SOULS THAT WIN FOR CHRIST

By W. F. STORZ

Sabbath School Secretary, Southern Asia Division

For a long time students of Lasalgaon High School had been traveling to and from school by train. The engineer, Mr. Medhe, had noticed a difference in these students, and he decided to find out what made that difference.

Church services had just finished when Mr. Medhe stopped his train at the Lasalgaon station. Promod Gaikwad, a teacher at Lasalgaon High School, was passing by when the engineer stopped him. His questions led the teacher to climb up into the engine cab, and when the train moved off, he moved with it.

Seventy-five miles farther down the line and four hours later, the teacher climbed down out of the locomotive. Echoing in his ears were the words of the engineer: "I'm convinced Christ does offer what we don't have—the way of life."

As the train pulled away Promod looked about him. He was at Igatpuri, a railway center. First order of business was to find transportation back to the school. He found transportation, but before he left he also found a number of people who asked that he bring students back each Sabbath and hold services with them! An invitation he could not refuse.

Farther north a science teacher at Spicer Memorial High School, Stanley David, determined to go to Kerala for his summer vacation. While there he conducted four meetings a week and carried on a vigorous home visitation and Bible study program. When he returned to school at the end of his vacation, he left behind him 12 newly-baptized members of the church.

During an MV camp at Panithar Garden in Tamil Nadu, students of the E. D. Thomas High School, by visiting homes in a nearby village, stirred up an interest resulting in evangelistic meetings, and one boy from the village is now a classmate of the campers.

In Roorkee, in northwest India,

Mrs. Bashir Alam conducts school in the sunshine out of doors. The unheated brick building is too cold for sitting on the floor. Forty children attend the school at Muridke where Mr. and Mrs. Alam are teachers. A church of 20 members has been organized here as the result of the efforts of Pakistan Union School students and staff.

Spicer students hold the attention of listeners with typically Indian music, but their words of gospel truth sink deeper than the melodies as they hold branch Sabbath schools. Instruments in this orchestra include the tablas (or two small drums), the thambura (a bass instrument with four strings), and the sitar (18 strings).

students and staff carried out a literature distribution and branch Sabbath school program that resulted ultimately in the opening of a new church.

Last year Christian Dera of Pakistan Union School began a steady witness for Christ that has resulted in a school with 22 children. A church is soon to be built.

At Jahmke, where for years men labored for souls with no results, a vacation Bible school was held which enrolled 40. This was followed up with a branch Sabbath school, and today the church operates a school there with 23 students enrolled. The attitude of the community has completely changed.

These are all off-campus experiences. On campus the story is much the same. An example is Vishnu, a young man, not a Christian, whose father enrolled him at Assam Training School so that he might be educated in English. During the first week of prayer the young man accepted Christ. When he returned home he was fearful as to what his welcome might be, but his fears were quickly dispelled. After the joyous reunion, his father asked him to secure an application blank so that his brother might also attend Assam Training School.

But will there be room for Vishnu's brother? Today's educational facilities are crowded. At Spicer College, for example, the men's dormitory, built to accommodate 150, now houses 350. Many of the facilities in other schools reflect the stone age rather than the 20th century. Imagine cooking for a whole school, using great black iron kettles over a fire built in an open trench in the kitchen. Imagine row upon row of students sleeping on the floor. Picture small libraries crying for books.

This is Southern Asia—moving ahead for God even under difficulties. Remember her needs on December 20.

Christian Books— The Finest Christmas Gifts

For Christmas, why not give choice Seventh-day Adventist books? They come in many sizes, prices, and kinds—even books for those who don't like to read!

How's that again? Books for people who don't read? Exactly. There's the beautiful volume My Father's World with gorgeous nature photography by Herschel Wheeler, and a minimum of reading now priced at only $2.00. There's the book Wonders of Creation, by Harold W. Clark, so popular that 16,000 copies have already been sold. This beautiful book is illustrated with numerous photographs from nature, including many color plates. And have you seen Perilous Paradise, on Adventist missions in stone-age New Guinea, with over 150 pictures, many in full color, by professional photographer Eric Were, of Australia?

