Vigilance Imperative to Maintain Freedom of Education

As the foundation stones of our government were being laid, John P. Curran, a colonial statesman, in a speech in 1790 said, "It is the common fate of the indolent to see their rights become a prey to the active. The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition if he break, servitude is at once the consequence of his crime and the punishment of his guilt." Well might these words be applied to our attitude concerning Christian education today.

The current impact of Sunday legislation has brought to our realization the fact that even in the field of education we are today enjoying liberties that hang on slender threads. Eternal vigilance and sacrifice are imperative to maintain our freedom of education.

State laws require that educational institutions employ certified teachers. These standards are constantly being raised to meet the current threat of the nation's defense and economic system. Federal aid to education is considered by educators as an absolute necessity in order that they might develop the educational program necessary to ensure adequate protection of our way of life.

Seventh-day Adventists have steadfastly refused to accept Federal or state aid to parochial schools believing it to be an abridgment to the basic belief in the separation of church and state. Because of our position, Seventh-day Adventist education could easily be lost in the field of accreditation and certification.

In order that we might maintain an accredited education program during these critical times when vast sums of government aid are being expended to upgrade the public school system, an even greater sacrifice will be required of our people.

Seventh-day Adventist education is God's chosen method of perpetuating the leadership and development of the Church. Therefore, it requires the wider measure of support from the entire constituency, even though some may not, at the present time, have children in the school program.

"Every man and woman in our ranks, whether a parent or not, ought to be intensely interested in the Lord's vineyard. We cannot afford to allow our children to drift away into the world and to fall under the control of the enemy. Let us come up to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty. Let us do all in our power to make our school a blessing to our youth."—Counsels to Parents, Teachers, and Students, p. 210.

ALASKA

Dr. Riederer Locates in Juneau

The Alaska Mission wishes to extend a most hearty welcome to Dr. Joseph D. Riederer and his family who have very recently moved to the city of Juneau to practice general medicine. Doctor Riederer was born in Ketchikan and has returned to his home state. He is practicing in the Doctor's Clinic with Dr. Joseph O. Rude.

Doctor Riederer completed his freshman year of high school in Ketchikan. From there he moved to the Upper Columbia Academy at Spangle, Washington, graduating from there in 1949. He served in the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1952 to 1954. He graduated from Walla Walla College with a B.A. degree in Zoology in 1955, and graduated from medicine in Loma Linda in 1959. Joe interned at the Portland Sanitarium and Hospital in Portland, Oregon. Last year he took a residency in surgery in Kern County General Hospital in Bakersfield, California.

His wife is the former Jean Wicklund of Moscow, Idaho. She graduated from Upper Columbia Academy in 1949 and from Walla Walla College in 1955 with a degree in Secretarial Science. They were married on June 10, 1951, have three children, Carolyn June, age 8, Mark Steven, age 4, and Dwight Evan, age 15 months.

The large State of Alaska, prior to Doctor Riederer's arrival, had only two Seventh-day Adventist resident physicians. They are Dr. John Libby of Dillingham, and Dr. E. O. Winton of Ketchikan. There are two dentists in Alaska, Dr. Vern Prewitt of Sitka, and Dr. Arnold Pflugrad of Fairbanks. Since Alaska covers more land area than the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, which comprise the rest of the North Pacific Union, one can realize what it means to the Alaska Mission to have Doctor Riederer set up practice in our field. Although the population is not too great, there is plenty of opportunity for additional doctors and dentists here in Alaska.

We wish the Riederers much happiness as they serve the Lord and humanity in Juneau. We ask an interest in your prayers that God will guide to them the honest-in-heart as they bring healing to both body and soul. It is our hope that before long other doctors and dentists will hear of the need and accept the opportunity and challenge that is offered here in the United States' "last frontier."

Mission Office Welcomes Visitors

Recent visitors to the Alaska Mission who have visited the office have come from widely separated fields.

