 Juniors, 82 Sophomores and 50 Freshmen. They came from many lands—one from Cuba; one from Colombia, South America; one from Denmark; one from Puerto Rico; one from Formosa; three from Idaho; seven from Thailand; eight from British Columbia; nine from Oregon; eleven from Alaska; eighteen from California, and two hundred fifty-five from Washington.

It was evident from the very first moment that this holds promise of being an excellent school year. The homesickness of a number has been almost nullified by the friendliness of all the students. The first Friday evening vespers service was entered into with reverence and appreciation for holy time. After a short study, students were given opportunity for a testimony service which continued for almost an hour. Everyone in the room was conscious of the Divine presence. The first Saturday night is the usual get-acquainted handshake evening. After a few short speeches, all were treated to watermelon on the academy campus. A very wholesome and friendly school spirit was manifest which indicates the beginning of a good year.

On Monday, September 8, the student association had its first regular meeting. The students wholeheartedly entered into the idea of a campaign to raise funds for a second organ and the school paper. One organ does not suffice to give every student who desires to take organ lessons a place to practice. The need is urgent as so many of our churches have organs and we must train these youth to be able to help out in the home church. Some youth may be contacting you for a contribution to this campaign.

New teachers that have come to us for this school year are Mr. Cleo Lile, English teacher; Mrs. Cleo Lile, librarian; Mr. Ray Leadbetter, English teacher; Elder Leonard Venden, piano, organ and choral groups; Mr. Elmer Lampson, accountant and teacher; Mrs. Elmer Lampson, secretarial science teacher. Mr. Ortner has turned over the secretarial science teaching to Mrs. Lampson and he is taking up duties as treasurer of the academy and teaching two classes in mathematics. About twelve of our teachers have spent the summer attending school better preparing themselves to be of service to the youth.

We are happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Kent Johnson back after two years in the army. Mr. Johnson is the boys' head dean and is teaching biology. Mrs. Johnson is the registrar.

The new bathroom addition for Gibson Hall is growing day by day and we plan to have that ready for use by the first of November. The furniture factory is humming busily employing more than one hundred students.

Symphony Artists to Perform at Auburn Academy

Three prominent members from the woodwind section of the Seattle Symphony will present a concert at Rainier Auditorium Saturday night, September 27, at 8 o'clock.

This program promises to be one of the highlights of this school year. The following artists will be featured in solos, duets, and trios: Frank Horsefall, flute; Malcolm Mitchell, oboe and English horn; Ronald Phillips, clarinet; Gladys Bezeau-Phillips, pianist.

The program will consist of classics, light classics, and novelty numbers. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by parents.

Outdoor Clubs

The Washington Conference Associated Outdoor Clubs, under the sponsorship of the MV Department, climaxed a very interesting and profitable first year of existence on August 31, with a climb of Mt. Adams, second highest peak in the state of Washington.

A most pleasant weekend was spent at Morrison Creek campground, on the south shoulder of the mountain, by the 21 persons who turned out for the event. Sabbath school and church under the pine trees were enjoyed by all.

Long before daybreak on Sunday morning, the climbing party of 15, under the leadership of Elder C. R. Aimes, took off for the peak; and by 9:30 a.m., all 15, including two brave juniors, aged 11, stood on the 12,307 foot summit. The weather was perfectly clear, and the view from the top was ample reward for the arduous effort and the discomfort suffered from the biting wind.

This outing was only one of many held the year around under the auspices of the club. Events are scheduled monthly to suit all degrees of ability and interest. Your church elder and your MV leader receive advance announcement of these. Ask to see the latest copy of the Outdoorsman, and plan to join us very soon on a trip into God's great outdoors.

The Spirit of Sacrifice

GLEANER readers may remember a call made for furnishings for the new dining hall at Sunset Lake Summer Camp several months ago. A week or so after this article appeared, the writer was telephoned by a lady from Auburn. The caller, Mrs. Egan, stated that she had a davenport and chair which she would be willing to give to the camp. On visiting her home, we met a very sweet little lady in a neat, modest, well kept home. After visiting a few moments we asked about the davenport and chair. She replied that they were the ones which we were sitting on in the living room. As taking the davenport and chair would nearly empty her living room, we inquired if she had new furniture coming; to which she replied, "No, but I've been wanting for so long to do something for the young people's work and I really use these two pieces of furniture very seldom anyway."

