"A solemn responsibility rests upon those who know the truth, that all their works shall correspond with their faith, and that their lives shall be refined and sanctified, and they be prepared for the work that must rapidly be done in these closing days of the message."

—Testimonies, vol. 9, p. 154.

From the Lay Congress Workbook for Delegates.

Congress Greetings

Renewing a long standing friendship in front of the Laymen's Congress welcome sign is Elder Clarence C. Kott (left), newly appointed Sabbath school secretary of the Pacific Union Conference, and Elder Dave Olsen, circulation manager of the Pacific Press Publishing Association. Behind the two men is one of many signs posted on the Congress grounds which reminded delegates of Christian service opportunities.

Victorious Living—A Way Of Life for the Christian

Clear, convincing, practical are words that best describe the Thursday evening sermon, "Victorious Living," given by Elder C. E. Moseley, field secretary of the General Conference.

In his dynamic but simple way, Elder Moseley vividly portrayed man's hopeless weakness to sin because of his fleshly nature. Quickly he drew a second circle around the first one labeled "sin." This represented the born again or divine nature. "It is natural for man to sin; the sinner enjoys his sin," he stated. Texts such as 1 John 5:4, 2 Peter 1:4, and 1 Peter 1:5 were used by Elder Moseley to prove that victory, complete and constant, is available to the child of God.

He defined victory as overcoming. "Our only defense is prayer," he stated (Prophecies and Kings, page 588). Using Romans 7:18-20 he stressed the portion Sin in Me, quickly showing the need of divine power through prayer to be in us to assure victory. He said, "I am tempted to anger and to hit someone; I pray and my fist relaxes; I continue to pray and my arm drops; I continue to pray and I lose my anger and High up in the massive auditorium at Soquel a large motto-signed looked down on some 1,400 delegates, 200 church pastors, and hundreds of deeply interested non-delegate visitors.

"You Lead the Way," declared the sign, and down below the attendees of the Pacific Union Conference Laymen's Congress were learning how to follow that charge.

The learning started even before the speaking portion of the first service on Wednesday evening, July 8, had begun. Wayne Hooper, music chairman of the Congress, taught the words of the official Congress song during the musical program which preceded the welcoming and preaching service.

"Lift up your eyes," rang the song; "Harvest time is now! Look on the fields, Harvest time is now! Go in the fields and work today; Now is the time, You lead the way."

When the music had ended the welcomes began. But they were brief. In his welcome, Elder Dan E. Dirksen, home missionary secretary of the Pacific Union Conference, called for "a realization that it is not the church or any group but the individual that is important in the Plan of Salvation.

"Harvest time is now," asserted Elder Dirksen. "The cause of God needs those who will lead the way now."

Elder J. Ernest Edwards, home missionary secretary of the General Conference, presented the evening sermon which was based on the Congress motto.

BECOME "SPIRITUAL SEISMOGRAPHS" COMMITMENT SERVICE LEADER SAYS

Thousands of Adventist laymen and ministers pledged their solemn commitment to "become spiritual seismographs to feel the shocks of humanity and the heart throbs of the human race" at the closing meeting of the Laymen's Congress on Saturday night, July 11.

Elder Adlai A. Esteb, associate secretary of the General Conference home missionary department, challenged the delegates to "become more than spiritual thermometers telling the world how cold it is.

"In this crisis time of the world's history, when nations, instead of being united are at the point of being ignited, we are challenged as individual Christians to lead the way in dedication, in Seven-Day-a-Week witness, in the conduct of Friendship Circles, in the distribution of gospel literature, and in Good Samaritan service," said Elder Edwards.

Rather, you must be spiritual thermostats to set in motion currents of love that will warm the hearts of men," Elder Esteb insisted.

"Every member should look upon himself as a link in a chain let down to save the world," Elder Esteb reminded the lay congress delegates. As he spoke, a chain dropped down from the ceiling of the auditorium, and extended to within a few feet of the platform where the speaker

Lay Congress Informs, Inspires

"The time has come for us to be person conscious," noted the denomination's home missionary leader. "Organizations, church services, things, money are only important as they help people glorify God. At the end, God, people, and character are the three things that will matter. True service for God is directly related to people and for people.

"This Congress should focus upon people and should inspire us as messengers, getting us involved, becoming instructed, and receiving the indwelling of the Spirit of God. The primary purpose is not income and institutions but the individual; not policy and projects but people; not purse and proxy but persons.

Following Jesus Christ

"The greatest days in evangelism and witnessing opportunities are ahead," stated Elder Edwards, "but we must not leave it to the professionals. This Congress will mobilize every Seventh-day Adventist Christian in California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, and Hawaii to be 'Christian in contact.' Much emphasis will be placed on following in the footsteps of Jesus Christ which involves four stages: (1) God pleasing, (2) Venturing for God, (3) Suffering with God, (4) Exploits for God."

Delegates and visitors of the Congress went to sleep on opening night with Elder Edwards' challenge on their hearts. Well could they remember his words "While good works will not save even one soul, yet it is impossible for even one soul to be saved without good works."

On Thursday morning, July 9, the first full day of Congress activities, attendees moved rapidly through lines in the cafeteria of the Central California Conference camp meeting grounds where the Congress was held. Culinary personnel of this conference had perfected a meal serving system which provided food with a minimum of waiting.

Private devotions of those at the Congress were observed from 6:30 to 6:45 on Thursday morning. At 8 o'clock, immediately after breakfast, three devotional services were held in the main pavilion, in an auditorium of the main pavilion, and in one of the large tents on the 100-acre grounds. Congress delegates met in these devotional meetings according to assignments given them when they registered. The assignment of delegates to one of three sections, which met in different devotional and instructional sessions throughout the Congress, proved efficient in giving each delegate a maximum of inspiration and instruction.

