The Field

Harvest Ingathering Campaign in Eureka

In no church in the conference, so far as I have heard, has there been greater interest and enthusiasm in the Harvest Ingathering work than in Eureka, Humboldt County.

Brother L. L. Hutchinson and wife laid plans for the work, in which every church-member was to have part, and eight hundred papers were ordered. The city was divided into sixteen sections, and over each was placed a leader who was made responsible for the working of that section. The other workers were assigned to assist those in charge, and thus each one had a part in the service.

Wednesday, October 8, was appointed as a day when the work began. The church school was closed, and children as well as parents were given something to do. At noon all met at the home of Brother Hutchinson, where lunch was served, and prayer was offered for success during the afternoon. Those who had used all their papers were furnished with a fresh supply.

The church responded in a body to the call, and every member took hold of the work with interest and enthusiasm. There was a spirit of unity and hearty cooperation on the part of all. Some who had never engaged in the work before met with wonderful success. As the work had been so well organized, and each knew definitely where he was to labor, there was no confusion, and when the work is completed the city will have been thoroughly canvassed on every street.

An experience meeting was held in the evening, and there were no backward ones, no waiting for others to testify. The Spirit of the Lord was there, and all received showers of blessing. An earnest desire was expressed to quickly finish the work, and thus be ready to answer the next call for help.

As the result of this day's effort $64.76 was collected. The largest amount obtained by one individual was $17.20. One received $9, two $5, two $4, and others lesser amounts. The work continued after this special effort until, last week when I was in Eureka, the church had gleaned over $115. One sister who had been working in the stores and among business men had received over $30. There was a determination to continue in the work until the ground had been covered and every house canvassed. Three hundred more papers were ordered by telegram.

On Sabbath, October 25, a Harvest Ingathering service was held at the church, in which the children and older ones had a part in the program. The building had been tastefully decorated for the occasion, with evergreens, vegetables, and fruits, and brethren from surrounding churches came to join in the exercises. The program was interesting from first to last, and it was thought best to invite the people from the city and have it given the second time on Sunday evening. As we were obliged to leave before this meeting we have not heard results; but, judging from past experiences in that church, we feel sure it was a success.

God set His seal to this effort, for, on the day appointed for the Sabbath-school consecration service, there was a remarkable revival in the church, and nearly every person in the house rose to bear testimony and dedicate himself anew to the Lord or gave his heart to Him for the first time. I can not help but connect this outpouring of the Spirit with the earnest labor that preceded it; and I feel sure that like effort in any church will produce like results. It is needless to say that the brethren and sisters in Eureka are of good courage, that they are working in love and harmony, and if they continue faithful and active, we are sure others such as shall be saved will be added to their numbers.

Those who desire great blessings in their church may receive them in the same way. The Harvest Ingathering campaign has not yet ended. We may continue this work till the close of the year. Churches, companies, and isolated brethren and sisters may still work with the paper, and we believe there is nothing better to place before the people to give them the truth concerning this great movement, and the advancement of the message. I hope every church in the conference may have the same blessed experience contained in this report, and I am sure it is for all who are willing to pay the price in self-denial and labor.

Have you done your part in this campaign?

Sanitarium Sittings

The Sanitarium church pledged $280 to Pacific Union College at a recent Sabbath meeting.

Mrs. M. C. Wilcox, of Mountain View, accompanied by her daughter, Miss K. Blossom Wilcox, is at the sanitarium.

Two young men who came to the sanitarium with no knowledge of the truth we love, are now at Pacific Union College.

The senior class was tendered a reception by the senior B class on Thursday evening. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, etc.

Dr. George Thomason, accompanied by Mrs. Thomason and Mrs. Basnett, went by auto to Petaluma on Tuesday, where he delivered a temperance address to a large and enthusiastic audience.

Dr. P. S. Kellogg, who has been in the Philippine and Hawaiian Islands for many years, lectured in the sanitarium parlor on Thursday evening. His subject, "The Organ of Vision," was illustrated with drawings by Misses Vera Basnett and Chrystelle Anthony, of the training-school.

Mrs. E. N. Holser, who has been connected with the work here for several years, left us on Monday, and was married to Elder W. H. Saxby, of Los Angeles, on Wednesday, at the home of Dr. V. H. Lucas, in Pasadena. Elder and Mrs. Saxby will labor in Los Angeles and vicinity. They are spending the week at Avalon, Catalina Island. Mrs. Saxby will be greatly missed by her many sanitarium friends.