It is this type of spirit and sacrifice which is going to finish the work; and we want Mrs. Egan, and all the others who also sacrifice to make the work of God possible, to know that many have been cheered and inspired by stories of willingness such as this.

Vacation Bible School

August 13 certificates were presented to about thirty children who had attended the Vacation Bible School held at the Oakville church under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Gwinn, Jr., with the help of many of the ladies of the church. Elder A. R. Lodahl, our Conference Sabbath school secretary who gave the address, was intrigued with the attractive and useful objects made by the children in the crafts classes, and asked for replicas of many of them. Much good will was engendered among the parents of non-Adventist children who attended.

Our Fair at Centralia

Another "first" for the churches of the Centralia-Chehalis district was chalked up by the church booth featured this year at the local fair, August 20 to 24.

A portable barbecue stand was loaned, free of charge, by the owner and, with appropriate alterations, made a very good display place for the Voice of Prophecy exhibit. A larger display from the conference contained an automatic projector and slides of our worldwide work. A loaned tape recorder and a framed facsimile of the famous "Crucifixion" picture added to the attractiveness of the booth. The original of this picture, measuring 195 feet by 45 feet, is housed in a specially constructed building at the Forest Lawn Cemetery in Glendale, California.

About 2,800 pieces of literature were distributed during the five days of the fair, and a number of promising contacts made. The six churches of the two districts headed respectively by Pastors Striplin and Qualley, shared the expenses, and men and women of the churches of the districts helped man the booth.

Who Is Racky?

Why, Racky is the name of a pet coon. He became an orphan at a very tender age and was adopted by a kindly school teacher. (Teachers are like that you know.) She cared for him and—From here on you will have to read the book to get the rest of the story. It is intensely interesting I can assure you, as we had almost the identical experience with a baby grey squirrel in our home just a few years back. We raised him and will never forget the fun and enjoyment he brought to the entire family.

Why don't you consider this book for your boy or girl? There is nothing like good reading. Or perhaps you would like to give it to some neighbor boy or girl. And the best part of it all is the price. Combined with Tales of Africa it is only $2.85, just a bit over half the regular price.

Vacation Bible School at Baker

On Thursday evening, August 7, the staff of our first Vacation Bible School in Baker, Oregon, was more than rewarded to see 60 certificates passed out by Pastor T. M. Cole. Gift copies of Desire of Ages were presented to each non-Adventist parent present.

When a number of enthusiastic mothers joined their children in asking us to be sure to let them know when our school is scheduled for next summer so that their children could attend again, and when eight children came to Sabbath school from the group, we forgot the fear and trembling with which as "greenhorns" we had planned the nine-day program. In addition to the regular leaders for the session which was conducted in the church school rooms and patio, Mrs. Billy Cheek of Kennewick gave us the advantage of her counsel and constant help. Enid Sparks, of Roseburg, Oregon, furnished stories during the morning worship hour, and in the departments each day. Both were summer visitors in Baker. An efficient and constructive crafts program was sponsored by Mrs. Willis Chandler, assisted by her daughter, Bonita. Mrs. Frank Gray, with her mother, Mrs. Bessie Dick, Baltimore; Mrs. T. M. Cole, and Mrs. Fred Gray conducted the large kindergarten division. Lyndell Hudson, with Deanna Hopkins and Beverly Higgins, had charge of the primary group, and Mrs. Orin Hopkins and Mrs. A. L. Hudson conducted the junior activities.

Although we started our school mutually assuring ourselves it was "for just this once," before the last day closed, we were already planning projects and improvements for next summer's Vacation Bible School in Baker.

Baker's Vacation Bible School makes number seventeen for the Idaho Conference in 1958. These Vacation Bible Schools are certainly proving to be a valuable asset in the cause of God.

We look for bigger and better things in the years to come. We express our gratitude to each individual who has helped make Vacation Bible Schools possible.

OBITUARIES

Wolfswinkel—Cornelius Wolfswinkel was born at Lunteren, Gelderland, Holland, Aug. 27, 1883, and passed to his rest on Aug. 30, 1958, at Toppenish, Wash. He came to the United States with his parents in 1886. On Feb. 27, 1908, he was united in marriage with Nellie Bartels. To this union were born three daughters and two sons. In 1930 they accepted the third angel's message and were baptized as an entire family. His church was very dear to him and he was an active member until the time of his passing. He is survived by his companion, Nellie; two sons, Peter of Lynwood, Calif.; and Bernie of Battle Ground, Wash.; one daughter, Jennie of Toppenish, Wash.; one brother, Albert Wolfswinkel of Breckenridge, Minn. Services were conducted by Elders Aaron Wagner and Kenneth Fleck.

