Robert H. Pierson Authors Book on Adventist Leadership

When Robert H. Pierson wrote the new Pacific Press book So You Want to Be a Leader!, he was president of the Trans-Africa Division. Just one week after release of the new volume, Seventh-day Adventists elected him to their highest post of leadership.

Elder Pierson wrote So You Want to Be a Leader! for the benefit of all leaders and potential leaders within the denomination. An estimated 150,000 people fill leadership positions in the churches alone, and quite possibly you are one of them. If so, then this book was written specifically for you. Or perhaps you are one of the thousands of other leaders who serve local, union, and division conferences, or Adventist institutions. So You Want to Be a Leader! was written for you also.

In this book Elder Pierson achieves two major objectives. First, he explains the fine points of successful executive and promotional work for Seventh-day Adventists. Secondly, he inspires the Christian leader to ever more dedicated service in reaching new goals for Christ.

In Elder Pierson's own words, "So You Want to Be a Leader! . . . is a spiritual, human relations, and promotional approach to church leadership and administration on all levels—from the local church in Prakasapuram to the General Conference in Washington."

Through the pages of this book Elder Pierson helps you answer many important questions: Why does the church need leaders? Do you truly measure up? How do you get along with people? What kind of committee chairman are you? Can you promote? Do you know how to carry on effective and cordial correspondence? Can you take criticism? Is God your partner?

To answer these and many other questions, Elder Pierson draws on over twenty-five years of experience serving in various lands. "Material for this book has been in the process of collection for well over a quarter of a century . . ." Elder Pierson says.

His years of service include, in addition to Africa, pastoral and administrative posts in the United States, Southern Asia, the West Indies, and the Caribbean.

Elder Robert H. Pierson displays his new book.

Whether you now serve in some leadership capacity or aspire to becoming a leader someday, you will find this book makes inspirational and truly valuable reading. It is available now at your Book and Bible House or camp meeting book tent for just $2.50, paperback, or $3.95, hard cover.

Pocatello Camp Meeting Weekend

Our believers in eastern Idaho are looking forward to July 29-30. Friday evening we will attend the evangelistic meeting in the Airatorium at Garrett Way and Highway 30 at 7:30.

All day Sabbath meetings will be held in the Pocatello Seventh-day Adventist church, 253 Valleyview Drive, beginning with Sabbath school at 9:30. Elder and Mrs. C. H. Hamel, just returned from 25 years of mission service in India, will be a part of the Sabbath school program.

At 11 a.m. Elder W. J. Hackett, president of the North Pacific Union Conference, will be the speaker. In the afternoon there will be meetings at 2:30 and 4:30. Elders L. E. Biggs, Wayne Massengill and E. S. Humann

In the evening we will again join in the evangelistic meeting with Elder Bruce Johnston and the entire field school staff.

Join us in praying for God's blessing to be with us for these special meetings.

GEORGE W. LISCOMBE

Andrews University Field School, Pocatello, Idaho

Eastern Idaho is being blessed these summer days with the presence of an evangelistic field school in Pocatello for July 23 to August 20.

Elder Bruce Johnston and Elder Don Jacobsen are leading out in this thrust for the Lord. A dozen or more theological students from Andrews University are part of the team.

Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Lonergan of the Loma Linda University faculty are presenting health messages each night.

Elder Reuben Hubbard, the district pastor, and his associate, Robert Nickell, and the church officers and members have been working hard for many months in preparation for these days of intensive soul winning.

I appeal to every church member in our Conference to pray most earnestly for the Holy Spirit to be poured out in rich measure in Pocatello. Let us join in a fellowship of prayer that will give power to every effort made in Pocatello this summer.

For those within driving distance, attend as many meetings as you can and bring your neighbors and friends.

It is time for greater soul-winning and this field school is one way God will use to win citizens for Heaven. Pray for Pocatello this summer.

GEORGE W. LISCOMBE

Regional Meetings and The Bible House

The time has come to remind our people that the Book and Bible House will be open for business at the regional meetings at Pocatello, La Grande and Idaho Falls. It is our plan to carry a large stock of books, records, Bibles, Sabbath school supplies and all other Bible House items at each meeting. We will also be selling Loma Linda and Worthington foods, can or case, directly from the Conference van and close to where the Bible House will be in operation.

It is our plan also to have available most of the titles of special books as advertised in our camp meeting advertising circular sent to the field the latter part of May.

At each place, on the appointed weekend, we will be open for business Friday afternoon, Saturday night, and Sunday 8 to 10 a.m. We will also be carrying camp meeting prices on all books and foods for the entire Conference from July 15 to August 15. You will want to take advantage of our liberal discounts.

