WILL YOU BRING A VISITOR?

By B. M. PRESTON

Sabbath School Department, North Pacific Union Conference

Sabbath School Visitors' Day is Sabbath, September 12, this year. Surely every Sabbath school member will wish to bring at least one visitor to Sabbath school on that Sabbath. Last year it was estimated on a conservative basis there were between eight thousand and ten thousand visitors in our Sabbath schools on Visitors' Day. Many of our Sabbath schools have doubled and tripled their usual attendance. Many of those visitors have continued to come to Sabbath services, and later were baptized. Today many are rejoicing in this message because faithful Sabbath school members invited them to Sabbath school.

No greater joy can come to anyone than to see someone brought to Christ. There is no better way than that of inviting our neighbors and friends to be our guests at Sabbath school. If you have not already done so, start making a list of neighbors you propose to invite to Sabbath school on September 12. Then visit them in their homes, extending to them a special invitation to be your guest at Sabbath school on Visitors' Day. They won't all accept the invitation. You can expect excuses as to why some of them cannot come, but be persistent in visiting until you have the promise from some that they will come. If you will be persevering, some will accept your invitation. They will receive a blessing, and you will also receive a blessing. Do not wait until a few days before Visitors' Day to start visiting your neighbors. Start now and pray that God will bless by impressing their hearts to accept your invitation.

Sabbath school officers and teachers will be bringing this to the attention of their Sabbath schools and classes each week between now and September 12. Our youth and children down to and including the Primary Division are to participate in Visitors' Day also. Hundreds of boys and girls and older youth visitors were present at Sabbath school on previous Visitors' Day. May God help each member, teacher and Sabbath school officer to share the blessings of Sabbath school attendance in bringing visitors on Sabbath, September 12.

about one hundred fifty a day. That is a good record, but it would fade into insignificance if every church member would be responsible for bringing one individual to Sabbath school. Sabbath School Visitors' Day on September 12 affords the golden opportunity for those of us who are lay members to enter into Sabbath school evangelism which to me is the most effective soul-winning agency in the church. I do not see how we could engage in soul winning with less effort than it takes to invite a soul to Sabbath school.

It seems to me that the Sabbath school superintendent, his assistants, and the teachers bear the load. Our responsibility as members is to see that the individual in whom we have become interested has transportation to and from Sabbath school. I try to invite from one to six "strangers" each week. Of course, they do not all come but every week some of them do. Two weeks ago out of six entire "strangers" to the church who were invited six came. Of the six, one man and his wife have joined the class and are looking forward to uniting with us by baptism. They both smoked cigarettes until they visited our Sabbath school but have not smoked since. Truly from our Sabbath school flows spiritual power.

Now I want to give you my own personal experience in a Sabbath school class. Before I became a Seventh-day Adventist, I was invited to Sabbath school in College Place, Washington. The individual who invited me was not there to meet me, and I wandered around finally settling in a class under the balcony. The teacher apparently was not too interested in the soul-winning aspect; therefore, the visitor was ignored and in a short time went to sleep in the back row of the class to be awakened when the Sabbath school was dismissed. This was my first experience in a Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath school, and I say with regret that after that I wandered many years outside the ark of safety until Evangelist F. F. Schwindt found my wife and me, and gathered us in. Evidently as a reminder to me, God has led me through many of the Sabbath school departments and finally to that of a teacher. My Sabbath school class today is that very class under the balcony in the village church where I first attended as a visitor.

I bring this experience as a little warning not only to the members but to the teachers as well. Take just a little personal interest in those who are visiting in your class. It will bring you a rich reward. It is now impossible to compute the blessings the Sabbath school has brought to the members of the church through the years, but when the heavenly records are opened by angels who have kept a faithful record, what revelations of loyalty, love, sacrifice, and faithfulness will be revealed! Let us do our best on Visitors' Day, September 12.

Sabbath School Visitors' Day A Golden Opportunity

The Sabbath school is the heart of the church; from it flows spiritual power. It is the greatest educating influence that this denomination has. The Sabbath school was established to be the evangelistic center of the church and should be the greatest soul-winning agency of the church.

