Autumn

Someone has described the autumn as the time "when summer gathers up her robes of glory, and like a dream of beauty glides away." But the autumn is a time for gathering the fruits of the summer's labor, for assessing the blessings of the past and planning for new and greater achievements in the future. The beginning of the new evangelistic year is in autumn, when the children go back to school, and nature gilds the landscape with her somber hues of red and gold.

This autumn marks a new beginning in the Oregon Conference under the leadership of a new president. We are fortunate in securing the services of Elder H. L. Rudy who has resigned the vice-presidency of the General Conference to take up the work in Oregon. World traveler, writer, linguist and pulpit orator, Elder Rudy comes with a rich background of experience and a fresh, new approach to the problems of the Northwest. The people of the Oregon Conference will love Elder Rudy as he enters upon his duties, and his welcome in the churches will be just as warm and cordial as the welcome accorded him on the campground. "His worth is warrant for his welcome." After the many years of travel and "living in a suit case," Elder Rudy may surely be pardoned for wanting to settle down for a time in a quiet and lovely place like the Oregon Conference.

ELDER H. L. RUDY

We could perhaps repeat some things that were said on the last Sabbath morning of the camp meeting. Speaking from experience, we know just how helpless and frustrated one can feel in the presidency. The president is sometimes misunderstood. His decisions and those of the Conference Committee or institutional boards frequently go contrary to the wishes of some people. He is helpless to defend himself; he cannot print a rebuttal in the GLEANER or the Review. He can only keep silent and keep on keeping on. There are moments of despair and loneliness. The president can have no intimate friends or special cronies. He must walk alone. But there is always the knowledge that the Lord lives and blesses every right and honorable decision, and that the God-fearing and loyal people in the churches will stand by with their money, and their lives, and their prayers. From the experience of the past dozen years we can say that nothing could be finer than to serve as president of the wonderful Oregon Conference. As Elder Rudy takes up his work we shall pray for his happiness and success and for greater progress in every line of endeavor. Our loyalty is to the new Conference president. "He must increase, but I must decrease."

It is autumn. It is late. The Lord is coming. The enemy has redoubled his efforts to destroy God's people while there is yet a little time. There is trouble in many homes. Conflict and trial are on every hand. Misunderstandings come. Disappointments engulf the soul. Our crafty adversary would have us turn our eyes away from the beautiful Saviour and look upon the mistakes of the brethren. Sometimes, indeed, those whom we have thought to be our truest friends may turn away from us. But it is through conflict and trial that we gain strength. We think of the words from Christ's Object Lessons, page 61, which appeared in the Sabbath school lesson the other day: "Through conflict the spiritual life is strengthened. Trials well borne will develop steadfastness of character and precious spiritual graces. The perfect fruit of faith, meekness, and love often matures best amid storm clouds and darkness." A couple of hundred years ago the English author, Samuel Johnson, wrote: "It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust." The autumn is no time to attempt to assess the wrongs of others, or to waver, or not to trust.

"Heaven is not gained by a single bound,
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies;
And we mount to its summit round by round."

As the momentous hours so quickly come and go let us humbly prepare our hearts and our lives for that glorious day when we shall see the Master. For some of us the years have brought the autumn, but the spring-time of His glory lies just ahead. Our happy days in the Oregon Conference will never be forgotten, and if ever there are lonely hours, "we may awake those sleeping images with which our memories are stored, and vitalize them once again."

The new addition to the girls' dormitory is nearing completion and a happy lot of girls are already enjoying their living quarters. But to get the building ready for them we are way overdrawn on the building fund.

To meet the emergency in our old heating system we have ordered a new boiler that will produce 10,500 pounds of steam per hour, and we will hope the two little 50 h.p. boilers that have been in service for 46 years will serve as standbys in case of emergency.

We are proceeding with the some of the work demanded by the fire marshals and will push it as fast as possible. This all adds up to an emergency and the need is great.

We deeply appreciate what is being done and congratulate the churches that are over the top and those that are nearing the goal. Let us all lift to the utmost of our ability.

Opening of the Sandpoint Evangelistic Center

The hearts of the church members in the Sandpoint, Idaho, district were thrilled on Sunday night, September 13, as the air of suspense and expectancy mounted toward the opening moment of the first meeting of the Sandpoint Evangelistic Center.

