RATU MELI SAILS FOR FIJI

Again we present to our readers the picture of Ratu Meli Salabogi, our Fijian friend, whom the most of our people have met and heard speak at one of our camp meetings or in one of our churches. His pleasant congenial attitude has won many friends, and especially was he a favorite among the children, being often found with a group of them around him.

This dark-skinned brother of ours, though in a strange land with customs strange to him, came into contact, through his interpreter, Elder J. E. Fulton, with large numbers of people not of our faith. He spoke to clubs and various organizations; in public schools and on railroad trains as he was traveling around, and in this way bore a living testimony as to what is being accomplished, under God, by those who have dedicated their lives to foreign missions.

After Ratu Meli had spoken in one of our institutions, a lady, a patient, the wife of a prominent business man in San Francisco, sought an interview with Elder Fulton. She expressed her appreciation for having had the opportunity and privilege of hearing the "Chief" and told what a different impression she now had of mission work. She stated that she had never opposed such work, but had had no particular interest in it, but his talk had given her a vision of its possibilities. Further, she stated that her husband is a member of a business men's club in San Francisco and if Ratu Meli could only speak to that and similar organizations, thus coming into touch with men of influence and means; giving them the opportunity of knowing what is being accomplished through foreign missions work, they would be willing to contribute liberally toward work of that nature.

Ratu Meli sailed for his home, from San Francisco, Tuesday, September 21, on the Steamship "Ventura". A number of our people were at the pier when he sailed. As the ship was cut loose and slipped away, someone started singing that good old song, "God be with you till we meet again." The Chief, who was standing on the deck with his handkerchief in his hand waving farewell and drying the tears that trickled down his cheeks, joined. Let us remember Ratu Meli before the throne of grace, that God will give him a safe journey. He is scheduled to sail for Suva, Fiji, October 7.

ANOTHER HARVEST INGATHERING SERMONETTE

Nobody would ever think a Christian could be so proud that he would not do anything for Christ who did so much for Him, but it is so. Why the Harvest Ingathering just keeps thousands back from doing more because—well; some one might see them. Their neighbors might actually see them asking for money with which to run God's business. How awful! And yet that is just how they reason. "I just wonder what my neighbors would think of me if I did it." "Suppose my husband would see me." "It hurts my pride to have to ask folks for money." Yes, these are the excuses, and there are many more of them. I wonder if these people ever thought about God seeing them not doing His work! Wouldn't it be better to have the angels see us doing work for the Master than to neglect it because of what our friends and neighbors may say?

And besides, it will do us good if we torture our pride a little. After awhile we will not have that kind of pride and it will be a blessed good thing. When James Calvert went into Fiji, the captain of the vessel upon which he went said he was risking the lives of himself and the whole party and they would be killed. He replied, "We died before we came here," and that is just how it must be with the Harvest Ingathering. We must die to self before we enter it. Then you will experience a real love for it and a keen enjoyment while participating in the campaign.

MORE "SIGNS" MORE SOULS

Is a familiar expression. It is still a fact that the "Signs" continues to win souls. One of our colporteurs in Mississippi found a man who had been taking the "Signs" for fifteen years and the good colporteur learned that this man was fully established in the Sabbath and that he was living up to all the light he had received by reading the "Signs."

If we are watching for souls in our Harvest Ingathering work, we will find those who are hungry for the real bread of life. We should not feel that our duty is done after we have left our Harvest Ingathering magazine with them and received their offering. The name and addresses of such persons should be written in a little book and we should continue to supply them with food for their hungry souls. We can highly recommend the "Signs" for this purpose. Week by week this pioneer missionary periodical is full of the message for this time.

The "Signs" is a splendid periodical to follow up the interest created through the Harvest Ingathering magazine. Many of our people are today sending the "Signs" to such persons all the year round and they find that it helps them in their Harvest Ingathering work. After these persons have been reading this good paper for a year, they will give dollars instead of quarters when we come to them. Try this plan and you will find that it works, and you will see souls saved in addition to the means you have received from these people for the cause of God. David Voth.

PICTURE ROLL WORK

Are YOU sending Picture Rolls to the mission fields? If so, "Take a Hint!" The following interesting story by Miss Rosa N. Kozel, the Sabbath school secretary for the Chicago Conference, may easily be duplicated in your experience. If you are not sending a Picture Roll to the mission fields, and your school has one to send, then "A word to the wise is sufficient."

