The Review and Herald . . .

MORE THAN A MAGAZINE

By F. DONALD YOST, Associate Editor, Review and Herald

"I begin reading almost before I get the wrapper off," a Review reader said not long ago.

That's a natural way to feel about a magazine that keeps in touch with Adventists in every corner of the world and tells you what's going on, a magazine that inspires allegiance to a triumphing cause.

Through the Review you may sit in Sydney's Fair Grounds Hall with 5,000 Australians listening to George Vandeman. You may trudge through hot, dusty Indian villages where no worker has ever been assigned. You may watch new churches spring up in Nigeria, Norway, and New York. You may sit in on Vacation Bible Schools in Uruguay. You may, in short, witness in the pages of the Review the growth and progress of the cause to which you have dedicated your heart and life.

But the Review is more than Adventism's weekly newsmagazine. It is people—Adventist people talking to one another about their most prized possession, their hope in the coming of the Lord. It is a medium of exchange not only of news of the church but of the ideas that make the church a vibrant, dynamic, expanding organization. The people of the Review are more than the editorial staff, more than the printers; they are the hundreds of thousands of readers who say, "We wouldn't be without it; it gets better all the time."

The Review is conversation—creative conversation of conferences and missions, of schools and medical institutions, of young people's societies and Sabbath schools, of laymen and workers, of fellow Adventists all over the world. The Review does not do all the talking. Through its Fellowship of Prayer, its Letters From Readers, and the miscellaneous correspondence flowing into the editorial offices, it listens to the heartbeat of Adventism. With their awareness of both the times and the issues, the editors respond to the hopes and concerns of God's people. And this animated conversation goes on week after week, a healthy, fascinating dialog that will continue until the Lord comes.

The success of the Review as the family magazine for Seventh-day Adventists is no accident. The editors regard each issue as a significant opportunity to bring into each home the best articles and reports, the best portrayal of the doctrines and programs of the church. They weave from a hundred threads a pattern of instruction, information, and inspiration. Taken together these individual weekly patterns of grace, truth, faith, and hope produce a tapestry of journalistic beauty.

From the time the dummy leaves the editorial offices until that number of the Review is in the mails, it passes through many hands, all dedicated to God and to the third angel's message. Each step takes time, but within the past year one week has been shaved from production schedules thanks largely to this new Miehle web offset press, a 90-foot machine that turns rolls of paper into folded magazines at the rate of 22,000 an hour. Here Elders Yost and Neufeld inspect a yet-untrimmed copy at the delivery end of the press.

Editors Wood, Yost and Neufeld (left to right) meet frequently to plan future issues, to decide on format improvements, and to pray for God's blessing upon their work. Behind the editor's desk hangs contemporary sculptor Alan Collins' rendering of the three angels of Revelation 14.

While the doctrine, inspirational, and instructional pages of the magazine are being planned, Mrs. Dorothy Emmerson and Associate Editor F. Donald Yost check on news stories in process, keeping their fingers on the pulse of the church through the reports that come across their desks each day.

Like a good friend, the Review drops in to visit every week and brings with it what every person, every family, every home needs. Like a pastor it comforts in sorrow, guides through perplexity, and sustains in life's dark hours by holding aloft the Word of God. Like a teacher, it explains what is obscure and makes complex issues plainer. It instructs in righteousness and prepares its readers for heaven.

to perform the functions intended

The Review and Herald continues for by its first editors. It reviews and it heralds. It reviews the way God has led His people, and His teaching in our past history; it reminds this generation of His continuing providences; and it reports the immediate news of the church today. This church paper, begun in 1850, also heralds the coming of Jesus Christ by proclaiming present truth and by revealing how prophecy is fulfilling in our day.

During the coming 12 months the Review will contain about 200 letters from readers and 125 essays by the editors. Almost 150 articles on spiritual and devotional themes will appear, along with some 25 particularly informative feature articles. The president of the General Conference and the vice presidents will speak about 45 times to the people they lead and serve. News from overseas in both pictures and words will appear in an average of 11 reports of varying lengths each week, not counting brief news items.

Of special interest to readers in the United States and Canada is the new North American News section with its attractive format and its comprehensive coverage of church affairs at home.

