"I Was in Prison . . ." (Refer to Matt. 25:36)

MORTEN JUBERG

Ask Leonard C. Haswell, Nashville, Tennessee, his opinion of our journals and he will tell you the magazines are valuable tools in personal evangelism.

His opinion is based on personal experience, because over the past 20 years he has seen 300 individuals give their hearts to Christ, partly with the help of the magazines.

The almost unbelievable saga of Mr. Haswell and his remarkable experiences began two decades ago. He and his wife had just been baptized.

The couple looked for missionary work. Their pastor, seeing their willingness to help, suggested some tasks. "I would like to have you visit some of the shut-ins who do not have a chance to come to church," he told the Haswells. And, as an afterthought, he asked, "Would you take a Sabbath School Lesson Quarterly to a young man in prison?"

Mr. Haswell's ideas of visitation did not correspond exactly with those of his pastor. To visit shut-ins seemed like a good idea, but he had reservations about visiting a locked-in person—one who had broken the law and was jailed. Instead of visiting the prisoner, he mailed the Sabbath School Lesson Quarterly.

Gently prodding her husband, Mrs.

Haswell suggested a personal contact with the prisoner instead of a proxy visit through the postman. Hesitantly, Mr. Haswell drove to the grim, foreboding Tennessee State Prison.

Even though the first visit was casual, several prisoners asked an unexpected question, "Would you start a weekly worship service?"

From this request came a Sunday morning Bible class with Mr. Haswell as the teacher. The group continued to grow in number. With growth came shifts to larger quarters—the printing room, the library, and finally to a newly constructed prison chapel. This last shift led to another change, the institution of a Sabbath morning service.

Rapidly the years have slipped by, and today Mr. Haswell's prison church has a weekly attendance of from 50 to 60 inmates. But most remarkable has been the effect on the prisoners. Over the two-decade span of the weekly penitentiary visit, about 300 prisoners have been baptized.

Faithfulness is part of the secret of Mr. Haswell's success. In the 20 years of visiting the dismal prison, he has missed only four Sabbaths. It has been no easy task, for his Sabbath day begins early—very early—at 4:30 a.m. when he arises to study. He drives to the prison for Sabbath school at 7:30 a.m. and preaches for the worship service at 8:20 a.m.

Another part of the secret of Mr. Haswell's success has been literature. "I use Message each week," Mr. Haswell reports. "The magazines are largely responsible for the conversions that have taken place."

One of those who have been baptized is Charles Moore. A smiling, lighthearted young man, he is now a pressman at the Southern Publishing Association. A former prisoner, he now helps print the magazines that aided his decision to follow Christ.

Before this, Charles Moore's life plans and hopes came to a jolting halt when he was convicted of a crime and sentenced to the Tennessee State Penitentiary. In the painfully dull monotony of a prison, almost anything that breaks the routine is a blessing. This applies even to a Bible study, an unusual choice for criminals.

"I was looking for a means of escape," says Charles Moore of his experience. "When you are behind the walls, you watch people and see their characters."

Two inmates made an impression on Moore, and he followed their example by attending the Sabbath morning services. It was more than a break in the routine to the young prisoner. There was hope. This led to Bible Study.

"I got so involved because for the first time I found something that was real," says Moore. This led to his baptism by the prison chaplain.

Following his release on parole from the penitentiary, he was hired by the Southern Publishing Association. With the job came training in a trade, and Charles Moore is now a skilled pressman.

One of the promises of the Scriptures is, "My word . . . shall not return unto me void." The weekly ministry of Mr. Haswell aptly demonstrates the truth of this text. Through the spoken word and in the printed page, God speaks to man.

Message carries on this ministry of the printed page. Seven years ago a new idea for the magazine was born. Special centerspread articles were prepared, and reprints of these articles were made available as tracts. These up-to-date reprints have proved to be a valuable tool to the laymen also. In the seven years of using the reprints, nearly 28 million of them have been distributed.

All of the eternity-slanted material has its effect. Letters by the hundreds come to the editorial offices of the Southern Publishing Association expressing appreciation for the magazines.

UNION COLLEGE ALUMNI OFFICERS
OREGON CHAPTER

This Is Man and this is his world

Man's world today is spinning around him much faster than his mind can move. A thirty-minute daily newscast worries him with the problems of Asian and Middle Eastern wars, gives him a twinge of concern about the stock market decline and the country's ever-present campus riots, plus providing the distinct possibility that his wife may want to spend a future family vacation on the moon.

The church today is a body whose philosophy was born in the horse and buggy era. It endured the growing pains of a world war, a depression, and another world war. It muddled through the 50's and emerged in this decade, like the majority of other religious and secular organizations, regrettably unprepared for the explosion of consciousness it must face.

Today one key thought is being frequently expressed, by both church laymen and leadership: It's time for the church to grow up. It must change, not simply for the sake of change, but for the sake of salvation. This involves exciting experimentation, perhaps some trial and error, and will hopefully result in methods that can meet the evangelistic challenge of a complex society.

