Soul Winning Through the Israelite Heritage Course

Designed especially for Jewish friends, the Israelite Heritage course has a two-fold function. First, it reviews great Old Testament prophecies pointing forward to Christ. Second, it shows how New Testament happenings fulfilled the prophetic outline given in Old Testament Scripture.

To date more than 12,510 students have enrolled in the Israelite Heritage course and 3,455 have graduated. Surely a splendid impact for truth has been made!

The giving of the law to Moses on Sinai, health principles as outlined in the Old Testament, the unchanging nature of God's character—these are only a few of the great truths taught in the course. It presents in a candid and convincing way the remarkable heritage which the Jewish people have given to civilization.

One graduate wrote: "I feel I know a lot more about my religion than I did before I took this course." Still another student, after having graduated, expressed his conviction that Christ was indeed the Messiah.

A New York student said: "I have learned a lot from these lessons about God and the Messiah and His love. If you have any other Torah lessons, let me know."

A young Jewish student stated: "I have recently finished your wonderful Bible course open to all Hebrew people. I am now beginning to read the Bible in earnest for the first time."

After discovering that Old Testament prophecies pointed to the Christ of the New Testament, a Jewish student said: "The interpretations contained in this lesson as to the identity of the Messiah are indeed shocking, and must be reread many times, and really absorbed in order to alter beliefs of so many years."

Many of those enrolled are in the highest social and professional strata of their communities.

Surely God is blessing in the Israelite Heritage Course which is under the general direction of Elder Wesley Amundsen, of Washington, D. C., secretary for North American Missions.

Looking over the latest issue of "Israelite," publication for friends of the Jewish faith, are Mrs. Maxine Stickney, reader for the Israelite Heritage Bible course, and Herb Silver, Bible Counselor. Presently enrolled in the Israelite Heritage course are 1,794 students. Displayed on the desk are materials used in connection with it.

If you are interested in a supply of Bible School enrollment cards for the Israelite Heritage Course, write to him immediately. His address is: Wesley Amundsen, Secretary; The Israelite Heritage Institute, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, D. C. 20012.

Surely the many Jewish friends in our midst constitute a constant evangelistic challenge.

Hospital Chaplains Attend Conference

Fifty-two hospital chaplains and chaplain trainees participated in a two-day conference at Loma Linda University Hospital recently.

Robert R. Dollar, a Protestant chaplain at Napa State Hospital (Napa, Calif.) and California regional director of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, said the purpose of the mid-summer conference for students and supervisors was to present papers and discussion related to the students' summer experiences in clinical pastoral work for reaction and evaluation by the group.

Loma Linda University Chaplain Charles W. Teel, treasurer of the Pacific region of the association and host for the session, said that teams of students from six southland cities were present at the conference. The teams, consisting of seminary students and chaplain trainees, represented institutions in Los Angeles, Frontera, Camarillo, Loma Linda, Long Beach, and Norwalk.

The Association for Clinical Pastoral Education is a national organization for Protestant clergymen operating over 200 clinical training centers for chaplains in cooperation with denominational and private organizations.

WWC Alumnus at Hinsdale

Irwin Hansen, a 1967 graduate of Walla Walla College with a bachelor of science degree in business, has joined the staff of the Hinsdale Sanitarium in Illinois as administrative resident.

During the next two to three years, he will rotate from one department to another in the hospital to develop his managerial understanding and skills. He also will continue studies aimed at a master's degree. He is dividing his time in the beginning between the X-ray and surgical departments.

Hansen's father, Joseph C. Hansen, is president of the Alaska Mission of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Irwin is a graduate of Tyrifjord Høyere Skole, Royse-Ringrike, Norway, and attended Alaska Methodist University, Anchorage, Alaska, for the first two years of college.

With him are his wife, Judy, and daughter, Kristin, born March 27. They live at 288 Oxford, Apt. 1, Clarendon Hills, Ill.

Title: Possess Your Soul in Patience—

A first person account of high adventure in Borneo

Author: Arthur Mountain

"Two heads are better than one," according to the old saying. But the wild men of Borneo did not stop with two. Instead of collecting stamps or shells, they collected heads—more gruesome, but certainly more exciting.