In addition, the Review has regular weekly, biweekly, and monthly features, such as For Homemakers, Wayside Pulpit, Avenues of Reading Pleasure, The Art of Living When You're Young, A Story for the Younger Set, and Heart to Heart (a message from the General Conference president).

Bruce Barton once said, "When you're through making changes, you're through." Inevitably, to keep pace with developments in the fields of journalism and publishing, and to meet the challenges of the "soaring sixties" the Review will make some changes. But in its fundamental purposes and character it will not change. In the first issue of The Advent Review the editor wrote: "Our design in this review is to cheer and refresh the true believer, by showing the fulfillment of Prophecy in the past wonderful work of God, in calling out, and separating from the world and nominal church, a people who are looking for the second advent of the dear Saviour." Such is the aim of the editors today. They work and pray, determined that the general church paper of the Seventh-day Adventists will build up God's people in the most holy faith,

To its subscribers the Review and Herald seems to appear automatically each week as if in response to the wave of a "magic wand." Actually, it is the result of long hours and careful work on the part of writers, editors, secretaries, printers, and many others. Weeks before an issue comes off the press, someone orders paper, ink, and other supplies; writers are busy at their typewriters; and the editors are laying plans for the magazine. As the date of issue draws near, manuscripts converge, and the wheels of the publishing house turn, with process following process until the magazine is complete. Month after month this procedure continues without interruption.

The accompanying pictures show the editorial staff of the Review and some of the processes involved in putting out our church paper.

Fire Prevention Week

Today, fires will claim 33 lives, 1500 homes, 19 schools, 9 churches, 12 hospitals and nursing homes, 114 stores, and 144 industrial plants. This occurs each and every day of the year. What does all of this waste cost our economy? Every day some $6,000,000 goes up in smoke.

Once again President Lyndon B. Johnson has issued a proclamation setting aside a week as Fire Prevention Week. This year October 8 to 14 will be observed throughout our country as this special week of fire safety emphasis. The attention of every citizen will be directed to an examination of his environment for ways to eliminate this needless waste of lives and property.

Is your home free from fire hazards? How safe is your church and your children's school? Most fires can be prevented so why not make an inspection today and eliminate all possible hazards.

If you are not sure what to look for, contact your local fire department. They will be happy to assist you.

Make every week FIRE PREVENTION WEEK!

in Manila. Here is a school in which Missionary Volunteers are going all out to do missionary work. I discovered 187 in active singing bands, 100 participating each week in Branch Sabbath Schools, 200 helping regularly in health and welfare work, 40 in actual participation with Operation Fireside, 40 in Voice of Youth meetings and when we finished the rally in the afternoon there were hundreds more that stood to join in these projects. What a thrill to be a leader for God with His youth in these closing hours of the world's history.

"Here in Cebu we became acquainted with Archibald Tupas, a 24-year old Missionary Volunteer who conducted a Voice of Youth meeting a year ago in which many were baptized, including Dr. Eleno Jovor. Since coming into the church this man has been responsible for building a new church in which I preached several nights. What a thrill to see our young people making such commitments to the Lord."

UNION COLLEGE

Dr. Dick Receives Honorary Degree

Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, will confer the honorary degree of L.L.D. or doctor of laws on Dr. Everett N. Dick, retired chairman of the Department of History, Union College, at their summer commencement August 17.

Dr. E. N. Dick came to Union in 1930, being actively associated with the college for 37 years. Of these 37 years, Dr. Dick has served as Department Chairman for 24 years.

The degree is being awarded the professor on the basis of his historical scholarship as a Seventh-day Adventist and for his originating the Medical Cadet Corps program. Having received the Wisconsin State Historical Society; Newbury Library, Chicago; and Woods Brothers Foundation is another criterion for which the degree is being conferred.

Dr. Dick has been a visiting professor at the University of Missouri, University of Wisconsin, and University of California at Berkeley. Nine books may be credited to the authorship of Dr. Dick. Most of these books are on the American Frontier with one being a denominational history book on S.D.A. pioneers.

Having founded the M.C.C., Dr. Dick was its head and served as General Conference commander for ten years.

Union is proud of this fine man who has contributed so much to her growth and development and who paid enough attention to it to record its early activities in a book for all to study and learn.

