Faith for Today Receives Award

A Faith for Today documentary film on the life of Christ, "From Bethlehem to Calvary," has received an award of merit from the Religious Public Relations Council. The film was released over TV last December.

Much of the film footage was taken by Pastor and Mrs. W. A. Fagal on location in the Holy Land. Film editing was done by Jerry Reed, telecast film editor. Robert G. Natiuk, assistant editor, wrote the script. Receiving the award on behalf of the telecast was Editor Gordon F. Dalrymple, member of the Council.

The film was judged in the audio-visuals section, competing with motion picture films, filmstrips, slide sets and recordings. Overall conceptual, production, creative and technical excellence were the standards.

The Religious Public Relations Council is sponsored by the Southern Baptist Convention. Public relations leaders of 38 denominations and religious organizations participate in the Council to share ideas and improve mass communications in the religious fields.

Dentists and Families

Come to the NASDAD meeting at Gladstone camp meeting Saturday evening, July 5. The role of dentists and missions will be emphasized. Speaker, exact time and location are to be announced later.

Fellowship for Deaf Church Members

Deaf members of the church are invited to fellowship July 15-22 near Yosemite Park in a wilderness area soon to be made exclusively into a camp for the deaf.

Pastor Arthur W. Griffith in announcing the annual event, notes that the area is truly wilderness, though in a beautiful spot on the Tuolumne River in the Stanislaus National Forest. Located 25 miles north of Groveland, California, east of Manteca, the camp will be developed later by the owner, Tom Fromm.

Each one in attendance is asked to supply his own camping equipment. The cost will be only toward food which will be prepared by the group.

For further details write to A. W. Griffith, 605 SE 39th, Portland, Ore. 97214.

A Step Forward in Eskimoland

Progress is seen in our work among the Eskimos. The growth has been slow, but this ethnic group has now reached a stage where we cannot depend on the "hit and miss" programs of the past.

At a recent meeting of the Alaska Mission Committee study was given to this program and it was decided to ask Pastor Ronald Breingan to take charge of the work among the native people in western Alaska. This includes a vast area from Bristol Bay to Kotzebue Sound and inland as far as Shungnak. The two Eskimo ministers will be under his direction.

Pastor Breingan's base of operation will be at Dillingham, a hub of Eskimo activity, and only thirty miles from the Bristol Bay Mission School. The airplane, Spirit of Columbia, that was presented to the Mission by the students of Columbia Academy, will become more meaningful. It will be the prime means of transportation in the new program.

The Breingans will take up their new duties shortly. They have had considerable experience working with the people on St. Lawrence Island and helping at Selawik, and have maintained a close contact with our Eskimo work for the past two years. His family reflects a close understanding of the Eskimo culture and its problems. Recently Mrs. Breingan spent two weeks at Savoonga, Gambell and Nome and lived with our believers and friends on her whole trip. Her trip was unique in fact finding and learning the Eskimo thoughts and culture.

Besides their new duties among the natives, Brother Breingan will be the pastor for the Dillingham and Aleknagik churches, and a consultant to the Bristol Bay Mission School. We wish him and his family heaven's blessings as he takes up his new duties. The prayers and support of our people are needed as we take this new forward step.

A Time for Rejoicing

The Anchorage church members rejoiced recently as eleven candidates indicated their desire to unite with the Remnant church and were buried with their Lord in baptism after four weeks of Christ for Today evangelistic meetings, and one week of Bible classes.

Long before the series of meetings began, many of the members of the Anchorage church united in prayer that God would guide them to those who were honest at heart and longing for something better. God certainly answered their prayers which was evidenced by many of the experiences which took place during the meetings.

A few years ago a young couple in one of the lower-48 were given some Adventist literature which included the books Daniel and Revelation and The Drama of the Ages. They eventually moved to Alaska and began working in one of the Pancake Houses in Anchorage. They became close friends with their employer who was a Roman Catholic. The subject of religion often came up during their discussions, and they began to search the Bible for answers to their questions. It was about this time that the couple became convinced that they were "supposed" to read The Drama of the Ages as it "seemed to continually show up." On two different occasions they discarded the book because it did not look interesting—only to find it about a month later among their books.

They moved across town and while unpacking discovered the book for the third time. They shared it with their employer who eagerly read it during each spare moment. When he finished the book he announced, "I believe it—I'm going down and be baptized today." He went to our church that same afternoon and walked in and announced his intentions to the church janitor. (Ordinarily there is no one in the church and the door is locked. On Friday afternoons the janitor comes in to prepare the church for Sabbath and usually locks the doors behind him as he enters. That Friday afternoon he left them unlocked!) It was suggested that he come back to the church that evening and visit with the pastor. He returned that evening with his friends to attend the special meeting which was to help prepare the church members for the evangelistic meetings to begin the next night.

They came back faithfully night by night bringing other friends with them. After the Sabbath subject was presented the Pancake House had its doors closed an hour before sunset on Friday evening until an hour after sunset on Saturday evening. This involved a real test because it was the busiest 24-hour period during the week. All three took their stand the night of the first call. Henry, the owner of the Pancake House, was baptized last Sabbath and is hoping and praying that his wife will soon follow. His friends are planning on baptism as soon as a few things are worked out.

