WASHINGTON

The Dowers Bid Farewell to Washington Constituency

Through the medium of the GLEANER, we wish to say an affectionate farewell to the entire membership of the Washington Conference. For nearly nine and a half years we have been privileged to work with you, and it has been a real joy to meet with you at camp meetings, in your churches, and in various other meetings which we have shared together. We have learned to love and appreciate you very much. We are thankful for your faithful support of the Lord's work which has made possible the achievement of some very much needed projects. Your liberality and encouraging participation in the Auburn Academy rebuilding program has never ceased to thrill us. We leave the burdens of this conference to other very capable hands, but we carry with us the memory of friendships and associates that will be ours as long as we live.

We wish publicly to acknowledge the faithful service of Miss Betty Fleming. Through almost all the time we have been here she has served faithfully and efficiently as my secretary. Her great willingness to work long and hard and uncomplainingly has been a source of inspiration to us. We are also appreciative of the service of all the other secretaries of the conference office. These ladies do a tremendous amount of work for which some of us men get the credit. They will have their own special reward when God comes to make up His jewels.

We also wish to gratefully acknowledge the splendid leadership the Lord has provided for the North Pacific Union. Elder Scriven and then Elder Hackett and his associates have been most pleasant to work with, and we are grateful for their counsel and help in so many ways. Their sympathetic understanding of our problems and their strong and wise handling of the work throughout the entire Union has been and is a source of great strength to the cause of God.

We solicit for Brethren Blacker and Murrill your full love, support, and daily prayers. May God abundantly bless them and you as you carry forward to completion the work committed to your trust. Let us do all we can to be ready for the soon coming of the Lord and to help many, many others to be ready also. Let us all seek for the preparation that will make available to us the mighty showers of the latter rain. May God bless and keep you all faithful till Jesus comes.

Former Nazi Air Force Officer Praises Our Church

A lady who was once chief radar operator for the Nazi Air Force in Norway called the writer for help to break from the smoking habit. She had been addicted to tobacco for more than twenty-five years and had tried often to stop but always failed. She followed the 5-Day Plan carefully as it was given to her over the telephone from day to day, and today she rejoices in victory as do many others who take the 5-Day Plan via the telephone.

The above individual spoke of her hardship during the war years. She was drafted into the air force forty-eight hours after her mother's death. The draft papers indicated that to refuse meant punishment by death. She was flown to Norway where she remained until after the war. She told of the more than one hundred women of the air force who were forced to live in small tents without the benefit of heat for months. After the war she was shipped back to Germany and released to find food and shelter wherever she could. Her former home was in the Russian occupied area, so she could not return there. After four years of wandering across Germany begging food and lodging, she secured a position with the United States Air Force where she met her husband-to-be who neither smokes nor drinks. Through the kindness of some of the United States Air Force personnel she and her husband came to "wonderful America" as she put it. Her husband is now payroll accountant for a large industry in Seattle, and she is an IBM operator for the same firm.

In a recent telephone conversation with this couple, they assured the writer that in their daily worship they thanked the God of Heaven for the work of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Should we not as church members also thank Him for the opportunities that come to us daily?

Auburn Academy Early Registration

In an endeavor to speed up the registration on September 4 and 5, Auburn Academy started registering students for this coming school year during the camp-meeting session and will continue doing so throughout the remaining weeks of the summer. Students who complete this phase of the registration before the final date of registration in September will have the advantage of choice of class sections, and the opportunity to plan their class load without undue time pressure.

This is the first time that this program has been attempted at Auburn Academy and it is hoped that it will relieve the complications that become apparent when around 400 students register over a two-day period.

The administration urges that all students who plan to attend Auburn Academy this fall take advantage of this opportunity now by contacting the school if they have not received information previously.

Blood Equals Life

On Friday, July 22, the American Red Cross blood mobile spent the day on our Gladstone campgrounds receiving blood from 278 "wonderful people." Up to that moment the Portland blood bank was completely out of life-giving fluid. The last pint they had was given to one of our people who, while at camp meeting, was victim of a severe accident.

In a letter to Elder C. J. Ritchie, August 4, 1966, E. L. Slick, Director of the Portland Blood program, expressed his special appreciation to our people in these gracious words:

"Again this year, as in years past, you and members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church have given Blood Program outstanding help. With 278 wonderful people coming to the drawing on Friday, July 22, 224 units of blood were provided for distribution to the hospitals we serve. It came at a time when this center was having a difficult time meeting blood needs. Summer vacations, warm weather, accelerated activity—all serve to curtail our donor availability.

