Radio Innovation Aids Local Evangelism

A new dimension in radio witnessing has been successfully demonstrated in Georgia with the Voice of Prophecy's new Daily Broadcast series. After an overwhelming response from listeners to The Voice of Prophecy's latest series of daily programs, H. M. S. Richards was invited to prepare a special Bible-marking-broadcast as forerunner for an evangelistic effort.

These programs were released each day over seven local radio stations in the areas of Atlanta and Baxley, Georgia. Within a short time a mailing list of about 3,000 names had been compiled. When the Voice of Prophecy's two evangelistic teams arrived to conduct three-week campaigns, they found it impossible to meet the visiting needs of such a vast audience.

The meetings are now over, but the work in Georgia will never again be the same. Whole churches are being developed as a direct result of the Daily Broadcast, and the impact is only beginning to be felt!

Unfortunately, the Voice of Prophecy is unable to finance the Daily Broadcasts. Its budget is more than used up by the demands of its Bible Schools and weekly radio programs. Twenty-four stations in North America have already carried the Daily Broadcast series, in 9 states. These have been sponsored by local conferences, church groups, or individuals. Reports from these areas have convinced The Voice of Prophecy that, under the blessing of God, the new Daily Broadcast series can become one of its greatest potential soul-winning devices. By bringing this plan to the attention of our people, it is hoped they will be stirred into action, and a chain of local radio outlets for the Daily Broadcast series may be established from coast-to-coast.

Here are a few excerpts from interviews with the Voice of Prophecy broadcasting groups upon their return from Georgia.

Elder Richards, what is your opinion of the ground-work laid by the Daily Broadcast?

DR. H. M. S. RICHARDS: "Everywhere we go they receive us with open arms, because of the Daily Broadcast. They almost turned the towns over to us. People would come right out of their shops or restaurants to talk with us and ask questions about the Sabbath and other subjects discussed on the air. Many of these people have always thought of Seventh-day Adventists as Jehovah's Witnesses. The Voice of Prophecy is changing that image. They like it, and listen to it every day. It is something they can hang on to. When they see us, they feel as if they already know us."

Did you feel a similar response in your area, Elder Richards, Jr.?

H. M. S. RICHARDS, JR.: "Yes, we certainly did. Let me give you an example. I was eating breakfast in the Rock House Restaurant early one morning. A man came to me and said, 'You're with The Voice of Prophecy, aren't you? And you're speaker at the public meetings in town, isn't that right? Well, my wife has taken this Bible-marking plan, and she's asking me all kinds of questions. Tell me about this Sabbath business.' So we had a Bible study right there at the breakfast table. And that's not an isolated case. I had several Bible studies in restaurants while we were in Georgia."

We understand that the music of the King's Heralds, Del Delker, and Brad Braley caused quite a stir in Atlanta and Baxley.

BOB EDWARDS, first tenor, King's Heralds: "I don't believe a day went by that we didn't make a guest appearance somewhere. More appointments were requested than we could possibly fill. We sang in churches, schools, hospitals, and leading service clubs—besides filling guest spots on local television and radio programs."

Elder Richards told of the time when two conference men went into a small-town drugstore, while the Daily Broadcast of The Voice of Prophecy was on the air. They found the mayor of the town, the bank president, the men who owned and operated two drugstores, and an influential insurance man, all sitting there listening, and marking their Bibles. All but one of them had already received their Bibles from The Voice Of Prophecy.

Experiences like these were frequent. H. M. S. Richards, Jr. describes the impact of the Daily Broadcast as "a giant magnet in the great hand of God, passing over the cities and towns, drawing sincere hearts to Him." When combined with the reaping efforts of an evangelistic team, he foresees a force which can result in thousands of added baptisms every year across the United States and Canada.

Radio has taken on a vastly different role than it used to play when The Voice of Prophecy went coast-to-coast in 1942. Now most major radio programming is planned on a daily basis. Programs heard only once a week are estimated to have an 80 per cent turnover in listeners. Today's radio is geared to people who listen at times and places where television is not available, such as during work hours or while traveling to and from work. As millions of transistor and other portable radios are sold each year, it is evident that individuals prefer to listen to radio while they are doing other things.

The sermon topics of the Voice of Prophecy Daily Broadcast are presented in logical order, much like an evangelistic series. By holding people's attention day after day, this new system of preaching God's Word not only breaks up the fallow soil of hungry hearts, but sows the seed and prepares minds for the harvesting work of an evangelist.