How thrilling it was to see two husbands accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour and follow Him in baptism. They united with their wives who had been faithfully praying for years for them. One of these men had also been reared a Roman Catholic.

One of the other young men baptized is planning to attend Walla Walla College this next year to take theology. Two other people realized the events about them were all proclaiming the end and pointed to the necessity of returning to their Lord before it was too late. Each of the young people indicated a desire to work for Jesus and help others get ready to meet Him. Another baptism is planned in two weeks.

Several studies are now being arranged with those who came to the meetings and made decisions. It was interesting to note how many of the visitors had been reared Roman Catholics. One young man who was a senior in one of the high schools in Anchorage was studying with a priest and was planning on being baptized. After he was baptized the church was planning on sending him to a monastery. All of these plans have now been changed. He is still studying the Bible, but it is now with the Seventh-day Adventist minister! Another couple who regularly attended the meetings are now studying with one of the laymen. The wife had been in a convent for awhile preparing to become a nun.

These meetings again convinced each of us that God has many who are longing for something better and are waiting only to be personally invited.

Book and Bible House Countdown No. 0

The zero hour is here. This is our last message to our constituency before the gates open to the Bible House tent next Thursday evening. We are very excited for we know that what we will have for our people is what our people need to help to finish the work.

We are happy, too, that we can bring to you these books and supplies at such greatly reduced prices. Now is the time to take advantage of the set prices. I am thinking of such sets as Testimonies for the Church, Conflict of the Ages, in all bindings, Index to the Writings of Ellen G. White, the Commentary, Andreassen's set of four volumes and the Panda-Destiny books. I think of our Sunday Sale in which there is probably an overall savings of 50 percent over the original cost of what you will be purchasing.

Price is important, but content is more important, and where can we invest more safely than the denominational Book and Bible House?

May the inspiration of our entire encampment be felt with a new vitality

Special Notice To All New Members

All members who have joined the church by baptism or profession of faith since July, 1968 are especially invited to be at camp meeting the first Sabbath, June 28. We will appreciate it if you will put forth a very special effort to be there for the 2:30 p.m. Evangelism Hour on that day.

that will help us all to be drawn even closer to our Saviour. Our sincere desire is to be of the utmost service to our people in helping to finish the work He has given the church to do in this solemn hour.

Student Colporteurs Begin Summer Work

The accompanying group of students have dedicated themselves to a very important work for the next three months. Sister White says (speaking of the literature evangelist work), "If there is one work more important than another, it is that of getting our publications before the public, thus leading them to search the Scriptures."—Colporteur Ministry, p. 7.

They, along with Rose Marie Brown of the Spruce Street church (who is not pictured), attended a three-day training school before beginning their summer's work. Joining this group soon, but who were unable to attend the training school, are Connie Green and Larry Gohl of Auburn, and Ken Williams of California.

Already, these young people have found souls waiting to be gathered in. Elder Engelkemier is tabulating all the interests and he and other academy students will be following up these interests.

If you want a thrill of your life, be at camp meeting on Monday morning, June 30, at 9:30 o'clock when these young people, and some of our regular literature evangelists, will be relating experiences.

Please pray for these young people as they attempt to reach the multitudes.

"It Is Written" meetings culminate in baptismal service.

'It Is Written' Evangelistic Meetings

On April 12 members of the Snoqualmie, Issaquah and Carnation churches gathered in the Spring Glenn SDA school auditorium to hear Elder E. C. Beck, ministerial secretary of the Washington Conference, bring a message of revival and reformation.

Following the revival sermon by Elder Beck an all-night prayer meeting was held to further prepare for the opening of a three-week series of "It Is Written" evangelistic meetings conducted by the writer. Associated with Elder and Mrs. Webb were Elder and Mrs. L. E. Dasher of the Shoreline SDA church in Seattle and Pastor Clarke Hamilton of Marysville.

One hundred sixty members and guests were in attendance on the opening night to hear the beautiful organ music by Mrs. Kay Smith, organist for the series, the vibraharp selections by Mrs. Norma Pursley Dasher, and to participate in the song service led by Elder Dasher.

During the series the attendance averaged over one hundred each night and for many of these we have the "booster club" to thank. The support by the parents and friends of the "booster club" members was appreciated. Each night a special feature for the "booster club" youth was brought by Mrs. Willis Campbell. The youth and the "young adults" will long remember the story sermons brought each evening.

Mrs. Webb, Mrs. John Claridge, Mrs. Mary Knight and Mrs. Sarah Ann Dexter were the hostesses and took care of the gift Bibles that were used making it possible for each one in attendance to follow the sermon each evening.

Provision was made for the smaller children by the primary and cradle roll leaders of the various churches, making it possible for the parents to enjoy the messages given by the speaker.