Some months ago, an elderly woman was brought to the sanitarium in a very critical condition; but the Lord blessed the efforts put forth, and she recovered. She was accompanied by her niece, the wife of one of our senators. More recently, the niece, being in need of an operation, would go nowhere else for it. She underwent the operation, which was a serious one, making an excellent recovery. The family were here for some time, and thus came in touch with the principles represented, and were favorably impressed. The senator said to Dr. Thomason, "You will have to enlarge this institution to take care of the patients we will send here."

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Sacramento H. I. C. Rally

In speaking of the Harvest Ingathering campaign, suppose we simply say H. I. C., for brevity's sake, and use the time remaining in actual service. No time was lost by the company of 115, from the Lodi Normal Institute and the Lodi church, who went from Lodi to Sacramento, Tuesday, October 28.

A chartered car on the Central California Traction line, with four autos, left early in the morning, and all were soon at work. The territory had previously been mapped out, and while speeding on the way slips were passed to each one telling where he was to labor. The autos were waiting at the station to carry all to their streets. Instructions were given for the two going down the street that only the houses facing that street were to be canvassed, as others were on the cross streets working in the same way. Each one began work at the outskirts of the city. Lunches were taken and left at the church. As all were working toward the center of the city, it was arranged for them to be on one or the other of two streets crossing each other in the center of the city sometime between 11:30 A.M. and 12:30 P.M., at which time the autos would course up and down these streets with all the speed permissible, picking up the tired warriors and bringing them to meet their baskets of provisions at Twenty-third and K streets. It was pleasing to see with what despatch this was accomplished; and in a little while the autos were repeating their journeys in getting the eager workers back again to where they stopped at noon.

If ever in my experience in connection with the Lord's work I have seen evidence of God's blessing, I saw it that day in Sacramento. I shall never forget—I never want to forget—the experiences as told by some of these workers, especially by the youth. Men and women who said they had no interest in foreign mission work were encouraged to give something. It would do you good to see the names that were handed to us of those who want to know more about present truth.

Eternity alone will reveal the good that was done. What a blessing these young men and women received! And think of what may be done for those receiving the papers!

Doubtless you are anxious to learn of the means gathered, but let me say, if it had been one thousand dollars, it would not compare with what we believe has been accomplished in the ways above stated. We had quite a few who never before in their lives had done anything in this way. All worked faithfully, some, of course, receiving very little cash, but were it possible, you could not buy their experiences. Between $160 and $170 was gathered, besides quite a little that has been promised. All were asked to take the names of those who would give one week later, and some one will call on them at that time.

We feel to thank the Lord for this wonderful means whereby all can have a part in the work. We expect to see workers developed from these efforts who will devote their whole time to the Master's service. Let us all place ourselves in the line of God's blessing.

C. L. Taggart.

Church Schools

We are glad to report the onward march of the educational work in our conference this year. There are now twenty teachers in the field and three family schools where the mothers are keeping the children up with the regular grade work. Sixteen regular schools against twelve last year, is doing quite well. There is a greater interest in school work than ever before. The last school to start is Camino. This little company has tried hard to get a school, and has labored under great difficulties, and finally has succeeded in getting one started. The teachers are all of good courage, and it speaks well for the schools when we hear in nearly every letter and on every visit to a school-room, "I have the dearest little children in the state. They are so good I can't help loving them." One teacher after the first few days writes, "I wouldn't be anything but a church school teacher." Each teacher insists she has the best school in the conference, and we agree with each one. The junior lesson programs are a great help in carrying on the missionary meetings.

Several are planning on private schools for another year, and others are trying to sell out where there is no school and move to some place where the church has school privileges. We wish to mention Woodland particularly for its enterprise in building a neat, sanitary schoolhouse, although only a few pupils were in sight. But they have an enrolment of twelve, and are doing fine work. Fallon has two small schools this year, but is planning on having one large central school next year. If there are parents in this conference who do not understand our educational system, but would like to know more about it, please write and let me help you to find what the Lord has said concerning the education of our children. One quotation from "Counsels to Teachers": "It is no longer safe to send our children to the public schools."

Alice Mina Mann,
Ed. Supt. N. Cal. Conf.

ARIZONA Conference Items

Brother Hollister reports eleven adults as having accepted all the truths of the threefold message at Flagstaff. Six of these were recently baptized.