Mrs. Rudy (Anna Homenchuk) Klimes and daughter, Anita Heidi, stopped here for one day on their way home to Seoul, Korea. Rudy Klimes is the Missionary Volunteer and Educational Secretary of the Korean Union Mission. They were returning to Korea from a trip which took them to Seattle, San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

Dillingham Vacation Bible School

We had a wonderful Vacation Bible School this year. During the time we were conducting our Bible School the Moravian church was holding theirs too, but we had a good attendance. Our primary group was a thrill to work with. We had only two of our children from the church in this group, but our average attendance was 13, and six or eight of them attended every day. We gave pins to the child who brought someone with him, and one of the primary girls, Carolyn Hoseth, brought someone every day. The kindergarten group was the biggest, our total attendance for this group was 51. We averaged 14 from Seventh-day Adventist homes and ten from others. Several children of junior age were working, so our attendance was not what we had hoped for, but we averaged 19 for that group. Twelve of this number were from Adventist homes. It looks hopeful that some from the primary group and also juniors will be attending junior camp which starts next week.

Our craft room was certainly interesting. Mrs. Maxine Pearson was craft leader. The juniors worked with ceramo and the primaries made rice pictures. The rice was dyed with food coloring. It took the color very nicely, and when the colored rice was glued on, the picture was shiny and very attractive. There were other small crafts that were completed more quickly.

The nature part was conducted by Miss Elinor Smith for the primary and juniors combined. The last day the children were each given a jar and allowed 15 or 20 minutes to find something to put in it from the outdoors. We had quite an assortment—flowers, mosquitoes before they had hatched, dragonfly babies, and a yellow jacket. These were put on display the last evening for the closing program in the craft room where the crafts were displayed.

We feel that the Lord certainly blessed us.

Puyallup To Have New Church Building

Members of the Puyallup Seventh-day Adventist church recently approved preliminary plans for a new church to be located at 7th Avenue and 5th Street Southeast in Puyallup. The building will contain a nave seating four hundred; a Sabbath school wing of 6500 square feet and a chapel for approximately one hundred. Working drawings are now being prepared by the architects, Mithun and Associates of Bellevue, Washington. October 1 has been selected as the date to begin construction. Members of the building committee include Dr. K. H. Sturdevant, chairman; J. Clyde Nelson, Lawrence Bagley, Karol Forbes, Frank Cooper and R. W. Wentland, pastor.

A Request

Many of you saw the display of Spirit of Prophecy books in the camp meeting auditorium, and we hope it inspired you to start, add, or complete your library of these vital books. We intended to get a picture of this display, but because of the busy schedule, we failed to get one. Did anyone by chance take a picture of the display? If you did, we would surely like to get a copy, and would like it in color. Let us know if you have a good picture, and we will gladly pay for any costs involved.

Good News From Mt. Vernon

At the close of the "Christ Our Hope" evangelistic campaign in Mt. Vernon, 33 souls were buried in baptism and are now rejoicing in the "full message" Christ has for these last days.

Our thanks go to the Mt. Vernon and Sedro Woolley churches for their wonderful support during this campaign. We also extend our appreciation to Elder and Mrs. George Rasmussen for their many hours of labor in making this series a success.

MITTLEIDER-BEAMAN TEAM

Word From "Christ Our Hope" Speaker, Ken Mittleider

On tour to many foreign mission fields, word has come from Evangelist Mittleider of his safety and thrilling encounters half-way round the world.

A few of you may have received a letter from our state evangelist as he is travelling in foreign lands this summer, but to many who have asked, we pass the word along that Elder Mittleider is now in Palestine and plans to be in Rome and Russia soon; no doubt, about the time you read this page.

Here is a brief account written June 25. "We arrived in Hawaii June 11. The pastor was waiting with a lei of flowers. We were shown over the Island. It was hot both night and day. Next we landed on Midway Island where we spent only an hour. On to Tokyo, Japan. What a city! Everyone drives like crazy on the wrong side of the street . . . narrow streets with sharp corners.

"Our work is progressing slowly in Japan but with a good foundation. We have an excellent hospital and staff.

"On to Okinawa, then to Formosa. We were shown all over the hill country. Our work is going excellently there. On to the Phillipines. The work is as nearly done here as any spot in the world. Wonderful people. Four excellent hospitals, 2 colleges, and over 70,000 believers on the Islands.

"In Hong Kong we had many problems. From where I am, we can see the mountains where Red China has thousands of hungry and starving people. It is a bad feeling."

