ORPHANAGE STARTER

F. J. Kinsey, Lay Activities Secretary, Iowa Conference

During the Korean war Robert Palmer, an officer in the army, helped to start the Adventist Korean Orphanage.

Homeless children were continually being found by the G. I.'s and were brought to the army camps. Their human compassion prompted them to hire native Koreans to care for these children in rented housing. It usually turned out that the native Koreans were less compassionate than the G. I.'s. (They often took the money given them and abandoned the children).

After this happened several times Mr. Palmer heard about the Seventh-day Adventist hospital. He, and others, bathed and dressed about 15 of the orphans and took them to the Adventist hospital and asked if the hospital could care for them. Mrs. Rue was the first person contacted. Her heart was touched and she agreed to accept the children even though they had no facilities or budget to care for them.

F. J. Kinsey chats with Robert Palmer

Mr. Palmer helped with money solicited from the G. I.'s and soon there were many, many homeless Korean children at the hospital.

From this beginning there are now Adventist orphanages operating in many parts of the world.

This contact with Adventist work has prompted Mr. Palmer to give liberally each year to the annual World Service Appeal. He first heard about Ingathering from carolers from the Albia church. When the carolers came by he happened to be in the shower, but his mother gave the caller a dollar. He soon emerged from the shower, asked about the caller and was shown the leaflet. He immediately noticed that it was Adventist and wanted to give more money so he started running down the street in his bathrobe to catch up with the carolers. Obviously the carolers were apprehensive about a man running down the street in a bathrobe calling to them, but they were happy to call back later and got a check for $10.

During the next caroling time the Albia carolers were looking forward to this $10 donation, but were disappointed to find that Mr. Palmer had moved to Des Moines. Elder Kinsey, the conference Lay Activities secretary, was asked to try to contact Mr. Palmer. He responded and got a $25 contribution and became a friend of Mr. Palmer. The annual gift has grown each year. One year, $50; the next, $100; last year it was $150.

These liberal offerings have been made possible because of two things:

1. The orphanage influence
2. The Albia caroling contact

Challenge

It Is Contact Time Again

During Ingathering time more missionary contacts are made than any other time of the year. In Minnesota our people will give out approximately 40,000 business leaflets and 150,000 caroling leaflets. This means there will be about 190,000 missionary contacts in the next few weeks.

We hope that over $81,000 will be brought in for the Lord's work during that time. Many people will be impressed to enroll in the Bible study guides. When every member takes part in this great evangelistic crusade, the Lord's blessings will be outstanding.

Ingathering Is Evangelism

We are prone to think of the large amount of money raised when we think of the annual Ingathering crusade. Last year the total in North America was $6,654,914.-24. We need to think more of the harvest of souls as a result of these annual crusades.

J. B. Gray

The General Conference Fall Council just voted a budget of 49 million dollars for 1970. This budget will make it possible, with God's help, for the baptism of tens of thousands of people. We must remember that Ingathering dollars substantially help to support the world mission program. Reaching our Ingathering goals helps to gather in souls!

Many churches report baptisms from Ingathering contacts. In city of Brownwood, Texas, where I pastored, a church member was making Ingathering house calls. She met a lady who said that she had once been a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Our member made other calls on this lady and before long she was attending church. Soon both she and her husband were baptised.

Make this a spiritual Ingathering crusade. All solicitors should carry an "Interest Report Pad" to keep a record of any who need either physical or spiritual help. Any needs should be carefully followed up. Business donors should be sent the Signs of the Times. There will be souls in the kingdom resulting from your faithful participation in the annual Ingathering crusade.

Ingathering — Missionary Project

The greatest missionary project of the year is the Ingathering program. As we come to this crusade this year, won't you pray that more souls will be contacted now than ever before? People are prosperous, but they are concerned about the future.

D. G. Albertsen

This can be the greatest Ingathering crusade in history if we will search for souls as well as ask for money. The Lord will indeed bless when we do our part in this great program.

Many of our people in North Dakota have adopted the objective to Raise a goal—Win a soul. If everyone in North Dakota would strive to achieve this objective, what an Ingathering of funds and of souls that would be. It would be a new day in our conference. Won't you join me in that commitment? The Lord bless you as you strive to reach that objective.

Opportunity Alert

Opportunity for doing the Lord's work knows no season to a dedicated Seventh-day Adventist. However, there are times when the precious ingredients of the gospel are dispensed with more united fervor and careful planning.

The time that we are especially concerned about at this time of the year is our great Ingathering program.

The crusade officially begins nation-wide on Sabbath, November 15, but already many of the churches and districts in the Northern Union have celebrated victory. The indications are that this year will be the best in the history of the Northern Union in terms of contacts made, interested people found and funds gathered in for the great world-wide humanitarian program of the church.