Into this wild land went missionary Arthur Mountain and his courageous and efficient little wife, a nurse. Their many years of living with and for the Borneans gave them an insight into the strange customs and beliefs of these superstitious people. In this story, written by request, the author acquaints us with this intensely interesting country.

While candidly portraying the grim aspects of life in Borneo, Mr. Mountain also sparks his story with humor. How the folks back home would smile, he muses, to attend a Borneo wedding where the groom shuffles awkwardly forward in a pair of borrowed shoes two sizes too large, and where the congregation sings, "Stand like the brave, with your face to the foe."

One day in his car he bumped over a huge king cobra nearly eighteen feet long. Mr. Mountain did not pause to so much as look back—he kept going, and fast! Anyway, the snake probably suffered no more than a stomachache, he observed—possibly two, since it was run over twice.

Between the attractive hard covers of this 304-page volume, just released by Southern Publishing Association, are stories all the family will enjoy. Next best to visiting Borneo in person is seeing it through the eyes of one who once charged a wild bull, investigated a haunted hill as a possible mission site, saw the sharp contrast in the filthy heathen longhouses and the neat Christian villages, befriended two little orphans who built their own house and supported themselves—and much more. For $5.95 the book is yours. Order from your Book and Bible House.

WALLA WALLA
GENERAL HOSPITAL

Thrift Shoppe

Walla Walla General Hospital's Auxiliary in one phase of its new expansion plans opened a new Thrift Shoppe last week. The new store is located in a prime location in downtown Walla Walla. Community response with rummage and help has been very good.

Mrs. Lee Cook, vice-president, Mrs. Calvin Trautwein, and Mrs. Leo St. Clair have been instrumental in organizing and launching this bold new expansion project. Their beautiful shop is loaded with new and used rummage items for everyone and has proved very successful thus far.

All proceeds are used by the Auxiliary to purchase critically needed equipment for the hospital. One of their immediate projects is to equip and furnish a new pediatric ward for the General Hospital.

The administration is proud of the

Auxiliary as they provide emotional warmth and tone to attend the necessary disciplined atmosphere of the hospital while also providing the community a means of meeting the human need to give service.

It is still not too late to get on the band wagon and be a "volunteer." Should you desire more information about joining or donating rummage new or used, call Jackson 9-3241, or write Thrift Shoppe, 14 E. Alder, Walla Walla, Wash. 99362.

Camp Meeting in Retrospect

Camp meeting for 1967 is past; but the memory and inspiration is still with us. Magne Fuglheim, with his camera, captured events and faces in an able manner and many appear herewith. Identification is by number. (See pages 4 and 5.)

1. Approximately 4,000 gathered for the first Sabbath morning worship service.

2. W. J. Blacker refers to the theme of the camp meeting—"Be Thou faithful . . ." These words are a portion of the words of the Prophet John as recorded in Revelation 2:10.

3. T. E. Unruh from Southeastern California, spoke every morning at 6:30, and what a spiritual feast it was, as he developed his over-all subject, "The Search for Certainty."

4. W. J. Hackett, president of the North Pacific Union, enthusiastically developed his subject, "God's Part and Man's Part in Salvation."

5. J. J. Aitken, secretary of the General Conference Radio and Television Department, who represented the Voice of Prophecy on the last weekend.

6. Del Delker, whose pleasing contralto voice was heard many times during the short time she was on the grounds, singing, "He Could Have Called 10,000 Angels."

7. Our own Bernie Paulson, in charge of music for the entire camp meeting; and the music was wonderful.

8. Sunny Liu was present for the first part of the meeting and all were blessed by his ministry in song.

9. Vicki Gonzalez, a member of the Lake Forest Park church, playing an instrumental solo.

10. Four new workers were intro-

12. Early morning is the time to spend a thoughtful moment with God. Those in the opening of their tent are Loretta Roderick and her daughter, Cynthia, of Seattle.

13. Hundreds of children gathered in the primary division day by day; and how much we appreciate what the leaders did for these children.

14. In the main auditorium the faithful gathered each day in a favorite place.

15. What more beautiful spot could one choose for a spiritual convocation! Elder Fuglheim captured much of the beauty in this photograph with Mount Rainier in the background.

16. A. R. Lodahl, Sabbath School secretary in the Washington Conference for the past ten years, tells the congregation at the conclusion of Sabbath school that he will soon be moving to the Upper Columbia Conference in a similar capacity. He will be greatly missed in this conference and we wish Elder Lodahl and his family the best as they move to a new field of activity.