"However, we have learned from experience to expect splendid cooperation from you in spite of a very busy schedule. Our records substantiate this. From the first campground drawing on June 30, 1950, which produced 80 units of blood, the picture is one of increased effort and greater production to the present all-time high obtained this year.

"There is another area in which your people deserve much thanks. The effort expended by your young people in donor recruitment was a major contribution to the success of the drawing. In addition, the abundant help given our staff at the drawing, by medical personnel and lay people alike, made our task so much easier.

"I don't know how it can be done, but I hope you have some method in which you can give our heartfelt thanks to all of those who participated in this tremendous effort. Believe me—they are appreciated."

The Conference officers also want to thank all blood donors, Dr. Moreno and his staff, and others who volunteered their services to help make this year's drawing such a success.

After Many Years

Over twenty years ago two ladies from the Milwaukie area visited the Glen VanDeBogart home. They conducted studies, left literature and enrolled Mr. VanDeBogart in the Bible correspondence course. There were Experiences for the children varied with ages. (1) Nurses' caps, doctors' (headband reflectors), and first aid kits were eagerly sought at the Portland Sanitarium campground clinic. (2) Sometimes there was cause for another kind of visit—as David Ringering found with LPN student Linda Lewis. Leaders in the children's divisions were especially busy providing inspiration for the wiggles in their jammed quarters. (3) Nearly 500 "little angels" crowded into the Cradle Roll building where Mrs. Edith Appel was in charge. Juniors eagerly sought autographs and information from mission nationals. (4) Bill Harmon, Coquille; Paula Young, Boring; and Diana Hiett, Estacada, were interested in the costume of Elder and Mrs. V. P. Muthiah, president of the Western India Union. (5) Other Juniors (whose names we do not have) wanted Elder Sunderaj James, public relations director of the Southern Asia Division, to autograph their programs. (6) Lucinda Loftus of Portland made a fish in Primary crafts, while (7) Craig Malvaney, Cornelius, and Lynn Dana, Gaston, made pioneer buggies with other Juniors. (8) Junior Crafts were judged by Elders E. J. Bergman, Frank W. Baker, and T. E. Lucas. (9) Prizes were awarded Debbie (last name not given) of Eugene and Larry Porter of Albany, who posed with Elder Andrew Fearing, from the General Conference ministerial department.

OREGON CAMP MEETING WAS MOST INSPIRATIONAL

For the 20,000 who crowded onto the 72-acre campground both Sabbaths—whether they sat under the main tent, in the sun, or under the new growth of trees around the plaza—the 1966 camp meeting was a spiritual feast.

no immediate results. Later a daughter of the VanDeBogarts who lives in Michigan became a Seventh-day Adventist and began praying for her parents.

Early in 1966 in a laundromat the VanDeBogarts found a copy of The Signs of the Times from which they clipped and mailed a coupon for more information about The Bible Story by A. S. Maxwell. The Pacific Press, in turn, sent the inquiry back to Portland where Literature Evangelist Clyde Payne made the contact and delivered a set of books. However, by mistake he left his order pad in the home. When he returned for it, he called at the house next door and found a young mother, Mrs. Sandra Hall, who was interested in better understanding the Bible. Brother

Payne had already invited the VanDeBogarts to attend the TV Bible Class meetings at the Stone Tower church. Now he suggested that Mrs. Hall drive to the meetings with her neighbors.

Another member, a Brother Huey, placed a white Bible in the VanDeBogart home. Result of these combined efforts, coordinated by the Holy Spirit: Mr. and Mrs. Glen VanDeBogart and their son, Donald, and also the next door neighbor, Mrs. Hall, were baptized by Elder G. Edward Bryan on Sabbath, April 16.

A daughter's prayer was answered. A copy of the Signs left in a laundromat (no doubt by some unknown missionary-minded member) proved to be in the right place at the right time. A forgotten order pad was used of God to get the invitation to the lady next door. A literature evangelist and a layman delivering "The Bible Speaks" lessons were used of God to ripen the seed that was sown over 20 years ago by two elderly members who will not know about the harvest perhaps until the resurrection day.