He is taking hundreds of good pictures and covering a great area in a short time, so in a little while we hope to see some of the same places he is seeing right now.

Let us each one pray for Elder Mittleider and all the workers and mission outposts around the earth.

Plan to attend the new series of Bible lectures in Tacoma, from September 23 onward. We are praying for more souls than we have been given thus far in 1961. The first six months totaled over 150 in the four series of meetings with the "Christ Our Hope" crusade. Let us double our soul-winning activities for '61 and leave the results to God.

"We do not know what great interests may be at stake in the proving of God. . . . We should look to the revealed will of God and walk according to His definite commandment, no matter what circumstances may surround us. God will take care of the results." P.P. 662.

Jesus said, "Go out on the highways and along the hedgerows (or berry-patches) and make them come in; I want my house to be full." We do too! (New English Bible was quoted from Luke 14:23.)

Appreciation must be expressed for the fine attendance at our camp meeting, recently ended. It seemed like a grand climax to the series of meetings we have conducted in our churches over the State of Washington.

If someone was not at camp meeting who recently came into the Church, won't you please be faithful to Christ and His teachings. The blessings being poured out now are measureless and we must all "press together."

Let us all pray one for another and study the Word, working for souls till Jesus shall appear.

W. D. BEAMAN

Thanks All

I am happy that it is never out of date or old-fashioned to say "Thank you," but to make it carry the proper meaning and feeling is not always easy. Sometimes it is said rather perfunctorily when it should come from the heart and reflect a deeper sincerity. Thank you's come from varied emotions of the heart—like joy, happiness, kindness, appreciation, gratitude. We humans seem reluctant many times to give expression to these things and lose much of the fullness of life.

Permit me to say "Thank you" to you, our GLEANER readers, this morning. Why do I want to say it? Because of the splendid interest that was shown in our literature at the camp meeting that has just passed. It gives us joy, satisfaction, happiness to know that you believe so fully in the power of our literature to save souls and hasten the day when Jesus will come. I can well imagine the joy that is in heaven to see the books, tracts, magazines, and Bibles going out to help those who do not know the Saviour of mankind.

Like many who have already asked, I am sure you are wondering about the volume of our sales. It is amazing when I stop to think about it, and I know it will be to you. I wish there were some way to express it other than in dollars and cents, but perhaps that is best. Anyway, the total was $19,682.26. This is what you did, the money you spent, the faith you demonstrated in your fellow-man and your desire to hasten the day that Jesus can come. I say, "Thank you," again, and may we all continue to spread the gospel, the good news of salvation until that day dawns.

MONTANA

Doctor-Minister Retreat

Mount Rundel Junior Camp near Banff, Alberta, in the beautiful Canadian Rockies was the inspirational setting for the recent doctor-minister retreat of the Montana Conference workers. During the four days of fellowship, twelve doctors and nineteen ministers and other workers along with their families sought ways of working together with Christ in following the divine blueprint for co-operative evangelism and soul-winning.

Elder John Hancock was unable to be with us as planned, leaving much of the moderating of the discussions to Dr. R. S. Hamilton, medical secretary for Montana, and Elder George E. Taylor, Conference president. Several prominent men from outside the conference took active parts in the panel discussions, lectures, and sermons. Dr. Ralph Waddell, medical secretary of the Far Eastern Division and an internationally known figure with friends and admirers in the State Departments of many countries, shared his wealth of experience in nurturing the right arm of the message. He pointed out the importance of keeping open the lines of communication between each individual and God, and that the reason we have a health message is to help keep the mind alert and able to be a channel of communication. He told of the sincere reverence shown by pagan peoples for their temples and called attention to the fact that Christians should have reverence for the body temples God has given to them. Dr. Waddell emphasized that the writings of the Spirit of Prophecy on health are not check lists of do's and don'ts, but a key to better living and a closer communication with God. His illustrated accounts of the building up of the Bangkok Sanitarium and Hospital were especially appreciated.

