

OF INTEREST AT THE NATION'S CAPITOL

LLOYD E. BIGGS, Northwest Secretary
International Religious Liberty Association

During the past three years it has been our privilege to become acquainted with the ten senators from the five states of the North Pacific Union Conference. The North Pacific area is represented in the Senate by a group of conscientious and able Senators. We are honored by having Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana as the majority leader of the Senate. The late Senator Henry Dworshak of Idaho was a powerful champion of the principles of religious liberty and separation of Church and State. His passing was a staggering loss to the Northwest and to the Nation.

We are glad to note that Senator Maurine Neuberger has continued the crusade of her late husband against the serving of liquor on commercial air lines, and the use of tobacco by the youth of the country. When the reception room of the new front Senate wing of the Capitol building was to be dedicated by a house-warming reception in April, 1962, word leaked out to Senator Wayne Morse that liquor was being carried into the building for use at the reception. The Senator immediately offered a resolution in the Senate prohibiting the use of liquor in all publicly owned buildings, and while many of his colleagues were enjoying the conviviality at the reception, Senator Morse was on the floor of the Senate urging passage of his resolution. (The resolution finally died in the rules committee. Too much "liquor power" in the Senate.)

We have been greatly interested in the outcome of the gigantic effort to legalize the use of public funds for the support of church-owned schools. The ACADEMIC FACILITIES CONSTRUCTION AND SCHOLARSHIP BILL, HR 8900, (Senate Version, S 1241) finally reached the Conference Committee, of which Senator Morse was chairman. The Senator refused to let the bill get out of the Conference Committee until, or unless, the bill was amended to eliminate government grants to church-owned schools. Senator Morse has consistently declared that the unrestricted grant of funds to church-related institutions of higher learning raised serious questions of constitutionality. The Conference Committee secured modification of this provision in the bill, following which the House of Representatives rejected it.

As a church we neither endorse nor condemn any political party or candidate. But we do support with our vote and our prayers those officials who stand with us on the great principles of Religious Liberty and Temperance. Indeed, in these momentous hours we should pray for the President and those associated with him in guiding the destiny of our country and the world. While matters of State are of importance to us as loyal citizens, the overwhelming passion that should guide every Christian is the necessity of personal heart preparation to meet our soon-coming Saviour.

THE CUBAN CRISIS AND OUR YOUTH

JOHN H. HANCOCK, Secretary
National Service Organization
North Pacific Union Conference

At the time of writing this article President Kennedy has just spoken to the nation giving us the news of the Cuban crisis and the stern measures which must be taken to meet the threat of the communist build-up in this neighboring country. By the time this appears in print we could be in war, as Cuba has already declared the "quarantine" an act of war.

This announcement of the President came as I was at Upper Columbia Academy conducting the fall week of prayer. The entire school family was called into the gymnasium to hear the President's speech over the radio, and like it has done to the entire world, the message has deeply solemnized the students as they contemplated the significance of the President's words. The young men in the academy huddled around radios at every opportunity to catch any late developing news items. They hurled question after question at me relative to the meanings of the developments and what would happen to them as far as military service is concerned.

I am sure this same question is being asked by hundreds of our Adventist young men today in our union. No one is a prophet nor can make predictions, but it is evident that we are entering on a new period of our history when a military build-up is inevitable. Russia has already cancelled all military leaves and made it impossible to be discharged from any branch of military service.

One thing is certain. Every SDA youth should be absolutely sure that he is properly classified with his selective service board. If he is eligible for the draft he should be now classified as 1-AO, which guarantees his right to non-combatant military service in the army medical corps.

Again, we emphasize the importance of our youth waiting for the draft and not enlisting in any branch of military service. This is not simply a recommendation of the church, but this is actually urged by the military forces themselves for Seventh-day Adventists. It is actually unlawful for any youth who holds any mental reservations about combatancy or who is not willing to work seven days a week to enlist in the armed forces of the United States government. To do so makes one subject to court-martial with fine and imprisonment or both. A new Air Force regulation re-emphasizing this was issued just this spring.