The Lay Activities leaders of the Northern Union are hoping that this year will bring a more determined effort than ever to contact every residence and business establishment. This will take careful planning and assignment; but is certainly not beyond the realm of possibility. The times in which we are living demand it.

Remember; brethren and sisters; the soul you contact may be your trophy.

Photo Contest

If you're handy with a camera, have you been shooting for your church? Have you been shooting for the North American Division Photo Contest, which closes December 31?

Someone will win the grand award of $100, or one of the other 11 cash prizes—and serve his church too! It might be you!

There are still a couple months left to shoot, and perhaps you have already taken some prize-winning photographs this year. If you do not have a copy of the rules and categories, write now to Bureau of Public Relations, General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, 6840 Eastern Avenue; N. W.; Washington; D. C. 20012.

Anyone in North America may enter the contest. Even if you don't win a prize, your picture may be just the one needed sometime to help your church tell its story, and you will receive remuneration for its use at that time.

Top pictures will be published in Tell and the Review and Herald.

Who Views Faith For Today?

Through the years some distinguished viewers have dialed Faith for Today. These have included Sevell Avery of Montgomery Ward fame who, with his wife, was a consistent viewer.

Fulton Oursler author the THE GREATEST STORY EVER TOLD and religion editor for the Reader's Digest, also watched the program and commented favorably on it.

Recently a state senator from Alabama's 16th district, Tom Radney, wrote the following letter:

"Your Bible course sounds interesting to me. I enjoy your Sunday program and would be interested in your listing me as a student in this course."

In telling the parable of the sower, Jesus indicated that gospel seed would fall everywhere. Certainly through television a wide audience is being reached. From penitentiary to state house, from private dwelling to office building, from ghetto to mansion, men and women view Faith for Today.

Have you invited your friend and neighbor to watch? On page six of the current issue of Tele-notes is a viewing schedule you can refer to so that you might be specific as you invite friends and neighbors to dial in.

A word about viewing Faith for Today and listening to the Voice of Prophecy can pay eternal dividends.

Question:

"What about formaldehyde—I've heard it is used in plastic products; in preserving milk and butter; also to embalm bodies, is this true?"

Answer:

Formaldehyde is a colorless liquid with a very pungent, irritating odor. Its most common biological use is as a tissue preservative, therefore is used in embalming fluids.

Formaldehyde is also widely used by the chemical industries in the production of dyes, glues, synthetic fabrics, mirrors, explosives, and water-proof articles. It is used in the process of tanning leather, in photography, and in hardening rubber. Thus you can see that it is a very useful chemical. You specifically asked about plastics. Yes, formaldehyde is combined with other chemicals to form many of today's plastic products. The point to bear in mind here is that while a chemical may be harmful in one form, when it has been reacted with another chemical its form can be changed, and the result may be perfectly harmless. If a plastic is used for food packaging such that it contacts the food, it must be non-toxic as required by law.

Around the turn of the century, before modern pasteurization and refrigeration were commonplace, some dairies added chemical preservatives to their milk to prolong its keeping quality. Such practices are illegal today and any dairy following such practices would have its license revoked. Today Grade A pasteurized milk from any public-sale dairy is pure milk which has only been heat-treated briefly to kill micro-organisms present. Very strict sanitary regulations are also enforced within the dairy so that the milk pasteurized is clean milk.

There is one other use of formaldehyde which might be responsible for some confusion. Periodic quality checks on the butterfat content of milk are run by milk producers. To keep the milk samples from souring between the time they are taken and when the laboratory analyses are made, preservative is sometimes used. Formaldehyde may be legally used for this purpose. Such milk, of course, is not intended or sold for drinking.

A HELICOPTER piloted by Erben G. Brown of Western Helicopters, Incorporated, Rialto, lands at the new helistop atop the north wing of Loma Linda University Hospital. Opening ceremonies for the first emergency service helistop located at an Inland Empire hospital were held Sunday (October 26).

said that the new helistop is "an important forward step. Area residents can take justifiable pride in this new tool which will so dramatically add to the emergency life saving capabilities for San Bernardino County's vast geographical area.

"In an emergency situation, such a facility will provide medical personnel with the precious extra moments that could well spell the difference between life and death," Mr. Lewis said.

The 54-foot-square helistop located atop the north wing of University Hospital was financed by the Loma Linda University Hospital Volunteer Service League (pink ladies). Construction of the helistop began last April.

An ambulance helicopter provided by Western Helicopters, Inc., of Rialto, demonstrated a landing and take-off exhibition from atop the sixth floor helistop during the ceremonies.

