Church School Building Underway at Juneau

The long hoped for Juneau church school is finally out of the planning stage and off to a good start with the concrete foundation laid and construction started.

Many months of earnest prayers and sacrificial giving on the part of the Juneau church members has resulted in the realization of this portion of the urgently needed school building. Many problems have arisen with expenses mounting higher than anticipated due to the current inflationary trend, new building code rules under the Borough system, shortage of available equipment, etc. The comparatively small Juneau group, consisting for the most part, of young professional people, have refused to become discouraged, however, and are moving forward in faith in spite of the many obstacles which still lie ahead. Materials must be paid for as they arrive and freight costs are almost fantastic. Delays occur frequently and as the summer construction period in the north is well on its way and is short at its best, it will take even more faith and sacrifice to keep the project moving. It is hoped that it might be possible to have the building ready for occupancy at the start of the new school year in September or shortly thereafter.

Carl Manley, veteran in his profession, is the builder and is being assisted by Dan Dawson. Elder Harold Dawson has donated many hours of work to the project and other volunteer workers are also "putting their shoulders to the plow." The mothers and children, anxious to see the project go ahead, may be seen with shovels and wheelbarrows, busily engaged in levelling and filling. This is slow and tedious work but even the children want to feel that they have a part. All are working together and praying that further delays will be cut to a minimum and claiming the promise that "with God nothing is impossible." If funds are available for completion, it is planned to operate a two-teacher school in order to accommodate the present students and also those who had to be turned away last year because of lack of space and facilities.

Alaska's Capitol City has felt the pinch of close quarters as the church group grows along with the expanding community. The able leadership of Elder Harold Dawson, the impact of the "It Is Written" telecast, the influence of the medical work and faithful witnessing of our two Christian physicians, the Story Hour and other Sabbath school projects have all played a part in the continual growth of the Juneau church.

Starting with a handful of students in one of the Sabbath school rooms and later moving to the quarters formerly occupied by the Alaska

Off to a good start on the new Juneau Church School.

Mission headquarters before the transfer to Anchorage, and using the church basement as a gymnasium, the enrollment has grown steadily to the point where it is apparent that a one-teacher school is no longer adequate.

Even without the existing need for expansion, present facilities may not be available for too much longer as the City of Juneau has already included the lot on which the Juneau church stands in their plans for off-street parking area. How soon this will be is not known at present but as the need for more parking space increases, Mayor Lauris Parker has informed Elder Dawson that notice could be served at any time for dismantling the church building. No funds have been received or price established on the sale of the building to the city as yet. Plans to complete the church school building as soon as possible are accelerated as members realize that they must also soon have a temporary place in which to hold worship services if none other is available until a new church can be erected on the lots purchased two years ago on the Douglas Island side of Gastineau Channel.

The attractive site of the new church school building is situated five miles north of Juneau on the Glacier Highway, commanding a superb view of the majestic Chilkat Range, the Municipal Airport and Gastineau Channel. It is fronted by the lush green fields of the Lemon Creek Valley and a thickly forested slope rises in the background.

Juneau asks an interest in the prayers of fellow believers in Alaska and the Pacific Northwest that our urgently needed school may be completed on schedule.

Alaska Mission Spot News

★ Delegates from Alaska to the recent General Conference session were Elder Joseph Hansen, mission president, Cecil Reed, mission treasurer, and Elder Harold Dawson, pastor of the Juneau district.

★ During the month of June three young people all from one family were baptized at Fairbanks by Harvey L. Sauder, MV Secretary.

★ Mr. Kenneth Harris, boys' dean at Bristol Bay Mission School, flew into the native village of Ekwok each Sabbath throughout the winter and conducted a branch Sabbath school. The village is isolated from any roads and must be reached by air or boat.

★ Twelve persons were baptized at Anchorage during the month of April and became members of the Palmer and Anchorage churches.

★ Two student missionaries from Walla Walla College and Pastor Dewey Payne are conducting vacation Bible school this summer at Selawick and assisting John Topkok our native pastor.