In the past, during the little period of apparent peace, many of our youth have disregarded the counsel of both the government and the church and have enlisted. Some of them have been able to work out their Sabbath problems due to the five-day week which has been quite commonly followed in many areas, but now with the cold war turning hot, and with 24-hour alerts being imposed on all military bases and installations these youth will, without doubt, find themselves in serious difficulty.

In view of these developments, I am making this urgent appeal to our ministers, teachers and parents to help our youth to understand this and move wisely in this crisis hour. Our youth must be guided to enter the military service in the right way to insure them their non-combatant status. Also the Sabbath problem is best met by being drafted into the medical corps of the army. Many of our youth are shying away from this, but they are foolishly turning their back on the counsel of both governmental agencies and the church counsel, and will create embarrassment and many problems for the church and government to try and solve. Let us move forward wisely and calmly in this crisis.

Youth Receive Special Gift

Early in the school year the Missionary Volunteers in all of the academies and Walla Walla College were presented with a personal devotional gift by the conference MV secretaries to encourage them to grow in grace and to share their faith with others.

The gift was a beautifully-printed "Guide to God" sliding Bible study card which contains 240 key texts covering questions which young people ask about (1) their life, (2) their problems, (3) their God, and (4) their future. An enthusiastic response has been received from the students who

Association of Self-supporting Institutions Convention

In the opinion of many delegates who attended the recent ASI Convention at Portland, this western regional convention was one of the best sectional meetings thus far held. The messages brought by Drs. Mervyn Hardinge, Clifford Anderson, Laurence Senseman, Horace Orr and Elder A. L. Bietz were timely and very informative. A ring of certainty and confidence in the leadings of and through the Spirit of Prophecy seemed to keynote these presentations.

Helpful information was offered by Attorney Alvin Anderson, from San Jose, California, in the field of legal advice to the ASI members. Constructive suggestions in the area of public relations and insurance were also given by Verlyn Coleman and John McCarty.

An opportunity for an exchange of ideas was given to the delegates on Friday afternoon when the group divided into three workshops on nursing homes, senior citizens homes and health food industries.

One of the most interesting features of the Sabbath program was when the ASI members shared their experiences in soul winning. Among those who spoke was Dr. Charles Smith, from Provo, Utah, who pioneered the SDA work in that section of the state forty years ago.

The convention closed on Saturday night as seventy-five persons attended the fellowship banquet at Du Pays Restaurant. As delegates drove home on either that night or the next morning, they felt spiritually blessed and strengthened to carry on a stronger

Airatorium Lost In Storm

On Friday night, October 12, the evangelistic crusade in Everett was suddenly brought to a halt by the loss of the airatorium. As the meeting convened for the night, a hurried telephone call came to warn that a wind-storm of typhoon velocity was about to strike the area. The meeting was cut short so that the tent could be vacated, and everything made as secure as possible. About fifteen men were placed at posts of duty to do everything in their power to save the structure.

Before the people could all leave the storm had already struck, and the airatorium was in the throes of huge convulsions. The people were quite worried as they were ushered out, but there was no panic. We began to dismantle the picture screen and take down chairs so that we could lower the walls of the structure, but we were not able to do this for the storm was raging at the velocity of 82 knots or 102 miles per hour. It seemed like the demons of hell were venting their fury on us. The walls of the tent were cracking like a whip. Those standing next to the walls were constantly knocked from their feet.

After the storm had raged for two hours the anchors that held the structure down were beginning to pull up. To remedy this situation we ran cars on top of the edges to hold it down. Finally the lights went out for a period of two minutes, and the structure began to go down. When the power came on again the pressure built up slowly, but the storm seemed to increase in fury. Before the pressure could build up sufficiently a tremendous gust of wind whipped it from one end to the other with a crack that sounded like a gun shot. When this happened a seam split from end to end, sending the structure to its destruction.

To indicate the force of the wind, one of the ten-foot-long pipes that held the airatorium down was hurled 200 feet through the air and dug a hole clear through the roof of a grocery store. One of the double door sections of the tent was torn loose and hurled against a large electric light pole knocking it to the ground.

We can be thankful that no one was injured in this melee of destruction.

