

MV COLLEGIATE BIBLE CONFERENCE SCHEDULED FOR OLDER YOUTH

JOHN H. HANCOCK, *MV Department
North Pacific Union Conference*

As a result of the MV Bible Conference held in our local conference last spring, there has been a flood of requests from older youth for a Bible Conference for college-age and young married couples. We are happy to announce to our constituency that there will be an MV Collegiate Bible Conference held on the campus of Walla Walla College, October 25 to 27, 1963, for post-academy-age youth, 18 to 35 years.

This MV Collegiate Bible Conference will be under the auspices of the Walla Walla College MV Society and the North Pacific Union MV Department. Student leadership will team up with conference and faculty leadership to make this conference an outstanding highlight of the school year.

Dr. Edward Heppenstall, of Andrews University, will give the keynote address on Friday evening, October 25, and Elder L. M. Nelson, associate MV secretary of the General Conference, will speak in the College Church on Sabbath morning, October 26. Seminar-type discussion groups will feature such topics as Righteousness By Faith, Science of Prayer, Last-day Events, Inspiration and the Spirit of Prophecy, Science and the Bible, Sabbath Keeping, God and Human Suffering, Gospel of Health, etc. These discussion groups will be directed by college teachers, ministers and college student leaders who will have had opportunity for pre-study of their topics. Each delegate to the Bible Conference will have an opportunity to participate in two different discussion groups.

There will be 600 delegates in all who will be allowed to attend the conference. From the Walla Walla College student body there will be 425, and 175 will be allotted to the rest of the Union. Housing for these 175 will be arranged by Elder Chambers in the homes of our church members at College Place. The cost for housing will be approximately $5 for the entire conference which begins on Friday evening at 7:30 and ends Sunday noon.

Meals will be cafeteria style in Kellogg Hall. Each delegate will pay for his own transportation expense, lodging and meals. There will be a registration fee of $1.00 which will include a large notebook of very valuable printed material covering each discussion topic.

Each local conference has been allotted a representative delegation. If you are between the ages of 18 to 35, and are interested in attending this Bible Conference, we urge you to contact your local conference MV secretary immediately for an application form. The delegation is limited, so get your application in at once. He will send you forms to fill out and inform you if you will be able to attend as a delegate.

This Bible conference promises to be an outstanding event for the fall. May we urge you to get your application in immediately!

Time Running Out

When, early in January, Brother Wollard, manager of the Pacific Press Book Department, asked me to write a new book on the signs of our Lord's return, I replied, "But I gave you one not long ago." "When was that?" he asked. "Oh, about three or four years ago," I replied.

A. S. Maxwell

We checked the date and discovered it was 1953—ten years ago—and the title of the book was The Coming King.

So quickly does time slip by!

Ten years is a long time for the advent people to be without an up-to-date book about the signs of the times, and the urgency of the need suddenly seized us both. I agreed to prepare a manuscript containing the "signs of the sixties" with the least possible delay, and Brother Wollard agreed to produce it at the earliest possible moment.

As I began to gather the material it seemed to me that the tremendous changes which have taken place in recent years demanded a completely new presentation of the prophecies relating to the closing events of history, set forth in a way that would appeal to people living in the Space Age. Reference to the darkening of the sun and the falling stars may have been important in years gone by, but not now. Not when men and women are orbiting the earth in space capsules and Titan III is ready to blast an expedition to the moon.

The big question, it seemed to me, was whether there were any "signs" which could be used today that would appeal to intelligent people. In other words, was the advent message relevant to the new situation in which we find ourselves in 1963?

It did not take long to decide that not only is the advent message relevant; it is supremely important to everybody living on the earth today. Moreover, the signs now in evidence are more striking, more impressive, more global, than any that have appeared during the past 120 years.

Never have we had such strong, reasonable, scientific evidence to prove that the end of the world is near, "even at the door." This evidence is assembled in Time Running Out, under such chapter headings as "Nearing the Final Secrets," "Reaching for the Stars," "Tampering With the Ultimate Weapon," "Awakening of All Nations," "Collapsing Moral Standards," "Reuniting Europe," "Reviving a Once-Dead Church," and "Proclaiming God's Last Message."

In each case the presentation is new, timely, up-to-the-minute, with only the latest available information used to support it. With one exception, there is no quotation older than 1960. The cumulative effect is to convince the reader of the reasonableness of the conclusion that time is indeed running out.

It is not sufficient, of course, to win the reader's assent to this suggestion. Hence the two concluding chapters,

Can We Afford It?

