Assurances of Success

By E. B. Dick
Secretary General Conference

The year 1938 has brought increasingly heavy demands upon the world's mission budget. From almost every land come touching appeals beseeching that in the appropriations for 1938 special consideration be given to some unusual and outstanding need. These include requests for increased laborers, more adequate remuneration for workers now on the payroll to meet increased costs of living, money for schools and chapels, assistance in translation and production of literature in native languages, and a long list of other needs. These in the aggregate amount to a very large sum.

Today there has come to my desk an earnest appeal for $50,000 to provide two strong training schools in a long-neglected heathen land. A few days ago, a letter from another field leader reached me in which most earnest request was made for funds for churches and chapels—stating that our people in certain lands cannot meet for worship unless they meet in their own chapels. Still another tells of the scores of Macedonian calls which come to him and to which he cannot respond because of the lack of funds with which to support additional workers.

Besides these almost unnumbered calls for the extension of the work in the regular way, there come heavy emergency demands incident to war and other unforeseen developments. These include evacuation of workers from danger zones, the establishment of new headquarters, incomes from self-supporting institutions cut off, increased medical demands, restoration in part of workers' personal losses, renovation and rebuilding of institutions damaged or destroyed by the ravages of war, and the general rehabilitation of the work along with other major items of unforeseen expenses.

These regular and special calls mount up to such huge figures that even the most courageous might be led to question whether or not a people small in number—as we are—and with comparatively small financial resources could possibly carry such a large burden. And truly it is a wonder. It is a marvel in the eyes of the leadership of other Christian bodies. Frequently do we find in their church papers reference to the liberality of Seventh-day Adventists, and the accomplishments of our people are held up before their members.

Such commendable results are made possible by the liberality and loyalty of our people to the great cause of advent missions. And this we believe in turn is begotten of a deep desire to finish the work and hasten the coming of our Lord. Their liberality is shown by their responses to the appeals in the Sabbath school, in the Week of Sacrifice, and the Midsummer and Annual Offerings. The receipts from these account for approximately 63 per cent of the entire income for missions. Truly we have a liberal people. God will richly reward such labor of love.

The remaining 37 per cent of our income is provided through the loyalty of our people—loyal in their willingness to serve in the Great Appeal for Missions in the Harvest Ingathering Campaign. Only a few years ago it was thought impossible to obtain funds in this way. Last year through the willingness of our people there was raised the splendid sum of $1,294,616.79. This gratifying result was made possible by the wonderful spirit of willingness of our people to serve. This was accomplished largely by our faithful church members going up and down the city streets and country lanes, presenting to their neighbors and friends the interests of the cause they love. What a beautiful picture of loyal, devoted service! We believe God will add His benediction and blessing on those who give themselves to the furtherance of the cause they love in this way.

As I write this, the Harvest Ingathering Campaign is just opening. Another opportunity to serve is before us. What will be the result of this year's efforts? One thing is certain—it cannot fail. It will be a success. Backed by a spirit of loyalty in the hearts of our devoted people who love this message and are willing to serve by presenting to their friends the interests of the cause of missions, it cannot fail. May God bless His people in their efforts in the forthcoming appeal.

Prospects At Old Union

The outlook for the new school year at Union is most promising. Applications and room reservations have been coming in with every mail. Dean Habenicht says that only a few rooms remain in the men's dormitory; and Miss Keith, dean of North Hall, has entered into arrangements with more than 160 girls. Somehow the atmosphere because supercharged with enthusiasm when such prospects exist. Even Mother Nature is having the campus put on its "best" for the opening occasion, as the grass and foliage are neat and trim. The chapel is being redecorated, and hardwood floors are being put into many rooms of the girls' dormitory. The library is being moved to its new quarters.

Although prospects for a full school are before us, we shall follow the old adage that room can be made for another. If you plan to attend a school of higher learning, come to Union. Join our college family this year.

A. H. Rulkoetter.

An Invitation And a Challenge

John Palmer Gavit, in his book "College," propounds two questions which he asks the prospective college student to answer. They are: (1) "What do I expect the college to do?" (2) "What has this particular person to offer to the college?"