We are expecting a much larger attendance at camp-meeting this year than last. All will please remember to bring straw ticks and plenty of bedding. The nights will be chilly at Phoenix by the middle of November.

This year we have ordered more than four times the number of the Harvest Ingathering papers that we did last year. We hope that each paper will be the means of favorably impressing some heart with the truth, as well as to help in a substantial way in sending funds to the regions beyond.

Elders I. P. Dillon and W. L. Sims report forty new Sabbath-keepers as a result of the summer tent effort in Safford. This number includes several children. We hope that with further effort in the Upper Gila Valley, where Safford is located, a strong church may be built up in that part of our conference.

The writer recently made visits to our people located in Tucson, Bisbee, Douglas, and Bernardino. Notwithstanding the fact that no conference laborer has been located in that part of our conference for a full year, yet the work is onward. Fully twenty, including children, attended the services at Warren, near Bisbee. At Bernardino the work of Sister Claunch is beginning to bear fruit. At least five persons have either taken their stand, or seem just ready to do so.

Missionary Work

Like Leaves of Autumn

"The silent messengers of truth should be scattered like the leaves of autumn." —"Gospel Workers," page 333. We all know how the leaves of the trees scatter in autumn. They fall in heaps, and blow in all directions. It seems impossible to keep them under control. So the Lord evidently wishes it to be with our tracts,—that our people shall scatter them so widely and in such large quantities that they shall be beyond the control of the enemy.

There are many ways in which this may be done. Reading racks may be placed in railway stations and other public places, and kept filled with a good assortment of tracts. This work should be attended to regularly and systematically. It has proved effective in the past in saving souls; and how many thousands have been warned by this means, only the future will reveal.

Keep a stock of tracts on live questions in a pocket or handbag. When you talk with a friend or chance acquaintance about the terrible storms, rumors of wars, political upheavals, money matters, etc., and he shows his interest in these things, hand him a tract on the subject discussed. Your conversation will have inclined him to read it.

Leave tracts on the seats in trains and street-cars, on the reading-room tables in public libraries, in railway waiting-rooms, on ferry-boat seats, and in every place where people may pick them up and read them. Do not leave so many at one time that they will be a nuisance, but place a few judiciously.

Give them to the tradesmen who call at the door. Visit hospitals, poorhouses, and similar institutions, and in a kindly way hand suitable tracts to all who will take them. If you live near a market where farmers congregate, place some tracts in the wagons and buggies. Use your ingenuity in devising ways of sowing tracts where they are likely to attract attention.

Use tact and good judgment in the selection of the tracts you use. Tracts on the second coming of Christ, the unsettled condition of affairs at the present time, and similar topics, are not likely to arouse prejudice. Use plenty of good practical tracts, such as "Justified by Faith," "Way to Christ," "Benefits of Bible Study," etc.

At all times, and in all places, manifest the spirit of Christ, and pray much over your work, and some day you will surely see fruits of your labor. Ps. 126:6: "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA What a Good Nut Roast Did

One of our enthusiastic librarians sent us this message the other day:

"I was invited to spend an afternoon last week with the ladies of the neighborhood, and to bring my favorite cooked dish for the lunch, and the recipe. Mine was a vegetarian lentil nut roast. Several ladies were much interested in it, and expressed a wish for the vegetarian cook-book. I am enclosing an order for nine copies.

"We were also requested to tell how we had spent our summer vacation. Mine was spent at the Los Angeles camp-meeting, and I gave them the story of it. One of the ladies told me she realized that hydrotherapy was the best treatment for her sick husband, and when I told her about the 'Practical Guide' she decided to obtain a copy. I am grateful for the opportunities to hold up the health message."

One of our busy medical students finds time—or makes time—for home-missionary endeavor, and recently sent us the following lines:

"About two weeks ago I visited a sick lady living some four miles out of town. We had a good Bible study, going over certain phases of the message not entirely clear to her mind, and which she desired to know thoroughly before taking her stand with us. The Lord blessed us in the study and made things very clear. This lady's physician had told her there was little hope for her recovery. But she believed the Lord would heal her. The Lord heard our prayer for this woman, and has raised her up. She is now about her work. Last week she sent in tithe money, and a request for baptism. That shows the truth is reaching the right spot."

It may be at the luncheon table with the neighbors or in the sick-room, that our opportunity will come to speak the helpful word. How fine a thing it is to be ready—"instant in season"—to speak the right message, to speak it earnestly, in love and without fear!

