Caroling Calls for Action

Caroling enthusiasm is filling the air with music everywhere. Our Ingathering reports are increasing in size each week. We have a Union total to date of $149,690.43. Every member in every church is needed to make thousands of missionary visits during the next two crucial weeks of our Ingathering appeal.

There are 10 nights (from December 15) until Christmas. Let us make them great spiritual nights filled with work for God and joyous witnessing to our community. Everyone should have a part in this great fellowship of work and praise!

Mark 'SDA' on Your Envelope

A letter has just been mailed from the Christian Record Braille Foundation which many church members will be receiving. Since there is no way to know who, on the mailing list, are members, we are making this appeal for you to please mark "SDA" on your answer. All donations received from Seventh-day Adventists can be used for sending doctrinal services to the blind.

The Sectarian Fund of Christian Record Braille Foundation is used to produce the braille Review and Herald and Sabbath school lessons. The lessons are also released on tape for the blind and visually handicapped. Several Bible Correspondence Courses are offered the sightless. All of those services are furnished free.

At the present time this Sectarian Fund is almost depleted. If you have not received our package of informative literature and would like to know more about the work of the Foundation, a Seventh-day Adventist institution, send your request to:

Christian Books—

The Finest Christmas Gifts

For Christmas, why not give choice Seventh-day Adventist books? They come in many sizes, prices, and kinds—even books for those who don't like to read!

How's that again? Books for people who don't read? Exactly. There's the beautiful volume My Father's World with gorgeous nature photography by Herschel Wheeler, and a minimum of reading now priced at only $2. There's the book Wonders of Creation, by Harold W. Clark, so popular that 16,000 copies have already been sold. This beautiful book is illustrated with numerous photographs from nature, including many color plates. And have you seen Perilous Paradise, on Adventist missions in stone-age New Guinea, with over 150 pictures, many in full color, by professional photographer Eric Were, of Australia?

The Seventh-day Adventist Commentary for anyone who doesn't already have it, is a first-class Christmas gift. Then there's the three-volume Comprehensive Index to the Writings of Ellen G. White, a gift of lifelong usefulness, bound in durable blue buckram. There's the three-volume 1844 set by Dr. Jerome Clark, telling of the social, religious, and intellectual upheavals at the time the Advent movement began. Also, have you seen the four-volume Origin and History of Seventh-day Adventists, by the late Arthur W. Spalding? It's appalling, but true, that tens of thousands of Seventh-day Adventists know almost nothing about the history of their church. Spalding's readable history would help remedy this situation.

An Ellen G. White volume or set is always a good gift. You might give a new paperback Conflict set with its bright symbolic art so eagerly accepted by our younger Adventists.

For young people and older ones who love excitement and adventure, there are best-selling hardbacks for only $3 to $4 a copy—Alice Princess, Comes the Whirlwind, The Unlikeliest Hero, The Seventh Escape, and No Guns on Their Shoulders.

If you want an inexpensive gift in the $1.65 range, why not give a copy of a good biography like Invisible Fishman (Percy T. Magan), I Changed Gods (Marie Hirschman), or China Doctor (Dr. Harry Miller)?

For the studious, there's the "reference series" with nine different titles in very attractive bindings. They vary in price from $2.95 to $5.95. The newest is Music and Worship by Dr. Hannum, for $3.95.

Need we add that a Bible or Church Hymnal is always an appreciated Christmas gift?

If you live near a Book and Bible House, better hurry over. If you're too far away, that's why Uncle Sam hires postmen—to speed your order to your Book and Bible House and hustle back your books.

Walla Walla College

WWC Board Actions

The Walla Walla College board, in a December 3 meeting, authorized construction of a new residence hall to house 180 college women.

Target date for beginning of construction is July 1, 1970; occupancy date, September, 1971. Estimated cost is $900,000 and location is yet to be determined after a campus planning study.

"This action will fill our most pressing campus need," says President Robert L. Reynolds. Conard Hall is currently occupied by 470 women, necessitating three in a room in the South Wing. There are also more than 50 located in annexes to the residence halls.

