It Can Be Done

By JERE D. SMITH

The plan of doubling our membership has taken hold in the Northern Union as well as in other parts of the North American Division. We, of course, feel that it is more than we can hope for to double the membership in the Northern Union in the next four years, but we do not feel that it is too much to plan on doubling our baptisms each year. Because of our great losses by letter, our membership will not grow as fast as we would like to see it, but we can bring our baptisms up, which will at least cause a greater growth in membership than we have experienced in the past several years.

Thus far in 1951 we have more than doubled the number of baptisms that we had during the same period of 1950. Iowa has over 100, Minnesota 85, South Dakota, 62, and up to the end of May North Dakota had reported 52 baptisms. We have every reason to believe if we had their latest report it would be more than that. Since our largest number of baptisms usually comes toward the end of the year, we can easily hope for 700 for the entire year of 1951, which, if realized, would indeed constitute a new day for growth in this field. It is my belief that all of the workers are taking hold with renewed courage in this matter of larger baptisms. And in this connection we should not forget the splendid work that is being carried on by many of our lay people, as well as the colporteurs and other evangelistic workers who are not among the ordained minister group.

May I request that everyone who reads this article will strive and pray for a minimum of 700 baptisms in the union for 1951. It is not an impossible undertaking. If we believe that we can do it, it will be done. I myself expect to conduct one more evangelistic effort before the close of the year, which will make two for this year, and I trust that a number of new believers may be added as a result of this next effort. We simply must work harder in order to hold our own in this field, and this we expect to do.

A Visit to the Borderlands

By F. E. SPIES, *President
Northeast Union Mission*

One of the most thrilling trips I have ever made was the recent visit to the borderlands of the Northeast Union.

Pastors R. H. Pierson, M. E. Kemmerer, E. M. Meleen, and I met Pastor C. J. Jensen at the Bagdogro airfield near Siliguri on the morning of December 13, and drove with him to the Teesta bridge ten miles from Kalimpong. From there we walked high over a rugged improvised foot path for about one mile, where last spring a huge "slip" took place and wiped out a large section of the motor road. Another conveyance was then secured and we arrived in Kalimpong about an hour and a half before sunset. We were happy to join Pastor and Mrs. W. A. Hilliard, Mrs. Jensen and Arnold, and the Schwen family (Tibetan) whose homes are there.

Kalimpong is a delightful little hill station of about 4,500 feet elevation in the Himalayan foothills east of Darjeeling. As one stands in the front compound of Pastor Hilliard's home on a clear morning, one cannot help but feel the invigorating freshness of the atmosphere and the spirit of the pioneers. There across the mountains we see towering high above everything else the snow-capped peak of Kanchenjunga; to the left we see the mountains of Nepal, and as we view panoramically to the right, we see sections of the vast unentered and unwarmed lands of Sikkin, Bhutan, and Tibet. Letting our eyes drop to the road below the compound, we see the donkey caravans loaded heavily with wool from Tibet driven by their picturesque Tibetan drivers. To hear the sound of the many and varied types of bells hung on the necks of the donkeys, to observe at closer range the heavy and brightly colored attire of the stalwart men of the mountains and to hear their lusty shouts at their animals, makes one feel that he is indeed in a new and strange world.

But it was not only to view the beauties of the place that we came. Our task was to work out plans for the initial beginnings of the work of God among these more than thirteen million souls still without the light of the gospel. Desiring to make the most of our limited time, immediately upon arrival we started to walk about the hills in search of a place for a permanent establishment. As we walked, looked, talked, and listened we were reminded that India had only recently received the ruler of Nepal, that Sikkin had only the week before concluded an agreement with India which greatly liberalized their connections, and that Tibetans were in Kalimpong in large numbers because of the invasion of their country by the Chinese Communists. Scattered fragments of news also had been seeping in regarding Bhutan's future changes. It was not long before we found that if we concentrated well on our program we could find a little time to probe the unentered land of Sikkin. In fact, we discovered that with nominal expense and some good planning we could go over to Gangtok, the capitol of Sikkin.

Thus, after a heavy day on December 14, we got up very early in the morning of the 15th and by means of a hired station wagon made our way in the dusty direction of Gangtok. We think that our little company was the first group of Seventh-day Adventist missionaries to enter that area. We are certain that we were among the first to enter with definite plans to develop work in behalf of the unevangelized peoples there.