Prayer and Study

Prayer, private and public, and study of the Word of God characterized a major portion of the Laymen's Congress. Several times each day groups of leaders and delegates met in prayer, seeking God's guidance for their own lives and asking His direction of the important meetings of the Congress.

Bible study at the Congress was highlighted on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock when four important presentations on the Bible were made. Delegates heard Elder Arthur S. Maxwell, editor of the Signs of the Times, speak on "Love Your Bible." Mary E. Walsh, Bible instructor of the Pacific Union Conference, told delegates how to "Know Your Bible."

"Your Bible's Commission" was presented at the Bible Hour by Elder Clarence L. Duffield, pastor of the Alhambra church, and "Your Bible's Power" was given by Elder Calvin E. Moseley, Jr., general field secretary of the General Conference.

Instruction in Witnessing

On Thursday and Friday the core of the Congress instruction in witnessing was given. Delegates, divided into three sections, attended a rotation of meetings on "Bible Evangelism," "Literature and Visitation," and "Reaching the Heart."

General Conference representatives, Elders J. Ernest Edwards, Adlai A. Esteb, Carl Guenther, and V. W. Schoen, and Miss Maybelle Vandermark, all from the home missionary department, directed the three sections of instruction. Delegates attended these instructional meetings at 9:15 and 10:45 in the morning and at 3 and 4:30 in the afternoon of Thursday. Friday morning's instructional sessions were at the same hours as on Thursday, with the afternoon featuring one instructional session and the special program on the Bible.

Thousands Attend Sabbath Meetings

Sabbath services of the Congress drew more than 5,000 persons to the Soquel campgrounds. Elder Clarence C. Kott, newly elected Sabbath school secretary of the Pacific Union Conference, directed the Sabbath school services which began at 9 a.m. Presentations on Neighborhood Bible Clubs and Branch Sabbath Schools highlighted this Sabbath morning service.

At 11 o'clock the music of the Seventh-day Adventist Symphonic Choir, directed by Mrs. Ivalyn Biloff, called worshipers to an hour of spiritual growth. Elder R. R. Bietz, Pacific Union Conference president, spoke to delegates and the many visitors on "The Early Christian Church."

"Some things can be preserved and pickled," explained Elder Bietz in his presentation, "but there should be no pickled Christians. There are some members of the church who are too well preserved.

"There is great danger," he said, "that the church of today spend all its time inside the temple, that the church depend too much upon machinery and finances to do the work of God. The early Christian church, however, did not depend upon financial resources as does the twentieth century church. They proclaimed the good news everywhere. Their religion was not confined inside beautiful temples. They did not stay within the church walls. They went out and faced the battles of life, bringing the gospel to those in need."

On Sabbath afternoon the delegates enjoyed a musical program at 2:30 and, at 3 o'clock, an inspiring program of youth and adult witnessing results. "Youth in Action," the story of teen-age participation in the current Target 3000 program of the Missionary Volunteer department, was presented by youth under the direction of Elder Miller Brockett, Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Pacific Union Conference.

After the youth program, Elder Dan E. Dirksen directed a program entitled "Miracles and Providences." The experience of this program brought both tears and zeal to many persons as they heard of unusual approaches and results in soul winning.

That evening the Congress reached its climax with a special Commitment Service. Using a giant chain and torches, this service was most appropriate for a Congress which had prepared hundreds of persons to become living links in a chain of service for Christ and bearers of the gospel torch to all men.

stood. In response to his appeal that every attendant become "a living link in this chain," the ministers and laymen on the platform stepped to the chain and each person attached a new link to the chain.

As the appeal for commitment was extended to the entire audience, two laymen appeared at the rear of the auditorium, each carrying a lighted torch. Thousands of laymen and ministers followed these torchbearers down the aisles to the front of the hall for the prayer of commitment. In a semi-darkened auditorium, Elder Esteb appealed to the delegates to "take the living flame which has been kindled in your hearts tonight back to every city and place in the Pacific Union." During this appeal, a beam of light was focused on a huge map of the western states and Hawaii, first spotlighting Soquel and then spreading until it flooded the entire map.

With the influence of this commitment lingering in their minds, the delegates prepared to return to their home churches where they will put the inspiration and instruction of the Congress into practical action.

Dirksen, Pacific Union Conference home missionary secretary, and Elder E. F. Finck, home missionary secretary of the Nevada-Utah Conference, in registration tent of the Laymen's Congress. Nearly 1,700 delegates and non-delegates registered for the Congress.

smile; I continue to pray and I love my brother. Victory is mine through prayer."

Such phrases as, "Satan plays for keeps with our souls"; "he aims at the heart, someone wins in each temptation"; "God does not force His power—we request it," made lasting impressions on our minds.

Every heart was keenly stirred with new dedication and determination as Elder Moseley read 1 Corinthians 10:13 and Proverbs 1:24, showing that "The one who fails is the one who fails to pray." Stating that victorious living is a possibility, he asked the question, "When do we stop sinning?" Hundreds of prayers went up to God as every person in the large auditorium stood to the call and challenge of "Victorious Living."

Permit me to capsule all the thoughts of this wonderful meeting and challenge your heart with one text Elder Moseley read, Romans 10:13, and his statement, "Temptation cannot overcome the power of God."

Elder Eugene Fletcher, home missionary secretary of the Hawaiian Mission, speaks to the Laymen's Congress at the Sabbath morning services on July 11. During the home missionary period on Sabbath morning the Hawaiian delegates presented soul winning experiences from the Islands.