"I spent part of an evening recently looking at a most interesting set of kodak pictures from Kamagambo Mission, Kisumu, Kenya Colony, British East Africa. Here are pictures of Brother and Sister E. R. Warland and family, of the large mission school, baptismal classes, the class of native evangelists, pictures of outschools, of prize winning classes, one of Elder

L. H. Christian preaching under a big tree, and many other pictures of mission life.

"The young woman who now owns these pictures has been sending the Picture Rolls to Elder Warland for four years. Besides sending the Rolls she has sent long newsy letters, interesting clippings, and many simple garments fashioned by the hands of a frail mother who cannot get out to do much missionary work, but who loves to sit and sew and think meanwhile of the black boys and girls with whose faces she has become familiar through kodak pictures. The money for the muslins and gingham was obtained from the sale of old papers and rags. One of the pictures shows a group of natives wearing these garments. One picture is called the Gendia printing house and consists of a small press in the corner of a room. We have a second reader here which was printed on the press.

"The missionaries have also sent specimens of native handwork in the shape of two beautiful trays. The life and interests of the sender of the Rolls has been greatly broadened and joy and cheer have come to the hearts of the faithful missionaries and their converts through this simple, kind-hearted ministry.

"Have you been asked to look after the sending of Picture Rolls to a mission station? 'Go and do thou likewise.'"

SYSTEM IN MISSIONARY WORK

Two contrasting letters, which represent many that come to "Present Truth," were recently received in the same mail. One was from a brother who assures "Present Truth" that he has put out thousands of copies of this paper in a large area his business requires him to cover once a year; that he had literally sown them in some places and had not heard of one person becoming interested as the result of the papers he had put out.

The other is from a brother who is an artist; and, being unable to work full time in his studio, spends his forenoons systematically circulating "Present Truth" and delivering Crisis books to such as he finds interested and prepared for further study on certain subjects. His further plan is to get the readers of the small books on the "Signs" subscription list; and, finally to provide them with our large books. He has a good interest in the community where he is day by day systematically placing this literature; and in addition, he has two adults who have accepted the truth as the result of his personal work during the past year.

The suggestion apparent in these two letters should be sufficient to encourage all to try the systematic method of missionary work rather than to continue spending money and time in the miscellaneous method without results.

D. W. Reavis.

A FOURFOLD BLESSING IN THE MASTER'S WORK

For the last week or more I have been in the Harvest Ingathering work, and the good Lord does bless. It is certainly cheering to see how the people will give of their means for the Lord's work in the earth, when they are approached and solicited in the proper spirit.

I am not through with this work yet. I would not miss the rich experiences for anything. The peace of Christ is our blessed lot, the angels of God are our companions, heaven's light illuminates our pathway. Who would not have a part in it?

Move out in strong faith, buckle on the armor, dear hesitating ones, and good will come to you, to say nothing of the good you will bring to others. What good Christian visits one can have with the people, and what a fine list of names you can secure to be used in future missionary work. Dear workers, move out, just launch forth. Souls won for Christ's kingdom will be your great reward. Walter Harper.

"Hope always helps."

"DON'T PREACH TO A SABBATH SCHOOL CLASS"

How practical this suggestion is! And how much all religious teachers need to learn and follow it!

The suggestion together with the reasons for it, is contained in a chapter of that most helpful little 50-cent book, "Learning to Teach from the Master Teacher."

If you are not studying this book this year along with thousands of Sabbath school workers who are taking the Training Course provided by the Sabbath School Department, you are missing a real mental and spiritual treat. "The Devotional Life of the Sunday School Teacher" is the companion volume, also costing but 50 cents. Your Book and Bible House will be glad to fill your order.

WORK FOR MISSIONARY VOLUNTEERS

The forthputting spirit of our youth may find ample room for expression through the many activities provided for in the missionary volunteer society. Here is opportunity to put to use every talent with the end in view that the gospel story be made known in all the world. Scores of missionaries sailing for foreign shores testify that the missionary volunteer society kindled and kept alive the missionary fires in their hearts.

New emphasis will be given to the very definite work the Lord has called the youth to do as we put into effect the resolution passed in our department council at the recent General Conference:

"Resolved, That special efforts be made to organize bands for definite soul-winning endeavor in all our missionary volunteer societies, and that we encourage our ministers, Bible workers, and church officers to join with us in teaching the youth how to win souls."

