PRESIDENT'S REPORT

NORTH PACIFIC UNION CONFERENCE ELEVENTH QUADRENNIAL SESSION - - FEBRUARY 11, 1963

Four years filled with vital import to the world and to the church have elapsed since last we met in Union Session here in the Stone Tower church. These swiftly passing years have brought to us a new realization that the angels are still holding the winds of strife, allowing the Remnant Church a little more time to complete its divinely appointed task, and for the church to make its final preparation for the coming of our Lord.

Within our Union there have been times of some disappointment with the work which we have accomplished, but there have been many occasions to bring joy and rejoicing to our hearts.

Before entering into some of the activities of this period, we would briefly mention changes that have affected our Union staff. Elder J. C. Kozel who served so loyally and efficiently for over a decade, accepted an invitation from the General Conference to join the Treasury staff in Washington, and left us shortly following the General Conference Session. We were happy to have Brother Luther Crooker, treasurer of the Upper Columbia Conference accept our invitation to fill this position in the union. Elder L. E. Biggs who served the Oregon Conference so efficiently over a period of years, accepted the Union invitation to become our Religious Liberty and Industrial Relations secretary, positions which he is so well qualified to fill. Oregon was fortunate in securing Elder H. L. Rudy, vice-president of the General Conference, with his broad experience, to become its president. During the increased tempo of the building program throughout our Union, a Church Development secretary was added to the staff. Elder R. C. Remboldt, pastor of the Tabernacle church in Oregon, was appointed to this position, and is giving strong leadership.

Elder A. L. Zumwalt who served faithfully for 13 years as superintendent of the Alaska Mission, has connected with the Oregon Conference as church auditor. Elder Joseph Hansen, pastor from the Oregon Conference, was appointed by the Union Committee to fill this vacancy, and is now serving in that capacity.

The following changes were made in Union personnel at the request of the men involved. Elder Don Spillman is now serving as pastor of the Missoula, Montana, church. Elder Lyman accepted a call to the Washington Conference, and is pastor of the Highland Park district.

Elder R. G. McGann, singing evangelist connected with the Harris-McGann-Dudley company, accepted a call as pastor of the Chehalis district in the Washington Conference, and Elder Dean Dudley as pastor of the Jerome district in the Idaho Conference. Brother C. Loren Purdey of the Wisconsin Conference has joined Elder Stanley Harris as singing evangelist, replacing Elder McGann.

These brethren have made a real contribution to our evangelistic work here in the Northwest. While they desired to change their line of work,

SUNDAY AND FAMILY DAY LEGISLATION

LLOYD E. BIGGS, Northwest Secretary
International Religious Liberty Association

We are glad the Sunday closing bills have been killed in Idaho and Montana, but bills are still pending in Washington and Oregon. All our people who have not done so should write to their State senators and representatives RIGHT NOW. If you have already written, perhaps you should do it again, with a different approach.

Committee hearings will be held on these bills in Olympia and Salem within a few days, and it will be most helpful if our friends in the legislature can be stirred by our protests. The Union Conference Session passed a strong resolution last week in Portland which will be helpful in giving you something to say to your senators and representatives.

SUNDAY AND FAMILY DAY LEGISLATION

WHEREAS, The Seventh-day Adventist Church attaches great significance to a day for sacred worship, believing wholeheartedly in the divine command,

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy . . . the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God;" and

WHEREAS, This church is unequivocally in favor of the preservation of the unity and sanctity of the family, believing that "the restoration and uplifting of humanity begins in the home;" and "the well-being of society, the success of the church, the prosperity of the nation, depend upon home influences;"

We, the delegates of the North Pacific Union Conference in quadrennial session assembled in Portland, Oregon, February 12, do hereby unitedly make the following declaration:

1. We are wholeheartedly in favor of and recommend to all a day of worship. But we are diametrically opposed to a specific day being selected by the legislature and imposed upon those whose conscientious convictions and religious choice is the observance of another day, or no day at all.

