Strengthening The Gospel Stakes

By W. E. Nelson

Treasurer, General Conference

We have been thrilled many times by the stories of the marvelous progress of the advent message in foreign lands. The devotion even unto death of our brethren and sisters who have left the homeland for the dark places of earth, has inspired us to give liberally of the means of which God has made us stewards, but the work is not yet finished. There is much to be done in the places where we have begun work, and then there are vast territories either unentered or only touched with the tips of our fingers. Our Saviour's commission to us is, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark 16:15). The advent message must encircle the whole earth, and cause the earth to be lighted with its glory.

Another opportunity is afforded us to advance the gospel into all the world as we face our annual Appeal for Missions. The message we love so dearly is moving forward with increasing rapidity in many parts of the world. We hear of tens of thousands attending our camp meetings in Africa, of hundreds being baptized in Inter-America, of bulwarks of false religions giving way in India, and of the marvelous working of the Holy Spirit in other lands. These all call for the strengthening of gospel stakes. The message is being given in the highways and hedges of all lands. These advances of the message all call for more and more money to occupy the territory and to press the gospel battle into new places.

In many countries we are told of increasing difficulties being met by our brethren and sisters in soliciting funds for our work. This is especially so in Catholic countries where personal liberties are so greatly curtailed. There are about 75,000 Seventh-day Adventists living in places where Ingathering work is quite uncertain. Many of our brethren are now seeing fulfilled literally the statement in the Spirit of prophecy which reads, "The work which the church has failed to do in time of peace and prosperity, she will have to do in a terrible crisis, under the most discouraging, forbidding circumstances." "Testimonies," Vol. V, p. 463.

In the book of Isaiah we have the promise that "the forces (wealth) of the Gentiles shall come unto thee." (Isa. 60:5). Is not the Harvest Ingathering plan God's way for the fulfillment of this promise? Jesus says, "If ye love Me, keep My commandments." (John 14:15). The greatest test of love is expressed in acts that will further the interests of the one we love. Mere lip service is of little value. There must be coupled with oral expression some act that requires effort, before there is a real expression of love and regard.

"The sower multiplies his seed by casting it away. So it is with those who are faithful in distributing God's gifts. By imparting they increase their blessings. 'Give, and it shall be given unto you. God has promised; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom.'" Acts of the Apostles." p. 345.

"As we continue imparting, we continue to receive; and the more we impart, the more we shall receive. Thus we may be constantly believing, trusting, receiving, and imparting." "The Desire of Ages," p. 370.

It is impossible for us to express to our dear people who so loyally engage in the Appeal for Missions work, our deep appreciation for their efforts. We know that it requires sacrifice on your part, but I am sure that none who has engaged in this work in the past, regrets the time and effort put forth in the soliciting of funds for the great work of preparing the world for the second coming of Christ. As you go forth again this year, our prayers are with you that you may not only be successful in gathering money for the Lord's work, but that you may be able to interest your friends and neighbors in the great advent message.

Thirteenth Sabbath Offering

The Sabbath School Department has become the strongest agency in the denomination through which funds for mission work are being raised. During the years of financial depression the very maintenance of the work already started in mission fields was threatened. An appeal came for financial help and the members rallied to the call and saved the situation. The Thirteenth Sabbath Offering has proved a great help in the mission field. In order to stimulate the Thirteenth Sabbath Offerings, a special envelope has been provided which has been used in many Sabbath schools. Because of this the following action has been taken by the General Conference Committee: "...Whereas, The new Thirteenth Sabbath Offering envelope has resulted in a marked increase in the amount of the offering given in the schools that have properly used it,

We Recommend, That all our Sabbath schools make regular use of this offering envelope during the quarter, placing their self-denial gifts in it week by week, thus enabling them early to reach the Dollar Day goal on the thirteenth Sabbath."

This special envelope has proved very beneficial to the members that have used quite regularly. They can save a little each week and place it in the envelope and when the Thirteenth Sabbath arrives, they have their dollar goal. Shall we not endeavor to make use of this envelope and thus increase our Thirteenth Sabbath Offering? The fields are ripe for harvest, but there is a shortage of means and therefore this appeal. May the Lord bless every donor in planning systematically to give a liberal offering on the Thirteenth Sabbath.