This will require very earnest effort on the part of all workers who visit the churches. But what greater work can anyone expect to accomplish than to teach the youth how to labor for souls. Only the cooperation of all the workers will make it possible to put into effect this resolution.

The youth are not to neglect the work of soul-saving. They are to be the last ones to fall short of direct soul-saving work.

"Even though pastors, evangelists, and teachers should neglect the seeking of the lost, let not the children and youth neglect to be doers of the Word. . . . Let young men and women and children go to work in the name of Jesus. . . . Under the moving of the Spirit of God you may form plans and develop methods by which you may work in earnest and for certain results." —"Youth's Instructor," Aug. 9, 1894.

In this way the youth will find their preparation for wider fields of service.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE CAMPUS NOTES

Mrs. Guy Dail, wife of Elder Dail, left Pacific Union College last week to join her husband in Riga, Latvia.

The College Press now owns a Miehle two-revolution cylinder press which will enable the boys to turn out work at the rate of 2,500 impressions an hour.

To see the sunrise from Three Peaks was the privilege of Glen Martin, Graham Howard, Vernon Zachrisson, Bill Traeger, and Howard Smith.

Elder J. W. Westphal left Howell Mountain for South America last Sunday. Mrs. Westphal will join him at the close of the school year, and after completing their education, Olive, Herbert and Chester will follow.

Nearly 100 teachers and students are practicing Handel's "Messiah" for a rendition under Professor Greer at the close of the school year. The Glee Club and the Lyric Club are practicing faithfully.

The new two-ton capacity refrigeration plant recently completed and installed near the kitchen is being operated to the satisfaction of the college family. The machine, which is run by electric power, will freeze 600 pounds of ice a day.

"It is the duty of every woman," said Dr. Mary McReynolds to the girls of South Hall recently, "to cultivate a symmetrical, well-poised physique, and it is the privilege of every woman to have it said of her, as it was said of the mother of the Hebrew nation, that 'she was fair to look upon.'" Work of the physical education class will aim to correct such defects as incompetent heart action, spinal curvatures, and the like. Physical examination of all students is being completed early in the semester.

Visitors on the campus are noticing a score or more of botanical signs naming the trees and shrubs native to the grounds. Thus, Professor Clark is interesting many in nature study.

Over 350 students have matriculated at Pacific Union College for the fall semester. They come from sixteen states and twelve foreign countries. California leads with 300 students.

Scholarships were won during the summer by Thelma Cooley, Herbert Westphal, Albert J. Werner, Sabro Hara, and A. E. Barnes, all members of last year's Gospel Salesmanship class. By selling over $5,000 worth of denominational literature these students proved the practical value of the course.

Byron Ellis was elected president of the Student Publishing Association at a recent meeting. This association publishes the Campus Chronicle. Alberta Jones, Esther Sless, Howard Smith, E. H. Emmerson, Harold House, Edna Edeburn, William Nethery, and Graham Howard, members of the news writing class, assist L. E. Wright as editor.

At the Ministerial Association held Sabbath afternoon, September 18, the following officers were elected: President, Earl Osmunson; Vice President, Will Bishop; Secretary, Marvin Loewen; Ass't Secretary, Ross Morris; Precentor, Norman Abbott; Parliamentarian and Organist, Delmar Brown. Wallace Christensen and Robert Radke were elected to serve on the executive committee. It is through the Ministerial Association under the direction of the Bible Department that about fifteen churches in the vicinity of the college are served on the Sabbath.

FIFTY-FOUR

Four and a half dozen; over half a hundred; more than the entire California Conference force of laborers, and all preparing to become strong men and women in the work of helping the needy of earth. Who are these fifty-four? They are the academic students of the Humboldt Academy at the opening of school this year—1926. A happier company of students it would be hard to find. True, the buildings are not wholly finished and the sound of saw and hammer can be heard on the campus, but the students are all housed and comfortable. The largely increased enrollment has taxed the accommodations, but more room is being planned.

A stronger faculty could hardly be gotten together, made up as it is of eleven full and part-time teachers whose hearts are aglow with the spirit of Christian education, and enthused with the courage, perseverance, and determination of the Humboldt people.