Openings for service are beckoning to us from every side. May none of us share in the guilt of those who "passed by on the other side." Remember to-day—"If the opportunity for great deeds should never come, the opportunity for good deeds is renewed for us day by day. The thing for us to long for is the goodness and not the glory."

Ernest Lloyd.

Book Work

Good Reports from Home Workers

Quite an army of workers for circulating the beautiful small books in various parts of our union conference has been gathered, and encouraging reports are coming in to all our field agents and tract society offices. One report shows 7 hours of work, 14 orders, value $9.75; another, 10 hours, 10 orders, value $5.75; another, 14 hours, 41 orders, value $19.75; and still another, 31 hours, 63 orders, value $45.00. "One sister who has never had any experience with these books," writes one of our canvassing agents, "took 18 orders in about 14 hours, value $11.50. She said that two persons who had heard of her work through their neighbors, stopped her on the street and asked to see the books. It is hardly necessary to say that these persons gave their order. These books are just the kind that Christian people are looking for, and we must do all in our power to get them into the homes of the people."

In the same mail with the accompanying group, showing thirteen persons from a single church ready to start out with the small books, comes the following letter from a man who has evidently heard of "Steps to Christ":

"Please send me book named 'Steps to Christ.' Send it C. O. D., or if you haven't it, tell me where I can get it."

Certainly it gives inspiration to think that every family in San Diego will doubtless have the opportunity of purchasing not only "Steps to Christ," but "Best Stories," "His Glorious Appearing," "Our Paradise Home," and the many other attractive message-filled books shown in the Home Workers' Prospectus.

Shall not every large church in our

"Practical Guide" and "Daniel and the Revelation" Canvass in Nevada

I desire to let others know how graciously the divine Master is blessing my labors. His are all the honors and exaltation. "This is the Lord's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes." When I survey it all, I can only in surprise, wonder, and amazement say, "What hath God wrought!" Last week I was favored with over $350 in orders for books, outside helps, etc., including "Ministry of Healing" (relief edition, for the Loma Linda Medical College).

On Thursday, October 23, the orders amounted to nearly $80. On Friday it was $57 by 2:00 P.M.

GROUP OF WORKERS FOR SMALL BOOKS — SAN DIEGO

union turn out such a group of workers as this for our small books during these excellent months for their sale?

Your conference canvassing agent stands ready to give every possible assistance. All of the expense in taking up the work is simply the purchase of a copy of the Home Workers' Prospectus, which carries samples of sixteen small books. Full directions for its use, how to enter the homes, and how to interest the people in these books, are furnished by your tract society.

Wherever these beautiful books are sold, there is a demand for more; prejudice is broken down, and the way opened for more missionary work and the sale of our larger works. Let the army of workers be greatly increased.

"We as a people profess to have a truth in advance of every other people on earth." But, do we live our profession? If not, why do we not? Do we not know that "the Lord designs that the presentation of this message shall be the highest, greatest work carried on in the world at this time"? "It is God's plan that human agencies shall have the high honor of acting as coworkers with Jesus Christ in the salvation of souls."

What a privilege! Let us not refuse to say, "Here am I, Lord, send me." "Use me in Your own way to help finish this work." "Those who reject the privilege of fellowship with Christ in service, reject the only training that imparts a fitness for participation with Him in His glory."

In a special sense, this fall presents opportunities for those who find it hard to leave their homes and engage in active service, to spend considerable spare time in their own neighborhood, showing the samples of our beautiful books for the children and youth. Christmas is not far away, and parents are already deciding what they shall get for their children. Visit their homes after the holidays, and notice the cheap, trashy literature, full of nonsense, that is placed in the hands of the dear children, then ask yourself the questions: "Have I done my duty? Did I do my best to help them get the best books?" Just think how many parents know nothing about our grand little books, and how thankful they would be to know about them.

Brethren and sisters, do not let this precious opportunity pass by unimproved. Secure a prospectus, and spend all the time possible for the few remaining weeks before the holidays, giving people a chance to invest in something worth while. This is a part of the last message. Let us be faithful.

"The Lord has in readiness the most precious exhibitions of His grace to strengthen and encourage the sincere, humble worker."

The book work in the conference is taking on a new aspect. Quite a number have taken up the home workers' books, and already good reports are coming in. The larger books are soon to have new representatives for them, and all together a good work in this line is expected this fall.