Harry C. Reile Receives His Doctorate

Receiving his doctorate at the summer commencement exercises at the University of Nebraska, Harry C. Reile is the third full-time teacher with a doctorate degree teaching in the Department of Education and Psychology.

Dr. Reile's dissertation topic was "The Status of Modern Mathematics in Nebraska Elementary Schools." He will be teaching Educational Psychology and Methods in Arithmetic, Science, and Social Studies with emphasis in the area of elementary education.

This will be Dr. Reile's second year teaching at Union.

Brother Beck is a native North Dakotan. He was born near Medina and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beck. He is a graduate of Union College with a degree in Business Administration and a major in Religion.

After graduation he was assistant manager of the Pacific Press Branch Office in Omaha until July, 1957, when he was called to serve as Book and Bible House Manager of the Nebraska Conference. He served there until April of 1965 when he was called to be manager of the Book and Bible House of the Ohio Conference.

While serving as Bible House Manager in Nebraska, Brother Beck promoted a strong reading program for the church membership. The current SDA Reading Fellowship Plan adopted by the General Conference at the Fall Council in 1964 is an outgrowth of the program he launched in Nebraska in 1964. This program he has carried on strongly in the Ohio Conference. While in Ohio he also has been promoting the Motel Project of placing the book, Your Bible and You, in as many motel rooms as possible. During the past year the churches in Ohio have placed these books in over 5,000 motel rooms and over 10,000 copies have been distributed as a result of this program.

His wife, Mabel, a registered nurse, was born of missionary parents in Argentina, South America. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Saunders, who, for many years, lived in Hutchinson, Minnesota. Her father was a graduate of Sheyenne River Academy and was Publishing Secretary of the North Dakota Conference from 1917 to 1921.

The Becks have two children: Robert Wayne, 12; and Donna Jean, 8.

I know the Becks will be a real blessing to our field. They are arriving in North Dakota this week. Remember these good folk in your prayers. I know our constituency will extend a warm, personal welcome to them as they take appointments in our churches.

The Beautiful Vision

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Matthew 5:8. We have one full sermon in the Gospel preached by the Saviour. No doubt, He preached many wonderful sermons. He spake as never man spake, standing on the mountainside a few miles west of the Sea of Galilee, great crowds before Him. He delivered this wonderful sermon as found in Matthew 5:6, 7, beginning with the word, "Blessed," the greatest of all messages to the world.

Now, a little girl was asked which one of the beautitudes she would choose if she would have but one of them. After reading them, she answered, "The pure in heart one." When asked why, she answered, "If I have a pure heart, I will have all the rest." These words are beautiful, powerful in their meaning. May we study them now carefully and prayerfully.

First of all—the heart. "Blessed are the pure in heart." The heart is the center of man. The heart of the tree is the center of a tree. David said, "I have hid thy word in my heart."

Second—the pure heart believes. For with the heart, men believe.

Third—the pure heart loves. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart. . . ." Matthew 22:37.

Fourth—the pure heart is willing. "Let every man, as he willeth in his heart, so let him give." 2 Corinthians 9:7.

Fifth—a pure heart condemns, for as our heart condemns, so God is greater than our hearts and knoweth all things. Matthew 15:19.

Now, the condition of the vision. "Pure in heart, they shall see God." There are three distinct kinds of sides. One—physical side. It is impossible to see God. No man hath seen God at any time. Man only sees the distinct physical objects. Second—the mental side. It is impossible to see Him with the mental eye. Mental side derives its power from the brain. Three—The spiritual side, which enables us to see Him, who is invisible. It is a side that depends altogether upon the purity of the heart. If we would see God, our hearts must be clear, clean, simple, single, thinking clean thoughts. If your mind were a great temple and the people were allowed to go through and see the pictures which hang upon the wall of your mind, what kind of pictures would they see? As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. Proverbs 23:7. It is not enough to be clean outside; Christ said in His day in Matthew 23:27, "Woe unto you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness." As God sees our heart, what does He find? David said, "Search me, O God, and know my heart." He searches our hearts.

Now, the vision—"shall see God."

The "see God" has been the longing of all saints. The heathens make images and worship them. Behind them, they see God.