Elder Carl Sundin, Director of Placement at Loma Linda University and Assistant Secretary of the General Conference Medical Department, led in several discussions in which he emphasized the importance of three-dimensional ministry in which the whole man—body, mind and heart—is considered as a unit. Elder Sundin pointed out that every Seventh-day Adventist should be a health educator with a knowledge of preventive medicine and ways to improve health. Especially should the minister and the doctor work together in helping people around them meet the problem of grief. Almost every patient who comes to the doctor for help needs to be pointed to the resources of faith and shown how to work with God for healing of mind and body. Under Elder Sundin's direction, much study was given to how the minister and the doctor can co-operate in this field.

Elder Paul Heubach, pastor of the Walla Walla College church and chaplain of the college, gave us the benefit of his wide experience in helping people meet their problems through faith in God. An adequate concept of faith does not demand miracles of healing, but recognizes that God knows what is best for us. A man sometimes needs a period of sicknesses and convalescence to turn his thoughts to God and the needs of his soul. In any case, it is God who does the healing, and a doctor who does not minister to the souls of his patients is but a technician and fails in the important ministry that is his.

Question periods and open discussion helped to answer many of the questions that came before the group and inspired us again with the wonderful balance and unity in the overall message God has given the world through the remnant church. It was evident that every worker in attendance received real blessings and strength for his ministry.

Rainy weather dampened the spirits at times and the well over one hundred in attendance taxed the facilities of the camp. However, the hospitality of Brother and Sister Holde, the camp caretakers, and the wonderful food prepared by Sister Ted Andrews and daughter, Shirley, was appreciated more than what would have been served at the plush Banff Springs Hotel nearby. A resounding vote of thanks to those who made our fellowship possible was joined in by all.

Pastor, Glendive Church

Mount Ellis Academy Staff

Mount Ellis Academy is happy to announce that Mrs. Vera Johnson Folkes of Kalispell, Montana, has come to assume the responsibilities of the Dean of Girls. Mrs. Folkes is an experienced academy dean, is a graduate of Walla Walla College and was an assistant dean of women there. As well as her dormitory duties, Mrs. Folkes will teach some of the typewriting classes.

Mr. Leonard L. Wheeler, Dean of Boys, comes to us from Michigan. He belongs, however, to the Northwest for he is a graduate of Walla Walla College, 1956, and was a dean at Laurelhurst Academy. At Emmanuel Missionary College he was instructor in Physical Education, for Mr. Wheeler is an expert in that field. He will teach physical education to both boys and girls at Mt. Ellis.

From Paradise, California, come Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Duerksen. Mr. Duerksen graduated from Pacific Union College in 1954 with a business major and has used his training in the educational work since that time. In Paradise he was the principal of a junior academy. At Mount Ellis he will be the school accountant and teach commercial subjects. The girls in the laundry will appreciate the ready smile and kindly supervision of Mrs. Duerksen.

Mr. Edwin McGhee has just returned to the United States from the Middle East College at Beirut, Lebanon. He will give instrument lessons, teach music theory, and conduct the school band. Mr. McGhee is a graduate of Walla Walla College with a Master's degree. Both parents and students will be happy to know that Mt. Ellis has his able assistance and can offer a well-rounded training in the field of music.

OREGON

1961 Oregon Camp Meeting

On the afternoon of July 19 the Oregon Conference campground at Gladstone suddenly became alive with people and activity. For ten days the pulsation of the presence of some seven or eight thousand people in residence continued without interruption. During the two weekends the attendance was more than doubled, which extremely taxed all facilities. Perfect camp meeting weather crowned a period of spiritual fellowship and dedication to the God whom we serve.

In the main pavilion the challenging words of Joshua, "We Will Serve The Lord," awakened powers of decision for God day after day, and will remain indelibly impressed upon the consciousness of all who allowed this age-old challenge to penetrate their lives.

The biennial session of the Oregon Conference which preceded camp meeting was marked by active interest on the part of all delegates. As the various reports were received, a note of progress was sounded to which the delegates, Conference workers, and laymen rallied with gratifying enthusiasm.

A series of recommendations entitled, "A Co-ordinated Program of Evangelism," was unanimously adopted at our Conference session. The various plans featured in this series will be presented to the churches from time to time during the ensuing months. If carefully carried out, the plans set forth in these recommendations will require and enlist the whole membership of the church.