This year the Southern Publishing Association has taken a denominational tradition, the Missionary Book of the Year, which has been published annually since 1952, and moved it to the evangelistic forefront. Though the Winds Blow is today's book, in approach and content, as well as in appearance. Its author, Robert H. Pierson, is president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He is in a position to constantly feel the pulse of the worldwide church and the millions of souls it seeks to reach.

In planning this important book, Elder Pierson considered every complicated facet of human existence. As a result, he presents the gospel message in beautiful simplicity, using language and attitude which fit today's mode. Truth becomes a workable, tangible part of life in Elder Pierson's succinct daily devotional readings.

But a book is not just an author and a printing press. And Though the Winds Blow is not merely a book; it is a complete soul-winning program. Before this important volume ever reaches the counters of this country's Book and Bible Houses, it will have been touched, molded, influenced and improved by hundreds of dedicated Christian men and women.

The publishers consider this particular Missionary Book of the Year to be of such significance that they have decided to try an important experiment in communication. For the first time in denominational history, the Missionary Book of the Year has become the subject of a special art film program. A script that is both symbolic and specific presents in graphic detail the dilemma of contemporary man. Unusual color photography and a unique stereophonic sound track combine to make this program a distinctive mind opener for every church member. Book and Bible House managers will cooperate with church pastors and conference lay activities leaders to give this program unprecedented circulation throughout North America during 1969.

Though the Winds Blow, and the program that has been built around it, will make it possible for the church to reach a new frontier in evangelistic communication. It is time for every church member to expand his own consciousness, to commit himself to the challenge of reaching today's souls with today's methods.

Or, in the words of Christopher Morley, "When you sell a man a book, you don't sell him just twelve ounces of paper and ink and glue—you sell him a whole new life."

PORTLAND

Director of Nursing Service Leaves

Grace Scheresky, R.N., Director of Nursing Service at Portland Adventist Hospital, left for a similar position at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Hinsdale, Illinois, last month.

Miss Scheresky, a 1949 graduate of the Portland Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing, became Director of Nursing Service in 1956, a post she has held since that time. She explains her leaving, "to gain more experience in another hospital," and "I would like to work in another setting for a few years."

After graduating from nursing in 1949, Miss Scheresky worked for a short time in Minot, North Dakota. She returned to Portland in 1951. In 1954 Miss Scheresky graduated with her B.S. degree at the University of Oregon Nursing School. After assuming the post of Director at the hospital she again returned to school, this time to Loma Linda University where in 1961 she completed requirements for her Master's degree.

While in Portland Miss Scheresky belonged to the Oregon Nursing Association and the Oregon League of Nursing in which she served as a board member and on various committees. Miss Scheresky served for three years as chairman on the Oregon Board of Nursing under Governor Mark Hatfield. This is an official body, responsible for the registration of nurses, and it reviews applications for registration. The board approves R.N. and L.P.N. school programs.

During the spring of 1967 Miss Scheresky went to Port of Spain, Trinidad, on a consultant basis for six weeks. While in Portland she has been involved in various church activities.

As Director of Nursing at Portland Adventist Hospital, Miss Scheresky has introduced the coordinator system in which the R.N. on the unit coordinates all efforts to get the professional nurses closer to the patient. She has also introduced the reorganization of Nursing Service with the instituting of unit chiefs. She and Miss Beulah Fenton, director of In-service Education, also wrote a Morning Watch booklet. Miss Scheresky has also put secretaries on each unit and worked with the hospital architect, Phillip R. Balsiger, on the design and layout of the new west wing.

Miss Scheresky will be missed. But most feel that it is better to miss her than never to have known her.

Smoking Clinic

More than 236 people attended the Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking that was conducted by Portland Adventist Hospital, January 19-23. At these group therapy meetings both the physiology and psychological aspects were discussed.

The Five-day Plan, which is based on will power, was conducted with lectures by C. Erwin Syphers, M.D. and Calvin Hartnell, chaplain. A film was also shown each night. Dr. Syphers, a thoracic surgeon, explained the dangers and results of cigarette smoking. He is a specialist in the area of the thorax—from the neck to the abdomen, including the heart, lungs, esophagus.

Aubrey Burke, an inhalation therapist, discussed and showed lung damage suffered from cigarette smoking. Each member of the group also received a lung capacity test to determine how much air his lungs are capable of containing.

To aid the smoker, a Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking booklet was issued

This program is offered to the public free of charge by the Portland Adventist Hospital as a public service to the community.

Upgrading the General

There has been a busy program of much-needed remodeling and change at the Walla Walla General Hospital in the year 1968. Much time and thought have gone into future planning by the administration, the hospital board, the medical staff, the community of Walla Walla and our architects.