17. Each day groups of children and young people enjoyed the facilities at Sunset Lake.

18. E. H. Webb, youth leader of the North Pacific Union, speaks to the youth in one of their special meetings.

19. Some fortunate juniors look forward to a ride with W. E. Baxter in his "Stinson." Elder Baxter, an experienced flyer, gained much of his experience while a missionary in Mexico.

20. The junior tent resembled a "space center" and, of course, every day was story-telling time. E. S. Humann, of the North Pacific Union, in his inimitable way captures their attention.

21. Dean Van Tassel, youth leader in our Conference, explains the control panel to the juniors. The leaders in the junior tent are to be commended for what they did to prepare such an interesting project for the junior boys and girls.

22. K. H. Wood, editor of the Review and Herald, uses a long strip of paper to illustrate the world-wide interest in our church paper. Stamps appear from all parts of the globe.

23. The book tent was a busy place. Mrs. Ruth Komarniski purchases some volumes from Marcia Baker.

24. Rainier Auditorium would not hold all of those who crowded in on the second Sabbath morning, but wonderful weather made it possible for many to sit outside and still receive the blessing of "assembling together."

25. Mrs. Edyth Y. Cottrell, a trained and talented nutritionist, gave instruction to a group of ladies each morning in the Home Economics facility of Auburn Academy.

26. How wonderful to have Arthur White spend several days on the grounds. He spoke six times and had with him some original manuscripts in the handwriting of Ellen White. Here he discusses one with Dr. Reuben Nelson.

27. In one of the rooms in the Administration Building, the kindergarten youngsters met, and here Mrs. Del Marie Null keeps them happy while teaching them valuable lessons.

28. The earliteens had their own meeting place in the little chapel for Nelson Hall. Their motto—"Stand TALL for Christ." Lloyd Wyman, pastor of the Azure Hills church near Loma Linda, California, ministered to the youth and to the earliteens and he appeals to them to "Stand Tall for Christ."

29. The incomparable beauty of Mount Rainier as it appeared day after day.

30. A business session preceded the camp meeting and W. J. Hackett asks W. J. Blacker, newly elected Conference president, to pass on to all of the members of the Washington Conference his appreciation for their loyalty and dedication to the task.

A Leading Literature Evangelist

Lenard Pfieffe and I called on a home together recently and during the canvass I remarked about the beautiful furniture in the home. The man of the house informed me that it had come from Spain. We were later introduced to his wife who said that she was from Spain. I learned, too, that she and her husband were married in that country while he was in the service.

Lenard Pfieffe is one of our new, leading literature evangelists in the Washington Conference, who has delivered over $7,500 worth of literature so far this year. God is using him in a great and mighty way.

I began to show them our literature, and as I was going through the canvass on The Bible Story they both agreed that they needed those books. I also canvassed them on Great Controversy (or Triumph of God's Love) and they were thrilled with this book as well. They purchased over one hundred dollars worth of literature. The wife, who is a Roman Catholic, became so excited over the literature that she wanted to show us her Bible and prayer book. She left the room and returned with two small books. She showed them to Lenard first, while I continued to canvass her husband. She explained that the books were printed in Spanish. Lenard remarked that "Perhaps Mr. Ehlert would appreciate seeing the 'prayer book.'" The thought came to me, "Why should I be interested in her 'prayer book' since I don't understand Spanish." I took the small 'prayer book,' opened the flyleaf and, to my surprise, noted that the author was "La Senora E. G. White, Publishers: Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View, California."

"This is your 'prayer book'?" I asked, and, in her broken English, she told me that it was. I asked her to tell me the name of the book. She said, "The Path to Christ." "Could that be 'Steps to Christ'?" I asked. She answered, "The same."

I asked if she had ever read the book and she said, "Oh, yes, three times completely through, and every time that I feel discouraged, or if something is bothering me, I go to my 'prayer book.'"

I naturally became very interested in this woman's "prayer book" and asked how she had obtained it. She told me that her brother in Spain had sent it to her. "But my poor brother! It took him two years to get a letter from the Pope to be dismissed from the Roman Catholic Church." She then told me that he is now a Seventh-day Adventist. "But my poor brother!" she repeated. "Why is that?" I asked. "Oh," she said, "he spends all of his time working for that church."