Addition of facilities for the Speech and Hearing Clinic was also voted by the College Board. Two clinic rooms and a combined seminar-clinic, all with observation facilities, will be located on the lower floor of North Hall in the Administration Building, near the audiology testing room.

The new rooms are essential for students doing their clinical practicum in speech and hearing therapy, says Dr. Loren Dickinson, chairman of the department of speech.

Doctoral study leaves were approved for Glenn Spring, assistant professor of music, and for Larry Lewis, assistant professor of religion.

Professor Spring will attend the University of Washington, where he has been accepted as a candidate for the doctor of musical arts degree.

Professor Lewis will be taking a program leading to the Ph.D. degree in applied theology, emphasizing counseling.

Television Equipment Gifts

Donation of valuable television equipment, cash value $1,575, by Magnavox Company, Greenville, Tennessee, augments the electronics laboratory possibilities and is indicative of the support of WWC's educational program, says Elwin L. Liske, assistant professor of industrial education and technology.

The gift of new equipment (a color TV set and two color TV chassis, made available by the manager of surplus materials) is used in the TV Systems and Circuit Analysis laboratory. Previous equipment was one TV set donated on a loan basis by General Electric several years ago.

Color television is representative of circuitry from all types of electronics, says Professor Liske, who made the contacts resulting in the gifts. For the laboratory work, the teacher introduces into each system defective parts, misadjustments, or other difficulties. The student, from his knowledge of the study of circuitry, must be able, by logical analysis, to locate the fault and rectify it. The skills perfected are those used in testing equipment in industry, in radar, and in commercial plants. Ability to do TV repair is learned but is not the primary goal of the course.

Support of the educational program by industry for the past few years has been highly gratifying. The electronics laboratory has received equipment and supply donations estimated at $7,000. Major companies assisting are Heathkit, Tektronix, General Electric, Magnavox Company, Electronics Specialty Company, and Western Electric Company.

Life and Health Forum Clinics

We have completed our Fall clinics with wonderful success. We started off with Mother-Baby under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Miller. She reports a very good attendance.

Mr. Waterbrook from Walla Walla College and Dr. Potts of Walla Walla gave counsel on keeping the body physically fit and slimmed down. Not only does proper diet keep the weight down to normal, but helps in having a clear mind.

Our screening test for glaucoma brought a very good crowd. Only one or two were found to be borderline cases. Dr. John Bond, a local ophthalmologist, and nurses from the staff gave the test.

Diabetes was the most popular of the clinics. Dr. Potts gave the lecture that helped to clear a lot of questions in the minds of those attending. In testing those who came there were several who were possible diabetics.

Heart trouble or cancer strike fear in the individual, but Dr. Siegel, of the Veterans Hospital, gave advice on how to take care of your heart and live with abnormal conditions. His greatest concern was preventing heart attack by watching the solid fat intake, not smoking, and the right kind of exercise. Dr. Davis, a local pathologist, explained how one can avoid late stages of cancer by periodic examination. Many die because they wait too long to visit their doctor.

Our Five-day Stop Smoking Clinic gained momentum as it went along, closing with far more than we started with. Dr. Losey of College Place was the physician helping in this clinic.

We appreciate the help of each of those who gave of their time to serve this community. It is truly wonderful to have people who are interested in the better health of those they serve.

Our reward for this service is in those who have been helped. In our office we are continually receiving calls of thanks. One stopped by personally and expressed thanks for helping him "kick" the smoking habit. Only eternity will reveal the good that has been accomplished. We solicit your prayers for guidance in our work in this area.

Successful Nutrition School Held at Butte

An eight-week course in food preparation held in the local fire hall September 20 to November 16 was brought to a climax when sixty friends, neighbors and members of the class attended the banquet November 23. Mrs. Alice MacKenzie, not a member of our church, took first prize for completing the most recipes. She took top honors not only for preparing seventy recipes, but also for perfect attendance and for not missing more than one point of the "Everyday Nutrition" course.

The second prize, "Happy Living" Cookbook, was awarded to Mrs. Nancy Jones, also a non-member. She completed 30 recipes and missed only two points in the "Everyday Nutrition" course.