Here at the Walla Walla General Hospital, we are still busily endeavoring to remodel to meet the requirements of both the State Fire Marshal and the Washington State Department of Health. The hospital is progressing with the necessary plans to meet these requirements with the possible aim of staying on site for a few more years. At the same time, we realize that this cannot last too many more years, so it is necessary to also aim for a new structure on a new site.

One of the biggest problems for 1968 was the laboratory. This was not sufficiently large enough to meet the growing needs of the hospital. The problem was where to find room for a new laboratory. For a time the hospital even went so far as to give consideration to using a trailer house. Finally the solution came through a series of moves triggered by closing the laundry. Our thanks to Walla Walla College and its fine laundry for taking over this phase of our operation. This made it possible to move the linen room and relocate and redesign an all-new physical treatment area. The moving of the Physical Therapy Department provided the much-needed room for a new laboratory. Our pathologist, Dr. Fred Davis, and our new chief laboratory technician, Mr. Bob Hessong, and our assistant administrator, Mr. C. Gregg McKown, coordinated their efforts and designed a new laboratory with excellent utilization of space.

A beautiful new linen receiving and linen repair room was designed. We were greatly in need of this. The laundry room was remodeled into a new central service with all of the necessary new equipment, including large and small sterilizers, a large commercial dishwasher, a new 5-gallon-per-hour still for producing sterile distilled water, and a new storage area of some 2,000 square feet was added to store the central service supplies.

A new special intensive care area was designed and equipped with three heart monitoring units and a fourth available on the special emergency cart. A new medicine room was also designed adjacent to the new nursing station.

At the present time a large portion of the remodeling of the x-ray facilities has already been completed, and very soon the installation of a new set of x-ray equipment will be ready to go. The doctors' lounge and library have been completely remodeled.

A new generator was purchased that has the power to cover the entire hospital in the event of a power failure. Many problems were encountered and solved. A large saving was made on the purchase and installation of this much-needed equipment.

In the heating plan a new combination burner was installed, making it possible to use either natural gas or diesel oil.

New beds and new furniture have been added in 1968 so that the entire hospital is now equipped throughout with hi-lo beds that are so essential these days in minimizing accidents. Modern furniture gives the rooms a new look.

Office equipment had to be added in 1968, including new IBM electric typewriters, adding machines and several dictaphone units. Also many improvements and equipment have gone into the hospital pillow speaker and communication system.

The year 1968 brought some new people to help in sharing the major responsibilities of operating the hospital. Mrs. Marie Lutz became the new Director of Nurses. Mr. Robert Hessong came from Los Angeles to take over the helm of the laboratory. Mrs. Robyn Bateman from Australia assumed her duties as head of the Physical Therapy Department.

This was also the year that the Walla Walla General Hospital received national honors for hospitals of 140 beds and under, for the best public relations program. Our hospital publication The Capsule, and the Life and Health Forum program, including the various health education clinics were the key reason for the award. A series of clinics were conducted in the spring and another in the fall. At the last diabetic screening, there were 135 participants. There were 85 in the glaucoma screening. Our thanks to Chaplain Arthur Dahl who has been the coordinator of the Life and Health Forum, and to the physicians who have supported him so loyally in carrying on the various clinics. Chaplain Dahl moved to a pastorate in Minneapolis, Minnesota, February 1. Chaplain Dahl and his wife, (an L.P.N. in admitting and nursing service), will be greatly missed by the hospital family and the medical staff.

The hospital daily publication (known as The Daily Capsule) was begun in 1968. Our thanks to the assistant administrator's secretary, Miss Carolyn Bigger, for editing this paper.

1968 has truly been a year of special blessings for the Walla Walla General Hospital and its wonderful corps of workers. The hospital is fully accredited and licensed and has enjoyed a successful year of planning on the local, regional and state levels. It has been a year of higher hospital costs and larger salaries to the workers. A special word of thanks goes to the hospital auxiliary ladies who have donated so many hours in volunteer work at the hospital and at the "Thrift Shoppe." We also thank our cheerful "blue strippers" for their volunteer time. The administrator wishes to extend his personal thanks to his assistant, Mr. C. Gregg McKown, and all the maintenance and engineering staff, as well as to all the hospital staff and board who did so much to make all of the improvements in 1968 possible. Our thanks also go to our patients and physicians who have so loyally supported the hospital in 1968.

We are looking forward to 1969 as another exciting year in the progress of the medical work in the Walla Walla area! At this point we can truly say, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Kalispell Church Burns

Fire destroyed the Kalispell church the evening of January 20. The building and contents, with the exception of the organ and several boxes of white Bibles, are a total loss. The Kalispell church building was one of the oldest churches in the Flathead Valley and something of a landmark in the city.

This has come at a time when the church members are engaged in strong support of the evangelistic meetings which are being conducted by Elder J. Reynolds Hoffman and the pastor, Elder Wayne Moore, in the Sons of Norway Hall. While the church was still burning, three different denominations offered the use of their churches to Pastor Moore.