The rest of us on the outside were fortunate to be on the opposite side when the pipes and doors were blown away. They were blown with such force that they could have killed anyone in the way.

Evangelistic Meetings in Kent

If you have friends or relatives living in the Kent, Renton, Auburn or South Seattle areas, please write or call them about the following announcement:

On Saturday night, October 27, Elder Roy R. Henneberg opened a series of evangelistic meetings in the former First Presbyterian Church on the corner of State and Gowe in Kent. The meetings will continue nightly except Monday for at least three weeks.

If you know of any former Seventh-day Adventists in these areas or those who may have attended our schools or come from Adventist homes, please urge them to attend the lectures. Your personal invitation will be the most economical and by far the most effective method. Then pray for the effort and that your friends and loved ones may attend.

IDAHO

Evangelism in Caldwell

On September 29 the Idaho Conference evangelistic team began a series of meetings in Caldwell. Dave Watts and Gary Patterson of the team are being assisted by Elders Harry and Harold Gray of the Caldwell district and Elder Ralph Martin of the Nampa district.

For the first time in the Idaho Conference an air tent is being used. It has attracted much attention in the city, even reaching to the Mayor's office. After looking the tent over he was so amazed that he brought the entire city council out to see it.

The opening night a capacity crowd packed into the tent to fill almost every available chair, as may be seen in the picture. Capacity for the tent is limited to 450 as that is all the available room for chairs. Only a few had to stand but all were well pleased.

Interest has been running high in the meetings, both in the church as well as in the community. Attendance has been very steady owing partly to the Bible marking plan being used. Many have not missed a night so far and a great portion of the audience has only missed a few nights.

People of many churches have expressed their interest in the meetings and there appears to be a good harvest in store. We solicit your interest and prayers for these meetings.

MONTANA

Western Montana District Festival

Sabbath, November 10, will be a high day for the members of the Missoula, Hamilton, Darby, Arlee and Ovando groups. A district meeting will be held in the Missoula church for all our believers in this area, with Sabbath School beginning at 9:30 and the preaching service at 11:00 a.m. For the noon hour there will be a pot-luck luncheon in the Missoula County High School on South Higgins Avenue. We will reassemble at three o'clock in the sanctuary of the Missoula church for a baptismal service. Then in the evening we will again go to the Missoula County High on South Higgins for a social evening with musical numbers and a splendid moving picture being featured. We are very happy that Elder and Mrs. Lewis Lyman of Seattle, with whom we spent 16 years in the evangelistic work, will be with us for the entire week end. They will assist in the music, not only on the Sabbath, but for our Friday and Sunday night meetings.

The film for Friday night, November 9, will be "Paul's Second Missionary Journey" and the evangelistic lecture on that night will be "Excuses for Sin." On Sunday night, November 11, a beautiful color film entitled "Facts of Faith" will be shown and the sermon for that evening will be "Can a Working man or a Business Man Keep the Seventh Day Sabbath?"

Let us all plan now to take advantage of this entire week end of good things as outlined above.

OREGON

Planning for Camp Meeting

Will there be a camp meeting of the Oregon Conference at Gladstone this summer? The answer is "Yes!"

Oregon is a logging country. We are engaging loggers to clear off the timbers for marketing. This will take about two or three weeks.

Then we are organizing volunteer crews to clean up the debris. Many of our faithful church members are calling the office constantly volunteering to serve on the clean-up crews. Word will soon be sent to the churches within reasonable distance from Gladstone, letting them know how they can help the Conference clean up the camp.

We want to take advantage of this disaster and make the rehabilitation of our campground an occasion for mutual spiritual revival and fellowship. Although we may be short several hundred housing units, we will be able to take care of as many people as we had on the grounds last summer. There will be fewer cabins, but if all the tents are occupied we will be able to house our usual crowd.

How thankful we are that the storm did not come during camp meeting! Fallen trees and broken boards can be replaced, but loss of life is permanent. God is wonderfully good to His people. Let us seek and discover the blessings that can come to all of us as the result of this windstorm.

So, let us plan for a good camp meeting this year. Let us unite our strength and efforts in building up the work of the Lord. God's blessings will surely come if we move forward with implicit trust in His leadership in our lives and under any and all circumstances.