First the melodious tones of the organ rang out over the town from the hidden loud speaker located on top of the marquee of the freshly decorated theater building. The thrill came as the people began coming from all directions a full forty minutes before time to begin. It was nearly full at opening time. At exactly 7:15 the lights were dimmed and the deafening sounds of an atomic explosion obliterated the soft music while scenes in the motion picture "God of the Atom" began to play upon the huge screen. Next came the inspiring harmony of the Coeur d'Alene ladies' trio interspersed by songs on the screen directed by the writer. Surely, the lovely voice of Mrs. Florence Thompson singing "When God is Near" provided a most appropriate setting for the message of the evening delivered by Evangelist E. R. Priebe entitled, "Man Conquers Outer Space."

Credit for the large number of those not of our faith should go to the hearty cooperation of the district's membership, to those who responded to the request for interested names placed in the GLEANER a few weeks ago, and the student lists of all the vacation Bible schools. But perhaps the greatest single factor in the excellent attendance may well have been the nearly five hundred letters of invitation penned in winsome language by our two consecrated Seventh-day Adventist doctors, Franz Siemsen and John W. Smith. These were sent to their special patients whom they knew to be particularly interested in spiritual things.

Now the opening night is past and God did furnish His blessing. Yet, only the continued working of the Spirit of God upon these precious hearts can woo them into fellowship with God's people, and it is to this end that we bring this report to those who read the GLEANER, asking them to join Elder Priebe and the writer in prayer that there may be a rich harvest of souls as a result of this special endeavor for God.

Fairbanks VBS is Successful

"Bursting at the seams!" This is the only phrase that adequately describes the perilous condition of the Fairbanks church during its second annual Vacation Bible School.

On the basis of last year's successful school the staff made plans to accommodate 35, but were deluged by more than 60 effervescent young people. The actual enrollment of this year's V.B.S. was nearly twice the total church membership!

Needless to say, every church member lent a willing hand. A Bible was offered to the one who brought the most visitors. It was won by a twelve-year-old non-Adventist girl who brought 11.

Lasting results? Who can measure them? One lad was heard to remark, "This is the funnest Bible School I ever went to." But more than that—three young people from non-Adventist homes are planning to attend church school this year.

Vacation Bible School at Sitka

On Friday, August 21, the Sitka church had its closing program of their Vacation Bible School. It was a happy ending because of the difficulties that the Lord helped us to overcome at the beginning. We had to postpone the school due to lack of materials, and other churches were having theirs at the same time.

Our first day found us with forty eager, expectant children. The attendance increased to forty-eight the first week.

Mrs. Telen Smith was in charge of the juniors and Mrs. Stella Beth Coon enjoyed her work with the primary group, while Mrs. Clara Belle Jensen, our pastor's wife, worked with the kindergarten department. Other members of our church helped and, as we are small in numbers, I believe every member contributed to make this a success.

Every seat in our auditorium was filled as we presented our closing program. After our pastor drew our attention to the values of Christian training for our children, the awards for perfect attendance were given to four juniors, nine primary and ten kindergarten children.

The Lord is continuing to bless our efforts because we have eleven non-Adventist children attending our Sabbath school as a direct result of the Bible school.

At the end of the program parents and friends viewed the display of baskets and boxes made of kap-sticks, stuffed animals, also the coloring books, spatter painting and work books. There was a table displaying children's books and games.

We ask that you will remember the work in Alaska that we may finish it soon.

That Burning Question

For centuries the coming of October has meant the falling, raking, piling and burning of leaves. If October were to come and our trees did not shed their golden mantle, we would sit back on our haunches and wonder why. We would also miss that autumn scent of burning leaves in the neighborhood.

October has also come to mean to the devoted Seventh-day Adventist a time when the golden leaves of salvation and gospel tidings is distributed throughout the countryside in what is known as Fall Visitation Day. Our tract for this fall, entitled "Why Does God Permit Suffering," is designed to bring hope and comfort to many who do not as yet understand the workings of our great God.