Every seven minutes last year a Sabbath school member was baptized,

"S.O.S."

The recent flash flood in Taiwan has brought an urgent request for 50 bales of bedding in addition to 150 bales of clothing. Whereas we are able to supply the clothing, it is to our utmost regret that we cannot fill the request for the bedding since we have only 15 bales on hand. We, therefore, would appeal to you to send us whatever bedding you have available in order to meet this urgent need and also to enable us to build up our stock for future emergencies which invariably will arise.

In addition to the bedding we are always in need of clothing, especially of the lighter weight. We recently have shipped 1000 bales to Korea and have shipments ready for India, Chile and Pitcairn Islands.

In sending clothing to the warehouse it is a great help to our operation here if the clothing is tagged by the local Dorcas societies. These little garment tags can be obtained for the asking from the office of your Conference Home Missionary Secretary. The value of attaching these little tags can best be expressed in the excerpts of a letter recently received by the General Conference in Washington.

"God's ways are not always clear, but the darkness lies only in our lack of vision and faith, not in His ways; and so it was that I was driven from my homeland and became a political refugee that I received your coat in Berlin which you sent to the poor of Berlin. Only today, May 26, 1959, did I find your address in the coat as I was cleaning it to store for use next winter. May our dear and merciful heavenly Father reward you for it here on earth and also eternally. I am 71 years of age and have lost everything including my dear homeland. I live with my dear wife on the relief allowance from the government of West Berlin, about $40 a month. And although the money hardly is sufficient to care for everything we do receive now and then a relief package; but there are many others like us here and so such packages do not reach us often. Every day there are between 100-150 refugees who come here from the Russian zone in the east. They are all poor and all of them, therefore, need help. All of you in America certainly must have things better. You have work. You have food. Yet some of the refugees are without bread enough to eat on some days.

"Once more my hearty thanks for the coat. To all the dear friends in the churches many, many hearty greetings."

This letter apparently never would have been written if it were not for some faithful Dorcas worker doing her work of love.

May we take this opportunity to invite you to visit the warehouse, which is located on the beautiful campus of Monterey Bay Academy. We have improved our facilities in order to meet the standard of like operations throughout the country. The warehouse is open on Sunday through Thursday from 8 to 5 and on Friday from 8 to 1.

Should you have some hours to spare we would like you to spend these in helping us. Most of the work is done by volunteer help of which we never seem to be able to get enough.

A New Arrival

With the release of the current July-September, 1959 issue of "Smoke Signals" we are happy to announce its transfer from Washington, D. C., to the Pacific Press in Mountain View, California. All future orders for yearly subscriptions, clubs, and bulk supplies will be channeled through this address, and will be processed with the usual dispatch.

Completing its fifth year as a quarterly four-page bulletin, it is especially designed "to interpret the extensive tobacco research of today and encouraged healthful living in the light of current findings."

The following prices for "Smoke Signals" prevail until further notice:

Single yearly subscriptions—$5.00 each.
Clubs of 30 or more to one address—$25 each per year.
Quantity prices—$2.00 per 100; $8.00 per 500; $15.00 per 1,000, plus postage.

"Footsteps of Livingstone"

Dramatic New Film on Africa

The sharp contrast between the stirring, restless and awakening Congo of today and the dark regions of Africa only a century ago are vividly portrayed in the American Bible Society's newest motion picture, "Footsteps of Livingstone."

This new, 28-minute film in Technicolor, planned to coincide with the 1959-60 study theme on Africa, will be available to churches in early fall.

The diaries of the famed London missionary, David Livingstone, are used as the thread to tie the habits of the two centuries together.

Alongside the growing demand for better living standards of Europe and America, is shown the efforts to bring the Gospel to the many peoples of the Congo basin. The slow and demanding work of translation, publication and distribution of the Scriptures is carefully traced.

Livingstone was the famed Scottish missionary-doctor who conducted remarkable explorations in Africa and studied the people there in the mid-19th century. He was lost and near death deep in the Congo jungle when, at the climax of a widely publicized search, he was rescued by a journalist named Henry M. Stanley who greeted him with perhaps the most widely quoted innocuous phrase of modern times: "Dr. Livingstone, I presume."