The faithful support of the church members of the various churches and the evident working of the Holy Spirit resulted in 32 decisions. Eighteen of these followed their Lord in baptism on May 3. Some of those baptized have already begun giving Bible studies to friends and fellow employees.

There are several more who have not made their decision but are seriously considering this important step. We ask that each of you continue to pray with us that the interest generated through these meetings may be brought to fruition through the continued working of the Holy Spirit upon their hearts as they are contacted by the faithful members in each of the churches.

MONTANA

Partners With God

Late this spring, the Kalispell church under the leadership of Elder Wayne Moore held two weeks of stewardship meetings. The meetings were very well attended by the local constituents and an atmosphere of sincerity prevailed.

During the meetings, it was forcibly brought to mind that we are on trial here in this world to see whether we are safe to save. The balance of the scales will tip one way or the other; they never balance in the eyes of God. Christ revealed in Revelation 3:15,16, "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth."

God has left the making of a decision to us, for in the inspired word of Sister White it states, "I saw that God's people must bring to Him a freewill offering; and the responsibility should be left wholly upon the individual, whether he will give much or little."—Testimonies, Vol. 1, pp. 237-238. (Italics supplied)

Why is it we do not really want to link ourselves in partnership with God? Could it be that we know we are failing in our opportunities to Him, although we know His promises will never fail; then, of course, we would not want to be put to the test of that kind of partnership. We then become one of little courage to do that which is right. Let us not become discouraged because of our lack of participation, but day by day lay ourselves at God's altar humbly asking for courage to give in the spirit of liberality, for it is the spirit of heaven.

May God's rich blessings go with those at Kalispell as they labor for God on this earth.

Talent Show at Missoula

A talent show was presented Sunday evening, May 18, by the Home and School Association at the Mountain View School in Missoula. More than 20 numbers were presented by approximately 35 persons.

One number, a hilarious comedy, was enacted by "Mrs. Miller and Companion Pianist from Las Vegas." Mrs. Miller was in reality six-foot-three Stanley Hendricksen complete with make-up, wig and all other accoutrements necessary for the part. "She" attempted to sing a soprano number to the fumbling accompaniment of her pianist, dressed as a street bum, who in real life is Larry Ray, an accomplished pianist.

Other numbers included two vocal choruses, both solos and duets on the piano, guitars, saxophone, French horns, baton twirling by a guest star, vocal solos, poetry reading and a mock jury scene.

Steve Pryhorocki performed as master of ceremonies.

Much credit and admiration is due Mrs. Esther Cummings who arranged and directed the show and on a very stringent budget superintended the stage set-up, which was decorated with several white arches with blue background and large bouquets of yellow sunflowers.

Six Baptized in Missoula

Six members were baptized into the Missoula church by Pastor Richard W. Knapp on Sabbath, May 24. Among these was Debbie Orr who has attended the Missoula church since babyhood. Witnessing her baptism was her great-grandmother, Mrs. Stella Couper.

The other five who were baptized were Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Sieben and their daughters, Kathleen, Karen, and Sharon. Another daughter, Christine, will be old enough for baptism later.

About eleven years ago, Mrs. Walter Roberts first introduced the Sieben family to the message when she loaned them a Bible autographed by evangelist Stanley Harris. The Siebens moved to Missoula, but returned to Great Falls about five years later. Mrs. Sieben told her husband, "I must try to locate Mrs. Roberts and return her Bible." She did just that, and Mrs. Roberts began visiting and studying with her. About three years later, Elder Hoffman conducted a crusade in Great Falls. Sister Sieben attended and was later joined by her husband.

After the Sieben family moved back to Missoula recently, they decided to follow the Lord all the way. Three families, including Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, drove all the way from Great Falls to attend the baptism. Mr. Kennard Sieben says, "If it hadn't been for that Bible that we had to return, we might never have known all this."

Following the baptism, a lovely luncheon was served to the new members and the visitors from Great Falls by Mrs. Vera Hamilton.

We pray that we as older members may live up to the expectations that our new members may have of a Christian and that we will be mutually inspiring to each other.

In April, 1969, he married Eleanor Wiggins who has been employed as school nurse, girls' P.E. teacher, and assistant dean of girls. Mrs. Loganbill graduated from the WWC school of nursing in 1968. During the past fall and winter months, she worked as a public health nurse in the Portland area. Both enjoy sports and the challenge of working with people. They will be arriving on the campus the middle of August.

Guidance Director

Mr. Charles Stevens has been employed to be the Guidance Director and Bible teacher for the school year 1969-70.

Mr. Stevens comes to Gem State Academy with a background of boarding school experience. He graduated from Pacific Union College in 1962 and was associate Dean of Boys and taught P.E. for three years at Monterey Bay Academy. From there he went to Mt. Ellis Academy where he was dean of boys for three years. This past year he was on a graduate assistantship at Walla Walla College in the Department of Education, where he is working to complete the requirements of a Master's degree in the field of Guidance and Counseling. Currently he is attending the summer session there. His wife, the former Lois Hollenbeck, is a registered nurse, but will be kept busy with their four children. They will be moving to the campus at the end of the summer school session at WWC.

