Two Major Conventions

Loma Linda University medical and dental alumni from the North Pacific Union Conference will join Seventh-day Adventist physicians and dentists from all over the world at two major conventions in March.

Physicians will attend the 13th annual Alumni Postgraduate Convention, sponsored March 11-17 by the School of Medicine Alumni Association in cooperation with the school's faculty. Dentists and dental hygienists numbering more than 1,000 are expected to attend the School of Dentistry's sixth annual Alumni-Student Convention, March 17-19, on the university campus.

The dental meet will be preceded by two days of postgraduate courses taught by Loma Linda faculty members and visiting lecturers. A large circus tent will be erected on a campus parking lot to house commercial and scientific exhibits.

Highlighting the convention will be the student table clinic competition to be judged by a panel of eight leading dental authorities. The scientific exhibits display student-originated advances in basic science related to dentistry and in clinical application and techniques. The first-place winner will represent Loma Linda in national competition at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association where Loma Linda students' entries have placed among the top three for the past four years.

A two-day program of accredited refresher courses will lead off the medical convention, March 13 and 14, at White Memorial Medical Center. Nationally recognized authorities will report the latest advances in their medical specialties at the Scientific Assembly at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, March 15-17.

A potluck luncheon for missionaries and their families and friends will be held Saturday, March 12, in classrooms at the White Memorial church. Attendance at each year's traditional luncheon demonstrates the graduates' concern for and active involvement in mission service.

Let "Listen" Liberate

One afternoon Mark Twain, who lost more than one hard-earned fortune by investing it in enterprises that looked good at the moment, observed a tall, spare man, with kindly blue eyes and eager face, coming up the path with a strange contraption under his arm. Yes, it was an invention, and the tall man explained it to Mark who listened politely but said he had been burned too often. "But I am not asking you to invest a fortune," explained the young man, "You can have as large share as you want for $500." Mark Twain shook his head; the invention didn't make sense. The tall, alert gentleman started away.

"What did you say your name was?" asked Mark.

"Bell," replied the inventor a little sadly, "Alexander Graham Bell."

Where would we be if all men grew cynical and bitter over the times in which we live? Chauncey M. Depew, the great American lawyer, legislator and orator (1834-1928) once confessed that he had warned his nephew not to invest $5,000 in Ford stocks because "nothing has come along to beat the horse." H. G. Wells, the historian 1866-1846, joined the popular disparagement of the submarine, writing: "I must confess that my imagination refuses to see a submarine doing anything but suffocating its crew and foundering at sea." In 1907 Mr. DeForest put the radio tube in workable form but was unable to sell his patent. He was overcome by a negative attitude and let his patent lapse rather than pay the twenty-five dollars for its renewal.

How refreshing to live in an age when great accomplishments are possible. What is true in the scientific realm, is equally feasible in the moral domain. Presently there are over six million alcoholics in our country, with an additional thousand social drinkers per day joining the ranks of the chronic alcoholics. These people need to be liberated. Others need to be educated "to keep them from falling." Help is available through Listen, the official temperance journal of your denomination.

Listen, is a highly attractive four-color journal, published monthly at only $1.50 per subscription. Plan to have this monthly visitor in your home, as well as in the homes of your younger neighbors.

Please place your order through your church missionary secretary on Sabbath, February 26.

Opportunities in the Bitterroot Valley

In the heart of the Bitterroot Valley lies the beautiful city of Hamilton, populated by 4,000 friendly people. There we have a fine church school with an enrollment of 12 students. Russell Hustwaite, a graduate of Walla Walla College, is completing his third year as teacher of our school. Mr. Hustwaite's foremost concern in the classroom is for the spiritual and scholastic complexion of his students.

The boys and girls may forget the chilly autumn days, the cold north wind in January and they may even forget the warmth of spring and summer, but they will never forget the precious times spent during their church school days, learning more of God and His teachings.

Hamilton is a progressive city boasting of varied opportunities for a livelihood such as the Rocky Mountain Research Laboratory and the mill. The Bitterroot Valley is a substantial logging and lumbering area as well. A 40-bed, endowed hospital, completely modern, serves the city well. We are justly proud of a lovely, new, modern 96-bed nursing home, called the Valley View Estates, owned and operated by

Boys and girls of the Bitterroot Valley church school and their teacher, Mr. Russell Hustwaite.

Bible Conference in Billings

About 50 enthusiastic Adventist youth met in the spacious Billings, Montana, Seventh-day Adventist church, January 28 and 29, for the first Montana Bible Conference.

Elder W. J. Hackett, our Union Conference president, was the featured speaker. The topic: "Recharging Man's Vital Forces." Elder Ed Webb, Union MV secretary, led the singing and helped with the organization of the conference.

Typical responses were as follows: "It was worth the entire time for just this one meeting." "I can now see that our religion is scientific." "I wish that we could meet like this for a week." "How happy I am that I could come."

