The Spirit of Prophecy As a Guide in Education

The question of education is one of the largest problems that has been or is before this denomination. The largest, perhaps not because it is most difficult, but because it is so far-reaching and is so fundamental. This importance was, in the early days of our history, brought to our attention through the Spirit of prophecy. Very definite plans for such education were laid out before us.

This people has had a loyal, devoted and consecrated group leading out in the educational work all through the years. While it is true that no one has known how to formulate his educational policies to meet this pattern in every particular, yet we have made steady progress and the plans presented to us have been true guiding stars through the years. As time goes on each principle has been tested and not one has failed. It is true that some individual interpretations of these principles have failed, but the principles themselves have always stood the test.

One of the great educators of England, from Oxford University, in a recent article appearing in School and Society, says that "Theory would be illuminated by practice, and practice by theory." In most of the educational policies of the world these are divorced. The above stated principle was one of the things that is outstanding in our instruction through all the years. We need some of the experience of life in order to properly interpret the things we learn in books. In our schools we have made progress along this line, yet there is very much to be achieved. The same educator referred to above recognizes another principle that has been outstanding in the instruction we have received from the Lord. He refers to the great value of the study of history as the Bible conceives it—history not simply as a revealer of economic law, but as a concrete moral philosophy and the Bible an excellent text in the study of human nature.

The following quotations will serve to give some glimpses of the fundamentals in Christian education as set forth in the Spirit of prophecy:

"Our school was established, not merely to teach the sciences, but for the purpose of giving instruction in the great principles of God's word, and in the practical duties of every-day life. This is the education so much needed at the present time."—Counsels to Teachers, p. 88.

"As the teacher awakens in the minds of his pupils a realization of the possibilities before them, as he causes them to grasp the truth that they may become useful, noble, trustworthy men and women, he sets in motion waves of influence that, even after he himself has gone to rest, will reach onward and ever onward, giving joy to the sorrowing, and inspiring hope in the discouraged. As he lights in their minds and hearts the lamp of earnest endeavor, he is rewarded by seeing its bright rays diverge in every direction, illuminating not only the lives of the few who daily sit before him for instruction, but through them the lives of many others."—Id. p. 104.

"Judicious labor is a healthful tonic for the human race. It makes the feeble strong, the poor rich, the wretched happy."—Id. p. 278.

"The discipline for practical life that is gained by physical labor combined with mental taxation, is sweetened by the reflection that it is qualifying mind and body better to perform the work that God designs men to do. The more perfectly the youth understand how to perform the duties of practical life, the greater will be their enjoyment day by day in being of use to others. The mind educated to enjoy useful labor becomes enlarged; through training and discipline it is fitted for usefulness; for it has acquired the knowledge essential to make its possessor a blessing to others."—Id. p. 309.

"A thorough education, which will fit young men and women for service, is to be given in our schools. In order to secure such an education the wisdom that comes from God must be made first and most important. All who engage in the acquisition of knowledge should strive to reach the highest round of the ladder. Let students advance as fast and as far as they can; let the field of their study be as broad as their powers can compass; but let them make God their wisdom, clinging to Him who is infinite in knowledge, who can reveal secrets hidden for ages, and who can solve the most difficult problems for minds that believe in Him.

"We recommend to every student the Book of books as the grandest study for human intelligence, the book that contains the knowledge essential for this life and for the life to come. But I do not encourage a letting down of the educational standard in the study of the sciences. The light that has been given on this subject is clear, and should in no case be disregarded."—Id. pp. 394, 395.

"It was in the mount with God that Moses beheld the pattern of that wonderful building which was to be the abiding-place of His glory. It is in the mount with God,—in the secret place of communion,—that we are to contemplate His glorious ideal for humanity. Thus we shall be enabled so to fashion our character-building that to us may be fulfilled His promise, 'I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people.'"—Education, p. 258.

"God's purpose for the children growing up beside our hearths is wider, deeper, higher, than our restricted vision has comprehended. From the humblest lot those whom He has seen faithful have in time past been called to witness for Him in the world's highest places."—Id. p. 262.

To read the plan that is given us for Christian education is most encouraging and inspiring. To meditate upon and absorb the ideas brought forth in the Spirit of prophecy as the objectives in Christian education, is an experience no one can afford to miss. It opens up to us the beauties of the divine love, it imbues us with the spirit of service, as well as scholarship, it makes our hearts more tender and our minds more alert, it softens the hard places that would mar our characters, but at the same time strengthens our purposes and makes bold our courage.