Thus the Master Weaver brings together the scattered threads to make the pattern beautiful. Your prayers and your distribution of literature—your giving of Bible studies and your invitations to neighbors to hear the message on radio or TV—can, through the ministry of the Holy Spirit, become part of another design for eternity. Do not stop praying. Do not stop scattering our literature and enrollment cards. There will be a harvest even though it may be "after many days."

ing with sudan grass the huge silos located south of the barn.

There is much activity in the field and also in the dairy area. Each silo will hold approximately 100 tons of silage. This, of course, will cut expenses for feeding our registered Holsteins during the winter. We also have a pasteurizer and the young people get good, wholesome Grade A milk three times a day for their meals.

Milo is a rural school with a unique and picturesque setting. Our only contact with the hurry-up program is a highway that runs across the river from the academy, and the air traffic that goes directly overhead from Portland to Los Angeles. Huge planes go over every few minutes, reminding us of the outside world.

Milo has been running a Work and Arts Appreciation Class, taught by Mr. Larry Huston, this summer. Some 20 students are on the campus, each gainfully employed mentally, spiritually, and physically in various occupations of painting, lawn, farm, cafeteria, repair, electrical, and many other skills that we have here on our campus.

It is planned that the scholastic side receive direct attention pertaining to a split schedule. Students will go to school for approximately four hours and then have time set aside so that they can carry on a work program without interruption for a period of two to four hours. Thus our work program can certainly be increased and students can carry a better and more productive work schedule so that expenses in attending school can be diminished.

Prospects look very good for students. Our enrollment is above that of last year at this present date.

The boys' dormitory is being repaired and completely re-painted by a crew of students supervised by Mr. John Knutson, Dean of Boys. Plans are to start the girls' dormitory immediately.

Definite plans are being made by the SA president and also the presidents of the dormitory clubs for good things to be carried on during this next school year. Dennis Munroe, SA; Mary Carlock, Girls' Club; and Jim Aldred, Boys' Club, have been on campus this month to discuss plans.

You students are going to be happy when you see the definite progress being made for an educational program with the main theme of spiritual growth and development.

A fast-moving, thrilling program is planned that will hold the interest of our youth and others from beginning to end. Friday night the King's Heralds will present a special musical program, and Alice Princess Siwundhla will be the featured speaker. Alice Princess can tell firsthand of the thrills of God's providences upon her life, a story that leads from the tragedy of an orphaned childhood to the unbelievable moment when she was brought from Africa to be the guest of the "This is Your Life" television program.

Sabbath morning the worship speaker will be H. M. S. Richards of the Voice of Prophecy, with the King's Heralds to support him in his program as always.

Elder Ed Webb of the North Pacific Union Conference will be with us, and it is hoped that other personnel from the Union and General Conference will be present.

We would like to invite every member of the Upper Columbia Conference to be present on this thrilling occasion, and we would especially urge each church to send a strong delegation of its youth to gain inspiration for a greater youth program in Upper Columbia than ever before.

deacon and Sabbath school teacher over the years.

Probably one of the places on campus that most of the students are vitally interested in is our cafeteria. When Mrs. Miller and her husband went to Laurelwood a vacancy opened in the cafeteria. We are happy to say that Mrs. Lynn Prohaska, who is also an alumnus of Gem State Academy, is filling this position. However, this will not be a new experience for her as she was the cafeteria director from 1957-1962 while our school was still located down in Caldwell at the original site. Mrs. Prohaska has already been with us since the middle of June and has won the hearts of the young people who have worked for her as well as those who have been eating her food for the summer.

Mrs. Prohaska has served as a deaconess, Sabbath school secretary, church clerk, home missionary secretary and Dorcas leader while they attended the local church here in Caldwell. She also served in the Caldwell chapter of the American Red Cross for several years.

May I say that we are certainly happy to have a family like the Prohaskas join us, both of whom have had extensive experience in the work they are taking over here.

The Prohaskas have a son, Jay, age 11, who will be attending our local Gem State grade school. They have a daughter, Karen, who is working in Mountain View, California, and some of you will remember that they had a daughter, Cindy, who was killed last August in a train-car collision.

Psychiatric Nursing

Dr. R. H. Brown, vice president, Walla Walla College, has announced the implementation of the Walla Walla College School of Nursing course in psychiatric nursing utilizing Eastern Oregon State Hospital facilities for clinical experience as approved last March by the Division of Professional Licensing, Washington State Board of Nursing.