True to Adventist tradition, we had a committee meeting and in order to save time we conducted part of it as we traveled along the donkey and mule traveled artery to Tibet. We are certain that we held the first Seventh-day Adventist committee meeting ever to be held in Sikkin. In due course we arrived at the town of Gangtok. It was most interesting to visit the broad main street, the rajah's palace, and to mingle with the multitudes of Tibetans, Nepales, Lepchas, and others who thronged the many paths and side roads. We even got some satisfaction from looking at the jail and a Buddhist monastery.

However, the point of greatest interest was the trail at the far end of the main street up which came the pack horses and donkeys and their Tibetan drivers laden with incoming produce (mostly wool) from Tibet. Some said it was only fourteen miles down the trail to Tibet. As we gazed thoughtfully down that trail a multitude of thoughts crowded our minds. One was the great commission. The Saviour of the world had Tibet, Nepal, Bhutan, and Sikkin in mind when He gave this call and here we were on the fringe of these countries, though nearly 2,000 years later. Another was the purpose of God in bringing us there at this time and not before. Why should these lands lie asleep, as it were, all these ages and now through political and social unrest suddenly begin to awake and stir about?

As we cogitated we noted that one in our party was talking to a man in English. We stepped over to hear what was being said and saw Brother Kemmerer introducing an English-speaking man to a Voice of Prophecy enrollment card. Imagine our surprise when he refused the card saying he was now studying lesson thirty-two of the Voice of Prophecy course. But this was not all, he told us of several others who were in Gangtok with him taking the course. From it all we could conclude but one thing. We are in the very end of time. God is going before us and compelling us to press on and on to the very fringes of the inhabited world. Soon the work will be completed. We must hurry if we are to be sharers in the finishing work of God.

With all these things in our minds it was not hard for us to work out a detailed program of approach to the great task. We trust that under the blessings of God the property purchased in Kalimpong, the proposed organization of a mission field comprising these areas, and the sincere and loyal devotion of Pastor W. A. Hilliard and family, and Brother Schwen, our Tibetan worker and family, great advances can be reported from these regions in the very near future.

Lesson Study Helps

The Sabbath school lessons for the last two quarters of the year 1951 are to be particularly helpful and interesting. This year there has been prepared a book of special help in the study of these lessons for the last two quarters. The title of this book is The Creator and His Workshop, by R. E. Hoen. It contains 26 chapters, and one chapter is devoted to each lesson study of the two quarters.

Doubtless many of our people will want to purchase this book. The price is $1.75, and it may be obtained through your local Book and Bible House.

American Bible Society Acquires Famous Paris Polyglot Bible

The American Bible Society has recently acquired a set of the famous Paris Polyglot Bible, containing, in ten huge volumes, the text of the Bible in seven languages—Hebrew, Chaldee, Greek, Latin, Syriac, Arabic, and Samaritan. The Bible was printed in Paris in 1629-45.

This is now in the library of the Bible Society in New York City, together with the other "great Polyglots" of the 16th and 17th centuries.

With the revival of learning in western Europe, came an interest in the original languages of the Bible. The Bible, until then, was known almost exclusively in Latin. The first polyglot work ever published was a Psalter printed at Genoa in 1516 by P. P. Porrus. The last and most valuable was the magnificent London or Walton Polyglot, completed in 1657, edited by Dr. Brian Walton, who later became Bishop of Chester.

The Paris Polyglot, just acquired by the Bible Society, is the largest and most elaborate. It was edited by a Paris lawyer, Guy Michel LeJay with the aid of a large group of scholars.

The Scriptures in 1,034 Languages

Some whole part of the Bible, up to the end of December 1950, has been published in 1,034 different languages and dialects, according to a statement issued by Margaret Hills, librarian of the American Bible Society. The whole Bible has been published in 191 languages; a complete Testament in 246 additional languages and at least a Gospel or other whole book has been published in 597 languages.

The whole Bible was printed for the first time last year in Kashgar Turki, a language spoken in Sinkiang (Turkestan). Two New Testaments were published for the first time in Kikwango, a dialect spoken in the Belgian Congo, and in Kurukh, spoken in the Central Provinces of India.

New languages added in 1950 to the list, and in which an entire Gospel has been published are: Dyak:Maanjan (Borneo); Jorai, spoken in Annam (South East Asia); Nyimang for people of the Sudan; Riang Lang used in Burma; and Sara:Madjingai, spoken in French East Africa.