2. We believe in religious liberty and are opposed to any legislation designating a specific day of rest, believing such laws to tend toward the union of church and state, to be subversive of basic human rights, to be potentially persecuting in character and an attack upon the wall of separation of church and state erected by the Lord Jesus when He said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's."

3. We believe further that all Sunday laws are un-American, antiquated, and are not essential to a day of rest or the preservation of health.

4. While we concur in the general principles of majority rule in a democracy such as ours, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights make it very emphatic that the will of the majority may not be imposed on the minority in matters pertaining to the conscience and basic human rights, including religion.

5. These proposed Sunday laws lead to disrespect of all laws because of their glaring inconsistencies. For example, in the Oregon Bill a man may buy a horse but not a car; he could buy a boat but not a bed; a house but not a lawnmower. In other States, beer, whisky and cigarettes may be purchased, but a mother cannot buy milk or bread for her hungry family.

We are deeply concerned with the clauses in these Sunday laws which tend toward a police state. As in Communist countries, neighbors are encouraged to report on their fellow residents, and children could be led to spy on their parents.

6. We are deeply concerned with the preservation of the family, and desire to support and unite in every worthy effort for its preservation and betterment, but we do not believe that its "health and welfare" can be aided by legislation of this type.

7. We affirm our allegiance to our nation, believing that in the providence of God our beloved United States was selected to be the birthplace and home of the concept of true religious and civil liberty. We therefore take, with a solemn sense of responsibility, the torch of freedom lighted by the founders of our nation. We believe it is the divine blessing upon this way of life which has made our nation great, and we dedicate ourselves to keep this the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Loma Linda University Slates Activities for Dentists

LOMA LINDA—Loma Linda University School of Dentistry has announced a series of March activities open to its graduates and to other dentists.

Three continuing education courses have been scheduled for March 5 and 6, to be followed by the Third Annual Alumni-Student Convention. The convention, open without charge to non-alumni dentists, will feature seminars, lectures, exhibits, and table clinics competitions.

Students and alumni of the school, together with eligible students from the university Graduate School and the Dental Hygiene Curriculum, are reported to have registered over 80 entries in the table clinic competition. Entries are in five categories: basic science, clinic, research, dental hygiene, and hobbies.

The continuing education courses to be held prior to the convention are:

March 5—Precision Alignment for Intraoral Retention

March 5, 6—Practice Management and Successful Retirement

March 6—Dental Ceramics

Further information about the continuing education courses and the convention may be obtained by writing to the School of Dentistry, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California.

Seminary Field Work Boasts Strong Program

Sixty-six students attending the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary this semester are gaining extensive church leadership experience in serving twenty-two pastors in thirty-four surrounding churches, according to Elder E. C. Banks, Field Work program co-ordinator and Acting Head of Andrews University's Applied Theology Department.

Serving churches within a one hundred mile radius, Seminary students participate in varied church activities of the Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois Conferences. Primarily stressing on-the-spot training for future ministers, the program also provides the benefit of classroom guidance once each week when students assemble to discuss actual situations and the corresponding role of ministry.

Because of the students' heavy study loads as well as the distance factor, ministers involved gear church activities to the week end, allowing the student to better gain wide experience in ministerial duties. Weekday participation is encouraged for special activities as evangelistic efforts and In-gathering.

During the months of September through December at least ten class members have had occasion to take part in Michigan evangelistic campaigns. Meetings have been held in Coldwater under the direction of Elder Roger Holley, Ohio Conference evangelist. Elder Bruce Johnston, Assistant Professor of Homiletics, has recently completed a Hartford campaign. Five further series are planned in the immediate future.

University officials observe that the location of the institution is particularly advantageous for conducting a strong program of this type, as the abundance of church districts in the area offers opportunity for considerable practical training.