Lay Congress Report

Opening of Laymen's Congress

Responding to the challenge of Wayne Hooper's new laymen's theme chorus, "Lift up your eyes, harvest time is now! Look on the fields, harvest time is now!" and the 30 foot auditorium motto, "You Lead the Way," the Pacific Union Laymen's Congress opened at the Central California camp meeting grounds, near Soquel, Wednesday evening, July 8, with most of the 2,000 delegates on hand.

Present also were the men chosen by our church for world leadership in soul winning plans: V. W. Schoen, specialist in personal work; A. A. Esteb, editor of the lay workers' Go magazine and "poet laureate" of the Adventist Church; C. E. Guenther, who oversees the world wide welfare activities of the denomination; and J. E. Edwards, world head of the department of home missions.

On hand were all the local conference home missionary men: E. F. Finck, from Nevada-Utah; G. F. Friedrich, Arizona; L. E. Fletcher, Hawaii; and representing California were L. W. Hallsted, South-eastern; Philip Follett, Southern; L. E. Davidson, Central; and J. B. Church, Northern. Dan E. Dirksen, union home missionary secretary and director of the Congress, had complete details organized all the way from the 36 separate sessions to the serving of some 6,000 daily meals.

Representing 420 churches and 86,000 believers, the delegates were challenged by Elder Edwards in his Wednesday keynote message to "lead the way in dedication, in grasping opportunities, in effective witnessing. The nearness of the end is our greatest reason for urgent action," he said.

Laymen's Special Sessions Were Study Sessions

At 1:45 p.m. on Thursday and Friday of the Pacific Union Conference Laymen's Congress hundreds of delegates gathered in five special one-hour sessions to study ways of soul winning in greater depth.

The special sessions presented instruction on Greater Outreach Methods, Health and Welfare, Approach to Catholics, Ministers' Forum, and Press Relations Evangelism. On Friday, July 10, special sessions were also held for physicians and literature evangelists attending the Congress.

Some 200 church pastors from throughout the Pacific Union area attended the Ministers' Forum at which methods of directing lay member activity was a major study. During sessions of the Forum, church pastors shared many soul winning methods with their fellow workers in discussions.

The Approach to Catholics sessions were directed by Mary E. Walsh, Bible instructor of the Pacific Union Conference who was a Roman Catholic for many years. Attendees at this special session learned basic rules of soul winning work among members of the Roman Catholic Church.

In sessions on Press Relations Evangelism delegates heard the special methods employed in spreading the gospel through newspapers, radio, and television. Local conference public relations secretaries and church press relations secretaries participated in the meetings of this group. On Friday, July 10, Elder Arthur S. Maxwell, editor of the Signs of the Times, presented a unique report on press relations aspects of his recent trip to Australia.

Ministry to the "Whole Man"

"Emulating the work of Christ, ministering to the 'whole man,' Seventh-day Adventists have entered the war on poverty," Mrs. Chester Meyer, health and welfare director for Southern California Conference, told delegates to the Home Missionary Workshop of the Pacific Union Laymen's Congress at Soquel.

Assisted by Miss Maybelle Vandermark who holds a similar position with the General Conference, Mrs. Meyer demonstrated methods for approaching those in need, cooperating with local welfare services, but providing help to persons who are ineligible for help by other agencies.

Adventists now operate more than 400 fully staffed, full time medical welfare centers in the United States. Services for the general public include meals for "down-and-outers," youth camps for children, emergency ration kits for civil defense, and Bible classes where requested.

"We must contribute to all human needs if we are to be effective," Mrs. Meyer concluded. "We must aid the needy economically, physically, and spiritually. This is a 'whole man' ministry, this was the method employed by Jesus."

Nearly 1,500 delegates from churches throughout five states including Hawaii were in attendance for the three day training session.

Combined disaster aid provided by the churches of North America in 1963: 19,016,967 pounds of food valued at $1,107,950 to seven countries; medicines and hospital supplies valued at $155,858 to 14 countries; disaster victims in the U.S. and in 24 other countries received 578,013 pounds of clothing; 57 orphanages are being operated in Korea; and $33,000 was sent to Iran following their disastrous earthquake. Aid rendered by Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service, Inc. (SAWS), last year totaled $1,863,203.52.

R. E. DUNTON.

Workers in the Laymen's Congress cafeteria prepare hundreds of pieces of pie for lunches which delegates received during the four day, soul winning meeting. Cafeteria workers fed thousands of delegates and visitors each day of the Congress in a smooth, efficient way.

Why Do College and Academy Students Canvass?

There are 130 students colporteur in the Pacific Union Conference this summer. This is the largest group that we have ever had in the field at one time. The enthusiasm and dedication of these youth are an inspiration to all.

Recently, during a gathering of these youth, they were asked why they chose to do this type of work for the summer. You will be interested in some of the answers that they gave.

I want to go canvassing this summer because I want to strengthen my experience with Christ. I have been a Seventh-day Adventist only a short time, and I feel that I must get out and work for the Lord no matter what the cost.

Last summer I worked at a fountain serving people physical food. I have felt for some time that I should start feeding people spiritually, learning of their needs and helping them to find the better way of life. God has done so much for me and I want to do something for Him.

I wish to canvass because I feel that it will accomplish several things for me. It will help me develop my personality and ability to talk to people. It will make it possible for me to earn money for my schooling next year. It will give me an opportunity to see people's needs and to spread the Gospel.

I was seriously ill, and I promised the Lord that when I got well I would do something for Him in a more tangible way. It is my plan not only to sell books, but to enroll many people in the Bible correspondence course. It is my prayer that there will be souls in the kingdom as a result of my summer's effort.