From Spain to America! What a witness this brother is! And using one of the greatest mediums there is in witnessing—LITERATURE.

What a privilege it is to be a literature evangelist and to see the mighty power of God's leading.

We would like to invite you to share in this great work of spreading the gospel.

VBS in Centralia

The Centralia church conducted a very happy and successful Vacation Bible School from July 31 to August 4. A total enrollment of 49, of which only nine were from Seventh-day Adventist homes, had an interesting and profitable week. Special features of the program included a daily object lesson presented by Mrs. E. M. Oberg, motion pictures on nature themes, and a prize drawing each day.

Space forbids individual mention of each of the twenty adults who participated, but each one did faithful work. The closing program was well attended by the non-Adventist parents, and we were made happy to see several of the children at Sabbath school the next day.

Brief History of The Ronan Church

It is God's way to bless humble beginnings. When His people press forward in unity, sacrifice and persevering effort you can be sure of wonderful results. A number of years ago the Harold Adams family with others from the Hot Springs church helped conduct a branch Sabbath school in the Ronan area. The interest continued to grow as this energetic group worked and prayed most earnestly while they met in homes and rented churches for several years.

In 1961 two well-located lots were purchased, and ground was broken for a new church in the spring of 1966. Thirty charter members became an officially organized church on June 10, 1967. The new church building was dedicated debt free July 22, 1967. This beautiful little edifice, with a seating capacity of 150, has wall-to-wall carpet, padded pews, and a daylight basement with room for a church school as well as adequate children and youth Sabbath school rooms.

Elder Neal C. Wilson, vice-president of the General Conference of SDA for the North American Division, gave the dedicatory address to an overflow audience exceeding 200 people, and Elder W. J. Hackett, president of the North Pacific Union Conference of SDA, was the speaker for the morning church service. Mon-

The Vacation Bible School at Miles City, Montana, had 35 enrolled with nearly 50 percent of these from non-Adventist homes. The Bible School was directed by Mrs. Don South. Six teachers assisted Mrs. South in making the Bible stories more plain to these enrollees.

Mrs. Don Kingsley directed the arts and crafts that were taught in this Bible School.

OREGON

Evangelistic Crusade at Lents

TV Bible Class speaker George Knowles and Evangelist Elmer Koronko will unite their labors with Elder G. Edward Bryan in an evangelistic crusade in the newly enlarged and remodeled Lents church in Portland, beginning Friday evening, September 22, and continuing nightly through October 14.

If there is someone whom you would like to have receive a special invitation to these meetings, please send the name and address to us immediately. We would also like to have the name and address of anyone who has shown any interest in our message or who has had former connections with our church.

In a few brief sentences, please let us know the nature of your contact with the person, or persons, whose name you are supplying. Also let us know whether or not there is any known interest in our message at the present time.

It is most effective when you can personally bring the one for whom you are burdened to the first meeting of the evangelistic series. We have had folks travel long distances to do this. Many times the results have been most rewarding. When you cannot possibly do this, a personal letter from you encouraging your friend or loved one to attend will be a help. Others have made long distance phone calls the evening before the meetings are to start, encouraging friends to attend.

Please pray for us as we do our part. We are praying that you will do all that you can. Send information to:

Calling All Consecrated Lay Members

Soon the summer will be over. Let it not depart with the lament, "We are not saved." Rather let us recognize that the season is now here for gathering the harvest; so let us sing, "Bringing in the sheaves." Through the consecrated efforts of many of you, combined with Elder Knowles' presentation of the truth on the TV Bible Class, and the many classes and decision meetings held by pastors and evangelists, God has blessed with more than 600 precious souls during the first two quarters of this year. With hearts aflame with love for God and a burning desire for the unsaved, let us now rally, during this harvest time, to bring in an even greater harvest before 1967 is past.

The conference has announced four great soul-winning rallies to launch our fall and winter efforts in Gift Bible evangelism. Our lovely new series of lessons, prepared by Elder George Knowles, is on the press. "Christ Speaks to Modern Man" will disarm prejudice and, we hope, reach the hundreds and thousands of wonderful, sincere, Christian people now in the popular churches. God has blessed abundantly in the preparation and printing of these lessons, and now they are being prepared for release on the TV Bible Class. Each lesson will have a four-color masthead and will contain several new features, like "This Week's Guiding Principle," "This Week's Prayer" suggestion, and "Bible Words." A Christ-centered approach to the truth is being used this time.