According to both Elders Richards, one of the major problems involved with this fruitful, newly-established work will be to meet the challenge of visitation, as names pour in from radio land! It proved to be an almost impossible task in both northern and southern Georgia.

For information on how you, your church, or your conference can undertake the support of a Daily Broadcast in your local area, write to The Voice of Prophecy, Box 1511, Glendale, California 91209.

Be A Soul-Winner

Many willing workers at home and abroad have longed for greater power in presenting Bible truth. They realize that something more than factual knowledge is necessary. Convincing argument must have with it sincere persuasion if souls are to accept the doctrines. But sincerity without knowledge and skill is not sufficient.

Evangelism in public halls or in the churches frequently presses into service many willing workers with limited preparation for or experience in soul-winning. A series of studies is now ready to assist busy church members in their preparation for effective soul-winning. With guidance and encouragement of the local pastor, even working all alone, many earnest members can give an evening a week to studies with neighbors or other interested ones, and win many souls.

But there are certain fundamental facts and procedures that the beginner should have lest he mar the patterns of truth in his efforts to make them attractive to the learner. One needs to be not only harmless; he should also be wise. The apostle Paul urged Timothy to study in order to be approved, and rightly divide or teach the Word. There is a time to be silent but there is also a time to speak.

And the successful veteran is always learning improved methods. That is how he continues to win souls and becomes a veteran in the cause. Even the largest and oldest trees, so long as they live, put forth new growth every year, though it is no more than small twigs at the tips of their great, spreading branches. Growth is evidence of life and vitality. The first or the next soul one saves may be his own.

The set of studies, designed especially for the friendly, earnest person who sees opportunity but lacks a little confidence in his own skills, was prepared by Louise Kleuser, for many years the leader of Bible Instructors, and one of the secretaries in the Ministerial Association of the General Conference. Here are concentrated the methods, experience, and work-patterns of an eminently successful soul-winner. They form a veritable treasury for anyone seeking to present Bible truth successfully.

These studies have been in use long enough to prove and demonstrate their effectiveness. They are packed with essential facts, and successful methods of presentation. Each study supplies the learner with pointed illustrations in question and answer form. The mastery of each step prepares for a Bible lesson on a special subject and illustrates how others can be given. Skillful handling of subject matter is developed. Guidance by experienced workers, and simple measurement of progress are provided.

This course is not intended as advanced training in theory or doctrine but does show how to apply the best methods for teaching truth in order to win souls. It takes accumulated knowledge, organizes it in simple, quickly-acceptable form, and breathes into it the friendship and earnest-heartedness of the soul-winner.

For further information concerning this inexpensive training course, write to the Ministerial Association of the General Conference, or to the Home Study Institute, both of Takoma Park, Washington 12, D. C.

Million-Dollar Fire at Loma Linda

A defective ceiling light fixture is believed to have been the cause of a million-dollar fire at Loma Linda University today. No one was reported injured in the blaze which destroyed three-story Edward Risley Hall, a classroom and laboratory building of world war II vintage.

The fire was first reported in the building's basement and soon spread from the site of its origin to the other floors of the structure despite the efforts of local volunteer firemen and crews from neighboring cities manning 23 separate fire-fighting units.

About 100 teachers and students were occupying the building at the time the fire was discovered in a basement room used for research. All were evacuated without trouble and many re-entered the building to help in saving valuable equipment and research records. One thousand mice, at least 1,000 rats, 100 dogs, three ostriches, and other research animals were rescued from the building during early minutes when it appeared that the smoldering fire

The building housed classrooms and laboratories used in teaching biochemistry, pharmacology, and physiology.

The structure itself is insured at its replacement value, and the lab-

The staff veterinarian praised the students and teachers who braved serious danger to rescue the animals. He said the only animal casualty was one of the three ostriches being used in temperature-control research. The ostrich's death was attributed to fright rather than directly to the flames.

Union College News

The Union College constituency and board met February 11 and 12 and passed a plan for reorganization of the teacher education lab schools, as well as building development goals and several other routine issues. College View Academy and Helen Hyatt Elementary School were united under a single board of control. This plan, which goes into effect July 1, 1964, calls for a single principal over both units and assistant principals in both the elementary and secondary units.

Another phase of the unification was the adoption of the 6-3-3 plan of instruction. This new plan calls for six elementary, three junior high, and three high school levels.

The combined schools serve the community's educational needs, and also serve Union College as a teacher-training laboratory.