The good camp meeting offerings this year, to a large extent, expressed the appreciation of our people for the priv-

OREGON VACATION BIBLE SCHOOLS—1961

More than fifty Oregon Conference Sabbath Schools planned Vacation Bible Schools this summer. Up to this time, nearly all have either held their schools or are in operation at present.

In every place the results have been most encouraging. Mrs. Litchfield, press secretary of the Vancouver church, gives us a sample of the success of these schools in the following report:

"God's Holy Book" was the theme carried out in a successful Vacation Bible School of the Vancouver, Washington, SDA church this summer. The aim of the school, like all other evangelistic endeavors is to lead souls to Christ. Indications of success in the school this summer were the large number in attendance, the fine attitude and interest of the children, and the appreciation of the parents—and we must add the faithfulness of the workers in charge.

Mrs. Walter Milholland, superintendent of the school, also led out in the Junior department and was assisted by Mrs. James Metcalf by leading the Primary classes and Mrs. Shirley Lahti in charge of the Kindergarten children, and by some twenty teachers. Mrs. August Opp supervised the arts and crafts work. Pastor Harold Turner conducted the daily devotions and trained the children's choir.

"The exercises graduation night included recitation of lessons learned in the school, salute to the flag, and salute to the Bible.

"A special feature of the program was the group singing of 137 children's voices led by the pastor.

"Of the 137 enrolled, 108 finished the course and were awarded certificates.

"About half of the children came from non-Adventist homes, and most of the parents represented attended the graduation exercises on the closing night.

Pastor Turner, whose aim is to use every avenue to reach souls, has visited the families who have ordered the pictures of the group, and delivered the pictures personally. He has on his list eight interested families, and some of these children are already attending Sabbath School."

We greatly appreciate the good work done in the Vacation Bible Schools this summer and the follow-up being conducted by the hundreds of willing Sabbath School workers. Our thanks to all who have had a part in making these soul-winning, evangelistic programs possible. "No one can labor in the Sabbath School . . . without reaping a bountiful harvest, not only in the end of the world, but in the present life." —Counsels on Sabbath School Work, pp. 13, 14.

ilege of attending another such gathering in these troublous times. Sabbath School offerings came to $14,561.00 on the first Sabbath, and $10,681.43 on the second, making a total of $25,242.43 for the two Sabbaths. An additional mission offering of $5,704.02 was given on the first Sabbath.

On the closing Sabbath an appeal was made for the support of "It Is Written" and Conference evangelism. The cash and pledges given in response to this call totaled $24,669.04. This will make it possible for the Conference to finance the "It Is Written" telecast for a repeat showing, and also greatly assist in a number of evangelistic efforts.

We take this opportunity to thank our dear people for their presence with us at Gladstone and for the liberal response to the support of the Lord's work at home and abroad.

Academy Building Fund

The Oregon Conference constituency, in regular session July 19 and 20, 1961, voted that an emergency conference-wide Academy Building Fund campaign be launched beginning August 1, 1961, and extending to May 31, 1962; that the 400,000 to be raised be applied toward the following projects in the three boarding academies of the conference—Columbia, Laurelwood and Milo—for industrial development in all three academies $165,000, and for buildings $235,000.

In developing our academy industries, equipment and operating capital are the most urgent needs. At both Columbia and Laurelwood adequate industrial buildings already exist, but operating capital and some additional equipment must be provided to launch new industries. At Milo a new industrial building is needed, as well as equipment and operating capital for a suitable industry. If the total of $165,000 comes into the conference it will be possible for these schools to establish profitable industries within the coming year.

The balance of the $400,000 (namely $235,000) must be used to complete the gymnasium-music building at Laurelwood, and the administration building at Milo. Of this amount, $50,000 is to be allocated for teacher housing: Laurelwood, $25,000 and Columbia, $25,000.

It was specified in the action taken by the conference that $200,000 is to be raised in the churches, and $200,000 set aside from conference funds, thus making a total of $400,000. Due to the great urgency in providing profitable student labor beginning with the coming school year the conference must receive a substantial amount of the above-named funds by the end of August.