We feel confident that hundreds and thousands of our members who have not yet participated in the Gift Bible evangelism program will, this fall, join the hundreds who have. To those who desire earnestly to win some soul to Christ and this truth, and to those who desire to be more efficient in their efforts, we issue an urgent appeal to be present at one of the four rallies which have been planned.

Our new conference president will "sound the battle cry," and the writer will fully review the A-to-Z steps in our coordinated TV Bible Class—Gift Bible evangelism program. Elder Knowles will teach you how to combine your efforts with those of our ministers and evangelists to gather in the largest harvests.

The new television programs will be released on September 17 in Portland, September 24 in Eugene, and October 1 in Medford. Churches should order a reserve quantity of Bibles and the new lessons so that they will be on hand for the commencement of the new series.

Our pastors at each rally will present active lay workers and their trophies, if they are present. If you have experienced the thrill of seeing a person you have worked and prayed for join the church, draw this to the attention of your pastor.

This type of meeting is what many, many have been longing for. It is here. Plan to attend. Each rally will commence at 3:00 p.m.

Teachers Welcome Former Pupil

Elder Francis A. Wernick is not coming to Oregon to be among all all strangers, he has discovered.

Two people were exceptionally proud and happy to greet him upon arrival. Mrs. R. F. Cook of Silverton was his first-grade teacher, and also taught him in the seventh grade. Mrs. Gilbert Christianson of Eugene was his eighth-grade teacher. These ladies are happy to have had a part in the early training of Elder Wernick.

Mrs. Cook recalls her first year in Lake City, Iowa, where she lived with the Wernick family. They so firmly believed in Christian education that they converted their living room into a classroom, and it was there that the local church school was started.

Only three pupils enrolled the first year, but the next term their home was found to be inadequate, so Brother Irving Wernick pioneered in the building of a new schoolhouse on ground which he furnished. Others quickly moved in so that their chil-

Elder Wernick spent his entire eight years of elementary education in this small one-teacher school.

Report from Coos Bay

"And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, Praising God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." Acts 2:46, 47.

This was the spirit and result of a series of 23 Bible Crusade meetings held by Elmer Koronko in the Coos Bay IWA Hall. Beginning in mid-April, the meetings continued nightly for three weeks, with the interest mounting as the subjects progressed. A film series on the "Life of St. Paul" took the audience with Paul and his companions through his thrilling experiences and challenges of the New Testament. Special musical numbers, vocal solos, duets and groups, interspersed with instrumental selections, furnished added inspiration nightly. Church members invited and brought their White Bible interests, and all who attended for ten nights received a Bible as a gift.

As a result of the meetings, in a series of four services, Pastor Harry Sharp baptized 27 souls into the remnant church. Seven of these had become interested through the TV White Bible program.

The Coos Bay membership is very appreciative of the fine series of meetings and the dedication of Elder Koronko and his wife in their tireless devotion to soul-winning.

Following the Coos Bay meetings, Elder Koronko held a shorter series of sixteen meetings in the Reedsport area.

Vacation Bible School in the Coos Bay area this summer was an added evangelistic effort. Held in the church's elementary school in North Bend, the VBS enrolled 201 enthusiastic new generation members to sing, learn and do in the annual event.

A large majority of the students "couldn't miss a day," and arrived at closing exercises on Thursday night with perfect attendance records. On the last day each student brought his sandwich and the school personnel furnished punch, cookies, salad and chips for a picnic lunch.

Mrs. James Humbert, ably assisted by Mrs. Lars Bjelland, headed the entire project, with Pastor Sharp leading the flag salute ceremony each morning and the songfest following. He also held the young folk enthralled with his limitless repertory of stories.

Mrs. Bernard Bunnell, Mrs. Joe Giczy, and Mrs. Henry South, with many assistants, headed the junior, primary and kindergarten departments, respectively. The craft program was arranged and directed by Mrs. Odell Brown with assistants for each division. Mrs. Bessie Humbert provided a nature lesson with young bluejays that had been deprived of their nest, and Mrs. Corbett Mullins exhibited a wildcat kitten and his antics and told a little about the habits of the species.

