Treasure Quiz Winners

In a recent Treasure Quiz conducted by Primary Treasure in the pages of Primary Lesson Exercises, the following were declared winners from the North Pacific Union: Alan Andersen, Jeffrey Ballance, Leslie Balsiger, Elaine Carver, Rosalie Cook, Claudia Dutro, B. Herbrandson, Janis Kirken-dall, Judy Martin, Sally Pratt, D. Queener, Linda Queener, Evelyn Robertson, and Mary Robertson.

These fine boys and girls were alert to watch the pages of Primary Lesson Exercises, and they responded to the quiz, answered all the questions correctly, and were proclaimed the winners from the North Pacific Union. An appropriate award has been mailed to each.

This is an opportune time to inquire whether your Sabbath school is receiving a sufficient supply of the following: Our Little Friend for the Cradle Roll and Kindergarten divisions; Primary Treasure, Primary Lesson Exercises, and Primary Quarterly for the Primary Division. If you do not have an adequate supply, now is the time to increase your order.

May we further suggest that since so many subscriptions expire at this time of the year that you send your order for renewal immediately. This is very important. We do not want to disappoint our boys and girls, do we? If perchance, you do not have opportunity to attend Sabbath school regularly, you may wish to order a subscription to the above periodicals to be mailed to your home. Place your order either through your church missionary secretary or your Book and Bible House. These publications offer the best in character building and every boy and girl should have opportunity to enjoy a continual diet of good reading material.

Again we congratulate the winners. Encourage your children to read every page of these publications, which are designed to prepare them for eternal life. There are many surprises awaiting the readers of these excellent childrens' publications.

"My Neighbor Has Been Lending Me Copies of the 'Signs of the Times' Magazine."

The Signs ministry is conducted in many interesting ways. Recently, with an order for a year's subscription to Signs of the Times we received this brief note: "My neighbor has been lending me copies of the Signs of the Times magazine, and we think it is so good in defining the Bible that we would like to subscribe for it."

Other reports reveal that the Signs is obtained from racks at the airport, bus, and train centers; doctors' offices; in the mail; from someone riding on the

A Year of Blessings and Thanksgiving

It is customary in all our Sabbath schools to give members an opportunity on the last Sabbath of each month to bring their Birthday and Thank Offering to the Saviour in appreciation for His care and special blessings. On the last Sabbath of the year 1958, December 27, a special year of blessings, the Thank Offering will be received in all the Sabbath schools throughout the North Pacific Union. As we reflect on the goodness of the Lord to us during 1958 with so many special answers to prayer and instances of special providential care and new spiritual victories gained, we each will certainly want to bring a gratitude offering to God.

"Every blessing comes from His bountiful hand, and He desires men and women show their gratitude . . . in thank offerings, in freewill offerings, in trespass offerings."—"Prophecies and Kings," p. 707.

How many times during this past year we have recognized the intervening hand of God in our behalf and have been led to exclaim, "Thank the Lord." Why not on the last Sabbath of the year say, "Thank you, Lord," by bringing to Him a tangible gift of appreciation!

LET'S KEEP ROLLING

This is another good report. We appreciate the way our church members are responding to the Ingathering call. Our caroling program is on the way to being the best ever. The business contacts all over the field are yielding better than average results. The people seem to be receptive to a moment of quiet consideration of things of eternal value.

Do your individual part for the program of God around the world through the Ingathering NOW.

No wonder Signs is becoming more and more in demand. From everywhere we hear the same comment, "Signs is getting better all the time."

In the beautiful January edition you will discover a star-studded line-up that will include the following: An exclusive interview with Captain Marion "Pat" Boling who established a new record for light planes by flying nearly 7,000 miles non-stop. This article has aptly been entitled "Seven Thousand Miles With God." A very timely article every Adventist and non-Adventist should read is "Why Teen-Agers Go Wrong," and another article of special interest to Seventh-day Adventists and their friends is "From Mutineers' Hideout to Pacific Paradise"—the story of Pitcairn Island as told by Parkin Christian in a personal interview. Space allows for listing only one more article, "So You Are Having Surgery," which is a very informative presentation.