We are therefore appealing to all of our people in the Oregon Conference to start contributing to the "Academy Building Fund" immediately. Special mention of this fund is made on your tithe envelopes. Be sure to get one of the new envelopes for your August remittance of tithe and offerings, and begin at once to contribute to this urgent need. Thank you!

"The Village"

A new name, "The Village," denoting an institution of great interest, has come into our language in the Oregon Conference. This is the name of a community of homes, especially designed for those who have reached retirement age. "The Village" is sponsored by North Pacific Homes, Inc., a non-profit organization. Elder V. T. Armstrong, well known in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, is serving as executive director of "The Village."

Plans for the development and operation of "The Village" have been freely discussed with the administration of the Oregon Conference, and are in harmony with the standards of the church. Anyone interested in becoming a resident of "The Village" should contact the office of North Pacific Homes, Inc., 2035 S. W. 58th Avenue, Portland, Oregon. A very attractive brochure giving full particulars is available and may be obtained through the office named above.

We believe that "The Village" will satisfy a real need, not only of Seventh-day Adventists who will be given preference, but also of others who qualify and may be accepted as residents.

We are glad to welcome this retirement "Village" in the Portland area.

UPPER COLUMBIA

Upper Columbia Academy

As summer slips quickly away, the matter of education is again foremost in the minds of students, parents, and teachers alike. There is one basic problem involved in education that we as Christians must answer. This far-reaching decision is the choice of a Christian school or a public school.

As a denomination, we have specific instruction pertaining to the importance of the training received in our schools. Yet every year there are some who are blind to the advantages of Christian education and must be cajoled and coddled to be convinced that their children need the training provided in a Christian school.

I graduated with the class of 1961 from Upper Columbia Academy. I know from experience that nothing can be of more value to a student than attendance in one of our boarding academies. Of prime importance is the spiritual training which is not a part of the public institution. If parents could only realize what opportunities for spiritual growth are available in our schools, they would let nothing hinder their children from attending. In our world today, a deep abiding faith in Christ is a necessity. The possibility of finding such a faith in the structure of the public school system is remote indeed.

If you have a school-age son or daughter, do everything you can to place them in a Christian school. You cannot afford to do otherwise. It is too much of a sacrifice to let our young people fade into the world when the fields are ripe for the harvest and God is calling for laborers—laborers trained in His appointed schools.

Weddings

On June 4 in the Hillsboro, Seventh-day Adventist church, Betty Caughman became the bride of Robert Fineout. Elder Harold H. Ruppert officiated at the sacred service. The young couple will make their home in Hillsboro. May heaven's blessing attend this union.

Lynne E. S. Gerger of Portland, Oregon, became the bride of R. Gordon D. Buhler in an eventide garden wedding at the Portland residence of her grandmother, Mrs. LaVerne Murphy, on July 23. The groom of Williams Lake, British Columbia, will be continuing his study toward becoming a laboratory technician. The ceremony was performed and the invocation of God's richest blessing was given by Elder Eldon E. Stratton.

The Portland Mt. Tabor Seventh-day Adventist church served beatifully for an afternoon wedding, June 18, as Cheryl Jean Clare and Donald Ray Bruington exchanged vows. The ceremony was read by Elder Eldon E. Stratton. May God fully unite and bless this couple as they make their new home in Portland.

On the evening of July 3, Helen Marie Finck of Portland and Richard H. Oman of Hillsboro, Oregon, were united in marriage. Elder Eldon E. Stratton was the officiating minister who asked the Divine Creator to join and bless this union. The candlelight services were held in the First Baptist church of St. Johns, Portland, Oregon. Both the bride and groom are employees of the Pacific Press at Mountain View, California.

Summer Commencement Events Scheduled At WWC

Three experienced educators and administrators have been announced as speakers for summer commencement weekend events, August 18 and 19.

Dr. P. W. Christian, president, assisted by Dr. H. L. Rasmussen, academic dean, and Mrs. Irene Black, registrar, will confer degrees on the approximately 60 candidates for B.A., B.S., and M.A. degrees.

Dr. Godfrey T. Anderson, president of CME since 1954 and now of Loma Linda University, is the commencement speaker for exercises in Columbia Auditorium at nine o'clock Saturday evening.