Choral Director

When Mr. Goss accepted a call to Newbury Park, California, we immediately began to look for a replacement that would continue a good strong choral and vocal program here at Gem State Academy. Gem State Academy traditionally has had outstanding choral and vocal teachers.

Coming to Gem State Academy this fall will be Allen Johnson, who is presently choral director of Grant High School choir in Portland, Oregon. Mr. Johnson was born and received all his education in southern California. He graduated from Canoga Park High School in 1954 with an enriched math and science diploma; however, because of his strong interest in music he majored in the department of music at UCLA, Los Angeles, where he spent six years studying music under men like Robert Shaw, Roger Wagner and others who are some of the greatest choral men of our time. Mr. Johnson also sang in the Roger Wagner Chorale for some nine years in the Los Angeles area.

In speaking with Mr. Johnson we find that he is very anxious to come on campus and begin his work here. Along with teaching choral groups and voice, Mr. Johnson will also be teaching German I, in which he is very well prepared, having taken a number of German courses at UCLA and at Portland State College. He is again attending a German workshop at Portland State College this summer.

Mr. Johnson is also a concert pianist and will add great strength to our music department in that area. He also enjoys playing the guitar.

Prior to teaching at Grant High School at Portland, Mr. Johnson spent two years in the United States Peace Corps as a volunteer teachers' aide in the Phillipines serving as an instructor in in-service training to elementary teachers in English, Science and Mathematics.

Mr. Johnson's broad traveling experience will also enrich his teaching experience. We certainly were happy that we were able to secure this capable teacher to continue our strong music department here at Gem State Academy. He has already been on campus and a number of our young people have met him and are looking forward to having instruction from him.

found him in charge of all the general biology laboratories which totaled ten, securing equipment for them and seeing that the instructors were well prepared. He also assisted with the courses in mammalogy, ornithology, herpetology, and natural history of vertebrates.

We feel fortunate indeed to be able to have a science teacher with the background and experience, plus the enthusiasm and understanding of young people Mr. Young possesses.

Some other interests that Mr. Young has are backpacking and camping in primitive areas, reading of biological and scientific books and journals, also, he is a fancier and breeder of game birds. He likes horseback riding and does nature photography.

Mrs. Young is the former Virginia Loop of Caldwell, Idaho. She received a degree from Walla Walla College in elementary education. Her areas of study were in Home Economics and P.E. She worked in the college library and was in charge of the Rogers School library during her senior year. Following her graduation she taught at Boise Junior Academy for one year and then at the Rogers Elementary school at College Place, Washington for two years.

At present she is being a housewife and taking care of two lovely children. Her hobbies include hiking, camping, sewing, reading, horseback riding, swimming, having taught one year at Walla Walla College, and collecting stories.

Students who will be taking classes from Mr. Young can look forward to a very interesting time this next year.

New Dean of Girls

Auburn Academy would like to introduce to the constituency and parents of the Washington Conference the new Dean of Girls, Mrs. Joe Dickerson.

Mrs. J. Dickerson

Mrs. Dickerson is well acquainted with young people, having worked with her husband for over twenty years in denominational employment at Auburn Academy, Thunderbird Academy and Sandia View Academy. Mrs. Dickerson was registrar and secretary to the principal at Sandia View Academy and since coming to Auburn in 1965 she has been doing secretarial and clerical work at Auburn Academy Furniture where her husband is assistant manager. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson are alumni of Auburn Academy.

The Dickerson's son, Steve, graduated from Auburn Academy this past school year and plans to attend Walla Walla College this fall. Their daughter, Linda, is graduating from Union College and has accepted a teaching position for grades 3 and 4 at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Hobbies for Mrs. Dickerson include her family, crocheting and cut work. She has a love for young people and as she makes plans for the new school year she is anxious to meet each girl and her parents.

Science Instructor

Joining the staff of Gem State Academy as Biology, Earth Science, and Chemistry teacher will be Mr. Joe Young.