As this opportunity to spread our message comes to us, may we each one be faithful in giving it to those around us. In doing so we may be instruments in the hand of God to snatch them from the burning inferno which will eventually engulf sin and sinners. May this burning question, "Am I doing my honest part," burn upon our hearts so indelibly that we will do our part in distributing these tracts on home visitation day this October 3.

Boise Church Bombing

Three juvenile boys have been apprehended and are being held by Boise authorities charged with several acts of vandalism, which included the bombing of the Boise church Friday evening, September 11. A small home-made bomb was exploded by an open window. Only damage was the breakage of a small window. An investigation showed no malicious intent toward the church—simply juvenile vandalism.

Blessed by Blessing

The Idaho Conference was blessed with the services of four energetic students this past summer. A total of $12,239 worth of Bible truth was delivered in the space of 12 weeks. Three of these, students of Walla Walla College, and one student from Gem State Academy, who made this report possible, found double blessing for themselves while bringing the blessing of the Gospel to others.

1. Perry Parks, a theology senior at Walla Walla College has spent four summers at this God given profession. In nine weeks he delivered $5,074 worth of books in the La Grande and Enterprise, Oregon, area (that is part of the Idaho Conference) thus assuring himself no financial worries for the next school year. Nine weeks of work in this case mean nine months of school bills paid.

2. Dale Brusett of Brusett, Montana, also a senior theology major at Walla Walla College, felt he needed one summer of literature evangelistic experience to better qualify him for the ministry. This summer in nine weeks' time he worked 383 hours delivering a total of $4,787 worth of books. We feel this is probably a record for a first year student literature evangelist. Dale worked in the same area as Perry Parks.

3. Ken Walters, a Walla Walla College freshman, worked in the mountainous area around Payette Lakes and delivered $2,046 worth of books in 12 weeks' time. He found it a real challenge after working among the southern people of Odessa, Texas, for six weeks a year ago. Who knows what jewels God has in that scattered area who, because of his labors, will walk one day with the remnant church.

4. Don Jackson, a junior from our own Gem State Academy, worked in the city of Boise, blessed others and also was blessed by the Lord himself in delivering $832 worth of books in 10 weeks' time. This was Don's first experience in literature evangelism and we do believe our academic students desire to help give the Gospel in this manner.

Besides delivering all these books he was instrumental in bringing several children to the Boise Sabbath school and arranging transportation for them even after he had to leave. These reports furnish proof that we need not all be finished college products before we can work for the Lord.

Please invite all your friends and neighbors to tune in each Saturday evening to this most outstanding religious telecast.

"It Is Written" is a series of 30-minute films prepared primarily for television release. These are full-message films planned not only to make favorable contacts for the faith and break down prejudice, but to share the impact of our distinctive truths. In these films there is little music. They are a straight-forward appealing presentation of truth in which Elder George Vandeman speaks in a setting of a paneled study. Saving truth is beautifully and effectively illustrated with the finest of visual material.

The subjects for the first four telecasts are as follows:

Saturday, October 3, 7:00 p.m.—"Life on Other Worlds."

Saturday, October 10, 7:00 p.m.—"Captain Bligh's Bible." You have heard of "The Mutiny on the Bounty," but did you know that this intriguing story has not ended yet?

Sunset Lake Lost and Found

After a very successful camping season during which 383 Washington youth spent one week at beautiful Sunset Lake Summer Camp, we find ourselves with the usual mountain of lost and found items.

As identification of these items is many times very difficult and the postage required to return them all by mail would be enormous, we are suggesting that those missing some item stop by the conference office between now and the first of the year and go through the boxes of lost and found articles. After January 1, the leftover things will be given to the Dorcas.

Montana

Report from Missoula

The city of Missoula, one of Montana's major growing cities, now has a population of 39,500 according to estimates published by the Chamber of Commerce. This figure reflects a considerable industrial growth in the vicinity. We are happy that among this population growth we have also found a few Seventh-day Adventist families.

The Missoula church is doing its best to keep pace with this development in a spiritual and tangible way. The Mountain View school opened its doors to the largest enrollment in its history. Forty-two children have to date been enrolled in the two-teacher school under the direction of Mrs. Fern Chubb and Mrs. Frank Munsey. There is a possibility of a few more yet to enroll. Mountain View School has over the years been consistently building up its physical plant and equipment. The very latest in school seating has been installed. Last year thirty new desk units were purchased. This year fifteen more have been added. Now all student seating is of the latest equipment and most modern design. Other improvements of recent years have been modern lighting and floor tile.

