

THE ISLES SHALL WAIT FOR HIS LAW

By JAMES G. FULFER President, East Caribbean Conference

Speaking prophetically of Jesus, Isaiah the Gospel prophet wrote: "He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment in the earth: and the isles shall wait for his law."

In the closing days of earth's history, the islands of the eastern Caribbean area are responding to the message of God as never before. The East Caribbean Conference (formerly the Leeward Islands Mission) is an island field comprised of thirteen emeralds set in sapphire reaching from the Virgin Islands, just east of Puerto Rico, down to Barbados, near the coast of South America.

Bathed in sunshine the year around and cooled by the constant sea breezes, these islands enjoy an ideal climate and have been a source of rivalry among the nations of Europe since Columbus discovered them many years ago. Even now, their governments represent a variety of flags, including English, French, Dutch, and American. One of our pastors has a district of five churches on two islands under three different governments. (One of the islands is owned by England and the other one is half French and half Dutch.)

This variety of nationalities, the distance between islands, and the expense of air travel, create problems in communications and administration that perhaps are not found in an area where overland travel is possible. Nevertheless, the work is growing, and with a total of 7,000 members in the Conference there is one Seventh-day Adventist for every 78 inhabitants in our territory.

Let it not be thought, however, that because of this high ratio of Adventists to the population that it does not require courage and sacrifice to accept the truth for this time.

Young Richard was brought up in a home where both his mother and grandmother were faithful Seventh-day Adventists. On the contrary, his father was bitterly opposed to the truth and made it his purpose that none of the children should ever accept the message when they grew up. Consequently, when Richard had finished the secondary school, his father arranged for him to be employed by a firm which required him to work on the Sabbath. The young man's conscience cried out against this violation of principle but he bowed to his father's wrath and continued breaking the Sabbath for a number of years.

As time went on, God did not forsake His child, and eventually, responding to the voice of the Holy Spirit, Richard went to his employer and asked to be released from Sabbath work. This request was met with a blunt refusal. Not only that, but the father, learning of the son's audacity, became even more severe than ever.

However, after some time had elapsed, Richard decided to try again, but this time he preceded his request with three weeks of fasting and prayer, asking God to give him courage to keep the Sabbath, come what may. His employer again rejected his request and Richard explained to him that since he had decided not to work another Sabbath he would have to resign from his employment.

His fellow-workers and friends were much surprised at his decision and many thought him insane since he had only recently received a promotion and a considerable increase in salary. Surprisingly enough, although the father was infuriated, he did not drive Richard from home as had been expected. Richard continued to pray and fast, was soon baptized, and three months later was offered a position in a large firm, without even applying for it.

Thus does God have His jewels shining here and there among the darkness and worldliness of this generation. Your continued prayers and gifts will uphold our hands as we endeavor to win many more Richards for the kingdom of God. Remember Inter-America this coming 13th Sabbath. Plan now to make it a real sacrificial offering.

Old Gold, and the Closing Message

Hundreds of families across the United States and Canada made an unselfish and wise decision in 1960. They put to work for souls their useless jewelry and old gold and silver by contributing it to the Voice of Prophecy, to be sold and turned into muchneeded money to pay for stations and the Bible School. Because of $1,500 realized from these items, a number of radio stations have during the past twelve months carried this great final message fifty-two times into tens of thousands of homes.

What sort of things are acceptable to the Voice of Prophecy for this purpose? We have received wedding and engagement rings; lodge rings and chains; watches, both men's and women's; gold pins and brooches; sterling silver; old gold in varied forms; diamond pins and brooches, and a variety of other items of monetary value.

Lying in your jewelry chest, safedeposit box, or even perhaps being worn unnecessarily, may be valuables that might, through radio, be finding some precious "jewels" in the world for whom Christ died.

It could be that, sooner than we think, we shall find the doors of mass communication such as radio closed to us! Lest some may think this is but a cry of "wolf, wolf!" we share with you information received in a service report from our station-time buyer, dated November 22, 1960. This states that a certain radio station in New England dropped the Voice of Prophecy broadcast as of November 6. Reasons for cancelling? (1) This city is dominantly Roman Catholic, and (2) the "regional flavor" of the Voice of Prophecy is "alien to the area."