Dean of Girls

To find a lady to fill the vacancy as Dean of Girls for an academy is a difficult task for a new principal, but an outstanding lady, Mrs. R. L. Hoffman, from Arnold, California, has been contacted and has accepted this responsibility.

Mrs. Hoffman has had experience as a dean of girls at Lodi Academy in California. As a mother of grown children, she has experienced the trying years of the teenager and has been most successful. Their son, Robert, graduated from WWC this spring and is the new Dean of Boys at Upper Columbia Academy.

Mr. Hoffman is an excavating contractor, and he will be moving his business to the Caldwell area. Any work that people in this area can give to him would assist in re-establishing his business. Both of these people are loyal supporters of the Lord's work and are dedicated to the task of helping young people all that they can. The Hoffmans will be arriving around the first of August so she can become acquainted with the school program, and meet as many girls who will be around.

Foreign Language

Mr. Ralph Christie, who completed his teaching assistantship through Walla Walla College at Gem State Academy during the spring quarter, has been employed to instruct in the areas of Spanish and English for the school year 1969-70.

Mr. Christie majored in Spanish and graduated from Walla Walla College in June and will be joining the Gem State Academy staff this fall.

We welcome these new staff members, as well as express appreciation for those staff members who are willingly staying by to help make the new school year a success. Please remember this group of dedicated teachers in your prayers as they assume and continue to uphold the principles of education for which Gem State Academy stands.

The vacancies in the staff have all been filled with dedicated teachers and staff who will continue carrying on in the tradition of Gem State Academy.

New Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loganbill were employed at the regular board meeting. Mr. Loganbill graduated from WWC in 1967. Since his graduation he has been teaching at Pleasant Hill Jr. Academy, located near Springfield, Oregon. He will be teaching many of the English courses during the school year 1969-70.

UPPER COLUMBIA

Have You
Heard

Have you heard that the Trust Agreement Plan with the Conference Association is the only way to avoid the problems, publicity, and expense of probate? Well, we could not, or would not attempt to say that the Trust Agreement is the only way to avoid probate. We would stress, however, that we do feel that the Trust Plan is the best possible arrangement which God's people can enter into with the minimum amount of embarrassment and loss.

Now there are various methods which can be used to fulfill the wishes of the individual as far as the disposition of property is concerned; the most common, of course, being the Will. We should understand, however, that such provisions, which become effective at one's demise, must pass through the court for clarification and settlement. We need not enlarge upon the possible embarrassment with this type of arrangement.

In order to avoid probate, some parents have actually transferred title in the properties which they possess to their children with the intent that in this way all future problems will be eliminated. Well, with a little thought one can see the possible hazards that might evolve from this type of arrangement.

It has been proved again, and again, that the most positive and problem-free provision one can make for the disposition of his property is the Living Trust which your Conference Association has to offer. We feel it would surely be to your advantage to talk this matter over with your Conference representative of the Trust Department.

Will Degeraty Is Ordained

Will Degeraty was ordained to the gospel ministry during the Friday evening service, June 13, at the Upper Columbia Conference camp meeting. He was born in Denver, Colorado. After graduating from Walla Walla College in 1964 with a Bachelor of Arts degree, he and his wife spent one year in graduate study at Andrews University where he received a Master of Arts degree in New Testament.

Elder and Mrs. Will Degeraty, Michelle Elaine and Rhonda Sue.

During his college years he met his wife, the former Diane McClelland, who also attended Walla Walla College. Diane was reared in Redding, California. Speaking of college life he said, "These were some of the most rewarding years of our lives."

Elder Degeraty's ministerial experience includes work with the Conference Evangelistic Team, a brief period as assistant pastor of Spokane Central church and also youth pastor of the greater Spokane area; two years as district pastor of the Colfax, Endicott, Pullman churches, and this past year he has served the Osburn-St. Maries district in Idaho.

The Degeratys have two children—Michelle Elaine, three years old, and Rhonda Sue who is one and a half years old.

May the Lord richly bless this family as they labor for the finishing of God's work.

Wallace Mandigo Is Ordained

Wallace Mandigo was ordained to the gospel ministry at Walla Walla College, June 13, Friday evening, during the Upper Columbia Conference camp meeting.

He was born in Berrien Springs,

Elder and Mrs. Wallace Mandigo.

Michigan, and early in life felt the call to the gospel ministry. Wallace's parents are residents of College Place where Mr. Mandigo is manager of the Walla Walla College Laundry.

Elder Mandigo entered Walla Walla College in 1959 and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1964. He spent one year at Andrews University engaged in postgraduate study. He was married to the former Sandra Renae Bishop on December 19, 1965. Sandra entered the School of Nursing in Fletcher, North Carolina, and graduated in 1964 with a degree in nursing. Sandra's parents make their home in Florida.

After working as an associate pastor for two years—one year in Milton-Freewater and one year in Yakima—Elder Mandigo received the call to the Troy, Idaho, district where he now resides.

