Congressman Jerry L. Pettis (R-Calif.) sends thousands of copies of Liberty to his fellow legislators—and, of course; reads each issue carefully!

THE NEW LIBERTY

"God has a Church and a message for today. He has a magazine; too. Welcome to its pages and its support," invites Editor Roland R. Hegstad.

What do you do when your magazine has to compete for attention with color TV, cinemascope, the daily newspaper and other psychologically-oriented media?

If you stand on past performance, you'll likely tote up your circulation losses at the end of the year. Competing with the best Madison Avenue and Hollywood have to offer, the religious press suffered a seven per cent decline during 1968.

"It's a real challenge to capture the attention of a basically pagan generation," admits Roland R. Hegstad, editor of Liberty, a magazine of religious freedom. "Though our circulation increased during 1969, we're not standing still. In January we're coming out with a streamlined look for the 70's.

Tapped to redesign Liberty was a bold young Adventist design artist, Mario Cortesi. Mario is a graduate of Brera Academy of Fine Art, Milan, Italy, where he specialized in graphic design. For three years he did general work and design in Europe before moving to Canada.

Revamping the Liberty look from cover to cover was a complex job. "In redesigning Liberty I kept in mind that its readers are persons of repute—statesmen, lawyers, clergy, educators," said Mario. "The treatment called for both dignity and daring—dignity because its readers generally are men of education and aesthetic value, daring because they are too busy to be attracted by the mundane."

The philosophy of daring with dignity has led to new concept on covers. What's so important about a catchy cover? It gets people into the magazine. Witness the testimony of a Kansas newspaper columnist who wrote about the July-August issue:

"Just as I was about to sail the latest copy of Liberty magazine into file 13 (Liberty is a publication sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventists), something on the cover caught my eye. Underneath a colorful portrait of an old corn-cob smoking gent wearing a colorful sports jacket, and of all things, a clerical collar, was this headline: 'Mail-Order Ministers.' . . ."

That newspaperman read the cover story and thumbed through the rest of the magazine before writing his column. Added evidence that eyecatching covers are worthwhile: More than 25 persons—mailly clergymen and lawyers—wrote asking for reprints of that photograph to frame and hang in their offices!

Liberty's commitment to Truth remains unchanged, its no-nonsense editorial policy still sticks, but the packaging is new and exciting. Don't miss it.

In 1960 Liberty reached 165,000 subscribers four times a year. In 1969 it went into 484,000 homes and offices six times. Now we're shooting for 1,000,000 subscribers. Increased circulation has real impact. Listen to what readers are writing:

"I appreciate Liberty very much, I place it in our reception room and hundreds read each issue." (That's bonus impact!)—Counselor at law, San Francisco.

"May I compliment you on Liberty's excellent content. Your magazine shows great leadership and I commend you for it."—Republican National Committeewoman for Pennsylvania.

"Liberty is most interesting and inspiring. . . . I heartily endorse its uncompromising stand on questions of church-state separation."—Doctor, Augusta, Maine.

"I am grateful for the complimentary copy of Liberty which I receive regularly, I find it most helpful personally and useful as reference."—Member of Parliament, Canada.

Liberty does more than provide interesting reading, though. It aims at changing convictions. Straight shooting pays off.

"The chairman of the city council in a Southern city said, "You can credit defeat of our proposed Sunday law to Liberty."

"A judge declares, "I never decide a case bearing on religious freedom without going to my Liberty file and reading what you have to say."

"A cabinet member of the Spanish government credited articles in Liberty, which he had translated and placed on the desk of every member of the Cortes (Parliament), with having aided passage of a religious liberty law in Spain.

We get other letters; too. Like the one from a lady who wrote that she had just been introduced to the magazine. "We have long needed a magazine of this kind, particularly in this politically-oriented age. . . . Enclosed is $1.25 for a year's subscription to this new, venturesome publication." Nobody told her Liberty is a 64-year-old grandfather

That word again is "impact." New. Increasing. But dependent on you.

Forty-Two Baptized During Faith For Today Campaign

So far 42 have been baptized in the Faith for Today Hagerstown decision series conducted by Pastor Gordon F. Dalrymple, assisted by Pastors Christy Taylor and Marc Beaven. Meetings were held in the Franklin Court Auditorium.

Excellent attendance characterized the series throughout with the number attending building toward the close of the series.

One-hundred nineteen signed decision cards for baptism during the meetings and an intensive follow-up program is now in progress. Church members and leaders cooperated to make the program one that would pay dividends in souls won.

Wonderful victories for Christ were obtained as whole families were united in Christ.

One young man, a former Roman Catholic, who was baptized along with his wife, now looks forward to attending Columbia Union College next year and preparing for an active part in the Lord's work.

Visual aids used included black-light, overhead projection and color screen slides.