These special stories, together with the presentation of certain doctrines of our faith, and the regular features of news from around the world, "Signs Counsel Corner," "Your Bible Questions Answered," "Alone With Your Bible," and "Your Radio Doctor," make Signs a very effective soul-winner.

Whether you distribute Signs to your friends, supply copies for a reading rack, or sell single copies, you are participating in a great evangelistic program. Interest in selling single copies and taking orders for subscriptions is increasing. If God is impressing you to dedicate a regular number of hours each week to save souls by selling Signs of the Times, get in touch with your pastor or conference publishing department secretary without delay.

"Africa Has My Heart"

Gazelle skin trousers were too hot for the tropics, but they were better than a "fig leaf or a barrel." Cornmeal was often their only food for weeks. Ill with malaria and their baby daughter in their arms, they fled by night from warring tribesmen. Elder Valdemar E. Toppenberg writes of experiences in East Africa during the war years, in a fascinating way—with a mixture of humor and deep devotion so essential in a missionary.

The little cow dung plastered mud hut to which he brought his bride, the lizards dropping on the table, the slinking, howling hyenas, the classes of brighteyed, naked heathen boys and girls—all come alive in this tale. It is a true story of a life-long sacrifice in Ethiopia, Uganda, Kenya, and Tanganyika, building up missions where there had been nothing but bush.

Before his death in 1957, Elder Toppenberg lived to see East African mud and thatch villages turn into modern cities; goat-skin clad native boys become consecrated mission teachers and East Africa as a whole begin to shake itself from the lethargy of centuries.

Ingathering

The Ingathering program is on the move. God is blessing the caroling program as well as the business solicitations. By the time you read these words, the Christmas caroling will be about completed. We trust that you will follow on with the other solicitations so that at an early date, Idaho will have completed its 1959 Ingathering.

We take this opportunity to thank all for your loyal support of the program of God in Idaho, and in all the world fields. This has been a good year in many ways. If you have not gotten your accounts in balance with God through honest tithes and offerings, and with your fellowmen, let us endeavor to do so before the year 1958 closes. And then, by God's grace, keep them that way through the year 1959.

Season's Greetings to all.

A Seemingly Unfavorable Situation

One thing that makes working for God so pleasant is the fact that we find happy surprises at unexpected times and places. So it is with Ingathering.

My story really begins at Ingathering time last year. With a certain foreboding and why-must-I-go-in-here feeling, I braced myself and with my husband entered the "Tumble Inn Tavern" in a small eastern Oregon town.

A very kindly middle-aged man stepped to the counter and received us graciously. He was most interested in our work and showed a deep appreciation for spiritual things. At once he began to apologize for being in the type of work he was, saying it had seemed the only opening at the time. He spoke of his great love for children and told us of the little unwanted baby boy he had taken to his heart and home. After a good visit on spiritual themes, we departed with a five dollar contribution and a feeling we should not pass by seemingly unfavorable places in our work.

So impressed were we with the sincerity of this man that we placed his name on our Signs list.

This year I was not reluctant to enter the "Tumble Inn." In fact, it was the first place in town we went to Ingather. The proprietor was even more cordial than before. He again apologized for his business, telling us he hoped to dispose of it and that "there will be no inducement great enough to ever persuade me to enter this type work again." In the meantime he is talking temperance to his customers, as he sees it, even refusing to serve some who squander their money to the detriment of their families. Never will he pour a drink in his own home.

I asked him if he were receiving the Signs. Just then he laid a ten dollar bill on the counter. My husband had already started to make out a receipt for five dollars, and then said, "I'll change that."

"No," the man answered. "Five dollars is from me, and the other five is for my mother. I would like you to send her the same literature. I do not think she gets this." He then told us she is an ardent church worker in a large Protestant church in a middle western community.

Needless to say, we intend to send the Signs to the mother this year, as well as keeping up the friendly contact made. We departed from the tavern wondering if it is not true today as it was when the Saviour was among men that many of the unpromising are not far from the kingdom. Perhaps this year we shall find in our work for God a Zaccheus or a Levi-Matthew who will rise up from his doubtful business and follow his Lord.

