The Keys Entrusted to Seventh-day Adventists

"... I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."—Matt. 16:19.

To the Seventh-day Adventist Church have been given the Keys of the Kingdom. Every church member is to esteem it a privilege to be entrusted with the Keys. To be living in a period when these Keys are to do their appointed work is indeed a solemn responsibility.

These instruments have been used to open up the mission fields of the world. Our Bible-filled books and periodicals are mightily used by God to unbolt doors and unlock human hearts to the message. Our souls pulsate with joy as we read the experience of those who, with divine skill, are taking their Bibles and going from door to door.

Those precision instruments of divine origin, when used by the dedicated lay member, will open the kingdom of heaven even to the most unpromising and seemingly irredeemable. What should we do when we meet with a Roman Catholic who says: I will not listen to anything that will run counter to my faith?

Ask for their Holy Scriptures and reverently read about our blessed Saviour and His promise to return, or turn to any other Bible topic. Watch the change, belligerency has disappeared—the Keys are doing their appointed work in opening up the kingdom of heaven.

Many a laborer fails in his work because he does not come close to those who most need his help. With the Bible in hand, he should seek in a courteous manner to learn the objections which exist in the minds of those who are beginning to inquire, "What is truth?" Carefully and tenderly should he lead and educate them, as pupils in a school. Many have to unlearn theories which they have long believed to be truth. As they become convinced that they have been in error concerning Bible subjects, they are thrown

Recorder to Carry Reports on General Conference Session

Between now and June 13, some eighty-six delegates representing the Pacific Union Conference will be traveling to Detroit, Michigan, for the fiftieth General Conference Session of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

On June 13 many of the delegates will begin attending departmental councils which will provide valuable information and instruction until the first meeting of the General Conference Session opens at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 16.

Through two issues the PACIFIC UNION RECORDER will be bringing stories and pictures of these pre-session departmental councils and of the General Conference Session itself. These stories will stress the relationship of the Pacific Union Conference delegates to the meetings. They will be designed to supplement, not to take the place of, the valuable day-to-day reports that will be given through the Review and Herald.

A Recorder Editorial

At a special constituency meeting held in Gridley, California, on Sunday, May 22, the Northern California Conference accepted a thriving 673 acre ranch valued at $660,000 as a gift to be used in building up the educational program of the conference. It is the intent of the Northern California Conference to construct an academy on this property.

Brother and Sister Victor Hoag, long time members of the Advent faith in the Gridley area, made this gift to their church as an expression of their deep gratitude to God for the blessings He has brought to them in their walk along the Christian pathway.

We would applaud the spirit which motivated Brother and Sister Hoag to make this gift to help build Christian education in their conference. At a time when Christian and secular education stand in such stark contrast, the faith in Christian training expressed by this gift stands as a shining example to every member of the church to study what he or she may do to provide Christ centered instruction for Seventh-day Adventist boys and girls.

Japan Missionary College Choral Arts Society in Southeastern

For seven whirlwind days shared by Southeastern and Southern California, the Japan Missionary College Choral Arts Society members sang and toured through as many as five appointments a day and into the hearts of millions of Californians April 18 to 24.

Although it was not until the day after they arrived at Los Angeles International Airport that the choir came to Southeastern, their first appointment was an outstanding success in Garden Grove. At installation ceremonies of the new Garden Grove mayor, a scroll was presented from the governor of Japan's Chiba-ken Province and three selections were sung. Orangewood Academy students provided supper for the singers and later in the evening their first formal concert in Southeastern was presented at the academy's new auditorium.

Similar mayors' concerts were presented in Riverside and San Diego. A special concert was presented for the administration and former missionaries to Japan in Loma Linda. At La Sierra College their audience surpassed expectation and the overflow crowd gave the choir a standing ovation.

The San Diego Adventist Ministerial Association sponsored a public concert at Hoover High School which was presented after an afternoon in which the choir toured the San Diego Zoo and received their supper at the new Paradise Valley Hospital. Church members provided lodging for the members in both La Sierra and San Diego.

The Sun Up Show on San Diego's KFMB-TV featured the choir during its first half hour April 22, giving people of the city another look at these Adventist youth in action before they left for Knott's Berry Farm.