The Humboldt Academy board is made up of men and women who have a vision of heavenly origin concerning the salvation of the youth and of the possibilities bound up in them. This combination of fifty-four students, eleven teachers, and strong, vision-filled board, together with surroundings conducive to the development of Christian character, makes Humboldt Academy an ideal place, indeed, for our young people. God has certainly shown His approval of the efforts already put forth to make this school what He has said a school should be. The great mills near by offer work to our older students, that of handling lumber, for which they pay good wages, and the hours at the school are arranged so that time enough can be put in by faithful young men to earn the larger part of their expenses in the school.

Young people who need a Christian education, the doors of Humboldt Academy are open to you. The faculty, students, board, and constituency of the four northern counties invite you. Earnestly consider the matter and avail yourselves of the advantages offered you by this fine growing school.

HEALDSBURG CHURCH SCHOOL

As our church is small, our school board is acting as student ingathering committee. I think almost every child in the church will be in church school this year and several children from outside families are also coming.

Since camp meeting things seem to have taken a change and look very hopeful for the coming year. Quite a number of people have already paid their pledges and tuition money for the first school month and some for several months.

The people seem to like the business plan on which we are working this year and they are taking hold very nicely.

Last Sabbath we made our first call for money for our equipment fund and raised over $100 in about fifteen minutes so it is evident the people are beginning to get the church school spirit.

CONFERENCE ITEMS

Brother E. C. Peifer says, "We had a fine time in Oakdale in the Harvest Ingathering work. In a few hours we gathered over $75. Leadership and consecrated cooperation will do the work."

Our conference treasurer, Brother William Voth, is setting us a good example in the Harvest Ingathering work. He has already solicited $25.00, and more is expected.

The tent in Sacramento has been taken down because of cold evenings, but Elder J. G. White plans to continue the interest in our church there. A number of families are interested, and he hopes for good results.

Elder Adolph Johnson took his tent audience on a trip around the world in the interests of missions. He threw pictures on the screen showing a large number of headquarters of our work in foreign fields. He then took up a good donation for the missions.

Brother O. B. Stevens was with the Modesto church September 19 in the interests of Harvest Ingathering. They had a field day with the church school, and gathered in $25.70. Fine! We will expect to hear from more of our schools. The prospects look good in the church for the Harvest Ingathering.

Elder A. J. Osborne writes from Yuba City saying, "This little church is getting along very well with the Harvest Ingathering. We are trying to help them reach their goal." That is fine. We hope every church will reach its goal. Send in your reports.

Elder W. M. Adams spoke in the Grass Valley church Sabbath, the 18th. The members there are of good courage, and plan to do their part in the Harvest Ingathering work. Elder Adams left last Sunday for Battle Creek, Michigan, to attend the Fall Council. Let us remember this council in our prayers.

Elder M. J. King is also in the harness. He writes, "The church here in Orland has started to work, and I had a good meeting with the church in Redding last Sabbath. I plan to work with the Corning people this week, and the next Sabbath I will meet with the Red Bluff church." That is activity in the right direction.

LODI ACADEMY AND NORMAL

The first vesper service of the year was a good one. The students joined heartily in a song service. There was also the inspiration of a room filled almost to the limit with students, young friends from the Lodi churches, and a few parents. Miss Havestead feelingly sang a song entitled, "I'm sure I shall not pass again this way." Its solemn message set all thinking seriously.

The chairman of the academy board, Elder W. M. Adams, introduced the study of the evening by the use of Rom. 12:2, 3. With an earnest appeal to draw in their minds and think seriously of the year before us, he called upon all to lay a foundation in Christ for the life to come. "Let Christ set your standard for this year's work," he urged. "There is help in heaven for all, help to overcome all the defects of character."

He showed that God knows all about each one of us—where we were born, where we live, even to the street and number of the house. He notes our dress, our manner of dressing our hair, our words, our conduct; and he considers all these things, "for the ways of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and He pondereth all his goings." Prov. 5:21. Knowing these things about us, He gives the loving invitation, "My son, give Me thine heart, and let thine eyes observe My ways." Prov. 23:26.

Teachers, students, and friends, at the invitation of Elder Adams, stood together to pledge themselves to the true and full service of the Master during the year to come.

The students of the normal department now number 34, and still more are coming. It is a busy corner of the campus, and a happy one. With the encouragement and financial help of the conferences, which liberally assist teachers who give promise of making successful instructors in our church schools, the prospect is good for a supply of teachers with full normal training. The Lodi Normal will do its share.