These translations of parts of the Bible have been published by mission presses, commercial printers, and private publishers, as well as the Bible Societies.

There are also 91 additional languages, in which there have been printed short passages or collections of passages of Bible texts, but in which no complete book of the Bible has been printed. In previous years, these have been included in the total number of languages.

UNION COLLEGE

Union College Physics Department

The department of physics at Union College accommodates three groups of students—non-science majors, preprofessional majors, and those majoring or minoring in physics.

For the liberal arts students the department provides two courses of special interest—one in the lower division and one in the upper division. Radio physics was originally offered for those students who were interested in becoming radio amateurs and in operating their own transmitting stations. In the future this course will be given for a still larger group. To all who enjoy good recorded music the course will be an opportunity to study high-fidelity sound systems. All future teachers and evangelists will be interested in the emphasis placed on the construction and operation of public address systems. Radio physics is available on alternate years and will be offered during the coming school year.

Descriptive astronomy is the upper division course for liberal arts students. Most of those who enroll intend to be ministers or teachers, and it is of special interest to those who anticipate doing Master Guide work.

Most of the preprofessional students who plan to enter some branch of medical science enroll in general physics. In addition to the topics usually covered, this course places emphasis on the medical applications of the subject.

Students majoring or minoring in physics comprise the third group. It is of interest to note that by the end of the summer Union College will have graduated sixteen physics majors in three years. Some of these men were interested in teaching and have already entered their chosen field. Others are now taking graduate work with the idea of eventually filling one of the many positions available in industry. The department offers a number of courses designed to accommodate these two interests.

For several years the department has held a research contract dealing with vacuum tube design. This not only has served as a source of inspiration and information to the students enrolled in the department but it has also provided employment for some of the upper division majors.

An important aid to the work of all the students is the departmental library which has on its shelves some 300 books, as well as bound volumes of scientific journals. The library receives approximately thirty current periodicals. All of these are in addition to physics books and journals available in the college library.

Plainview Academy Improvement Program

As most of our people know, a real improvement program is well under way at the academy. This is the most extensive plan since the academy has been built. We will list a few things that are being done.

We are enlarging and refinishing both the boys' and girls' bathrooms and new plumbing is being installed in most of the building. Many rooms are being completely refinished, old floors have been taken up in the halls and new flooring is being laid. A complete overhaul is being given the heating plant. We are putting in all new laundry equipment, also new furniture in some of the rooms, and we are moving and refinishing one of the teachers' homes. These are just a few of the many things that are being done. It is estimated that the project will cost $50,000. The question arises, "Is it worth it?" We believe it is. Think of the hundreds of boys and girls who have received a wonderful training there and have gone into the Master's service both at home and abroad. Not only has the school left its moulding influence within our own children but it has prepared them for useful service at the far ends of the earth. What better investment can we make than to help support an institution that is dedicated to God. If you haven't already been called on, you will be asked to help finance this great improvement program which is now going on.

To what better cause could we give if it will help to save our children and prepare them for a place in the Master's service?

Adam Rudy, the principal of the academy, is working hard to make it a real success. Write to Elder Rudy about sending your boy or girl to Plainview Academy this coming school year.

Sabbath School News

A letter received from Mrs. Bernice Hanson of Sioux Falls, states that the Thirteenth Sabbath Offering for the church at Sioux Falls amounted to $303.32. It is of interest to note that the children of the primary division had a substantial part in raising the total. Their part amounted to $37.61. How true it is that the Sabbath school offerings reflect the spirit of consecrated leadership.

We are happy to release the latest totals of the honor Sabbath schools for the second quarter of this year. The offerings include total cash given in Sabbath school offerings during the annual camp meeting.

Church	Per Capita Offering

Laymen's Congress Offering

Attention is called to the offering on the first Sabbath of the month of August, for the Laymen's Congress to be held at Grand Ledge, Michigan, August 29 to September 2. Kindly promote this important offering in your church prior to its being received on Sabbath, August 4.

Thus far the contributions to this fund throughout the conference have been very good indeed, but we need another boost to reach our required amount. All of the churches are requested to help, but if those churches who have not reached their goals in this matter, will kindly make a special effort in this final offering, it will help greatly. Remember the date, August 4.

It has been many years since such a convention was held, and we are expecting great benefits from this gathering. We trust that both the local elders and district leaders throughout our Iowa Conference will strongly urge this offering which comes in the home missionary field. Please do not give precedence to any other offering in this instance. W. A. DESSAIN.