Mrs. Lyle Downs, a member of the Butte church, received honorable mention. Twelve certificates were presented to those who attended a minimum of six of the eight classes held.

Mr. Lyle Downs, an elder of the Butte church, not only attended every night, but brought someone with him and provided and operated the projector for the sound films shown. He also photographed various sections of the course, including the pictures shown with this article.

All through the course interest ran high as was evident by the many telephone inquiries from class members and those who were not able to attend. Many became interested through press and radio reports as well as friends attending the school.

Many expressed gratitude for such a course. One note of appreciation came from a non-member: "God has instructions for all of us. So many of us seem not to read them too clearly—but you have justified His faith. What you have given to us we can never repay, but by knowing you and seeing how you carry out His orders, maybe we too can become better followers of His. We've gained much wonderful knowledge from you about our nutritional needs."

The Montana Conference president, Elder G. C. Williamson, and his wife, and the Montana Lay Activities Secretary, Elder Don MacIvor, and his wife were also able to be with us for our banquet. Elder MacIvor assisted Mrs. Dawes, the instructor of the class, in awarding the certificates.

A Faithful Lay Worker

Sister Carolyn Lyman, a native Montanan, is now living in Missoula where she seeks to do the will of God and further His work. Among her missionary endeavors she has given away 48 White Bibles and lessons, 50 New Testaments in Today's English, 1,000 Voice of Prophecy packs with radio logs and requests for lessons, 30 books, 13 subscriptions to Listen, 10 subscriptions to Signs, besides having written many missionary letters and get-well cards which always contain Quiet Hour booklets.

When work is to be done, Sister Lyman offers her help immediately without waiting to be asked. She has been a faithful worker at the Missoula Fair booth sponsored by our church.

Carolyn Lyman

Although she fell and broke her shoulder last winter while walking on an icy street, her evangelistic endeavors did not end; she called people whose names she had chosen at random from the phone book and secured many enrollments for VOP lessons. Even when traveling on the train she does not go empty-handed, but always has a supply of literature and appreciation cards to pass out.

Sister Lyman is now 66 years of age and is looking forward to the day when her Saviour will say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; . . . enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." (Matt. 25:21) If we were all as dedicated and faithful as this dear sister, the work would soon be finished and we all could be together in the beautiful home He has prepared for us.

Pathfinder Food Collection In Great Falls

The Great Falls Pathfinders, under the leadership of Richard Clark, collected 1,102 food items and 83 articles of clothing on the Halloween drive to help the needy. On Thursday, October 30, they visited homes and left paper sacks with appropriate information concerning their purpose and then called back the next afternoon to pick up the gifts.

Early the same Thursday, Mr. Clark and Mrs. Elsie Crowell, the local church's welfare director, appeared on KRTV, Channel 3, to tell the viewers what the youth were planning in the community. Mr. Clark declared that the publicity caused them to double what was received last year. One homemaker substituted a box for the sack so she could give more. A Tribune reporter sent a note to the press secretary to the effect that she hoped the Pathfinders would come to her house so she "could do something for somebody." A county commissioner told Mrs. Crowell that a minister of another denomination wished to contact her. He was enthusiastic about the work of the Adventist young people and asked if she had any extra names of needy families as he wished the young people of his church would take on a similar project.

After the welfare officers placed food in boxes, church members took the responsibility of adding fresh food and delivering it to the designated families. All were happy to take part in the program—and there is still food for future emergencies!

Bible House to be Open Sunday, December 21, Closed January 4

Christmas will soon be here. One more Sunday is left before that all-important day. Many have saved their shopping until the last few days. Others have not purchased their last-minute foods from the Bible House Store. That is why we are going to be open Sunday, December 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Our large display of books and records and other things has branched out into the Conference office lobby. Demonstrations of a number of foods will help you decide what to cook for this special occasion. So, take advantage of this opportunity to make your purchases at such an opportune time.

Because we think you will not be around the first Sunday of January (January 4), we will be closed on that day.

Does This Shock You?

In a recent news release we learn that in this country alone there are some 80,000 men and women classed as hard drug addicts—men and women who are "hooked" on heroine, morphine, and other poppy derivatives.