Pastor Vernon Jones brought three high school students from Havre. Two of these youth are now in Mount Ellis Academy.

Our discussion group leaders were Elder A. J. Gordon, Montana Conference president, Elder Ralph Gladden, Sabbath School and Home Missionary secretary, Elder Larry Lewis, Mount Ellis Academy Bible teacher, Floyd Ramsey, publishing secretary, Elder Richard Knapp, pastor of Billings, Clyde Smith, principal of Mount Ellis Academy, and Kraid Ashbaugh, MV sponsor of Mount Ellis.

Something new was tried at this conference. Besides the youth discussions, the adult members of the church met and discussed similar topics.

The conference was concentrated, but our faithful youth and adults stayed right by to the very last. Someone said only Montanans could take so many meetings and come back for more.

Someone else observed, "We have the finest youth to be found anywhere."

The Bible conference is history now, but the results will carry on in the lives of all who were present. Pray for our youth.

One Ton of Shoes

One ton of new shoes was donated by Mr. Hamilton, right, from the Ferguson Shoe Company of Kalispell, Montana, as a direct result of an In-gathering contact by Pastor Charles Allaway, center, and Mrs. Robert McCormick, left.

To be exact, there were 2,413 pairs of shoes. Even at the reduced price of $2.98, this gift totals $7,190.74.

Two factors enter into this contribution. First, the fine work of the Welfare Service under the leadership of Mrs. Opal Lull; next the excellent business contact by Mrs. Robert McCormick. The McCormicks trade at the Ferguson Shoe Store. We never know what blessing will come as a result of demonstrating our religion to our business friends.

These shoes were picked up by the Montana Conference moving van and will be shipped to Watsonville, California, for distribution to our American Indians as well as to the needy overseas.

The Key Notes, an instrumental ensemble directed by Mr. Maurice Crandall, and The Dynamics, a small singing group directed by Mrs. Lowell Nelson, performed at Hillcrest Retirement Home, Wednesday, February 16.

Sunday night, February 13, the girls of Theta Tau Beta held their annual Girls' Club banquet. The theme was on Valentine's Day, and the dining room was decorated with hearts and cupids. A program was presented after the meal had been served.

The film, "A Man Called Peter," was shown February 19.

Social Calendar

On February 26, the Montanas, a special singing group from Montana State University will come and present a program for the students.

Six weeks' leave will begin March 3, for the student body at Mt. Ellis. This same weekend, certain members of the band will go to Walla Walla for a Band Clinic.

March 13 is the date for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Ministers' Convocation

A spiritual fellowship for the ministers and Bible instructors of the Washington Conference has just concluded at Sunset Lake. One worker seemed to represent the feeling of all when he said, "This informal study, prayer, discussion and praise program has done more to prepare my life for personal victory and effective witnessing than any meeting I have attended."

This gathering was requested by the ministers as a result of a growing concern over the complacency and business-as-usual attitude of people and leaders who profess to believe that Jesus Christ is coming soon. The reality that God has called us out of the world for the solemn purpose of "making ready a people prepared for the Lord" caused soul searching.

It was discovered with new sensitivity that the fullness of the Spirit in the latter rain, is desperately needed and that God is waiting to bestow this blessing now. This statement from Gospel Workers, page 57, challenged the group: "We can receive of heaven's light only as we are willing to be emptied of self. We can discern the character of God, and accept Christ by faith, only as we consent to the bringing into captivity of every thought to the obedience of Christ. And to all who do this, the Holy Spirit is given without measure."

The evidences of formality, casualness and professionalism in our lives brought forth sincere contrition and rededication to Christ as Lord and Master. The love of Christ, as revealed in Calvary, gave new significance to our ministry. The feeling of inadequacy gave way to praise when Col. 2:9-10 was read. "For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him."

It was in the midst of this hunger for righteousness that God visited the closing sessions with His lovely presence. It was the unanimous decision of those present that all of the members of our churches be challenged to reach out to God for victory, purity of life and preparation to meet the Lord. With earnest, fervent prayers, an appeal is made to all Adventists, young and old, to complete separation from sin and to daily growth in grace in this judgment hour. Jesus is waiting to clothe His children with the armor of light and the robe of His righteousness. Only thus can we escape the destruction so soon to sweep millions beyond the hope of rescue. Romans 13:11, 14, "And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof."

Six Wilderness Travel Courses

The months of March and April will hold tremendous opportunities for nature, wilderness and mountain converts.

Six well planned Wilderness Travel and Mountain Climbing courses will be taught in the Washington Conference during the next few months.

The following Outdoor Club groups are sponsoring these courses:

Monroe Chapter
Seattle Chapter
Issaquah area
Auburn Chapter
Enumclaw area
Tacoma Chapter

Attention should be called to the fact that those who do not wish to take the more rugged aspects of mountain climbing can now take the course with emphasis on wilderness travel. This may be profitable and needed before long for many of us.

