Sunday Law Alert!

BY FRANK H. YOST, Associate Secretary
General Conference Religious Liberty Department

This is an alert! A bill has been introduced in Congress to close down business in the District of Columbia on Sunday. This is the old enemy of freedom that has appeared again and again in the past. It is a danger, not only as a bad example to other states, and as a threat to freedom in Washington, D. C. The chief danger lies in the fact that, since the United States Congress votes the laws for the District of Columbia, this law, if adopted, will commit Congress to passing Sunday legislation. Thus it would open the way for a national Sunday law.

We are told that it "is our duty to do all in our power to avert the threatened danger." Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 452. In this case we want everyone of you to write letters of protest to your congressmen, urging the tabling of the measure. The bill is identified as H. R. 10329. It is now in the hands of the District of Columbia Committee of the House of Representatives.

The reasons for requesting defeat of this measure are:

1. Sunday is a day grounded in religion and used for religious purposes, and laws governing conduct especially on that day are religious legislation. In the United States, religion is not constitutionally the concern of the government or of its laws.

2. There is no exemption provided in Bill H. R. 10329 for those who observe another day than Sunday. Therefore it would have the effect of depriving of a day's work the observer of another day than Sunday.

We are particularly desirous that institutions, and professional and business people, send in their letters of protest on their official letterheads.

Your union and local conference religious liberty leaders have been warned, and they will give the signal for the sending in of your letters of protest.

Keep this notice at hand, and when the word comes to write, please do so, each one of you, promptly.

Modern-Day Miracles

BY C. L. PADDOCK, JR.

Perhaps we're inclined to overlook modern-day miracles. We've all been thrilled with the stories of how the work of the Advent message has progressed through the years. The history of our work is richly punctuated with remarkable stories of progress.

Surely the achievements of today are no less miraculous than those recorded by the pioneers of the church. On January 27, a constituency meeting was held at Pacific Press Publishing Association in Mountain View, California. At that time, reports were given of the operation of this, your publishing house, for the quadrennium just passed and officers were elected for the ensuing term.

Had you heard these inspiring reports, you would have said with those present, "What hath God wrought!"

The reports of the past four years show a steady increase in the sales volume of both the books and periodicals of the Pacific Press. Chapel Records is a new product of the organization and has proven to be increasingly popular over the past months. Total sales at retail value of the combined products of this publishing house totaled nearly 23 million dollars in the past four years with nearly 6 million of this total being sold in 1957. Is this in itself not a miracle?

Because Pacific Press Publishing Association is a non-profit organization and has no income other than from the sale of literature; improvements, replacement of equipment, and investment in new projects must be paid for from the operating funds.

In harmony with the policy of keeping up-to-date with the most recent and efficient equipment avail-

God's Treasury Full

"As God's work extends, calls for help will come more and more frequently. That these calls may be answered, Christians should heed the command, 'Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in Mine house.' If professing Christians would faithfully bring to God their tithes and offerings, His treasury would be full." Acts of the Apostles, p. 338. Holding back the tithes on the part of church members brings "darkness upon the church." Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 269.

able, Pacific Press has purchased new machinery and equipment costing more than $380,000 during this quadrennium. Some of this equipment, such as the new Miehle "61" two-color offset press, the Miehle "36" single-color offset press and new plate-making facilities, has resulted in the beautiful color work which is currently being turned out on many of our publications. Other purchases such as; the new building-in machine, the Smyth casing-in machine, the Crawley nipper-gluer, the Lawson 3-knife trimmer and the Christensen-McCain stitcher-trimmer have resulted in more efficient and economical operation.

Other new equipment is currently being installed and will soon be in use. It has been necessary to expand and make more room for the engraving department. This is being done by way of an upper deck over the foundry.

Of course, sales figures and plant progress do not tell the complete story of the work of the publishing house. The purpose of the denominational publishing program is not merely to set sales records, although we thank God for His blessing in that respect. The primary purpose of the existence of Pacific Press is to win souls for the kingdom and how our hearts are thrilled by the part literature has had in touching hearts!