Worthington Foods Featured on National TV Program

Worthington, Ohio (December 11, 1969). On December 3, Worthington

Foods had the opportunity of presenting six of its products on the "Today Show" in New York City.

Products shown before a nationwide NBC television audience of millions included Worthington's Stripples, Veja-Links, Wham, Pro-sage, and the Smoked Turkey Style and Smoked Beef Style Luncheon Slices.

The interview was only scheduled for 2 1/2 minutes. But Hugh Downs and Barbara Walters became so involved in tasting and talking about the new meatless meats that they spent eight minutes discussing the implications of vegetable protein foods.

At one point, Barbara Walters erroneously took a bite of the raw and briny soy protein fiber which had been provided. Grimacing, she quickly went off camera. But the finished food she seemed to enjoy.

Hugh Downs was eating so much Barbara finally had to stop him with "Hey, leave some for the crew, will you?"

We thought this was a nice story to tell you as our food companies move into the decade of the seventies. By 1980, it is expected this small industry will approach or exceed $2.0 billion in annual sales. Worthington Foods is honored to have pioneered in developing these important foods for mankind.

business meetings. Every one of these pre-session meetings is being planned prayerfully around revival and a finished work. Each morning the first service will be a deeply spiritual revival service with prayer band arrangements following immediately. Volunteer prayer bands among the various division delegations will be meeting all over Atlantic City. Each morning just before lunch the business meetings will be interrupted for an hour of old-fashioned Bible-in-the-hand Bible study. Prayer and the study of the Word must characterize the Session.

Fellow believers around the world, pray for this great gathering of God's people. It must be a time of deep heart searching, of true conviction and conversion. It must be the place of beginning again for many of our dear people and for all of us it must be a season of deep spiritual challenge. Pray earnestly and perseveringly for the General Conference Session.

HOTEL/MOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR THE GENERAL CONFERENCE QUADRENNIAL SESSION, JUNE 7-20, 1970

A brochure providing information and an application blank regarding hotels and motels near the Convention Hall, where the 1970 General Conference Session will be held in Atlantic City, has been prepared by the General Conference. These brochures contain a listing of locations and room rates of more than sixty hotels and motels in the immediate area, and an area map, together with an application blank.

Copies of this brochure and application blank will be available through all local conference offices and the Union Conference office on and after January 1, 1970, to all who may be interested.

Investment Offering - Highest Ever for Sioux Falls

It has indeed been a year of precious blessings for the Sioux Falls Sabbath School investors, as sung by the mixed quartette to begin the final Investment program on December 13.

"A year of precious blessings, and glorious victories won.
Of earnest work progressing, its onward course has run,
To Thee, O God, our Refuge, whose goodness crowns our days,
Within Thy earthly temple we lift our songs in praise.

Thou Master of Investment, look down from out Thy heaven,
Behold our glad returning of the increase Thou has given,
Inspire our hearts with courage, and deeper love to Thee

"May our gifts help to bring blessings, where e'er the need may be."

Our goal device this year was a figure of Jesus inside a bank teller's window - The Bank of Heaven.

Earlier in the year the congregation sang, "The Touch Of His Hand On Mine" as our slogan, "His Hand On Mine In Sixty-Nine" was introduced.

The goal - everyone working and doing it for "Love of God." We set no financial goal.

On the night of December 6 a secular program was given which was well attended and very much enjoyed by everyone. James Gray, from the conference office, graciously consented to be the master of ceremonies. A freewill offering was taken which brought $59.01 for the Investment fund. A week later the Investment program was held during Sabbath School. All the Sabbath School officers: Lloyd Weber, superintendent; Dale Woolledge, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Alpha Nash, Secretary; Mrs. Robert Picasso, assistant secretary; and Mrs. I. I. Loewen, Investment secretary, gathered around a table to have a bank directors' meeting and hear the Investment reports from the various divisions.

Mrs. Jorgenson, leader of the Cradle Roll-Kindergarten Division, reported, "We had 12 children investing in our branch bank. The amount that came in was about $102.00."

Primary Division leader, Mrs. Bagley, said, "In our bank we have 18 patrons who brought in $126.80 which averages over $7.00 per person."

Joie Picasso, leader of the Junior Division, said, "There are 19 patrons using our branch bank. We have made their deposits into a zigzag chain of dollar bills which has grown to the length of $177.00 or $9.30 per patron. The church treasurer, Maynard Pearson, sat behind a teller's window and received the offerings as they were brought forward. All faces were shining with gladness as the amount climbed to a total of $1560.00.

The projects were many and varied. One farmer, Juden Peterson, bought his own hay from the dedicated acres because up until then he had not been able to get a satisfactory price.