The Seventh-day Adventist Commentary for anyone who doesn't already have it, is a first-class Christmas gift. Then there's the three-volume Comprehensive Index to the Writings of Ellen G. White, a gift of lifelong usefulness, bound in durable blue buckram. There's the three-volume 1844 set by Dr. Jerome Clark, telling of the social, religious, and intellectual upheavals at the time the Advent movement began. Also, have you seen the four-volume Origin and History of Seventh-day Adventists, by the late Arthur W. Spalding? It's appalling, but true, that tens of thousands of Seventh-day Adventists know almost nothing about the history of their church. Spalding's readable history would help remedy this situation.

An Ellen G. White volume or set is always a good gift. You might give a new paperback Conflict set, with its bright symbolic art so accepted by our younger Adventists.

For young people and older ones who love excitement and adventure, there are bestselling hardbacks for only $3 to $4 a copy—Alice Princess, Comes the Wirlwind, The Unlike-liest Hero, The Seventh Escape, and No Guns on Their Shoulders.

If you want an inexpensive gift in the $1.65 range, why not give a copy of a good biography like Invincible Irishman (Percy T. Magan), I Changed Gods (Marie Hirschmann), or China Doctor (Dr. Harry Miller)?

For the studious, there's the "reference series" with nine different titles in very attractive bindings. They vary in price from $2.95 to $5.95. The newest is Music and Worship by Dr. Hannum, for $3.95.

Need we add that a Bible or Church Hymnal is always an appreciated Christmas gift?

If you live near a Book and Bible House, better hurry over. If you're too far away, that's why Uncle Sam hires postmen—to speed your order to your Book and Bible House and hustle back with your books.

Union College News

Curtis Wiltse, a senior mathematics major at Union College, was recently named by Colonel Lee G.

Curtis Wiltse

Liggett, Nebraska Director of Selective Service, as a member of the Youth Advisory committee to the state Director. Wiltse is one of thirteen Nebraska college students named to the committee.

The Selective Service System is establishing Advisory Committees in each state to open up additional channels of communication between the Service and the nation's young people. The Service is anxious to hear from these students "responsible recommendations for changes in the System that will enable the agency to better meet the challenge of the ever-changing world," reports the Nebraska state headquarters. Constructive changes recommended by the advisory committees will be considered in modifying the operation of the System.

Wiltse is from Wahpeton, North Dakota. He was among those seniors chosen from Union College for inclusion in the 1969-70 Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. He was recently elected senior class president.

Two students from the Northern Union participated as speakers in the MV Week of Prayer held at Union College last week; Kathy Hanson, Iowa, and Scott LeMert, North Dakota. A relaxed atmosphere was fostered during the week to widen the channel of communication between the student speaker and the student audience, stated Bill Sabin, chairman of the MV Student Week of Prayer Committee. The speakers were not assigned topics. "They were given the freedom to say what they wanted to say," Sabin commented.

Each of the nine speakers talked to the students on a topic that was personally relevant to his own Christian experience. A Friday night candlelight communion service for the students concluded the week of spiritual emphasis.

The appearance of Miss Nebraska for 1970, Miss Jane Briggeman, on the Union College campus at a Sunday night banquet highlighted a weekend of special emphasis on healthful living. The October 31-November 2 weekend activities were sponsored by the Union College chapter of the American Temperance Society. Milo Sawvel, associate secretary for temperance of the General Conference, was guest speaker. He spoke to students at the Friday assembly and vesper services and displayed several visual aids that he uses in his promotion work such as Smoking Sam, a dummy smoking machine, and specimens of lungs damaged by cancer and emphysema.

On Saturday afternoon three new films probing the problems of alcohol, tobacco and drugs were shown and a discussion was led by Sawvel.

At the Sunday evening banquet, Miss Nebraska sang the medley that she performed at the Miss America pageant. She also talked to the students about her experiences at the pageant at which she was voted Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants. She also spoke of her faith in Christ and the gifts of happiness, peace and a zest for living that God has given her. The daughter of a Seward dairy farmer, Miss Briggeman is a senior at Concordia College in Seward, a Lutheran teachers college.

Elder Sawvel also spoke at the banquet on the theme "Happiness is . . . living healthfully." He reported on some of the better living programs he is involved in such as the Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking. These withdrawal clinics were held 704 times throughout North America in 1968. Union College is one of the SDA colleges and academies throughout the United States involved in presenting programs on tobacco, alcohol and drugs in public schools.