"It is the purpose of our program," commented Elder Banks, "to combine practical experience with classroom theory. We feel that in this way the student receives a balanced perspective of the ministry while at the Seminary, thus enabling him to more effectively serve God and man."

LLU Alumni Postgraduate Convention

The problems which the Seventh-day Adventist Church must solve as it faces the wider challenges of responsibilities in the mid-sixties will be discussed by a group of the denomination's theologians on Friday night, March 1, at the White Memorial Church, Los Angeles.

This is the opening program of the Thirty-first annual Alumni Postgraduate Convention, sponsored by the Alumni Association of the Loma Linda University School of Medicine. Scientific meetings will extend through March 9.

With the topic, "Whither the Church," five outstanding members of the faculties of the two universities—Andrews and Loma Linda—will review certain significant aspects of the history of the Seventh-day Adventist Movement and will take a frank look at the serious issues facing the Church after nearly a century and quarter of growth. Particular attention will be given to the role of the Church's educational centers—medical and others—in assisting the Church to achieve its goal. In the light of recent decisions affecting the future of the medical school, the evening's discussion should be stimulating and informative and highly relevant.

Religion teachers participating include three from Loma Linda University, Dr. Jack W. Provonsha, Professor A. Graham Maxwell, and David H. Cotton, and two from Andrews, Professors Edward Heppenstall and Earle Hilgert.

Summer Institutes On Alcoholism

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—"Alcoholism costs the nation more than the entire budget for the Defense Department," an expert in the field stated today.

Dr. Winton H. Beaven, associate director of the National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism, said the nation's alcoholism bill probably runs a good $50 billion a year. Currently, we are spending about $49 billion on defense, he said.

In announcing the Committee's two summer institutes on alcoholism, Dr. Beaven supported his statement by noting that some of the primary costs include absenteeism, accidents in industry, traffic accidents, the jailing of alcoholics, and the support of their families. "I admit my statement is a guessimate," he said, "but I'll be happy to back it up."

Dr. Beaven announced that the West Coast Institute will be held at Loma Linda University near Los Angeles, California, from July 8-19. The East Coast Institute will be conducted at American University, Washington, D.C., from July 29 to August 9. "There are at least eight million alcoholics and pre-alcoholics in the nation, and it is to combat this national affliction that we hold these institutes," he stated.

"If we do not do something to halt the alcoholism epidemic which now affects almost half the U.S. population, we soon will be overwhelmed by these problems in our society," he stated. "We claim to be living in the space age, actually we are still in the Dark Ages as far as solving alcohol problems is concerned."

He said the purpose of the institutes is to provide educational measures that can check the rising tide of alcoholism. "Only about 1 per cent of all alcoholics are being helped at this time," he stated.

"Smoke Signals" Published Monthly

Smoke Signals, the colorful, four-page quarterly that tells why tobacco kills, has now become a monthly.

So says W. A. Scharffenberg, executive secretary of the American Temperance Society. "This four-page creation was geared to inform the laymen in an easy-to-read style the scientific and medical proof of why tobacco kills," he stated. "And now because of additional need for information in this area, we will publish Smoke Signals in 1963 as a monthly."

He noted that Smoke Signals has been published for nearly a decade and has reached upwards of 100,000 people during that time. Thus, subscribers who formerly received this publication as a quarterly, now can secure three times as much information.

"Untold numbers of smokers who have read Smoke Signals have been inspired to give up their smoking habit," he declared. "For example, Alvin C. Jones of Grand Rapids, Michigan, recently wrote that he gave an issue of Smoke Signals to two men where he works.

"One man in his early forties has nine children. The other man in his twenties has six children. After reading this particular issue, both immediately quit their habits and they are still abstaining.

"Perhaps the greatest achievement of all comes when a teen-ager or a pre-teen-ager reads the facts in this publication and decides never to start smoking," said Scharffenberg. "Perhaps it was a copy that you gave to him or a $1.00 subscription that you sent to his family. Whatever the case, we are pleased that Smoke Signals is now a monthly and we trust that our people will make ever greater use of this publication with a purpose."