The most wonderful thing about the whole endeavor was the proof it gave that God hears and answers prayer. We had prayed all year that God would prosper the investments because they were done for "love to Him." He did prosper us. This is the largest amount ever given in the Sioux Falls church despite the fact that many of our members have moved away during the last year and a half. We humbly thank Him for the Investment offering.

Knoxville News

The junior and primary choir of the Knoxville Church, under the direction of Mrs. Joan Arnott, went caroling to the homes of widows, shut-ins and others on Sabbath, December 20, 1969, carrying with them not only praises of Jesus in song, but also homemade candy to share with these people.

The Knoxville Church is greatly blessed with many active children and devoted adults such as Mrs. Arnott, who spends many hours preparing group activities, thus keeping the Knoxville Church a closely growing family in a growing church!

The new church is progressing rapidly. The padded pews and carpeting are already at the church waiting to be installed. The school rooms are being sheet-rocked and tiled. The carpeting will be laid with hopes of the two classrooms being completed in January, with the transition from the old country school to the new modern one. Many will miss the dear old school and church as they carry many fond memories for all. But, in this vastly enlarging world we must grow and make room for others to join with us in preparing to meet our dear Lord. To stay selfishly in our old.

Tremendous progress has been achieved in bringing better health to millions and assuring them of longer life. Despite this progress, however, the amount of time the average American can expect to remain in a sickbed or in an institution has remained static, for this major reason: "Illness stemming mainly from cigarettes, alcohol, and a rich diet have undercut the advantage."

crowded buildings would be the same as closing the doors on others yearning to learn the truth. Surely we are doing the Lord's will as we build. Already, close to one thousand dollars of unsolicited funds have come in to the building fund from interested friends and neighbors of the community.

In January three more children will join our church school, making a total of twenty-eight students, with the promise of more the following school year.

The victory dinner for the Knoxville, Newton, Grinnel and Oskaloosa churches was held in Oskaloosa December 14, 1969, with Elder Kinsey serving a delicious meal of spaghetti and salad, and, the showing of two delightful films. Combat Medic Wins Medal Specialist Fourth Class Paul H. Lonnstrom, former student at Maplewood Academy and graduate of Loma Linda Academy, received the Army Commendation Medal in Vietnam for meritorious service as a medical aidman while serving with the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam, having arrived in Vietnam last April. He also holds the Combat Medical Badge.

Recently Lonnstrom's company moved from the jungles to the Highway 1 area, with a mission to protect the population. Several mornings later he was awakened by his captain for his normal duty day. Unknown to "Doc", as he was known to his company, he would directly affect the lives of twenty-two civilians in the next five hours.

Before he was fully awake, he heard some cry, "Medic!" A pre-dawn skirmish between a Marine patrol and Viet Cong had injured two women bystanders. The Marines had brought the women to him for help. The old woman's arm was nearly severed, and the other woman's chest was torn by shrapnel. Both women were bleeding profusely.

"Doc" began administering first aid, cleaning the wounds, stopping the bleeding, applying dressings, and bandaging and splinting the old woman's arm. The women were then taken by helicopter to a nearby hospital.

Lonnstrom started picking his way back to the CP when two ARVN's stepped in front of him pointing excitedly down the road. An accident had left a Vietnamese woman lying on the side of the road. Grabbing his bag, he rushed to help her only to find she was already dead.

After a hurried breakfast he begins his day's work treating villagers coming for morning sick call. Eighteen men, women, and children go through line with nearly as many different ailments. The treatments are varied, all are treated with a warm smile and kind words. There are even lollipops for the children. As the last lollipop disappears there is yet another request for help.

As the sun sets, Lonnstrom stretches out for a brief moment of relaxation before turning in. While the men talk of the States and girl friends, "Doc", the life saver, just smiles and enjoys his rest.

Note: Paul is the son of Frank Lonnstrom, former elder of the Virginia church. The writeup about Paul was sent to V. W. Emmerson, conference worker, by his father.

Visiting Our Church Schools

It was a crisp morning when I began my tour through northern Minnesota to visit our church schools. The schools were not aware that I was coming, therefore, the classrooms were as usual. Some were very surprised when I entered and found them rehearsing for the Christmas program, while others were putting up seasonal decoration, and still others were having their regular class schedule.

We can be proud of our schools. The Lord is still leading this church in the education of our children. Every parent should thank God for our own schools where our children can receive a Christ-centered education. If ever our young people needed to be kept from the overpowering temptations around us, it surely is now. This was and is one of the basic purposes of our school system.

Some of our schools have excellent facilities while others have a real need. Keep in mind that the core of the education offered is more important than equipment or buildings, although we must do everything possible to make Christian education attractive to our children.

When planning your gifts to the Lord for the new year, be sure to include the educational program of the church.

Plan to visit your school in the near future: Encourage the teacher with sincere words of commendation. Pray and work for the success of your school so that your children may grow up to be strong followers of the Lord Jesus.