MRS. FRED WAGNER

Reports like this are thrilling because we know that as we do the Lord's work, He will lead us to souls that are searching for Truth. As we are Ingathering dollars, let us make sure that we are Ingathering souls also.

Idaho News

We regret to announce to the readers of the GLEANER, the passing of Brother N. C. Jones of Halfway, Oregon. He was killed when his plane crashed on a hillside in the fog, just a few miles from his landing field.

The accident occurred on Thursday morning, December 11. Brother Jones had taken off to secure some machinery part that was needed from one of the dams being built in the area. He was returning to his home when the accident happened. Funeral services were conducted in the Christian Church in Halfway, Oregon. Nearly 350 persons attended, for Brother Jones was well known all through the area and elsewhere.

We extend to all who mourn his passing our sincerest sympathy.

We publish this account in the Idaho News column of the GLEANER for so many persons knew the Jones family. A brief obituary will appear later in the GLEANER.

Stand In God's Smile

A prominent Lutheran minister tells of a church member whose chief aim in life was to attain great wealth. Being very successful in business he was able to afford many luxuries and things that money could buy, such as, a fine residence. He retired to enjoy his wealth, his home, and his family, but it was not long before tragedy struck. One by one his children, and then his wife were taken from him by death. Thus the day came, a sad one indeed,

Tithe and Offering Square Up Month

The following appeal from the Messenger of the Lord should cause all of us to carefully examine the record of the past year and of our lives. It is most fitting in this last week of the old year that its challenge should be accepted by every true child of God.

"Hasten, my brethren and sisters, to bring to God a faithful tithe, and to bring Him a willing thank offering. There are many who will not be blessed till they make restitution of the tithe which they have withheld. God is waiting for you to redeem the past. The hand of holy law is laid upon every soul who enjoys God's benefits. Let those who have kept back their tithe make an accurate reckoning, and bring to the Lord that of which they have robbed His work. Make restitution . . . If you acknowledge that you have done wrong in misappropriating His goods, and freely and fully repent, He will forgive your transgression." C. S. 87.

when he turned from the cemetery to an empty and desolate home. These soul-shaking events started him thinking. For the first time he realized that while achieving his ambition, in so doing, he had neglected some very important things in life.

One afternoon, while sorting over some treasured things, he came upon his old trunk—the one he had used when he went off to school. In it he found, among other things, a pair of tiny shoes—his baby shoes. They had been tenderly and carefully placed there by his own dear mother for a keepsake. On the sole of one of them he saw writing in his mother's hand which brought back the sweet memory of an experience she had told him long ago.

"One day when he was a little lad he and his mother were in the parlor together. Suddenly the sun tipping in at the window made a bright spot on the floor. The little fellow had asked, 'What is that?'

" 'It is God's smile,' was his mother's reply.

"Busy, she left the room for a few moments. Upon her return she saw her little boy with feet planted close together standing on that spot of sunlight.

" 'I am standing in God's smile!' he said proudly."

The good brother smiled wistfully to himself as he turned the tiny shoe over in his hand. He felt a strange tug at his heart as he read these words:

"This is the pair of little shoes my baby wore the day he stood in God's smile. May he always stand in the smile of God."

Conscience-stricken he dropped to his knees, asking God for forgiveness. In a flash he saw that he had been self-centered and selfish—that he had failed to "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

This man's experience is worthy of some very serious thought on our part. Are we standing in the smile of God? Think of all the blessings that have been ours throughout 1958—continued life; soundness of body and mind; religious liberty; a steady job; home and loved ones; and most of all—God's boundless love toward us! Surely this is the opportune time, this last Sabbath of the year, to demonstrate our gratitude and appreciation by bringing a special and generous Thank Offering, that we also may "stand in the smile of God."