E. H. Oswald.

Onward With the Light

“Being lighted is never the end of the Christian’s life, not even being lighted from above. Being ‘lights’—that is the end. The moon is bright when it happens to be in a bright place; when the earth comes between it and the sun, it is dark. There are moonlight Christians, who, bright enough when lighted by God’s manifest favor, but if the darkness of Every conference in our field has stood true for many years, not only in raising funds for the cause, but in sending out their sons and daughters to the needy world fields. We can be justly proud of our traditions and rejoice over the success achieved thus far. May we who follow in the march be ever found loyal to the work until it is finished.

sultry evening; and then they went on to state that they didn’t know the coaches were air-conditioned or they would not have dreaded so much making the trip in such warm weather, to where they were going down in Iowa.

I happened to learn of their destination and found that a friend of mine was a neighbor of theirs, so had a very pleasant conversation with them, during which I had the opportunity to also emphasize other advantages of modern railroad travel, such as cleanliness and safety, as well as comfort.

This and many other contacts which I have had with the traveling public, have led me to believe that a great many people do not yet know about these wonderful improvements which the railroads have made during recent years for the comfort and safety of their patrons; also, that there has been very little increase in the passenger mileage rates since these added conveniences have been provided by the railroads. Those of us who have to travel a great deal due to the scope of our work, greatly appreciate these features; and naturally we like for others to know about them and enjoy them too. So if you happen to be planning for a trip of any length—for a vacation, a visit to relatives or friends, or going to college—be sure to consider going by railroad and enjoy the year-round comfort, cleanliness, and safety of modern railroad travel.

If you will write me a postal card regarding your plans, I will be glad to see that you are supplied with full information regarding railroad routes, connections, and rates for any trip that you may contemplate.

Being lights then and carrying that light on out to every soul in darkness is the mission of the church. Torch bearers for Christ—what a privilege! What a solemn responsibility. Are we measuring up to it?

Are You Planning For a Trip?

A short time ago when taking the train on a sultry summer evening for a trip to Iowa, which it was necessary for me to make, two ladies and a little girl found seats across the aisle, and I could hardly help overhearing some of their conversation. First they exclaimed about what a relief it was to find the car so comfortably cool on such a warm,

Minnesota Workers' Meeting

The Minnesota laborers enjoyed another very profitable occasion as they sat together for a number of hours around a common table discussing the great and far-reaching program of a common cause. Elder Oswald opened the meeting with an interesting Bible study which warmed all of our hearts. After a season of prayer, Elder Peugh led us into our work. There was a marked interest in everything presented. Everyone attended the meetings faithfully and contributed something toward making the meeting a success.

The Ingathering campaign so vital to the maintenance of our work was discussed in detail—not that the things brought up were new, but so important. Every feature of this campaign must be gone over every year that the work may be safeguarded, or else there will develop weak places in it which will cause our defeat. The enemy of our souls hates the Ingathering work. We know it and therefore are determined to hold together in every way, and to make it more and more what God would have it to be.

On the second day the ministers, Bible workers, and departmental leaders presented other phases of our work. Our hearts were touched as we listened to these leaders speak of their burden for the work. As we closed the meeting, district leaders gave us the assurance that the conference can depend on them to do their very best to make every branch of the Lord's work committed to their hands a success. What a grand cause we are engaged in, and what a privilege to be a part of it!

D. E. Reiner.

Junior Camps

We have just completed two very fine Junior camps—one at Doliver Park near Fort Dodge, Iowa, and the other at Sunset Glow Assembly near Brainerd, Minnesota.

The Iowa camp was divided into a section for the boys and one for the girls. It was my privilege to be with Elder Howe and his associates at the boys' camp, and I will testify that we had an excellent time with the eighteen or twenty boys present. The park is a very beautiful one, and the facilities most convenient. In addition to the educational and recreational program that was carried on, there was a continual spiritual endeavor, which reached a climax on Sabbath when every boy bore his testimony and took his stand for Christ; and the twelve of the group who had not been previously baptized, joined a baptismal class.

A similar camp was carried on in Minnesota, but this camp was for both boys and girls. The grounds are well situated so that the camps were entirely isolated one from the other, except at times when they were closely supervised on hikes and at meal time. Elder Lauda was assisted by some fine counselors, who cooperated very well. There was a good spirit throughout the camp, and it was the general conviction that the Juniors went home benefited physically, mentally, and spiritually. Elder Peugh took the Sabbath service, and the young people responded well to his appeal. The grounds are, like Iowa's, ideally situated, out from all other contacts, segregated from the outside world, with a fine lake and beautiful woods.