The motion picture is resplendent with the colors and sounds, the variety and textures of Africa. It shows how the American Bible Society, in cooperation with related organizations and missionary efforts, has become an extension of the bold explorations of the 19th century. Following the aspirations of earlier educators and missionaries, the Society seeks to bring literacy to the African people and encourages the exercise of that literacy by reading the Bible.

With narration in a low key, the film examines the complexities and vast distances involved in transmitting the Scriptures to native villages, to wandering tribes and the ancient communities of river people.

While enormous areas of the Congo basin remain blanketed with jungles and forests, the film discloses evidence of modernization as it develops in this most unrevealed of all the continents.

To these people hovering on the perimeter of the modern world and caught up in the surge toward nationalism, the need for literacy and the value of association with the Christian culture are strikingly apparent in the documentary picture. The American Bible Society seeks to make the Bible the key to this culture, as well as the instrument of faith and knowledge.

About September 1, the color film "Footsteps of Livingstone" will be available for church bookings, for a service fee of $4.00 from the Audio-Visual Department of the American Bible Society, 440 Park Avenue South, New York 16, N.Y.

With the MV's In Alaska

Visiting the new 49th state is always a pleasant experience; but when it in-

on the George Inlet near Ketchikan.

Alaska is rapidly expanding and so is our MV camping program! This year there were four camps held in Alaska for our youth with 149 boys and girls in attendance. When you realize that we only have 115 children in church school, and about 500 church members in the entire mission, this is a remarkable attendance. We now have two conference-owned camps—Camp Polaris on Lake Aleknagik and Camp Tukuskoya on a beautiful inland lake sixty miles from Anchorage. The camp for our boys and girls of the Ketchikan area is conducted at a Boy Scout camp and another camp was held on private property near Juneau.

To date the local churches in each area have been responsible for directing the camps and are to be commended for their work not only in planning for the camping program but also for the facilities which they have built on the two conference-owned campsites.

At Camp Polaris we now have a small dining cabin and two large housing cabins and each have a capacity for two ten-camper units. A large waterfront area has also been bulldozed the entire length of the camp which provides play area and beautiful campfire site overlooking the lake. Brother Aaron Leno directed the Polaris Camp this year with volunteers from the mission school, and Aleknagik and Dillingham churches serving on the staff. The program was well organized with forty-five boys and girls in attendance having a most enjoyable and profitable time. Elder Stambaugh, the camp pastor, conducted a large baptismal class during the camp and on Sabbath the parents and friends assembled had the privilege of seeing many of their children led into the clear blue waters of Aleknagik to follow their Lord in baptism.

There was a wonderful camp spirit at Camp Polaris. Whether it was playing "capture the flag" on the island across from the camp, climbing "Mt. Shasta" directly back of the camp, joining in the fun at the campfire or performing camp duties, everyone entered into the activities with whole-hearted enthusiasm. I shall not soon forget the eager faces and loving hearts of the campers at Camp Polaris!

The camps at Anchorage and Juneau had been held earlier in the summer, but Elder Dopp and Dr. Don Foster took me out to the Tukuskoya camp site by private plane and boat. Here too I was happily surprised to see all the work which the church members have put into improving the facilities. Some very fine unit-cabins have been constructed on this beautiful lakeshore site. Sixty-one boys and girls attended Camp Tukuskoya this summer. Incidentally, the name Tukuskoya means "Arctic Tern," a very fitting name for the camp since these birds, which migrate some 11,000 miles each year, nest in the area.

Elder Dawson, pastor of the Ketchikan church, and his staff had things well in hand for a good week of camping at White River. Twenty-five enthusiastic young people enjoyed a busy camping program there in the midst of breath-taking natural beauty. Unusually fine weather prevailed throughout the camping time which added much to the enjoyment of this year's adventure in the great out-of-door spectacular which is Alaska.

During my Alaskan itinerary, I also had the privilege of meeting with our believers in the churches at Fairbanks, Anchorage and Ketchikan. I was pleased to see the progress of the work in each of these areas and was particularly happy to visit with many of our Adventist servicemen who are faithfully living their faith in this far-north frontier. With Elder Zumwalt, who accompanied me on my entire trip, I can truthfully say: "Alaska has a bright future."