It is hardly possible for anyone to give a thorough answer to the first of these questions, for the college will not offer identical benefits to every student. However, any Christian institution will have some fundamentals which it may give to every student who enters its doors.

The school will make it possible for the student to progress steadily in developing the essentials of honest Christian living. These principles should be found, not only in connection with the Bible courses and religious services, but as a part of every phase of college life.

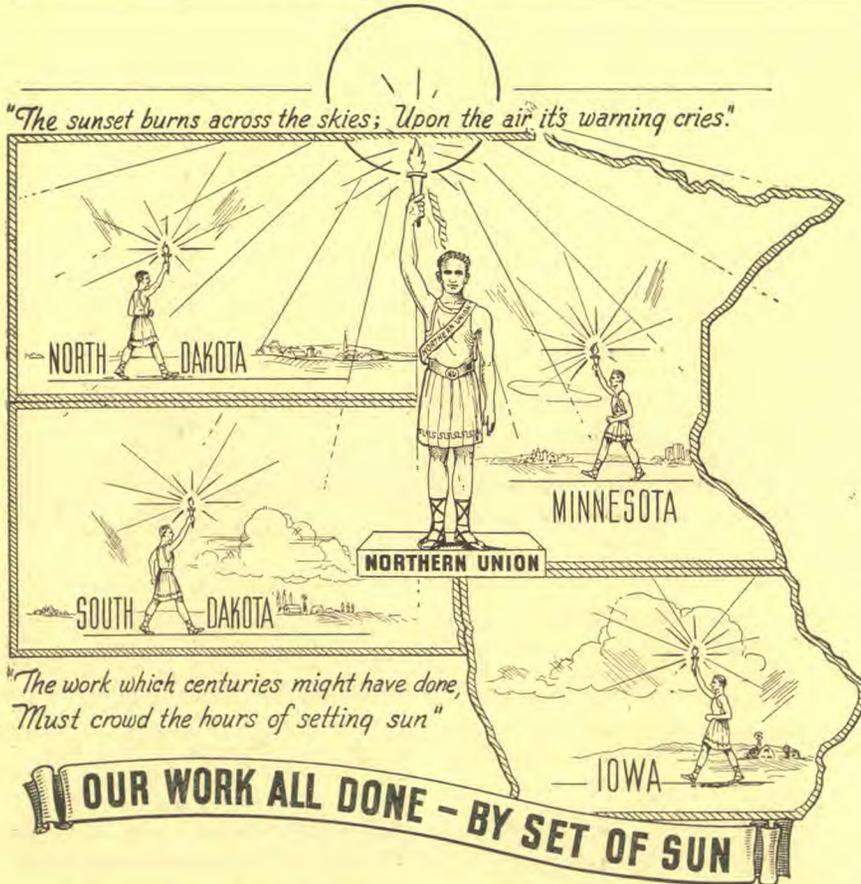

The student may expect also to find an opportunity to be taught the elements of true scholarship, and to be thoroughly imbued with the idea is an integral part of the college. He must realize that anything that hurts its progress and reputation is, in a measure, a reflection upon his own good name. If he really wishes to contribute to the upbuilding of the institution, he will bring to it a life which has a passion for spiritual living. He will be militant in his efforts to raise its spiritual tone to the highest possible standard. He will contribute his talents and influwill be willing to observe the accepted conventions of good society in the school's homes, in the class, in the library and on the campus. He will be proud to have contributed to the upbuilding of a refined and cultured atmosphere which is free from the cheap and sordid.

We take pleasure in inviting this type of young man who not only expects to secure something from the college, but who is willing to give more to it.

Ingathering Enthusiasm

Whenever we enter upon the Harvest Ingathering work the following statement from "Testimonies to Ministers" comes to my mind:

"Times are growing hard, and money is difficult to obtain; but God will open the way for us from sources outside our own people." p. 210.