Science Building - Authorization for architects to begin the plans for the new Jorgenson Science Hall addition was granted by the board. Plans are to be submitted to the executive committee of the board at their next meeting.

Stansbury-Hall Educational Building - Stansbury-Hall is the new name given the educational building on the Denver campus. The naming is in recognition of Mrs. Josephine Stansbury of Vermillion, South Dakota, and her late husband, Dr. E. M. Stansbury. The Stansburys have established a loan fund for nursing students and have included Union College in their will. Hall is Mrs. Stansbury's maiden name.

Rees Hall Addition - Provision was made for the completion of the entire Rees Hall Addition to provide housing for 372 women. Those who are presently residing in the college courts will be able to move into the dormitory. The courts are tentatively planned to be used for the men next year.

Budget - A budget of nearly 2 1/2 million dollars was voted for all departments of the college.

Master Guides on "Final" for Youths' Congress Investiture

The Master Guide Clubs of Hot Springs, Pierre, Redfield, and Sioux Falls are now finishing special courses that will elevate their members to that select group who have schooled themselves in Christian leadership, Master Guides. At least three of these clubs have operated successfully and will have many of their members in line when the trumpet sounds for the mass Investiture at Youths' Congress, April 4.

Many other individuals through the conference have also been working toward this goal. There are others who have worked but may find time crowding them a bit, but most anyone who wishes can still be ready. Jerry Diede is a good example. A few weeks ago he didn't even know what a Master Guide program was. However, he had previously read the Bible. He took the Leadership Training at Redfield the other day, he is now finishing the Book Club and will have all the other requirements finished in time, too. So can you!

If you wish to be a part of the program for Master Guides at the Youths' Congress, begin today.

Home and School

N. R. Whitney, M. D. of Rapid City, presented an interesting Bird Study program at the Home and School meeting on Saturday night, January 25, 1964. He showed, in color, many birds common in this area accompanied by the individual bird call or song. He told of his experiences in trapping and banding birds in his yard. Many of the birds banded returned to the very spot in which they were caught. His program was very interesting and very much appreciated by all.

Five-Day Plan Clinics in Minneapolis

Expressing a deep concern over the hazards of cigaret smoking, O. J. Ritz of the Stevens Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Church recently stated, "Smoking is becoming a problem even among some of the Seventh-day Adventist youth." Further remarks revealed his extended concern to the community for which the Five-Day Plan Clinics are being held. A recent clinic, held from January 20 to 24 in the Star and Tribune Building, was given free accommodation of the Upper Midwest Room which afforded public convenience and considerable press coverage.

Interest in the Five-Day Plan ranged through such varied occupations as a hardware store owner, a furniture dealer, a mortician, teachers, city employees, and several physicians. During informal audience questioning, one smoker remarked after the third day of the Plan, "I feel dizzy and lightheaded," while another replied, "I've experienced nervousness and trembling." Dr. R. A. Olson, attending physician at the clinic, explained these as normal responses.

One staff member, greeting the guests each evening, commented on observing the smokers frantically puffing and hesitating until the last moment before entering the first meeting. The second evening revealed a drastic change of scene with approximately eighty smiling, gum-chewing participants doggedly climbing the steps to face the second hurdle of the five.

Recently, many people interested in breaking the smoking habit were informed of the Five Day Clinic through KSTP Radio's "Open Line" program. Interviewed on the January 17th program were Pastor Ritz; his associate, J. W. Wolter; and Dr.

Olson. In answer to the question, "How long have Seventh-day Adventists known of the effect of tobacco on the system?" Pastor Ritz pointed out that in 1853 the detrimental effects of tobacco were recognized and the first written stand on the question of tobacco was taken and has since been rigidly held. Citing a source from Ministry of Healing, by E. G. White, he quoted, "Tobacco is a slow, insidious, but most malignant poison. In whatever form it is used, it tells upon the constitution; it is all the more dangerous because its effects are slow and at first hardly perceptible. It excites then paralyzes the nerves. It weakens and clouds the brain." Again referring to the same source, he added a statement dealing with the question of tobacco and the corruption of morals and dwarfing of the body of young people.

Dealing with the psychological and spiritual aspects of the smoking problem Pastor Ritz and his co-worker, Dr. R. A. Olson, who is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, have shown repeatedly through their work that when this three-point program is launched it (1) reveals the medical aspects of tobacco and lung cancer, (2) relates the psychological problems of breaking the habit and (3) adds the nutritional approach to breaking the habit. Its effectiveness is revealed through statistical evidence showing that approximately 75% of those who attend the five-day series are successful in their attempts to quit smoking.