ASI Convention—Will You Be There?

Several weeks ago we announced the bi-annual convention of the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Self-supporting Institutions which will be held in Loma Linda, September 15 to 17. This promises to be an outstanding convention for not only members of the association, but for all of our people engaged in medical and health-food work. While all members are urged to attend, non-members are welcome to take advantage of the wealth of helpful and practical presentations which will be given at both the pre-session meetings and during the convention.

Printing Press Needed

The South Chile Conference urgently needs a small printing press. Kindly send full details including price to Elder Carlos Ayala, Casilla 2-D, Temuco, Chile, South America.

New Books You'll Enjoy

Whispering Halls—could this be the story of a haunted house?

Whispering Halls—could this be the story of a gossip factory?

Let us stop guessing. Whispering Halls is the account of many of the very interesting experiences that came to a young lady in nurse's training.

"I speak for your teachers, your upperclassmen, your patients, when I say we welcome you. We need you. A hospital has a way of needing good nurses; the halls in each building whisper that."

The chapter entitled "Heartaches in Pediatrics" begins this way: "The children's ward, a bright sunny place with many windows, was situated at the end of a hall. I think most of us enjoyed pediatrics as well as, or more than, most of our assignments until experiences like Andy's tugged at our hearts."

In the chapter "Maternity Ward" is this dialogue: "Maternity ward is the happiest place in the hospital," I said, entering the ward with a basket of dainty flowers. "For Mrs. Janet Jackson mother of five." Plump Mrs. Jackson dimpled. "I see why you think this is the happiest place in the hospital. All you have to do is deliver pretty bouquets." "And pretty babies," I added.

And yet further on in the same chapter is this statement: "The tears that a nurse stifles and suppresses and the lessons she learns often lead her to a quiet spot away from the crowd."

Of course the whole book is not about children and babies. There is a chapter "Lavender and Old Lace," "My Turn in Surgery," etc.

The book is as cleverly written as this description of Joy's roommate. "Marsha moved in. She had the dash of a convertible, the aristocracy of a Cadillac, the simplicity of a Ford, the mobility of a Jeep, the practicality of a station wagon. As she wrapped you around her finger, she wrapped herself around your heart."

And there is romance too! "The words 'I love you' were not hard to say. They hung from every apple blossom on the tree, they sprang from every leaf of clover in the broad, green field."

"For always?" Marvin whispered.

"Like the miracles of birth and healing I had witnessed, love, too, was a thing of beauty."

Whispering Halls—$2.95, add sales tax where necessary.

Washington

Missionary Work a Hobby

The Rainier Valley church in Seattle, Washington, is very proud of one of its members who has an unusual hobby. Oscar Johnson, seventy years old, is a retired carpenter. A partial loss of vision prevents him from reading much but how he loves to help others find good reading by giving out our papers and tracts. His favorite place of work is the Holly Park Housing Project where 800 families live. Brother Johnson has spent many days visiting these families with our truth-filled literature and Voice of Prophecy Bible Course invitations because he loves to do it. He has brought cheer and comfort to the distressed and new members to our church. His visiting prepared the way for our Vacation Bible School which was conducted for the third year with an enrollment of 350 this year. Rainier Vista Housing Project also had a Vacation Bible School this year with an enrollment of 150.

Mariam Lauren, in charge of both schools, worked long and hard gathering supplies and material for craft and getting needed help, and to her we are grateful. We also appreciate the help of Mrs. Culton, Mrs. Somers, Mrs. Garner, Mrs. Tyrell, Mrs. Comstock, and Mrs. Barnhart and her daughters Brenda and Darlene from the Central church and Mrs. Swanson from the Snohomish church.

Who do you suppose was there every day to help arrange chairs and tables and deliver supplies between schools? —Why, Brother Johnson, of course! We are truly proud of this brother who never tires of working for God, but who delights in any missionary effort.

Upper Columbia

Academy Building Fund

Again we are presenting the academy building fund report up to July 31. We are grateful for the $5,293.28 that came in during July, but it causes us no little concern that we are unable to keep up with expenses of the new addition to the girls' dormitory, and school is about to open.