Mr. Young was born in Takoma Park, Maryland; however, while still very young his parents moved to Florida where his father labored as a minister until his death in 1954. He continued to live with his mother in Florida finishing the elementary grades in Orlando, then going on to Forest Lake Academy where he graduated in 1958. His first two years of college were taken at Southern Missionary College where he majored in Theology and minored in Bible. In 1961 he and his mother came to Walla Walla College where his mother continued her education and he changed his major to Biology, minoring in religion. His great interest in the out of doors and nature caused him to pursue this field.

He received his B.A. degree from Walla Walla College in Biology and stayed on to complete his M.A. in Biology in June of 1965. During his graduate work he studied and taught under a teaching assistantship from Walla Walla College in the biology department. This assistantship involved teaching three laboratory sessions each week plus taking on class lectures as advised by his major professor, Dr. Blake.

Do You Have a Will?

It was not very long ago that an elderly gentleman and his wife in the Seattle area came to the Conference office in regard to their estate. When asked if they had a will, they said Yes, and after discussing their personal estate problems with a representative from the Conference office, they said they were going to leave things as they were temporarily since they already had a will. It was only a short time after this that the gentleman passed away. When their will was examined it was found to be 26 years old and sadly out of date. It was impossible to probate that will, so needless expense was wasted because the estate had to be probated without a will of any kind.

Do not let this happen to you. If you have a will, perhaps it should be brought up to date. It is God's will for us to set our house in order according to Isaiah 38:1. There are many ways this can be done, but the conference suggests a will or a trust agreement, many phases of which should be discussed with you privately so that it will be suited to your own needs.

The corporation will have an office at camp meeting this year in the new Auburn Academy Administration Building. We invite you to come if you have questions or work to be done and talk to one of the corporation representatives.

E. K. MOOERS

Associate Corporation Secretary

Some wonderful plans are in store this year. We are offering new and exciting thrills in nature study including Rock Study. There will be skills to learn in sailing and canoeing including canoe races and sailboat races. It is quite likely there will be some opportunity to learn some of the principles of horsemanship as well.

A splendid waterfront staff will be available to teach many water skills, and the campfire programs will be the best ever. No teen-ager or junior should miss Camp MiVoden this year. Remember the dates:

Gladstone Camp Meeting July 14-23

The Oregon camp meeting begins on Thursday evening, July 14, at 7:00 o'clock. We will have very fine camp meeting help from the General Conference. Since our meeting follows closely upon the General Conference Session, we will have several missionaries, the college choir from Japan, and other special features common to General Conference Session year.

The Japanese Choir will be with us over the first weekend. Elder Andrew Fearing, Elder W. R. Beach, and Elder E. J. Folkenberg of the General Conference will be guest speakers during the camp meeting session.

Then, of course, Elder W. J. Hackett and members of the Union Conference staff will be guests along with the Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today teams.

This will soon be one of the familiar scenes at Camp MiVoden on Hayden Lake.

Plan to come early and be settled before the opening meeting. Bring friends of the truth. The services will be of special interest for everyone. The evening meetings will all be of such a nature that will appeal to our friends.

Felt Coloring Class Planned For Oregon Camp Meeting

Time: 1:30-2:45 Monday, July 18, through Thursday, July 21.

Place: Dining Hall on campgrounds.

Teacher: Mrs. Janice Booher, talented Northwest artist.

Bring your own coloring supplies and felt you wish to color. (A supply of felt materials and also felt markers and oil sticks will be available to those who wish to purchase them.) Every Sabbath school worker in the children's divisions should avail themselves of this opportunity for instruction in the art of making beautiful Sabbath school material.

The Oregon Book and Bible House and Camp Meeting

As we do every year, the Oregon Book and Bible House will move out to the camp ground for camp meeting. Our office in Portland will be closed from July 6 to July 26. We hope you are planning to attend camp meeting this year.