Oregon Conference

Let It Gather Momentum

Across the length and breadth of the Oregon Conference, the 1959 Ingathering campaign has started rolling. From Kelso-Longview in the North to Ashland in the South, from Oceanlake to Prineville the caroling season has opened. Rain is not deterring the groups nor is snow likely to freeze the units. Good reports are reaching us from all directions. We hope the heavy demand for caroling leaflets is an indicator of increased activity. We ordered 30,000 leaflets more than last year and our supply is running out. Several of our churches report that they have raised one-third their goal through caroling, a few one-half and some even more. By the time January 31 comes around we ought to have the first quarter of the Conference Ingathering goal well in hand. With spiritual enthusiasm and holy zeal daily increasing, we would urge our entire membership to rally now to the campaign and make a great victory of it by January 31.

In the last few days I have received phone calls from members here in Portland asking the question, "What is the Ingathering goal this year, Elder Ritchie?" When I have responded that it is $24.98, this little post script has invariably followed, "For 20 years I have been a minute man and I surely would not want to do less now." This is the spirit judging by the minute man ribbons we have issued in the past of thousands of our members. Some merit the Jasper Wayne award as they turn in $130 or the equivalent of a minute for the past 10 years. Some favored few are able to turn in $50 or $100, but the vast majority of our members are in the ranks of the minute man.

One or two of our churches, this early in the campaign, will soon become entitled to the new General Conference citation. This is given to those churches which raise 10 per cent more than last year and succeed in getting a number equal to 75 per cent of their membership to participate in the Ingathering effort. This means that they sing, solicit or give. But whether we are interested in the citation or not, if our vision is clear and our hearts are right, we would recognize that the rapidly expanding work of God and the unprecedented demands at home and abroad call for greater activity, greater sacrifice and larger amounts to advance the work. To do just what we did last year under this inflated economy is to do less. The very devaluation of our dollars calls for an increase even to keep pace with what we did in the last campaign. Not for arbitrary goals but for the saving of souls, let us do more than heretofore.

The spirit of zeal is manifested by our young people in Iceland. Last year they collected 2,000 Kroners. This year they set their goals for 10,000. Last Sabbath they reached it and now they plan to double it. On that ice-bound island here will be nearly 400 minute men. Let not the believers in the churches of Oregon come behind in holy zeal. Let the ranks of the minute men swell.

Pathfinders Visit Mayor

Pathfinders of the Mount Tabor church, Portland, Oregon, waited patiently at Mayor T. D. Schrunk's secretary's office for their appointment to interview the mayor of this city. The time was four o'clock, November 25, 1958. The group was all excited about this most important event in their Pathfinder programing. Mr. Daniel Sandoval, the Pathfinder director, had made plans well in advance.

Mayor Schrunk was very happy to take time out of his busy schedule to spend a few moments with us. He was very much interested in our club work and commended us highly on our work for the youth of our church. At the close of our interview the book The Desire of Ages was given to the mayor

I Will Bless You

If there is one thing more than another that a Christian should desire, it is the blessing of the Lord. Without His blessing all of our efforts are in vain. Perhaps there is no greater blessing promised with regard to our life on this earth than is promised in Malachi 3. Here the Lord promises to open the windows of heaven to those who faithfully bring "all" the tithe into the storehouse and He says those who do so will receive a "blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Thousands of Christians are thus proving the Lord year after year and are prospering not only financially but spiritually as well. Many have prospered beyond their fondest dreams because they have taken the Lord as their partner and they have testified to the world of the joy in being in business with the One whose plans never fail.

As we come to the close of another year in a world filled with fear and uncertainty, let us examine ourselves and see if we are in the faith and are putting our trust in God rather than in the things of this world. At the present time Montana shows a loss in tithe as compared with last year yet our membership is larger and the Lord blessed this year with a bountiful harvest. We are confident this loss can be made up, and we can show a gain when the books close December 31 if every member closes the year with his account balanced with God.

May every member in Montana be among those who will receive the promised blessing of God to those who are faithful and honest. It may not be

Mrs. Lewis Pitzlin who was born more than a year before the outbreak of the Civil War, received birthday greetings in Great Falls and wishes for "many happy returns" from her friends and relatives November 19. The happy occasion marked her 98th birthday.

Mrs. Pitzlin, nee Lull, was born in the township of Pleasant Grove in Olmstead County, Minnesota, in 1860.