Elder Patzer and Family

The Oregon Conference has recently been able to secure the services of Elder R. R. Patzer of the Alberta, Canada, Conference. Elder Patzer is now pastor of the Coos Bay district, comprised of the Coos Bay and Florence churches.

It is with real pleasure that we welcome Elder and Mrs. Patzer and their two sons, Roger and Ronald, to our family of Conference workers. As the accompanying picture indicates, there is music in the Patzer family.

The Patzers are not strangers in the Pacific Northwest. Elder Patzer is an alumnus of Walla Walla College and has worked in the Upper Columbia Conference, in Oklahoma, and other fields in the U.S.A. For the past five years he has done pastoral work in the Alberta Conference, in the Beiseker and Calgary churches.

The Lord has blessed Elder Patzer not only as pastor but as a pastor-evangelist. We are confident that his ministry will be richly blessed in the Oregon Conference. Mrs. Patzer is a faithful and valuable partner in the work of her husband. The two boys are students at Walla Walla College.

We pray that the Lord's rich blessings may rest upon the work of Elder Patzer and his family, and through them upon the churches of the Coos Bay district.

PUA Week of Prayer

Elder Archa Dart accepted an invitation from Portland Union Academy to be the guest speaker for the fall week of prayer, a week of "Spiritual Emphasis." Seniors led the prayer band activities that preceded each of Elder Dart's lectures.

Again and again students declared, "We have never before had a week of prayer like this." Mounting interest demonstrated itself throughout all the week, and the general enthusiasm further displayed itself by the attendance of many students at Elder Dart's evening meetings at the Sunnyside church.

The final opinion was, "We needed this week, and we will never forget it."

Kept Through the Storm

The Gamma Kappa outing for 1962 was not just another week end at Camp Westwind. At vespers time as the girls were singing—from memory, since there was little light—"over and over, like a mighty sea, comes the love of Jesus, rolling over me," the unprecedented wind, that was making froth of the sea, demonstrated further the smallness of man by crashing a panel of glass in the lodge door. After that the wind seemed to be dying. It was morning before the Westwind group realized that their sheltered cove had seen little wind activity compared with what their families in Portland and the surrounding area experienced as the hurricane moved east and north.

The evidence of God's care increased as more information reached the girls, worshipping in the comfort of the

Five-day Plan at Pendleton

The Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held in Pendleton the first week of October. Our doctors gave valuable assistance to John W. Boyd, Pendleton pastor, as the program was conducted.

Attendance of smokers at the clinic ran between 40 and 50 each evening. At the closing meeting seventeen held up their hands that they were through smoking and well on their way to establishing a no-smoking habit. All the others reported a large cut in their cigarette consumption, and a determination to follow the plan for complete victory. On the closing evening, one man expressed his appreciation by handing a $50 check to Elder J. N. Brown as he came to the therapy session.

Elder Brown acted as greeter and head usher for the series. Drs. John B. Easton, John de Romanett, and John Potts of Walla Walla, pointed out the physiological aspects of the habit, and offered suggested helps in diet and exercise to aid in breaking the smoking habit.

Walla Walla College

College Church Opening

Hundreds of visitors joined College Church members and Walla Walla College students, making a more than capacity audience for the memorable first worship service in the new College Church Sabbath, October 20.

Every aspect of the service—the dramatic processional led by musicians from Columbia Auditorium to the new church, the anthem by the combined choirs, the presentation of tithes and a special offering for the College Church building program, recognition of special gifts—was carefully planned to achieve the purpose and meaning of true worship.

Climaxing the morning's theme were the call to worship by Elder Paul C. Heubach, church pastor, and the sermon by Elder C. M. Bunker, president of the Upper Columbia Conference.

Elder Heubach spoke of the awe and wonder inspired by the upward look; the repentance and confession impelled by the inward look; and the dedication of heart and life to God's service for the outward look.

Elder Bunker indicated the real strength and beauty of the sanctuary as being in the membership, not in the physical building.