It was interesting to note that of the 201 students enrolled, 118 were from non-Adventist homes.

Plans are now materializing for story hours to hold the young people from Vacation Bible School and gain their friends for eternity.

Christian Education Costs But Pays

Christian education costs but it pays in the belief of the large number of patrons of the Hood River-White Salmon church school who joined in a recent work-bee and social hour at the school on Sunday afternoon. For some it began a little earlier with some clean-up work on the church grounds, and then at 3 o'clock a large number of willing workers converged on the school grounds where grass was moved, weeds pulled, shrubbery trimmed and watered, and several loads of trash hauled away. Several assisted Brother Mark Thomas in the completion and placing of a fine welded-pipe baseball backstop. After a pleasant potluck supper together, there were still

Not only is the transformation in appearance of their school grounds and the adjoining Welfare Center an encouragement to those who worked, it is also a better witness to all who pass by. Under the able and energetic leadership of Pastor Mart Mooers, and with experienced, dedicated teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Drury, the members look forward to another good school year.

If you have not already made definite plans for your young people to be in a Christian school this coming term, now is the time to be doing so. Christian education costs, but it also pays. One couple confided recently that thinking they could not afford it "saved the farm but lost the boy."

The church school is not just the education of the public school plus Bible classes. Just as the false theory of evolution is interwoven through all the textbooks and classes in the public school, so the principles and truths of God's word are interwoven through all the classes and activities of the church school. The greatest mission field of the church is its own young people.

The words of Jesus to His disciples when they thought other things were more important, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not," must surely apply now to the church school. What shall it profit us as parents or church members if we "gain the whole world" but lose our own young people?

Non-Adventists Assist With VBS

Vacation Bible School at Sheridan is not news anymore. But when two-thirds of the program helpers comprise adult non-Adventist church members, it again becomes news.

At first, a summer Vacation Bible School was not in the plans this year as one had already been held only two months before in conjunction with the series of evangelistic meetings. Nevertheless, several members felt impelled to hold one anyway, at least for those on the kindergarten level.

Challenged with the lack of church member help, there was only one thing to do to acquire sufficient help and that was to appeal to the non-Adventist mothers whose children would be attending. An excellent response was the result with six non-Adventists assisting the three or four Adventists who led out.

On recognition night, 25 of the 30 kindergarten children enrolled received diplomas. What made it unique was that the awards were given out by an interdenominational VBS staff made up of Adventist, Catholic, and Christian church members.

Sheridan neighborhood non-Adventist mothers with some of their children assisted in conducting the Sheridan Vacation Bible School. Six assisted the three adult SDA mothers who led out in the teaching and craft program. In the center of the picture is the only Adventist, Maylene Dana, who assisted her mother, Mrs. Ellen Dana (not in picture), who made the daily trip from Laurelwood Academy to serve as pianist.

The evening occasion was also well attended by the other non-Adventist parents of children for whom the annual vacation Bible School had become an expected event. Marking the third year of urging the neighborhood children to attend also the regular Sabbath school, VBS has resulted in a continuous attendance of non-Adventist children of 20 each Sabbath of the year.

Even the parents of the new eight enrollees this year were so favorably impressed that they want their children to continue attending the regular Sabbath school program along with the others. Two of the ladies have even started to attend the Sheridan Dorcas meetings as a result.

Hopes are high for even more dramatic results from the very ordinary beginnings of a simple VBS planned for non-SDA children. Indeed, the potential of the promise, "A little child shall lead them," has great possibility of an adult harvest from the humble beginnings of this Bible school begun three years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Jeri Nelson and Mrs. Leona Dade.

SDA Optometrists Meet

On June 30 through July 3, SDA optometrists and their families met for an international convention in Eugene, Oregon. Their first meeting was held on Friday evening, June 30, with vespers in the Eugene SDA church. Elder D. G. Matthews, pastor of the Eugene church, was the speaker.

Sabbath school and church services were held at the Eugene Junior Academy. We were privileged to have Dr. C. E. Randolph, associate medical secretary of the General Conference, with us. Dr. Randolph was our speaker for the eleven o'clock service. He challenged us to keep our foundations firm in the Bible and Jesus Christ.

Sabbath evening vespers were held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Bond. Elder Sunny Liu brought a half hour of vocal music. Elder W. J. Hackett, president of the North Pacific Union, gave an outstanding presentation on science and the Bible.