On top of this is the remodeling that we must do to meet the fire regulations and also we have to put in new boilers in order to keep our students warm this winter. I know of no greater need than that which exists at our academy.

Christ Our Hope Campaign

The Christ Our Hope Evangelistic Team will be in Centralia in September for an evangelistic campaign. They are desirous of obtaining the names of the following who may be in the Centralia area: all backsliders and friends and relatives of Seventh-day Adventists who may be interested. Send these names immediately with any information you feel may be important to Elder Q. E. Qualley, 2524 Borst Avenue, Centralia, Washington.

Book Wanted

We are desirous of obtaining two copies, new or used, of the book, God's Great Plan. These are to be used by a missionary family in India. If you have one or two copies, or know where they could be obtained, please let us know as soon as possible. We would like to send them over with a family returning from furlough.

UPPER COLUMBIA CONFERENCE
W. 1025 Indiana Avenue
Spokane 17, Washington

Pullman, Endicott, Colfax Efforts

The Upper Columbia Conference evangelistic team will be holding meetings during the coming months in Pullman, Endicott, Colfax, and later in Moscow, Idaho. Please help us in seeking out the honest-hearted ones in the small towns and scattered farming communities of the Palouse country. If you know of any interested persons in this area, please sit down immediately and send us the name, address, and a brief case history. Do not depend on someone else doing it. It is much better to have duplication than for someone to be overlooked. Many, many sons and daughters, and mothers and dads too, are safe within the fold today because some loved one took the time to write a letter just like we are pleading with you to write. Please do not let the devil persuade you to put it off.

A daughter accepted Christ and His message for our day. She heard we would be holding meetings in a certain town. She sent her mother's name to us. We made the visit. This dear mother attended the meetings. She is a baptized member of the church today, joyfully walking in the light.

While visiting her husband in the hospital an Adventist lady made the acquaintance of a woman patient in a nearby ward. They talked together on religious themes. A copy of Desire of Ages was readily accepted by this patient. Sensing an interest, this Adventist sister made sure that we had this name at the beginning of a series of meetings. The result? Another child of God is numbered with His remnant church.

An alert member of one of our churches found out that some very dear friends were regular listeners to the Voice of Prophecy radio program. She passed this information on to us along with the name and address of this couple. The contact was made, and as a result two more precious souls found their way home.

We could go on and tell you about the man who had a burden for two men with whom he worked; the lady who told us about the family who had taken the 30th Century Bible Course; the man who turned over to us the names on his prayer list. Each one of these stories has a happy ending. Each one is the experience of souls won to Christ because someone cared enough to do something. Someone cared enough to write down a little information and mail it to the evangelistic team.

Our first series of meetings will begin in Pullman on the evening of September 19. We will also be visiting in the other towns named above to prepare the ground for future meetings which will be announced in the GLENER. The sooner we have these names the more time we will have to work with them. Send the names of former Adventists, relatives of Adventists, and any others who have demonstrated any interest to: Crusade for Christ, Box 183, Colfax, Washington.

Home-coming Sabbath
September 19

Former members of the church are invited to join with the membership in the home-coming services, Sabbath morning and afternoon. There will be an exhibit of early articles of interest. The afternoon meeting of Memories and Challenge will be at 3:30 o'clock.

Portland Rally

A big rally is scheduled in the Stone Tower church in Portland located at the corner of 39th and Sandy for the 11th of September, Friday night, at 7:30. Representatives from the North Pacific Union Conference and the Oregon Conference will be present as will the Knights of Song male quartet, the Portland Rose Chorale and the members of the Spillman-Lyman-Wyman crusade group. Much good music will be featured on the rally program. Let all Adventists in the Portland area be present to give the coming evangelistic campaign a running start!

Bring A Friend

who will be assisting as a Bible Instructor in the Spillman-Lyman-Wyman meetings.

The Spillman-Lyman meetings in the heart of downtown Portland will open in the Oriental Theater on Grand between Belmont and Morrison Saturday night, September 12, at 6:15. Be on time for organ meditations followed at 6:30 by the strikingly new and dramatic film, "Time and Eternity." Startling and factual, this film will help the non-scientific mind to comprehend something of the theory of relativity as advanced by the great Einstein. Yet its appeal to the general public is so great that you will wish that it were longer in showing time.