The members at Kalispell have been looking forward to a new church building as soon as they could recuperate from the heavy expenses of a new school and a new, very modern, welfare center. The loss of the church will place a heavy financial burden on the members, but they will rally to meet the need; and with aid from other sources, we hope soon to see construction started on a new structure.

The evangelistic meetings have been exceptionally well attended by non-members and we look forward to a good number of new members. Please pray for the work in Kalispell at this time.

OREGON

Tabernacle Church Pastor

Coming to pastor the 725-member congregation at Portland's Tabernacle church before its February dedication is Gery P. Friesen.

Elder Friesen was born in Canada

where he attended Winnipeg Junior Academy and Canadian Union College. Following graduation, he entered denominational work as a singing evangelist for the Alberta Conference in 1953. He was ordained in 1959 at a Kentucky-Tennessee Conference service after pastoral experience in Georgia-Cumberland.

He previously served the Northwest in Montana. For the past five years he has been engaged in pastoral-evangelistic work in Southern California, directing the building of the new Norwalk church. There, as in all his fields of labor, the Lord has blessed his ministry in music and the spoken word.

Mrs. Friesen is the former Billie Radford of New Westminster, British Columbia. They have two children—Carmen Dianne, a sophomore at Portland Union Academy, and Kelly Dean, a seventh-grader at Portland Junior.

We bespeak God's continued blessings upon the ministry of this Christian family who will lead the members in dedication of their church home February 21 and 22.

Pathfinder Clubs Training Workshop

Two hundred sixty Pathfinder staff officers, representing 43 Pathfinder Clubs throughout the Oregon Conference met last month at Gladstone.

Highlight of the workshop was the help received from Professor Ervil Clark of the Biology Department of Pacific Union College. Professor Clark gave special instruction on the teaching of nature activities suitable for the Pathfinders. On Sunday he taught classes in Cone-Imals, Fossils and Backpacking. Professor Clark is currently doing graduate work in Corvallis at Oregon State University.

Other classes offered were in Club Administration, Wilderness Survival, Camping, Marching and Field Games, Physical Fitness, and Hobbies and Crafts.

The session closed with the presentation of the Counselor Training Certificates to the leaders present. Those who took the entire course received a 10-hour certificate. The complete Pathfinder Training Course encompasses 60 hours of classwork.

Meals were served by Mrs. Jewell Miner and her staff, and housing was provided by the camp meeting facilities.

Tribute was paid to this faithful and skilled group of workers who have so much to do with the training and salvation of our boys and girls. May God bless this leadership in a special way during 1969.

'Bring Us Together'

A teen-ager's placard at one of President Nixon's Midwest whistlestops has become appropriate for Adventist Home and Schools too. And Hood View is among the first to use the simple slogan, "Bring Us Together."

Planned for every Wednesday from January through March 12 are significant lectures sponsored by the Hood View School Home and School Association. Emphasizing human growth at home, in school, through the church, the series will feature, in addition, this weekend, February 7 and 8, Dr. J. N. Barnes of Walla Walla College. Dr. Barnes is expected to reaffirm that Christ-centered families know no generation gap but work together for love and democracy in the home.

Contralto soloist Barbara Morton will sing at both sessions of Dr. Barnes' presentations, Friday evening at 7:30 and Sabbath afternoon at 3:30. Both meetings are scheduled for the Hood View School auditorium.

Beginning the series was President Walter D. Blehm theming reverence and "Caring for God." Other topics and their speakers have been obedience, "The Impulse to Please," Mrs. E. J. Kortzeborn; loyalty, "Choosing to Belong," Elder George Reid; and example, "Never Too Big to Love," Elder Fred Wilbur.

A January weekend guest was Dr. E. Stanley Chace, chairman of the WWC Education Department. Ruth Pestes is chairman of the Home and School officers who, with the area pastors—George Chambers, Tom Stafford, and John Trude, Sr.—planned the special lectures.

News in Brief . . .

★ Oregon rejoices in the 608 potential baptisms resulting in the average per Ingathering income dollar. The Lord will surely bless the efforts made to reach every home in the conference.

★ Scappoose Seventh-day Adventists joined with Rainier United Methodists for a Christmas cantata, "God in a Star." Soloists were selected from both churches for this community venture.

When the Gery Friesen family looked upon the empty pews of their new church home upon arrival in Portland, they knelt around the pulpit, asking God to grant them a dedicated, dynamic ministry.

★ Mr. and Mrs. Darel McConnell and two children are concluding a three-month furlough from Benghazi Adventist Hospital with their parents in Sweet Home and Molalla.

★ Sutherlin members joined in the annual city-wide Christmas program in the high school auditorium. Sponsored by the Sutherlin-Oakland Ministerial Association, the program is one in which Adventists may join their talents, says Pastor Victor Rice.