Adding to this number, there are now more than six million alcoholics who are really drug addicts. Often when we speak of drugs, we forget that the real "culprit drug" in our society is alcohol. Because alcoholic beverages enjoy such overwhelming social acceptance, we do not even call alcohol a drug. Yet, that is exactly what it is. A can of beer contains the same amount of alcohol as a shot-glass of whiskey, gin or vodka. No wonder that one in every fifteen of our children who fool with these drugs will be an alcohol or drug dependent in the future.

Then, to this long list we must add those who use LSD (Lysergic Acid Diethylamide), and the fad drug, marihuana. Some psychologists tell us that those who use marihuana in particular, do so to overcome shyness, and to gain false courage. It seems that this is the hour when we as a denomination and as stalwart church members should make our knowledge available to these millions who are groping in a field of utter darkness, and are fast approaching the great abyss.

Let us arise to this great task immediately.

Candlelight Christmas Concert At Greenlake Church

The Puget Sound Chapter, Women's Auxiliary to Loma Linda University, will present its Candlelight Christmas Concert on Friday evening, December 19, in Green Lake church, 6350 East Green Lake Way North, Seattle, at 7:30 p.m. The feature of the evening will be "The First Nowell," music compiled by Ralph Vaughan Williams. It tells the Nativity story by use of many Christmas carols, some very familiar and others not so well known. It is an unusual presentation which combines music and spoken parts, and one that will be of interest to all.

Several music groups will be represented. A small mixed adult singing group, a treble choir, a male chorus, and many soloists will provide vocal music. A string quartet, organ and several woodwind soloists comprise the instrumental group. Preceding "The First Nowell," familiar Christmas carols will be sung by the male chorus, directed by LeRoy Weber.

As always, there is a mission project which the group sponsors, and the offering taken that evening will be for our mission family—Dr. and Mrs. Jess Holm. Dr. Holm is presently the Medical Director of the Saigon Adventist Hospital in troubled Viet Nam. Located at a busy intersection in a city teeming with two million persons, the Saigon Adventist Hospital is a 38-bed hospital with approximately 80 patients. Under the medical direction of Dr. Jess Holm, the Saigon Adventist Hospital is providing medical care under difficult circumstances to thousands of patients each year who would otherwise receive no medical attention.

The patient load has long since outgrown the physical facilities, and plans have been developing to build a new hospital. Funds are needed to equip this new structure and to support the continuing work of Dr. Holm and other dedicated workers in this troubled city.

So, besides music there will be opportunity to help in overseas medical mission work—as Jesus healed the sick during His ministry on earth, and left to us the gift of His perfect example to follow.

North Seattle Teens On Fire for Christ

The teenagers of the Shoreline and Mountlake churches have begun a program which they feel will have a tremendous impact upon the city of Seattle. The first part of the program consists of "Teen Dial," a program in which teenagers from south Seattle to north Everett can call into and get recorded message on a variety of subjects. The teenagers are invited to leave their names, addresses, and any problems they would like the teen council to discuss. These problems are then taken to the teen council where they are discussed. After discussion, a talk is prepared by a teenager relative to one of the problems turned in, and this is put on tape for the coming week. Those teenagers who call in and have a real problem receive a letter from our council containing personal help and recommendations. Next, that teenager is sent a book dealing with his problem, and if he still wants more help, he is visited by a group from the teen council.

During the first month of operation, there were over twelve hundred calls received. Many of those calling in had real problems with which they wished help. The number of Teen Dial is 774-7922.

The second part of our program consists of street evangelism. The teenagers from our group go down on the streets of Seattle and pass out literature which will be a help to those who receive it. On our last distribution a large group of teens went to the university district of Seattle and talked to and distributed literature on drugs to over three hundred hippies. Much is being planned for the future by this group of dynamic young people who are anxious to be a part of "that mighty army of youth" which is mentioned in the Spirit of Prophecy—an army of youth who will show to the world that God does have a remnant among the "now generation."

Courtesy Week at Auburn Academy

In regal attire Larry Murrill of Seattle and Doris Anderson from Stanwood, Washington, were recently crowned king and queen of Courtesy Week at Auburn Academy.