New Faith for Today Logs Available

Faith for Today is happy to announce that the latest revised logs are now available for use by our people in their missionary activities.

The revised logs are pocket-size and carry the complete listing of the television stations currently carrying Faith for Today. Since changes occur frequently, logs become out-dated very quickly. We therefore suggest that your request be only for immediate needs to avoid the possibility of your supply becoming obsolete while you have them.

We want to thank the GLEANER readers for cooperating with us in getting the latest information on station schedules in local areas. As indicated in an earlier GLEANER article, the office of Station Relations had not yet received from all television stations the latest time of the telecast.

Receiving up-to-date information on station schedules is a continuing problem and many times our most accurate information is from our viewers in the station areas. Whenever changes occur, or logs reflect inaccurate schedules, please advise the Station Relations office of Faith for Today as soon as possible.

For these latest information logs, please write to Ernest N. Wendth, Director of Station Relations at Faith for Today, 108-43 71st Avenue, Forest Hills 75, New York.

UNION PRESIDENT'S REPORT

we are happy that they are still with us in the North Pacific Union.

While these years are not all that any of us would desire, yet, under God's blessing, the work throughout the Union shows progress. Whatever success has come must be credited to a consecrated and loyal people led and directed by faithful, efficient and dedicated conference administrators, departmental secretaries, pastors, evangelists, office, educational, literature and institutional workers. As a Union staff we have endeavored to do our best with you to make these achievements possible. The detailed reports covering the activities for the period under consideration will be presented by the Union Conference treasurer and the respective departmental secretaries. Also, our conference presidents will each bring to us a brief report of the activities in their respective fields. I shall only touch upon a few highlights without alluding to individuals, as this report must of necessity be too short to give credit to the many deserving persons.

With the goal in mind of a 40,000 membership by December 1962, we are happy to report that we have passed the 41,000 mark. In fact, 41,101. Words cannot express our pleasure at this increase in church membership. For the first time we have passed the 8,000 mark for those received by baptism and profession of faith during a like period. The number for the four years stands at 8,662. Four years ago we were just six under the 8,000 mark.

Our hearts have been made heavy by the 3,227 listed as apostatized or missing. Surely we must put forth every effort to reclaim these dear people, and to keep others from following in the same tragic path.

Sadness crosses our path as we think of the 1,851 who have fallen asleep in death. Our hearts go out in sympathy to those who mourn. Among those passing away during this time who have been among our fully employed denominational workers, we would mention Brother J. W. Argraves, superintendent of the Oregon camp grounds; Brother Wallace Konzack, English professor at Laurelwood Academy; Mrs. David E. Van Dyke and young child who were so tragically burned at Laurelwood Academy recently; and just a few days ago, Elder B. E. Evans, one of our younger ministers in the Oregon Conference. We were also saddened by the passing of Mrs. L. E. Biggs. From among the retired list who were on sustentation are Elder Clarence Purdom, Elder and Mrs. C. S. Joyce, Miss Rosamund D. Ginther, Miss Edith Starbuck, Miss Anna Pierce and Miss Pearl Stafford. These with others from the same group await the reward of the Life-giver.

Among the indications of progress during this four-year period, we would mention that for the first time shortly after school opened this fall, we passed the 10,000 enrollment covering the elementary, secondary and college levels. The college has broken the barrier and passed the 1,500 enrollment mark. Perhaps this is the proper place to mention that as the result of careful operation on the part of the college, added to the liberal support of the local conferences in supporting the college building program, the net worth of Walla Walla College as of December 31, 1962, was $5,020,196.89, as compared with the net worth 8 years ago of $2,654,043.52.

Another very important institution in the North Pacific Union is the Harris Pine Mills under the management of C. J. Nagele. While it is a General Conference institution, Harris Pine Mills is making a strong contribution to our educational work through its plants located in the various parts of the nation. The year 1962 has been the best year in its history.