I did not really want to canvass this summer. I was like Jonah. I wanted to run away, but a direct answer to prayer completely blocked my way and showed me that I must go canvassing this summer. I dare not refuse. I love people, and I long for God's blessing.

I feel that Christ is coming soon. I realize that He cannot come until everyone is ready or has had an opportunity to make his decision. The Spirit of Prophecy tells us that this is the last work to close up in this world.

I want to go canvassing this summer because I want to help my parents with my school tuition. I also need an experience of dealing with people, and much has been said in the Spirit of Prophecy about the value of our literature and spreading the Gospel.

Last summer I felt that the Lord was calling me, but I went elsewhere. Again this year at school I felt the call, and this time I want to answer. I feel that canvassing is doing something more than just earning money. It is directing people to the kingdom of heaven. I also feel that I need to be more conversant with people, and I feel that this will help me.

Surely these are heart warming testimonies. It is our wish that you remember these dedicated young people in your prayers during these busy summer months.

Attention Recorder Readers

When you move from one address to another, PLEASE notify the RECORDER office of your new address. Notification cards may be obtained from your post office for this purpose. If you will do this in advance of your move, you will not miss any issues of your paper, and it will save much time and expense in the RECORDER office.

If your address as it appears on your paper is incorrect, please use the same post office notification card to have it corrected. Your cooperation in these matters will be greatly appreciated.

A dramatization of the growth of the "Signs of the Times" was presented at the Laymen's Congress on Thursday evening, July 9. Scene above portrays Pitcairn Islanders opening first package of Seventh-day Adventist literature to come to their island.

Senior Youth—Let's Hike in the High Sierra!

The young people of this conference are cordially invited to go on the Sierra Pack Trip which will leave the conference office Sunday, August 9, and will return Sunday, August 16. This will be an enjoyable vacation before starting school again in the fall.

The beauty of the high Sierra is at its best this time of the year. The ranger tells us that August is the best month for hiking in the Sierra. The wild flowers will be at their best during this time. In the area that we will be hiking there will be a number of lakes to add to the beauty. There is nothing like sleeping under the blue canopy of the sky, high above the smog and away from all civilization. If you have not hiked in the high Sierra, plan now on joining this energetic group of young people.

All applications must be in the conference office by Wednesday, July 29. The total cost for the pack trip will be $25! This includes all meals on the trail and round trip transportation from the conference office to the trail.

With the application form, please send a medical statement from your doctor showing that you are in good physical condition and may participate in all activities related with a pack trip of this nature. In addition to good hiking shoes, bring a pack rack and a sleeping bag. The evenings are cold in the high Sierra, so bring a warm sleeping bag.

If you are between the ages of 16 and 30, desire Christian association with other youth, love the beauties of nature, look forward to the thrill of the trails in the high Sierra—then this is the trip you have been waiting for! Plan now on being with us for this enjoyable pack trip. Send in your application form today, with your $10 deposit—and remember that we must receive this application by July 29. See YOU on the pack trip August 9!

San Pasqual—a Progressive Boarding Academy

San Pasqual Academy is located six miles east of Escondido on Highway 78.

Commencement exercises were held in the attractive, new gymnasium at San Pasqual Academy on May 31. Forty-six senior students received diplomas from Dr. L. M. Stump, thus bringing to a fitting climax an activity-filled year at the academy.

The new gymnasium, constructed during the last school year, was completed in time to be used for the amateur hour. A patriotic program entitled "This Is My Country," featuring San Pasqual Academy's choral groups, and a variety of recreational activities provided an enjoyable evening.

SOUTHEASTERN CALIFORNIA

Acoustical tile has been installed to solve the serious echo problem which had troubled guests at the amateur hour. The gymnasium will seat one thousand guests and will prove useful for such things as one-day religious convocations for our conference.

The annual student talent festival was the first program to be presented in San Pasqual Academy's new gymnasium. Prize winners receive their awards following the program.

This last year, spiritual activities on San Pasqual's campus included a fall and spring Week of Prayer. Elder Harold Beltz, youth pastor of the Loma Linda Hill church, conducted a spiritually invigorating fall Week of Prayer; and Elder W. K. Chapman, also of Loma Linda, effectively presented Christ at the spring Week of Prayer. Twenty-nine student speakers under the direction of Elder Derrell K. Smith, academy pastor and Bible teacher, planned and presented a Week of Devotion as well.

The Friday evening vesper services, the voluntary prayer bands, and Christian association all played their part in maintaining the spiritual tone on San Pasqual Academy's campus. The final vesper service, under Doctor Stump's direction, was the scene of a number of victories for Christ as well as heart-searching and rededication by the faculty and student body. Several students were baptized during the year in the outdoor baptistry.

Marie Stocker and Christine DeLillo are two of the students who were baptized this past year in the outdoor baptismal font by San Pasqual Academy's pastor, Derrell K. Smith.

It is with pride that San Pasqual Academy notes the scholastic achievement of several of its students, among them the following: Alise Schram of Fallbrook, valedictorian, received no grade lower than A during all four of her academy years. Desmond Gibson was awarded a California State Scholarship for high performance in a competitive examination. G. Amplato Olwal of Kenya, East Africa, was awarded honorable mention for an essay entitled "The Africa I Want" which he submitted to the University of California. Only 67 entries of 1,300 submitted received awards from the university; therefore, San Pasqual feels justifiably proud of Amplato's achievement.