1. We see God in the ordinances of the church. We see God in the baptism. We see His Son crucified, buried and resurrected. Galatians 2:20. We see God in the Lord's Supper in the breaking of the bread for His body and then in the wine for His spilled blood.

2. We see God in His Word. The Bible is an unusually dry book to the unconverted. To the children of God, it is water for the thirsty and bread for the hungry.

3. We see God in the common things of life. Moses saw Him in the burning bush.

4. We see God in nature, God's great outdoors.

5. We see God in the disappointments and trials of life. Two little girls played in a strange garden. One said to the mother, "How ugly the garden is and why are all the thistles and thorns in the garden?" The second girl was asked and she said, "Why, mother, the garden is such a beautiful place." In a visit to a poor woman overwhelmed with trouble, the visitor said, "You must have some dark days and clouds must overcome you." In Acts 1:9, we read, "And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight."

Our daily aim should be pure in heart, pure in thoughts, pure in mind. "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Philippians 4:8.

A story is told of a vessel that was caught off a rocky coast in the midst of a terrible storm and threatened the lives of all the passengers. Now, blessed is the man, who, through the purity of heart and faith in His Saviour, is able to say in the midst of earthly storm and strife, "I have seen the face of my pilot, and He smiled on me." Job 42:5.

Wedding

On the evening of August 7 Charlene Wiltse, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Wiltse, of Wahpeton, North Dakota, and Steven Zeelau, of Lincoln, Nebraska, spoke marriage vows in the Wahpeton Seventh-day Adventist Church. Dale C. Aalborg, long-time friend and former college roommate of the bride's father, was the officiating minister.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Howard Ellstrom of Lincoln, Nebraska; as matron of honor, and Mrs. Michael Deming of Berrien Springs, Michigan; and Miss Jennifer Zeelau, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Both Mrs. Ellstrom and Mrs. Deming are former college roommates of the bride.

Curtis Wiltse, the bride's brother, was best man. Larry Thomas of Monterey, California; cousin of the bride, and Howard Ellstrom were groomsmen. Jennifer Wall of Wahpeton was flower girl, and Douglas Wiltse, the bride's younger brother, was Bible bearer.

Mrs. E. R. Wasemiller of Wahpeton was organist. Soloists included Mrs. Malcolm Gordon of Jamestown, North Dakota, who sang, "I'll Walk With God," and Jim Wasemiller, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer." The bride's cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Specht, of Loma Linda, California; played a violin duet preceding the ceremony.

The wedding reception was held at the Richard's Elementary School.

Mrs. Zeelau is a graduate of Maplewood Academy and a 1967 graduate of Union College. Mr. Zeelau was graduated from College View Academy and is a senior at Union College this fall.

It is always a joy to see two Christian young people establish a home after the divine pattern. It is our prayer that they may continue to experience the blessings of God as they prepare for a place in the finishing of His work.

South Dakota Welcomes the Bordeaux Family

As a part of our program of evangelism in South Dakota the Conference Committee felt some time ago that we should, if possible, call a Bible worker to assist in areas where there is an abundance of interest. It is very difficult to find lady Bible workers, so we turned to look for a consecrated young family. The Lord was instrumental, I am sure, in leading us to the Bordeaux family.

Brother and Sister Bordeaux graduated from Walla Walla College last year and were already settled at Andrews where he was planning on doing graduate work this year. However, when they learned of our needs, they quickly responded to our call. We received the very highest recommendations for this family.

The Bordeaux family is already settled near Belle Fourche. They will be assisting Elder Reimche in his district and as interests develop in the Rapid City area, he will be assisting there as well.

Brother Bordeaux was born in Dublin, North Carolina. After finishing high school he enlisted in the air force. In 1959 he learned of this message and made plans to attend our college. In 1961 he married Elaine Jones of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. They have two fine boys and a foster daughter who is making her home with them.

Mrs. Bordeaux is especially interested in this type of work as well and will be making a real contribution in working with the children. For the type of evangelism that Elder Reimche does, we feel the Bordeaux family will serve very well as Bible workers and to help in the Branch Sabbath Schools, etc.

I would like to ask our readers to remember this young family as they have come to join us to help us in our evangelism thrust in this conference. We feel confident that souls will be won as a result of their ministry with us.