Contact your local Outdoor Club President, MV Leader, Pastor, or the MV Department, Box 1585, Seattle, for dates and details. Some of these courses will start in the next few weeks—join them now.

Pomeroy is a small town nestled among the hills and wheat fields of eastern Washington, where a number of years ago there was an Adventist church. The building is gone now, and all but one of the members. This fall a group of dedicated students from Walla Walla College, under the guidance of Elder Clifford Rouse, the district pastor, rented a building in this friendly town where it was hoped a children's story hour could be conducted. Before the opening date an article appeared in the local paper announcing the story hour, and the young people covered the town with personally given invitations. A number promised to come. When the time for the first story hour arrived not one child was there.

It would have been easy for most young people to think that maybe the Lord did not want them to work there, but not these consecrated ones. They held a prayer meeting, right there where they had hoped to have a story hour. Then they had a testimony meeting and consecration service. They had a discussion and exchanged ideas about how they could work in this place where they were sure the Lord had led them. After this they went out into the homes spending the rest of the Sabbath visiting with the people.

The next Sabbath three children came, then there were five, and it kept growing. At the suggestion of the local residents they changed the story hour time from the morning to the afternoon, and the attendance increased still more. Now there are fifty enrolled, with an average attendance of about thirty.

These young people who are carrying on this project leave College Place every Sabbath morning at 8 o'clock, drive the 65 miles to Pomeroy, where they spend the day in visiting in the homes and giving Bible studies. At present they are studying in nine homes. Bob Foster, a sophomore theology student from The Dalles, Oregon, is in charge of this group, and is now arranging it so that some of the young people can stay out all afternoon, while others conduct the story hour. The College church Sabbath school and the Homiletics Department of the College is furnishing the necessary supplies for the work that is being carried on in this town that has the reputation of "being difficult" to work. Won't you pray for this project?

Surely these dedicated youth must have been envisioned by Ellen G. White when she said, "The Lord has appointed the youth to be His helping hand."—Testimonies, Vol. 8, p. 64.

SABBATH SCHOOL MEMBERS ACHIEVE

The Sabbath school members of Upper Columbia Conference can be very proud of their achievements for 1965. For a number of years they have led the conferences in the North American Division with their Sabbath school offerings. However, at the end of 1965 they had reached the 65 cents per member per week mark.

Pictured are Elder R. C. Remboldt, president of the Upper Columbia Conference, with Elder W. V. Clements, Sabbath School secretary.

The following churches are giving over one dollar per member per week.

Spokane Valley Church School Indian Mission Project

Grades four, five, and six at the Spokane Valley church school adopted a special project at Christmas time this past year. They discovered that there was a real need for a little Christmas cheer at the Maricopa Indian Mission in Laveen, Arizona.

In response to this need, the boys and girls of the Valley School sent a package of twenty-five Christmas gifts to the Indian Mission.

A short time ago they not only received a letter of thanks from the director of the mission, but a number of touching thank you notes from the Indian boys and girls, whose lives were made happier by their thoughtfulness.

The joy of sharing is being experienced by the youth of our schools.

Toppenish Holds Faith for Today Banquet

The seventh and eighth grade cooking class of the Toppenish, Washington, church school sponsored a special banquet on February 1 in honor of Faith for Today television program. This was the climax of their cooking class in which they earned MV Honors in Cooking. Their parents were invited as guests, and special guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schultz, fire chief from Zillah, Washington, and Pastor and Mrs. Victor Pike of the Toppenish church.

jects as auto mechanics and printing. The cost will be $40,000. The Conference Committee voted to ask the churches to join in raising $10,000 by June 30, 1966. The North Pacific Conference and the Idaho Conference are making up the rest.

January 15, 1966, the plan was presented in all the churches. Pledges were taken and we were reminded that there will be an offering taken for the Industrial Arts building every month through June. Note in the accompanying report how your church responded.

Thank you for your help and continued support of the program at Gem State Academy. Remember to give for the Industrial Arts building on Sabbath, February 26. The Lord will bless.

Climbing the Christian Ladder

The students of Gem State Academy have come to face squarely the question, "Choice or Chance." Which will it be as you face the Christian ladder? Very positive presentations were made by each student speaker as he led his fellow classmates to consider the steps of the Christian ladder. The week of devotion began January 30, closing with the communion service Sabbath afternoon, February 5.

The schedule of speakers and subjects was as follows: "Faith Alone,"

Hazel Clarneau; "Do you Really Care?" Dick Hathaway; "The Question is: Why?" Lony Lasher; "Death on the Installment Plan," Bob Lemon; "Out of the Mouth Cometh Fire," Ora Rollins; "To Be Like Him," Rachel Clark; "I Challenge You," Carolyn Gessele; "Without Love, What is There?" John Hagen; "With One Accord," Jean Lemon; "When I'm Forty," Judy Willard; "Proclaiming God's Last Message," Dennis Sellers; and "What Do you Expect in Heaven?" Doug Way.