To most choir members Knott's was a new and unexpected delight, for many had never before heard of "ghost towns" or had seen the "insides" of a mine. The students were filled with equal wonderment when they toured Disneyland the following Sunday. They presented special concerts for delighted audiences at both entertainment centers.

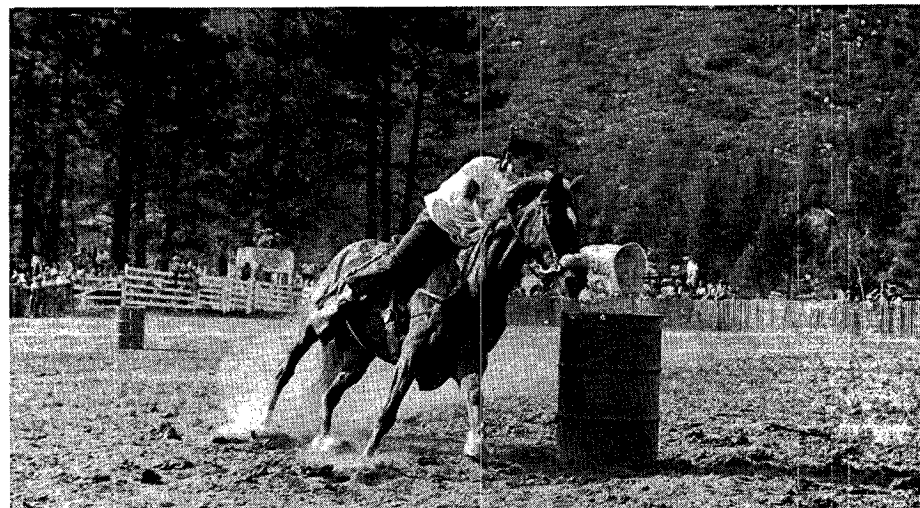

Their biggest live audience during their tour came in San Bernardino when they sang for more than 8,000 people at Southeastern's one-day camp meeting at the National Orange Show Grounds. Their performances included youth church service and a special 20 minute concert in Swing Auditorium in the afternoon.

Leaving Southeastern April 24, the Choral Arts Society left behind thousands of people who now have come to know that their contributions to Adventist missions have produced excellent results. But

Among the special appearances in amusement centers of Southeastern, the Japan Missionary College Choir sang in the Wagon Train Bowl of Knott's Berry Farm.

A Student Outlines Work Opportunities at San Pasqual

Students who plan to attend San Pasqual Academy are offered an opportunity to help defray a portion of the expense incurred by taking a part time job.

There are a variety of work opportunities available for student workers other than those provided by the industries.

The business office and the registrar's office need student help. The teachers need students to assist with the grading of papers. As a "reader," one would not only grade papers but prepare bulletin boards for the classroom, type papers, and do general secretarial work.

Both the boys' and girls' deans employ several students as monitors at various times of the day and as janitors to see that the dormitory is clean.

It is the responsibility of the grounds department to see that the campus is kept spotless—the lawns mowed, bushes clipped, and flowers watered. The cafeteria can always use workers to help prepare food and clean up after meals.