The congregation in Missoula have also outgrown their church worship facilities, thanks in large part to the efforts of the Harris-Wyman-Dudley-Krejci crusade. Sister Krejci remained to assist the pastor until September of this year. Missoula is also doing something tangible about its undersized church home. A lovely new church home has been designed specifically for

MR. LINCOLN

See history come alive! "Mr. Lincoln" demonstrates that films can have a wide popular appeal and, at the same time, can be genuinely educational. Little of the life of Lincoln the statesman is shown. Instead, the viewer sees what it was that caused Lincoln to become the man whose memory America cherishes.

The intention of the writer of the script was to present first, "A sense of Lincoln in the last, greatest days which make us remember him now, as a kind of heroic American saint. Then, we see how his life began."

Said Dr. Frank H. Yost of this film, "It is historically accurate and presents a phase of his life not generally known."

Architect's drawing of new church building in Missoula, Montana.

Missoula in the offices of Benjamin F. McAdoo, A.I.A., of Seattle. This church is now under construction under the able guidance of Brother James Crawford of Chico, California. Brother Crawford has had wide experience in church construction and the congregation feel gratefully fortunate to have obtained his services. It is estimated that this building, including land and architectural fees, will be completed at a figure of somewhat under $100,000. The building will proceed as rapidly as funds are available. Any old friends of Missoula wishing to contribute to the speedy fulfillment of this project may do so in a tangible way and your gift of encouragement will be gratefully acknowledged.

The congregation is also grateful that Dr. W. J. Knight, dentist, has opened offices in Missoula. We feel certain that his offices will prove a great strength and blessing to the work here in this beautiful area. Please pray for the work in the Missoula district.

Names, Names, Names

Please send us names. An evangelistic effort will begin in Dallas at the Armory on Saturday evening, October 3. Kindly send us names and addresses of your friends and relatives in that area so that we may extend a personal invitation to them. This effort includes Dallas, Falls City, Sheridan, Grand Ronde, Independence, and Monmouth areas.

Won't you sit down today and send that name so that we will have an opportunity to make contact? When you meet your friend or loved one in the kingdom you will be glad you took the effort to see that he was contacted. Send the names and addresses to the pastor's residence: H. W. Hempel, 1309 Cherry Avenue, Dallas, Oregon.

We cordially invite all our members in the surrounding vicinity to visit our meetings which will be held on Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday and Friday evenings in the Dallas Armory on the corner of Church and Mill Streets.

Portland Evangelistic Effort

The Spillman-Lyman-Wyman evangelistic effort in Portland is off to a good start. The Oriental Theater, Grand Avenue and Belmont, where the meetings are held seats two thousand people. Every seat was occupied on the opening night, September 12, and several hundred were turned away. For the comfort of those who did not find room at the 6:30 p.m. meeting, the film "Time and Eternity" was shown again after the dismissal of the service. Thanks to the blessing of the Lord and the faithful support of our churches and workers in the Portland area a good beginning has been made in this important evangelistic endeavor. Let us continue to work and pray for its success.

Thursday, October 8, 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m., Springfield SDA church, 12th and "O" Streets, Springfield, Oregon.

Sunday, October 11, 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m., Red Cross Building, 60 Hawthorne Ave., Medford, Oregon.

Monday, October 12, 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m., Mt. Tabor church, 60th and Yamhill (opposite Portland Sanitarium), Portland, Oregon.

Guest speaker: Elder Carl Guenther, Associate Secretary of the Home Missionary Department of the General Conference, directing welfare and civil defense services of the denomination.

We urge a very large attendance. Societies may choose the meeting most convenient for that society. Potluck at Springfield and Medford. The Portland Sanitarium cafeteria has kindly offered its facilities for the Portland meeting. We are recommending these combined meetings because our guest speaker's itinerary will not permit seven meetings in Oregon.

Special topic: "A Large and More Efficient Welfare Program."

NOTE: Reports should be brief and should deal principally with experiences and human interest stories. Statistics are included in the quarterly report. A special report will be rendered on the Roseburg disaster.

