

REBEL SOLDIERS REQUEST GOSPEL

WAYNE A. MARTIN, President, Thailand Mission

Will you help them with a liberal gift—Thirteenth Sabbath Offering?

During the past few years the Mon tribe of Burma have been fighting the Burmese government. Mostly, this was done by rebel troops in various parts of Burma, making attacks on the Burmese army wherever they could find it.

Mr. Yupp was one of the leaders of a group of rebels, and he led his soldiers over much of the country of Burma and even up into China, fighting and plundering as they went. Recently Mr. Yupp and about one hundred of his soldiers fled to Thailand to escape capture and arrest. Some of his group are wanted for murder. Now they all live in a little village of their own near the Burma border.

At first they invited some Buddhist priests to come to their village and they erected idols. Later trouble developed between the priests and the soldiers. Soon the priests were asked to leave and the idols were destroyed. Then Mr. Yupp asked us to send a worker to live in their village and teach them Christianity.

Mr. Lim, our Mission treasurer, and I made a trip to the village to see what the prospects might be for sending a worker. To reach the village, located about 100 miles from Bangkok, it was necessary to travel for two days. First we went by train over the "death railway" built by prisoners of war under the Japanese, during the last war. We spent about six hours traveling by boat on the River Kwai. The last six or seven miles we had to walk, through the jungles.

We arranged to have a meeting with the people of the village and about a hundred attended. It was a real thrill to tell them, for the first time, of a living God who made heaven and earth. I have never talked to a more attentive audience. They asked if they could have a second meeting, and this was arranged. Then they thanked us for telling them of the new God and manifested a real interest in learning more. They have offered to provide a house and facilities for a worker if we could send one. We can get a worker who speaks their language, if we just had the funds with which to send him. How tragic that these sin-hardened rebels and murderers are calling for us to teach them, but we do not have adequate finances.

This village is typical of many villages that can be found throughout Thailand. Many people are eager to listen to our message if we can only bring it to them. This quarter's 13th

The Ten Commandments of Ingathering Success

1. Believe it is God's work.
2. Demonstrate your conviction by contribution of your time and service.
3. Pray without ceasing. Keep your heart in tune with heaven as you stand by the door or desk.
4. Recall that you are God's messenger visiting every home, office, and store presenting the privilege of participation in a great humanitarian and evangelistic program.
5. Remember people are busy. Know your Ingathering paper and canvass and be prepared to answer questions.
6. Tactfully suggest a larger contribution than was given last year.
7. Never argue with your prospective donor. Make friends. Suggest—never antagonize.
8. Do not become discouraged over a few refusals. Keep smiling until your prospect smiles back. Then your victory is won.
9. Make every contact count for Christ. Remember you are searching for souls and that Ingathering is a community-wide missionary crusade. Record names and follow up the interests discovered.
10. Keep hold on God. "Trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass."

Several million reprints of passages from the first and second chapters of Luke are being distributed by the Society again this year. They tell of the birth and childhood of Jesus and are printed in large type in attractive, colorful booklets, small enough to enclose with Christmas cards and letters.

Titled "Unto You . . . A Saviour," the booklets are available from the Bible Society in the King James or the Revised Standard Version in English, or in the new Reina-Valera version in Spanish. The price is a nominal $3 per hundred. Through press, radio and television, the Society is offering to send a single copy free to everyone who requests it.

The Society offers to send quantities of the booklets free to hospitals, prisons, nursing homes, YMCA's, YWCA's and other institutions which are not able to pay for them from their budgets and cannot find a church or individual to donate them.

The address of the American Bible Society is 450 Park Ave., New York 22, New York.

A good piece of reading for young drivers who are looking forward to a pleasant and safe driving career is in the November-December issue of Listen. Entitled "Enjoy Safe Driving," this article appears in the same issue with the story on Commander Alan Shepard, America's first spaceman, who talks of the rigorous training program and the stringent living habits of the men in the U.S. space program.

IDAHO

NOW is the TIME —

for all loyal members to come to the aid of their party. How truly that old slogan fits the needs of our Gem State Academy Building Fund. Unless our members rally to the cause and pay their pledges to the building fund our building operations will be greatly curtailed, if not stopped altogether.

When the plans were originally promoted, it was with the idea of taking three years in which to build. Soon these plans were telescoped into two years so we could occupy the new plant during the school year 1962-1963. Do you realize that September 1, 1962 is only nine months away? Will you not make a desperate effort to pay your entire pledge on or before December 31.

Elder Smith was in our office a few days ago and indicated he would have to have an additional $50,000 before December 25 in order to meet certain purchases that have been made.