Student Counselor at GSA

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to introduce to the students and patrons of Gem State Academy our school counselor, Dallas L. Carr. Through the years I have followed the work of Mr. Carr with great interest. I have always been amazed at his ability to make simple the complex things, to illustrate so vividly by the use of stories and personal experiences.

Mr. Carr was born and spent nearly all of his childhood in the Walla Walla Valley. From the third grade through his Master's degree all but one summer's work was taken from Walla Walla College and its affiliated preparatory schools.

After graduating from Walla Walla College in 1956, Mr. Carr became principal and teacher for grades 5-8 at Yakima Junior Academy. In 1959 the Carrs were called to the Kailua Mission School in Hawaii where he was principal and taught grades 7 and 8 until 1964. In 1964 the General Conference asked Mr. Carr to go to Belem, Brazil, where he was vice-principal of Para Academy, a school of 650 students. Because of an illness to Mrs. Carr they had to return to the States in 1966. Presently Mr.

Carr is doing more post graduate work at Walla Walla College.

Mrs. Carr is the former Aileen Chaney. She was born in Viola, Idaho, where she lived until she was in the fifth grade. Her parents then moved to College Place, Washington, where she attended school through three years of college. Since that time she has been busy as a wife and mother, and teaching piano on a private basis.

The Carrs have four children: Douglas age ten, Joyce age 9, Jeanne age 5, and Duane age 2½.

Mr. Carr will be teaching the Senior Bible classes, the Freshman Bible classes and be the School Counselor.

Dormitory Life

What will it be like? Will I find some good friends? What will the deans be like? Parents may wonder if someone will see that their son or daughter studies, and that they get in enough hours of work for their budget. Yes, there will be many questions that students and parents want answered about dormitory life.

As I look back on my four years of dormitory life as a student I can remember no happier days. The friends I made in the dorm are still some of my very best. The deans I had (Elder L. B. Losey, Elder Harold Schwartz, Elder Leon Russell, Elder Everett Waterus) were real men of God. I will always be grateful to them for their guidance and counsel. In fact, the sense of satisfaction they radiated from being a dean inspired me to be one. In spite of the many 15 to 18 hour days, I have never enjoyed any work more.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Carr, Joyce, Duane, Jeanne and Douglas.

Among a number of other new staff members Gem State Academy will have two new deans in our dormitories. In a sense they will be unique in that they are both experienced deans. As I check back into the history of our school it has been a good many years since experienced deans have come into our dormitories. Miss Darlene Palmer and Mr. Bud Dickerson come with experience and are highly recommended as deans.

Dean Palmer was born on a ranch in South Dakota. In her case, as it is in most cases, her ranch background has helped her to be understanding and interested in the problems of young people.

She graduated from Plainview Academy in South Dakota in 1959. Four years later Miss Palmer graduated from Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska, with a double major—one in Home Economics, the other in English, and a minor in secondary education. Since her graduation from college she has been an assistant dean of girls at Upper Columbia Academy. Last summer and again this summer she has been on the campus of Andrews University working toward her Master's degree in Counseling and Guidance.

Darlene Palmer

Mrs. and Mr. Bud Dickerson

Dean Dickerson was born in Roseburg, Oregon, where he attended the local church school. He graduated from Milo Academy in 1960 having attended all four years. During these four years he held many important student offices including Junior Class president, Senior Class treasurer, and also the Associated Student Body president during his senior year. In 1964 Mr. Dickerson graduated from Pacific Union College with a major in religion and a minor in mathematics. He was the assistant dean of boys and geometry teacher at Rio Lindo Academy since his graduation.

Mrs. Dickerson is the former Joyce Brown of Riverside, California. She graduated from La Sierra Academy and then attended Pacific Union College for two years. The Dickersons have a baby boy just three weeks old.

Gem State Academy is very happy to welcome the new deans to our school.

PROGRESS

A long awaited desire is becoming a reality at Gem State Academy this summer. This desire is the Industrial Arts Building.

May I say at this point, that the constituency of the Idaho Conference need to be congratulated for the support that has been manifested in the rebuilding of this school in the past few short years. When we stop to take into account what has really taken place it is almost fantastic. No, it is a miracle!

God has led in the choosing of and guiding devoted Christian men to do what has been done for Gem State Academy.