Activities began on Monday, November 17, when Linda Gabutero, social vice-president of the Associated Students of Auburn Academy, accentuated the value and rewards of courteous behavior.

The week-long activities ended on Sunday evening with a cultural banquet in Rudolph Hall. Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Classical Guitar Society of Seattle of which Elder Magne Fuglheim, pastor of the Green Lake church in Seattle, is a member.

Besides King Murrill and Queen Anderson, the royal court was comprised of princes Royce Fowler, Andy Wheeler and Lee Long; and princesses Debbie Gamble, Wanda Wentland and Patsy Harris.

Selected to Lead the Senior Class

The organization of classes is always a notable event in the school year. This is particularly important in the life of an academy senior, since it is his last year of academy life. To direct the activities of Auburn Academy's 147 seniors the following were chosen: president, Bill Poole, the son of the vice-principal, Elder Loren Poole from Auburn Academy senior class officers Carolyn Riederer and William Poole.

Voice of Youth

The Voice of Youth was organized Friday evening, November 3, with more than 100 students attending.

Plans for Voice of Youth include conducting services, visiting local churches, holding programs for junior academies, conducting weeks of prayer for Auburn Academy and Buena Vista Elementary School, and working with Teen Dial.

Tentative plans also include exchange programs with other academies, such as Columbia Academy, Battle Ground, Washington; and Portland Union Academy.

These activities will be climaxed by a series of evangelistic meetings in the spring.

Unlike last year's Voice of Youth organization, which varied its teams, this year permanent teams of eight members will be formed, headed by two speakers and two alternates. Secretaries, ushers, and persons to give scripture and prayer and special music will also be chosen.

Officers are Gary Neff and Sompong Shisiwat, co-chairmen; Nancy Beck, secretary; and Nancy Eggert, music coordinator.

Voluntary 6:45 p.m. Friday campus meetings preceding vespers will be conducted by the Voice of Youth teams.

ABC of Prayer Group Formed

On Sunday morning, November 4, an "ABC of Prayer" study group was formed, with plans to meet each Sunday morning from 10:30 to 11:30.

Fifteen students were present at the first meeting, several more joined since then. Elder G. A. Coon's ten lessons concerning "The Prayer of Reception" are being used as the basis for specific individuals. Thirty-three names were on the initial list.

The group begins the hour with a prayer circle. The six or eight questions making up an individual lesson are then discussed.

Sometimes when a new Bible promise is discovered, the group may pause for a moment of silent prayer concerning that promise. Near the end of the hour individual prayers are offered, and the meeting is closed with singing.

Testimony Countdown Begun

Testimony Countdown was begun on Sunday evening, November 4, with about 30 students present. Ten new sets of the Testimonies to the Church have been acquired for the class. This group meets from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m., with the time divided into three parts—the grading and discussion of the quiz sheet, a discovery period when members share ideas they have found from the week's reading, and a special feature or discussion, as time allows.

be worth it. We do not tell this to glorify ourselves, but to show how the Lord works and goes ahead to prepare the hearts of the people—and we do give Him thanks for this.

Herb caught his Ingathering fever from me, I guess, and started soliciting some business places in 1967. Before that, he admits, he didn't care much for Ingathering. But he was so happy with the results that year that he has gone again these past two. The first year one business gave him $20. The next year they doubled it to $40 and this year it was $50. A lumber yard in Pullman had given $10 every year for quite some time, but this year they told Herb they liked him so well and liked our "Reverend," as they refer to Pastor Willis, and so they gave him $25.

As for yours truly, I began to enjoy Ingathering back in the academy, and when we lived on the farm several years ago I used to go out and solicit all the scattered farmhouses, and this way I met a lot of people and really had a good time. It wasn't until we moved to Moscow that I ever solicited at any businesses but Elder Wayne Moore got me started and I have called at the same places now for nine years. Each year I try to add one or two new ones. I must admit I have been skeptical about asking anyone to give more than before—afraid it would make them unhappy—but this year there were two businesses where we had become especially good friends and I felt that I could ask in a very kind way if they could do more since the needs were growing so rapidly. I also assured them that if they didn't feel that they could, their gift was just as much appreciated. The first one said he didn't think he could but after we had talked a little more, he said, "I think I'll just make that check for $10 instead of $5." The second place said they would talk it over and I could check in the first of the week. When I saw they had raised theirs from $5 to $20 I was really happy. Three new contacts this year brought another $25. My prayer before I go is always that the Lord will prepare their hearts and help me to be a true Christian witness.