Did you know that from September 14 to October 12, 1963, you can secure the weekly visit of our beloved church paper, the Review and Herald, at the specially reduced price of $4.75 per year?

"I cannot afford it," someone says. But can we afford to be without it? Much depends upon our sense of values. Perhaps we could better afford to do without some other reading matter in the home, than for the members of our families to be deprived of the priceless blessings that come through the Review. It brings us into touch with God's family around the earth. It breathes the very spirit of our message. Wonderful devotional and doctrinal messages from our leaders around the earth, inspiring youth articles, messages for the home, thrilling reports of miracles of grace in many lands, news of "the family" all over the earth, and stories of advance in many fields, cannot but inspire the reader, strengthen his faith, and renew his devotion. And all this for less than ten cents a week!

If we desire above all else to mold the members of our families with the spirit of the message, and fill their hearts with love for the truth and the work of God, the Review faithfully read each week will do it.

Why not send it to that dear one who has been so much on your heart, or to that friend who once was with us but is now away from the church? It will do a silent but effective work and bring them into touch again. Christmas is coming. No better Christmas gift could be made than a year's subscription to the Review for someone you love.

Order through your Church Missionary Secretary. After October 12 the price will be higher again.

Let us plan now to make the spiritual benefits of our invaluable church paper available to every Adventist home. We cannot afford to do otherwise.

General Field Secretary of the General Conference

Alaska Youth Camps

From the island waters of our southeastern section to the Bering Sea, the MV camping program was enthusiastically supported by the Alaskan youth.

Traveling by air, ferry and small boats, 206 juniors left their homes in the cities, native villages, homesteads, logging camps or floating villages to attend the four camps operated within our mission. Due to the vast distances it is impossible to conduct one central camp.

The Scout camp, nestled in a cove among the Sitka spruce, near our capital city, was the site used by the southeastern campers as Camp Kootznahoo (Tlingit Indian meaning Bear Country). This camp was directed by Elder William Jenson. It was here that bear stories were updated and every camper had a real tale to tell upon his return home. A bear had broken into the food storage room during the night and the following day it became necessary to dispose of the "intruder" when he insisted on coming into camp for another free meal.

Camp Tukuskoya, near Palmer, and Camp Polaris, on Lake Aleknagik, were two more junior camps, these directed by Clyde Mundy, pastor of the Fairbanks church. These two camps are owned and operated by the churches of their respective areas.

A special Bible camp was also conducted at Camp Polaris for the older youth. Pastor Gary Strunk, from Anchorage, directed this new venture and the response indicates that this will be a continuing feature for Alaskan youth.

The directors and counselors of all our camps indicated our youth were led to a closer relationship with their Master. Several older youth indicated their desire to place Christ first in their lives. One pastor stated, "This was a real break-through for real Christianity."

Junior Campers Are Inspiration for Poem

The boys and girls at Camp Tukuskoya, Alaska, inspired Pastor Dewey Payne to write the following poem which is now engraved on the wall of the camp dining room.

CAMPERS OF TUKUSKOYA

They're all around me everywhere,
They get in my way—they get in my hair.
They mess up the place in a dozen ways.
They squeal and they yell and rattle the trays,
They giggle and squirm and tease "Mr. Joe"
And run to the nurse with every sore toe.

They're permanently hungry and thirsty as bears,
They have to have "seconds" (But really, who cares?)

Some of them wiggle while in a sound sleep
And some of them snore like the porcupines weep.

They never get cold or wet or tired,
But it seems no duty ever finds them inspired.

They're a joy to some and a puzzle to all
This hilarious gang that comes to our call.
They are here and there and everywhere,
They "snuck" into my heart and dropped anchor there.

But bless everyone of 'em, whoever he be,
I'll cherish through life his sweet company.
Who is this gang of makers of joy?
Why they are our campers of Tukuskoya.

Thomas Dewey Payne

Keeping Pace at Gem State!

Classes have begun at Gem State Academy for the school years 1963-64. The enrollment is pressing toward an all-time high. A total of 183 had enrolled by September 5 and more are coming. There are 57 freshman, 52 sophomores, 40 juniors, and 34 seniors in attendance. Space is at a premium in the girls' dormitory where 76 girls are in residence. There are 64 boys in the boys' dormitory.

It is certainly gratifying to see so many of our youth given the advantage of a Christian education.