Another first, not only in the history of this union, but of any union conference was reached when we passed the 50 cents per week per member in Sabbath School offerings. In 1962 the per capita was 50.7 cents. Incidentally, if all the fields in North America had done as well, there would have been $1,500,000 additional funds reaching the General Conference Treasury for missions in that year.

A real interest in our young people is indicated by the large number of Master Guides invested at the Youth Congress here in Portland's Memorial Coliseum last April—1,408—a number larger than the total invested in 1959 and '60 in all of North America! During these four years, one person in every 28 of our entire Union membership was invested as a Master Guide!

Our colporteur sales for the first time in a quadrennial period have reached $1,901,455.99. Only eternity will reveal the fruitage of these truth-filled books placed in the homes of the people, and of the godly impression made by the men and women who placed them there. It is interesting to note that our book and Bible house sales totaled $3,753,417, or a gain of over $400,000 compared with the former quadrennium.

Another very interesting picture emerges as we look at our building program as revealed by reports sent in by our conference presidents and secretary-treasurers. Fifty church buildings have either been newly built, or completely remodeled with a seating capacity of 15,515, which amounts to approximately three-eighths of our total union membership. These church buildings represent a value of $4,393,000.

In the church school field, 43 church schools have added 131 new rooms. Several of these are completely new school plants. They are valued at $2,127,750. Our boarding academies during this same period have increased their value by way of new buildings to the extent of $2,712,245. This gives us a total building program in church buildings, elementary and secondary schools, independent of the college, of $9,232,995.

Our faithful members have returned to the Lord in tithes $21,060,731, or 4½ million more than during the years 1955 to '58. In addition to this, $5,679,696.06 was provided in foreign mission funds, an increase of 12 per cent.

Many other encouraging reports will come to this session from departmental activities which have not been mentioned in this report. For all that has been accomplished we would again express our appreciation to you and to our people, and especially to our God. While the conditions in the world continue to hold the hearts of men in fear and uncertainty, it is our privilege to face the future with confidence, knowing that the stage is set for us to press on not only here in our own Union, but in all the world to greater achievements in the Cause of God, and to look forward shortly to a certain triumph when He shall come whose right it is to reign.

From this vale of mingled joys, tears and sorrows, we would take hope in our Saviour's promise found in that last chapter of holy writ, "Surely I come quickly." And with John we would ardently respond, "Even so come, Lord Jesus." "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen."—Rev. 22:20, 21.

Weddings

On January 19 Elaine Whitlow became the bride of Harold Jackson Rainwater. The wedding was held in the home of Elder H. A. Peckham. May the Lord bless this new Christian home that it may witness to our Lord. Brother and Sister Rainwater will live in Salem where he is employed.

Never Before

Never before in the history of the Idaho Conference have Seventh-day Adventists had such wide up-to-date temperance potential. Through the American Temperance Society we have billboards, literature distribution, Listen magazine, temperance contests, and the Five-day Smoking Plan to help us render good service to our fellow men.

On February 23 an offering will be given in all churches throughout the Idaho Conference for every Seventh-day Adventist to commit themselves to become members of the American

How happy I am not only to be a member of this organization but to share in its leadership. It appeals to me that every person who calls himself a Seventh-day Adventist should not only want to become a member of the American Temperance Society, but that he does become a member. Sabbath, February 23, affords that opportunity to each one of us.

Camp Mivoden Summer Camp Dates

Plans are being made for our 1963 summer camps, July 7 to August 4. The camping season will open with our teenage boys and will close with the teenage girls on August 4.

Capable instructors in MV Honors are being recruited for the staff. Spiritual leaders, who love to work with young people are being lined up for counselors, camp councils and for campfire programs.

Two surprise personalities that are real favorites of junior and teen youth are coming. Watch for their pictures on our camp folder.