Every parent, every young person, every student, should become familiar with the beautiful words and principles so generously sent us by our heavenly Father in the books, Counsels, Education, Fundamentals, and others. It will bring to you light where there is darkness, courage and hope where despair tries to linger.

Let us all cooperate in endeavoring to perfect our plans for the training of our youth to the end not only that they themselves may be saved, but also that they may become a mighty power in the finishing of this work.

W. P. Elliott Appointed Chairman of College of Medical Evangelists Board of Directors

Los Angeles, June 24. The appointment of W. P. Elliott, of Washington, D. C., as president of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Board of Directors of the College of Medical Evangelists has been announced by President George T. Harding. Official action was taken by the college board in session on the Loma Linda campus following the resignation of Frederick Griggs, board chairman for twelve years.

Elder Elliott has been the Publishing Department secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists since 1946, and from 1936 to 1946 was manager of the Review and Herald Publishing Association. Previously he had been president of the Potomac Conference and superintendent of the Haitian Mission. Commenting on the appointment, Elder Elliott stated: "I feel greatly honored by the invitation to connect with the group of thoughtful, able men who constitute the Board of Trustees of the College of Medical Evangelists. The institution fills a most important place in the life of the community and in the training of personnel for the worldwide medical work of Seventh-day Adventists."

The retiring chairman, Frederick Griggs, noted educational administrator, has for 59 years served in both the United States and the Orient as college president, missionary, and the chairman of various boards. He has been president of Union College, Emmanuel Missionary College, the Far Eastern Division, the China Division, and educational secretary of the General Conference.

Elder Griggs, who is also resigning as chairman of the board of the Pacific Press, in Mountain View, California, will remain in South California, living at home in City Terrace, Los Angeles.

Radio Medical Ministry

Arrangements have recently been made with the Voice of Prophecy management so that beginning with their regular Sunday broadcast of August 7, a complimentary copy of our special August issue of Life and Health will be offered to our listening audience.

This special August issue of Life and Health will be of outstanding attraction and of special value as an "entering wedge." Here's how:

You may have loved ones, neighbors, and business friends who are either prejudiced or indifferent to a strictly religious broadcast, whom you may get to listen by telling them that the Voice of Prophecy is now featuring health instruction. You may announce to these friends that the latest information regarding cancer, heart disease, polio, and other very valuable and timely instruction on better living will come to them from outstanding doctors, nurses, and dietitians through our National Health Journal, Life and Health.

All around you, and perhaps in your own home, are those who are afflicted with one or more of these maladies that plague the human race. Many of these hearts may be temporarily closed to the Advent gospel. Through this phase of medical ministry many of these hearts may be opened and prepared for other important truths pertinent to our solemn and momentous times.

Now, dear fellow Advent believer, here is your opportunity to use "the right arm" as an "entering wedge" in your community. We are counting on you by this means also to help us expand our listening audience and increase the usefulness of the Voice of Prophecy broadcast.

Please put a red circle around August 7 on your calendar, and pray and work toward winning more souls through the Voice of Prophecy's ministry.

"Let none think that the circulation of our health journals is a minor matter. . . . Every member of the church should work as earnestly for these journals as for our other periodicals."—Counsels on Health, p. 447.

The North Dakota Camp Meeting

The North Dakota camp meeting is now history, and it is needless to say that a real spiritual feast was enjoyed by all.

The brethren from the General Conference—J. A. Buckwalter, L. R. Rasmussen, and T. L. Oswald; A. V. Wallenkampf, from Union College; and H. K. Christman from the Pacific Press, rendered most excellent help. A number came to me stating that this was one of the best camp meetings that they had ever attended. G. D. O'Brien, our conference evangelist, conducted evangelistic services nearly every evening, and as a result of the work at camp meeting, combined with personal work and meetings previously held, twelve persons were buried with their Lord in baptism on the last Sabbath afternoon.

Hearts as well as means were dedicated to God which was evidenced by the liberal offerings during camp meeting. The Sabbath school and mission offerings were $4281.54; general offerings, $814.34; other offerings, which included temperance, M. V., Sheyenne River Academy, and local evangelism, amounted to $5314.72. The above totals, representing both cash and pledges, amount to $10,410.60. We are grateful to God for this wonderful response, and let us continue to pray that God's richest blessing will rest upon the work in North Dakota.