Our North Dakota Teachers

We're proud to have on our staff a wonderful group of dedicated teachers.

One of these is Mrs. Gertrude Kriedemann who has taught in our church school at Beach, North Dakota, a total of thirteen years.

The Dickinson Church is receiving a lot of attention these days. For many months, the church has been planning for their new building and it is now becoming reality. Carlson Construction Company is proceeding with the building and it is hoped that it will be finished shortly after the first of the year.

Ben Trout

Sister Kriedemann was born in Germany and came to our country when she was five years of age. She grew up in a rural community near Minot, North Dakota. Her teacher's training was received at Minot State College, Dickinson State College, and Union College. Besides teaching in our church school in Beach, she has twenty-one years in the public school system in North Dakota. She is married to W. J. Kriedemann, County Auditor of Golden Valley County.

The Beach community has been greatly influenced by this consecrated, dedicated teacher. Time only can tell of this teacher's influence on the lives of the boys and girls who have been in her classroom.

An Open Letter to OUTLOOK Readers

Dear Friends:

The stir of Harvest Ingathering is being felt in our churches. Some are just getting started. Others are quite actively engaged in the program. A few have actually completed their goal.

This letter is a plea to you, as officers and members, to strongly promote total church participation in this Ingathering evangelistic thrust. As a pastor, with 21 Ingathering Crusades under my belt, I can testify that it is pretty discouraging when a church sits back with a "do nothing" attitude. This attitude can cause a pastor to look longingly towards a new church, district, and conference. If every member will actively participate, the territory can be worked quite quickly and thoroughly. If just a few lend their support, it can be a long, hard, discouraging work. Every member should be willing to do something. If they cannot go out in any active way, they should be encouraged to give their goal and also help by baby sitting, working with the refreshments, letter writing, watching juniors at shopping centers, or other things that will help the program.

South Dakota raised $24,120.44 during the 1956 Crusade and $26,933.76 last year. We are happy for this advancement but I wonder if this is enough increase for a 13-year period. The conference and church goals have gone up very little. Perhaps we need to ask ourselves some questions - "Am I doing what I should in this part of the Lord's work?" "Am I doing my part to help my church cover all of its territory?" We must work towards reaching all the people in our area with the Ingathering literature and give them an opportunity to receive a blessing by giving.

I am positive that your pastor will work long and hard with the Harvest Ingathering crusade, but let none get the erroneous idea that this is just a pastor's program. Ingathering is the work of the total church. We know you will do your utmost to make it just that.

You may be interested in knowing that the General Conference Fall Council just voted a record budget, for the world work, of 49 million dollars. This money is not on hand but was voted by faith. Part of this budget will be met by the Harvest Ingathering done by members of the South Dakota Conference and the other 59 sister conferences. Last year a total of $6,654,914.24 was raised in North America. Thus you can see that the Ingathering dollar is important like the Sabbath School dollar and other mission funds. The budget cannot be met and the Lord's work will be curtailed if we do not do our honest part.

Let us never forget that Ingathering started out as an evangelistic project. Let us keep it evangelistic. Every solicitor should keep an "interest pad" with him to make note of those who should be followed up with some form of service. It would be well to send all business donors Sings of The Times this next year. There could be many opportunities to have prayer when you do find sickness or problems in the home.

An Adventist pastor in Colorado received a check from a radio station manager with the following letter: "I tremendously admire your church for its good work, and your members for their dedication. . . . Some day I want to tell the people of the 'Four Corners' of the world work you and your people do . . . without fanfare or publicity, but trying to help make our part of the world a better place. God bless all of you. . . ." You are helping to tell the people of the "Four Corners" of God's love and the soon coming of His Son, Jesus, as you participate in the Ingathering Crusade this year.

May the Lord bless every member of the South Dakota Conference as they work for "souls" during this Ingathering season.

Very sincerely yours,
JAMES B. GRAY

The Turning Point

From childhood I had attended one of the popular Sunday-keeping Christian churches in Canada, accepting their doctrines and their reasons for keeping Sunday rather than Sabbath. As time went on the messages from the desk seemed cold, empty and meaningless, and I felt less and less satisfied with the beliefs of that church. When talk began of a union or closer relations with the Roman Catholic Church, my disaffection was brought to a climax.

Eventually I stopped attending church and for various reasons my family and I moved to another community, quite a distance from where I was born and lived for 48 years. We did not take the trouble to transfer our church membership to our new location.

Although my wife and I lived a reasonably good life, religiously I felt something lacking. Many things in the Bible—such as Daniel's prophecies and the Book of Revelation—were not clear to me and I prayed for a better understanding of God's Word.