Her mother lived to the age of 84, her father to 92.

Esther Elvira Lull and Lewis Pitzlin were married December 3, 1880, in Wisconsin. Mr. Pitzlin died in 1942. The Pitzlins had six daughters and three sons. Four of their children are living and Mrs. Pitzlin has 14 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great-grandchildren.

She has been a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church more than 80 years. She came to Montana three years ago from Fairview, North Dakota, and now lives with a granddaughter, Mrs. Ed Vivian.

Mrs. Pitzlin is alert and cheerful, and her hearing is good. She uses a hickory cane more than 100 years old, and she can still wait on herself.

She does not attend church as often as formerly, due to the cold weather, but she sits in her favorite chair near a large window to read her Bible daily, unless clouds dim the light. She rejoices in the promises to God's children and looks forward to the soon return of Jesus.

When asked the stock question put to all who live beyond the allotted three-score and ten, "to what do you attribute your longevity," Mrs. Pitzlin replied, "God just let me live."

She added that her diet consists mainly of vegetables, fruit, milk, eggs, nuts, and whole-wheat bread.

In observance of her birthday, Elder and Mrs. George W. Chambers, accompanied by this writer, paid their respects, and presented Mrs. Pitzlin with an attractive planter.

She was featured in the Great Falls Tribune.

Visiting the Churches

Since arriving in the Montana Conference in September, Elder and Mrs. Taylor have been busy visiting the churches. In the Bozeman district, Elder Clyde Kearbey has been carrying on a strong program in evangelism, along with his duties as pastor of the Bozeman, Livingston and Big Timber churches. His recent campaign in Big Timber has been well attended and there will be several baptisms from the meetings there. At Livingston, Elder Taylor found the church well filled and the Livingston members have been faithful in giving support to the meetings at Big Timber. The Bozeman church is crowded each Sabbath, so much so that the deacons have to place chairs in the aisle.

In the Missoula district, Elder and Mrs. Frank Munsey are carrying on a strong program. It was a happy surprise to see the beautiful new church building at Hamilton and to meet with the faithful members there on the occasion of the dedication of their church. The members in Missoula are working on plans for a new church in that city. They have their church lot and according to plans the building program will soon be under way.

On the way to meet with the Kalispell church, the Taylors stopped over for an evening meeting with the members at Hot Springs. They have a very special interest in that church for it was there that Elder Taylor held evangelistic meetings and raised up the church some 25 years ago. It was indeed a pleasure for the Taylors to meet many of the charter members of the Hot Springs church and also those who have joined later.

The Paul Johnsons are carrying on an active program in the Kalispell district, and working with the members on plans for a new church in that fine city.

Visiting the Great Falls district, Elder Taylor found the work progressing splendidly under the leadership of Elder George Chambers. Elder and Mrs. Chambers have been carrying on a vigorous visiting program in all of their district, which has been so much appreciated by the church members. At Lewistown, Elder Taylor met several who said, "Remember you baptized me 25 years ago."

Attending a Dorcas Federation meeting was the occasion of the Taylors' first meeting with the Havre church. Mrs. Joe Thiebaud of Great Falls has been leading out in a strong Dorcas program in that Federation. At Havre too they were pleasantly surprised to find the members worshipping in a beautiful new church building, all properly furnished and indeed a credit to the cause in that northern city.

At Billings the church was crowded and the Taylors were happy to see how the work had grown in that fine city through the years. Elder Marshall Anderson is giving excellent leadership in that large district, and Mrs. Anderson is one of the teachers in the beautiful new church school at Billings.

In the mining city of Butte, Elder and Mrs. Taylor enjoyed the hospitality of Elder and Mrs. Baker and their two fine children. They met several of the "old-timers" whom they had previously known in the Butte church. Our work has not grown so much in this mining city, but Elder Baker is studying in the homes of several there and hopes to have some baptisms soon as the result of these studies. Mrs. Baker is doing an excellent job of teaching in the church school in Butte.