With the Industrial Arts Building completed we will be offering to our young men classes in Auto Mechanics, Metal Shop, General Shop, Welding, Woodworking, Mechanical Drawing, Architectural Drawing, and Printing, with possibilities of adding the second year of some of these in the following year. This type of program has been encouraged by God's servant, E. G. White. In Education, page 218, we are counseled to teach every student some trade. In Counsels to Teachers, pages 311 and 312, comes the following statement: "With a practical training, students will be prepared to fill useful positions in many places. If in the opening providence of God it becomes necessary to erect a meeting-house in some locality, the Lord is pleased if there are among His own people those to whom He has wisdom and skill to perform the necessary work."

Please remember to give liberally for Gem State Academy advance on Sabbath, July 23.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

must be permitted to compromise the principles of Christian education upon which these schools were founded; nothing must turn us aside to conform, at the expense of our unique denominational standards, to secular and commonly accepted standards in education or its philosophy; and

4. Appeal, in General Conference session, to all members of the church throughout the world to be united in making the blessings of Christian education available to all our children and youth; and, therefore,

5. Pledge our total support of the system of Christian education, including the necessary sacrifice to make these schools even better and more successful."

The concise wording of this action bears very close study. It will be carefully scrutinized by our school boards, and we especially urge all of our people to become thoroughly acquainted with its full meaning. While this resolution may appear commonplace at first glance, it is far from that kind of decision. It actually marks out the future course of Christian education by Seventh-day Adventists, and is especially designed to keep this people on the right path in educating and training our children for the kingdom of God.

A spiritual revival, such as we have not yet experienced as a people, would be experienced in growing dimensions if our schools, churches, and families really made the commitment called for in this resolution. What hinders us from making such a commitment?

Big Lake Youth Camp Builds New Museum

By the time Big Lake Youth Camp starts, construction will be finished on the museum and new dock facilities. The museum will provide teaching area for the nature classes as well as a place for a number of live animals. We are fortunate to have a number of animals which belong to the camp ready to move into these new quarters. Many interesting objects can now be placed on display in this new building.

New to the camp program will be the physical education class which will be taught at all camps. A qualified instructor will be on hand to give instruction in tumbling, use of the trampoline and in many other skills. This class will introduce a new camp honor in physical fitness.

Qualified Water Safety instructors have been secured to operate the entire waterfront again this year. There are new docks for the small craft instruction and swimming as well as canoeing and sailing.

All should get their applications in early and enjoy the special programs which are being put on to commemorate the 40th Anniversary of MV camping.

The dates for the camps this summer are as follows:

Teen Boys—July 31-August 7

Junior Boys—August 7-14

Teen Girls—August 14-21

Junior Girls—August 21-28

Horse Pack Trip—August 14-21

All applications should be sent to the MV Department of the Oregon Conference, 605 SE 39th Avenue, Portland, Ore. 97214.

Oregon Conference Student Rally

Wet weather on July 1 did not dampen the spirits of the student colporteurs and their leaders as they made their way to Portland's Associated MV Mt. Hood Lodge.

A four-day Student Rally for the Oregon Conference student colporteurs was held at the lodge near Mt. Hood. Elder V. J. Rice, publishing secretary, and his assistant, Robert L. Morris, had planned a fun-packed and inspirational weekend. Also assisting were two regular colporteurs, G. F. Wimer and Clyde Payne; and Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Wimer, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Payne, who were responsible for the tasty meals.

Sabbath morning found the colporteurs taking over Sabbath school and church services in the small church at Wemme. The regular membership is about eight—but their attendance was multiplied when the colporteur group of about 40 joined them. Mrs. Robert Reynolds acted as Sabbath school superintendent. A mission feature was given by two of the student colporteurs who shared canvassing experiences with the group. Dick Hart, student assistant, led in a thought-provoking lesson study, and an inspiring sermon was given by Elder Rice for the church service. The students were happy for the opportunity of worshipping with the members of the Wemme church.

The group enjoyed a full weekend of films, hiking, and games—even in the damp weather; but all was not play. Time was set aside for the group to share experiences, questions and answers.

Museum under construction at Big Lake Youth Camp.

The Fourth of July dawned bright and beautiful—the day to leave and Mt. Hood was visible for the first time! A tired, but happy, group left the peaceful scenic forest area to return to the hustling crowds in the cities, where their work is to put the gospel into the homes.

News in Brief

★ Ship literature contacts at Portland harbors have now reached 3,000 ships from 27 different countries, representing 21 varying languages, since the first contact was made in November, 1962.

★ Members of the Choral Arts Society of Japan Missionary College, concluding a three-months' tour of the States, were made honorary citizens of the Rose City at a concert for Mayor Terry D. Schruck Friday, July 15, at City Hall. Special recognition was made of Tashiko Sato from Portland's sister city, Sapporo. The event was covered by local TV and radio news. Two TV stations featured half-hour concerts by the Adventist youth. Representatives from the Japanese Consulate participated in a farewell program at Portland International Airport July 17. A Pathfinder color guard from Coquille carried flags of both nations, and Ralph Sandberg and Paul Coleman directed a pep band in the national anthems. Portland's Chamber of Commerce supplied roses as a departing gift.