The Harvest Ingathering is a fulfillment of this statement. The Lord certainly has opened the way for us and the riches of the Gentiles are flowing into the treasury of God's cause to help hasten on the last message of mercy. The Lord has opened the way for us and we should recognize His providence in the Ingathering work. He has opened the way for us and He is with us as we engage in it. My experience during the past days in the Ingathering has helped me to realize anew that the Lord sends His angels to cooperate with us. I could see again and again that an unseen power worked upon the minds of men and women who respond with a gift, but who when first that hard work and active interest are essential to scholarly work. Let no one believe that there is any incompatibility between a true Christian experience and a spirit of academic interest and endeavor. The Christian college will foster and endeavor to maintain an academic standard that is superior to that of the average college.

In answering the second question the student must recognize that he ence to the success of its religious activities. He will see the need of cheerfully cooperating with the administration in upholding its policies. He will discern that the rules of the institution are not the product of personal whims but are the results of years of experience. He will submerge and keep in the background his own personal desire, for the sake of the whole. He will be a useful citizen of his college community. He approached were unwilling to give anything. It was quite evident that the Lord spoke to their hearts.

I am reminded of a statement in "Christian Service," p. 168, which reads: "Let us also pray earnestly in behalf of those whom we expect to visit, by living faith bring them, one by one, into the presence of God." As we engage in this work we must go praying and we must go believing that we are not alone. When Nehemiah stood before the Persian king to ask for gifts in behalf of God's cause, he quietly sent up a prayer to God before he made known his request to the king. "Then the king said unto me, 'For what dost thou make request,' so I prayed to the God of heaven." Neh. 2:4. Nehemiah believed in gathering funds for the cause of God and he knew he was not alone. He knew that God was with him as he stood before the king hear his prayer and influence the king, and he believed that the Lord would He believed, as we read in Proverbs 21:1: "The King's heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the rivers of water: He turneth it whithersoever He will."

The Lord worked upon the heart of Artaxerxes the king. He will work upon the hearts of the people to whom we appeal for gifts. Let us be enthusiastic about this work. Since God has opened the way for us, let us engage in it wholeheartedly. God hates lukewarmness; He would have us zealous. We are told that as our "light burns brightly, a thousand torches will be kindled at the flame." "Christian Service," p. 175.

Several years ago I visited Rome. One evening I was told that on that night we would see the lighting of the dome of St. Peter's. It is an annual affair and attracts great multitudes. When I went out to witness the event I saw thousands upon thousands of people thronging the streets. The city was dark until finally a speck of light appeared in the distance. This light quickly spread and increased in brightness. It was a beautiful sight. It took only a few seconds until the dome in the distance was flooded with a dazzling light. As I stood there I imagined that the dome was lighted up with thousands of electric bulbs but that was not the case. It was lighted up with torches. About 600 men were employed in lighting the dome. They were suspended by ropes, every man being in the right place at the right time. When the moment came for the lighting of the dome, one man lit his torch. As soon as it was on fire he touched his torch to the torch of the man next to him and thus the light was passed on from man to man until the whole dome was a blazing light.

Brother, sister, let us see to it that our light burns brightly; let us be enthusiastic about this Ingathering and do the work quickly, and I am sure North Dakota will go over the top within the time that has been set for the campaign. D. N. Wall

Faithful Stewardship

God claims the tithe as His. Of the Sabbath we read that it is the Lord's and is "holy unto the Lord." The Lord makes the same claim regarding the tithe. "All the tithe is the Lord's; it is holy unto the Lord."

The tithe should be a constant reminder to us of God's ownership of everything. We are stewards and "It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." I Corinthians 4:2.

A faithful tither recognizes God's ownership of everything and acknowledges God as the great and bountiful giver of all gifts. Let us ever be faithful in rendering to God His own. D. N. Wall.

Joy Inexpressible

"The Lord surely did bless me wonderfully since I began canvassing this summer. I am fully convinced that this is the work He wanted me to do. Do pray for me that the Lord will make me a true worker for Him, as I have decided to make my life's work along this line. Somehow there is a joy in this work that is beyond expression. No matter how low my sales may go I will never become discouraged, for really we are not working for sales, but for souls.