As the stories filter back of men and women sought out and saved by the printed page, it gives us confidence in God's blessing and guidance. Every stroke of the press carries with it the potential for eternal salvation, whether it be one of the presses in the International Branch at Brookfield, printing in a foreign language, one of the large presses running off the Signs of the Times, or perhaps a message-filled book.

The guidance of a loving heavenly Father has marked the progress of Pacific Press Publishing Association. When we see Seventh-day Adventist literature going out into all parts of the world, not just by the ton, but by the freight-car load; is this not a miracle? Is it not evidence that the Lord will soon finish the work that He has given us to do?

CME News

The annual spring week of devotion for the students of the College of Medical Evangelists was held on the Los Angeles campus March 3 to 8 and will be held on the Loma Linda campus March 10 to 15.

Speakers for the week are CME faculty members and include Richard Ritland, Robert Woods, Ian Fraser, Cyril Courville, Leonard Brunie, Jack Zwemmer, Molleurus Couperus, and Raymond Ryckmann. Meetings are held twice daily Monday through Friday and school work is scheduled to allow time for prayer bands.

From Suits to Souls

He was a sincere Seventh-day Adventist church member, and he was making a living selling tailor-made suits. Evidently the Master wanted him to put more loving into the program of making a living because one day He arrested his attention with the words: "Son, go work today in my vineyard."

Conscious of a divine presence, the brother began to wonder if the Lord of the harvest was dissatisfied with the work he was doing, that of selling men's tailor-made suits. Before he had an opportunity to reply to the Galilean's searching invitation, however, the Saviour continued:

"Mankind's greatest need today is for the garment of my righteousness. The most important work that we can do, is to tell people how they may secure it. The remnant church has prepared literature designed to do this very thing. This literature, however, must be brought into the homes of the people everywhere. Only those who are members of the remnant church can sell it, since they alone are in position to rightly represent the truths, the acceptance of which brought them into the remnant church. Others may be equally sincere—perhaps even more so—but they have not as yet discovered vital truths found in the Bible, and re-emphasized in Seventh-day Adventist literature. To the work of selling this literature, then, I am now calling you."

The suit-salesman must have felt that the work to which the Lord had called his attention would suit him all right, because he accepted the divine invitation and proceeded immediately to enter upon his new duties. The new Employer who had promised to be with His disciples always, even to the end of the world, was pleased with the brother's response and continued on His way to find more laborers for earth's whitening harvest, for the harvest was great and the laborers were few.

News Notes

✦ Betty Christensen and Eleanor Attarian, of the music department, attended the West Central Division Convention of the National Music Teachers' Association February 23 to 26 held at Denver, Colorado.

✦ At a recent meeting the Natural Science Club elected their second semester officers. John Zollbrecht was chosen president. Others elected were Robert Bergh, vice-president; Mary Stewart, secretary; Caesar Nawalkowski, treasurer; and Lewis Anderson, pastor.

The Divine Blueprint

FOLLOW JESUS— "Our Saviour went from house to house, healing the sick, comforting the mourners, soothing the afflicted, speaking peace to the disconsolate." Gospel Workers, p. 188.

✦ During the month of January, 103 persons were helped and 915 hours were spent in Christian help work by the Missionary Volunteer Society of Union College. Plans for a "Voice of Youth" evangelistic meeting are in the making. A committee, composed of M. W. Deming, pastor of the College View church; Sydney Allen, Jr., of the religion department; and George Hellie and Thorey Melsted, has met, and in the near future the plans will be revealed.

✦ Albert Ellis, freshman religion major, was awarded first place in the annual oratorical contest conducted by the Union College chapter of the American Temperance Society on February 17.

As winner, Ellis received the first prize of $35 and will be flown to New York City, with all expenses paid, to represent Union College in the society's national oratorical contest on April 10.

Lloyd Thompson and Dick Jewett won the second and third prizes respectively. Winners of the essay contest were Cleo Johnson, first; David Dennis, second; and Harold Reeder, third. Winners of the jingle contest were Will Clemons, first; Linda Hayman, second; and Elwyn Rexinger, third and fourth. Poster winners were Janette Seyle, first; Patricia Chilson, second; and Melvin Shultz, third.