Dr. Anderson's Ph.D. degree is from the University of Chicago, his M.S. degree from Northwestern University, and his B.A. from Broadview College. He has served in various capacities on faculties of Oshawa Missionary College, Atlantic Union College, and La Sierra College.

Listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the West, Who's Who in American Education, and Directory of American Schools, Dr. Anderson also holds membership in a number of national organizations.

The baccalaureate service, Sabbath, August 19, at 11 o'clock, will feature Elder George E. Taylor, president of the Montana Conference, as speaker.

Elder Taylor's service record to the SDA church has taken him from Montana to Idaho, Kansas, Northern California, Hawaii, Colorado, Central California, Alberta, Canada, and the Columbia Union. He has been pastor, evangelist, conference president, and union conference religious liberty secretary.

Deadline for application is September 1

Write: The Registrar, Walla Walla College, College Place, Wash.

Elder T. K. Ludgate, associate professor of religion at WWC and a graduate of Washington Missionary College and the SDA Theological Seminary, will give the consecration service message Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

As an educator Elder Ludgate served on the faculties of three colleges: SMC and EMC before coming to WWC. He did pastoral and evangelistic work for 15 years in India and 8 years in South Africa as well as in the States.

Student Housing Available

Married students are advised that reasonably priced housing is available in College Place in the Student Housing Units (formerly Veterans' Apartments).

About fifty units of one- or two-bedroom apartments are available for the coming year. Inquiries should be addressed to Mr. Kenneth Groves, Business Office, Walla Walla College, College Place, Washington.

Science Departments Offer Opportunities In Many Fields

Dentist, medical doctor, nurse, medical technician, pharmacist, nuclear physicist, science teacher, biochemist, research chemist, naturalist, government biologist, scientific supply and drug salesman, science librarian or abstracter and translator of scientific literature, Walla Walla College science departments can give you the basic training for any of these. WWC science departments are geared to the needs of a science student in a scientific world.

The Department of Chemistry offers courses in the four basic fields of chemistry: inorganic, organic, analytical, and physical. The student who completes the chemistry curriculum is qualified to teach chemistry on the secondary level or enter a graduate school for further work in chemistry.

Dr. Carl Jones is chairman of the Chemistry Department. All staff members are experienced chemists and teachers: Dr. G. W. Bowers and Professor C. W. Shankel are veteran chemistry teachers as is Dr. James Chambers, the most recent addition to the Chemistry Department faculty. An organic and biochemist, he has been directing a research project in the department in addition to his teaching program.

The instrumental laboratory has included in its equipment a number of instruments such as might be found in an industrial laboratory. Included are a spectrophotometer, flame photometer, polarograph, radioactivity counter, scaler, and others.

The Biology Department, headed by Dr. Harold Coffin, has an excellent museum. Its collection of mammals, reptiles, birds, and marine specimens makes the study of biology tangible and interesting.

Professor Donald Rigby is working on a research project for his Ph.D. degree. Miss Beatrice Emery is a biologist with many years of teaching experience. Other instructors in the department are Mr. Kenneth Groves and Mr. John Stout.

WWC is also proud of its Biological Station at Rosario Beach, where this summer 40 graduate and undergraduate students have studied. Three are completing the requirements for the M.A. degree which will be conferred on August 19.

Dr. Claude C. Barnett, theoretical physicist, heads the Physics Department. Dr. Robert H. Brown, well known in academic circles as a scientist, is this summer pursuing his special interest in nuclear physics by attending the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. Dr. Charles V. Bell has spent the past two summers in industry keeping up to date on his specialty, microwave electronics and electrical science. Mr. Earl Ashbaugh, a graduate of 1961, will instruct introductory laboratories and teach mathematics this coming year.

The graduates of the Physics Department have no difficulty in finding employment or opportunities for advanced study. Of the seven spring graduates with degrees in physics and engineering physics, four will be studying at western universities under assistantships, one has begun his job with General Electric at the Hanford Atomic Works, Richland, one joins the WWC department teaching staff as an instructor, and one will return to his homeland for an engineering position.

Students interested in any field of science will find the departments at WWC equipped to give the best basic training.