Many Bibles, books, records, and audio-visual aids will be displayed and offered at discount prices, besides our annual TUESDAY BOOK SALE. Come prepared to take advantage of bargains that will enrich your library as well as those with whom you come in contact. Watch for our "daily specials."

Baptism at Milo Academy

As the sun broke through the clouds Sabbath, May 21, seven Milo Academy junior youth gave witness to the saving power of Christ by their participation in the rite of baptism. The youth, desiring to simulate the experience of their Lord Jesus Christ, were baptized in the beautiful South Umpqua River that borders the Milo Academy campus.

There was undoubtedly special interest in the academy staff ranks in the baptism of these youth, for these juniors represented seven academy staff families. Three of the youth, children of ordained ministers on the academy staff, were baptized by their respective fathers

Fir Grove Elementary School Graduation

The largest class in the history of the school was graduated June 1 at the Fir Grove Elementary School in Vancouver, Washington, when 17 boys and girls received their eighth grade diplomas with all the "pomp and ceremony" of a college commencement. Processional and recessional were played by Mrs. Duane Corwin, and Elder Corwin gave the commencement address. The program by the graduates consisted of devotional readings, welcome address, a selection by a brass ensemble; accordion and piano solos, and the address of the salutatorian and valedictorian.

Diplomas were presented by the school principal, Delbert Holt, and the chairman of the school board, Dr. G. R. Fuller, to: Sheryl Myers, valedictorian; Warren Nelson, salutatorian; Helen Dorr, Bruce Denny, Marvi Gluttenfelder, Clell Treat,

All of these boys and girls plan for further education in one of our two nearby academies.

The teachers of the Fir Grove School are Principal Delbert Holt and assistants Fern Wilson, Evelyn McMurry, and Marybeth Vipond.

After an inspection week by Elder H. R. Nelson, it was indicated that the school retains its classification of "Model School."

Summer Session

A college campus is a busy place during the summer session as well as during the regular term. With 555 summer session students and a faculty of 60, the basic program is now under way.

A special event now taking place on the campus is the Summer Conference on Relativity in Undergraduate Physics. Designed for teachers of physics, mathematics, and engineering, the National Science Foundation-supported conference of which Dr. C. C. Barnett, chairman of WWC's department of physics, is director, with Robert Kingman and Robert Whitsett, instructors in physics as his assistants, has drawn capacity registration.

Among those in attendance are six from SDA colleges: Dr. Donald Snyder and Lance Hodges, Andrews University; Lester Cushman, La Sierra College; Kenneth Spaulding, Union College; and Oran McNiel and Dr. James Chambers, WWC.

Other special events scheduled during the summer session are Workshop Aerospace in Education, July 19-28, and Library Workshop, August 1-12.

Three short term courses of special interest to teachers are being given on a two-week basis.

Art in the Elementary School and School Library Administration, the latter a workshop, are scheduled for August 1-12 and carry three hours credit each.

Courses beginning with the second term, July 18, and their teachers include Ornithology, Kenneth Groves, laboratory course offering four hours credit; Administration in the Secondary School, Dr. Reuben Manalaysay; Teaching of Social Studies, Robert Wagner; Introduction to Counseling, Dr. Lynn Ray Callender; School Finance, Professor J. G. Mehling;

Theories in Religious Instruction, Elder J. Paul Grove; School Health Education, Mrs. Carl T. ## Walla Walla College

Diamond Anniversary Year

WWC will celebrate its Diamond Anniversary Year with three major events planned by the College Anniversary Committee and by other alumni and Associated Students, Dr. William H. Shephard announces.

Dr. W. H. Shephard

The Diamond Anniversary will officially begin the weekend of December 2-4, 1966, in commemoration of the opening date of WWC, December 7, 1892. A full schedule of events is planned, says John Christian, chairman of the Anniversary Committee.