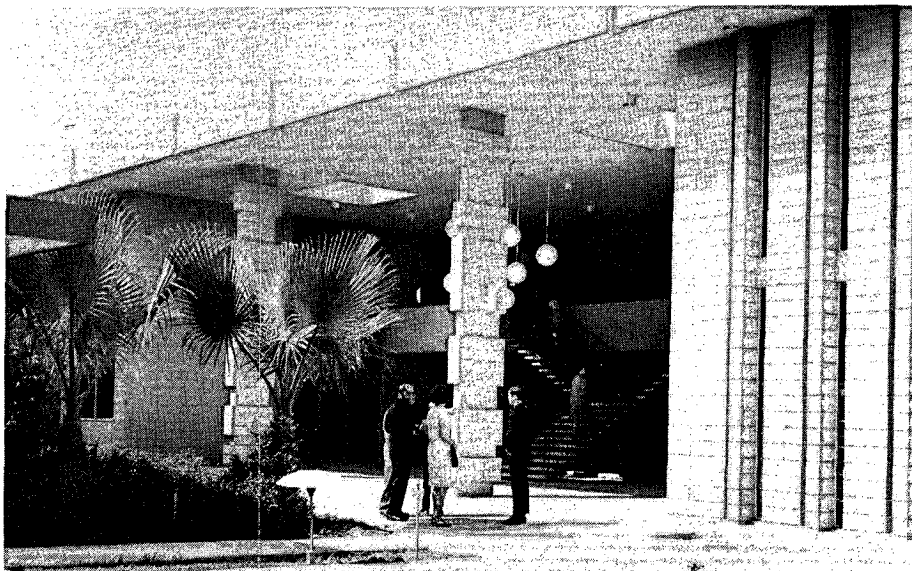

The library employs approximately ten students for checking out books, organizing shelves, sweeping floors, changing bulletin boards, and keeping records up to date.

The music department provides work opportunities for those who enjoy music. If you can play the piano, you could work as an accompanist for private music lessons. Also music hall monitors are needed.

Maintenance department does repair work throughout the campus. The swimming pool is always in use except for a few months during the winter. The life guards are on duty whenever the pool is being used.

It is not only important for a student to work because of the money earned, but also because of the experience gained. The boarding school emphasizes the importance of not only developing a young person spiritually and mentally, but it also emphasizes the dignity of honest labor. San Pasqual Academy is thankful to be able to offer a complete and varied work program for its students. A STUDENT.

University Church Christian Education Building Is Completed

Lobby area of the Loma Linda University church Christian Education Building.

The newly completed Christian Education Building at the Loma Linda University church was opened with a special open house celebration April 11.

The structure contains 18 classrooms, four offices, a fellowship hall, kitchen and cooking school classroom facilities, as well as the Campus Chapel which seats 300.

Badly needed for many years, the building now cares for Sabbath school classes which had been conducted in numerous rooms in nearly a dozen other classroom and dormitory buildings about the university campus. The new Sabbath school facilities care for some 900 children and youth each Sabbath.

First service in the chapel was held April 16, under the direction of the Loma Linda youth pastor, Elder Ron Wisbey. The Campus Chapel is being used for Friday evening fellowship meetings, the midweek service, the youth church service, weddings, and various other services of the church.

The fellowship room is already being used for various church and university social functions, dinners, and receptions. In the future other of the rooms will be used for adult education classes.

We feel that this new structure will greatly add to the spiritual program of our University church.

Health Classes Strengthen the "Right Arm of the Message"

Very familiar is the oft-quoted statement that the medical work is the right arm of the message. But there is another less familiar one, though equally vital, "Gospel workers should be able to give instruction in the principles of healthful living. There is sickness everywhere, and most of it might be prevented by attention to the laws of health."

Seeking a more adequate preparation in order to discharge the above mentioned responsibility, I pursued the course in Public Health Education at Loma Linda University. This course has indeed been a godsend to prepare ministers to work with physicians as a team.

In the religious world the ecumenical movement has opened many doors to hitherto unimaginable dialogue. The threat of war and atomic attack is inducing more people to take the federal Medical Self-Help course. With it come increasing possibilities for further contacts for Christ.

Ours, too, is an age of deep interest in health. Disease prevention is becoming more desirable in view of the rapid increase of chronic ailments. In this area a humble beginning has been made in teaching the gospel of health. Currently, two classes are being conducted. The first is a Medical Self-Help course.

Brother Duane Deutsch, one of our new members, was largely instrumental in gathering neighbors together. Each class

La Mesa Church Pays Tribute on "Aunt Jennie's" Birthday

On a recent Sabbath the La Mesa church paid special tribute to Mrs. Jennie Means, who was celebrating her ninety-ninth birthday. "Aunt Jennie," as she is known, is dearly loved by all who know her.

She doesn't have time to "grow old," for she is too busy doing things for others. Her day begins at 5 a.m. and ends at 8 p.m. Her "escape from boredom" includes tending the beautiful flowers in her well kept yard, looking after her spotlessly clean home where she lives alone, and visiting "the old folks" in her neighborhood.