As you see by the following tabulation, the church members back home (for the most part), were keeping pace in August by doing their share on the Building Fund. Many churches doubled what was done in July. Thank you very much. We are still behind, but we will catch up. One family paid their $500 pledge in full this last week. Perhaps, more of us could follow this good example. Some members who did not pledge are helping swell the total. This is appreciated. Check your church below:

OREGON

A colorful, mobile display was shown by Mrs. Dorothy Homann of Beaverton. The likeness of Jesus descending from the clouds is made to accompany "Jesus Is Coming for You and Me." Several of Mrs. Homann's original compositions of songs for children appear in the new "Show Them the Way" book for Sabbath school leaders.

Oregon Sabbath school workshops introduced many new patterns and ideas for leaders this month, compiled in a book published by the Oregon office and entitled "Show Them the Way" (Book A). Styrofoam aids for Tiny Tots Songs "I'm a Little Flower" and "Who Can Make a Butterfly?" were displayed by children at Portland's Stone Tower session. Mrs. Fern Ringering of Oregon City (barely visible far right) assisted with demonstrations. Mrs. Dan Langlitz of McMinnville (center) discussed goal devices.

William Ruetters, manager of Clarke County Savings and Loan; Elder H. L. Rudy; V. J. Jester; Elder Leonard Ayers, pastor; and John Ritchie, local elder, participated in ground-breaking and stake-driving ceremonies for the new Camas-Washougal church.

Ground Breaking at Camas

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Camas, Washington, church were held Monday, September 9, at the Shepherd Road site, one-half mile north of Hiway 830.

The classroom section, to be constructed first, is 44 x 53½ feet. It includes four classrooms, rest and utility rooms, and the vestibule for the "L"-shaped building in design. The main sanctuary will be added later, with two large adjoining classrooms serving as a temporary chapel.

Conference officers, local leaders, and a Camas businessman took part.

Students Visit Art Center

Laurelwood Academy art students visited the Portland Art Center September 12. Under the artistic eye of Instructor Esther Lansbery, 34 "future Picassos" viewed exhibitions of talent by many local artists and attended a lecture by a landscape artist.

Integrated with most departmental programs, Laurelwood's art department contributes several flower arrangements each Sabbath, composes many bulletin boards and display cases, and last May completed a backdrop-mural of Mt. Hood and Lost Lake, primarily used for baptisms in the chapel. Maintained also by the department is LA's 15,000 picture library.

Coming from Kansas and Nebraska, Esther Miller-Lansbery first taught at Rogue River Academy for eight years. Since then, Mrs. Lansbery has been living and teaching for twenty years at Laurelwood. All 38 years of teaching have been in denominational schools.

In addition to teaching art, Mrs. Lansbery has 27 years of teaching experience in the field of Spanish. Because she is specializing in art this year, Mr. Archie Morley is coaching Spanish students.

Portland Physician Flies to Peru

A prominent Portland physician who has been giving to missions all his life is now going to relieve a Peruvian MD for his first vacation in nine years.

The Portlander is Dr. E. E. Rippey, chief surgeon at Portland Sanitarium and a member of the staff since 1925. His wife is the former Mrs. Hazel Weber, the first dietitian at the Sanitarium in 1928.

They leave the 214-bed Portland Sanitarium to manage the 42-bed Juliaca Clinic on Lake Titicaca, Peru.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Rippey left Portland September 15 to relieve a Peruvian doctor at the Juliaca Clinic. They will stay three months while the national M.D. takes his first leave in nine years. Beside them, the Rippeys have instruments, medicines, and a new EKG machine being donated to the Juliaca (near Lake Titicaca) hospital.

At the recent Medical-Ministerial Council, Dr. Rippey suggested that Oregon Conference medics might relieve South American doctors for a time of study. This month he led the way for a three-month stay.

To meet the challenge he has been reviewing (he studied three years in Spanish classes at college) and reading (he reads the Spanish Steps to Christ) some Spanish nearly every day. However, Mrs. Rippey, who speaks Spanish fluently, will be his assistant and interpreter. Mrs. Rippey was herself a missionary in South America for 17 years and has a daughter in Argentina.

During his adventure in second-mile religion, Dr. Rippey's patients will be cared for by his son, Dr. W. E. Rippey, and Dr. Willard Mathiesen.

Academy Sponsors Leadership Council

Designed to present the Seventh-day Adventist philosophy of education to student leaders and to get improvement suggestions on the school program, Columbia Academy's leadership council was held August 29-31. Leaders representing MV, clubs, Sabbath school, and the Student Association convened Thursday evening at the Optimist Camp, located on the Lewis River.