Those of you who made pledges or gave cash for conference evangelism at camp meeting time will have a special interest in the work of evangelism. Others who were not at camp meeting to participate in this program would do well to think of their part in being good stewards for God and may wish to make a contribution toward evangelism in South Dakota. We all stand aghast as we see the happenings both here in the homeland and abroad that point to a soon return of our Lord. Let us use our funds in a manner now that they can be used to win souls and prepare the way for our Lord to return.

We shall all watch with keen interest the work in the northern Black Hills district as we see our evangelism funds at work.

Michigan Family Nature Camp In The Black Hills

When the telephone rang and Merrill Fleming, Associate Missionary Volunteer Secretary of the Michigan Conference, told me that at least twenty families in Michigan had signed up for the Family Nature Camp in the Black Hills of South Dakota, I was thrilled! Could we handle that many? Of course! We would be glad to welcome them. Where would we make base camp?

Twenty two families from Michigan enjoying Family Nature Camp at Flag Mountain Youth Camp on August 13, 1967.

Custer State Park campground across the road from the zoo near Coolidge Lodge. What would they do for five days in the hills?

Friday, August 11, the Custer Park rangers went all out to provide tables, wood and any other help needed to make the camp ready. A large section of the Coolidge Campground was assigned to the incoming Michigan Family Nature Camp. A few arrived Thursday night, and all but one family had arrived by Friday. Twenty-two families, ninety-five fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters, gathered around the campfire for vespers at sundown that evening. Elder and Mrs. Marvin Walter, Director of Indian Missions in South Dakota, acted as hosts and guides for the activities.

Sabbath morning all drove to the Red Shirt Indian Mission for Sabbath School and church services with lunch served beside the Cheyenne River, and a Sabbath nature walk in the afternoon filled the day. At sundown all gathered at base camp for another campfire service.

Sunday they viewed Mt. Rushmore National Memorial on the way to Flag Mountain Youth Camp where dinner was enjoyed in the lodge beside the beautiful Castle Creek. Another nature hike gave them a sample of the over 175 varieties of flowers and trees and shrubs at the campground.

C. F. Lee, Ranger at Wind Cave National Park, conducted a special tour for one and a half hours through Wind Cave on Monday morning. Dinner was eaten at Hot Springs Chautauqua picnic grounds followed by a swim in Evans Plunge. On their way back to base camp they enjoyed the large herds of hundreds of bison, many Pronghorns, whitetail and mule deer and even the prairie dog towns with their yapping welcome. A few saw some Rocky Mountain sheep.

Tuesday morning the group enjoyed the spectacular Needles and Sylvan Lake Country. After dinner many took side trips for rock collecting, swimming, horseback riding, etc. In the evening nearly all went to the lecture and lighting ceremony at Rushmore Monument, a very fitting climax for this special Family Camp. Wednesday morning the campers began their various routes homeward to Michigan with a great deal more light concerning the beauty and also the many possibilities and needs in a sister state.

Special Notice

Just a reminder to all of our Black Hills church membership of the October 7 meeting in Rapid City. Plan to be at this all-day meeting. We are planning a full evening of entertainment as well as a book sale. We have made arrangements for the showing of the film, "A Letter To Nancy." This is an outstanding film in which the viewer shares in the soul-searching experience of a Christian family as it finds its way to a fuller life in Christ. As the viewers become more and more involved, they come to see more and more clearly what it means to live the life of a Christian. This is a touching story of how the plight of a child changes the lives of those who meet her. I have seen this film and you will not want to miss seeing it. So I urge everyone to plan to stay over for the evening program.

South Dakota State Fair Display

The Lay Activities, Temperance, and Publishing Departments of the South Dakota Conference worked side by side in booths at the State Fair again this year. Many people passed through the Educational Building where we were located. We are told that records were broken as far as attendance was concerned.

The accompanying picture shows the writer explaining our literature to an interested visitor at the booth while others are busy signing cards for the free Bible story books which were given away each day. Approximately 500 leads were collected in this way. They will be sent to the literature evangelist who is closest to the homes of those who signed. In past years a good percentage of these leads developed into sales and souls.

Have you heard the voice of the Holy Spirit calling you to the literature ministry? Why not answer, "Here am I. Send me."