We wish all of our members could see the splendid progress being made at our new plant. The first project was to build one of our teacher's residences so Elder Smith could have a place in which to live right on the grounds in order that he could better supervise the work and also act as caretaker for the machinery and vast amount of materials stored on the premises. The next project completed was the power house. The boys' dormitory was pretty well completed at the time of our camp meeting. Since then the girls' dormitory has been framed, roofed and brick veneered. Before completing this building, Elder Smith decided it would be advisable to get the administration building framed in so they would be able to continue the work during the winter months. This has now been done and the bricklayers are laying the brick on the outside walls. The whole project makes quite an imposing sight on the hill—and what a view our students will have!

So please take this to heart, and do it soon. Yes—we did mean Y O U !

Names Wanted

Elder William H. Jenson will be holding a series of evangelistic services in Wrangell, Alaska, in January. He is very anxious for names of friends and relatives who may be interested in attending. Please send these names to Elder William H. Jenson, Box 1135, Sitka, Alaska.

Seventh-day Adventists Prominent in Alaska Fishery Picture

District Fishery Biologist, Dean Paddock, Dillingham, of the Alaska Department of Fish and Game has been selected to represent the Department at the Tokyo (Japan) meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Convention in late October and November. Paddock, a graduate of Walla Walla College, is one of three Seventh-day Adventists prominent in the administration of Alaska's vast fishery resources.

William K. Evans, Juneau, also a Walla Walla College graduate, is statistical officer for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. His duties include coordinating the gathering and publishing of catch figures and production tabulations.

Francis W. Stokes, Juneau, a former student at Walla Walla College, is Regional Administrative Officer for the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, in charge of personal management, property management and budget and finance matters.

A New Beginning in Petersburg

A little less than a year ago Mrs. Carl Beyer felt a burden for her neighbors and friends so she started a little Sabbath School in Petersburg. At this time Mrs. Beyer herself was not a Seventh-day Adventist but had been taught our beliefs as a child and felt her responsibility in an isolated place where there was no Adventist church. As Mrs. Beyer led out in the little Sabbath School her own heart was filled to overflowing and she knew now was the time to be rebaptized in order to stand again with the remnant church.

This Sabbath School was one of the contributing factors which led to the conversion and baptism of Mrs. Gene Newland, who has joined in helping with the responsibilities of this program. The Sabbath School consists mostly of children and the average weekly attendance is about ten.

The first part of October found Dr. Richard Smith moving to Petersburg to take over a dental practice. Dr. Smith and his wife, Sharen, have two little girls ages four years and seven months. Coming to Alaska was not a new adventure for Dr. Smith as he spent his childhood in various parts of Alaska since his father, Elder Merle Smith, labored here for many years. The Smiths are looking forward to doing all they can to help Mrs. Beyer and Mrs. Newland in promoting Sabbath School evangelism in Petersburg. We are happy to welcome Dr. Smith and his family back to Alaska.

An Appeal For Trading Stamps

It has been done by other church groups and we are tackling it, too. Rogue River Academy desperately needs two new school busses and all we must collect is about 6,000 books of trading stamps (any kind) and the busses will be ours.

Perhaps you have already made plans for using your stamp books for some cherished article, but we are wondering if you would consider it worthwhile to sacrifice one of your books for this missionary project. You will readily agree that the boys and girls of our own Conference make up our first mission field. You are supporting your own church school and academy financially, but perhaps you would not feel it too great a burden to share your trading stamps with us.

Be it a few stamps or several books, whatever you send will be very sincerely appreciated by the parents, students, and teachers of Rogue River Academy, Route 4, Box 330, Medford, Oregon. Please be sure to put your name and address on each book.

Perpetual Subscriptions

No doubt you have noticed much in our different periodicals concerning perpetual subscriptions. There has been considerable confusion on this item, primarily because it is not clearly understood. If you have already requested perpetual subscriptions or plan to soon, please read this.

1. Once you sign up for a journal on the perpetual plan, it is entered on a special list. Then after you have been receiving your papers about nine months, the Book and Bible House is automatically billed for your renewal. This gives the Bible House 90 days to bill you, receive your payment, and remit to the publisher. If we do not receive your payment, then we cancel your subscription.

When you receive your notice for renewal, which will be billed to you direct, or to your society, depending on the method of your original order, please be prompt in making your payment, and always indicate that this is your payment for the perpetual plan, if this is not done, it could very easily result in a duplication.

2. Changes in the unit you are receiving. Let us say you decide that this year you want the Gem Trio on a perpetual. However, you are now receiving the Review and Herald on a perpetual basis. You should indicate this information on your order because the Review perpetual will have to be dropped, and then the Gem Trio entered on perpetual, unless, of course, you want two Reviews coming to you.