Prospective camper, it is not too early to start a camper bank. Launch a money raising project now—possibly you wish to sell Life and Health magazines. If so, contact Elder W. G. Wallace and Brother R. G. Dutro for canvasses and magazines.

Young people need a summer camp experience. It is a unique experience in group living, outdoor adventure and in spiritual fellowship. Plan your summer now to assure your children the wholesome benefits of this summer at Camp Mivoden.

Teach Me How, Lord

We have pictured for you this week a fine young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clayton, of Yakima. Bob has been a literature evangelist for about a year. He greatly enjoys contacting people, praying with them and placing the literature in the homes.

Just recently Bob contacted a minister, who is an overseer of a large church group, such as we would call a Conference. After looking over the Bible Stories and commenting on them, he was asked if he would write a letter of recommendation on the Bible Stories. He gladly said that he would. The letter was written on his office letterhead and his name signed to it.

A letter of this type can be a great help to the literature evangelist when it is approved by the one of authority. It can be carried to the homes of the members of this church group and told that their leader approves of this good literature. In this manner, many volumes can be placed in the homes.

Bob and his wife love the work and their prayers are, "Lord, lead me and teach me how to be a better soul winner for Thee."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clayton

We extend to you an invitation to join with Bob in winning souls through the printed page. Your prayers for the literature evangelists will be appreciated.

Juniors Frolic in Snow as Reward for Investment Work

On the morning of Sunday, December 9, a group of over 40 juniors and their leaders gathered at the Walla Walla College Academy's mountain lodge for a much-awaited snow party. The snow party was given as a reward for all juniors of the Walla Walla College Church junior Sabbath School division who had reached their goal of five dollars for Investment for last quarter.

Activities at the snow party included outdoor games, sledding, saucering, and many other interesting events. Highlight of the day's activities was a track and trail event led by assistant Investment leader Mr. John Wenger, a student of Walla Walla College. Four different groups were taken on a 45-minute hike in the snowy woods, with instructions to look for specific objects of nature.

Climaxing the day's events, the writer led in a period of singing, stories, and instrumental music by a crackling fire in the lodge fireplace.

The Investment program, which was begun in late October of this last year, has had heart-warming results. The group of almost 100 enthusiastic juniors has raised thus far over $300 for Investment. A picture of a mountain scene was used for a goal device, and whenever a junior reached his goal, his picture was placed upon the goal device. (See cut)

We give thanks to the Lord for the way He has blessed our program thus far, and we anticipate greater blessings as we lay our plans for the coming year.

Union College Alumni Meet in College Place

On Tuesday, February 5, the Upper Columbia Charter of the Union College Alumni Association met in Kellogg Hall on the campus of Walla Walla College at 6 p.m. The fifty-five people present heard of the progress and the future plans of Union College from D. J. Bieber, president of the College, and J. C. Turner, field representative of the Alumni Association. A film was shown of the history of the college which brought vivid memories of college days as scenes of former classmates and faculty were shown.

Most of the Alumni present were from the Walla Walla Valley, however some came from Pendleton, Moses Lake and Upper Columbia Academy. Elder C. A. Renschler, vice-president of the Chapter, presided over the meeting.

The next meeting will be held during the camp meeting period in June at Walla Walla College. Alumni, former students, faculty and staff members of Union College are urged to attend at that time. Watch for a June announcement in the GLEANER for time and place.

WASHINGTON

Doctor David Glenn Speaks At Spruce Street Church MV Society

Brother John Hunter, MV leader for Spruce Street MV, had as guest speaker Sabbath afternoon, February 2, Dr. David Glenn of Vaughn, Washington.

Dr. Glenn's topic was on disease. Reading from the Spirit of Prophecy, he said, "Disease is an effort of nature to free the system from conditions that result from the violations of the laws of health."

Transgression of the "Physical Law" is transgression of the "Moral Law." And physical law is equal to moral law—there is no difference.