Throughout the three-day session, many sides of Christian education, based on the inspired philosophy of Mrs. E. G. White, were presented by staff members. Topics presented were "Mental Aims" by R. C. Reed, instructor in math and science; "Physical Aims" by A. G. Grams, dean of men; "Social Aims" by Mrs. Charlotte Syphers, dean of women; and "Spiritual Aims" by H. T. Ochs, principal. After each presentation both leaders and staff members joined in discussions of Mrs. White's counsel on how to solve specific campus problems.

With the support of student leaders, decisions were reached concerning library decorum, vesper services, and areas of recreation. Student leaders suggested that the library be open in the evenings for students who need to do research and that strict library government with absolute quiet for study be maintained.

Coupled with this new library program, students suggested that mandatory library study halls be replaced with voluntary study periods for those who need library facilities.

WASHINGTON

Dream Becomes Reality

By God's wonderful blessing a dream of the members of the Snoqualmie, Issaquah, and Carnation churches has become a reality in just two and one half months. This dream of adequate and available Christian education for boys and girls of the three churches has been a need for many years. With the offer of Brother Willis Campbell to donate more than three acres of pasture land for a school site and the funds that had been accumulating through the CDS program, the dream began to take on a hazy outline. Then as a special fund raising campaign was conducted in addition to the CDS pledges, it was seen that through the sacrificial liberality of the entire membership it would be possible for the dream to be transformed into the reality of cement, lumber, paint, etc.

Immediately after camp meeting a full-fledged building program was started. Many thousands of hours were donated in the next few weeks as saws, hammers, and shovels worked at a fever pitch. Thanks to the wonderful support of all, on September 4 school opened in the new Spring Glen Seventh-day Adventist School, only one day late. Yes, there are many finishing touches to be added to the building but the 28 children enrolled are extremely happy they have two beautiful new classrooms to study in.

Our two dedicated teachers, Mr. Edward Tomczek and Mrs. Beulah Shumate, are especially pleased with the wonderful rural and quiet location of the school. It is nestled in the corner of a beautiful meadow one mile east of Fall City. As one steps out of the classroom his eye catches a view of Mount Si to the east and a lovely green forested mountain slope off to the south. Situated as it is just out of Fall City, the school gives adequate service to all churches in the district, and we are happy to report that we have children attending from all of the churches. This has truly been a united district program. As we have observed the dedication of God's people and the way God has helped hurdle the obstacles in the program we cannot help but say with the Psalmist, "Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done." Psalm 40:5. I

Mt. Ellis Academy

Dr. Everet Witzel, graduate of Mt. Ellis Academy's class of 1953, was a campus visitor September 11. Doctor Witzel, who teaches anatomy in the medical school at Loma Linda University, was on his way back to the University of Chicago for further study.

No classes were conducted Wednesday and Thursday, September 11 and 12, while new students took intelligence quotient and vocational aptitude tests under the direction of Pastor Larry Lewis, Bible teacher and director of counseling and guidance.

The first student body meeting of the new academic year was called to order Friday morning, September 13, by President Terry Pratt. Main business of the day was the election of members for the three principal committees, each class selecting one member for the social-cultural committee, one member for the faculty-student committee, and two members, one boy and one girl, for the nominating committee.

Chosen to serve on the social-cultural committee were Freshman Terry Kinamon, Sophomore Linda Christensen, Junior Jeanne Bryant, and Senior Autumn Evans. Elected to the faculty-student committee were Freshman Ray King, Sophomore Mike Burtch, Junior Gene Jennings, and Senior Wes Harris. Nominating committee members are Susie Barrow and Dan White, freshmen; Karen Brooks and Dennis Morton, sophomores; Pat Groshelle and John Barrow, juniors; and Linda Davis and Vern Carscallen, seniors.

Weekend campouts were featured from Friday, September 13, to Sunday, September 15, with the girls camping at Luckcock Park near Livingston, while the boys were at Potosi Hot Springs near Ennis.

Walla Walla College

Faculty Dedication to Christian Education

Preparation by administrators and faculty members of Walla Walla College for the responsibilities of the 1963-64 school year is a continuing process, individually and collectively.

During the faculty retreat at Hayden Lake, September 13-15, spiritual, intellectual, and social activities were balanced in a program allowing for personal acquaintance with new members of the staff and their families. At an "old-fashioned" Friday evening testimony service rewards of work with young people in schools were told.