Support in time, funds, and ideas can make this program one of the most successful aspects of Christian endeavor of the church.

The attendance was about seventy-five on the opening night, increasing the second night, and remaining at about seventy-five on the closing evening. The comment sheets indicated that about eighty-five per cent of the participants felt they had gained the help they needed to manage their smoking problem.

So enthusiastic and thankful was this group, that from their number a committee was organized the closing evening to help plan for the next clinic which is to be held April 5-9 by the same team. This committee of local citizens will receive registrations and reservations by telephone, and organize a three-way buddy system for the participants before the clinic begins. We believe this will greatly strengthen one of the weakest areas of the program. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the buddy system, as we can readily learn from the Alcoholics Anonymous.

On the closing night as the registrants signed their "divorce" papers from Lady Nicotine, they were also presented with their "graduation" pin, on which was inscribed the motto of the entire clinic "I Choose Not To Smoke". This was received with unusual enthusiasm, and many felt it would serve as the reminder they needed in their determination to stop smoking.

Surely this Five - Day Stop Smoking program is the greatest tool we have received in a long time with which we can share our health principles with our communities in such a popular way. It is a real thrill to have folks stop you on the street to tell you of their appreciation for your church, and what it has done for them.

We are most fortunate to have a fine group of local citizens who are willing to promote and plan for our next Clinic. Surely it is a wonderful way to acquaint them with our church, and perhaps this is one of the finest types of missionary work we can conduct.

We are hoping that Dr. Schuman, a member of the Surgeon General's team to investigate the health hazards with the use of tobacco, will be able to speak at our next clinic in April.

Hibbing Church Honors Member

Charles Johnson was honored by the Hibbing Church at a social gathering January 29 in recognition of his sixteen years of service as church treasurer. He was given a sweater as a gift by the church members.

Brother Johnson, who still serves as elder and deacon, was chosen treasurer the same year he was baptized into the church sixteen years ago. He has served his church, not only in the larger offices, but also in many unseen ways which are not so glamorous, but still very essential.

Youth Congress Train To Be Called "Northern Lights Youth Express"

Douglas Janssen, a JMV from Beach, North Dakota, was recently judged the winner of the "Name the Train Contest" to determine a name for our Youth Congress Train. His entry was "Northern Lights Youth Express." We think that this name symbolizes our youth program in North Dakota.

Douglas Janssen

Douglas will be awarded a free trip to Minneapolis and back. We trust that many of you are planning to ride the "Northern Lights Youth Express." Remember, it leaves Jamestown, North Dakota, about 10 o'clock in the morning on April 2 and returns in the early afternoon on April 5. A round-trip fare for adults, including a meal both ways, is $10, children 11 years old and under will ride for $5, and little ones under 5 years of age will only be charged $1.

Plan now to be on the "Northern Lights Youth Express".

News Notes

✱ Under the leadership of Mrs. Marvin Neuarth, the Bismarck MV Society has chosen Steele as their "Target 3000" town. Nearly one-fourth of the homes expressed an interest in viewing Bible films when they are shown. The town is now being covered with the MV Target 3000 leaflets.

Members of the Capital Lites Pathfinder Club in Bismarck are using the indoor swimming pool at Ft. Lincoln to practice for their swimming honors. Mrs. Lanard Eichele and Dan Olson are club directors.

A. L. Heitzmann, our conference evangelist, has opened a series of meetings at Keene and reports a very fine attendance of non-Adventists.

February 16 was the opening night for the Jamestown 5-day Stop Smoking Clinic in the Memorial Hall. A good number of folks are attending who have a desire to get rid of the tobacco habit.

Friendship teams have been organized at the Medina church. A Story Hour is also being conducted in the town of Medina, with an attendance of approximately twenty.

Ellendale Church

The rapid growth of the Ellendale membership has necessitated our building a larger church. Although built only in 1949, our present church is overcrowded, requiring extra seats to be placed in the aisles nearly every Sabbath. For some time there has been a desire to build a bigger church, so in the spring of 1963 the project was started under the leadership of H. J. Eslinger.

It was decided to build over a three-year period so as to keep expenses paid. Now, a few months later, good progress has been made.

We praise and thank God for His leadership in the past, and as we look forward to moving into our new church we pray for souls to fill our new house of worship.

