

NORTH PACIFIC UNION LAY CONGRESS REPORT

The first union-wide Lay Congress was conducted July 24-27, 1963, by the North Pacific Union Conference at the Gladstone, Oregon, campground. Nearly 3,000 laymen were present at the climax meetings of the congress on the Sabbath.

The congress began with approximately one thousand people on the opening night singing the theme song, "This is the time; God's truth sublime must go with power." The keynote address was delivered by Elder J. Ernest Edwards, of the General Conference, calling for a mighty missionary advance to finish God's work.

D. E. CASLOW Home Missionary Secretary

Delegates came from our churches in Alaska, the Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Upper Columbia, and Washington conferences, and Alberta, Canada. Our denominational leaders were impressed with the hundreds of laymen who came with a real sense of urgency and a spirit of deep devotion to God. The lay workers came with hearts on fire to discover the how of more effective personal evangelism.

Three practical workshops were conducted in the main avenues of lay soulwinning. The Literature Visitation workshop was conducted by Elder A. A. Esteb and representatives of the publishing houses to teach the various ways of approaching people. The Health and Welfare workshop was conducted by Elder C. E. Guenther and Dr. and Mrs. T. K. Campbell to outline pointers to a more efficient welfare ministry. The Bible Evangelism workshop was conducted by Elder V. W. Schoen to impart the art of teaching others the precious Bible truths.

Special classes were taught: (1) "Decision—How to lead a soul to Christ" by Elder G. E. Knowles, and (2) "Integrat-

Highlight of the congress was the Sabbath afternoon Anniversary Trophy Hour. Laymen in the North Pacific Union annually report having part in winning one thousand souls. Choice experiences and the converts won to Christ were presented in a panorama of minister and laymen co-ordinated evangelism.

The final meeting of the congress was a challenge and commitment service. Elder R. S. Watts, of the General Conference, in a heart-gripping appeal called for the laymen to take their Bibles and go forth to warn the world, to be God's helping hands in saving souls. As an act of dedication the entire delegation stood and raised their Bibles in response.

In a very special September-October "Listen," Secretary Udall appears on the cover and is the subject of an exclusive "Listen" interview by the editors. A special article by W. A. Fagal of Faith for Today also appears in this issue.

Nutrition in Action

The Department of Home Economics at Walla Walla College is privileged to make its facilities available for the Lay-Nutrition Instructor Course to be held September 9-12. Announcement was made in last week's GLEANER that Dr. Mervyn Hardinge of Loma Linda University will be guest lecturer in nutrition.

In addition several Walla Walla College staff members will bring excellent help in their respective fields; namely, Professor Joseph N. Barnes, assistant professor of religion, Mrs. Carl T. Jones, assistant professor of health education, and Dr. John Potts, college physician. Several experienced homenutrition instructors will be leading out in the demonstrations for the fourday session. These include Mrs. N. R. Dower of Seattle, Mrs. Lyman Shaw of Pocatello, and Mrs. C. J. Ritchie of Portland. This is only a partial list of the people who will be participating in the program, the theme of which is "Nutrition in Action."

It is designed that the program will provide an informative course in the principles of nutrition and give each (Continued on page 3)

The Week-day Kindergarten No. 5

To some, formal schooling (reading, writing, figuring) and education mean one and the same thing. Naturally they are confused when they are instructed to let children be as "free as lambs" and at the same time they are told to "train them from the cradle." But when we examine what is to be taught the small child and how, as outlined in the Spirit of Prophecy, there is no confusion, no conflict at all. We have a perfect description of the scope of the kindergarten. And what is a kindergarten? Is it the first grade simplified? No, not at all. Webster's Student Dictionary says: "Kindergarten, a school for young children in which their normal aptitude for exercise, play, observation, etc., is cultivated." The course of study for small children as outlined in the preceding articles taken from the Spirit of Prophecy is the plan for the kindergarten.

The child's need of this type of training is just as great whether he receives it or not. His parents may be alive or dead, they may be trained in the art of teaching or untrained, they may be teaching him themselves or not, yet the fact remains that every child needs the training offered in the kindergarten. The brilliant, the slow to learn, the nervous, the calm, the well-adjusted and the anti-social will be greatly benefited in his own individual way when God's plan is followed in the kindergarten program.