We earnestly pray that God will bless the work of this dedicated family for His cause on earth.

Weddings

Judith Sandra Schwartz and Steven Howard Packard were united in marriage on Sabbath, June 7, at the close of the early church service at Mt. Tabor Seventh-day Adventist church. Elder H. D. Schwartz, father for the bride, performed the ceremony. They will be making their home at Anacortes, Washington, for the summer, after which they will make their home at Columbus, Ohio, where Steve will begin graduate work in biophysics at Ohio State University.

Camp Meeting Mission Spectacular

All missionaries—returned and on furlough—are invited to participate in the service spectacular at camp meeting June 28 at 4:45.

Coordinated by Shirley Burton, the missions feature will include Elder David Baasch of the Inter-American Division and Norma Eldridge of the Far East.

And speaking of the Far Eastern Division, organization is underway for a fellowship club of those termers in the Portland area. Contact Mrs. William Hebard, 603 SE Peacock Lane, or Dottie Rifkin at the Conference office.

As for camp meeting, all who have served overseas are invited to bring native costumes or a souvenir for the first Sabbath's service emphasis. Contact the PR office at the campground—or the Conference office, if you can, before this great historic session.

Minister to the Deaf To Be Ordained

Newsletter of the Seventh-day Adventist deaf celebrates its 11th anniversary this month!

Begun on an old mimeograph machine which required the hand spreading of ink for each of the individual 75 copies, that first issue has grown to a circulation of 400. Though no firm census has been made, Seventh-day Adventists known to be deaf in the US, Canada, and several foreign countries receive this news sheet edited by Arthur W. Griffith of Battle Ground, Washington.

Still there are 600,000 deaf in North America alone. Breakthroughs in this special evangelism have been apparent this year, with seven baptisms at Gallaudet College in Washington, D. C., this school year. Studies are being made for a school for the deaf; Adventist deaf children now surpass 70. The first 12 of a 36-series of evangelistic films in sign language will be ready this summer, a project of North American Missions offering.

Currently there are four ministers to the deaf in the denomination: Rex Rolls, Oakland, California; Fred Griffith, Washington, D. C.; John Issler, Los Angeles; and Arthur Griffith, Portland. The latter will be ordained at the July camp meeting in Oregon—the first deaf minister to the deaf to be conferred this rite.

Assistant Educational Superintendent

Veteran Educator Fred Wilbur has been named assistant educational superintendent of the Oregon Conference.

Born in Iowa while his parents were on furlough from China where they had gone as missionaries in 1902, Elder Wilbur lived his first seven years in China with parents who emphasized service and Christian education.

So devoted was his mother's life that a popular MV reading course book was written about her, Susan Haskell, Missionary. They returned to the States three years after his father's death in China.

He graduated from Golden Gate Academy in 1929 while his mother continued her work for the Chinese of San Francisco's Chinatown. Though tuberculosis interrupted his education at Pacific Union College, he entered his teaching career in 1932 at the Chinese Mission School. More or less continuously since those years he has taught in the Oregon Conference.

In 1955 Elder Wilbur was called to teach upper grades at Rogue River Junior Academy and then to serve as principal. Since 1960 he has been principal of Portland Union Elementary. He was ordained at Oregon camp meeting in 1965, recognized for his tireless Sabbaths of sharing in district pulpits.

A dinner and "This Is Your Life" presentation in the Portland Union Academy Auditorium climaxed nearly 30 years of teaching. Yet, he continues to teach—teachers. He will be associated with Superintendent Harold D. Schwartz and Elementary Supervisor Lorraine Miller.

At the dinner recognition, he and Mrs. Wilbur were joined by their four children, seven grandchildren, his Chinese sister Oilene Liu, the Kenneth Wong family of Santa Rosa, California, and a dozen classmates and former students. Daughter Muriel Zaugg of Pleasant Hill prepared the script and her husband Keith was master of ceremonies. Music was provided by organist Lois Hall and soloist Barbara Morton.

Three young Pathfinders from the Kelso-Longview club participated in the disc throwing contest.

Two girls from Kelso-Longview Pathfinder Club demonstrate wilderness living in their booth at the Pathfinder Fair.

Alumni Reunions

Two academies and a college are calling for alumni get-togethers during the 91st annual camp meeting at Gladstone Park June 26 to July 5.

Laurelwood alums will meet Saturday night, June 28, in the cafeteria immediately following Elder George Vandeman's discussion of "Saucers and Crystal Balls." Those not now receiving the Alumni Newsletter may request regular issues by addressing the Alumni Association at Laurelwood.

At the same time as the Laurelwood meeting, Portland Union grads are asked to meet in the Music Building. Refreshments will be served.

Definite plans for Union College Alumni will be made in the TODAY sheet on the campground.

Pathfinder Fair

Nothing dampens the spirits of the true Pathfinder. Not even the downpour that presented itself at the Pathfinder Fair held at the Lane County Fairgrounds in Eugene, May 18!