Ellendale Church Aids Family

Approximately 75 members and friends of the Ellendale church gathered on a recent Wednesday evening for a potluck supper and social occasion. It had been announced that each family should bring a gift of money to be given to the family of Val Jo Webster. He is a seven-year-old boy from a nearby community who was severely burned two months ago. We are most happy to be able to present a check for $100.00 to this family.

One of our church members, who is a neighbor of this family, started a community campaign to raise funds. Working with the local radio station, she has received over $1,100.00 thus far.

Although our gift is small compared with their expenses, we give it in love that this family may know that we are thinking of them during their hours of suffering and anxiety. They are receiving the Signs of the Times and it is our hope that some day we may be able to help them in a spiritual way.

Wedding

The Wahpeton church was the scene of the wedding, December 22, which united Christine Marie Schrader and Calvin Delmer Dickhaut in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian H. Schrader of Portland, Oregon. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Dickhaut of Redfield, South Dakota.

The bride was attended by Miss Carlene Schrader, maid of honor, and Mrs. Leroy Dickhaut. Roger Dickhaut served as best man, while Leroy Dickhaut served as grooms-

Mr. Dickhaut is attending the State School of Science in Wahpeton and Mrs. Dickhaut is teaching in the Twin City Church School in Wahpeton.

Our prayer is that this couple will be a blessing to each other, the church, and the community as they establish their little heaven on earth.

Sheyenne River Academy Farm Improvements

The latest addition to our farm expansion program is a new (to us) tractor. After much searching and pricing, a 1956, Super WD-9 International tractor was purchased. This tractor is in excellent condition and is a relatively young tractor both in year, model, and number of hours worked.

It develops approximately 57 h.p. on the drawbar and will supply the necessary power to pull a 13 ft. International Chisel Plow purchased a few months ago. These items of equipment are part of the academy's total farm expansion program. This summer the academy's cultivated land will be released from soil bank. A good used International swather has been purchased and a four-bottom plow has been donated by Arthur Reile of Jamestown.

It is planned that within a year, a 20-head dairy will be operating, a 50 head beef cow herd will be in full operation and 350 acres of land will be producing feed and cash grain crops.

It is our feeling that the one industry uniquely suited to North Dakota is agriculture. The Academy Board plans to direct positive and prompt efforts to its development. "Had all our schools encouraged work in agricultural lines, they would now have an altogether different showing. Study in agricultural lines should be the A, B, C of the education given in our schools. Had there been agricultural and manufacturing establishments connected with our schools, and had competent teachers been employed to educate the youth in the different branches of study and labor, devoting a portion of each day to mental improvement, and a portion to physical labor, there would now be a more elevated class of youth to come upon the stage of action to have influence in molding society." Testimonies, vol. 1, p. 177-9, Testimonies, vol. 1, p. 156.

JMV Member Gives Bible Studies In Wahpeton

Every Sabbath afternoon the Wahpeton church sponsors a Sunshine Band at the Wahpeton Rehabilitation Center and also at the Wahpeton Nursing Home. One Sabbath afternoon after Sunshine Band in the rehabilitation center, Gary Pearson used his Junior Baptismal Manual, which he is now studying in connection with the Twin City grade school baptismal class, to give a Bible study. He read the first lesson to Miss Arlene Simenson, one of the patients who is confined to a wheel chair. She enjoyed it so much that she wanted another lesson that same day. Now, every week Gary reads her a lesson from his Baptismal Manual. What an inspiration to see our young people take advantage of opportunities to tell of the love of Jesus! !

Are we making the most of our opportunities to share with others the precious treasures from the Word of God? ?

NORTHERN UNION High LIGHTS!

NORTHERN UNION MUSIC FESTIVAL

Maplewood Academy was host to fifteen visiting music students from each of the other academies in the Northern Union the week end of February 7, 8. For some time the academy music directors have felt that such a meeting would prove beneficial in stimulating a greater interest in, and appreciation for good music.

Much of the time these groups were together was spent in study and rehearsal. Then, on Sabbath afternoon the students blended their voices into a mass choir in the presentation of a beautiful sacred concert. The lovely Hutchinson church was filled with worshippers from the community and visitors from the

The entire choral group from four academies in the Hutchinson church choir loft, surrounding area. Saturday night a secular program was given in a community center down town.

These presentations were uplifting to those who heard, and challenging to those who sang. This experience will strengthen the music program in our academies, as well as encourage the individual participants to move on toward excellence in the development of their musical talents.