"This week I came by a place where summer school was in session and something told me to go in and tell the children some stories. After I had told a few, the teacher mentioned a fund that the children had raised through their club, which could be used as they saw fit. When it was put to a vote as to whether they should have a picnic or the books, they said, "We want the books." The entire series of "Uncle Arthur's Bedtime Stories" will make about a book for each one. Surely it was the angels that guided me to that school." Reuben Krein,

The Night Is Darkest Just Before Dawn

"Monday morning I started out with a grim determination to do better than last week. But the morning didn't begin so well, because at the first place I came to I was given directions as to where the road was and where it led. The second place I came to the person wouldn't answer the door, and the same thing happened at the third place. By that time I was beginning to feel pretty badly. I felt like it was no use. But by noon the tide had changed and that night before I went to my room I had $32 worth of orders to be thankful for, and I can assure you that I was a very happy person. I am still of good courage and plan to work hard until September.

Ruth Axt,

Another Experience

"The first day I was out canvassing my courage was good, but I don't think it was of my own power that I sold so many books. I feel that the Lord has certainly blessed me. I thank the Lord that I can be one of the fortunate people that can go out and do work for Him. I feel that He is calling the youth of today to do the book work and prepare for a greater service in His vineyard. It is only by constant prayer that we can succeed. I have found it a great joy to do His will and not mine. I with others, ask for your earnest prayers in behalf of the colporteurs." Erma Dietrich.

Word has come to us from Brother M. F. Grau concerning the effort at Nome which he and Theo. Terkelson have conducted. Brother Grau states that seven persons have taken their stand to keep the Sabbath and that there are others who have attended the meetings but are still in the valley of decision. Brother Grau and Terkelson believe that at least some of these will cast in their lot with the people of God.

Brother H. R. Kuehne has been holding meetings in our church at Denhoff. We are glad to know that the Lord has blessed this effort with several new believers. Elder Seibel was invited by Brother Kuehne to help bind off the effort during a recent week-end. On the Sabbath they received three new members into the church upon profession of faith. One other is awaiting baptism.

Our workers have now all entered upon the Harvest Ingathering, and Elder Loewen is out in the interest of the campaign. Elder Wall has also been helping with it and is leaving tonight to visit several churches and to do Ingathering work in Medina and Cleveland.

Pleasure, Joy and Blessings

"It has been a realm of pleasure in the canvassing field this week. The Lord showered me with blessings. Wednesday morning the orders began to roll in. From six square miles I had $50 sales. All honor goes to God for this success, for I, of myself, can do nothing. Thursday and Friday were very hard days for me. I worked in the sand hills—couldn't ride my bicycle so had to push it all the way. I worked seven hours and called at just five homes. The people were very friendly and the Lord blessed me with sales. By Friday night I had $106.75 in orders.

"The longer I am out in the canvassing field the more I enjoy it. It is such an inspiring and helpful work. It has greatly increased my faith and has given me a greater burden for those in darkness.

"I came to one place where the lady met me outside. During our conversation I explained 'Bible Readings' to her. She said, 'You come into the house for the Sunday school superintendent is here and she should have this book.' I suggested finishing her order first, which was done without hesitation. We went into the house and the superintendent gladly ordered a book also."

Brethren and young people, is it any marvel that Miss Krein has earned her scholarship to the academy in four weeks? Other North Dakota young people have scholarships, also. Why not you? There are still scholarships here if you will only go out after them. For further information and territory, address Roger Baker, Box 1491, Jamestown, North Dakota.

Minnesota workers are going still stronger in their efforts to make the conference goal by the first of October, and the reports that are coming in are so numerous that we made a full bulletin and sent the news out to the churches. Now, brethren, there is no time to lose. Plunge quickly into the Harvest Ingathering work during these few remaining weeks and get every dollar that you can to help the church and the conference to reach its super goal. Shall we not all make our aim the minute-man goal ($11.65) or more? As you see, God is greatly blessing those who have already gone out and are now working. Won't you join them and share in this blessing? God's work will soon be finished and He has made money accessible, but He places upon you the responsibility of going out and asking for it. Be a minute-man in the army of God and swell the stream of funds that will send the missionaries and the

Wedding At Hutchinson

A pretty home wedding took place August 12, at the home of Elder and Mrs. A. J. Lockert, in Hutchinson, when Lauritz S. Gunderson and Hilda were married by the writer. Miss Anna Paulson of California was the bridesmaid, and Elder C. Edvardson was the best man. A vocal selection was sung by Palma Lockert. The wedding march was played by Sylvia Lockert, and a reception was given after the ceremony by Mrs. Lockert.