Publishing Secretary

News Notes

* We are always happy to have our people drop in at the office. On Labor Day Brother and Sister Pete Hartman and Aaron Hartman of Bowdle, and Brother and Sister George Stevens of Bismarck, North Dakota, stopped in, and even though the office was officially closed, the visitors found several of the office men mowing and watering the lawn. It was a pleasure to show these folks the office and the new church.

* Waldo Alger, J. B. Gray, and L. H. Opp are at the fair with their booths. Elder Alger is getting some fine leads for the sale of our wonderful books. These should be a real help to the literature evangelists. Elder Gray is promoting the Bible Speaks program and many people are signing up for the lessons. These names will be forwarded to our pastors so the Bibles and lessons can be delivered. Elder Opp is there primarily in behalf of the temperance work. "Smoking Sam," our smoking manikin, is kept busy demonstrating to the people the hazards of smoking.

Elder and Mrs. J. L. Dittberner, of the Northern Union office, were present all the way through. Elder Dittberner placed special emphasis on the importance of a right attitude toward the work. In doing this he challenged the ministers to emulate the attitude of Jesus.

Pray for the ministers of the Iowa

Conference. Each one went home determined to do more effective work for the Master.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Gibbs of the Burlington church were hosts to the Beaches while they were in Burlington. The California family was enroute home to La Sierra from a year spent in France and Germany where Dr. Beach was advisor to La Sierra students studying at Cologne and Darmstadt.

Medical Retreat

The Iowa physicians who attended the Northern Union Medical Retreat which was held near Brainerd, Minnesota August 18-20 were: Doctors George Gibbs, Everett Christensen, Eunice Christensen, and Gordon Arnott. The accompanying picture shows these physicians. Others in the picture are Mrs. Gibbs, Cheryl Gibbs, Ken Arnott, Mrs. Arnott, Tim Arnott, Mrs. Johnson and the writer.

During the retreat the emphasis was on the role of the physician and the dentist as a part of the gospel team.

Soul-winning plans were discussed and soul-winning stories were related. It was a genuine inspiration to be present. One item that received special emphasis was the matter of recruiting Adventist physicians and dentists for the Northern Union.

Please pray for the medical workers who are serving in Iowa and please pray that other medical workers will join the Iowa team.

Pure Religion Is - - -

God is continually benefiting us. Seldom do we realize with what infinite tenderness our Heavenly Parent loves us. We are too indifferent to His favors.

What would make professing Christians so thoughtless of God's favors? "Some, like Haman, forget all God's favors because Mordecai is before them, and is not disgraced; because their hearts are filled with enmity and hatred rather than love, the spirit of our dear Redeemer, who gave His precious life for His enemies. We profess to have the same Father, to be bound for the same immortal home, to enjoy the same solemn faith, and to believe the same testing message; and yet many are at strife with one another like quarrelsome children." (Testimonies Vol. 4, p. 223)

Today the world is filled with selfishness and hatred. Would it not be only reasonable that the arch-deceiver would use these weapons in the church? If I am to be honest with myself, and I must, I realize that Satan very often tries to use "enmity and hatred" to weaken my witness. He is adept at mingling pride with enmity too.

Those who love God, and recognize His benefits, cannot harbor hatred, envy, or pride. When that heavenly principle of eternal love fills our hearts, it will be manifest to others, not merely because favors are received of them, but because love is the ruling force of our every action—love that modifies the character, governs the impulses, controls the passions, subdues enmity, and elevates and ennobles the affections.

True and pure religion is founded upon love to God—which also leads us to love one another. "No matter how many good qualities we may have, however honorable and refined, we may consider ourselves, if the soul is not baptized with the heavenly grace of love to God and one another, we are deficient in true goodness and unfit for heaven, where all is love and unity." (Ibid. p. 224)

Dear reader, I want to be fit for heaven, don't you? Let us pray for and help one another to possess godly love.

We are happy to have such a fine young couple enter the work here in Iowa. Their home is new and their work is new to them, but they will be a great blessing to the Cedar Rapids school and church. We pray for their success as they serve the Master in teaching our boys and girls.