"It is during the first years of a child's life that his mind is most susceptible to impressions either good or evil. During these years decided progress is made in either a right direction or a wrong one. On one hand, much worthless information may be gained; on the other, much solid, valuable knowledge. The strength of intellect, the substantial knowledge, are possessions which the gold of Ophir could not buy. Their price is above gold or silver." C. G., p. 193.

"Many children are left to grow up untaught, unrestrained. Parents should now do everything in their power to redeem their neglect and place their children where they will be under the very best influence." C. G., pp. 66, 67.

"If these first lessons have been defective, as they very often are, for Christ's sake, for the sake of your children's future and eternal good, seek to repair the wrong you have done. If you have waited until your children were three years old to begin to teach them self-control and obedience, seek to do it now, even though it will be much harder." C. G., p. 194.

CHILD GUIDANCE

Children like to express themselves by drawing, coloring, finger painting, etc.

The kindergarten offers many ways for the child to express himself.

Should | Date This Summer?

Question: How old should one be before he starts dating?

Answer: A person is old enough to date when he is old enough

- To take the responsibility of dating. He knows whom to date, how to ask, where to go, what to do, when to go home.
- 2. To see the need of a chaperon. One who scoffs at standards and ridicules etiquette is too young to enjoy the benefits of dating.
- 3. To contribute something worthwhile to make the date a delightful, profitable occasion. Vagrants have nothing to offer, nothing to do, no place to go, and nothing worthwhile to say.
- To appreciate the better things of life—culture, refinement, learning.

MOTHER

"The mother's work often seems to her an unimportant service. It is a work that is rarely appreciated. Others know little of her many cares and burdens. Her days are occupied with a round of little duties, all calling for patient effort, for self-control, for tact. wisdom, and self-sacrificing love; yet she cannot boast of what she has done as any great achievement. She has only kept things in the home running smoothly; often weary and perplexed, she has tried to speak kindly to children, to keep them busy and happy, and to guide the little feet in the right path. She feels that she has accomplished nothing. But it is not so. Heavenly angels watch the care-worn mother, noting the burdens she carries day by day. Her name may not have been heard in the world, but it is written in the Lamb's book of life." M.H., 376, 377.

FATHER

"The father represents the divine Lawgiver in his family. He is a laborer together with God, carrying out the gracious designs of God and establishing in his children upright principles, enabling them to form pure and virtuous characters, because he has preoccupied the soul with that which will enable his children to render obedience not only to their earthly parent but also to their heavenly Father." A.H., 212.

participant many worthwhile suggestions for conducting schools in the local churches and communities. Time has been allotted for practical experience in food demonstration techniques. There has probably never been a time when so much interest has been shown in physical fitness and nutrition as there is today in both our church and among the general public. Certainly each church is to become a training center for classes in the art and science of healthful cooking.

We are asking all delegates to arrive on the college campus Sunday, September 8, by 5 p.m. Registration hours will be 4:30-6:00 p.m. in the Reception Room of Kellogg Hall. A light buffet supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the Alaskan Room. Each delegate should be present for this opening event.

We urge you to consider this opportunity to prepare for this important work of serving others. If you have not made application to take the course, please fill out the accompanying application form and send it in immediately to your local conference president. You will be notified concerning acceptance the first part of September.

Milo Academy Makes Advances

Industrial Training: During the past several months, Milo Academy has initiated a full, four-year sequence of training for the hands of young men. Adventist educational Seventh-day philosophy includes the preparation of the life in useful physical labor as well as the mental powers in the scholastic pursuits. A student can now enroll in Milo Academy as a freshman and take a different vocational training every year until graduation. Current offerings include auto mechanics, welding and metals, woodworking and mechanical drawing, and graphic arts, which is printing.

New Commercial Greenhouse and Nursery: In addition to the above mentioned vocational offerings, Milo Academy has recently been able to buy out the $200,000 gross per year "Mitts Nursery" from Loma Linda, California. Brother Jake Mittleider will join the staff at Milo and we expect to have the greenhouses erected on the campus within six weeks. This gives Milo its first major commercial industry. In the present planning, we are aiming at the delivery of a $40,000 crop by June 1, 1964. Brother Mittleider is skilled in the field of horticulture and plant hybridization. Milo has purchased ownership of eight patent rights to plants developed by Mr. Mittleider. Labor needs within the industry will equal, in student labor, what would be the equivalent of 7 to 9 full-time adult employees. We are thankful for this new industry, and pray that the Lord will guide it successfully for the best training of those youth who will seek employment.