Evangelist Don Hiatt Spillman will speak on the subject, "Christ or Chaos." Come and hear messages that point with skill to the only One who can solve life's problems. Bring a friend. The place—Oriental Theater, Grand Avenue between Belmont and Morrison, Portland, Oregon. The time—Saturday, September 12, 6:15 p.m. Meetings begin on time and are out by nine!

"Bible Stories" at Grace Public Library

The Grace librarian reports that the beautifully illustrated ten-volume set of Bible Stories by Maxwell is now at the library. These books may be checked out only by parents or with consent of parents. Due to the value of the books it is felt best to handle them in this way. The library is anxious that they be used but hopes that special care will be given them.

The preceding appeared in the Grace, Idaho, News after Roy Johnston, one of our literature evangelists, sold the set to the librarian. She also purchased The Great Controversy in the new edition called Triumph of God's Love.

One of our Bible Story customers recently wrote to us after having a lot of sickness and family problems that she had read all of the books, "and I don't know how I would have stood up to a lot of things if I didn't have these books to help me."

These are wonderful books. Do you have them in your library to help you and your children through the days ahead? If not, contact your local Book and Bible House.

"Make Them Welcome"

September 12 is the annual Sabbath School Visitors' Day. Everything in the Sabbath school as well as church service will be geared towards appealing to visitors. All Sabbath school officers and pastors should bear in mind that many visitors will be in attendance on that date. Each church member should plan to bring neighbors and friends on this special occasion. When the whole church works in concert to make the Sabbath services especially suited for the visitor, I am sure that God's blessing will be in evidence.

Idaho Conference Summer Camps

The Idaho Conference Summer Camps are history, and seemingly good history. This year, for the first time in our conference, we attempted having our boys and girls in the same camp within their age groups. Our camp at Payette Lake lends itself very well to this type program because of the divided camp with central headquarters.

Dean Van Tassel

There were approximately 80 youth campers in the first group, ages 9-12, with 50 in the 12-15 age group. Even though we were kept on our toes, it is believed that with a tight program keeping the youth busy all the time that a very profitable stay was experienced by all.

We want to publicly give a hearty thanks to one of our good doctors for his whole-hearted support of our program at the camp by lending a new boat and motor for the camping season, with no expense on our part. Certainly all the campers and help enjoyed this treat throughout the full time. It also helped very materially in making a balanced budget possible.

We are looking forward to working with our youth and youth leaders in the conference during the coming months.

Gem State Academy News

The opening days of another school year at Gem State Academy are rapidly approaching. Prospects look very good for the coming year. Many are inquiring about the school, and many more have already sent in their applications to attend. What are your plans for the 1959-60 school year? Have you laid your plans to be in a school of God's planting? Gem State Academy is a safe place for every young person of high school age in the Idaho Conference. If you are high school age, we hope to see you at Gem State Academy on opening day to join the other young people in a year of study, preparation, fellowship and wholesome good times.

The student rooms are all ready to receive you. There are two good beds in each room, and the windows are covered with lovely drapes which adds so much to the looks and comfort of the rooms.

There have been additional changes in the school personnel since last we reported in the GLEANER. Brother Melvin Bras is to replace Brother Ray Hartlein as Bible teacher; and Brother George Harty, who has been acting as summer dean for the boys, and who taught grades seven and eight in the Boise Junior Academy last year, will be the new dean of boys. Brother and Sister Hartlein have accepted a call to the Oak Park Academy located in Nevada, Iowa. We certainly wish Brother and Sister Hartlein every blessing and good wish as they leave us and take up their similar work in a new field. We have greatly appreciated their loyal and consecrated service in our field for the past eight years. We solicit the prayers of God's people everywhere that this coming year may be the very best in the history of the academy. We believe that it is going to be a very good year.