First Things First

"Education is a failure unless the heart accepts the gospel of Jesus Christ," was the solemn statement read by President P. W. Christian as a challenge to the WWC faculty at its first session of the 1958-59 school year. "Knowing the closeness to the time of the end and realizing the need of the work of the Holy Spirit in this, the largest student body of any Seventh-day Adventist college, we faculty members must not let urgent things crowd out the most important things," said the President.

Freshman Week

With hundreds of freshmen flooding the campus for the beginning of another school year, the past week at WWC has been dedicated to testing and registering these newcomers and orienting them to college life.

Climaxing a busy week of meetings and activities, Monday night's traditional Faculty-Student reception will allow freshman class members and the college faculty to become better acquainted. This reception brings to a close the annual "Freshman Week," with classes for students meeting Tuesday. Freshman classes, however, begin Monday.

Highlights of last week's round of activities were the faculty home parties, Wednesday evening; the Associated Students-sponsored social evening, Thursday; games in Columbia Auditorium, Saturday evening; and a film Sunday evening.

In addition to social activities, a number of freshman orientation lectures, designed to acquaint freshmen with various aspects of life at WWC, have been given by the following faculty members: President P. W. Christian, "Responsibilities of Students at Walla Walla College"; Dean F. A. Meier, "Responsible Use of Freedom"; Elder G. S. Balharrie, "Class of 1962—Giants or Midgets?"; Dr. R. E. Silver, "The Meaning of Grade Predictions"; and Dr. R. H. Brown, "Study—Keynote at College."

With registration completed, aptitude and grade prediction tests taken, and the initial whirl of activities subsiding, WWC freshmen and returning students are settling down to the main business at hand—acquiring a Christian education.

Industrial Education Progress Report

To "keep progressing" is the aim of the Industrial Education Department. Renovations and improved facilities accomplished this summer, as well as the best methods and techniques, are means to achieve this aim.

The laying of the tile in the main corridor during the summer nearly completes the addition to the building, which provided room for a new laboratory and connected the old buildings for more efficient operation. Advance reservations indicate that every shop will again be full to capacity.

Students in the department will have their own drawing course taught by Wade Wolfe in the newly remodeled drawing room of the Industrial Education building. The course will be especially slanted to the needs of Industrial Education students.

Finishing touches are being made this week on the photographic darkroom joining the new graphic arts laboratory, which will make it possible to begin the new course in photo-offset lithography with the autumn quarter. The equipment is all on hand, including the latest type of vertical process camera, and is being rapidly readied for use. This is a major step forward in keeping the offerings of the department up-to-date.

Two members of the staff spent the summer in advanced study. Calvin Trautwein, department head, worked on his doctorate degree at Colorado State College at Greeley, Colorado, and Lewis Canaday attended Oregon State College at Corvallis after spending two weeks in California, where he visited all the major denominational printing plants.

Fall Program Schedule

The appearance of the United States Air Force Band, Sunday evening, October 5, at 8 o'clock in Columbia Auditorium will be one of the highlights of the fall quarter program schedule, says Professor Orason Brinker, chairman of the WWC program committee.

With Colonel George S. Howard, USAF, conductor, the world-famous organization will present a colorful and varied program, including popular and classical band music. Instrumental solos and groups of numbers by the popular "The Singing Sergeants" will also be featured.

Alumni and area residents will want to attend this outstanding program. General admission will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. There will be no reserved seats.

The WWC program committee believes that as a part of a well-rounded education, the youth in attendance at WWC should have an opportunity to hear and see both outstanding artists and musical groups as well as informative and entertaining lecturers. With this in mind the committee has arranged a schedule of cultural, entertaining, aesthetic, and stimulating programs. Other members of the committee are Marguerite Aplington, Rose Budd, M. W. Davis, A. J. Johanson, F. E. Meckling, H. D. Schwartz, E. S. Winter, and Evelynne Wright.

Of special interest to alumni and friends are the Amateur Hour, November 8, and Nina Dova, ballad singer, December 6, events of the fall quarter. Robert Shaw, Curtis Nagel, and Stan Midgley, with new films and popular lectures, are also on the schedule of events for winter and spring quarters, says Professor Brinker.