The accompanying pictures show the interior of the greenhouses being erected. Over-all planning includes a meticulous effort in soil sanitation which avoids danger of plant diseases. Those who work in this industry will discover almost unlimited inspiration in the first-hand study of plant development under the experienced direction of Mr. Jake Mittleider.

Mature young people looking for all winter work, or those whose future aspirations involve any type of growing from the soil, are invited to write to Milo Academy, Box 278, Milo, Oregon, and make application.

Science and Home Economics Areas: During the summer months, Mr. Lawrence Claridge and his workers have made excellent progress on the entire south end of the lower floor in our new administration building. Practically completed are the new biology room and the adjoining herbarium, the physics room, the spacious home economics department, and the chemistry laboratory, which will be moved from the previous temporary locations. Mr. Larry Ilchuck, the new chemistry and physics instructor, has many plans and creative ideas to implement the science field. He brings a freshness from recent study of science to match the well-planned facility soon to be ready at Milo Academy.

Enrollment: The enrollment for the school year 1963-64 is somewhat ahead of what it was at this same time last year. The opening of the large boarding academy in Northern California last year seriously affected Milo enrollment. However, prospects for this year look good, and we are certain that a stable enrollment of Oregon Conference youth will continue. If you are still seeking the school for yourself or for someone else, Milo will be pleased to consider your letter of inquiry or application.

Music: Character is one of the principal exports from the campus at Milo. However, music, as the "international" language often is the medium of inner expression for the vibrant lives of Christian young people who have something to say. The traditionally strong music department on the campus will continue in the coming year with three new members on the music staff: Mr. Davle Jewkes on organ, voice and choral groups; Mr. Bob Kearby on instrumental, strings and band; and Mrs. Velma Prather on keyboard. Each music instructor comes with excellent ratings and a dedication to the traditions of fine music.

Religious Activities: Elder and Mrs. Edward Harms, with their three children, have arrived and assumed the major responsibility of leading Milo in a deepening spiritual and missionary experience. Elder Harms will be heading the Bible department, and will be assisted by Mr. Melvin Derby and Mr. Lyle Griffin. Spiritual emphasis is evident in the outlook of every phase of Milo life.

Every Young Person Wanted: In the light of Bible prophecy and world conditions, every Seventh-day Adventist will want to balance his thinking and take advantage of abundant provision afforded by Seventh-day Adventist schools. The entire staff at Milo Academy joins with the churches and the parents in stating, "We are here to serve for the finishing of the work in righteousness."

A Long Awaited Book

The new book Ellen G. White and the Seventh-day Adventist Church was written with evangelistic work in mind. It should be placed in the hands of people who have questions to ask about the Spirit of Prophecy. The book will prove useful for new Adventists also, and it will be a refreshing experience for members of the church who have been in the truth a long time to read it carefully.

The book is small—only 92 pages and the style is direct and I hope convincing. One chapter is titled "The Bible and the Writings of Ellen G. White." This section presents clearly the relationship of the Bible to the inspired Ellen G. White messages, and offers a Biblical basis for faith in the prophetic gift in our time.

The chapter "An Inspired Commentary on the Bible" offers selected quotations from Mrs. White's pen to illustrate the role of God's messenger as an inspired commentator on the Scriptures. "The Spirit of Prophecy and Medical Science" will appeal especially to the modern scientific mind. "Current Events and the E. G. White Writings" develops those dynamic prophecies which cover the political revolutions of our time, the rising favor of Romanism in the United States, and the now developing three-fold union of the churches.

Three special features, Helpful Hints for Reading the E. G. White books, Life and Times of E. G. White, and Books by Ellen G. White, give guidance to the baptismal candidate or to the new Adventist The inside back cover provides a follow-up notice for enrollment in the Prophetic Guidance Course.