Sincerely,

ANNA MAY WATERS

ATS Activities

The Upper Columbia Academy chapter of the American Temperance Society is turning ideas into action with the help of $500 worth of materials supplied by the local Conference.

The temperance kit includes the new temperance film, "Countdown," which takes the place of the "One in 20,000" film dramatizing the effects of smoking; "Modern Millie," a smoking mannequin; and a "poison kit" showing the poisons produced in smoking.

About 150 UCA students have joined the school chapter of the ATS. At a recent organizational meeting the club chose Dick Nixon, Wenatchee, as president; Caroline Kandt, Kennewick, as vice-president; and Lynette Penhalurick, Moses Lake, as secretary.

Among plans for the current year are programs for high school audiences on the dangers of smoking and a stop-smoking clinic in a nearby community, according to John Ash, club sponsor.

The Yakima Pathfinders, under the direction of their leader, Ken Money, went out gathering food at Halloween for Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, and in the time of two hours, collected 513 cans of food plus apples, potatoes, flour, and other vegetables. Many will be enjoying the Thanksgiving and Christmas season more as a result of the faithful work of these Pathfinders.

According to teacher Glenn Franz, the children collected 220 cans of food from community residents on Halloween night for this project.

Fresh pumpkin pies, made by students enrolled in the cooking class taught by Mrs. Eulynn Franz, were included with each basket.

Gift Bible Plan Opens Doors

A non-Adventist attended the Enterprise church prayer meeting to personally thank the group for keeping his name on their prayer list. Later, the pastor made a visit to the man's home and enrolled him in the Gift Bible Plan.

During a recent hospital stay, this leukemia victim remarked to an Adventist nurse, "Your pastor has really put me to work, but I'm keeping up with the lessons—and enjoying them."

In the same town a young mother was also enrolled in the Gift Bible Plan. "I'm trying real hard to live up to everything I learn," she told the pastor during a recent visit.

"I haven't attended church in years because no one paid any attention to me," confided one woman. Agreeing that she needed to get back to a systematic study of the Bible, she accepted the offer to enroll in the study plan.

Finding the barber slumped in a chair reading the newspaper, the visiting pastor remarked, "Friend, I have something better to occupy your time than that newspaper!" The man has just completed lesson nine. Having lost his wife a few months ago, the studies are providing a special comfort for him.

"What's the answer to all this trouble in the world?" asked a man engaged in conversation with the Adventist pastor for the first time. "My friend, you'll find the answer to that question in this book (patting the gift Bible)." The man signed up for studies.

Throughout the Elgin-Enterprise district people are welcoming the opportunity of systematic Bible study.

"For a time the Elgin church came close to facing extinction," said Pastor Ronald Boyce. "But now we are filling up one side of the sanctuary, and I believe the Gift Bible plan is the answer in filling up the vacant pews on the other side. It has worked in other places. With God's help it will work here."

Visitors' Day at Wrangell

The church members of the Wrangell church really took visitors' day this year to heart. The members faithfully invited friends and neighbors. The Lord rewarded their faithfulness and many friends and neighbors came.

Wrangell is a small town with a small church, but the people all have big hearts and that is pretty important. About 20 to 25 members attend each week, but on visitors' day there were 35 who attended Sabbath school and church. They almost doubled the size of attendance on this one day. The Wrangell church would like to make every week visitors' day and they may just do that.

Following the worship service a pot-luck dinner was provided by the ladies of the church. The picture shows some of our visitors enjoying good Adventist food. One of the visitor's comments was that he "tried everything on the table and found it all very good." That was quite a feat to try everything on the table at an Adventist potluck, and especially at a Wrangell Adventist potluck.

We at Wrangell are for having many more visitors' days. How about you?