The missionary activities of our churches are reaching new heights along with the Ingathering work. The students at the normal this week subscribed for a club of 50 Signs weekly to be used in missionary work. Will not all our churches use a goodly number of the Signs in its new dress in their missionary operations for the next six months? Our own spiritual life will develop in proportion to the work we do for others.

It is the mission of the church to give the whole gospel to the whole world.—Missionary Review.

at the Post-office at Mountain View, California, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1913

Elder E. E. Andross and Brother J. J. Ireland have returned from the East. They are now at Laton attending the Central California camp-meeting, which began last Thursday night according to announcement.

Dr. George Thomason, of the St. Helena Sanitarium, lectured at the Pacific Press (Mountain View) assembly hall the evening of November 1. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Pacific Press Training School, it being the third of a series planned for the students and for the general public during the winter. Speaking quite in detail on the "glandular system" of the body, the doctor described the functions of the glands, particularly as they defend the body against disease. Dr. Thomason also addressed the Pacific Press family at chapel Sunday morning. His visit was a real treat.

Every believer in this great second advent movement, ought to have the new series of the Signs weekly in his home. Our leading men being the contributors, makes it of more than ordinary interest and value, not only for ourselves but for others. In a special way we can, through it, keep in close touch with the movement, and bring it to the attention of our friends. Not one single copy ought to be left lying around idle. As soon as it is read, it should be passed on to some one else. Two or three copies ought to come to your home for this very purpose. One copy will cost you 90 cents for six months, and five copies will cost you only $3.00. Every member ought to have five copies for his neighbors.

According to the last report from the General Conference, dated October 24, the conferences in the Pacific Union had ordered 74,670 copies of the Harvest Gathering Review. The distribution of these among the conferences, with comparisons for 1912 and 1911, is as follows:

	1913	1912	1911
Arizona	4,605	1,185	2,053
California	19,695	15,022	22,298
California-Nevada	11,870	8,485	8,031
Central California	5,195	6,925	6,890
S. California	29,525	32,215	27,320
Utah	3,780	1,515	1,070
Total	74,670	65,347	67,662

It will be encouraging to know that this union conference leads in the number of papers ordered. Let us see that every copy is well used.

The articles in the December Signs Magazine are right to the point, and apply conditions in an interesting way. Some of them are:

Overmastering Greed,
The Love of Money,
Heaped Up Wealth for the Last Days,
"Ye Have Lived in Pleasure,"
Lovers of Pleasure or Stewards of God,
Greed and the Railroads,
Behold the Bridegroom!
What Is the Soul?
The Reign of Law,
The Christ Likeness in the Heart,
Creation or Evolution,
Current Topics—A good list of pertinent subjects in seasonable setting.

Your tract society will send you five of them for only 25 cents; ten for 50 cents. Can you not use five or ten copies of this timely number?

The fall council of the General and North American Division Conference committees began its work October 12 with nearly all of the members of these committees, that are resident in North America, present. Elder Conradi represented the European work. Many important questions concerning the advancement of the work both at home and abroad were under consideration. From the report of the treasurer of the General Conference, it was shown that the demand for funds for the carrying forward of our general work will call for a donation from our churches throughout the country this year of $500,000, besides that which will be required in other lines. We are pleased to report that our Sabbath-schools are doing a splendid work in contributing funds for the mission fields. The indications are that these Sabbath-to-Sabbath donations will amount to at least $225,000 for the present year. This is a most encouraging prospect. We trust that there will be no falling off in this strong interest that our Sabbath-schools are manifesting in the mission work. The balance of the sum required will come from the general donations that are made from time to time by our people. The twenty-cent-a-week fund, of which all of our Sabbath-school and general donations are a part, must be constantly kept in mind by all our people if we see accomplished by it all that we expect. With each and every church contributing not less than the quota required of it, there will be no question as to the final outcome. The onward progress of our work is most encouraging, and the completion of the work of carrying to the nations this gospel of the kingdom is the most important task ever committed to man. At the last session of the General Conference, the North American Division Conference was organized with meetings quadrennially, beginning 1915. It will be of interest to our readers to know that at this council of the North American Division Conference, it was voted unanimously that this first meeting should be held in Los Angeles in October, 1915. This meeting will be attended not only by the regular delegates from the conferences in North America, but by many of our people within the state of California.