San Pasqual Academy, with its sunny country acres, its Olympic-sized swimming pool, Riding Club, gymnasium, its balanced program of work, studies, spiritual and recreational activities, offers an outstanding opportunity to the Christian student who sincerely wishes to attend a Seventh-day Adventist boarding academy. Hammond Grove Sectional Meeting

The churches of Humboldt and Del Norte counties held their annual regional meeting at Hammond Grove, 14 miles east of Fortuna, July 1 to 5. The grove, used by the courtesy of the Georgia-Pacific Corporation, made a fitting setting for the spiritual feast that was planned by Elder Duane Grimstad, pastor of the Eureka church, and his co-workers. There was a full roster of meetings to accommodate the almost 1,500 people gathered over the weekend for this final meeting in the series for Northern California.

The session opened Wednesday evening with L. R. Rasmussen of the Pacific Union Conference educational department as featured speaker.

Another featured speaker of the convocation was M. E. Loewen of the General Conference religious liberty department who brought the latest developments in the field of religious liberty, especially as regards prayer in public schools and the Becker Amendment that is under consideration at this time.

R. R. Bietz, president of the Pacific Union Conference, was the main speaker on Sabbath, July 4, as the largest crowd of all gathered in the redwoods. The weather was beautiful but cool and there was no rain this year for which all were very thankful.

Under Elder Grimstad's general direction there were group meetings, including one for the German speaking people with Elder William Schaeffler. Elder W. E. Jamerson had a well planned section for the youth; William Hull had a tent for the juniors. Doris Surprise took charge of the primary group, Elaine Wolfson led in the kindergarten, and Betty Rouse watched over the cradle roll.

Tasty meals were prepared by Howard Williams and his corps of workers. The public address system which allowed everyone to hear was through the courtesy of Herbert Newman of Crescent City. This was very much appreciated by all in attendance.

We were favored with special music under the direction of Mildred Ostich and Charles Todd. A special musical program was given on Sabbath afternoon. At each meeting there were featured singers and musicians giving beautiful numbers. Mrs. Paul Marsh of Philo was in attendance and brought her organ.

A special feature of the program was the School of Prayer under the general direction of C. M. Mellor, pastor of the Sanitarium church.

Representing Pacific Union College was Elder Carl Coffman of the Bible department who brought early morning devotionals and closed the camp meeting with a stirring message at eleven o'clock on Sunday, July 5.

Visiting missionary from the Middle East Division was Roger A. Wilcox who spoke for the evening services. Elder Wilcox brought a report of our work and its progress in these difficult countries, leading everyone to a deeper desire to consecrate himself to the Lord in this work.

Representatives of the conference were on hand to counsel those present in the various areas of our work. Elders Carl Becker and E. A. Schmidt contributed

Voice of Prophecy Canceled by KGO

We have word from Elder I. E. Gillis of The Voice of Prophecy that KGO, one of the main radio outlets of The Voice of Prophecy in northern California, has dropped the program. This is to inform you that at the present time there will be no Voice of Prophecy broadcasts from KGO in the Bay Area.

We hope you will pray that the Lord will open the way that The Voice of Prophecy may be put on many stations with the daily series which is planned for our conference. Many smaller stations and businessmen of our area have chosen to underwrite The Voice of Prophecy in places where it is feasible.

We trust that this will be given serious thought as the forward thrust of radio evangelism is considered in our conference. We regret to announce that The Voice of Prophecy is going off the air on KGO, but perhaps in the future it can be reinstated. Continue to pray and to give and to work for The Voice of Prophecy in these closing days of earth's history.

Pinecrest Report

Our first Pinecrest Report for the 1964 summer camp period reveals that we have had 18 campers and two staff members on our first academy canoe trip on the Russian River. The camp trip was limited to junior and senior academy students. The canoe trip was followed by a Trinity Alps back-packing expedition of nine plus two staff members.

The first camp at Pinecrest was held for the Japanese church members of Northern California Conference with an attendance of 130 plus 24 staff members.

We are currently engaged in our teenage camp with 165 campers and a staff of 53. The campers are enjoying to the fullest the pleasures of a thrilling vacation in the high country while surrounded by God's Great Book of Nature.

much to the program and led in the organization and details of the meetings.

Special mention should be made of Leslie Titus who provided a portable electrical generator to make possible the lights and the sound system.

Each year we look forward to a spiritual feast at Hammond Grove and this year was no exception. We feel sure that those in attendance were spiritually blessed as they gathered in this beautiful redwood grove in northern California to worship the Lord.

Forest Hull with the American flag and Major Glenn Bowen with the church flag led the members of the Paradise church and their visitors from the old house of worship to the new sanctuary on the day of the formal opening, June 13.

Formal Opening and Transfer to New Paradise Church

A unique service was held on the campus of the Paradise Seventh-day Adventist church when the transfer of the membership from one church building to another was effected with a processional of the congregation following an act of worship in the old church building, and leading to an act of worship in the new church building. This was unique in the sense that very seldom do congregations have the privilege of marching from an old church to a new one.

The early morning service was held in the old Paradise church which has served the congregation well for many years. A history of the church was given by Mrs. Glendon Yeoman; and a male quartet, William Becker, Don Hardt, Dean Hoiland, and Merlyn Reeves, brought a beautiful note of harmony to this morning worship. The concluding act of worship was given by Dr. M. C. Horning.

The procession formed outside the old house of worship to march across the campus to the new church. On hand to lead this procession were Major Chaplain Glenn Bowen and Forest Hull who, with the American flag and the church flag, led the procession as the membership marched across the campus into the new house of worship. It was a very colorful and solemn procession. As the membership filed into the new sanctuary a sense of solemnity fell upon the entire congregation as they met for the first worship service in this new house of God.

The choir in their robes brought beautiful music, and the prayer of consecration was given by J. H. Meier. History of the new church building was brought by Dr. E. J. Mallory.