D.C.BUTHERUS, President.

An Ordination Service

On Sabbath afternoon, July 11, at our Jamestown camp meeting, many of our believers and friends present witnessed the ordination of L. H. Rahn, pastor of the Minot district. J. A. Buckwalter, associate temperance secretary of the General Conference, spoke on the importance of the work of the minister, after which J. M. Jackson, publishing department secretary of the Northern Union Conference, offered the prayer of ordination. Jere D. Smith, president of the Northern Union Conference, gave the charge and D. C. Butherus extended the welcome.

On Sabbath afternoon, June 25, at our Butte camp meeting, the hands of ordination were also laid upon George Melashenko, who is in charge of our Russian district. E. A. Robertson, Northern Union M. V. and educational secretary, was in charge of the ordination service, and S. J. Demchuk, of San Francisco, offered the ordination prayer.

We pray that God's richest blessings will attend the efforts of these brethren with the increased responsibilities that have been placed upon them as a result of this sacred rite.

Wedding

A beautiful candlelight wedding ceremony took place Thursday evening June 23 in the Burlington Seventh-day Adventist church. A large gathering of friends and relatives from Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Illinois were assembled as Mary Ann Taeger gave her hand in marriage to Robert Britain.

The bride, church school teacher of the new school at Ottumwa the past year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Swearingen, of Fort Madison, Iowa. The groom, a theological student at Union College, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Britain, of Clear Lake, Wisconsin.

W. Roger Holley, of Burlington, was the soloist and sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Nuptial music was played by Mrs. William Spoor, of Fort Madison.

The maid of honor, Lois Michalec, of Cedar Rapids, and the bridesmaid, Perle Lockert, of Fort Dodge, were both classmates of the bride at Oak Park Academy and at Union College. Linda Beggs, age 4, of Burlington was flower girl.

Keith Britain, of Toledo, as best man and Dale McCune, of Palo, were the groom's attendants. Ushers were George Taeger, of Burlington, and Lewis Swearingen, of Fort Madison.

The Mason City Church School

Open House at Mason City Church School

Another successful school year has been realized in Mason City. Because of ill health Laura Anderson, the teacher, had to resign at the end of the first semester, so Mrs. Ervin Funk finished out the school year.

At the close of the school year, the school had open house. "The purpose of this open house," said Mrs. Funk, "is to show to you just what the children do here." The children showed various crafts of fine workmanship—glorified glass painting, model airplanes, and woodburning. Also each child presented, on a display table, his hobby. Some of these were: saltshakers, horses, sea shells, stamps, flowers, kittens, and pins. Other things on display were: Bible scrap books, note books on health and safety, and geography.

On the M. V. table one could see progressive class cards from the Busy Bee class up to the Master Comrade class, pins, neckerchiefs, and Forest Ridge Junior Camp pennants. These things certainly give one an incentive to become a Missionary Volunteer for Jesus, if he is not one already. One or two children sat at each table explaining its contents. It was very impressive, especially since in the audience were people of other faiths.

When everyone had seen the various display tables, refreshments were served. Then all went home feeling that their sacrifice for church school was well rewarded.

During the last year some new equipment has been added to the school—a four-drawer steel file, pictures, a teeter-totter, fire extinguishers, a drinking fountain, and Bible maps.

By the time this is printed, I will have left the Mason City district, but I must say that Mason City has a fine church school and the church members show a very helpful spirit toward their church school.

ERVIN FUNK.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Louise Westerbeck, grandmother of the bride. The young couple plan to spend a week at one of the lakes in Northern Iowa before returning to Lincoln, Nebraska, where they will reside while Mr. Britain studies at Union College.

We wish for these consecrated young people the blessing of God, and know that a host of friends believe that the future holds for them a rich experience in Christian service.

Southwestern Dorcas Federation

On May 1, 1949, the Southwestern Iowa Dorcas Federation met in the Council Bluffs church. Six societies were represented, and two more groups are soon to be organized for active Dorcas work.

Following the opening song, W. O. Berry, of Council Bluffs, led in the devotional service. His talk suggesting the most effective way to teach Christ, was very appropriate in opening our Dorcas meeting.