It is the conviction of those of us who were connected with these camps this year, that it is a fine program; and it is our purpose to make them even better another year, putting in more vocational training and thus develop some real training camps for our boys and girls.

History—A Living Subject

Many think of history as a tour among the dry bones in the musty tombs of those who have lived in ages past. It is true that history deals with the past, but had no man ever lived, there would have been no human history. History is vital, dynamic, and human because it deals with living people. In the moving panorama we see people who have loved, hated, worked, and played, just as we of a later generation. When a man dies, his history ceases. History, more than all fields of learning, is most vitally concerned with a living being who seeks to solve his problems. History is more than the mere study of physical man. All that man has ever thought, painted, written, carved, or even desired, is a part of the unfolding scroll of history.

What treasures the past holds for the fortunate individual who has the golden key of history! By means of history we can in a few minutes turn back the hands of time and visit with David, re-live his life, and sing his psalms. We can commune with Socrates, listen to the wisdom of Sir Isaac Newton, ride with a medieval knight on his mission of chivalry, or fight a patriot war and establish a new nation with George Washington.

Without history the creative work of the past would be lost, and those who have lived would be as though they had never existed. How poverty stricken culturally this world would be if we had only the activity, information, and creative ability of our own age. Were it not for the services of history, each new generation would of necessity have to build for nothing.

Suppose some great catastrophe should wipe out every vestige of human achievement, and a new generation without any knowledge of the past should come upon the scene to build up a new civilization which, at the close of the generation, should in turn perish again. This perennial rebirth of civilization, in all probability, would keep mankind in a state of semi-savagery.

How truly remarkable that by means of language, handicrafts, skills, and science, history has preserved, through various remains and records, the accomplishments of each generation as foundation stones for the next. This generation in turn builds and leaves a finer but unfinished structure for future peoples.

Some one has said biography is the crystallized power of the ages. By the means of the history of one man's life, his successors catch the enthusiasm of his spirit, are urged on by his courage and zeal, and profit by his very mistakes. Repeatedly, man in despair and discouragement has, through the pages of history, caught the vision of what could be done, from the men of old.

The social studies are justly popular because they deal with human beings and their problems. Of all the social studies none is more truly vibrant with life than history, which brings forth upon the twentieth century stage living human beings of the past.

Everett Dick.

Jesus is our example. There are many who dwell with interest upon the period of His public ministry, while they pass unnoticed the teachings of His early years. But it is in His home life that He is the pattern for all children and youth. The Saviour condescended to poverty, that He might teach how closely we in a humble lot may walk with God. Desire of Ages, Chapter 7, ¶ 23.

Going, Going

The Harvest Ingathering is going apace in Minnesota. With almost $4,500 already reported, the going looks fine. The workers are of good courage and have reported sixteen churches "over the top" and six of these have their super goal. You will find these listed under the Minnesota cut.

Elder Peugh just finished reading this week's Harvest Ingathering Bulletin, and he is very happy over the rapid progress of the campaign. All the workers are busy, and are intent upon reaching their whole district goals by October 1.

To you who read of this enthusiasm for God's work, let me say: Do your utmost individually to have a real part in this campaign for missions. God is rolling a great burden for souls upon His people; and let every member, rich or poor, respond gladly to this opportunity of supplying funds that will bring salvation to hundreds—yes, thousands of souls. Strive to send in $11.65 or more. Make this your personal goal.

For the sake of the isolated believers, let us take a glance at one or two high spots in the bulletin. Elder C. E. Smith will no doubt have his district over its super-goal in a few days after you read this report; and the same thing is true of Elder Pietz' church, and Elder Edwardson's district. Other districts are going rapidly and we will have their reports for next week. Let every church officer and church member work anxiously, zealously, and quickly to put his church on the Honor Roll.

Weddings

The St. Paul church formed a very artistic background for the lovely wedding of Miss Florence Peugh and Mr. Robert Kepkey on Monday evening, August 22. The service was performed by the bride's father, Elder V. E. Peugh.

The couple were attended by Miss Marguerite Peugh, Mr. Raymond Caldwell, and Mr. and Mrs. John De Wald. The music was rendered by Miss Wava Holm and Elder C. H. Lauda. The reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Kepkey wish for them God's richest blessings as they go to their new home in the Iowa Conference.