One of the high lights of the service was the transfer of keys to the new sanctuary. Sherman Farrar and Cecil Mays gave the keys to A. G. Streifling, pastor of the Paradise church. A male quartet sang "Bless This House," a fitting introduction to the service.

Greetings and well-wishing statements were brought by Senator Stan Pittman, Assemblyman Harold E. Booth, Supervisor Emil Steinegger, Judge Gene Morony, and Dr. C. H. Layland. A representative from the Paradise Chamber of Commerce brought a word of welcome to the congregation, and Chaplain Glenn Bowen spoke of the appreciation of this contribution to the spiritual life of the men in service. Elder C. I. Chrisman called for an offering of thanksgiving. The choir sang an appropriate number just prior to the sermon by Carl Becker, president of Northern California Conference. He brought a stirring message of consecration to the finishing of the work, and W. D. Walton of the St. Helena Sanitarium gave the benediction.

The service will long stand out in the memory of those present. The beautiful grounds and the appointments of this new church edifice are a credit to the members of Paradise and will be a witness to the community in this particular area.

Three Things

Yes, three things are important when you wish a change of address for the PACIFIC UNION RECORDER (or any other publication).

Your name, your old address, and your new address are all essential. And it is a great help if you give your name as it appears on the paper reaching you.

If you have made a request for a change of address and it has not been done, perhaps you should send it in again, making sure that you give the "three things."

Ellsworth Reile Accepts Post in Southern Union Conference

Elder Ellsworth Reile, who has been the MV secretary of the Southern California Conference since 1959, has accepted a call to become the MV secretary of the Southern Union Conference with headquarters in Decatur, Georgia.

Ellsworth Reile

Born in Hebron, North Dakota, Elder Reile entered denominational work in 1949 after graduation from Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska. His first responsibility was as a district pastor in Sterling, Colorado. He was lay evangelism secretary for the Colorado Conference from 1952 to 1954, when he was elected MV secretary of the Kansas Conference. This was followed by similar responsibilities in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference.

Elder Reile replaces Elder Desmond Cummings who was elected to be president of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. A successor to Elder Reile will be chosen by the Conference Committee at their next regular session.

This group of people with Elder Wilford Goffar, left, and Elder Don Doleman, right, were baptized in the Santa Barbara church as a result of meetings conducted by Elder Doleman. Elder Doleman and his associates—Carl Barnaby, music director, and Tressie Busching, Bible instructor—held meetings in Santa Barbara beginning April 3 and running three nights each week. Attendance was from 100 to 150. Elder Goffar, the pastor of the church, expected another five or six to be baptized a week after this picture was taken.

Lynwood Church Honors Its Graduates

Sabbath, June 6, was a special day set aside by the Lynwood Seventh-day Adventist church to honor its youth and especially its graduates.

Elder Robert Beck, the youth and associate pastor, presented each graduate with a gift from the local church. Seventeen eighth grade graduates received a Pictorial New Testament. Twenty-eight academy and high school graduates received either the book Love Unlimited or Dimensions in Salvation; three college graduates received a King James Version of the Bible with Richards Helps.

Elder John F. Knipschild, the educational superintendent for the Southern California Conference, presented a few thoughts in honor of those who were receiving their diplomas of achievement. To climax the inspiration of the morning, the pastor, Elder Gerald R. Hardy, presented a special sermon geared for all the youth, entitled "Christ Our Pilot."

Both the elementary school and the academy were represented on the platform in the persons of N. L. Parker, principal of Lynwood Academy, who gave the morning prayer; and the newly elected principal of the grade school, James Miller, who called for a special church school offering. Mr. James Kaatz, who has been principal of the elementary school for the past two years, was also present to offer his congratulations to the graduates of 1964.

New Pastors in Southern

Two pastors have recently joined the ministerial force in Southern California.

Elder S. B. Olney is joining the pastoral staff of the Long Beach church. He was formerly pastor in Sheboygan, Wisconsin. He has been home missionary and Sabbath school secretary of the Northern New England Conference and also of the Chesapeake Conference. Mrs. Olney is a former Bible instructor in the Southern New England Conference and also did similar work in the Oklahoma Conference.

Elder Wayne P. Thurber is the new youth pastor of the Glendale City church.

Wayne P. Thurber

Native of New Hampshire, he graduated from Southern Missionary College and received his master's degree from Boston University. He began his ministerial work as pastor in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. He has also been the educational-MV secretary of the Alabama-Mississippi, Carolina, and Southern New England conferences. Prior to coming to Glendale he was principal of Golden Gate Academy.

The Southern California Conference extends a cordial welcome to these two new pastors in the field.

South Bay MV Rally

Sabbath afternoon, June 27, at 3:30 p.m., approximately 200 people gathered at the Torrance church for the South Bay Missionary Volunteer Association's quarterly rally.

The theme of the rally was "If You Love Me." Elder Gery Friesen was the guest speaker. The Hawthorne Youth Choir sang several musical selections. Elder Ellsworth Reile gave a report on the MV Target 3000 projects in the conference.

The date of the next rally is September 19, at the Inglewood church.

Seven Baptized at Ditman Spanish Church

Angel de la Torre, pastor of the Ditman Spanish Seventh-day Adventist church, baptized seven souls on Sabbath, June 27, as a large group gathered to witness the ceremony. "What the world needs is more men and women who will stand for truth," were the words of Pastor de la Torre.

Ditman's best move of 1964 took place a week before when we carried out an organized plan by starting two branch Sabbath schools, one in Pico Rivera and the other in the Whittier area. Our young people who took part were enthusiastic as they carried and displayed the American flag and others. They went to many homes and explained our purpose—that we plan to have Bible studies every Sabbath afternoon for the children. Many people responded and thought it was a good idea, and they promised their cooperation in sending their children.