Remove the cause and you will not need to take the cure, such as tranquilizers or pills. Dr. Glenn stated that "penicillin gets rid of the bacteria, tranquilizers remove the anxiety, but not the basic cause of disease."

"Disease is 'dis-ease,' meaning uncomfortable. Sin brings guilt, guilt brings fear; fear brings tension, tension brings pain, pain indicates disease, and disease brings death."

The society was then challenged by Dr. Glenn to be obedient to God's Word and the Spirit of Prophecy, and, in doing so, you will know no defeat.

Appropriate remarks were then made by the pastor of the Spruce Street church, Elder Crowder.

Outdoor Club Purchases Airplane

The Washington Conference Outdoor Club has recently expanded its field of activities by forming a flying section of the Club and purchasing a training plane for the purpose of teaching the skills involved in flying. At the present time ten individuals are charter members of the flying section, with others interested. When a second group of ten have made their interest known we will buy a second airplane.

At present it costs a total of two hundred dollars for a share in the airplane. The cost of flying it is three dollars per hour, which includes gasoline and oil.

All of this has been made possible through the generous work of Jay Urue of the Mountlake Outdoor Club, who through his interest in both flying and Adventist youth has been the guiding influence in the whole operation and is at the present time conducting the ground school. Our ground school is being held on Tuesday of each week and will continue for another month or two. Any one interested in sitting in on the lectures may

The Walla Walla College Chorale will present an all-music program the opening night of the series. The following night, Saturday, February 23, George Knowles will speak on the subject, "Life, Death, Suffering, . . . What's It All About?" The meetings will continue at 7:15 nightly through March 17 in the Springfield Seventh-day Adventist church on the corner of 12th and "O" streets.

Elder R. E. Sneed is the host pastor for this series of meetings conducted by the Knowles-Matula-Updegrave evangelistic team. If you have a special burden to see someone in the area attend, try to come and bring that person with you to the opening sermon on Saturday evening. You are urged to send the names of those who have had previous contact with our message as well as the names of all former members regardless of their present attitude to:

Obituaries

Fredericks—Haakon A. Fredericks was born in Norway May 25, 1878, and fell asleep in Christ in Seattle, Wash., Dec. 2, 1962. In 1928, he and Mrs. Fredericks attended the meetings conducted by Evangelist Charles T. Everson. He was later baptized by Pastor Hulse in 1929. He was for many years active as a deacon of the Green Lake church, and was especially active in visiting the elderly and the shut-in. He was laid to rest on Dec. 6, 1962, to wait the call of the Life-giver. He is survived by his wife, Alma.

Taylor—Jessie Gertrude Taylor was born July 12, 1878 in New York and passed away Dec. 15, 1962 in Portland, Ore. She had been for many years a faithful member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and an institutional worker at the Portland Sanitarium and Hospital for many years prior to her long illness. She leaves to cherish her memory: two sons, Thural L. Brooks of Portland, Ore. and Wallace J. Brooks; and two grandchildren.

McGhee—Lewis D. McGhee of Union, Wash., was born in South Dakota, Dec. 19, 1892, and passed away in Shelton, Wash., Dec. 12, 1962. Brother McGhee and family spent some years doing mission work in Alaska. He also taught in a mission school in South Dakota. His three sons have served terms in foreign mission work. Among those who cherish his memory are his faithful wife; three sons: William, Edwin and Louis; two daughters: Mrs. Orabell Avey of Shelton, and Mrs. Mildred Munroe of College Place, Wash.; two brothers: Leslie and William of Belfair, Wash.; 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. He was laid to rest at in Shelton, awaiting the call of the Life-giver.

Walla Walla College

Band Concerts in Oregon

On its winter concert tour the Walla Walla College Concert Band will present five concerts in the Oregon Conference February 28 to March 2, says Professor H. Lloyd Leno, conductor.