Professor C. A. Russell, of the Educational Department of the General Conference, was with the school for the first vesper service, and with the English church for the morning service on Sabbath. He gave an inspiring sermon.

On Sabbath Brother J. F. Beatty, the business manager, took to his bed with an attack of the flu. By the middle of this week, he was well on toward recovery, though the doctor holds him at home still. The opening days of the school session brought many extra tasks that made the work heavy. Mr. Cople is staying by the office work in a strong way.

With an increasing number of pupils in grades seven and eight of the church school, the work has proved too heavy for one teacher. Mr. Matt Griffeath has been called in to take the seventh grade, thus relieving Miss Hughes. The boys and girls, as well as the other teachers, welcome Mr. Griffeath as he comes to their aid.

Parents of young people of academic age, can you not see the way clear to send your young people to Lodi even yet? It is not too late for them to take up the year's work, though it will soon be. It will also soon be too late to give your boys and girls a Christian education—they may not care to attend a Christian school, and time can not last long. Shall we go only part way with our youth, and let them serve the world at last? Or shall we actually give them to the Lord, and train them for Him and His service?

The Faculty Reception was given at the usual time, and in the usual place, the dining room, which was attractively arranged and decorated for the occasion. All the students were tagged with their own names as they entered the room. This helped to keep the new names in mind, and added to the pleasure of the occasion. Mr. Christiansen and Miss Voht played piano selections, and Miss Havestead and the girls' quartette sang. Professor Wolfkill welcomed the students in behalf of the faculty. Mr. Harold Mauk spoke for the student body of former years, and Mr. Elmer Spier responded for the students entering for the first time. Miss Bernice Webber gave a reading that was well received by all. Elder Peterson, the pastor of the Lodi English church, also welcomed the students to the benefits and the service of the church.

NEWS ITEMS

The Harvest Ingathering is being taken hold of very enthusiastically this year. We are praying that the Arizona Conference will more than reach its goal.

Elder C. S. Prout, the newly elected Arizona Conference President, arrived safely with his family. We all welcome them to this new field of labor, believing that they will receive the full cooperation of the entire constituency. Mrs. Prout will carry the Sabbath school and Educational departments.

Elder Prout reports that on his way over to this field he stopped over one night and a day with the Yuma church. We have a school started there with Miss Mavis Gross as teacher. A number of children from parents outside of the church membership are attending.

The Arizona Academy and Spanish-American Training school opened last week with happy prospects of a successful school year. The principal for both schools, Professor C. E. Kellogg, reports 26 enrolled in the Academy, 81 in the grades, and a growing attendance in the Spanish school.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Action in the Harvest Ingathering campaign is in evidence from one end of our field to the other. We are cheered to learn of members taking a part in this work this year who have never gone out before, and good results follow.

Elder C. C. Ellis and family and Brother and Sister Robinson of Hanford called at the office Tuesday, to secure school supplies for the Armona Union School.

Other callers at the office last week included Brother W. F. Rudy, who now lives on his mountain ranch near Miramonte, Brother F. P. Cady of Madera, and Sisters Couch and Blackburn of Madera.

Elder E. L. Neff left Tuesday evening, the 21st, for Battle Creek, Michigan, to attend the Fall Council. The budgets for the mission fields will be fixed at this council, and the prayers of our people are solicited for the wisdom of God to direct in the deliberations.

A letter was received at the office last week enclosing tithe and offerings from a brother not yet a member of our faith with the notation attached, "I suppose you folks are encouraged when people who do not belong to the denomination send tithes and offerings, but it is God's Spirit in my heart that causes me to want to help." Is it not God's Spirit in the heart that causes members to want to help, and is it not lack of His Spirit in the heart that causes members to refuse to help?

The shelves of our school book department are beginning to look quite barren and forsaken, following the rush of the opening of our schools. School books cannot be carried over from year to year as other Bible House stock, and for this reason, we request our schools to anticipate your needs as far ahead of time as consistent, as we do not plan to carry a surplus stock of school books for the remainder of the school year. Orders will be placed with the publishers promptly upon receipt of order from patrons and teachers.

We are now booking orders for the new 1927 Home Missionary Calendars. We expect our supply to reach us within the next two weeks. These calendars have the Morning Watch text on them and are the nicest that have ever been issued. Will suggest that you place your order at once, as our stock was exhausted last year long before the close of the year and no more calendars could be secured.