✦ The 107 graduates of 1958 were honored in the annual senior recognition program held during the convocation period on February 21. Theodore Carcich, Central Union conference president, addressed the students with a message entitled, "A Way of Life."

✦ The Union College Concert Orchestra, under the direction of H. Lloyd Leno, will present a concert Saturday night, March 8, at 8:15 in the college auditorium. Two soloists will be featured: Carolyn Rhodes, soprano, winner of the Lincoln Symphony auditions; and Walter Carlson, violinist. Mr. Carlson is instructor of string instruments at the college and concert master of the orchestra. There will be no admission charge.

✦ Cornelia Stabler, monologist, presented the fifth lyceum in the 1957-1958 series Saturday evening, March 1, in the college auditorium. Miss Stabler has presented her character sketches from coast to coast and in Europe.

Students Lead in Devotional Week

Students of Oak Park Academy led out in a mid-year week of devotion for the spiritual uplift and benefit of enrollees. The week of January 26-31 was set aside by the students for the week of drawing nigh to God. The program was entirely self-initiated, stemming from the Seminar and student-staff organizations of the school. The student-staff organization is under the student leadership of Bob Smith, and the Seminar is under Ann Grogan of

Elaine Kirk and Susan Haverluk, two of the speakers during student devotional week

State Center, Iowa. Both organizations are sponsored by Merle Landis.

"If the colleges of our denomination can do it, God's hand is not so short but what He will bless our efforts." These were the thoughts portrayed in the business sessions of the student meetings when the plans were being laid. And God did bless abundantly!

Monday morning's chapel found Wally Shultz, of Denison, Iowa, and Sharon Martin, of Nevada, Iowa, speaking on the topic, "The Man God Gave Away." Tuesday morning the topic was, "Satan's Attempt to Keep You From Calvary," given by Roger Hunt of Eagle Grove, Iowa, and Warren Thomas of Roland, Iowa. "The Turnpike to Heaven" was a title that aroused much interest on Wednesday as Susan Haverluk of Berrien Springs, Michigan, and Elaine Kirk of Nevada, Iowa, spoke. Thursday's topic, "While the World Sleeps On," was capably covered by Dennis Wolfe of Mission Hill, South Dakota, and Margie Cleveland of Forest City, Iowa. Friday, the concluding day of the student devotional week, was climaxed with two services. The one in the morning chapel period was "What Time Is It?" This was presented by Annette Ross of Ruthven, Iowa, and Ann Grogan. The vesper service was led out entirely by students from the time song service began until the service was closed with a benediction. The topic, "The Challenge of the Unfinished Task," was stirringly given by Bob Smith of Takoma Park, Maryland, and Dave Huso of Joice, Iowa.

Often when the people of God attempt to do more for their Master, the evil forces are stirred and doubled. This was true during this week also. Yet, by faith, prayer, and perseverance, victories were gained. The forces of Heaven were superior, and now the campus finds a feeling of peace and tranquility pervading the hearts of these youth.

Temperance

His children were hungry,
Their feet were bare.
He stood with his bottle
And laughed at care.

HELEN GODFREY,
Maplewood Academy

One other phase of the Week of Prayer, a highlight, was the prayer bands that met each day following the service in the chapel. In all the various classrooms could be found student groups, with students leading out, on their knees thanking God for parents with a vision. They were praying for their fellow-students who needed to gain victories. They never once failed to ask God to bless and reward the folks at home for the opportunities afforded in this Christian school. Where else could these youth find training like this? Where else could your Iowa youth find this kindred fellowship and oneness of purpose than at Oak Park Academy—your school! Then, now, at this early date, let us all plan to fill the dormitories next year with more stalwart Advent youth who will train and step into the ranks of Prince Emmanuel and hasten His coming. J. H. LANTRY

The Link Brothers Appear at the Lyceum

The Link brothers, Bob and Dick, were reunited as a singing team after a ten-year separation at the Twin City Evangelistic Crusade meeting held in the Lyceum Theatre at Minneapolis on Sunday afternoon, February 16. When their father was living, the three sang together under the intriguing name of the "BOB-O-LINK TRIO." They became nationally known and still number friends all over the country.