A network representative contacted the manager of this station to urge a reversal of the action, but he "absolutely refused to reinstate the program." This shocking action may be a forerunner of other station cancellations.

Only our Father in heaven knows the exact length of time we still have in which to proclaim the gospel over the radio waves. D. V. POND

Doctor Ida

From a pretty, gay, fun-loving, partygoing teen-ager to one of the greatest medical missionaries of all time is the story of Dr. Ida, by Dorothy Clarke Wilson. Dr. Ida Scudder is the dynamic force behind the vast medical center at Vellore, India, the largest in all of Asia. Unceasingly this noble Christian woman battled to free the women of India from the bondage of taboos and century old customs. Dr. Ida tells of the Scudder family's one thousand years of missionary service, and of Ida's dramatic call to the medical ministry, of her great courage in pioneering medical work for the women of India, of her long struggle to raise funds for her hospital and women's medical school, of how she once performed surgery on a bullock in order to gain the confidence of the villagers, of delivering babies in ox carts, and of a warm-hearted Christian woman's genuine love of life.

This moving story coupled with a truly interesting and endearing literary style makes Dr. Ida a must for every Adventist family.

"To All Nations"

The night before last, I finished reading one of the most fascinating storybooks it has been my pleasure to read for some time.

Entitled, To All Nations, and written by Dorothy Heiderstadt, this is a compilation of thrilling stories of twelve men living in five different countries and on five continents, and their efforts to give the Bible to the people in their own languages. The story of these men, who bridged charges of heresy and treason, faced hostility and hardship, and even suffered martyrdom in daring to put the Bible into the hands of the common people, cannot help but make the junior age youth appreciate more the privilege of having and reading God's word.

Weddings

Saturday night, September 17, Bethine Faye Kinder of Kettle Falls, Washington, and Carroll Paul Klein of College Place, Washington, were united in marriage in the Colville, Washington, Seventh-day Adventist church. They are making their home in College Place where the groom is continuing his education. Elder H. S. Kaufmann officiated.

Accelerating

That is the word that best describes the progress of the Ingathering campaign. For the first week ending December 3, our churches reported $11,244.54. The next week ending December 10, the weekly remittances rose to $20,157.60, bringing our total to date to $31,427.31. This is just about onefourth of our goal; but at this rate, it would take us 8 weeks to finish. So our emphasis should still be on acceleration. We need now to move from second to high gear.

Danger Signals

There are many danger signals on the horizon, and the message from Elder Edwards from the General Conference Home Missionary Department is very much to the point. We must make every day between now and Christmas really count. In spite of cold weather, we must go forward. But there is this compensation: the worse the weather, the better the gifts. Elder Edwards also stresses another great truth. Once a campaign is started, it must be an intensive day-to-day, allout drive. No church can succeed on a now-a-day, there-a-day basis.

United Effort

We appeal to our faithful members to rally around your leaders, put your shoulders to the wheel, and lift till you reach your objective. Suppose this were the last campaign we were privileged to conduct to rapidly advance God's closing work? What would we want our standing to be? Would it be one of vain regrets for opportunities unimproved, or would it be the heartwarming compensation of having done our best for the Master?

Interesting Experiences

Elder Burke reports a good soulwinning experience. "While Ingathering last evening, I called at a home where I explained our mission. A lady came to the door and was very cordial. She stated that she was a Seventh-day Adventist, that she believed implicitly in the doctrines as taught by our church, but that she had never been baptized or joined the church. She seemed so happy to meet a minister, and I told her that we would prepare her for baptism. I left her with tears of joy in her eyes that some one had found her."

Some people love to give to Adventists. Last evening Brother Reynolds of the Sunnyside church related the following experience. "I knocked on the door of an upstairs apartment and soon heard an old man laboriously making his way to the door. He seemed quite old; and when I gave him my canvass, he expressed his sorrow at having no money to give me. But I felt impressed to give him a paper anyway. I had gone the length of a whole block when I looked back and found the old man tottering along as fast as he could, clad in his shirt sleeves. On reaching me, he said, 'Why didn't you tell me this was for the Seventh-day Adventists'? Handing over a dollar, he continued, 'If I knew you were a Seventh-day Adventist, I would have borrowed the money while you were up there at my apartment.'" Yes, there are some who are glad to give to Seventh-day Adventists.