The turning point in my life came in December, 1967, when a young lady from the Lethbridge, Alberta, SDA Church called at our door during the Annual Ingathering Crusade.

The folder which she handed me offered a free Bible study guide and I sent for what turned out to be the Voice of Prophecy Faith Bible Course. After studying only a few lessons I knew what I must do. Since my job required me to work on Friday evening and occasionally on Saturday morning, it became evident that I needed to find a way of keeping the correct Sabbath, God's holy day.

I have known some Seventh-day Adventists since early childhood, but they were farmers or workers in Adventist institutions and it was no problem for them to keep the Sabbath. Soon I felt impressed to call on Pastor Mathers of the local SDA church to find out what other people in my circumstances do in regard to keeping the Sabbath. He advised me, if I felt strong enough in the faith, to make a clean break, keep the Sabbath at all cost, and God would provide.

Determined to do this, I asked my employer if a work schedule could be arranged to allow me to keep the Sabbath. "This is impossible," was his answer, so I resigned and within a short time found a job which would permit me to keep God's Sabbath.

I am happy to testify that God's Word is sure, and He does provide. On June 15, 1968, my wife, our son Wayne, and I were baptized and received into fellowship in the Lethbridge Seventh-day Adventist Church. I thank God for the young lady who did her part in the INGATHERING CRUSADE last December 1967!

INTERLAKES — The Interlakes church went over the Ingathering goal on October 20. They still have some territory to work.

YANTON — The Yanton church has been over the goal for a number of weeks.

RAPID CITY — Mrs. Betty Johnson, Dorcas leader, reports that "One of our church members is a Public Health Nurse. Through her the Dorcas has been able to make contact with families in need. Sometimes just transportation to the clinic or doctor's office is needed. But many times these contacts lead to a need for further help. One such instance was the case of an Indian family which had a handicapped child. I noticed that the child was not wearing braces and I asked just what was being done for the child. The mother said that he was not wearing braces because he needed new shoes and they cost $20.00, a sum too great for this family to pay." Mrs. Johnson made some contacts and now the child has new shoes.

The Rapid City church school had a successful Ingathering field day recently.

Leave a Worthy Impression

The challenge again this year is to find interested souls. Always remember that Ingathering means souls as well as dollars. People are the purpose of Ingathering—people here at home and people far away, people in leper colonies, in poverty, in darkness—people behind the doors on which we knock.

A Glendale, California, Adventist who had been a Jehovah's Witness, tells how glad she is that someone told her about the message and mission of Adventists. An Ingathering call made the difference between confusion and spiritual conviction for this lady.

In Canada last year while the thermometer shivered at 15 degrees below zero, a young man named

Andrew listened to a solicitor tell about the world mission need. He made his contribution, then inquired about the gospel which he was helping to speed around the world. These questions led to a pastor's visit, Bible studies, and baptism. Today Andrew is attending a Christian College.

A businessman responded to a solicitor's introduction with the snappy question, "Is this Seventh-day Adventist?" "Yes," was the immediate reply. Quietly the businessman said, "I've waited for a long time to attend your church. Would I be welcome?"

Other people are still waiting. They're waiting for you. . .

Make spiritual contact with people in their homes, leaving an impression worthy of the cause you represent. After presenting the Ingathering magazine and the report of our humanitarian work, mention that they are entitled to the free service on the back page. Carry a notebook to list the interest.

District Changes

The field is always interested in moves within the Iowa Conference and we are happy when opportunity is provided for workers to assume different and often greater responsibility. Two or three changes in district leadership have recently taken place in Iowa. The conference committee invited Russell Johnson, district pastor for the Mason City District, to assume the leadership of the Sioux City District, and Jerald Hurst of the Spencer District has been invited to Mason City. Both of these men have proved to be dedicated to the ministry and have given strong leadership in the districts where they have served. We are happy to see them assuming these new responsibilities.

Norman Jones has been called from the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference to replace Pastor Hurst. Elder Jones will not only have charge of the Spencer District; but will live at our newly-developed Forest Ridge Camp and will aid in the further development of our program there.

The conference committee also invited G. E. Volsch, pastor of the Cedar Rapids District, to join the conference staff as our Book and Bible House manager. Assistant pastor; David Job; will assume temporary leadership until a new pastor is secured for the Cedar Rapids District.

The bride was attended by her sister, Annette, as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were: a sister, Cheryl Dinesen; a sister of the groom; Shirley Parker; and the bride's cousin; Susan Dinesen. She was given in marriage by her father and mother.

The best man was a brother of the groom, Joseph, and the groomsmen were his brothers, Keith and Roger; and Ron Szaley, a friend of the groom.