Mrs. C. H. Lauda

Elder C. Edwardson and Miss Anna Dorothy Paulson were married August 20. The wedding took place, just as the sun was setting, on the bank of beautiful Goose Lake, near Gilechrist.

Elder Edwardson is well known in this conference, and Miss Paulson is also known by many, as she was for several years preceptress at Hutchinson Theological Seminary.

Our prayers and best wishes go with Elder and Mrs. Edwardson as they continue their work in Minnesota.

Minnesota News Items

Word has just been received from Elder David Gulbrandson, who has been attending the summer session of the Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. He says that he has worked very hard on his studies this summer. He expects to be back in his district within a few days and will begin at once to help put his churches over the top in the Harvest Ingathering.

Elder C. S. Wiest, who for more than two weeks was seriously ill with a streptococcus infection, is now able to be about again. The sincere prayers of God's people and the skill of the physician have done much for him, and we are surely happy to see him able to be back on his feet again.

Elder L. H. Olson, who has spent many years in the Inter-American Division as a missionary, is with us for a short time in Minnesota. He spoke in St. Paul church on Sabbath, August 13. His message was greatly appreciated.

Elder J. C. Christenson spoke at the Stevens Avenue church in Minneapolis on Sabbath, August 13.

Brother C. G. Cross led out in a Harvest Ingathering rally at Stillwater on Sabbath. He says that he expects to have Stillwater over the top soon.

Excellent reports are coming in from all parts of the field telling of splendid success in the Harvest Ingathering.

A profitable workers' meeting was held at the Stevens Avenue church in Minneapolis, August 23-24. Nearly all workers were present.

Elder and Mrs. Wiest and their daughter, Ruth, are taking a few days of very much needed rest in the northern part of the State this week.

Elder N. R. Nelson, the pastor of the Norwegian-Danish church in Minneapolis, spoke at the St. Paul English church on Sabbath, August 27.

Elder V. E. Peugh spoke in the First English church in Minneapolis on Sabbath, August 20.

Our colporteurs have just closed another good week. They have not only had sales, but they have also had some wonderful experiences in their soul-winning work.

The Harvest Ingathering is now running at top speed. Already one fourth of the conference goal has been raised. October 1 has been set as victory day.

Notice this column each week during the Ingathering campaign. This will be the space that is reserved for the Ingathering honor roll; that is, churches over their Ingathering goals. Two churches have already reached their goal. That is fine. We appreciate this very much. I wonder which churches are going to be listed in this column next week. Come, let us all arise and go forth and make this Ingathering campaign a quick and complete work. If everybody will do his share before the official date of the Ingathering campaign is over, South Dakota will be able to sing its victory song. Let everybody do his part.                      W. H. A home has been found where the Indian children mentioned in a recent issue of the Outlook may be cared for and given the privilege of a church school, but the family are not able financially to furnish board and tuition. If there are those who would be interested in doing a little each month toward this worthy enterprise, please get in touch with us at once, so they can be put in school when it opens on September 6.

Elder J. H. Rhoads recently visited the Redfield and the Aberdeen churches in the interest of our church schools.

Vaughn Westcott has just held an investiture service at Eureka. A good sized class of Juniors received their Friend insignia.

Several Friends are to be invested Wednesday, August 31, at Watertown. Miss Mavis Ching, one of our Master Comrades, has led out in the preparation.

Elder J. H. Roth spent several days this week in the Black Hills district assisting in the Ingathering work. He reports that the response to the Ingathering work is about as usual, and that they received a friendly reception from lawyers and doctors of high standing.

The Watertown church was privileged to have Elder J. H. Rhoads with them on Sabbath, August 20. In the afternoon he and his family drove to Clark, where they visited some of our isolated believers.

Sister Stewart is leading the forces in Ingathering at Spearfish and Belle Fourche.

Elder Bresee conducted a baptism at Hot Springs, Sunday, August 21, baptizing five persons. Another baptism will be held later at Custer where several are awaiting baptism as a result of the effort held this summer by Elder Bresee and Brother Welch.

Brother Robert Brown spent Sabbath, August 20, with the Ash Grove church and the first of the week made a trip through Grant and Robert counties, visiting isolated believers in the interest of the colporteur work. He is looking forward to major deliveries by seven colporteurs September 5 and 8. Remember our colporteurs in your prayers, during this time, that they may be blessed with successful deliveries.

As you will note, two of our churches in South Dakota have reached their base goals in the Harvest Ingathering. The Huron church was the first to make this fine record.