Onward, Ever Onward

The work of God is to move onward, ever onward. Like a river, it is to widen and deepen in its course. It is doing just that, and jets of light are beginning to spring up everywhere. With this great enlargement in view, the General Conference raised the Ingathering objective for North America from $5,000,000 to $5,250,000. Translated to your personal responsibility and mine, this simply means we must all do a little more. With the end so near, dare we do any less? Will you cast your vote on the side of expansion? Do it this next Sabbath by increasing your returns to the Ingathering campaign at least a little bit more than what you did last year.

UPPER COLUMBIA

Sabbath, December 31, 1960 should be a day that the youth of the Upper Columbia Conference will look back to with pride and long remember.

Why?

It is the day set aside for churches that are short of their Upper Columbia Academy Building Fund goal to reach their full objective, and the churches that have reached the goal will generally contribute. The full amount from all the churches will be matched by the conference and the grand total used exclusively for a new music building at the Upper Columbia Academy.

What a glorious climax to the Old Year! C. M. Bunker

Students who were on the Honor Roll for the second six weeks at Upper Columbia Academy.

Upper Columbia Academy

Visitors on the campus of Upper Columbia Academy recently were Dr. T. S. Geraty from the General Conference Education Department, and Elder J. T. Porter of the Union Conference. They were here for the purpose of the biennial inspection of the school. Dr. Geraty was the speaker for the church hour on Sabbath, December 3.

On the evening of December 7, the Senior and Junior classes organized. Senior class officers are as follows: president, Warren Peters; vice-president, Wenda St. Peter; secretary, Carolyn Bennett; treasurer, Jay Magnuson; chaplain, Don Ramsey; sergeant at arms, Lonnie Robinson; chorister, Janet Smith; pianist, Donalda McCartney; organist, Ardy Easton. WASHINGTON

An Ingathering Challenge

One of the more popular slogans during Ingathering is "Get or Give a full $25.00 goal! This should be the minimum objective of every church member. In some of the fields in other unions they are changing this to read "Give and Get a full $25.00 goal." Many of our members will certainly want to accept such a challenge. May we appeal that every member of the church in the Washington Conference carry his full share of the load in this important campaign. Untold good will come to you and great blessing will result to the cause of God both at home

Square Up

The following statement from the Messenger of the Lord is a fitting appeal to all of our people in this closing reminder to "Square Up in December." "What of your stewardship? Have you during the past year robbed God in tithes and offerings? Look at your well filled barns, at your cellars stored with good things the Lord has given you, and ask yourselves whether you have returned to the Giver that which belongs to Him. If you have robbed the Lord, make restitution. As far as possible, make the past right, and then ask the Saviour to pardon you. Will you not return to the Lord His own before this year, with its burden of record, has passed into eternity?" C. S. 97 and 98.

Let each member be sure to "SQUARE UP" before the year closes. Remember, "To defraud God is the greatest crime of which man can be guilty." "Will you withhold from God His own? Will you divert from the treasury the portion of means which the Lord claims as His? If so, you are robbing God and every dollar is charged against you in the books of heaven." Ibid., 86.

"It Is Written" Offering and Survey Day

Sabbath, January 7, has been designated by our conference as "It Is Written" Survey and Offering Day. We are asking our members to conduct a survey on this day and seek to secure literally thousands of new enrollments to Take His Word lessons and to invite the people to view "It Is Written" each week. Materials wil be provided and some very profitable and pleasant missionary work can and will be done by our people.