The first business session and election of officers was held on Sunday at 10:00 a.m. Dr. Herbert H. Moore of Toppenish, Washington, was elected to serve as the new president.

A Ladies' Auxiliary was organized with Mrs. Henrietta Stumpf, of New Orleans, La., as the first president.

Members voted to hold the 1968 convention at Banff in the Canadian Rockies.

Hood View School Expansion

The Hood View School, which is located fifteen miles east of the Portland city limits, serves a complex of four churches which include Estacada, Gresham, Hood View and Sandy. Four new classrooms are being added to the school this summer. Two of these will be completed in time for the opening of school September 5. Melvin Shaw, who is beginning his fourth year as principal, is supervising the building project.

The school will be staffed with eight full-time teachers, including Principal Shaw. Brother and Sister Gary Dennis are coming to us from Walla Walla College and are newly-weds. His home room will be the ninth grade; his wife, Jacqueline, will teach in the lower grades. Darrill Mund will teach eighth grade; Mrs. Edith Appel, seventh grade; Don Smith, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Barbara Parmele and Mrs. Norma Nogle will also teach in the primary grades. David Grams will teach band and instrument lessons; Mrs. Luetta Shaw is continuing as piano teacher and school treasurer. Otto Schaffer continues as our faithful custodian. There will be five bus routes with capable drivers for each.

According to inquiries and pre-registration information, last year's enrollment of 182 will be easily surpassed. We solicit your prayers for our boys and girls and our devoted staff of teachers.

to love you very much. As we leave you, we leave with you a very large portion of our hearts.

During our stay here, God has richly blessed our efforts with nearly 400 souls baptized into the remnant church. As we have moved from district to district across the conference we have greatly appreciated the wonderful cooperation of the pastors and church members. We shall never forget your friendship and loyal support. Our lives have been deeply enriched through our association with you.

Now, on August 10, we sail to West Nigeria, Africa, to endeavor to serve the Lord there. It is a great challenge to us as we are being called upon to help train native Africans to be effective soul-winners for the Lord. Please pray for us. We need the prayers of

UPPER COLUMBIA

Good-Bye to Upper Columbia

It was four years ago that we came to the Upper Columbia Conference. At that time, we never realized what great joys would be ours during our stay here. You call this "God's country," and we well agree. In the 45 states in which we have lived and visited there is no place we have found that is as great as this. Not only is this "God's country," you are surely "God's people." We have come

Last Call!—"Are all the children" . . . "scheduled to be in one of our Christian educational institutions this fall?" If not, then maybe we, as parents, church leaders, and educators, have failed in our responsibilities as "shepherds of the flock."

In these days of worldly turmoil, foreign influences, and vain philosophies, it behooves each of us to make sure that we have made every effort and sacrifice possible so that no one youth will be deprived of a most healthful and spiritual environment while pursuing his education.

To be sure, we may be able to rationalize and give many excuses as to "why not"—but are these real valid reasons that God will accept?

Wise counsel has been given as: "When those who have reached the years of youth and manhood see no difference between our schools and the colleges of the world, and have no preferences as to which they attend, though error is taught by precept and example in the schools of the world, then there is need of closely examining the reasons that lead to such conclusions." F. E., p. 290.

May we unitedly accept and act on the admonition of Ellen G. White as given us in the book, Counsels to Teachers, Parents, and Students: "In planning for the education of their children outside the home, parents should realize that it is no longer safe to send them to the public school, and should endeavor to send them to schools where they will obtain an education based on a Scriptural foundation."

Idaho Church School Registration

Will you have a child in church school this year? If so, make sure that you enroll him during the time of registration. Check with your local pastor or school officials for the exact time and place.

The Book and Bible House is the distributor of the textbooks to our Idaho church schools. These books are sent to the schools when we receive an official order from your church. These orders are compiled from the student enrollment at the time of the school's registration. If you do not register, it means that your child's school books will not be on hand at the time school opens September 5. Since our inventory of books is very low about that time, it means that late orders may delay the student as much as several weeks in getting the books he needs.

September 3, 1967

Yes, at the stroke of midnight Sunday, September 3, 1967, the Voice of Prophecy NIGHT OWL broadcast begins and will be heard each Sunday midnight thereafter on KBOI, Boise, Idaho, 950 kcs.