Land Purchase at Ridgecrest

The purchase of five acres of land in a choice location in Ridgecrest, California, has just been completed. This land will be held until the present church property is sold. Then new church and school buildings are to be constructed.

For some time a need has been felt for more classroom space. Dorcas and Pathfinder facilities have also been needed. To build these on the present site requires also off-street parking space which cannot be provided. Careful study has revealed that a better plan is to rebuild the church plant in a new, less-crowded area where we might have more space for parking and for the school playground.

The new church site is well located between two beautiful new churches and a new school. A proposed new community hospital would also be located nearby. The present view of surrounding mountain crests is inspiring.

RALPH E. BROWNING, Pastor,
Ridgecrest Church.

This group of young people is only part of the large number of this year's graduates who were honored on Sabbath, June 6, at the Lynwood church.

Newbury Park Academy's Staff Take Advanced Study

Summer study is first on the list for 14 of Newbury Park Academy's faculty members.

Attending La Sierra College summer sessions are Mr. Edward Broadbeck, working toward his master's degree in history; and vice principal H. B. Wilcox, who won a National Science Foundation scholarship grant. Mr. Calvin Unterseher, new English instructor at NPA this fall, plans to complete requirements for his master's degree while at Pacific Union College this summer.

The academy's musical brother-sister team, Mr. Dale Rhodes, band director and Bible instructor, and Mrs. Carol Brummett, choir director, are at Andrews University where he is taking graduate work in religion and she is studying for her master's degree in music education.

NPA's piano and organ instructor, Mrs. Maude Wolfe, is studying for her master's degree in music education at the Claremont Graduate School.

Mr. Lowell Hagele, new science and mathematics instructor for fall, is working toward his master's degree in science and mathematics at San Jose State College. Mr. Larry Wolfe, mathematics and industrial arts instructor, is continuing work toward his master's degree in industrial arts at Los Angeles State College.

Others studying close to home are the following enrolled at the University of Southern California: Mr. Charles Teel, Jr., Bible instructor, taking courses in counseling; Eimei Djang, new typing and shorthand instructor, beginning work for her master's degree in business education; Mr. Frank Dupper, assistant business manager, continuing work for his master's degree in business education; LeRoy Crew, new physical education instructor, working on his master's degree in physical education and biology; Mrs. L. W. Roth, English and reading instructor, taking graduate courses in secondary curriculum planning in preparation for some new types of courses at NPA this fall.

Farthest away from home for summer school is Mrs. Marta Teel, studying French at the University of Paris, one of the few schools that gives specialized training in the St. Cloud method, introduced at NPA this past school year.

Newbury Park Academy.

News Notes

✓ Elder and Mrs. Walter Barber, who were injured in an automobile crash near Modesto, are now at the Glendale Sanitarium. Mrs. Barber expects to go home soon but will be in a cast for some weeks to come. She suffered compound fractures of the right leg. Elder Barber has a crushed vertebra and will be in the Sanitarium for some time.

✓ Elder Merwin Jones, who was recently beaten and robbed, had surgery to set bones that were broken just below the eye. He has been quite seriously ill in the Glendale Sanitarium but has now been dismissed.

✓ Three new secretaries have joined the office staff. Marlene Mays, from Sacramento, is working in the accounting office. Barbara Bennett, Rochester, New York, is secretary to Ann Samograd, classroom supervisor. Joining Elder John Knipschild in the education department is Paris Eisenhuth from Pottsville, Pennsylvania.

Physical Fitness Class Held Recently in Paso Robles

In a time when physical fitness has been in the news on a national basis, a unique program to promote physical fitness has been presented by the Seventh-day Adventist church of Paso Robles.

The five weekly sessions under the direction of Pastor and Mrs. Lloyd Stephens had the promotion of healthful living and sensible weight control as the main objectives. An average of 22 residents of the community were in attendance each night to view films which supplemented the nightly lectures and to enjoy interesting discussions stimulated by the lectures.

Preceding each lecture, Mrs. Betty McGee, a registered nurse, conducted a weigh-in, and she recorded the individual weight gain or loss of class members throughout the series. The results were truly gratifying.

Dr. Stanley Kirk was speaker for the opening class and discussed the objectives of the clinic. The effects of obesity on our general well being, social life, and home life were emphasized. Statistics from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicated the increased incidence of disease and reduced life expectancy with obesity.

At the second session weight reduction through diet was the topic presented by Dr. Deone Hanson who discussed temperance in eating and the importance of educating our will and tastes as the answer to weight control.

The third class was devoted to exercise. Mr. Willard McGee lectured on the necessity of exercise, importance of calorie counting, and adapting our diet and physical activity to our age and physical abil-from the individuals of the classes have truly helped the church members leading in the programs to receive a blessing.

"You folk are doing a fine job," was the comment of the minister of one of the Protestant churches at the close of the last session of the physical fitness class. He had also attended a stop smoking class and believes our church has done a great deal for the people of the community. It has set our principles before the community in very effective ways.

A lady member of the fitness class said her only regret was that more residents didn't take advantage of the program. This was the first such program presented in Paso Robles, but the enthusiasm of the class leads us to believe that it will not be the last.

Developmental Reading Program at La Sierra College

A unique feature of the second half of the summer session, July 13 to August 11, at La Sierra College is a developmental reading program, administered by the Baldrige Reading Services, Inc., of Greenwich, Connecticut. The threefold objective of the program is to sharpen concentration, to improve comprehension, and to increase reading rate. The approach used by the Baldrige system is the application of reading and study skills to each student's textbooks, study assignments, and resource materials. This is a very practical and immediately rewarding plan, since the student does not need to make a transition from general reading materials to school subject material.