Melia Dinesen, cousin of the bride, presented a flute solo, "O Perfect Love," accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Bruce Potter. The vocal soloist was Lee Nelson who sang two numbers, "Whither Thou Goest," and "If I Could Tell You." The church was filled with relatives and friends who came to witness the ceremony and attend the reception that followed in the church hospitality room.

Mr. and Mrs. James Parker left after the wedding for Collegedale, Tennessee, where they are enrolled at Southern Missionary College. The good wishes and prayers of their many friends and relatives attend them as they set up their home and erect another family altar.

Panacea For Church Financial Woes?

Mrs. Earl Bentley

A riddle: What can solve most of the local church financial problems?

Answer: The Minnesota Church Development program.

This is the story from Mrs. Earl Bentley, treasurer of the Brainerd church. She says:

1. The church school administrators like the development program because money is available at the end of the month to pay the teachers' salaries and building operating expenses.
2. The church board appreciates the plan because the steady flow of incoming funds stops the former need to juggle funds to pay current obligations.
3. The total membership appreciates the elimination of emergency offering calls from the pulpit on Sabbaths. It is much easier on the elders who have had to make the plea for funds formerly.

4. Many individuals have expressed their joy on how the Lord has blessed their faithful and consistent giving to the church.
5. And the church treasurer appreciates the worry that has rolled from her shoulders over unpaid bills. The $12,500 annual budget for the Brainerd church includes all local expenses such as, church and Sabbath School expense, church school, Dorcas, Pathfinder, MV, Lay Activities, local radio evangelism, and Maplewood Expansion.

Take the counsel of Mrs. Bentley—planning ahead coupled with every-member giving pays double dividends both to the donor and the receiver. Has your church found this joy? Think on Church Development for 1970. Ask your pastor to present it at your next church board meeting!

Maplewood Bookbindery News

Eight hours daily, five days a week, the Maplewood Academy bookbindery hums with activity. Under the direction of David Brooks, it employs an average of thirty workers. The various operations of the bindery are never idle for long. During the summer months when Maplewood's campus is generally quiet, the bindery has its busiest months of the year.

The new bindery building is greatly appreciated. It was built with efficiency in mind and has many advantages over the old bindery which was located in the basement of the administration building. The new bindery is air conditioned mak-

NORTHERN UNION High LIGHTS!

FROM EVERYWHERE TO EVERYWHERE

By J. L. DITTBERNER, President, Northern Union Conference

At the recent Autumn Council of the General Conference Committee, held in Washington, D. C., W. R. Beach, in giving his report, said, "We are now sending missionaries from everywhere to everywhere." Some years ago all the missionaries were sent from North America to the different world fields. As the work has progressed, some of the overseas divisions have grown to the place where they are now sending missionaries to other divisions. During 1960, 435 missionaries; including 25 returning nationals, were sent from North America. During the same year there were 238 sent from overseas divisions to fill other overseas needs. This is surely evidence of the Lord's blessing on His church. It also demonstrates the world mission of the church and the concern that each should have for the other.

Another demonstration of unity of purpose and action in our world movement is the practice of every division in the world field contributing to the support of each other. Every field sends a portion of its funds to the General Conference. Then, in turn, the General Conference uses these funds to assist in carrying on the work in all parts of the world, including North America.

The delegates at the recent Autumn Council were most grateful to learn that over 49 million dollars would be available from the General Conference to help carry on the world work for the coming year. You will be pleased to know that the Northern Union will receive approximately $230,000 to assist our conferences in carrying on their operating expenses. Again we see how the plan of sharing with the world unites us in purpose.

The one objective of the General Conference Committee, in its Fall Council actions and recommendations, is to fulfill the gospel commission of reaching every "nation, kindred, tongue, and people" with the good news of salvation. That is why we sponsor schools where over 383,000 students are in attendance. That is why we have hospitals, dispensaries, nurses, and doctors. That is why we sold over 39 million dollars worth of our books last year. That is why we have the Sabbath School, Lay Activities, Missionary Volunteer, and other departments of the conferences and churches. That is why we use the radio, television, and newspapers as a means of reaching people. The one purpose for all these things and for our existence as a church is to finish God's work here on earth.

One of our church members who attended this Autumn Council and saw the General Conference Committee in session said, "For me to attend the Fall Council certainly strengthened my faith in the church and in the leadership of the church. It has also given me a broader vision of our world-wide work. I am thankful that we have such dedicated men leading our work. All were so friendly, so courteous, and so kind."

May God help us all to confidently move forward with His church in its world-wide mission.

J. L. Dittberner