Thanksgiving day, Elder and Mrs. Taylor left Bozeman to visit the Plentywood district. En route to Plentywood they stopped at Circle to meet Dr. and Mrs. Roy Messenger who are letting their light shine and are making friends for the cause in that little town. Dr. Roy Messenger is the only physician in Circle and the people love him for his kind Christian services. Mrs. Messenger has plans under way for organizing a Pathfinders club for the children in Circle.

Even though the temperature was hovering around zero and snow blowing about in a ground-blizzard, the Taylors report a warm welcome at Plentywood. The members in that district drive long distances to be present in the house of worship on Sabbath, and they have erected a beautiful house of worship and have it fully furnished in excellent taste throughout. Pastor and Mrs. Edmund Jones have the good will of the townspeople and report an excellent attendance at the Sunday night meetings held in the church. Pastor Larry Lewis of the Glendive district assists Brother Jones with the meetings on Sunday nights.

The Taylors have plans to continue meeting with the churches and hope soon to cover the entire Conference.

Winter Quarter to Begin Soon

Students who plan to enter Walla Walla College at the beginning of the coming winter quarter may choose among 174 courses in 19 departments, the registrar's office reports.

Those who have had their education interrupted may re-enter school with a full scholastic load this next quarter, stresses Dean Fabian A. Meier. Classes for the winter quarter will begin Monday, January 5, with registration of new students slated for January 4.

Students in attendance at WWC during the fall quarter have already completed their registration.

Three courses not before offered have been added to the curriculum for the coming quarter: Human Physiology, Community Health, and Tests and Measurements in Physical Education. Mrs. Carl T. Jones is to teach the first two, Community Health course being designed especially for freshman nursing students. The Tests and Measurements for Physical Education is planned for senior P.E. students.

Open House Draws Many

Sunday afternoon, December 7, some 600 persons attended an Open House for Kellogg Hall, newest campus building which houses the facilities for the food service and the Home Economics Department. The event was significantly held on the sixty-sixth anniversary of the opening of WWC, December 7, 1892.

A luncheon honoring Mrs. E. C. Kellogg, widow of the man for whom the building is named, preceded the open house hours. Dr. W. I. Smith, preceptor under Dr. Kellogg's administration, gave a tribute to the one for whom the structure is named and who was president of WWC from 1911-1917.

Dean F. A. Meier was the master of ceremonies for the luncheon; President P. W. Christian outlined the significance of the new building and its facilities; Manager A. W. Spoo told of its planning and erection. Others introduced were Dr. G. W. Bowers, president when the Hall was planned; Clinton Wall, director of food service; Professor E. F. Cross, head of the Department of Engineering; Stanley Sargeant, construction superintendent; Arthur Ziegele, acting superintendent of heat and light; and Elder P. C. Heubach, dean of the School of Theology.

Guests from as far away as California and Minnesota joined local business men, alumni, and friends of the Northwest in touring the dining rooms, ultra-modern kitchen and storage facilities, Home Economics classrooms, laboratories and offices. In addition to those named, those receiving, hostessing and assisting in the Open House were: Mrs. K. A. Aplington, Mrs. P. W. Christian, Mrs. F. A. Meier, Mrs. A. W. Spoo, Miss Evelynne Wright, Mrs. Melvin Zolber, Miss Dorothy Syme, Arthur White and Mrs. William Lay. Professor J. J. Hafner arranged for music performed both during the luncheon and in the reception room during the afternoon.

Professor C. V. Temple, head of the Art Department, was selected as the faculty advisor.

Learn A Trade !

It seems a bit unusual to "advertise" the need of workers at Upper Columbia Academy. The demands for special (skilled) labor for the Furniture Making Department and also the Custom Upholstery necessitate long-range planning. It is time now to train workers to replace graduating seniors for both of these departments.

Here is a wonderful opportunity for several boys, 16 years or older, who desire a Christian education, and who have some natural manual skills, to enter the school second semester, and learn a skilled trade. We will be in a position to hire one full-time worker for each department (prospective student) and one part-time worker. Employment involves remaining on campus, except for vacations, during the coming summer and the next school term.

Interested candidates should contact the principal by letter.