Preparations for Music at WWC

With the approach of another school year there comes into focus the annual flurry of preparation and anticipation—preparation of the Music Hall and all of its various facets and the anticipation of the time when once again there will be music in the air. Paint here, new rug and drapes there, an additional lock or two, new light fixtures, additional filing cabinets, new records, studio and classroom changes—to mention but a few of the various factors which contribute to the late summer excitement as the school year is eagerly awaited.

Melvin West

Among the several needs of our music facilities has been that of a practice room equipped with a grand piano for the use of the piano majors. Just such a room has been provided for this fall, and piano majors will arrange with their teachers for its use.

Not the least among the several additions to the music equipment this year will be a new Moller pipe organ for the organ studio. With the increasing interest in organ instruction it has been necessary to add just such an instrument to help take care of the needs in this field, both for instruction and practice. This will be a rather unique organ in several respects. First, is the fact that though it is a small organ, it is nevertheless a genuine pipe organ. Among its manuals and pedals will be represented the four basic classes of organ tone with stops ranging in size from the sixteen-foot to the one-foot. Approximately one-half of the organ will be unenclosed with the pipes displayed in a beautiful arrangement. Of special interest will be the Baroque orientation of its tonal resources which makes this instrument particularly effective for music of the time of Bach. This is another first for Walla Walla College in that this is the first new studio pipe organ of such dimensions to be installed in an Adventist school.

Why all of these additions and all of this preparation for music? Adventists have always strived to maintain high standards. This must apply to music as well. The use of music in our worship services demands an intelligent approach, and music for general everyday pleasure likewise requires more than a superficial understanding. Where better can these ideals be reached than at a Christian college such as Walla Walla College where teachers are dedicated to the pursuance of music for themselves and through their students in a manner commensurate with our denominational standards? This necessitates trained personnel in our music departments and adequate equipment to the furthering of our message through the medium of music.

It is to this that we the music teachers of Walla Walla College, bend our every effort so that good music, beautiful music, proper music, may become widespread for the enjoyment and uplifting of all.

Pre-College Testing Program

We want to remind all who plan to attend Walla Walla College this fall that they must take the Washington Pre-College Tests before registering.

The regular testing date is set for September 16; however, the tests will also be administered on September 15 and again on September 20.

It would avoid congestion if all who can would be present at 8:00 a.m., September 15, to take the tests on that day, though the main testing will be held on September 16 as previously announced.

Those who have not been tested in the spring or do not take the tests on either September 15 or 16 will be able to take the tests on September 20 by paying a special fee. No freshman will be allowed to register without having taken the tests.

Many incoming freshmen have taken the tests which were administered at the following academies this spring: Walla Walla College Academy, Upper Columbia Academy, Portland Union Academy, Laurelwood Academy, Auburn Academy, and Columbia Academy. For these we already have the records. There may, however, be some who have taken the tests in high schools. These students should write to me giving the name of the high school at which the test was taken.

Pathfinder Day

September 19 has been chosen as Pathfinder Day in Montana and the North Pacific Union. Since the twelfth conflicts with another important program the date has been changed to the nineteenth. May each Pathfinder Club have a good program on that day.

Weddings

Phyllis Lorraine Jones, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Rablin of Spokane, Washington, was married to Mr. Elwood F. Loga of Spokane, July 18, at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Don Angel, at College Place, Washington. The couple will make their home in Spokane.

Delores Ann Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Garrett of Pendleton, Oregon, and Wendell Emmerson Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Robinson of Caldwell, Idaho, exchanged their wedding vows at the Pendleton Seventh-day Adventist church, the evening of August 9. The Robinsons will make their home at College Place, Washington while the groom finishes his pre-medical studies.

Margie Hanson and William Brath were united in marriage in the Mt. Tabor Seventh-day Adventist church in Portland, Sunday evening, August 9. The silent shimmer of candlelight illuminated the beautiful sanctuary as Elder W. L. Schoepflin read the service.

Marvin Beddoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Beddoe, of Yakima, Washington was united in marriage to Rita Anne Potts, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Potts of Walla Walla, Washington, on August 16, in the College Place SDA church. They will establish their new home in Los Angeles, California, where Marvin is in his third year of medical studies. May heaven's prospering blessing abide on this home. Elder H. E. Weaver was the officiating minister.