Missionary to the Blind

Every year in Alaska we look forward to seeing Sam Graham and to have him stop by for a visit. Who is Sam Graham? He is Alaska's first missionary to the blind. Each year he comes to Alaska and visits Alaska's some 700 blind individuals as well as giving them free help and materials.

Mr. Graham works for the Christian Record and Braille Foundation sponsored by the General Conference. Each year this foundation sends out over 130,000 pages of Braille and over 10,000 records free of charge. While he is in Alaska Mr. Graham visits all the Adventist churches that he possibly can. He always has a few stories and some favorite songs. He brings much cheer and happiness with him even to those that can see. He does not only stop at Adventist churches, but visits others, such as Baptist, Nazarene, Presbyterian, and many others.

We appreciate Mr. Graham's visits and look forward to seeing him again next year.

Required in Stewards

"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." I Cor.

Leonard Ayers

4:2. "Every Christian is a steward of God, entrusted with His goods. He has accepted the responsibilities of a steward and he must act in the Master's stead, doing as the Master would do if He were presiding over His own goods. The position is one of dignity in that his Master trusts him." —That I May Know Him, p. 220.

During the year 1969 have you always acted in the Master's interest? Have you proven yourself trustworthy? Does your account reveal that you have withheld tithes and offerings from the Master?

Your opportunities for doing the Lord's work in 1969 will come to an end on December 31. The Internal Revenue Service states that any tax claims must be accounted for by this date. However, the Christian's motivation is not merely a tax benefit, but a burning desire to express faith, love, and obedience to God.

"Man has been honored by being made a co-partner in God's firm." With the honor comes a privilege, great blessings, and security as sure as God's promises. If you have withheld from God tithes and offerings, December is square-up month. Make your account right with God. Also, make it the beginning of a systematic way of life with God.

The Master on His returning will call unto Him His stewards and say, "Well done, good and faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

Conference Office and Bible House Hours

Inquiries have come to us about Friday afternoon opening hours. For some time it has been our practice to close at 1:00 p.m. With shorter days and standard time, it is especially necessary during the fall and winter months.

Our regular hours are 8:00 to 5:00, except Friday. Special Bible House sales have been arranged throughout the Conference to accommodate those unable to meet the office schedule.

Junior and senior high students served as waiters and waitresses for the banquet held in the school dining room.

Elder Dart Visits Milo

Elder Archa O. Dart, General Conference assistant secretary in the Department of Education, was a guest on the Milo campus, November 14-20.

Elder Dart has a broad background of courtship, marriage, and family counseling experience. His advice has been sought by non-Adventist sources as well as for church-connected services.

The general theme of his series was, "Social Aspects of Academy Life." Special emphasis was found in thoughts from such statements as, "The habits formed in youth, although they may in afterlife be somewhat modified, are seldom essentially changed." 4T, 499.

Morning worships in the dormitories and evening joint meetings, plus private consultations, kept Elder Dart very busy. Staff members, as well as students, profited from his valuable ministry. BERNADINE G. MOOERS

Christianity in Action

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, longtime residents living on an Indian land grant in the Milo-Tiller area, were the happy recipients of a real missionary spirit that seems to have caught fire on the Milo Academy campus since school started this fall. Last month a group of students and staff combined their efforts to build a small home for an elderly couple that had lost their original house by fire this summer. This same missionary zeal was manifested again on Sunday, November 16, when several staff members and 24 students spent a day cutting and stacking wood in the Johnsons' storage shed for their winter supply. Pastor George Reid and Professor Henry Smith organized the effort.

The aging couple are both seriously ill. Mr. Johnson has terminal cancer. His wife, who is suffering from a heart ailment, was using up her feeble strength to drag limbs from fallen trees into the house for fuel. When this need was made known, students responded voluntarily, eager to be of help. Other staff members helping out in the project were: Wayne Grimes, Klaus Forster, John Christensen, and Delbert Merritt.

It was interesting to note that Mr. and Mrs. Cole, last month's recipients, were among the first to volunteer their services. A neighboring rancher, Mr. Billy Smith, also helped. Meals for the workers were furnished by the school cafeteria.