The radio pollsters tell us that thousands of people are up and listening to radio at this time. Reports from the Voice of Prophecy confirm that where this NIGHT OWL program is aired the response is excellent.

Give this good news as wide publicity as possible and remember the Voice of Prophecy NIGHT OWL program begins Sunday midnight, September 3, on KBOI, Boise, Idaho, 950 kcs.

Your cooperation in registering your children on time will be to the advantage of you the parent, the student, the school and the Book and Bible House.

Jose State, Mr. Liske did a study on the Electronics Technician, with interviews and visits to industries such as Philco, Hewlett Packard, and Lockheed in the Bay area from San Francisco to San Jose. The study was concerned with needs of industry for technicians, working conditions, pay scale, work the technician does in a large industry, and the type of training best to fit him for a position.

Results of the study which is now completed proved both interesting and worthwhile, says Mr. Liske, and will be valuable in evaluating the curriculum and in counseling students wishing to enter industrial positions.

English Instructors

Miss Andrea Carol Downs, who will be receiving the M.A. degree in English from the University of California at Los Angeles in August, joins the English department faculty at Walla Walla College in September, President William H. Shephard announces.

A graduate of La Sierra College in 1963, the new instructor will be teaching courses in Freshman Composition and American Literature, says Dr. Helen Evans, department chairman.

Following graduation she was employed as editorial assistant on a medical journal at Loma Linda University until she began graduate study at UCLA.

Also new on the English department faculty are Nathan Moore, assistant professor of English who began teaching the second term summer session, and Miss Judy Komen, instructor in English who is receiving the M.A. degree in English from the University of Washington this month.

Walla Walla College

Presidential Awards

At the close of the Physical Fitness Camp on the Walla Walla College campus August 11, Jeff Denny and Katherine Sass each received a Presidential Award, highest award for performance on the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Youth Fitness Test established by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966. Making the awards was Representative Vaughn Hubbard, Washington state congressman.

Jeff had a 93 percentile average and Katherine a 96 percentile average, well above the requirement for the highest award, said John Waterbrook, camp director.

Steve Schiller received a trophy and Josephine Ledford an achievement award in the same ceremonies.

Physical Education

With the increase in the tensions of modern-day living, Health, Physical Education and Recreation are taking on greater significance. Medical science recognizes that unless the individual plans regular periods of pleasurable physical activity and mental relaxation, he becomes more and more susceptible to the stress diseases. Our national administration also is emphasizing physical fitness. At no time in our nation's history has there been a greater emphasis put upon the necessity of individual fitness.

Eugene Winter

As a result, the demand for teachers of health and physical education has materially increased. The supply of elementary physical education teachers is much below the demand. The lack of women physical education teachers on all levels is critical. Every woman who has graduated from physical education at Walla Walla College has had several calls from which to make her final selection. We would like to encourage any young person who is interested in this interesting field of education to give serious consideration to majoring in Health and Physical Education.

We are looking forward to new facilities in the not-too-distant future. The new pool is filling an important spot in the teaching and recreational activities at the school. A strong program is being planned for the coming school year and we hope those students not enrolled in regular physical education classes will take advantage of participating in some of the various activities.

Several students are taking advantage of the new minor in Health Education which was offered for the first time this past year. We are glad to see the change toward a more practical approach to an adequate education of our students and believe that education in Health, Physical Education and Recreation will do much to make their lives more meaningful.

The staff of the department consists of five well-qualified teachers. Miss Leah Kay James will soon complete her work for the master's degree. She is in charge of the women's physical education and teaches some of the elementary education teachers' Physical Education classes. Mrs. Carl T. Jones, one of the denomination's outstanding teachers of health education, teaches courses in Health Education which are valuable not only for the Physical Education major or minor but for all college students.

John Uhrig is the instructor in the men's services courses and supervises the intramural program. John Waterbrook is in charge of the aquatics program and teaches the men's gymnastics.

He is also in charge of the men's tumbling team and is the director of the Youth Fitness Camps during the summer. The theory classes of the major and minor programs are the principal responsibilities of the writer.

The department offers a wide selection of activities, the bulk of which are aimed at providing a basis of good recreation throughout life. Courses in camping and hobby crafts are available in the recreation area and are always popular with the upper division students.