Walla Walla College

Dean of Men

Maynard Eugene Loewen, an experienced dean of men, will assume the position of dean of men at Walla Walla College this fall, coming from Columbia Union College where he has held a similar position for the past 13 years.

A graduate of Union College with additional work at the University of Maryland, Dean Loewen has a total of 19 years in denominational service as dean of men and teacher in his major field of history.

Dean and Mrs. Loewen and son, nine-year-old Greg, will be at home in Sittner Hall.

Physical Education Instructor

John William Uhrig joins the faculty of the Health and Physical Education department this fall as instructor, coming from Maplewood Academy in Minnesota where he has been instructor in physical education and dean of boys. A graduate of Union College, Mr. Uhrig has also taught at Jefferson Academy in Texas.

John Waterbrook, who will receive the B.S. degree with a major in physical education from Walla Walla College in August, and who has already had a wide background as director of gymnastics and physical fitness camps in the state of Oregon, joins the teaching staff this fall. Mr. Waterbrook has charge of the total program at the new swimming pool.

Dr. Eugene Winter heads the department which trains for teaching and administration in the professional field; which prepares elementary and secondary teachers, physical education instructors, nurses, and social workers to deal with health problems in school and community and to teach health principles and practices; and which provides service and recreational courses for all students.

Members already on the staff are: Mrs. Carl T. Jones, assistant professor of health education; Miss Leah Kay James, instructor in physical education.

Alumni Meet in Detroit

GLEANER readers, particularly Walla Walla College alumni, will be interested to know that a Walla Walla College alumni breakfast in Cobo Hall cafeteria June 23 during General Conference, drew nearly 200.

Alumni from the 1900-1910 decade

Mrs. Gloria Verge, director of the Art Workshop to be held at Walla Walla College August 1-12, exhibits some of the materials which are being prepared for use in the workshop which will yield three credits for elementary and secondary teachers and others interested in the teaching of art.

to the 1960's heard President William H. Shephard report on advances on campus development and in scholastic attainment. The president spoke of the close rapport between the North Pacific Union in supporting denominational education and Walla Walla College in supplying workers for Seventh-day Adventist organizations.

Senior Class Organizes

Sixty-nine seniors, candidates for bachelor's degrees August 21 at Walla Walla College, organized as a class July 13 with President William H. Shephard presiding.

To lead the group, Jerry Hiner, a biology major, was elected president. Vice president is Nancy Devitt, English major. Both the president and vice president will be continuing study for advanced degrees next year, Mr. Hiner at Walla Walla College and Miss Devitt at the University of Oregon.

Mrs. Ed (Colleen) Hamilton, secretary, and Jeanette Elliot, treasurer, are both nursing majors. Professional opportunities are many, but neither has detailed plans confirmed yet.

Ted W. Bohlman, chemistry major, is chaplain; Donald Wagner, physical education major, sergeant at arms. Both will begin their teaching careers next year, Mr. Bohlman at Pacific

Union College Prep School and Mr. Wagner at Thunderbird Academy.

Among the 69 candidates there are 17 major fields represented. Elementary teaching and nursing tie with 12 candidates in each area. Next in order of numbers come biology and religion, tied, then history, medical technology, English, industrial education, chemistry and business administration. Other areas of study represented by one senior each, are: secretarial science, Biblical languages, interior decoration, theology, engineering physics, and music education.

General Conference Special Action on Christian Education

The following significant action on Christian education was voted by the delegates of the Fiftieth General Conference world session held in Detroit, Michigan, June 16-25, 1966:

"WHEREAS, The Seventh-day Adventist Church has long recognized the doctrine of Christian education as basic and fundamental and this has resulted in the development of a system of Christian schools around the world in which the church's concept of education as being the development of the whole man has been emphasized and which offers education on all levels from primary school through university; and

WHEREAS, These schools have proved a great blessing to the youth of our church, saving them from the world and training them for service; therefore,

Resolved, That in view of these and many other weighty considerations, we as parents, church members, and leaders

1. Reaffirm our confidence in the divine plan of Christian education as presented in the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy and developed within our church; and

2. Give encouragement to those who lead in the schools, supporting their efforts to operate schools that excel in spiritual influence and in efficiency in promoting the best mental, social, and physical development; and

3. Take the position that nothing