The winter stretches before us. This is the time when the greatest demands are made upon our welfare centers and Dorcas units. Come prepared with your questions and helpful suggestions, and let us work for a larger and more efficient welfare program during the coming months.

You will really miss something if you miss these meetings. A special invitation is extended to those who are not now actively engaged in welfare work. Come and learn how to be a happier, healthier church member. All our church members are invited to support our welfare centers more whole-heartedly through personal service and with good, serviceable clothing.

Fall Enrollment Large

Students from 21 countries have joined United States citizens from 37 states to swell Walla Walla College's opening fall enrollment to 1,285 by September 23, according to statistics compiled by Miss Orpha Osborne, associate registrar.

An all-time high of 459 new freshmen form a large segment of the on-campus enrollment of 1,161. There are 124 at the Portland division of the School of Nursing.

Students from lands as far apart as Thailand, Peru, Africa and North Borneo find a common interest in the educational opportunities on the College Place campus. At least 30 students from Canada study with those from Australia, China, Colombia, France, Guam, Guatemala, India, Indonesia, Iran, Japan, Lebanon, Norway, the Philippine Islands, Portugal, Singapore and Venezuela.

Students from Alaska and Hawaii represent the two new states; and with students from an additional 35 states, an entire cross section of the nation is found on campus.

Prospects are for an unusually fine year scholastically, spiritually, and culturally, according to college administrators.

Classes Available to Off-Campus Students

As a service to the community, Walla Walla College offers afternoon and evening classes open to area residents, according to Dr. H. R. Rasmussen, academic dean.

Education courses, Psychology of Learning and History of Educational Thought, will meet Monday and Wednesday at 4:30 to 6:00 and Tuesday and Thursday, 5:00 to 6:00, respectively. Both are graduate courses offering credit toward the Master's Degree. Psychology of Learning is a three-hour course and History of Educational Thought, a two-hour course.

Individuals interested in learning the art of choral singing may join the a cappella choir which meets from 5:30 to 6:30 Tuesday and Thursday.

Tentative plans call for other courses in business administration, nursing, and nursing education if sufficient requests are received to warrant their being offered, says Dean Rasmussen.

Weddings

Carol Burgess of Boise, Idaho, became the bride of Alan Dean Williams of Caldwell, Idaho, in a beautiful garden wedding held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hanson of Boise, on Sunday evening, August 30. The couple plan to make their home near Caldwell. Elder A. J. Gordon, president of the Idaho Conference, had the service. We wish this couple the richest blessings of heaven as they establish this new home.

Miss Una Beecher and Gustav Radke were united in marriage at the home of Mr. Radke's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Colson, at Ellisport, Vashon Island, Washington, June 14. Elder R. C. Remboldt, pastor of the Vancouver, Washington, church, performed the ceremony. The couple have established their home in Portland, Oregon.

On the evening of August 15, Janice Hoffman was given in marriage to Donn Franklin Shine in the home of Elder and Mrs. L. L. Huntington of McMinnville, Oregon. We wish for these two young people as they begin their life together, the happiness that comes from the truly Christian home.

Miss Doris Denise Potts of Spokane, Washington, and William Joe Day of Auburn, Washington, were united in a beautiful candlelight ceremony in the Spokane Central church on Sunday evening, August 16. These young people are making their home at Auburn, Washington.

regard for law? What is the remedy for this appalling condition?

Sunday, October 4, 7:00 p.m.—Film, "Beaver Valley." This fine Walt Disney color film needs no introduction to nature lovers. Its story of beaver and other animals in their native haunts is intriguing especially to the children, but adult audiences are fascinated as well by the wonders of animal cunning and insight.

Sermon, "A Relic from the Garden of Eden." One of the ancient relics of Eden has been preserved to this very day. Evangelist Spillman will tell about it during this fascinating lecture.

Judy Pihl of Puyallup, Washington, first of the more than 400 freshmen registering at Walla Walla College this past week, hands her registration booklet to Academic Dean H. L. Rasmussen.

An honor student and graduate of Auburn Academy, Judy is a pre-medical student whose summer job at the Good Samaritan Hospital as a nurse's aid in surgery crystallized her ambition to study medicine and to specialize in surgery.