The denomination has never had a book exactly like this, and it is my prayer that it will answer a long felt need among evangelists, pastors, and soul winning laymen. The price is only 25 cents per copy, plus postage. It is printed in color and full of stories and illustrations. Order through your local church missionary secretary or Book and Bible House. No royalties are collected from the sale of this book. We believe that it will have a wide circulation.

The Association of Seventh-day Adventist Optometrists have just completed their fifth annual North American meeting. The president elected for his second term was Dr. Balf W. Bond, of Eugene, Oregon.

Of major interest at the meeting was the report from the Inter-American Division of Seventh-day Adventists seeking the services of this association to care for the visual needs of the people of Haiti. In attendance at the meeting was Dr. R. F. Swanson from Orlando, Florida, who has done this work on a limited basis for the last two years. He explained the problem in detail and showed slides of the work as carried on in Port-au-Prince, the capital city of Haiti. Teeming thousands of people in this area are without medical, dental, or visual care and these services are desperately needed. The Association of Seventh-day Adventist Optometrists was pleased for this call and voted unanimously to accept this challenge and do their best to aid the Inter-American Division.

Gem State Academy

We are told that true education "is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers."—Education, p. 13.

At Gem State Academy the student is able to develop in all three of the above-mentioned phases of education. Instruction by competent, qualified teachers; participation in the spiritual activities of academy life; and physical development in the various labor opportunities in addition to the training in the physical education classes are all the privilege of the student at Gem State Academy.

There has been a strong program in the physical education department of the academy under the direction of Mr Byron Bradley, the head of the physical education training in the school. Mr. Bradley was the captain of the college tumbling team during his senior year in college. The accompanying picture shows some of the boys going through their tumbling practice session.

Some of the students at Gem State Academy during the coming year will be so fortunate as to earn over one dollar per hour while they participate in physical activity in their work in the new plant for frozen bread at the academy. The academy will be producing frozen dough which will be available in grocery stores throughout southern Idaho. We trust that our people will give their full support to this industry by asking for our product in the grocery stores. Distribution will begin in September.

We solicit an interest in your prayers for the academy during the coming school year.

Walla Walla College

Summer Commencement Events

Climaxing summer commencement events at Walla Walla College, August 16-18, will be the conferring of 63 degrees—49 bachelors and 14 masters—by Dr. P. W. Christian, president.

Dr. Emil Leffler, dean of the Graduate School, Andrews University, heads University, headlines the list of speakers. A member of learned societies: Delta Sigma Rho, Pi Kappa Delta, Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, Doctor Leffler has served in Michigan on the advisory committee on teacher education and the advisory committee on higher education to the Michigan state legislature.

Through the years Doctor Leffler has also served the SDA denomination in many capacities. He is a member of the board of trustees of AUC, of three academies, of the Michigan Conference, of the Battle Creek Health Institute, and of the Hinsdale Sanitarium.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the commencement weekend events listed on this page.

Masters to Teach

Of special interest to GLEANER readers will be the fact that nine of the 13 candidates from master of arts degrees in education and biology at Walla Walla College's summer commencement will be teaching in denominational schools this fall. All are experienced teachers.

Three will be teaching in colleges: Gene Johnson, biology, Union College; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Simorangkir, biology and home economics respectively, Indonesia Union College.

Secondary teachers include Ervin Bigham and Edward Edstrom, WWC Academy, and Harry Bruington, Portland Union Academy.

Two others are elementary church school principals: Merritt Crooker, Meadowglade grade school, and Palmer Robson, Roseburg grade school.

Mrs. Glenna M. Barstad, author of children's readers as well as teacher, will be teaching in the Washington Conference.

New Faculty Arrive

Two new Walla Walla College faculty members have arrived to fill important posts: Dr. J. W. Rhodes, professor of education and chairman of the Graduate Council, and Mr. Robert L. Noel, associate professor of engineering.

Dr. and Mrs. Rhodes arrived earlier this summer, and summer taking a course in strain gage fundamentals.

Professor Noel joins Professor E. F. Cross, chairman of the department of engineering, and Glenn Masden, associate professor of engineering, in the summer work of readying laboratories in the new engineering-physics-mathematics building. Currently, equipment is being installed in the electrical machines laboratory, says Professor Cross. All classes and laboratories will be conducted in the new building this fall.