Jerry Crisp, spiritual vice-president of the student body, gave able leadership in organizing special music and program arrangements. All participants ably fulfilled the challenge of the pastor as advisor to make every meeting meaningful, forceful, and filled with spiritual challenge to all climbing the ladder of faith.

Senior Recognition

"Recognition does not come cheaply," said Elder H. E. Rice, world associate secretary of the GC medical department, in his Recognition Day address to seniors of Walla Walla College, February 14, in the College church.

Recognition in the events of life, the speaker suggested, often comes from others' lives as well as from our own. But recognition is not the chief end; it is often short-lived. To live magnanimous lives, to clutch the vision, to give one's life in selfless service, and to receive in God's great hereafter approbation will be the true recognition.

Knowing these facts, said Elder Rice, it is well to remember that it is not what happens to us, but what we let it do to us, that makes all the difference.

President William H. Shephard read the Recognition Day scripture, Psalm 26; Dr. R. H. Brown, vice president, had the invocation; and Professor Loren Dickinson presented the class.

Music was by the College Chorale, under the direction of Professor Harold Lickey, "The Last Words of David." Professor Richard Randolph was at the organ.

WWC Board Actions

Five new teachers to be added to the faculties of four academic departments at Walla Walla College have been announced by President William H. Shephard following the board of trustees' meeting in College Place.

William J. Key, who will receive his Master's degree from Washington State University in June, will join the teaching staff as instructor in business administration and economics in September.

A graduate of La Sierra College, Mr. Key had done graduate study at the University of California, the University of Maryland, before studying two years at WSU on a teaching assistantship. His special field is consumer finance.

William H. Murphy, director of chorale music at San Diego Union Academy, will join the WWC music department faculty as assistant professor of music to teach voice and assist Professor Harold Lickey with choral organizations. A graduate of Union College, he took his Master's degree from Colorado State University, Greeley, Colorado.

Vinson Bushnell, a doctoral candidate for the Ph.D. degree at Harvard, where he is also a teaching fellow, will come to WWC's music department faculty a year from this coming fall after he completes his work at Harvard in music.

A cum laude graduate in music at Southern Missionary College, Mr. Bushnell took his M.A. degree in music theory from Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester. He taught piano and theory at Southwestern Union College before going to Harvard.

John Waterbrook, a college senior who came to WWC from Portland last fall as manager of the new swimming pool, will be completing his degree requirements this June and joining the faculty as instructor in physical education and health.

Wide experience as a gymnastic chairman and director of sports and physical fitness for the State of Oregon coupled with two years in Special Services in the Army have given Mr. Waterbrook a background for teaching and administration in physical education.

Clarence A. Wood will come to WWC as instructor in speech from a position as speech pathologist at the Lake County Easter Seal Training Center at Waukegan, Illinois.

Academic training for the speech teacher and clinician was at La Sierra College from which he holds the B.A. degree with a speech major and from the University of Denver from which he holds the M.A. degree in speech. He is a member of the American Speech and Hearing Association and its Colorado unit, and of Sigma Alpha Eta.

Academic rank changes were voted by the board of trustees for 17 faculty members. Those who become associate professors and their departments are: Arthur L. White, business administration and economics; Dr. Robert E. Stahlnecker, education; Dr. Helen Evans, English; Mrs. Carl T. Jones, health and physical education; John Christian, history; Dr. J. N. Barnes, religion; and Roy E. Hartbauer, speech.

Raised to assistant professor rank and the departments were: Dr. Albert Grable, biology; Dr. Wayne Zaugg, chemistry; Fred Bennett, engineering; Miss Annie Mae Chambers, English; Ward Soper, mathematics; Miss Helen Furber, nursing; Robert Kingman, physics; Robert Whitsett, physics; Mrs. Donald Rigby, speech.

Mrs. K. A. Aplington was given the rank of office manager for the business office.

Two important proposals concerning expansion of the Clara E. Rogers Elementary School were announced by President Shephard, also.

First proposal, subject to approval of constituents, calls for the construction of a second unit of classrooms only, for an estimated cost of $100,000. The added space would make it possible to accept students seeking admission for which there has been no room. It would also make possible operation of the school with junior high grades in one unit and primary in the other.

Site of the proposed building is a ten-acre tract owned by WWC. It lies between SW Sixth and Eighth Streets on Bade Street, in part extending over to Davis.

Second important proposal is that operation of the Rogers School and cost of the proposed structure be headed by a local committee with WWC, the Upper Columbia Conference, and area churches from which the pupils come represented. Both proposals will be submitted to the churches.