Cleaning up after a hard day's work at Duluth.

It's Only a Boy!

What would you give in exchange for your son—a color TV? a Toronado? a trip around the world?

Boys are expensive, time-consuming, patience-taxing additions to the family, but the sacrifices they demand are trivial to what they give.

Dale Roethler, seeking guidance from teacher, Mrs. Joanne Weiss, is learning how to live at Minneapolis Junior Academy. The sacrifice of his parents for Christian tutorship is an investment in his and their happiness in the hereafter.

Give your son an opportunity for the better life! Think, talk, and promote Christian education. "Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord."

Faith For Today Offering

The annual Faith for Today offering will be received in all churches of North Dakota February 14, 1970. Only eternity will reveal the good that is being done by this great evangelistic endeavor by our church. A new contract has just been signed to continue Faith for Today over the Meyer Network in North Dakota. This includes Channel 5, Bismarck, Channel 10, Minot, and Channel 8, Williston. Unfortunately, this is not aired free. The cost for TV time for showing Faith for Today in color on Sunday morning is $90 per week. The greatest share of this cost is borne by Faith for Today. Production costs of films are high. New films are constantly being produced. We appreciate the high quality of the program and I am sure that none would want to see programs released that are inferior in quality. There is constant need for updating the various Bible courses and other equipment used by Faith for Today. Rising costs of paper, postage, and other office supplies call for added funds this year. Your support on Faith for Today offering day with a sacrificial offering is needed. Pray that the Lord will continue to bless the influence of the telecast, and pray that the Holy Spirit will impress every church member in our conference to give the largest offering ever on this important Sabbath. Faith for Today is also aired over Channel 8, Devils Lake, and Channel 11, Fargo-Grand Forks, public service time. —D. G. ALBERTSEN, Secretary Radio-TV Department

Nodak News Notes

* North Dakota Begins New Year With New President!

W. H. Elder, Jr., newly-elected president of the North Dakota Conference, spent the first weekend of the New Year with the Bismarck Church, leading out in the Church and Sabbath School Officers' Meeting. Elder and Mrs. Elder, together with their daughter, Mona, drove to Jamestown on Thursday, New Year's Day, in order to be on hand for the first Sabbath of the New Year. Even though their household effects had not yet arrived, they were willing to live out of a suitcase for several days in order to be on the job at the beginning of the New Year.

* Church and Sabbath School Officers' Meetings are being held throughout the Conference at the following dates and locations:

Bismarck, January 3
Jamestown, January 10
Dickinson, January 17
Minot, January 24
Wahpeton, January 31

These meetings are open to all members as instruction and discussions are held with all present participating, different from previous years when the various officers separated into their particular departments for separate instruction. A question and answer period proves interesting to those who are present at each location.

* WDAY, Fargo, has joined the radio stations in North Dakota airing the Amazing Facts radio program with Joe Crews, speaker. The first program was aired at 7:05 p.m., Monday, January 5, and will continue to be heard Monday through Friday at that same time. WDAY is a 5,000-watt station located at 970 kilocycles on the dial. Other stations presently airing the program in North Dakota include: KNOX, Grand Forks, 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday; KBMW, Wahpeton, 5:45 p.m., Monday through Friday; KDAK, Carrington, 7:30 a.m., Monday through Friday; and KLPM, Minot, 5:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. Joe Crews, speaker, is scheduled to be present at the North Dakota camp meeting in June to help bind off interests created by the radio broadcast.

OBITUARIES

NASH—Harry Merle Nash was born July 20, 1892, at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the son of Samuel and Addie Nash. He attended school there and married Hazel Frances Mann December 15, 1913, at Sioux Falls. The couple resided in Sioux Falls and he was employed by Sears, Roebuck and Company and in other retail stores there. He was a lifelong resident of Sioux Falls until his retirement in January 1967 when the couple moved to Wahpeton, North Dakota. Harry Nash had been raised a Seventh-day Adventist, but had drifted away from the church when young. His childhood training had stayed with him though and he was baptized on May 25, 1968, joining the Wahpeton church. He passed away on November 2, 1969, in Wahpeton. Funeral services were held on November 5 in the Wahpeton Seventh-day Adventist church with the writer officiating. Interment was in the Fairview Cemetery of Wahpeton. He is survived by his wife who resides at the Wahpeton Retirement Center; one son, Marshall, of Bellevue, Washington; and one brother, Alpha Nash, of Parker, South Dakota. He was preceded in death by six brothers.

FINAL REPORT AS OF JANUARY 12, 1970

This is our final report of another successful ingathering campaign. We are over the top in all fields and we wish to thank the lay people and their pastors together with the office personnel who helped to swell this grand total of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

Not only will the money serve to strengthen the message but the many leaflets left behind will touch hearts and help them to understand the message. May God bless each one of you in your continued service for Him.