Ten years ago Bob Link became a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church and Bob and his wife Florence were baptized by F. E. Thompson. Soon thereafter they were invited to go to Canada where Bob was asked to be a singing evangelist in large city evangelistic efforts that were conducted in Toronto, Winnipeg, and Vancouver. The Lord abundantly blessed their ministry in Canada.

It was back in 1950 after Charles Keymer signified a desire to enter the pastoral ministry, that Brad Bradley and I invited Bob to join our Lake Union team in the city of Chicago. He joined our group and the Lord blessed our association together in the Shubert Theatre campaign in Chicago's loop. Then we were separated for a few years, and later reunited on the East coast before we both came to the Northern Union two years ago. After accepting the invitation of this field to serve as Union evangelists of the Northern Union, I happened to be at the airport with Dick Link waiting for Bob to arrive from Washington, D. C. We were to hold meetings together at the Anoka camp meeting. It was then that I invited Bob and Dick to sing together after the long separation. But conflicting appointments made it impossible until Sunday afternoon, February 16.

For the hundreds of old friends assembled, there was scarcely a dry eye as they listened to Elder Robert Link and Richard Link join their voices together in beautiful harmony. They sang five numbers and received a thunderous ovation from the large crowd. Two of the older brethren could not resist standing to their feet to express their personal appreciation in seeing the two together again. It was a memorable occasion, and we hope to have "Bob and Dick" Link back for a return engagement in the very near future.

Seventh-day Adventists Receive Awards

Church members from the Bowdon Country and Manfred Churches won three out of the four Wells County Soil Conservation District Awards. The awards were received at a Soil Stewardship Banquet held at Fessenden, North Dakota, on February 10, 1958, to which the writer was invited.

Leo Widicker, of the Bowdon Country Church, won the First Place Award for the Wells County District. The chairman of the district, Fred J. Mohr, presented him with a trophy cup, honoring him for his soil conservation practices. Mr. Widicker went on to win the State Award also and was honored at a banquet in Grand Forks. A large colored aerial photograph of the headquarters buildings of his farm, which will be prominently displayed in conservation meetings across the nation, was presented him as a token of appreciation.

Emil Widicker, also of the Bowdon

Country Church, and Ben Miller of the Manfred Church were also honored at the banquet. They received beautiful plaques as awards of honorable mention.

Of interest also is that Russell Meyer, who was born and grew up in the Bowdon-Manfred area, has been named one of America's four outstanding young farmers. He moved to Milford, Utah, about eight years ago and literally made the desert blossom as a rose, as he turned more than 1,000 acres of desert waste into crop producing land. He was previously named Utah's outstanding farmer. At a banquet in Durham, North Carolina he was chosen from a group of farmers representing the 48 states, Hawaii, and Alaska. Mr. Meyer is active in an impressive list of community activities, in which he serves as director, board member, president, community committee committeeman, and as treasurer of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Paul, in speaking of his work for souls, used the work of the farmer as in illustration. "He that planteth and he that watereth are one: and every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labor. For we are laborers together with God." I Corinthians 3:8-9. Certainly God is pleased when those who labor together with Him in the seedtime and the harvest, seek to become efficient laborers. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do; do it with thy might," says the Lord. Ecclesiastes 9:10. God is honored, as well as the Cause of God, when our farms are neat and we are recognized as efficient workmen.

Good News

George Sherbondy reports that four laymen in the Goodrich church and two laymen in the McClusky church are giving Bible studies as a result of interests found while In-gathering.

Fred Devnich of the Max church has also been busy and is now coming to the last of a series of studies in that area.

Mineard Stolz is busily engaged in lay work in the Carrington church.

Over in the western part of the state, Jacob Wiebe of Beulah writes of studies being given there. At Burt we understand that Ben Hauck and Albert L. Krause are following up interests there.

We know there are others too who are out giving Bible studies and we would appreciate hearing from them also.