3. Always indicate if it is a new order, renewal, and whether perpetual or not.

4. Remember—only a few weeks remain to get your subscriptions in on the special holiday rates—order now.

Order the "Review"

In fairness to our people I should not fail to draw to their attention the fact that while the special Review and Herald campaign closed some weeks ago, yet the special price of $3.95 will continue until December 31, 1961.

Beginning January 1, 1962, the new price will be $5.95 for one year or 52 issues. In these days when the evil one knows he has but a short time, every Seventh-day Adventist should be in constant touch with the world field, with the denominational stand on certain issues, and with peculiar problems that will constantly arise in these changing and challenging times.

It is our hope and prayer that every Seventh-day Adventist family will have access to our official church organ—the grand old Review and Herald. Now is the time to take advantage of the special price reduction.

John Griffin Joins Office Staff

Recently it fell to the lot of the conference office family to say farewell and welcome to two faithful workers well known to many of our good people in the Upper Columbia Conference and also the North Pacific Union.

About seven and a half years ago Brother I. E. Gray accepted a call to Upper Columbia as assistant to the conference treasurer. In due process of time he was elected assistant treasurer and has served in this capacity for several years. During this time he has performed his duties in the office most efficiently and faithfully. He has also covered our field in auditing the treasurer's books in the local churches and frequently filled the pulpit in various churches.

Brother Gray's ever-ready spirit to serve in whatever capacity presented itself, his efficiency in the work and loyalty to the work and the message has rewarded him with a call to greater responsibility as he assumed the duties of treasurer in the Montana Conference. We will miss him and his good wife, and wish them every success and blessing in their new field.

To fill this vacancy Brother John Griffin, who at one time served as a ministerial intern in Upper Columbia, then as treasurer of the Alaska Mission and more recently as treasurer of the Montana Conference, has accepted our invitation. Brother Griffin is well settled in his work and most capable to discharge his duties in this capacity. We welcome this little family into our midst and know they will be welcomed by the field as they visit the churches from time to time.

The Door Step

As I approached my first home alone, I said, "Lord, how did I ever get here?" That morning, with the publishing secretary, I had to step out of the first home and I "lost my breakfast." Now here I was facing a door alone. But I soon discovered I was not alone. The events of the next few moments proved that angels were there to open the way and "they" took an order in that first home.

The doorstep can become a very sacred place, because Jesus said, "I stand at the door and knock." How wonderful to go with Jesus and knock on doors.

At first, it may not always be easy, but as we go on and learn more of the blessings from being by His side, it becomes a blessed experience. One day after meeting many people who had known me before I was a Christian, I got to wondering what these people thought of me. As I approached a door I thought, "Who lives here and what will they think?" Then it seemed as though the Lord said, "If you were going up through the gates into the New Jerusalem, would you have your head down wondering what people thought of you?"

"Oh, no Lord! I would have my head up and my shoulders back and my eyes straight ahead on Jesus. The only thing I would be ashamed of would be that I had not invited more of these people to go along with me."

The Lord is blessing our colporteurs as they go from door to door. Would you not like to join them in inviting others to the New Jerusalem?

Auburn Academy News

It is a real pleasure to introduce, to the many friends of Auburn Academy, the new faculty members of our school.

Mrs. Leona Altmiller, a 1961 graduate of Walla Walla College, is busy teaching five classes of typing and one shorthand class. In addition to her teaching load, she is a sponsor of the Rainier Vista and the Junior class.

Another Walla Walla College alumnus joining our faculty is Mrs. Nellie Davis, who serves as Dean of Girls and sponsor of the Missionary Volunteer Society.

Mr. Ronald Miller, also a 1961 Walla Walla College graduate, serves as Dean of Boys in Manous Hall. His responsibilities also include teaching three U.S. History classes and sponsoring the Sophomore class.

Montana News

◆The ministers of the Montana Conference met in the assembly room at the office in Bozeman for a workers' meeting, Thursday morning, November 9, at ten o'clock. Elder George Liscombe gave a very inspiring devotional and made valuable suggestions for a successful Ingathering campaign.

◆W. J. Siegenthaler from the Portland branch of the Pacific Press, was a welcome visitor at our office November 8 and 9. He always gives valuable assistance to the Book and Bible House, and this visit was to help in the preparation for the coming book sales in the various churches. This is Spirit of Prophecy Year, and these wonderful books should be in the home of every Seventh-day Adventist.

◆The new church at Billings looks wonderful, and when completed will be the largest Protestant church in the city. Pastor Soper reports that six are ready for baptism, but they want to wait and be baptized in the new church.