With 43 clubs and 1,078 Pathfinders present, we had to make the best of a damp situation. Thinking it might clear by noon or possibly early afternoon, Elder F. W. Baker, youth director for Oregon, revised the program.

We held the Pinewood Derby under the roof in the large grandstand. The Football Kick, the Marching event, the Flagpole Raise, Disc Throw, and Needle Threading event were all held in the shelter of a riding arena, borrowed for the purpose.

The day was a success despite the weather in more than one way, for several of the clubs went home with a first-place trophy. We salute: Cedar Creek, Coquille, Hood River, Medford, Scappoose, and University Park. Along with these there were two clubs receiving second place and seven clubs who went home with a third-place trophy. Second place went to Coos Bay and Hillsboro; third went to East Salem, Meadow Glade Sr., Mt. Hood, Mt. Tabor, Stone Tower, Sunnyside, and Vancouver.

Our thanks go to the Pathfinder leaders and staff of the clubs here in Oregon. We appreciate so much the personal sacrifice and effort put forth for our youth by these interested church members who are willing to face the problems of representing Christ in recreation.

Laurelwood Academy campus is located near Gaston, Oregon.

Laurelwood Academy Beckons

Nestled midst rolling hills and green trees is the beautiful campus of Laurelwood Academy, a school that holds many memories for scores of people around the world. The Laurelwood Academy's summer working force is at present hard at work to prepare the school for another student body of spirit-filled Seventh-day Adventist youth.

Should you have any questions about attending a Christian academy, we would like to invite you to visit the Laurelwood Academy booth at the Gladstone campground during Oregon camp meeting, June 26 to July 5. Staff members from the school will be there to talk over any problems, answer questions; or we will be happy to just visit with you. Laurelwood Academy welcomes you.

WALTER MESKE

Principal

Willamette Valley Educational Foundation

To meet the needs of the 60 percent of secondary students with interests and aptitudes toward practical and manual arts, three Oregon laymen have established the Willamette Valley Educational Foundation.

A non-profit body incorporated under Oregon laws, the Foundation is providing employment information exchange and placement service for young people with a strong Christian commitment and interested employers. Based upon principles of counsel to the church scores of years ago, the Foundation is currently studying property location—with an eye to locating in rich farmland that agriculture might be a prime course of study.

Blueprints for such courses of study are specific, Foundation Trustees believe, and will make possible the vocational opportunities desired by so many who have displayed skills equal to the scholastic.

Information regarding this Christian vocational education may be secured by writing members of the board at Box 127, Forest Grove, Oregon 97116. Officers are J. Wesley Rhodes, Ph.D., chairman; Verlin L. Gibson, B.S., secretary-treasurer; and Ivor Fish, Eugene representative.

All contributions are tax deductible.

Milo Academy Pastor

Elder George Reid, associate MV secretary for the past three years, has accepted the invitation of Milo Academy to become pastor and Bible teacher of the school.

George Reid

Born at Ocean Falls, British Columbia, Elder Reid graduated from high school before becoming a Seventh-day Adventist. However, following conversion he attended Canadian Union College, majoring in theology and showing great skills in industrial education. Except for a year at Pacific Union College, his denominational study was at CUC from which he received his degree in 1955.

Entering denominational work as a district pastor in British Columbia, Elder Reid served in Saskatchewan as a pastor also after ordination in BC. He came to Oregon MV work from Saskatoon in 1966.

His wife, the former Ernestine Brandt, is also a Canadian. They have three daughters: Karen, 18; Leanna, 10; and Janine, 9.

Mrs. Reid will be assistant director of food service at Milo. She has assisted Mrs. Jewell Miner at Portland Union the past three years.

News in Brief. . .

★ Clyde Payne, Gresham literature evangelist, has experienced the greatest month in his soul-winning career. During April he delivered books in excess of $2,158. At the same time, he enrolled 51 in Bible courses. Baptisms to his credit in his years of literature ministry total 15. Please pray for the more than 300 contacts made monthly—especially now that student colporteurs are also in the field.

★ Portland Union Academy musicians recently provided entertainment for residents at The Village.

★ Anonymous friends of the Florence church challenged the church to greater liberality in the May offerings for famine relief and North American missions by offering a dollar-for-dollar match. The donors' gift is to be used for local district community service projects, and $318.34 was given by the members for others—and received by themselves for church missionary work.

★ Three pictures and 29 inches of copy were used by enterprising Press Relations Evangelist Lester Storz to announce his district's eighth-grade graduation. Speaker for the occasion was Elder E. D. Hanson of Salem, who himself graduated from the school in 1911. Elder and Mrs. Hanson have "retired" after 41 years in Africa. Two newspapers used the pictures and story, and the Salem papers used a shorter version of the story.

★ The Book and Bible House remains closed June 16 to July 7.

★ Dr. Robert Graham of Klamath Falls outlined procedures of the Five-day Plan and showed "Countdown," the new color version of "One in 20,000" on both Channels 7 and 10 early this month.

★ Student literature evangelists entering the work for the summer number 23. They represent all four academies and Walla Walla College.