Brother Brown is assisting the Florence church in the Ingathering. They have reached practically half of their goal.

Rockwell City Effort

The Rockwell City effort really had its beginnings several months before the opening night in the hall. Last fall when the "Voice of Prophecy" and "Truth for Youth" tracts were recommended for distribution, the Lake City church was one of the first in the conference to order them. They decided to go to the county seat, fifteen miles away, and see if a new interest could be aroused. So, every Sabbath afternoon, a group from this church would drive to Rockwell City, where not even one Seventh-day Adventist lived, and faithfully distribute the truth-filled literature. They did not allow even sub-zero temperature to stop them.

An interest was manifested in the literature and so the people at Lake City appealed to the conference for help, promising their continued support. The district superintendent was asked to spend a few weeks to see if the new interest could be developed.

The only hall in this city with a population of 2,100 was located upstairs over a department store and was already being used on certain nights by local organizations. Miss Audrey Anderson was the pianist and Bible worker, while Francis Wernick, a graduate of Oak Park Academy and a member of the Lake City church, gave his services as music director.

It seemed that rain, band concerts, school activities, and every conceivable type of hindering forces went into action at this time, but still people would attend these meetings. Friday nights were "young people's nights."

On Sabbath, August 6, Elder D. S. Osgood was present and officiated in the sacred ordinance of baptism, when four were baptized and one joined the remnant church on profession of faith. Others plan to be baptized when the next class is ready.

The Lord has definitely blessed in the humble efforts that have been put forth in Rockwell City and it is hoped that the work in this new place will continue to grow and prosper.

Iowa News Items

As a result of evangelistic efforts which have been under way in various parts of Iowa the past few months, quite a number are now going forward with their Lord in baptism. Elder L. P. Knecht baptized sixteen at Ottumwa Sabbath, August 20. Due to the heavy rains and the conditions of the river, the municipal pool was used. A large group witnessed the baptism, including believers from Fairfield and Centerville. According to word from Elder W. R. Archbold, he was to have baptized the same day twenty candidate at Cherokee and nine or ten at Sioux City.

ing campaign. To date $2,600 has been raised in the state, as compared with $1500 to the same date one year ago. Some of the high points of the many interesting reports reaching the office of activities throughout the field will be read with interest:

J. Lewis Neal, of Osceola, writes that they are busy in the Ingathering work and have in hand $45.61, which is that much more than they had at the same time last year.

C. H. Henry writes, asking for his "five minute" button.

From Grinnell, Mrs. M. J. Douglas writes that $89 has already been raised, which is approximately one-half the goal.

The Nevada singing band, under the enthusiastic leadership of Brother Pete Jensen, has already raised $35. Amounts as high as $7.77 and $8.35 have been received in one evening.

The Ruthven singing band also reports $35 in hand to date.

Bert Rhoads, of Hawarden, writes that he is having a good time calling on the business men and has already raised $40.50.

The Humboldt church is on the job, with $45.70 in hand.

On the eve of his departure for camp meeting, colporteur Roy Chamberlain wrote as follows from Ottumwa: "I was made happy to see four baptized last Sabbath from my work here. I have seen six baptized this year through my labor in Ottumwa."

Elder W. A. Howe, conference educational superintendent, reports that thirteen church schools will open their doors September 5 and 6, with teachers in charge as follows:

Council Bluffs—Miss Vada Korgan.
Davenport—Miss Mary Jane Douglas.
Des Moines—Mr. Charles Smith and Miss Helen Smith.

On August 8 and 9 we had a workers' meeting in Jamestown which was attended by Elders E. H. Oswald and D. E. Reiner. The workers felt that the meeting was very helpful. This year we made an early start in the Harvest Ingathering. To date about $800 has been gathered in. We determined not to have the campaign drag out this year, but to finish it in good time.

On Sabbath, August 13, a sister was baptized in Spiritwood Lake near Jamestown. This sister first learned of the truth by reading the Signs which she found in the depot at Jamestown. That proves once again the Signs means souls. Our literature work does pay.

Pierre, South Dakota	6:41

"Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God."

Obituary

Kinney—Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kinney was born in Wisconsin, March 25, 1884, and died at Duluth, August 9, 1938. She had been a resident of Duluth for about twenty years. She left Spiritualism to become a Seventh-day Adventist during the world war days, and was a faithful member of the church to the last. Her husband, two sons and two daughters survive her, besides many other relatives and friends.

G. E. Hutches.