◆Pastor Frank Munsey of Missoula is presently conducting meetings in the little city of Superior on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. There are eight non-Seventh-day Adventists attending regularly. The Dorcas Welfare room has been completed in the new Missoula church, and the ladies are now ready to serve better the needy in their community.

◆From Elder C. M. Christianson of Kalispell comes the good report of a baptism of four on Sabbath, November 4, and one of them was a Voice of Prophecy interest. He also reports that they are having an excellent church school this year, and that the new school building is entirely enclosed.

◆Pastor A. M. Matar gives us the good news that the Butte congregation will be moving into their new church in about three weeks. It will not be completed but, because of the sale of their old church, they must move soon.

◆A Leader Craft course will be conducted in the Great Falls church for the entire district December 1 and 2. All who plan to be invested at the Youth Congress should take this course. The course will begin at seven o'clock Friday night and be completed Saturday night.

◆Elder George Taylor, drove to Missoula Monday morning, November 13, to meet Elder W. M. Adams of the Religious Liberty Department of the General Conference. They conducted Religious Liberty Workshops in Missoula, Great Falls and Billings, on November 13, 14, and 15.

Evangelism in Shelby

The little city of Shelby on our conference "high line" is to have a series of evangelistic meetings. Pastor Dale Brusett began meetings in a hall at 426 Main Street in Shelby, Saturday night, November 11. His meetings will continue until December 17. There are only two Seventh-day Adventists in Shelby, one sister who is 80 years of age, and a school teacher whose home is in Havre. We solicit the prayers of God's people for Brother Brusett as he launches out alone without the support of a congregation of believers.

The owner of the building where the meetings are being held has been most kind and helpful in making things ready for the meetings to begin. He assisted in putting up the sign, then he built a fine platform and brought two rugs from his home to cover it and another large rug for the floor of the hall. Still this was not enough, so he lowered the rent $25.00, and made the hall available for the last two weeks, rent free. Let us pray that this millionaire may be brought to the full knowledge of the truth through the ministry of Brother Brusett during this series of meetings.

GEORGE E. TAYLOR

Are You an Investor?

It is said that above the door of a school in a small city in Ohio, are engraved in stone the following words: "Whatever needs to be done in this world will be done by someone. If you lack vision, conviction or determination to do the job, there is someone not very far from you who can and will do it." Could that someone be you and me, my friend?

Mrs. George Beech and her "Investment" items.

When the task of planning and carrying out an Investment project is placed before us, do we have vision, conviction and determination to do it? Or do we leave it for someone else? This is Investment time when the results of our plans are revealed and recorded.

One of the members of the Butte church, Mrs. George Beech, has an "all-around-the-year" Investment project. It brings results, too! The accompanying picture is Mrs. Beech with her display of various things which she sells. Shelves hold arrangement of attractive kitchen "what-nots," vases, stationery, gifts with different holiday motifs, toys and other gifts too numerous to mention. Each year she "reaps" from these a substantial amount which helps to swell our Investment Fund.

If you have not taken part in Investment, just don the cloak of vision, conviction and determination, and you will succeed in being one of the best investors in the entire Sabbath school. Think what great rejoicing will be in heaven over the results of your Investment gift!

Western Federation Achievements

Ovandoans are counting the blessings received from the Dorcas Federation meeting held there on October 1. Perhaps one of the greatest blessings is that some not of the Dorcas group are helping in this count. I am told it was the largest crowd in four and one half years in our Federation and Ovandoans feel really blessed because of the attendance. Everyone present did not register, so the registration list is incomplete at 60.

There were 65 present at the excellent vegetarian dinner which in itself was a blessing and brought forth pleased comments from visitors and from SDA's present who had never eaten a real Seventh-day Adventist meal. The blessing of the dinner need never stop if all partakers will incorporate such meals into their home cooking. Several who worked on the dinner are non-Adventists who willing-

Faculty Members Participate In Professional Meetings

Dr. P. W. Christian joined presidents of other Washington colleges and universities at the final University of Washington centennial convocation November 16, for which the speaker was President John F. Kennedy. The WWC president participated in the academic procession and joined other guests on the platform for the convocation culminating the university's centennial year and honoring the oldest public institution of higher learning on the Pacific Coast.

Clinton Wall, director of food service, addressed the Washington State Dietetic Association membership in convention in Tacoma, November 17, his topic being "Latest Developments in Disaster Feeding." Mr. Wall, a member of the American Dietetic Association, is chairman of the organization's civil defense and disaster preparedness committee for the State of Washington and for the division of the 14 western states.