Three secular concerts are scheduled: Thursday evening, 8 o'clock, Hood River High School auditorium; Friday morning, 10:25, Laurelwood Academy chapel; Saturday evening, 8 o'clock, Madison High School auditorium, 2735 NE. 82nd Avenue, Portland.

These concerts will feature the 49-member ensemble in selections from traditional to contemporary. The smaller wind ensemble will also perform.

Sacred concerts by the group are scheduled at Springfield Seventh-day Adventist church, 12th and O Streets, Friday evening, 8 o'clock; and for the Vancouver, Washington, Seventh-day Adventist church, 1207 East Reserve, Sabbath afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Highlight of the sacred concert will be the presentation of excerpts from the "Manzoni Requiem" by Verdi. Other numbers are by Bach, Franck, and Leiden.

Mr. Leno holds the M.A. degree in music and music education with emphasis on conducting from Columbia University Teacher's College. During recent summers he has studied toward the doctorate degree in brass pedagogy at Indiana University.

Narrator for the concert tour is Joseph N. Barnes, assistant professor of religion; tour manager is Dr. Melvin K. West, professor of music. Student director is Robert Kearbey, senior music major.

A cordial invitation to attend is extended to those within driving distance of each of the scheduled concerts.

ATS Chapter Members Speak in Portland

Officers of the Walla Walla College chapter of the American Temperance Society presented a program in Portland's Stone Tower Church Friday evening, February 8, under the sponsorship of the Portland Associated MV Society. Hosts were Max Staley, AMV leader, and James Grisham, Stone Tower assistant pastor.

Termining books in temperance, diet and health, and the Listen magazine as "The Unused Key," the WWC youth temperance team emphasized their importance in sermon and symposium.

The ATS group urges the order of the following through the local church secretary: Temperance, Counsels on Diet and Health, Ministry of Healing, and the Listen magazine.

Participants were Bill Rhodes, Holbrook, Arizona, president; Doug Cooper, Dillingham, Alaska, Frank Bondonno, San Francisco, vice presidents; Larry Huston, Grand Junction, Colorado; and Fekede Gemechu, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

A film secured through the General Conference Temperance Department concluded the union service.

The college students also spoke in Portland area churches at Sabbath School and worship service hours and at an afternoon MV service.

OREGON

Smoking Clinic

The second Stop Smoking Clinic has been termed very successful by the sponsoring Eugene Seventh-day Adventist church. The clinic featured a "Five Day Plan for Smokers Who Have the Habit." Among those who took the course was a prominent attorney, a county planning consultant, two police officials, and two University of Oregon students who were on class assignment.

The first clinic was held in October, 1962. After being termed successful the second clinic was held in January. During the first clinic over fifty-five persons attended, and twenty-seven signed a decision card to refrain from further smoking. Some reported they had smoked for forty years, and one man said that he had smoked for forty-five years.

Over fifty persons attended the second course, and some twenty-five signed the pledge cards. The courses were held at the Eugene Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. building. There was no charge for the course, but persons offered to contribute. The collections totaled over half the expenses incurred.

The course was offered as a public service by the Eugene Seventh-day Adventist church. Prominent Eugene physician Dr. Alexander Dederer presented the scientific basis of the course. Elder Adam Rudy acted as counselor and presented the physiological side of the course.

The clinic was organized and managed by Dr. B. D. Bond, who is a Eugene optometrist. The well known Seventh-day Adventist doctor is also prominent in the local Cancer Crusade and is an official in the March of Dimes campaign.

Miss Helen Ritchey and Miss Martha Dederer acted as hostesses, and welcomed those attending.

Springfield Effort Begins

If you live in the Eugene-Springfield-Cottage Grove-Junction City area, plan to bring your interested friends and neighbors to the new series of meetings to begin in Springfield on February 22. Interests which develop outside of Springfield will be referred to the local pastors and churches in their area for studies and follow-up. This short decision series will benefit all the churches in the area which support it.