★ When Press Relations Evangelist Joy Slaughter told her editor about the annual Ingathering drive, he took a picture of a caroling group and ran it four columns wide with the service appeal announcement.

UML Chorale Concerts

Two of United Medical Laboratories' musical groups will present concerts in Upper Columbia and Washington conferences, February 14 and 15.

Under the direction of Professor Melvin Davis, the 32-voice UML Chorale and six-piece string ensemble will present a sacred music hour at the Walla Walla College MV hour, 7:30 p.m. Friday, February 14.

Sponsored by the Seattle Chapter of the Loma Linda University Women's Auxiliary, the UML groups will present a secular program at the Roosevelt High School Auditorium, 1410 NE. 66th, Seattle. Greater Seattle Adventists and their non-member friends will enjoy this 8 p.m. concert.

United Medical Laboratories is a service center to the healing arts. Now recognized worldwide for medical research, UML employs 800—most of whom are Seventh-day Adventists. Established by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Michel, the lab seeks to relieve Sabbath work problems, train men and women for medical technology, and present an evangelistic outreach—as through its music groups.

Evangelism in the Washington Conference

An all-out evangelistic thrust is going to begin in the Washington Conference March 2 and continue through March 22, every night except Monday and Thursday. Eleven series of meetings are scheduled to open on that one night.

But NOW is when something must be done if these series are going to be as successful as the Lord wishes them to be.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

1. Personal heart preparation. Are you and God partners in all things?
2. Have personal contacts with your non-Adventist neighbors, under the guidance of your conference utilizing the Bible Speaks program to its fullest.
3. Share personally with these folks your experience in walking with the Lord.
4. Begin to talk up the series of meetings to all of your acquaintances.
5. Plan your program so you can be there every night of the campaign, helping in whatever capacity asked.
6. Pray for your pastor and leaders.

Sunny Liu and I plan to be with you during the time of your series of meetings.

Won't you make this an all-out thrust so we can see the work finished and the Lord come? I know the folks of the Washington Conference. I have been thrilled to work with you in the past and I know that as this appeal is made, you will do your utmost to make sure that the work of God will go forward in your area.

We will look forward to seeing you at the various campaigns in the near future.

Voice of Junior Youth

The holiday season was a time for celebration for all the juniors in the Auburn (city) church Sabbath school.

It all began last January when plans were laid to hold a Voice of Junior Youth evangelistic series at the end of the year. It seemed pretty exciting at the time, but frightening, too. Could they do it? And why all this push for evangelism from the ten- to twelve-year-olds? The answer was simple. God is looking for positive proof that His youth are producing souls for the kingdom, and they did not want to fail Him. They began to look forward to the fall.

In March they began their Investment project. A field of junipers was donated, and, without any advertising, more orders were received for the shrubs than could be filled. The final total for Investment was $436.

In the late spring, a project was begun to earn money for a portable public address system for the junior room. It was needed not only for better hearing in Sabbath school, but in order to practice for the fall meetings. It took only a few weeks until the purchase was made.

The summer passed quickly and in the fall rehearsals began. The juniors loved every minute of it. Their behavior indicated their dedication in a marked way and every rehearsal was followed by a junior prayer meeting at which every junior offered prayer. Every part was memorized and presented with such confidence that everyone who attended the meetings was amazed. A dramatization was presented each evening to enhance the topic. Special sermons had also been written for the juniors.

It was a thrilling moment for all of us at the close of the meetings when thirty young people came forward at the call to follow Jesus all the way and be baptized. We are happy to report that sixteen have been baptized and others will be baptized soon as a direct result of the Voice of Junior Youth.

The offerings taken during the meetings ($136) also went to Investment. All through the year the juniors worked for souls and missions and God has abundantly blessed the Auburn junior Sabbath school.

United Evangelism Thrust

I never cease to marvel at how the Conference almost always goes over its previous year's Ingathering achievements. Could it be because this is one church endeavor we all work at together at the same time? We have set ourselves an objective, we organize our churches, and then work the organization, and the results are so gratifying. When it is all over we sing, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

the Washington Conference is an endeavor to unite all our evangelistic potential for the accomplishment of the one purpose of winning souls. I am confident that on the Conference-wide day of baptism, March 29, we can sing "Praise God" with new feeling and meaning.

Cafeteria Obtains Important Equipment

Auburn Academy's Food Director, Mrs. Florence Aime, is delighted with the new baking unit installed in the cafeteria January 14. The new oven replaces an older and smaller model which was slow in heating and operating.

The double oven now holds twenty large entree pans or twelve cookie sheets of institutional size. Comparing it to the old baking unit, which held only eight entree pans, it is much more convenient and useful. It is called a convection oven. Teflon lines the inside to make cleaning easier and more economical. The outside is covered with stainless steel, and doors are hinged on each side to make the inserting and removing of food containers more satisfactorily done.

Mrs. Aime and Mrs. Rosemary Farmer, assistant food director, appreciate the even heating and faster baking time that the new model offers.