After a few days spent in visiting friends and schoolmates, Brother and Sister Gunderson returned home to Benson, Minnesota, where they are members of the Gilchrist church and where they have proved themselves in the past to be a great help in its activities. The community, as well as their many friends and schoolmates, wish them well as they establish their home in the vicinity of the Gilchrist church. May God bless their new home.

Church Dedication

Our people at Wadena look forward to the dedication of their church Sabbath, October 1, and are inviting the neighboring churches to be with them for this occasion. Elder E. H. Oswald and Elder V. E. Peugh will be there, and they are planning for an all day meeting, starting at ten o'clock in the morning. Bring your lunch and come.

Elder A. L. Bietz expects to hold his opening meeting in the North Minneapolis tabernacle Sunday evening, September 11.

Elder G. E. Hutches writes: "Our goal here is to get all of the churches in our district over the top in Harvest Ingathering by the Victory date, October 1. The Union College Library fund is also taken care of and we have cash and pledges enough to cover the entire amount for our district. Some of it may not be in for a month or so, but it is good." Elder Hutches also says that they are planning for another baptism on September 10. One sister that is to be baptized, has already been out and raised $15.00 Harvest Ingathering.

This word has been received from Elder J. W. Christian; "You will be glad to learn that Winona reports $200.25 Harvest Ingathering up to Sabbath morning, August 27. They will go well over the super-goal. In Rochester we have set our hearts to reach the goal by September 10. Owatonna will reach their goal about the same time. Austin assures us they will not fail, though their work is crowding and they may come in a week or two later. I hope we shall be able to get all through by October 1.

Four new members were baptized at Red Wing on Sabbath, August 27. Others will be baptized later.

Elder and Mrs. Harder passed through Minneapolis this week on their way to Bemidji, where they will be located. Brother Harder will have charge of several churches in that section of the state.

A Splendid Work in South Dakota

How many of our large books do you think have been placed in South Dakota? No less than 53,310! The records are not complete for some years so I am certain that the actual number would be several hundred more. This includes only our large books like Bible Readings and Our Day, and does not include the thousands of small books and tracts which have been distributed by colporteurs. What a splendid testimony this is to the faithfulness of the South Dakota people.

Speaking of the mighty culmination of the third angel's message—the loud cry of Rev. 18:1-4—immediately before probation closes, the Servant of God says, "The seed has been sown, and now it will spring up and bear fruit. The publications distributed by missionary workers have exerted their influence, yet many whose minds were impressed have been prevented from fully comprehending the truth or from yielding obedience. Now the rays of light penetrate everywhere, the truth is seen in its clearness, and the honest children of God sever the bands which have held them. Family connections, church relations, are powerless to stay them now.—"Great Controversy, p. 612.

Who does not long for the time when this prophecy will be fulfilled and the truth-filled pages sown by the faithful literature evangelists in South Dakota will bear their rich harvest of souls? Happy indeed in that day will be those who had a part in sowing the seed. Let us thank God that there is still an opportunity for us to gain the blessed experience which the colporteur work affords. Anyone who is interested should feel free to write to me.

Robert Brown.

Elder W. H. Hanhardt and J. H. Rhoads devoted their time to Ingathering in Watertown several days last week. Approximately $200.00 had been raised toward the Watertown goal at the second week of the campaign, or nearly half of the goal.

Elder Hanhardt returned to the office Sunday, August 30, after having spent several days assisting in the Ingathering work in Colman and vicinity.

The Watertown church was happy to have as recent visitors: Professor R. Nesmith and wife from Tulsa, Oklahoma; the Baumgardner Family and Louis Anderson of Sioux Falls; also Brother and Sister Nelson and Sister Mekkelson from Clear Lake.