Elder Sawvel also reported that his department has been asked to participate in Stop Smoking Week, an anti-smoking push planned by the National Council on Cigarette Smoking and Health, a government agency, for January in the Washington, D. C. area. Twenty-two teams of doctors and ministers will hold withdrawal clinics during that week throughout the captitol city area. Columbia Union College students will participate in the temperance push by constructing displays in government buildings and giving presentations in the public schools.

According to Elder Sawvel, requests for withdrawal clinics have come to his department from Capitol Hill, the Pentagon, and prominent businesses and industries. He also reported a program under development similar to the Five Day Plan to help those who want to discontinue to use alcoholic beverages.

The Union College radio station began functioning on a carrier-current basis in 1958 under the call letters KUCV. It broadcasted for nine years as an unlicensed campus station. The station facilities were expanded to include three satellite transmitters, and in the fall of 1967 KUCV began functioning as a ten-watt FM educational station. It was officially licensed as KUCV-FM on June 4, 1968.

The KUCV studio, transmitters, and offices are located on the fifth floor of the college administration building.

The station is owned by Union College and directed by a control board headed by the Director of College Relations and composed of faculty from the speech, English, music and religion departments. The college treasurer is also treasurer of the Control Board, and the Chairman of the speech department serves as station manager. The station employs eight students to fill the jobs of program director, office secretary, record librarian, publicity secretary and student announcers. A member of the music faculty serves as music director.

The station operates at 91.3 megacycles on the FM radio dial and serves an 8-mile radius area from the college, covering most of the metropolitan and some of the rural area around Lincoln, Nebraska.

Is Your Church Identified?

Does the stranger within your city gates know the name of the Seventh-day Adventist church? Or is your church edifice hiding under a bushel of no identification?

Look at this beautiful identity mark of the Thief River Falls church. It radiates in the daylight hours and glows at night.

Maybe you would like to be responsible for lifting the bushel of "no-identity" of your church building. Suggest a sign project to your pastor. Be the first donor.

Let your church light be seen by all men!

Elder & Mrs. Leslie Cox

Through the columns of the OUTLOOK we have introduced a number of new workers who came to our field since camp meeting. It is also our pleasure to introduce Elder and Mrs. Leslie Cox coming to us from Norfolk, Nebraska, to serve as pastor of the Thief River Falls District.

Elder Cox is a man of experience

Rochester Dorcas at Work

The Rochester Dorcas society has been expanding its services since last March and has recently become one of the chief agencies in providing clothing for clients of the Olmstead County Welfare Department. One day a month needy persons receive clothing at this center.

Mrs. Keith Holley, Dorcas leader, reports 600 pieces of clothing distributed during the month of October. This is typical of the work done every month.

The items distributed come not only from Adventist church members, but from other sources as well. The Welfare department refers people who have used clothing to donate to our society. Several other churches in Rochester are supplying needed items which we have not obtained elsewhere. The clothing is prepared and organized for distribution by the members of the society.

The witness of our church has been greatly enhanced because of the activities of our Dorcas society.

Sheyenne River Academy Boys Speak Out on New Improvements in Dormitory

The new carpet makes it much warmer and more like home. It also dresses your room and makes it look more attractive. The new windows keep the cold air out and are easier to open and close.

The new doors are much easier to open and close also. They are better looking than the old ones. The new locks are much better also.

These are a few things that make a fellow appreciate his room and think of what the people had to sacrifice to make it a better dorm.

JONATHAN DAHL, Freshman
Sheyenne River Academy

The boys' dormitory has been remodeled quite a bit since last school year. I think a real tremendous job was done for the money spent. The carpeting in all the rooms and hallways really adds a lot to the appearance of the dorm. The new doors also help quite a bit. I believe that both of these together have almost improved the appearance of the dorm 100%.

Since these improvements were made, I think the guys have more respect for the dormitory and also feel more at home. I know I do.

DAVE STUART, Junior
Sheyenne River Academy

Hall view in boys' dormitory, showing new carpeting.

One of the rooms in the boys' dormitory at Sheyenne River Academy.

As I look at the dorm, I notice there have been several changes. As I look at the outside I see new windows which do a lot for the appearance. As I enter the door I see carpet in the hall. It is gold in color. I look into a room on first floor and it is carpeted in the same color. I enter a room on second floor and see that they also have a gold carpet. I go to third floor and look into a room and see a green and blue carpet in the room. I also notice that there are new solid doors on all the rooms. There are also new doors on the closets.