Other participants in the significant ceremonies included Dr. G. W. Bowers, Paul Hofer of Waitsburg gave the two flags, the American and the church symbols, inside the sanctuary. The Rogers School second graders and the Gerald Skidmore family gave the large communion table Bible, and the Theology Club the furniture for the pastor's study. Offering bags of original design were made by the Industrial Education Club.

It Is So Wonderful!

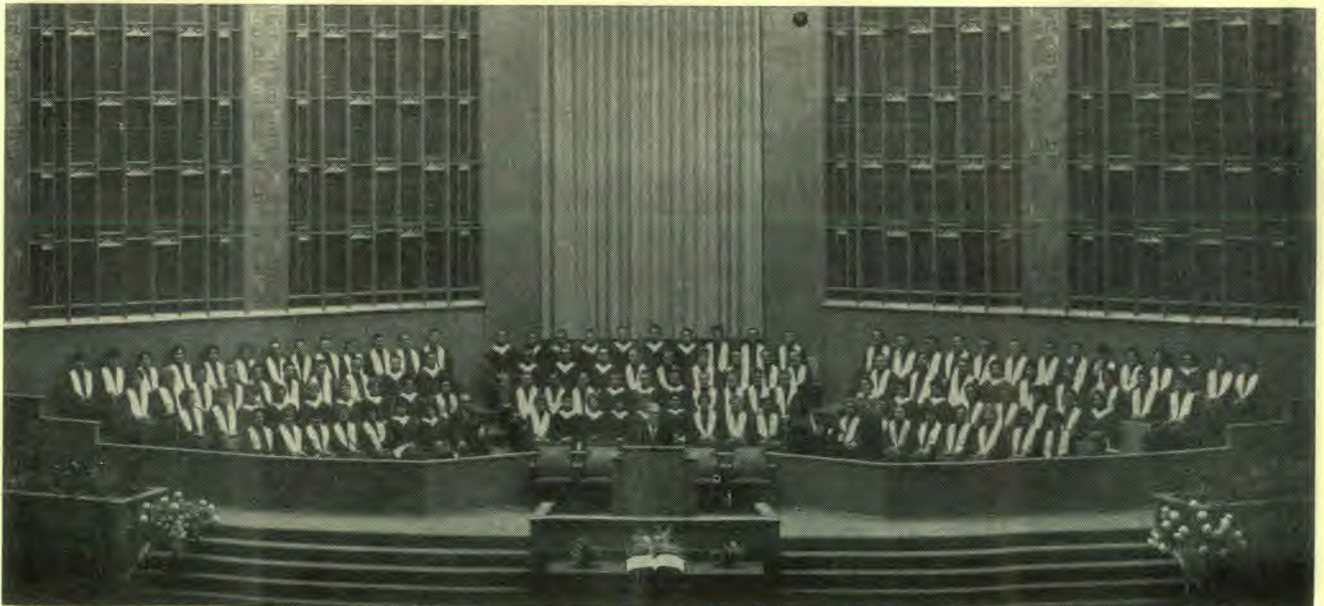

What Are You Doing to Help?

How thrilled we are when we see the Faith for Today program on our TV; or we listen to wonderful singing and messages of the Voice of Prophecy program over our radio, and realize that thousands of people all over the world are listening to the message or viewing the program!

One of the easiest things for an Adventist to do is to pull an easy chair up before the television or radio—tune in on either Faith for Today or the Voice of Prophecy—relax—drink in the wonderful message presented and be happy and proud that message is being presented by our church. We repeat, that is the easiest thing for us to do, but if that is all we are doing about it, we have failed in our responsibility.

One of the hardest things for an Adventist to do is to pull out a chair, sit down to a table or desk—get some paper, envelopes and a pen—and write

Elder Paul C. Heubach, pastor of the College Church, stands at the pulpit. The 130-voice choir directed by Melvin Davis, associate professor of music, with Dr. Melvin K. West, head of the department of music, provided music for the first service.

Organ grills of diamond mesh expanded metal in gold spray finish and four panels, hand-painted with symbols basic to Christianity, form the background for speaker and musicians. Using the basic symbol of the vine and the branches, the panels are topped by the Bible, the torch, the cross, and the tables of the moral law.

The baptistry in the center is screened by the gold curtain.