Plans are being laid for a series of Sabbath school conventions, beginning October 1 and 2. The first one is to be held at Bakersfield, the Taft Sabbath school meeting with the Bakersfield school. It is hoped that the Sabbath schools will awaken to their responsibilities and possibilities. The plan is to hold the first meeting Friday evening and a series of meetings on Sabbath. A call is made that all our Sabbath schools pray that God will bless the conventions in a marked way and teach His lessons.

Elder Voth, our Union Conference Home Missionary Secretary, joined Elder Huenergardt in the Ingathering work Thursday, September 23. He plans to spend eight days in our field. Thursday, Friday and Sabbath, September 23, 24, 25, were spent in the Porterville and Visalia districts, and appointments are made for a meeting with the Rolinda church, the Fresno German church, and two field days with the Fresno English church.

FRESNO ACADEMY

A school bus has been recently purchased, gathering some twenty-five students from the Biola and Rolinda districts.

Our school enrollment has continued to increase since the opening day, at present we have fifty-four in the academy and over ninety in the grades.

The domestic science room has been remodeled into a cafeteria and here the domestic science students, under Mrs. Beatrice Calkins, are receiving practical experience.

A reception was held at Fresno Academy Saturday evening, September 18. A large number of patrons of the school and students gathered on the lawn to meet the new members of the faculty and to renew old acquaintances. The program consisted of the following numbers: piano solo by Hattie Clark; prayer by Elder G. A. Wheeler; a talk by Professor Robert Kitto, welcoming the friends and patrons of Fresno Academy. Lenora Allen, a senior, spoke for the student body. Brother G. H. Carlsen representing the school board, gave a talk. A vocal solo was rendered by Elder E. E. Farnsworth. Our program closed with a reading by Miss Bertha Lofstad.

OCTOBER TWO TO NINE

The General Conference has suggested October 2-9 as Harvest Ingathering consecration week. To what more worthy object could a week be set apart than that of raising funds to help meet the urgent demands of the mission fields?

Surely all will readily respond to this, and the Sabbath service, October 2, will be an hour of prayer and dedication to this work. Let those who have been out tell what God has done for and through them. Ascertain how much remains to be raised in order for the church to reach its goal. Then let one and all rally for a supreme effort that the following Sabbath may be a day of rejoicing for victory won.

This applies to the isolated believer, also. You cannot have the inspiration of the Sabbath service, but let the saving of precious souls be your inspiration. At the close of the week report the results of your endeavor to the Nevada Conference office, Box 785, Reno, Nev., that the conference church of which you are a member may have the joy of reaching its goal.

Consecration is more than an emotion. "Consecration is the constant recognition of the fact that I am wholly the Lord's." Let consecration be an active reality in every life, October 2-9.

J. H. McEachern.

NEWS NOTES

Remember Harvest Ingathering consecration week, October 2-9.

At the last report, Fallon had reached the $83.00 mark. Their latest plan is to take Virginia City. Fallon will never give up till she goes over the top.

Mrs. Edith Stowell, in addition to her heavy duties at the conference office, has already raised over $60.00 in Harvest Ingathering.

The little company at Lone Pine is the first to reach the Harvest Ingathering goal. They have no thought of stopping till every home in their territory has received a Harvest Ingathering paper and had an opportunity to contribute to missions.

LA SIERRA ACADEMY AND NORMAL

Elder R. F. Cottrell was a welcome visitor in chapel Monday.

The present enrollment stands at 191 and bids fair to soon pass the 200 mark.

Friday evening found the students and friends gathered together to open the first vesper service of the school year. Professor Palmer brought out many helpful thoughts on the text, "And who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?"

Twelve students are coming to La Sierra from Loma Linda. They are coming via private cars until a bus can be provided for their transportation.

At the church service last Sabbath, September 18, Elder Young spoke to a large audience. He told us that the Christian pathway should be labeled with the cross of Christ and that we should allow no other label to misdirect us.

The ladies of the church are gathering up all the clothing possible to send to Brother and Sister Guy Kaufman, who are working among the Indians in New Mexico. Brother and Sister Kaufman were connected with La Sierra last year and we feel a personal interest in the good work that they are doing.