As I walk down to second floor, I think of all the sacrifice that it took on the people's part and it makes me appreciate it more.

KEN FLEMMER, Senior

Radio Evangelism in North Dakota

The radio program entitled "Amazing Facts" was first aired over a North Dakota station, Monday, November 10, at 5:45 p.m. Radio station KBMW will air the program daily Monday through Friday for the coming year according to present plans. Joe Crews, evangelist for the North Dakota office workers pray for the success of the new radio broadcast.

Chesapeake Conference, is the speaker, bringing God's truths for these times in a forthright and convincing manner. Used in conjunction with the Amazing Facts leaflets the program is expected to be a powerful tool in finding interests for our message.

As the first package of recordings was prepared for mailing, the available office workers gathered in a circle to pray that God's blessing would attend the recording and the message that they contain. We invite you to pray also that the message will reach hearts that are eager for truth.

More stations will be airing the program at two-week intervals until the entire conference will be potential listeners. Your prayer and financial support are solicited.

D. G. ALBERTSEN, Secretary
Radio-Television Department

Meet our North Dakota Teachers

We welcome to the North Dakota Conference Fred Holweger who is our upper-grade teacher in the Bismarck Seventh-day Adventist church school.

Fred Holweger attended a rural school.

He went to Plainview Academy in Redfield, South Dakota, and then attended Northern State College at Aberdeen, South Dakota, where he received his B.S. degree in Secondary Education. He lacks only a few hours for his degree in Elementary Education. He taught in public schools for six years. After farming for a number of years, he decided to go into teaching church school.

He comes to us after nine successful years of teaching in our Rapid City, South Dakota, church school.

CLIFF HOFFMAN, Educational Supt.

News Note

* In a report from Elder Heitzmann, the groundwork for the Five-Day Clinic, which was held November 16-20, in Moorhead, Minnesota, showed good results. The Smoker's Dial was set up and as many as 275 people called in for help. In three days, thirty left their names to be contacted for further help. Dr. Wiltse from the Wahpeton Clinic combined with Elder Heitzmann to hold this Five-Day Plan. Considerable radio and television coverage was given to the plan, with both Dr. Wiltse and Elder Heitzmann appearing on TV. This time, of course, was donated by the radio and television stations.

Health Foods at Weight-watchers Club

Members of the Jamestown, North Dakota, Weight-watchers Club are using meat substitutes to assist them in their efforts to reduce, according to John and Marilyn Amick, Book and Bible House manager and his wife. The Amicks met with the club at a regular meeting recently where samples of canned and frozen foods were displayed along with health literature, recipe books, and anti-smoking materials. Brother Amick gave a fifteen-minute talk in which he presented the health reasons for meat substitutes, the history of the industry, and advances and improvements made in recent months.

The 25 members of the club who were present were particularly interested in the cholesterol and caloric content of the foods. Several purchased some of the foods as a result of the demonstration.

The meeting resulted from a news item in the local Jamestown Sun

A Song in the Heart

"Die when I may," said Abraham Lincoln, "I want it said of me by those who knew me best, that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower where I thought the flower would grow."

Pull out the thistles and plant flowers. Take the bitter and give the sweet. The roots of bitterness that defile will spread and fill the garden of our hearts with ugly thistles of regret. But not so with flowers. They are always fragrant and beautiful. Begin planting flower seeds today, and when you plant, plant perennials. You know the kind I mean—the kind that keeps on growing and multiplies every year. We need not travel far to be kind. Perhaps in the office, our place of business, or our home, there is someone who is hungry for a word of cheer, a smile of appreciation, a kiss of love, or the kindness that speaks louder than words.

The milk of human kindness can easily curdle if we're not careful. This curdling process goes on in the heart when we fail to pass on our blessings. If we have drunk deeply of someone's kindness, let's pass it on. Let the good deed flow from the heart with the rich, creamy substance of love about it. Don't let it curdle.

Are you cherishing a noble purpose? It will evaporate if you do not crystallize it into action. Do it now. Perhaps a good thought came to you to make life more fair. Whatever you do, do not let it fall back dead. If you can't write it down, tell it to somebody. It may help him, and it will help you to remember it by telling it.