★ Mrs. A. Erin Merkel was honored with a "This Is Your Life" program preceding retirement from 26 years of teaching. Though her career began in 1921 at Gregory, South Dakota, with eight pupils in eight grades, she has not taught continuously—taking time out to rear a daughter and obtain more schooling herself. She has taught the first grade at Rogue River Junior Academy the past eight years consecutively.

★ Scholastic honors were granted to eight students of Milo Academy at last month's graduation. They were George Boundey, Portland; Linda McMillan, Crescent City, California; Luana Woodruff, Milo; Lynn Thompson, Salem; Dan Bullock, Medford; Lloyd Henderson, Eugene; and Beverly Forgey and Donovan Noble, Milo, the latter two for highest scholarship.

★ Pastor Elmer Unterseher was invited to give the baccalaureate sermon for 192 seniors at Forest Grove High School. The commencement address was delivered by John Salisbury, news and special projects director of Radio KXL.

★ Pastor Edward L. Wilson of Valley View attended a Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking Congress in Chicago this spring. Conducting Medford's first full-scale campaign, Pastor Wilson has done much to create a more favorable image for the church in the Rogue Valley where Adventists already enjoy a good press. At the Chicago Congress plans were laid for another Five-day Plan in Medford, employing new procedures developed over the past seven years since its inception.

Oregon Marine Library

Oregon Marine Library is not only unique as a missionary project but offers adventure and excitement, guaranteed to thrill the heart of any worker for God.

The great Columbia River funnels into our port great merchant vessels from every quarter of the globe. These are strangers at our door. To be sure, their language and their customs are different, but they are a part of the great family of God.

How courteous they are to our young people, and how proud they are of their floating home, wanting to show it off to those who will take time to visit with them.

Our books, magazines, and periodicals circle the globe—precious seed, precious truths awaiting the honest in heart. We need to recognize the tremendous potential of this missionary field.

The interest is growing, and more of our church members are becoming aware of the work that is going on in the Portland area. Inquiries about our Oregon Marine Library have been coming in as far away as San Pedro and San Francisco, California, and upper Washington.

Financial assistance is needed to purchase more books for our ship li-baries. So far we have not included Bibles with our other material, and in this day and age it is imperative to keep God's Holy Book uppermost in our missionary endeavors. We also need additional adult supervision to assist our young people.

When we show these hardy men of the sea that we want to be their friends, they are more apt to read the books we leave with them. Just a few weeks ago our group went aboard a communist vessel from Yugoslavia. These men were indeed gracious and friendly to us. Each trip to the waterfront brings new friends from afar: India, Taiwan, Japan, Korea, Norway, Greece, England, Germany, etc.

Evangelism in Drain

Evangelistic services in the Community Hall of Drain drew as many as 30 non-Adventists to hear the Koronko-Todd team. Victor J. Rice is pastor of the Sutherlin-Yoncalla district.

Yoncalla members spent nine weeks preceding the effort in distributing literature and Gift Bibles in nearby Drain. Total baptismal figures are not yet available.

Laymen assisting with the meetings included Lois Campbell, Shirley Hunter, and Barbara Chesser, hostesses; Delbert Dickey, Allan MacDonald, Howard Hunter, and George Wright were ushers.

Mike Dickey served as projectionist; Betty Revolinski was organist. Verna and Kay Dickey and Alice Chaney provided for the children who often numbered 30—totaling as many as the adults some evenings!

All laymen assisting were Yoncalla members except Mr. Wright and Mrs. Revolinski who drove from Sutherlin.

'Teen Dial' Attracts Thousands

Juniors Coleen Moore and Wesley Rippey were featured in a two-column picture showing Portland Union Academy's new community service Teen Dial near school's end.

"Teenagers by the thousands are calling 'teen dial' for advice in an undertaking of students at Portland Union Academy and other Seventh-day Adventists," wrote Religion Editor Watford Reed of the Journal.

In use two months, Teen Dial attracted 3,500 callers. Ads prepared by the Conference PR office have suggested, "Got parent problems? Worried about grades? Wondering whether you went too far last night? Considering a trip? Need someone to talk to? Dial 254-TEEN."

Wayne Dodgson and Richard Curry have served as coordinators for the mostly-senior project, which changed messages about twice a week.

"About one caller in seven wants an answer," explained James W. Fell, guidance director at PUA who oversees the undertaking.

Questions have been heavily in the area of narcotics, from callers who stay on the line after the recorded message. A teenager returns the call, not a minister, and no effort is made to discuss Adventism.

The special venture costs service-minded Portland teens about $25 a month for the telephone, postage, and literature—after the initial cost of $650 for the dialing machine and recorder.

Activities Day at Central Valley School

Activities Day at Central Valley School last month drew 150 parents and friends of the Albany-Corvallis districts to participate in the day's events.

A health education fair, pet and hobby show, and band and piano recitals were major attractions of the day, the second annual under leadership of Principal Gerald Hixson.