On Sunday, September 19, the South-eastern California Conference committee met at the Academy to consider the business matters of the conference. The following day the La Sierra Board met to lay plans for increasing the efficiency of the school work. Those present during the two days were Elders P. E. Brodersen, R. D. Quinn, J. A. Burden, L. A. Wilcox, H. C. Lacey, W. H. Bradley, H. D. Casebeer, Dr. F. F. Abbott, Professors W. W. Ruble, H. G. Lucas, Brethren B. M. Emerson, H. B. Thomas, S. Donaldson, H. V. Hofgaard.

If you could have looked into the dining room Saturday night, you would have seen a happy group of students and friends gathered for the opening reception. After words of welcome, Miss Frances Brown rendered a piano solo. The new students received a hearty welcome given by Winston Nethery which was responded to by a new student, Miss Ora Mae Graves. Our violin teacher, Mrs. Swartsfager, favored us with a beautiful selection on her violin, after which Eleanor Wentworth gave one of her interesting readings, "The Class of '76." The program was closed by two vocal selections by Mrs. Lagourgue with violin obligato.

HOME WORKERS BOOK HELPS BUY BOAT

In the early history of this work, and especially the opening of the work in the South, we learn that the book, "Gospel Primer," was sold by six colporteurs to help buy and operate the boat, "Morning Star," which was used to carry on the work along the Mississippi River.

Brethren W. O. Palmer and James Edson White were the leaders in this enterprise, and through the efforts of this company Brother V. O. Cole, our veteran bookman was first interested in this message.

Such books as "Gospel Primer" along with "Best Stories," "Steps to Christ," "Astronomy and the Bible," and others of the Home Workers' books are splendid material to interest both young and old in the things of God. NOW, right now, is the time to work. Order all supplies from the Southeastern California Book and Bible House.

OBITUARIES

Kelley.—Alma Kelley was born in Australia, Oct. 26, 1900, and died in San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 5, 1926. Five years ago she was baptized by the writer and joined the Seventh-day Adventist church, of which she was a faithful member at the time of her death. She leaves to mourn, a dear companion and one son.

Andrew Brorsen.

Bolton.—Mrs. Mary A. Bolton was born in Ontario, Canada, March 31, 1850, and died in Los Angeles, Calif., at the home of her youngest daughter, March 21, 1926. Aged 76 years. Sister Bolton accepted present truth in 1875, in company with her husband, her mother, and brother, under the labors of Elder W. M. Healey. She is survived by her brother, Dr. W. S. Swayze, four children, Dr. B. B. Bolton, Dr. Blanche Bolton Wilson, William Bolton, and Mrs. Agnes Korf. All are in joyful expectation of a family reunion at the soon coming of our Saviour. Funeral services were conducted by W. B. Passons, Elder of the Riera Church, of which she was a member.

W. S. Swayze.

Herrington.—Sister Flora Johnson-Herrington died at Glendale, Calif., Sept. 13, 1926, aged 74 years, 2 months and 26 days; at the home of Mrs. F. E. Painter, wife of Elder Painter. In 1888 Sister Herrington and her husband embraced the views held by Seventh-day Adventists and united with the Pittsburgh church. The husband was connected with the colporteur work for about 20 years, or almost to the time of his death in 1909. Since that time the widow has made her home with Brother and Sister Painter. Death came after a long and painful illness, but her sickness was borne with patience, and a trust and hope increasing as she neared the end, which cheered the otherwise fainting heart. In her last sickness, her faith was brighter than before and she died in full hope. The tired body is now free from pain. A kind heavenly Father has given to His beloved sleep.

J. E. Fulton.

Winterberg.—Carl Winterberg, Sr., was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1864 and died in San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 18, 1926, at the age of 62 years. He came to the Oakland camp meeting to spend his vacation, and it was while enjoying the heaven-sent messages that he was taken ill. It was the writer's sacred privilege to visit him and hear him confidently declare his firm trust in God and his entire consecration to his Master's service. Quietly and without pain he closed his eyes in the confidence of that blessed hope, the certain return of the Life-giver to reward the weary pilgrims of earth.

Brother Winterberg lived that simple Christ-like life that endeared him to his brethren and earned the high regard of his fellow-citizens. The calm way in which he yielded up his life was an inspiration to his family and friends, as evidenced by the turning of their hearts to God. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife and six children, all consecrated to the finishing of the work of God, together with other relatives and a host of friends. Funeral services were conducted by the writer assisted by Elders Grauer, Neuman and Ellis. Interment was in the Armona cemetery.