A special offering, including pledges to be paid by the end of May, will be taken in every church so that all of our dear people will have an opportunity to join us in meeting the "It Is Written" expenses. The cost of this delightful and effective TV program is very great, and your help is needed if we are to meet all of our obligations without adversely affecting other equally important programs in the conference. We are sure that you will be happy to join us in this vital service. Thank you in advance for your liberal offering and the many new enrollments that we know you will secure for "It Is Written "

N. R. DOWER

"It Is Written"

Week by week the enrollments for Take His Word are increasing. Here are several comments that were sent in on worksheets for Take His Word:

"The way this study is presented makes the facts clear. I had never delved into the Old Testament because I edged away from conflict—both in the Bible and on TV or radio. I don't care who killed whom at Tombstone and would not have enjoyed crossing the West in a covered wagon. However, the facts brought out are illuminating and I am glad I started this course."— Seattle

"A request in prayer to thank God for His many blessings given us. Thanks for this light I have obtained from this 'It Is Written' series and the strength to follow His divine will in all ways as His humble servant."—Seattle

Are you inviting your friends and neighbors to tune into "It Is Written?" Encourage them also to Take His Word. Thousands upon thousands of "It Is

A New School Building

A new school building, housing ten grades, opened on schedule for 45 Puyallup boys and girls this fall. Members of the Puyallup church, starting on July 27, added two classrooms, a teachers' workroom and other facilities to the unit constructed last year to complete the Nelson-Crane School. A. W. Green, labor chairman, and Harvey Bolin, construction superintendent, were in charge of the building program which provided the needed classrooms in a remarkably short time.

The building is named for J. Clyde Nelson (long time member of the Puyallup church and of whom R. W. Wentland, pastor, said, "There would not be a school if it were not for Mr. Nelson") and the late H. E. Crane, Mr. Crane was instrumental in the building of the Linden Drive church school and will always be remembered for his great assistance to the Puyallup church. The school is valued at $50,000 and is completely debt free. Three teachers staff the school; Mrs. L. H. Aufderhar, primary; Miss Delores Christner, intermediate; and Miss Lovella Hayes, grades 9 and 10.

More Information on Youth Workers' Weekend

In an effort to make this workshop for Pathfinder officers and MV leaders of maximum value, we have just secured the services of two additional craft teachers for the weekend of January 6, 7, and 8 at Camp Casey, on the west side of Whidbey Island.

Last year while attending an American Camping Association meeting I saw one of the most marvelous displays of natural crafts that I have ever seen. Two ladies, who run their own youth camp, have literally hundreds of ideas for things that could be made from everyday items that are picked up in the woods, on the beach and even on the street; such things as bark pictures and many other ideas. These two ladies have agreed to be with us on Sunday. While very creative in nature, the beauty of this program is that it also is inexpensive and available to anyone anywhere just for the picking up of items underfoot.

Each Pathfinder club should have one person present to take this instruction in order to pass it on to the club in the months to follow.

Also featured at the workshop will be instruction by a Walla Walla College biology faculty member, plus the full ten-hour Leadercraft course and the Pathfinder officers' training course. ED H. WEEB

Did You Get Yours?

According to our records, there are many who have not taken advantage of the special price on the new S.D.A. Bible Dictionary. So much advertising has gone out in regard to this most useful book that we need not tell you about it, other than to say we still have a stock of these on hand and that the special price of $9.95 is still good until December 31. If you purchased your commentaries at the $7.95 price, then the dictionary is the same price. Better take advantage of this saving, because the regular price is going to be $13.75.

The total cost, including tax and shipping, is only $10.60. Sit down right now and place your order. You will not be sorry. All of us need every bit of Bible knowledge we can get, especially in this late hour when our doctrines are going to be challenged more and more. Can you meet the challenge, are you going to be ready to give an answer for the truth that is in you?

We also have a few sets of the commentaries left at the special price of $9.95 each.

CENTER OF RELIGION (Concluded from last week)

One day, Mrs. Lull received a telephone call from Mrs. Jelstrup of the County Welfare Department. She said, "Mrs. Lull, I hate to do this to you, but I am really stuck. We picked up two little Indian children, one a girl of four, and a baby of six months-the mother is in jail. The children were so infected with lice that we burned their clothes, and we have nothing to put on them. We plan to take them back to Browning tomorrow." An appointment was made and soon we were outfitting these needy children with two complete changes and some extras. Mrs. Jelstrup and Mrs. Watney, County Hospital Administrator where the children were staying, exclaimed as they looked on our racks, "This is as much fun as going shopping down town, and everything is so clean and some of these dresses are just beautiful! Don't you charge anything for these things?" they asked. "I want to make a contribution anyway," and they did.