Salute to a Minnesota Layman

We present another report of the missionary activities of George Swanson, one of Minnesota's most active laymen. Brother Swanson is handicapped with arthritis, which is very painful, but he doesn't allow this to stop him.

Brother Swanson has been active in sending out 1,142 missionary letters to friends he has all over the area. He has given away 335 books to the most interested prospects. He has passed out 11,500 pieces of literature in literature bombs. He has traveled hundreds of miles in throwing these bombs in rural areas. He has operated a booth at eleven different county fairs, assuming the expense of travel, lodging, literature cost, booth rental, etc. (Help was given by some of the churches and individuals to bear part of the lodging expense and some booth rental expense). He traveled 3,400 miles just in the County Fair activity. Accompanying we list the responses from each of the fairs he conducted.

We urge you to pray for the efforts put forth by Brother Swanson and for encouraging results in souls won to the Truth. We also appeal to all our laymen to find some type of missionary work that appeals to you and then be as diligent at it as Brother Swanson is with his. Soon it will be time to make our business Ingathering contacts. Laymen who are acquainted with the business people need to carry the report of service to them and appeal for their continued support. More and more of our people need to become involved in these soul-winning activities.

Voice of Prophecy Offering and Sabbath School Visitor's Day October 14

Two very important events fall on Sabbath, October 14. We think it is quite appropriate that on the Sabbath when the Sabbath School Department is making a special effort to plan the most attractive Sabbath School and invite every visitor possible, they might also have an opportunity to hear and share in the blessing of the great work of the Voice of Prophecy.

That day can be the best possible time for a program that will appeal to everyone. With all the wealth of material provided to Sabbath School officers and the supplies the Voice of Prophecy have sent, it seems to us this will be a Sabbath to challenge everyone.

In addition, the Voice of Prophecy and your conference Lay Activities leaders are urging a concentrated effort in the afternoon of October 14 when the church members are to go from door to door enrolling as many as possible in the Bible Correspondence courses. We think this is a project that deserves the full support of every able-bodied adult and junior in the church. So won't you please make your plans now to respond when your leader contacts you to support this venture? As has been previously published, the Minnesota Conference membership is presently averaging less than one half enrollment per member per year. Our objective should be at least one per month. And the facts are that our literature evangelists are probably enrolling most of these in their house-to-house contacts. We feel certain our people will want to take this opportunity to change this picture to a more encouraging one. $400,000.00 is needed in the offering. More Bible Course enrollments are needed to make our offering produce more baptisms. An average of one out of eleven enrolling, results in a baptism.

NORTHERN UNION High LIGHTS!

Students Sell Books in the Northern Union So Can You!

BY J. L. DITTBERNER, President, Northern Union Conference

Eighteen student literature evangelists who worked in the Northern Union this summer will qualify for full or partial scholarships at one of our schools this fall. When a student works a certain number of hours in the colporteur work he receives a scholarship. This means that the publishing house, the conference, and the school will add a bonus to his commissions earned from sales. The purpose of this added bonus is to encourage young people to spend their summers in the literature ministry because it places gospel books in the homes of the people, affords an opportunity for many missionary contacts as well as giving a wonderful training to the students.

The student colporteurs placed over forty thousand dollars worth of our books in interested homes in the Northern Union this summer. Those who had outstanding success were Lorraine Fuller, who worked in Minnesota, with $5,524.24 in sales; Delmar Aitken, who sold $4,561.40 worth of books in North Dakota; and Glen Gessele with sales of $3,959.70, also in North Dakota. The average hourly sales for the student colporteurs was $5.15.

In addition to the far-reaching results the books will have in these homes, there was also a great deal of missionary work done by these students. Over forty-seven hundred pieces of free literature were distributed. Seven hundred seventy-eight people were enrolled in the Bible Correspondence School. Twenty-five former Seventh-day Adventist church members were contacted, and prayers were offered in more than eleven hundred homes. The student colporteurs in the Northern Union really did the work of literature evangelists. We honor them for their dedication to the Lord's work, their courage during hard days, their persistence in staying with their commitment, all of which resulted in personal success.

These students not only have the satisfaction of doing the Lord's work through the summer, but they have had an experience in public work that will develop character and personality.

There are some of us who ought to say, "If students can sell books, so can I." And you can!