"Live for others, do for others," should be the motto of every Dorcas worker. The world will be convinced not so much on what we preach, as on what we live. In closing his remarks he urged that we put our Christianity into action, keeping ever before us our goal. As Moses said, "We are traveling toward the promised land," so today, we are traveling toward our heavenly home.

Mrs. Strickland, our federation president, put the question to us, "why do we have a Dorcas federation?" There are many reasons, but probably the most important of all is that we become united in our efforts; working together we can accomplish great things.

There were several talks and readings of interest given by different society members. H. H. White, of Atlantic, conducted a study about women of the Bible which proved to be very interesting. H. R. Coats, the home missionary secretary, gave an inspirational talk on Dorcas work. He suggested a plan to raise a $1,000.00 emergency fund to be used in any area in Iowa where the emergency need might arise. This plan met with a good response from all those present, and each society pledged a certain amount to be given each month.

A health talk was given by Elder Coats, and many new thoughts on health were presented. The Southwestern Dorcas societies are sending 100 Bibles to Europe where the need is great.

It is with greater determination that by the time of the next federation meeting we will have accomplished bigger and better things, that we may have a greater part in finishing the Lord's work here upon this earth.

Money

The Minnesota Conference Association would appreciate hearing from any of our people who may have money lying idle in the bank, drawing perhaps one or one and a half per cent interest or none at all. The conference is in a position to use several thousand dollars at the present time and will pay two per cent interest on such moneys. Write the president or the treasurer of the Minnesota Conference at your earliest convenience.

Educational Advances in The North Star State

For centuries before modern navigation devices were invented, the North Star served as a great beacon to travelers. Wanderers across desert wastes, frozen plains, and watery expanses were guided by the unerring faithfulness of the pole star. How fitting if the North Star state might become the example of a tremendous upsurge in the field of Christian education.

In every corner of Minnesota the Holy Spirit is stirring an interest in church schools. The Spirit of God is impressing our people that it is no longer safe to send their children to schools of the world. Many parents are entering into a solemn covenant with God. They are determined to do their part by giving their children a Christian education so that they may claim the divine promise, "I will contend with him that contendeth with thee. I will save thy children."

Last year new schools were opened at Willmar and Blackberry. This year several churches are seriously contemplating the opening of schools. The newest church in the conference, Guthrie, is determined to have its school. This calls for great sacrifice as the believers there do not even have a church building. However, they count their children as their richest treasure, and have plans drawn for the erection of a building before time for school to open this fall.

The upsurge in interest in Christian education has been really pronounced this year. At school opening last year, 281 students were enrolled in the elementary schools of this conference. At school closing, the enrollment had grown to 314. This represents an eight-year high in enrollment. There is every probability that 1949-50 will be a record year in attendance.

This great spiritual blessing will be without avail to you unless you have a part in it. Is your church providing for the training of its children? Are your children in Christian schools? God will not be satisfied until every Adventist child in Minnesota is enrolled in a Seventh-day Adventist school.

JERRY M. LIEN.

The Great Feast

More than two hundred tents dotted the landscape near Anoka, June 16, when members from the Minnesota Conference began to gather for their annual camp meeting. A good spirit prevailed throughout the entire encampment. The conference president, F. E. Thompson, spoke on the opening night and emphasized the imminence of our soon-coming Saviour, which was the keynote of the messages that followed.

We were highly favored in having the following representatives from the General Conference: J. A. Buckwalter, editor of the Listen magazine, an organ of the American Temperance Society; T. L. Oswald, home missionary secretary; and L. R. Rasmussen, associate educational secretary, whose messages brought inspiration and spiritual help to the many people who filled the large tent at each meeting. H. K. Christman, circulation manager of the Signs of the Times was present with us for a few days, cheering our hearts with his report of the increased circulation of the Signs. It is expected that in the near future it will have a circulation of one-third million.

Because our union conference president, Jere D. Smith, is visiting camp meetings in Africa at the request of the General Conference, his presence was missed among our members. But we were pleased to have among us George Butler, E. A. Robertson, and J. M. Jackson from the union conference, who rendered valuable assistance and gave interesting studies which were appreciated by all.

The Sabbath school, with C. E. Guenther acting as superintendent, had an attendance of 2200, and gave offerings to the amount of $3669.00 in cash and pledges for the two Sabbaths. An offering was received each night which amounted to $375.06. On the last Saturday night, an appeal was made by Elder Thompson for our members to contribute to Maplewood Academy. They responded with gifts which amounted to $4500. The total amount of cash and pledges given during the meeting aggregated $8544.06.