At the first faculty meeting September 17, Dr. P. W. Christian, president, challenged the entire faculty and staff to Christian unity, "the miracle that the world needs to see in the church," emphasizing the joy of working together for the hundreds of students who are now arriving on the WWC campus.

President Christian presented the resolutions passed at the 1963 University and College Administrators' meeting. These resolutions were considered and affirmed as a part of the belief and practice of the faculty members.

The resolutions were a call to all personnel connected with SDA institutions to renew their commitment and dedication and to re-evaluate their sense of mission.

Each institution was charged to launch into a locally initiated institutional exhaustive self-study within the framework of the Holy Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy to define its distinctive function in a predominately secular and educational world.

All staff members were urged to become involved in a review of the institution's major philosophy and objectives and to endeavor to support them by enthusiastic contributions to the goal.

Introduction of new faculty members included the following as presented by President Christian: Ronald L. Davies, instructor in engineering; Mrs. John Christison, director of health service; Albert Grable, instructor in biology; Robert Kingman, instructor in physics; Robert L. Noel, associate professor of Engineering; Dr. J. Wesley Rhodes, professor of education and chairman of the graduate council; Andrew Leonie, assistant professor of education; Mrs. Andrew Leonie, instructor in sociology; Robert E. Stahlnecker, instructor in education; Mrs. Ralph Jones, instructor in English.

Changes in office were announced for Miss Orpha Osborne, registrar; Mrs. Irene Black, teacher certification counselor; Mrs. J. Paul Groves, instructor in education.

Not present but introduced were Donald Eichner, assistant professor of political science; and Mrs. Donald Eichner, instructor in secretarial science; and Elder Richard Fearing, College chaplain and pastor of the College Church.

Returning from graduate study leaves were Gordon Hare, chairman of the department of mathematics; Miss Evelyn Rittenhouse, chairman of the department of secretarial science; Arthur L. White, instructor in business administration; and Miss Joy Uehlin, assistant librarian.

KGTS Goes on Air

Radio station KGTS-FM, Walla Walla College's Gateway to Service voice for the Inland Empire, goes on the air with fall programming Sabbath, October 5, says Loren Dickinson, station manager and instructor in speech.

Sabbath hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a live broadcast of the College Church worship service from 11 a.m. to noon over the 91.3 megacycles frequency.

Hours Sunday through Friday are 5 to 10 p.m. with a high quality music broadcast each evening from 8 until signoff. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings the 9:45 spot will feature the Voice of Prophecy quartet in "Time for Singing."

Weekly programs scheduled include "Concert Hall" of Brigham Young University, Monday, 7:30 p.m.; "Canadian Press Review," Wednesday at 5 p.m.; and "Flashback in History," 15-minute dramatic sketches from great events of the past on Sunday at 7 p.m. The last-named program comes from the Broadcasting Foundation of America, New York.

Live programs such as interviews and discussions are tentatively planned to begin when classes get underway, says Mr. Dickinson. Ken Hart, junior from Roseburg, Oregon, is student staff director.

Weddings

On Sunday afternoon, June 30, Kathy Shild and Dale Thompson were united in marriage at a lovely candle-light ceremony in the Walla Walla Seventh-day Adventist church. Elder L. J. Meidinger, pastor, was the officiating minister. The young couple will make their home in Nampa, Idaho, where the groom is employed.

On Sunday evening, June 16, Nancy Eastham was united in marriage with Lavern Barger in the beautiful new Adventist Church in Caldwell, Idaho. The marriage vows were repeated in the presence of the bride's uncle, Elder D. K. Griffith of Newbury Park, California, and a large group of relatives and friends who desire the Lord's richest blessing for this new Christian home.

On the afternoon of August 1, Miss Catherine L. Schilling was united in marriage to Mr. Robert M. Nolt by Elder Lyle W. Cornforth. The ceremony was solemnized in a beautiful candle decorated setting in the Stone Tower church in Portland, Oregon. A new Christian home has been established. May the love of God permeate the experiences of these two young lives.

The American Temperance Society is carrying a heavy load of responsibility in its program which is designated to prevent alcoholism and narcotics addiction. A nation of some fifty million drinkers and approximately five million alcoholics presents a solemn picture, and certainly, there is urgent need for our people to be greatly concerned and to weigh the immeasurable costs of over-indulgence—tragic loss of health and life, degraded character, increased crime, and the lowering generally of our national fiber.

It is encouraging to know the American Temperance Society is forging ahead with its most worthwhile program of education, and I am happy to commend the Society on the progress being made.

State of Oregon