Auburn Academy Students And Teachers Push Visitors' Day

In an additional attempt to bring non-Adventists information about a soon-returning Saviour, students and teachers have cooperated in an intensive coverage of the local school environs in the White Bible program and extending visitation welcomes to special Sabbath schools for children and youth.

It is the plan of the Auburn Academy church to have a "Visitors' Day" one Sabbath of each month. A potluck lunch is served to such new guests by members of the church.

The following is an excellent release published in the local paper, Auburn Globe-News, telling of these plans and a bit of news about the school itself. Pam White of the Rainier Echoes staff wrote the article.

"Have you ever wondered what life is like at a co-educational boarding school? Or have you ever wondered what attending a church-sponsored school is like? What do the students do besides go to school?"

"About two miles east of Auburn, on Enumclaw Highway, is a school that catches the attention of most motorists and curiosity of surrounding area. The large gymnasium and other modern buildings belong to the campus of Auburn Academy.

"Sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the main function of Auburn Academy is to provide a Christian education for the youth. Of the 540 students attending Auburn Academy, nearly 400 live on campus seven days a week. Though the majority of these are from Washington, others are from Maine, Tennessee, Alaska, and even Thailand.

"An important part of the program at the academy is the worship service each Saturday morning. The Sabbath school, beginning at 9:20 a.m. is planned and conducted by students, with faculty members helping with Bible study classes.

"Worship hour begins at 11 a.m. with services under the direction of Joe Engelkemier. To make the worship services more meaningful to teen-agers, the pastor concludes early enough to allow a 15-minute informal discussion.

"A special visitors' day was planned for January 18 at 9:20 a.m. for friends from the community who wanted to visit a worship service. Students conducted a special children's church for children in grades 1 to 4, and another special program for young people in grades 5 to 8, during the worship hour time.

"The program concluded with lunch at which visitors were guests with student leaders acting as hosts and hostesses. If you have thought you would like to visit Auburn Academy, come on out and be our guests."

ALASKA

Yes, we have a school in Fairbanks, Alaska! And in our humble estimation it is a top-rate school.

We receive a surprising number of letters wanting to know if we live in snow igloos. Does it really drop to sixty degrees below zero? Do you have a church and school?

The friendly warmth of the sixty members of the Fairbanks church fully compensates for the cold weather, and the summer sun makes snow igloos a pretty messy impossibility.

The church school is the backbone of the local program. I am certain that over 75 percent of the church budget goes to support Christian education. Here in the pioneering North country, our children are considered to be our greatest investment in the future proclamation of the third angel's message.

We are proud of our teachers and would like to take this opportunity of introducing them to you. Both are college graduates and fully certified.

Mr. John Shafer, our principal, teaches grades 5-8. Mr. Shafer is a firm believer in the educational philosophy of the Spirit of Prophecy. The pages of his book, Education, are almost as worn as those of his Bible. His complete dedication to the development of the whole child has provided for the growth of the mental, physical and spiritual aspects of his students. Each pupil is encouraged to develop his potential for Christian service to the highest level possible.

Mrs. Marilyn Norton is responsible for grades 1-4. The best way to describe her room is to call it a gymnasium of mental activities. She is what she wants her students to become. Her constant challenge for personal perfection as well as for academic achievement is a positive motivating factor for all her students. If it is not your best work, do not lower yourself by turning in something that is second best. Christian perfection is a challenge to do our best in all phases of personal as well as character development.

We do not want to brag, but we are proud of our school, our teachers, and our boys and girls. We are expecting to see many future leaders in the remnant church get their start in the Fairbanks church school.

Faith for Today

Sabbath, February 8, is an important day for our own Seventh-day Adventist television program—Faith for Today. Emilio Knechtle for Conference-Wide Youth Rally

Emilio B. Knechtle, president and co-owner of St. Luke's School for Boys, New Canaan, Connecticut, will be the featured speaker for the conference-wide youth rally Friday, February 28, at 7:30 p.m. and all day Sabbath, March 1, in the main camp meeting auditorium at Auburn Academy.

Mr. Knechtle was the co-chairman of the Billy Graham Crusade in 1960 and the chairman of the board of directors for the Protestant Council in New York City, an organization serving 1700 Protestant churches and 31 denominations in 1961.

Mr. Knechtle has been, for the past four years, an active lay preacher of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, which he joined in March, 1963. Born and educated in Switzerland, Mr. Knechtle came to this country at the age of 24 and before entering the field of education seven years ago, was head of a New York City business corporation representing 100 American corporations in foreign markets, mainly in the Far East.

Mr. Knechtle will speak at 7:30 Friday evening, February 28, and three times on Sabbath—9:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. and 2:45 p.m. His subjects will be: "I Found Him Whom My Soul Loveth," the story of his conversion; "You Are My Witnesses;" "The Victorious Church of God;" and "From Eden to Eden," a presentation of Christ and the gospel. His inspiring conversion story and his appeal for a strong and meaningful commitment to Jesus Christ will prove a most thrilling spiritual experience which you will certainly remember for a long time.