Paul E. Scoggins.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eberhardt sailed from San Pedro, Friday, September 24, enroute to Shanghai, China. Mrs. Eberhardt has been one of the Pacific Union Conference office workers for the past two years. Before then she was employed in the Central California Conference office. Mr. Eberhardt was a member of the class of '26 of the Glendale Academy, and the student body was keenly interested in the departure of the first one of their number to enter foreign mission service. Ten dollars in gold was their parting gift. Representatives of the academy and of the union office were at the pier to join with relatives and other friends in bidding them "God-speed."

"CHEERFULLY GIVEN"

(The caption of this article is borrowed from a statement of the donor of the $100 mentioned below.)

Early experiences in the 1926 Harvest Ingathering campaign clearly indicate that the Lord is giving us favor with at least some from whom we have solicited cooperation in our world-wide missionary activities over a period of years.

One business firm in Los Angeles, which, some years ago, at my first solicitation gave $5.00 has increased the amount from year to year until in 1925 they gave $75.00. Learning that our needs are greater this year than ever before, they increased their contribution to $100. Another firm which had, over a period of years, given the uniform sum of $20.00 a year, increased their donation to $35.00 when it was suggested that our program is greater this year. Still another party, accustomed to giving about $10.00 gave $40.00 this year.

These incidents impress the thought that the resources of the world can be drawn upon to assist in finishing the giving of the message. May it not be that at least some of these liberal hearted people will embrace the truth and triumph with it? This is our hope, and this motive will be a source of special inspiration as we present the needs of a great missionary movement which is to reach its grand climax in the event of our Lord's return.

G. W. Reaser.

RADIO NOTICE

Elder A. R. Ogden, President of the Western Washington Conference sends us this word:

"Professor C. T. Everson, who is conducting a series of tabernacle meetings at Tacoma, Wash., has secured the privilege of broadcasting each Wednesday evening over K.M.O. We would suggest that any of our brethren and sisters having radios, or whose friends have them, tune in and listen to the lectures by Brother Everson."

HARVEST INGATHERING ITEMS

Some times people tell us when we are soliciting in the Harvest Ingathering, that we should do more for the poor and needy in the home land and not send all our money to other countries.

In looking over our reports for the last few years, we find that our members in the Pacific Union Conference gave away 548,681 articles of clothing to the poor during a period of four years. They gave 52,260 treatments to the sick and devoted 323,242 hours to Christian help work and made 338,113 visits.

In our dispensary at the White Memorial Hospital between 90,000 and 100,000 persons received medical attention during the last year. Usually the people that come to our dispensaries are poor and many of them can not pay for the help they get. We have also opened a dispensary in San Francisco, which will be a great help and blessing to the poor and needy in that city.

It is well to remember a few of these facts in our Harvest Ingathering and tell the people what we are doing for the poor at home.

The Lord is greatly blessing in the ingathering work. Splendid reports are coming to us. Elder Huenergardt in company with Brother Wolfson made 27 visits in Merced and received a donation at every place, the total amounting to $116.

Let every lover of this message get into the campaign at once and help us to finish this effort within six weeks. Through a united effort this could be done. This is God's work and why not get into it and get the blessing?

David Voth.

ACADEMIC TEACHERS' COUNCIL

More than one hundred delegates were present at the Academic Teachers' Council held at Pacific Union College, August 19 to 25. Elder J. E. Fulton, of the Pacific Union Conference, and the presidents of the local conferences met with us for a part of the time.

Professor W. W. Ruble acted as chairman for all the sessions, and he directed the minds of those present to the pattern found in the Spirit of Prophecy. Professor C. A. Russell represented the General Conference Educational Department.

The distinguishing feature of the convention, which helped the delegates make some long steps forward, was the earnest endeavor of all to rightly interpret the Spirit of Prophecy; determine the pattern, and then to copy it as closely as possible. The point was strongly emphasized by all that our schools are more than teachers of worldly subjects, with the Bible sandwiched in between. Every phase of school life, every subject taught, was presented in the light of eternity.

The fathers and mothers in Israel would have had their hearts cheered had they witnessed the power of the Spirit as it led the teaching force of their schools to a more complete consecration to the ideals of Christian education. This meeting should prove a real blessing to the educational work throughout the union. Already we feel its influence as our schools open for the new year. Under God's care, we are all determined to make 1926-27 the best year in the history of our schools.

Lee R. Marsh.