Paris Youth Congress

Mrs. Ruth Ryan left New York City for Paris on the Air Clipper "Air France" on July 22. She wrote that before she left Waterloo, she had heard from the leaders of most of the M. V. societies of Iowa and North Dakota. She will send a report from Paris to these leaders who wrote.

Iowa M.V. societies sent in $550.00 for the P.Y.C. Fund, or almost $200.00 over the quota. Such a manifestation of enthusiasm for youth projects reveals Iowa churches rally quickly around their youth, in behalf of our young people I say to everyone who contributed, Thank You!

Tent Meeting at Centerville

At this writing we are in the midst of a tent effort at Centerville. Although it is hard to forecast the outcome, the interest at the present time is gratifying.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Penno, have charge of the music. Mr. Penno is a new ministerial intern in Iowa. We also have the full cooperation of the church in assisting with the effort. On nights that we have no meetings, Mr. Penno, and Mr. Van Den Brink are giving Bible studies in homes to interested people.

We have also pioneered in two vacation Bible schools this summer; one in Centerville and one in Albia. All of us here feel that these vacation Bible schools are a wonderful method of child evangelism in the summer time.

The Bible school in Centerville was directed by Mrs. Gay Peterson, and the one in Albia by Mrs. Funk. Both schools were a great success and we hope to operate them again next year. Then we shall be better prepared to accommodate more visitors. We have many friends who prefer our vacation Bible schools. Each school had a closing program which was well attended.

Wedding

Beverly Bemer, daughter of Mrs. Lester Hall of Covington, Iowa, and Thomas Hinde, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hinde of Waterloo, Iowa, were united in marriage at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Sunday evening July 1, 1951.

The service was performed by H. B. Davis. Albert Lewis Bemer and Lawrence McCune, cousins of the bride, acted as ushers. Dorothy Bemer-Wright, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, while Letha Hepker, cousin of the bride, and Josephine Kuepper-Johnson of Hawkeye, were bridesmaids. The best man was Dale Hepker, also a cousin of the bride. The groomsmen were Vernon Wright, brother-in-law of the bride, and Herbert Lein of Iowa City.

Both of these young people are graduates of Oak Park Academy, the groom with the class of '49 and the bride with the class of '51. They will make their home at Covington. Both are employed in Cedar Rapids.

This fine Christian young couple receive the good wishes of their many friends.

A Borrowed Book

Some time ago a laymen gave his "boss" the book, Desire of Ages. He was courteous enough to thank our brother for the book, but placed it in his large library and never read it. Some time elapsed. The "boss" moved to Chicago. Then one day a lady came to visit them. She became ill. During convalescence she read a few chapters in Desire of Ages. She recovered from her illness and went home before finishing the book.

The few chapters she had read created a desire that nothing else could satisfy. She returned and borrowed the book, read through and accepted the message, was converted, and became a Seventh-day Adventist, and united with the remnant people of God. All this occurred without the lender's knowledge.

Just a few weeks ago the "boss" came back to Minneapolis and hunted up his former employee to tell him his book did some good. Then he added, "and now she is working on me."

Who lent the book? Who gets an added star in his crown? Well, the book was lent by Brother Rea. May there be many more of our message-filled books put to work for Jesus.

United States at the age of 25. She was united in marriage on November 30, 1910 with Ole Emberland in Kandiyohi, Minnesota, where they farmed for many years. He died in 1938. In 1927 Mrs. Emberland became one of the charter members of the Willmar Seventh-day Adventist Church and she was faithful until her death. For many months, however, she had been unable to attend church because of failing health. She is survived by two daughters: Elida Emberland of Willmar, Minnesota, and Mrs. Myrtle Krofuss, of Minneapolis, Minnesota; one son: Reynard J. Emberland of Pennington, Minnesota; one sister: Mrs. Borg-hild Storast of Crosby, North Dakota; one brother: Edwin Oakland of Willmar, Minnesota; and six grandchildren. Services were conducted in the Willmar Seventh-day Adventist Church by the writer on July 10, 1951. Interment was near the family farm. Inscribed on the fly leaf of her small Bible were the words penned by a childhood friend before she left Norway: "Oh Lord, be merciful unto us; let Thy loving face shine upon us. Let Thy blessing be among us. Amen."

E. W. Voyles.