Even if you cannot drive a great distance to come both Friday night and Sabbath morning, there is certainly no point in the conference which is too far away to travel to hear Mr. Knechtle three times on Sabbath. In addition to the four sermons by Mr. Knechtle, there will be some youth participation in music and youth interviews.

Parma Adventists Hold Social

The Parma, Idaho, Seventh-day Adventist church held a "Victory Social" on Saturday night, January 18, to celebrate the topping of their goal during the recent 65th World Mission Appeal campaign.

The social was held in the local Dorcas house with Pastor Allen T. Bidwell showing slides he has taken over the years during his work in various parts of the country, mainly in the New England States.

Of special interest were colorful autumn scenes in Vermont and New Hampshire, "Sunset" over Lake Michigan, the Niagara Falls, and Pastor Bidwell's old home in Connecticut.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing games, with a light refreshment served by the ladies.

ETHEL M. DOERSCH

Husband and Wife Team

The publishing secretary of the Upper Columbia Conference is happy to bring to you a brief report of Brother and Sister Horace Futcher and their work in the literature evangelist field as a husband and wife team.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Futcher.

In the nine years that the Futchers have worked as a team in visiting the homes with our truth-filled literature, they know of 60 people who have joined the remnant church, during which time their deliveries have reached nearly $150,000.

Having worked 1,916 hours in 1968, deliveries exceeded $17,000; and best of all, 12 souls were baptized. The maximum deliveries in one week's time was $2,000, while twice $1,000 a week was reported.

The Futchers have set their goal to deliver $20,000 in 1969. This is just a brief outline of what can be done with our literature.

It may be that you and your wife (or husband) are interested in working as literature evangelists as a team. If so, write to the publishing secretary of Upper Columbia Conference, W. 1025 Indiana Ave., Spokane, Washington 99205. A contact will be made in your home.

Adopt an Antenna??

Millions of TV antennas around the United States are all set up to receive the Adventist message through the vehicle of Faith for Today telecast but are not receiving the message because of a shortage of funds to cover every area. It is true they have a cross on top of their house but know relatively little of the cross of Calvary.

The value of free time given to Faith for Today is approximately $1,500,000 per year, but we have discovered that the large metropolitan areas are not giving their time free as they used to and the cost (of necessity) goes up. At the present moment we have approximately 130,000 names of viewers and students in our files. The program is viewed on 276 channels and is the oldest, continuous, religious telecast in existence. During 1968, around 32,064 enrollments for the Bible course were received and 7,271 diplomas awarded. Since May of 1950, 14,187 baptisms have been recorded as a result of Faith for Today endeavors.

Would it not be well for each of us to consider the magnitude of giving the message and the potential of Faith for Today on February 8 when we give our annual Faith for Today offering? If each could give a substantial offering, then as we drive through the countryside or a metropolitan area and see the maze of TV antennas on top of homes we could, in effect, rejoice that we had adopted a given number of antennas for missionary endeavor for 1969. This is one way of giving the gospel by proxy to those who as yet do not understand our message.

Will you, along with me, determine that on February 8 we are going to support the work of Faith for Today better than we ever have before?

eventually some type of social work. Lauri Jones, vice-president, has attended Walla Walla Valley Academy all four years and upon graduation plans to attend college to study foreign language and mathematics. Bob Finkbiner, who is in his second year here, was chosen as class chaplain. For secretary and treasurer of the class, Janalee Wagner and Carol Griggs were chosen, both of whom have attended this school all four years. Ray Giarde was the choice of the class to serve as sergeant at arms. This is Ray's third year here.

Kathy Preas

The roll call for all Juniors was taken at 5:30 a.m., Sunday, December 15, in the Lecture Hall of the new Life Science Building at Walla Walla College. The class of 1970 selected as their president, John Bohlman, with Kathy Preas as vice-president. Both of these students have attended Walla Walla Valley Academy each year with John looking forward to a career in medicine, while Kathy leans toward the teaching profession. The other officers of the junior class are: Jim Macko, chaplain; Annette Lepiane, secretary; Dennis Burke, treasurer; and Richard Dickson, sergeant at arms.

Of the twelve officers selected for both classes it is interesting to note that seven have attended Walla Walla Valley Academy continuously from their freshman year. Mr. and Mrs. Don Loomer and Mr. and Mrs. David Kellogg are serving as sponsors for the Seniors, while Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blackwood and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Rose are sponsoring the Juniors.

Adult Education Classes Sponsored by Home and School

"Ask questions—to win cooperation," said Dr. Joseph N. Barnes, director of the Human Dynamics Research Institute of Walla Walla College, in the first of a series of adult education classes on "The Art of Human Relations." The lectures are being held every Thursday night from January 4 through March 20 in the Pendleton Junior Academy assembly room and are sponsored by that school's Home and School Association.