Did you ever think you were doing someone a kindness simply by smiling? A smile happens in a flash, but the memory sometimes lasts to the end of life. A smile is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and nature's best antidote for trouble. It has been said that a smile is the flag that is flown from the castle of the heart when the King is in residence there.

Does it require more physical effort to sing than to complain? Does it take more time by the clock to be cheerful than gloomy? Scientists assure us that the opposite is true—more muscles are used in frowning than in smiling, and a sour disposition sends poison into the system which tends to shorten the life of the one who looks on the gloomy side of life.

Jesus went out to desertion, to death, and to the grave. It was a dark night and a terrible—but He went out singing! He went out singing because He knew that every evil day must end, and His was going to end gloriously! It may be a dark day, it may be a day of sorrow and distress. But whatever kind of day it is, let us be of good courage. Our dear Lord had a song in His heart. Shall we say that we have less?

Smiles and cheerfulness are debts each one of us owes his fellow travelers as we journey through this rough old world. It isn't enough merely to think good of others; let's tell them so with encouraging words and kindly smiles. And if in the hurry and rush of the day you meet someone who is too weary to give you a smile, just leave yours with him. It will be well worth your while, for no one needs a smile quite so much as he who has none left to give.

MAX SINGHURST, Pastor

Trip Treasures Include Stone Like David Used

(The following news story appeared in the Aberdeen American News. I believe the OUTLOOK readers will enjoy reading about this interesting trip that James Parmele took. J. B. Gray)

"It was just too good to be true. Now it's like a dream, and I can't really believe it yet," smiles James Parmele of the trip he had to Palestine last month as a gift.

The trip gave him a new perspective, a new understanding, a new look at the land of Palestine in relation to Christianity and its place in history.

Biblical and historical accounts came alive for Elder Parmele as he "enjoyed the privilege, the real experiences" such as walking where Paul walked on the road to Damascus; eating locust pods such as those on which John the Baptist survived at Eshkalon; seeing Masada, the mountain on which Jews chose death rather than slavery under the Romans; a motor boat ride on Galilee and the thoughts that Jesus and his disciples had rowed across that great lake about 7 miles wide and 14 miles long. And he found out what a wilderness, the Wilderness of Judea, really is.

Pastor Parmele is a "rock hound," though he just collects them, and hasn't done much in the way of publishing them, as "real rock hounds" do. The rock treasures he brought back with him include a smooth stone, such as David used when he killed Goliath, a rock picked up near the spot where David stood; an agatized and partly salt covered rock from the Dead Sea; and a fossilized one from the Plains of Esdralon.

Speaking of rocks, Pastor Parmele verifies stories of the rocky land he visited. Every little plot for cultivation had to be cleared of rocks, which were used as fences on the red, red soil of that land.

An old joke about the rocks is just a story, but seems to deserve re-telling here, as it was told by his tour guide: "The Angel Gabriel was given two sacks of rocks to distribute around the world, and he spilled one whole sack on Palestine."

He was one of four ministers in the group of 15, and the four conducted services at some memorable spots along the way, the shores of Galilee, Golgatha, the Garden of the Tomb, and Rome. It was the Garden of the Tomb that Elder Parmele enjoyed leading the service.

Then when he went to his own church, the Seventh-day Adventist, on the Sabbath in Jerusalem, the church's pastor asked him to speak. That was quite an experience for the guest speaker for, as he describes it, he spoke "off the cuff" and had to pause after each sentence or two so that interpreters could interpret what he was saying. And there were 15 different languages represented.

Visits in an Arabian home, in a Kibutz (collective farm) near Masada and another near Tiberius, a walk in the field where the 5,000 were fed, and to the place where The Beatitudes were given, all added to the impact of his stay in the Holy Land.

The pastor recalls how his trip started for him, and still doesn't know how he could be so lucky:

Seven or eight months ago, he received a Holy Land tour advertisement from T. H. Lord's International, Inc., a travel agency in Indianapolis. He tossed it into the waste basket. Unbeknown to him, his wife filled out the card and mailed it in.

The city is an oriental kaleidoscope.               |

James Parmele shows some of the interesting souvenirs he picked up on his trip to the Holy Land.

Late in the afternoon on August 1, he received a telephone call from Indianapolis. When he was told he had won a free trip to the Holy Land his surprised answer was "How come?" When asked about the card, of course he hadn't heard about the fact that his wife had mailed it.