Miss Florence M. Culpan will soon be arriving to administer the psychiatric nursing program. Preliminary study was done by Mrs. Robert Blumenthal who also served as liaison officer between Walla Walla College, the Pendleton hospital and the nursing officials.

Effective in the winter quarter 1966-67, the psychiatric nursing program will be based on the WWC campus. In preceding years it has been based at Oregon State Hospital, Salem.

Miss Culpan has the bachelor of science in nursing education degree from Florida State University Tallahassee, and the M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. She has also done advanced study toward the doctoral degree.

The nursing administrator has done eight years of college teaching, most recently directing a psychiatric nursing program under a national grant at Southern Missionary College in Tennessee. Summers she was a psychiatric consultant and clinical director at Harding Hospital, Worthington, Ohio, and at Glendale Adventist Hospital in southern California. She is a member of Pi Lambda Theta and of Kappa Delta Pi.

Earlier teaching was in nursing schools: Worchester City Hospital School of Nursing, Florida State Hospital School of Nursing, and University of Florida College of Nursing.

Assistance in setting up the psychiatric nursing program came from a Mental Health Training grant of approximately $11,000 from the National Institutes of Health, Division U.S. Health Education and Welfare, according to Dr. Brown.

In two parts, the grant covers cost of research and establishment of Walla Walla College's own psychiatric nursing program and provides for two mental health traineeships for senior nursing students interested in specializing in psychiatric nursing. Tuition fees and a living stipend are provided. Announced this week were the names of the two traineeship recipients, Betty Booth, Seattle, and Lois Heckart, Sheridan, Oregon. Both will be receiving B.S. degrees with a major in nursing in 1967, and both plan for graduate work in psychiatric nursing.

Two Workshops

Two exhibitions in W. I. Smith Hall on the Walla Walla College campus last week showed creative projects from Art in the Elementary School and School Library Administration workshops.

The 15 teachers, many of whom had not considered themselves creative, were amazed that Mrs. Gloria Verge, director of the art workshop, "got so much out of us."

Hundreds of lucky pupils will benefit as bulletin board displays and class projects unveil teachers' creativity. Projects made included linoleum cuts, clay sculptures, charcoal drawings, tissue paper collage, tempera paintings, India ink and water color art, and crayon engravings. A trip to Maryhill museum was a workshop highlight.

The concentrated 12-day Library Workshop directed by Mrs. Kenneth Groves and Miss Joy Uehlin, drew lecturers from Portland, Spokane, Seattle, Olympia, and Bellevue, as well as local specialists in public and school library work and in audio-visual education.

Projects required of all 25 who took the workshop were on display in the curriculum library. Each teacher's project was suitable to his own teaching situation. Many chose to assemble visual aid material for an instructional center.

KGTS to Broadcast From Fairgrounds

GLEANER readers are invited to visit WWC's educational radio booth from which station KGTS-FM will be broadcasting at the Southeastern Washington Fair, September 1, 2, and 4, according to Bert Pierson, special events director.

The booth is located in the arena pavilion not far from the area SDA booth. It plans interviews, educational features, Voice of Prophecy tapes, and standard school broadcasts in addition to good music. KGTS is 91.3 mc on the radio dial.

Under the management of M. E. Smith, the Gem State Academy Bakery operations have expanded to the point where it has become necessary to have a full-time maintenance man for the two bakery departments. To this point we have had only one maintenance man for a total school plant including the bakery departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Prohaska and Jay.

Starting July 1, Mr. Way, who has been on the grounds here since the beginning of the construction of this school took place, will be in charge of the maintenance work for the two bakeries, and filling his place here on campus for the school maintenance work will be Mr. Lynn Prohaska who graduated from Gem State Academy in 1944. While he was a student at Gem State Academy he was president of the Junior class; during his senior year he was student body president, and graduated as salutatorian of his class.

Mr. Prohaska was born in Boise, and since his graduation from Gem State Academy he has been a building contractor in the Caldwell area for 15 years. He will join the school working force the 1st of September. We are certainly looking forward to his coming and taking over as plant superintendent. He has been very active in the Caldwell church, holding many positions and at the present time he is one of the Sabbath school leaders. He has also served as a (Continued on page 6)