By mastering a few simple techniques you can develop a more winning personality, get others to like you, learn to make decisions and be able to handle people effectively, according to Dr. Barnes. You can also increase your leadership skills and make a greater success in your job. Dale Carnegie's book How to Win Friends and Influence People is being used.

Last winter Dr. Barnes conducted a class in Family Relationships. Other recent adult education classes sponsored by the Pendleton Junior Academy Home and School Association were a class in Home Finance and a typing class. The latter, taught by Mrs. Harwood, has been going for 12 weeks and is still in session.

Sabbath School Despite Snow

Heavy snow in Troy, Idaho, has been a challenge to faithful Adventists in this area. Although all roads were closed the last Sabbath in December, many braved the elements to meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Boucher. The senior lesson study was taught by Dr. L. L. Reiber.

Deep snow and drifting conditions continued through the first two Sabbaths of the new year, and, by January 11, only those who were able to travel by foot met for worship services in the Leroy Carlson home.

instruction in vocal and instrumental techniques, and combined practice for the event. New this year on the Clinic program is adjudication of academy vocal soloists by Professor Lickey.

The Clinic Orchestra will be playing Morton Gould's "American Salute," an interesting and listenable orchestral number based on the well-known "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," says Professor Spring, as well as a Mozart number.

A major choral number, Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Dona Nobis Pacem," and Howard Hansen's "Song of Democracy" performed by the combined groups will complete the program.

For the Clinic participants the Sabbath will be truly a day of rest. They become listeners as College groups present a sacred concert Friday evening at 7:30 and as small ensembles with Dr. Melvin K. West, professor of music at the organ, give an Evening song, both in the College Church.

Groups performing Friday evening will be the Chorale under the direction of William Murphy, assistant professor of music; the Schola Cantorum and the Concert Choir directed by Professor Lickey; and the Chamber Orchestra, directed by Professor Spring.

Applications for Financial Assistance

"Now is the time to apply for financial help toward attending Walla Walla College in 1969-70," says Richard Beck, director of student finance.

Financial aid blanks will be available at the Student Finance office beginning February 3, or the blank may be secured at an academy at the time of Mr. Beck's visit. One form is used to apply for all programs. The first necessity is to demonstrate financial need to qualify for particular programs.

The blank, properly filled in, is mailed to the College Entrance Examination Board, not to WWC. After the need analysis is completed, the blank is sent to the College where a number is attached signifying order of consideration. Reason for the urgency of application is that the funds are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

In order to help parents and students realize the wide areas of financial assistance available and the large amounts allocated in the last complete school year, 1967-68, the following statistics are given: name of program, number of students assisted, total amount allocated.

National Defense Loans, 200, $129,350; Educational Opportunity Grants, 81, $38,100; College Work-Study Program, (inactive in 1967-68, now reactivated); Nursing National Defense Loans, 94, $70,225; Nursing Educational Opportunity Grants, 48, $25,000; Student Labor Program, $517,931.73.

See pages 156-158 of the Walla Walla College Bulletin for detailed information.

Pro Musica Concert

One of America's most important concert attractions, The New York Pro Musica, will appear on the WWC campus in Columbia Auditorium, Saturday evening, February 15, at 8 o'clock under the direction of John Reeves White.

In the second decade of its development, the New York Pro Musica continues its unique contribution to international music, providing its audiences with the glorious musical masterpieces of the ages that produced the genius of Shakespeare, Leonardo da Vinci, Dante and van Eyck.

Pro Musica was founded in 1953 by the late Noah Greenberg, who remained its musical director until his death in January, 1966. Dr. John White, the second musical director, has ensured the continuity of this remarkable ensemble in two brilliant seasons of nearly two hundred concerts.

The Pro Musica concert promises to be an exciting excursion into the great musical past; sacred works first performed in the cathedrals of 13th century France; dances, and delicate ballades from medieval French court and countryside; dramatic pieces of Renaissance Spain; music in the great Flemish tradition, and the sounds of glittering Tudor reign in England.

The concert will feature vocalists as well as instrumentalists. Modern constructions patterned after old instruments will bring such instruments as the lute, psaltery, krummhorn, kortholt, rauschpfeife, cornett and sackbut to WWC audiences.

Admission is by lyceum ticket or tickets available at the door.

Music Clinic on Campus

Of special appeal to parents and friends of both academy and college music students will be two evening concerts and an Evensong, February 7 and 8, the Saturday evening program climaxing the Choral-Orchestral Clinic on the WWC campus.

Clinic participants will be 85 singers and 65 instrumentalists from the nine North Pacific Union academies, selected from musical organizations of the secondary schools. Clinic directors are Harold Lickey, associate professor of music, and Glenn Spring, assistant professor of music.

The varied program presented by clinic members Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Columbia Auditorium will follow the two-day sectional rehearsals, review of the music and