One special feature of the health education fair was a computerized meal selector from which ratings were made of the pictured food items chosen by those taking part to make a well-balanced meal. Another, "If the Organs Could Talk," a taped discourse by students, revealed the misery experienced by the human organs from poor eating habits and the change that came about when these habits were replaced with good ones.

The pet and hobby show displayed a wide variety of youthful interests and diversions. Pretty dolls, colorful rocks and shells, and wide-eyed, "Please take me home with you" expressions from furry balls brought countless "Ohs" and "Ahs" from viewers—especially the younger set.

Musical talents of many of the students were enjoyed in the band and piano recitals. Mrs. Florence Avery and Mrs. R. H. Houser provide instruction in these areas of learning at Central Valley.

Enough time for softball competition between parents and students to allow the students to end it in a 9-5 win, as predicted by Principal Hixson, and a potluck supper rounded out the day's program.

Teachers Mrs. Frank Dornbush and Miss Edith Haggerty contributed much to the success of the day—one which

UML Tournament

United Medical Laboratories' Third Annual Invitational Softball Tournament is scheduled for July 6.

Arrangements have been made for the unique Adventist tournament at two locations: Normandale 1 and 2, NE 57th at Halsey, and Rose City Park, NE Tillamook off 82nd. Games for the eight teams from Wenatchee, College Place, and Portland will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Walla Walla and UML players show such action that grandstanders get empathetic exercise.

Trophies and awards have been made available through the courtesy of UML President Ray Michel, with details worked out by UML's Recreation Director Jerry Mace. The noon meal will be only 50 cents, and free watermelons will be served in the afternoon.

During years past as many as 500 Adventist fans and Portland fans of Adventist players have witnessed the playing and good sportsmanship. Before returning from camp meeting, why not watch Adventist activities at one of these parks.

La Center, Washington, April 20, 1969—"Please send me your free Bible and Bible lessons. I watch your program every week and find it very rewarding. Thank you and bless you."

Portland, Oregon, April 20, 1969—"I saw your TV program. As I have come here only recently and have no church, I would like to request your Bible studies and the Bible you mentioned. Thanks."

Brookings Pathfinders organized a new club this spring, but one member was ill the night of investiture. Under the tutelage of Director Robert Ray and Assistant Ed Downs, each of the ten was invested in some area of MV classwork. Conference director of the 51 clubs is Frank Baker. (The three officials are with their Pathfinders.)

Welfare Worker Named Citizen of the Week

McMinnville named a Seventh-day Adventist as Citizen of the Week last month, recognizing her humanitarian efforts through the church's Health and Welfare Center.

She is Mrs. Celia Griffin, Dorcas-Welfare leader for the past 12 years. "Faith in Action" is how she is described by the local press.

Begun as the first welfare center of the Oregon Conference in a house purchased by the late Dr. Herman C. Menkel, the "Mac" Center began in 1953. Mrs. Griffin explained that she just "looked around and saw a need for help in Yamhill County."

The new Center was opened in October, 1966. So successful has it been and so appreciated is it by the community that merchants regularly make contributions. Even students of Linfield College have held drives to keep the shelves stocked with needed items.

Walla Walla College

Largest School of Nursing Classes

The largest School of Nursing graduating classes in the history of WWC, totaling 70, are receiving B.S. degrees in 1969, says Dean Wilma L. Leazer. Sixty nurses were graduated in June; 10 will graduate in August.

Established in 1892, WWC started a one-year nursing class in 1899, a two-year class in 1902.

In 1932 Professor Fred Hanson joined the faculty to organize the first collegiate pre-nursing course. In 1946 the board of trustees voted to establish a collegiate School of Nursing with Portland Sanitarium and Hospital as its Clinical Division.

Accreditation by states was climaxed in 1953 by full national accreditation by the National Accrediting Service, National League for Nursing.

Not only is the WWC School of Nursing making an outstanding contribution to filling the desperate need for nurses around the world, but by providing a collegiate nursing program it is educating leaders for church, hospital, and community service as well.

Association of Adventist Forums

The Association of Adventist Forums, meeting about once a month on the College campus, has been a vital means of keeping abreast of current problems and attitudes and their effect on the Seventh-day Adventist denomination and its institutions.

Headed in 1968-69 by Dr. Claude Barnett, the Association programs have included the following topics: "Literary Truth" by Dr. Helen Evans; "Adventist Attitudes Toward the Draft" by a panel of Dr. Donald Rigby, Charles Scriven, Professor Donald Eichner, Elder E. I. Edstrom, and Dr. Robert Henderson; "Genesis and Paleontology" by Dr. Harold Coffin; "Integration in Adventist Schools" by Dr. Donald Blake; "The Sacred and the Secular" by Dr. Joseph Barnes; and during the graduation weekend "A Prophetic Movement and Its Future" by Dr. Jack Provonsa of LLU, the baccalaureate speaker.

Chapter officers for the coming year are Dr. Rigby, president; Professor Na-

The Association has filled a need, long felt by faculty members. The opportunity to hear specialists speak on contemporary problems within the context of Adventist beliefs is a real service to SDA educators.