Mrs. K. D. Johnson and Mrs. Reuben Lehmann have some very helpful material for the leaders of the children's divisions of the Sabbath school and those who are interested in that phase of evangelism. We are inviting the ladies to come and bring their lunch and spend the day in a very practical way by working out the suggestions that will be passed on to us. Supplies for the workshop will be available when you arrive and we are looking for a large number to be present at each meeting. Members from the western half of the conference will attend the Bismarck meeting. The Livona and Goodrich churches will attend the Bismarck meeting and that will be the dividing line.

Joyful Tithing

We need the Lord's help in returning to Him a faithful tithe. It may seem that we pay tithe in our own strength, fulfilling our side in a recognized transaction. We may not even realize that we need the Lord's help to be faithful in this.

We seek divine help and grace to overcome wrong habits and to live righteously. So should we ask God to make us aware of His readiness to help us in the payment of a faithful tithe, and receive this help.

To present humbly, gratefully, and in faith our tithes and offerings before God is not enough. We need to follow our gifts in our prayers to the distant parts of the earth. Then the fuller realization that we are laborers with God in a world-wide saving work will come closer home. Not only will we sense that God is our Partner, but that we are His partners too. Our prayers for divine blessings upon our missionary endeavors in His great work will become more consecrated and ardent, and our tithe paying will become more faithful and joyous. Let us ask the Lord to help us to be faithful in tithing.

P. V. A. Temperance Contest

For several years now the students at Plainview Academy have taken an active part in the temperance program as outlined by the General Conference. It is both a pleasure and a privilege to observe the enthusiasm with which the young people enter into the various activities.

The final event in this year's contest was climaxed on Saturday night, February 15. On that evening the following four students delivered their orations: Loretta Anderson, Sandra Schlisner, Pete LaLone, and Douglas Anderson. I wish it had been possible for each one of you to hear these orations. The five judges had a difficult time deciding which was the best oration, for they were all well prepared and magnificently delivered. However, since only one could be chosen to represent the Academy at Oak Park for the Northern Union contest, the judges chose Pete LaLone. Pete, therefore, went to Oak Park to compete with the winners of the other academies in our Union.

May each one of us, both young and old, unite our efforts and influence to squelch this deadly enemy of humanity, ALCOHOL.

To Say Good-bye

To say good-bye to South Dakota seems very strange indeed for this is the area where our work in the organization began. After being associated with many different ministers in many different areas and learning to love the people after meeting so many in so many parts of the conference, we feel a more than average attachment.

Our new location is in eastern Wisconsin on Lake Michigan. We are living in Sheboygan where we have a church of 80 members. There is one other church in the district, 28 miles north at Manitowoc. Many of the people here are German, which makes us feel right at home, and we have already learned to love them a great deal.

We hope that our many friends in South Dakota will visit us here as often as it is convenient for you to do so. We know there are many we will never see again on this earth, but we as Christians do not look upon that as being such a serious thing. The all-important thing is that we be ready for association together in the presence of God.

Our mailing address is Box 444, Sheboygan, Wisconsin. We are living at 1916 South 15th Street.

News Notes

★ We regret to announce that Al Hoffman, who served so faithfully as elder of the Swan Lake and Hurley church for 27 years, passed away in February and was buried on the 14th. O. T. Garner reports that at the funeral services the Hurley church was packed upstairs and in the basement with neighbors and friends, as well as church members, who came to pay their respects. Brother Hoffman has been an outstanding layman in the South Dakota conference and we regret our loss. We sympathize deeply with the mourners in their bereavement.

★ Wonderful progress has been made on the new church building in Rapid City. It is now enclosed and the furnaces have been installed. The members are planning to use it for services immediately. Stanley Olson, who has led out in the construction program is to be highly commended for his excellent leadership. L. J. Meidinger, Leonard Olson, and the other members of the Rapid City church are also worthy of commendation for their faithful efforts and hard work. Really, this is going to be a beautiful church. It is well constructed and will doubtless be the most lovely building in more than one conference.

★ O. T. Garner was in Rapid City the week end of February 22. He spoke at the Custer church both in the morning and in an afternoon service. The believers in Custer are of good courage.