Students will receive individualized instruction from a skilled Baldrige Reading Services counselor, practice on individual training equipment, and use a wide range of tests and other training materials prepared from college and secondary school textbooks to suit individual needs. "The Techniques of Reading," co-authored by the director of Baldrige Reading Services, Mr. Kenneth P. Baldrige, and currently used in reading programs in more than one hundred colleges, is also used in the program.

The Baldrige summer program is being conducted in 17 states, including California. La Sierra College is one of six schools in the state offering this service.

Faculty Attending Conventions

Mrs. Mary Byers, head of the department of home economics and associate professor of home economics, and Mrs. Fonda Chaffee, food service director and assistant professor of home economics, are scheduled to attend the Seventh-day Adventist Dietetic Association meetings at Walla Walla College, July 23 to 26, and the American Dietetic Association meetings to be held in Portland, Oregon, July 27 to 31.

Dr. Ronald Drayson, vice president for development, has been attending the National Conference of the American College Public Relations Association being held in Los Angeles.

Arrival of New Faculty Members

Elder Robert Osmunson, formerly youth leader of the Ohio Conference, has arrived on campus. He will teach in the division of religion and direct the student recruitment program for the college. Elder Osmunson is already busily engaged in his new work and has spent a weekend at the Arizona camp meeting visiting with prospective students and becoming acquainted with the workers and the constituency in that area. He will be meeting with other groups of young people and workers throughout the remainder of the summer and during the school year.

Mr. Roscoe Swan, formerly the principal of the ten-grade school in Corpus Christi, Texas, arrived July 13 to assume the responsibilities of credit manager. Mr. Swan replaces Mr. Don Pierson who is leaving the middle of July to take up his new work as teacher of business administration at the Adventist College of West Africa in Ilishan, Remo, Nigeria. We have appreciated the service which Mr. Pierson has rendered to the college and wish him God's richest blessings in the service of foreign missions.

We wish to welcome Mr. Swan, his wife Esther, and their five children to our college community.

LSC Faculty Members to Fine Arts Camp at Rio Lindo Academy

The following LSC faculty members are to assist with the Fine Arts Camp at Rio Lindo Academy August 9 to 19: Harold B. Hannum, in charge of organ; Eugene Nash, associated with Mr. Ellsworth Judy of Rio Lindo Academy in band instruction; Alfred Walters, director of the orchestra; Perry W. Beach, head of piano and theory; H. Allen Crow, assisting with piano and teaching of music appreciation; Herschel Hughes, assisting with art; and Robert Osmunson, as a guest speaker.

Mrs. Brenda Ferguson, a former student of Professor Walters, will perform as guest artist in a recital to be given on the last Sunday night of the camp.

Thirty La Sierra Students Colporteur This Summer

Approximately 30 La Sierra College students are colporturing this summer in the Pacific Union, Washington, Canada, Alaska, and several eastern states, reports Ulla Svendsen, colporteur club president.

Among the students who are colporturing in the Southeastern California Conference are Miss Svendsen, David Newman, and Bob Boney; and in the Central California Conference are Carol Nelson and Nanci Ann Burgett.

Three LSC theology majors are canvassing in Canada this summer. These students are Jim Robinson, Terry Trout, and Marlin Baerg. The other student colporteurs had not at this writing announced the locale of their work.

Professor H. B. Hannum to Be at Fine Arts Camp

Prof. Harold B. Hannum, head of the music department of La Sierra College and an Associate of the American Guild of Organists, has consented to head the instruction in organ at the Pacific Union Fine Arts Camp to be held at Rio Lindo Academy August 9 to 19. We are grateful for this strong addition to our already excellent team of over thirty staff members selected from the colleges and academies of the entire Pacific Union.

Professor Hannum has an enviable record of service in the denomination. After five years of teaching at Washington Missionary College, he taught fifteen years at Emmanuel Missionary College, and has now seen all of twenty years of instruction at La Sierra College. He has written numerous articles regarding church music for the Review and Herald and The Ministry magazine. He was an editor of music for our present Church Hymnal.

MV Target 3000 Wins Nine More

Friday night, June 19, at the Prescott, Arizona, camp meeting, a beautiful MV certificate award indicating nine baptisms was presented to Miss Collins, MV leader of the Beacon Light church of Phoenix.

The nine people baptized had been won through MV Target 3000.

Thirty of the MV's had been active in Friendship Teams. Others are interested.

Ed Anderson, MV secretary, assures me that Arizona will soon be over its baptismal goal of 26 won through Target 3000.

A report just received from the General Conference indicates that 217 MV Target projects have been held in the Pacific Union since the first of the year, and 106 people have been baptized. We believe this is only the beginning, for by the end of 1964 we are expecting our youth to have won over 700 by this plan. By conferences, the baptisms to date are as follows:

Arizona	9
Central	9
Hawaii	0
Nevada-Utah	3
Northern	10
Southeastern	45
Southern	30

UNION 106

We rejoice to see the youth taking hold of evangelism in this way. We believe, too, that the best way to stop the "drop-outs" of our youth is to enlist them in a program of sharing.

MILLER BROCKETT, Youth Director,
Pacific Union Conference.

All in One Week

Once each year the literature evangelists and the leaders in the publishing department dedicate one week to an all out effort to see more people, to make more sales, and to win more souls.

The special week for 1964 is now history, and the records reveal some very interesting figures for the Pacific Union. The hours worked totaled 4,119. The total deliveries were $45,573.47. There were ten colporteurs who delivered $1,000 or over for the week. Bert Bolan of Bakersfield had the highest deliveries with $1,743.90.

The first five months of 1964 show substantial gains over the same period last year.