Dr. R. H. Brown, vice president, will be on the campus of Reed College, Portland, November 30, for a conference by the National Science Foundation. Purposes of the conference, says Dr. Brown, is to give information and allow discussion of the Foundation's programs for academic personnel. The Portland meeting is one of three such meetings scheduled on a pilot basis in hopes the fellowships awarded by the Foundation and the grants for science facilities may become better known by potential recipients.

Health and Safety Week

Displays in the Student Association Center and Kellogg Hall, as well as chapels and residence hall programs, highlighted the theme "Disaster Preparedness" during Health and Safety Week on the Walla Walla College campus November 12-17.

Clinton Wall, director of food service, and Kenneth Groves, assistant business manager, as co-chairmen of the week's activities emphasized the timeliness of the civil defense and disaster preparedness and provided not only theoretical information but practical demonstrations. A simulated bomb shelter in the basement of the Nursing Education building showed minimum essentials necessary for survival and illustrated approved construction. Mr. Groves and Grover Starr, campus architect, arranged the display.

Other members of the Health and Safety Committee chairmanned by Prof. Fredrick R. Hanson, professor of nursing education, include: Russell Dahlbeck, assistant professor of physical education; S. K. Gernet, Professor of education; Mrs. C. T. Jones, assistant professor of nursing education; Mrs. P. G. Strutz, director of health service; T. W. Walters, dean of students; and Mrs. M. L. Zolber, instructor in home economics.

Concert Band Goes to Idaho

The 41-piece Walla Walla College Concert Band will present three concerts in the Idaho Conference, December 1 and 2, on its first off-campus tour of the year.

Under the direction of Prof. H. Lloyd Leno, the concert band will present sacred concerts at Boise Junior Academy Auditorium, Friday evening, December 1, at 6:30, and at the Payette Seventh-day Adventist church, Sabbath, December 2, at 3 p.m. A secular concert is scheduled for the Gem State Academy Auditorium, Saturday evening, December 2, at eight o'clock.

Elder G. S. Balharrie, dean of the school of theology, will narrate the program; Duane Ragan, Rogers School teacher, will accompany the band as tour manager.

Sacred concerts will feature a vocal solo and two ensembles in addition to the large group. These are a cornet trio and the clarinet choir.

The clarinet choir, a new ensemble, is made possible by the addition of a new B-flat contra-bass clarinet, an important addition to the entire band as well, says Professor Leno. The instrument represents the greatest innovation in musical manufacture during the last 100 years.

The 28-member wind ensemble, a select group from the membership of the concert band, will be heard in the secular concert in Rossini's "Italian in Algiers Overture," and accompanying a clarinet solo.

Members from surrounding churches are cordially invited to attend these three events.

"Who's Who"

Names of 22 WWC students will be appearing in this year's Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, according to Dr. T. W. Walters, dean of students.

Nominated for scholarship, leadership and Christian standards were 13 seniors and 9 juniors.

Those named were: Don Blehm, junior theology major, College Place, Clark Braman, junior chemistry major, Seattle; Kay Campbell, junior secretarial science major, Bellevue; Eva Lou Carlson, senior zoology major, College Place; Jeanette Clark, junior religion major, Drain, Oregon; Jerry Dunifer, junior engineering physics major, Silverton, Oregon.

Marian Fedak, senior chemistry and foods and nutrition majors, Wimmer, Sask., Canada; Ken Fox, senior business administration major, College Place; Joyce Griffith, junior English major, Caldwell; Vada Hays, senior home economics education major, Great Falls, Montana; Dione Hinger, senior history major, Walla Walla; Wilbur Ingram, senior theology and Biblical languages major, College Place.

ly and very generously gave their time to work to make the day a success.

Elder Christianson testified that he had been blessed by a new understanding of Dorcas work through his study for the talk he gave and we all appreciated the stories of his welfare service in Panama and particularly enjoyed hearing how the young Roman Catholic priests unwittingly helped advertise Seventh-day Adventist giving. Sister Christianson and Pastor Munsey each favored us with vocal solos pertaining to service for others.

Federation projects are: to continue sending clothing to the Korean orphans and to send toys for Christmas to Korea. Then too, we plan to begin sending baby clothing and supplies to Dr. and Mrs. Roy Yeatts, SDA Medical Mission Station, Wabag, New Guinea. Packages may weigh 22 pounds. Used clothing must be fumigated and so certified. New clothing requires duty payments. Unless you can arrange with your local health officer to certify fumigation, it is advisable to send the clothing to Watsonville, with the request that it be sent on to Wabag, New Guinea. The people in Wabag territory do not have clothes, and babies are dying from exposure. Direct postage on 22 pounds may be over $7. The need is indescribably urgent.