Forty-six family cases have been referred to us this year from the County Welfare Department. The American Red Cross took care of making the shipping charge payments for the Chilean Relief shipment. Their governing rules do not allow such payment, but their board decided since they were partly responsible for the large volume of clothing we had received that it was only fair that they should pay at least a part of the shipping charge. It was decided by the president and the associates that they should pay it all. This we appreciated very much.

Sometimes these calls for help take a roundabout route. Mrs. Ruth Hutton, neighbor of Mrs. Workins, called Mrs. Genevieve Schultz and she called Mrs. Lull, who contacted Mrs. Hutton, an employee of a city dress shop. A lady had come in hoping to find items on sale to clothe some needy children. A mother had loaded clothes in her car to take to the Laundro-mat. She was taken suddenly ill, and eventually landed in the hospital. The grandmother of the children accompanied the mother into the hospital, leaving the group of children, ages fifteen months to five years, in the car to wait.

Unfortunately, little hands found matches somewhere in the car and soon the car and clothing was ablaze. The children got out safely, but the clothing and car were ruined. Here was a case where our Center of Religion could step in, clothe the children immediately and ease the worried mind of the mother who was very sick.

We could go on and on, but we think you have a clear idea of our Tuesdays in the Kalispell S.D.A. Welfare Center. We do cordially invite you to visit us and help us in any way you can.

Walla Walla College

Winter Quarter Holds Opportunity

"The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunities when they come," said the worldfamous British statesman, Disraeli. Education is such an opportunity, for when God calls a youth to serve Him, He calls him first to preparation; this was true of Moses and of Paul, and it is always true.

With the beginning of the New Year, begins also a new quarter at Walla Walla College. This is an opportunity for somebody to start anew, if he is ready. For the students who were here during the fall quarter, this means a return to a great college, to scores of friends and the unfinished task of their college education. We welcome them back to continue this needed preparation of getting ready for a life work.

But there may be some who have never been at Walla Walla College who would like to make a start on a college education. If you are one of those, this is your opportunity. If you do not start now, when will you? Are you ready for the challenge? Come and let the college help you to achieve more in the years to come. There is hardly a job, done by hands or head, that cannot be done better by a trained mind. Give yourself the best, get an education.

Courses may be started in Art, Education, History, Home Economics, Mathematics and other fields of study. And there are advanced courses open in Biology, Business, English, Social Science, Industrial Education and Music.

Competition for

College Hymn Announced

Alumni of Walla Walla College are invited to join students and faculty members in competitions for music and/or words of a school hymn. The competitions are sponsored by the A Tempo Club and the Pegasus Club, respectively.

Ruth Chen, president of A Tempo, has said that the music for the hymn should be written in the traditional style and should be appropriate to be sung at religious meetings of the student body. Any individual may submit as many unpublished, original hymns as he desires, and all entries will be returned to their owners if accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. The music faculty of the college will judge the hymns soon after the February 7, 1961, deadline.

All entries should be sent to A Tempo Club, Walla Walla College, College Place, Washington.

Deadline for a competition for lyrics for the hymn is January 6, says Joe Humble, president of Pegasus. Club plans call for publishing the chosen lyrics so that contestants may compose music.

ASWWC Gift Goes To Peru

The Lake Titicaca Mission Academy, Puno, Peru, will receive $567.58 to complete construction of needed facilities as this year's Christmas gift of the Walla Walla College Associated Students.

Each Christmas season the students unite in sending a gift to some needy school recommended by an alumnus. This year the religious activities committee chose to send the gift to the mission school in Peru at the request of Larry Larrabee who is now the educational, Sabbath school, and MV secretary of the Lake Titicaca Mission in the Inca Union.

In a special ASWWC religious-activities chapel, David Hollenbeck, spiritual vice president, gave an urgent appeal sent by Mr. Larrabee for funds to complete the administration building. Classrooms are urgently needed for the 250 students enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. Larrabee are beginning a term of service in Puno, Peru. She is the former Violet Kereluk. He has spent a number of years overseas with his parents who were missionaries in South America and Inter-America.