The next question was "How soon can you be ready to go?" and the elder's reply was, "Not long, if I had a passport."

The upshot of this conversation came when the man on the other end of the line said that he was sending an air mail, special delivery letter which should come the next day.

But the letter had only a box number on it so it waited in the post office until curiosity sent the Aberdeen pastor to the post office to inquire about it a couple of days later. In that letter was a receipt for the airplane tickets from New York to Rome, Israel, Greece and back. The next day, the tickets came.

Then he really got busy. An urgent call to Portland, Oregon, produced his birth certificate the next day. Passports take time to procure, so when he called Indianapolis that he just couldn't get one in time, he was advised to apply in Chicago on a short layover there.

He made his application in Chicago on August 10, and was told to come back in 10 days. However, when he explained that he couldn't wait, that his plane was to leave for New York in an hour, the tune changed and he was told to come back in 50 minutes.

He did, and with passport in hand, headed for the airport. He missed his originally planned flight, but was able to reserve a seat on an express flight soon after that - and was in New York in plenty of time to join the tour, and to have his dream of a visit to the Holy Land come true.

He was one of four ministers who were on "gift tours."

Union President— Federation Speaker

The North Central Health and Welfare Federation met recently in Tolstoy for their fall meeting. Forty five delegates from Pierre, Mobridge, Leola, Aberdeen, Bowdle and Redfield were in attendance.

Guest speaker for the meeting was J. L. Dittberner. He spoke of the growing Health and Welfare service in communities around the world provided by the nearly two million church members. We are part of this great army, dedicated to prepare people to meet Jesus.

Tom Robinson had the devotional message based on Romans 12:16. Most of our tasks are humble but our reward comes from being a help to someone, being a blessing to someone, doing something for Christ and doing His Work.

The main item of business was the election of officers for the next two years. They are as follows: President, Mrs. W. H. Hohensee, Aberdeen; Vice - president, Mrs. George Bieber, Tolstoy; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Russell Anderson, Tulare; Assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Pierre; and

Interlakes Church Hosts Southeastern Health & Welfare Federation

The Southeastern Federation of Health and Welfare services met recently at the Interlakes church in Madison with Mrs. Percy Devitt, Mitchell, presiding. J. L. Dittberner, in speaking to the group, pointed out that there is pleasure in doing good to others and that this is good for both our physical and mental health. He also stated that although many of the things we do are little things, it is the little things we do that make us men in God's sight.

Officers were elected for the next two-year period. They are Mrs. Percy Devitt, Mitchell, president; Mrs. Ralph Bidwell, Ramona, Vice-president; Mrs. Eddie Schlisner, Madison, secretary - treasurer; Mrs. Gilbert Jorgenson, Sioux Falls, associate secretary-treasurer; Mrs. William Brugman, Watertown, press secretary.

Two Baptized in Yankton Church On World Baptism Day

The Bible says "Go into all the world. . .preach the gospel. . .and baptize men." Matt. 28:19. It is not often that one gets the privilege of seeing two lovely South American ladies baptized, but such was the case if you were in the Yankton SDA church on World Baptism Day, September 27, 1969.

The two sisters, Orma Jaisingh and Diana Jaisingh, were baptized by James Gray, Lay Activities Secretary of the South Dakota Conference. Orma and Diana are working in Yankton, furthering their education, and endeavoring to secure U. S. Citizenship. The two young ladies love their Lord and will be a real asset to the Yankton Church.

MYRON JOHNSON

J. L. Dittberner was the featured guest speaker at the recent South Dakota Health and Welfare Federation meetings. Federation members greatly appreciated Elder Dittberner's practical counsel and friendly manner. The Northern Union President is pictured here concentrating on some of the good food prepared by the ladies and no doubt thinking, "How can anyone stay away from these 'Feederation meetings!'"

1969-70 INGATHERING CAMPAIGN

INGATHERING REPORT TO NOVEMBER 24, 1969

It is truly a pleasant surprise and satisfaction to see the Northern Union with over half its Ingathering objective in hand at this early date. Contacting the people when the weather is nice is so much more enjoyable than waiting to do it under blizzard conditions. The success that has attended the campaign thus far is evidence that people will respond to our annual appeal at this earlier season.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could be all finished by early December! I believe this can be done if everyone will do his part now.