A choral program of sacred music will begin the weekend. Outstanding speakers are already scheduled for the Sabbath morning service and a lecture and dedication of the Fine Arts Center is set for Sunday. Other as yet unannounced features will augment the program. Two significant anniversary events are planned for the weekend of March 11-13, 1967. A historic pageant is being readied for Saturday evening in commemoration of Founders' Day, and a symposium by well-known denominational leaders will begin Friday and will continue throughout the weekend on a significant topic. Lectures in this symposium will be given at the Friday chapel service and at the Sabbath morning worship service. Panel discussion on material presented will spark interest Sabbath afternoon.

Climax of the Diamond Anniversary Year will come in June, 1967, with the dedication of the Life Sciences Building and the Diamond Commencement. At all these events, alumni will have a significant part. Student association officers are planning a lecture series in harmony with the important year. The biggest alumni event, however, will herald the coming Anniversary Year when in connection with the Amateur Hour weekend, November 5, alumni will participate in ground breaking for the proposed $190,000 gymnasium says J. J. Hafner, director of development and executive secretary of the public relations committee. By fall it is hoped that there will be 190 members in the important 190 Club so that the gymnasium can become a reality.

An anniversary program will be mailed to all alumni this fall. Plan now to attend as many of these events as possible.

Anniversary committee members are: President William H. Shephard and Business Manager W. E. Anderson, ex-officio members; Kenneth Aplington ('35); Fred Bennett ('55); J. J. Hafner; Roy Hartbauer ('50); Mae Macklin Lay ('24).

Professor Cross Is Honored

The Pacific Northwest section of the Society for Engineering Education, meeting at Washington State University, honored E. F. Cross, professor of engineering and chairman of the department of engineering at Walla Walla College, by the presentation of the $500 Western Electric Fund Award for excellence in engineering education, June 24.

E. F. Cross

Selections of the candidate from educators is on the basis of contributions to education as judged by engineering educators in other colleges and universities, by evaluation of the department of engineering, and by records of the department and the success of its graduates, say Glenn Masden, associate professor of engineering, and Fred Bennett, instructor in engineering, who proposed the name.

In 1947 the engineering educator started the engineering department with 26 students registered the first year. The department has grown with addition of faculty and equipment. In 1964 with the dedication of Kretschmar Hall, the department moved into all-new facilities. The past year there were 96 majors registered and 11 received the B.S. degree in engineering June 5 in one of three majors: civil, electrical, or mechanical engineering.

Sports Fitness Camp

Registration for the second session of the Sports Fitness Camp on the Walla Walla College campus this summer may now be made, says John Waterbrook, director of the program.

A capacity registration for the first term, June 13-July 1, indicated the interest for such a program for 9 to 13-year-olds. Second term dates are July 5-22 but registration may now be made. Application blanks are available at the college swimming pool or at College Place business houses, Mr. Waterbrook informs.

The activities include gymnastics, tumbling, trampoline, and posture training in Columbia Auditorium, sports and games in the gymnasium and on Sittner Field, and swimming classes in the college pool.

Separate classes according to sex, age, and ability allow maximum participation.

Associate Dean of Men

James Roberts, associate dean of men, arrived early in June from Shenandoah Valley Academy where he has been dean of men in Sittner Hall for this summer.

James Roberts

A graduate of Columbia Union College, Roberts took the M.S. degree in counseling and guidance at Madison College, and affiliate University of Virginia, and did further graduate work at George Washington University.

Immediately following his graduation at CUC, the new associate dean was employed as an accountant in a Dayton, Ohio, CPA firm and later as cashier and accountant at Washington Sanitarium and Hospital and as cashier and accountant at a Washington, D. C., architectural firm.

"It is with a deep sense of responsibility that I join the staff of Walla Walla College," says Associate Dean Roberts. "I look forward to working with the men of Sittner Hall and to assisting in the fine program at WWC.

"The summer program is well under way and God is blessing the efforts of the young men as they study and work this quarter."

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts have three daughters: Patti Lee, Sandra Ellen, and Lindo Jo.

Norman Woods, dean of men last year, and associate dean from 1961-1965 is leaving Walla Walla College for a position as dean of students at Loma Linda University. Successor to Dean Woods will be announced in next week's GLEANER.