K. I. Foss, Book and Bible House manager, had a fine display of books and Bibles and many visited the bookstand during the ten-day session. The total amount of sales was $4,500 in that department.

Our outstanding visitors at the camp this year were Robert Salau, a native of the Solomon Islands in the South Pacific, and A. G. Stewart, an Australian missionary to the Pacific islands, who served there for forty-one years. Three newsmen met Pastor Salau when he arrived, taking pictures and interviewing him, giving much favorable publicity to our encampment. Invitation was given to any marines who had met him while in the service to interview him at the camp. One young man, Tom Serier, drove from Bayport to Anoka, a distance of forty miles to meet him. He had seen Pastor Salau on television the night before and recognized him as a former friend whom he had met in the South Pacific. Mr. Serier had with him a little diary in which Pastor Salau had written his name eight years ago. Mr. Serier was called upon the platform to say a few words concerning his acquaintance with Pastor Salau and told of his kindness to the American boys while they were stationed in the Islands, and of the friendship that was formed between them. Several thousand were in attendance when Pastors Stewart and Salau spoke and showed pictures of their native islands.

Lives were reconsecrated and vows with God renewed at the camp meeting, and those in attendance returned home thanking God for the wonderful privilege of attending the camp meeting, also expressing the hope of having this opportunity another year.

C. B. NEWMYER.

Wedding

On Wednesday evening, June 1, Clarence J. Alder and Daisy L. Maulsby were united in marriage in the Seventh-day Adventist Church of Detroit Lakes. About 150 relatives and friends had gathered for the occasion. Blair Smestad, of Fargo, North Dakota, accompanied by Helen Sorensen, of Pelican Rapids, Minnesota, sang three appropriate selections, and Miss Sorensen played the wedding march. Vesta Peterson, of Duluth, was maid of honor, and Ruby Alder, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Stanley Maulsby, brother of the bride served as best man, and Vern Momb was attendant to the groom. Lloyd Maulsby and Bill Rolstad were ushers.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the American Legion clubhouse for the many friends and relatives. After a short wedding trip these young people will return to Detroit Lakes and establish their home. May God richly bless them is our prayer.

J. C. HARDER.

Wedding

At a candlelight service in the College View Seventh-day Adventist church, on Sunday, May 29, Blossom Church, of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Gordon Engen, of Benson, Minnesota, were united in marriage. W. A. Nelson, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Charles Seitz, served her sister as matron of honor, and Marilyn Church and Frances Chamberlain were bridesmaids. Bill Putnam acted as best man and the other attendants of the groom were Ellsworth Reile and Clifton Cowles. Jeanie Robertson was flower girl and Allen Bietz was Bible boy. Mrs. Florence Abel played the wedding music and also accompanied Wayne Hooper who sang.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Engel Hall. After a wedding trip to the Black Hills Mr. and Mrs. Engen returned to Lincoln, where Mr. Engen is attending summer school. This fall they will connect with Adelphian Academy, in Michigan, where Mr. Engen will be dean of boys and Mrs. Engen will teach home economics.

New Project for Plainview Academy

At our recent camp meeting in Huron a special campaign was launched for the benefit of Plainview Academy. This campaign is for much needed improvements, and for assisting worthy students to attend P. V. A. The night the campaign was launched at camp meeting $933.07 was raised for this fund.

Goals have been set for each church, based on the membership, and each member will be contacted and urged to give as the Lord has blessed.

Our academy is a haven of refuge for our young people in these days of strife and temptation, and we are glad to report that the outlook is brighter for Plainview Academy than it has been for a long time. Because of the Child Labor Law those under sixteen years of age are not privileged to work in the broomshop, therefore we especially urge our people to contribute liberally that a special Student-aid Fund may be set up, to be held in trust by the conference, and used to help worthy students secure a Christian education.

The academy sewer project is nearly completed, merely waiting for a special pump which has been ordered. Other improvements have been made on the farm and in the main plant. There are still several improvements that are "musts" at the academy, and with the fine staff of teachers for next year we are looking forward to one of the best school years in the history of Plainview Academy.

As you are contacted by the district leaders, will you encourage the work and encourage the program outlined for Plainview Academy, by giving as liberally as you can that the necessary improvements may be made and that every boy and girl who should be in our academy will be there this coming school year?