As you will see from the Ingathering report, $1690.10 has been gathered in the first two weeks of the Harvest Ingathering campaign. This is a good start, and with 100 per cent cooperation from 100 per cent of our members, we will be over the top in record time. We are counting on you.

Elder Roth spent Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning at the secondary teachers' institute which was held at Hutchinson, Minnesota.

He conducted the devotional service on Wednesday morning.

The entire Plainview Academy faculty, enroute to the secondary teachers' institute at Hutchinson, Minnesota, stopped off at the conference office Sunday, August 28 a short time.

Mrs. H. W. Anderson paid us a short visit one day last week.

Elder Rhoads and several of the Junior boys from the Watertown church had the pleasure of meeting with the Sabbath school members at Toronto on Sabbath afternoon, August 27. Elder Rhoads reported a very nice response there.

Elder Roth assisted Elder Bresee and Brother Welch with the Ingathering work at Deadwood and Lead. The response was good.

Elder E. H. Oswald, president of the Northern Union Conference, will speak at the Sioux Falls church Sabbath, September 10. Elder H. O. Olson will meet with the Swan Lake church on the same date, and with the Brookfield church on Sunday night, September 11.

Elders Oswald, Roth, and Hanhardt will join the Swan Lake church in the Ingathering campaign Monday and Tuesday, September 12 and 13.

Sabbath, August 20, was a high day for the Ottumwa church. Sixteen candidates entered into a covenant with their Lord by baptism. These are the first-fruits of the Ottumwa effort, conducted by the writer, and Brother Kepkey, with Miss Nellie Linscott as pianist and Bible worker. Since the baptism service still others have taken their stand for the truth, and another baptism is planned for September 24. The Ottumwa church entered into the effort wholeheartedly, inviting and bringing friends, also assisting in every way possible. Special mention should be given to Brother Roy Chamberlain, colporteur, of Ottumwa; Mrs. Elizabeth Benson, who did Bible work; and Miss Edith Simons, who assisted in special

"My Boy Is Too Young To Send Away to School"

"My boy is too young to send away to school, and I am determined that he shall not be exposed to the influences of the public high school. The educational secretary is advising me to have him take the ninth grade by correspondence."

We are receiving a number of letters of this kind from thoughtful parents in different parts of the country. It is a pleasure to assure the parents that it is possible for a boy or girl to take the whole of the ninth grade by correspondence and make a good job of it.

The training received through writing out the answers to the questions and following a daily school program in the home, means much to our young people. Students who take some work by correspondence almost invariably do better work later on in the academy.

We shall be glad to hear from other parents who desire to confer with us concerning the needs of their children. Not only the ninth grade, but other high school grades may be taken in this way always at a special rate if the student takes the whole year's work. We also offer a large variety of college studies. Our catalogue should be in the homes of forward-looking Adventists. Address:

Obituary

Larson.—Nils H. Larson was born in Tarring, Denmark, November 10, 1852 and passed away July 28, 1938, at Nevada, Iowa. In 1873 he came to America, living a short time in Jersey City, New Jersey, working in the steel mills. Two years later, 1875, he located in Nevada, Iowa, his home for the remainder of his days. In 1885 he was united in marriage with Christina Knudsen at Boone, Iowa. To this union eight children were born, six sons and two daughters. Brother Larson was one of the oldest members of the church at Nevada. He was a faithful, true Christian. He was always regular in attendance at the Sabbath services and was present the Sabbath before his death on Thursday. He was a faithful companion and a kind father, loved and respected by all his children. Our brother leaves to mourn, his wife, Christina, the six sons, and two daughters. The children are: Lewis, Anthony, and George, of Nevada; Mrs. Mary Childs, of Hollywood, California; Mrs. Lillian Grey, of Roanoke, Virginia; Otis Larson, of Farmington, Michigan; and Lester Larsen, of Chattanooga, Tennessee. We laid our brother to rest in the Nevada cemetery, awaiting the call of his Redeemer. Services were conducted by the writer.

A. L. Miller.