She takes preserves and jellies which she prepares herself to the sick and shut-ins. She often takes a bus or rides with friends to hospitals and rest homes to visit sick friends. Other "outlets" include membership in a sewing club and two cactus clubs, besides her church activities.

"Aunt Jennie" attributes her longevity to clean living, concern for others, and a never failing trust in God. She reads her Bible faithfully, attends worship services quite regularly, and sets the pace for the Ingathering campaign at the La Mesa church each year by being the first to bring in her Minute Man goal.

A member of the church for 30 years, Aunt Jennie is a source of joy and inspiration to all whose lives have been touched by hers. We pray for God's richest blessing to rest upon her as she continues to witness for Jesus in her community.

member was told initially that the instructor is a Seventh-day Adventist minister and graduate health educator. Without any reference to doctrine, our deep interest in both physical and spiritual health is emphasized.

The second class currently conducted is a pioneering venture. We hope that it will become commonplace. In genuine physician-minister team style, the writer instructs patients in the office of Dr. Kraushaar, a much respected La Habra doctor. In harmony with Spirit of Prophecy instruction, preventive medicine principles are presented by the minister and then discussed informally.

We trust and pray that as a result of this new method the right arm may gain even greater strength to both cure and prevent sickness. R. L. KLINGBEIL.

Mission School Students in Mexicali Missionary Program

Three years ago a group from the Calxico Mission School found some interest to learn about God among children and adults in Mexicali. Now, each Sabbath afternoon, from 75 to 90 meet to listen to Bible stories and sing simple songs that most Adventist children sing.

Food and clothing are given away whenever a supply is available.

The El Cajon Seventh-day Adventist church has helped with $150 as a special missionary project. With this money, missionary coordinator John Lornitz has bought two existing buildings and had enough money left over to construct a chapel of humble design.

Others who have helped are Mrs. John Lornitz, Pastor Manuel H. Nestares, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Montautti, Miss Thelma Turner, and some students from the Calxico Mission School.

There is a sincere desire that of the many who attend about 30 will be baptized and form a nucleus for a new church. This Sabbath school is located on the outskirts of Mexicali near a canal where about 3,000 squatters live on government land. SALLY TORRES.

"A New Dimension in Vibrant Living" was recently presented in four evening sessions of a Nutrition and Cooking Class by Dorothea Van Gundy Jones in Paradise.

More than 300 from the community attended the opening session of the cooking school held in the Paradise Junior Academy auditorium. Keen interest was shown throughout all of the sessions in the economical as well as time saving methods of preparing nutritional foods.

The first class, "What's in Your Grocery Basket?" revealed the right and wrong ways to shop for food for the family. Also featured were desserts.

"Can You Postpone Your Heart Attack?" was presented the second evening. Attractive ways of serving vegetables and salads were demonstrated. The third night featured "The Staff of Life—Is it Broken?" Mrs. Jones compared some of the bread on the market today, so lacking in nutritional value, with delicious loaves of bread containing many body building elements. She baked a loaf of bread, from the beginning to out-of-the-oven in 90 minutes, which was delicious as well as healthful.

The last class, "World Nutrition," included protein foods, and Mrs. Jones told of her interesting experiences while attending and participating in a special nutritional program in Tokyo, to which she was invited by the Japanese government.

During each demonstration foods were prepared and served attractively.

Sponsors of the classes were the Paradise Seventh-day Adventist church, the Feather River Sanitarium and Hospital, and the Paradise Organic Gardening Club.

All who attended felt well repaid for the time spent and were eager to experiment in a new dimension in vibrant living.

Arizona

At the close of the spring evangelistic meetings held at the Phoenix Central church, the congregation, new members, and friends had a wonderful opportunity to attend health and nutrition classes for four consecutive nights.

Mrs. Lavonne Bierwagen, wife of Pastor Roger Bierwagen of Patagonia, Arizona, presented a splendid program to the people as they gathered at the Family Center Auditorium. Each afternoon a number of ladies from the Central church prepared samples for the evening class which began at seven o'clock, the visitors sampling the many good items of food. After lecturing, Mrs. Bierwagen put on a very helpful demonstration showing how the sample items were made earlier in the day.

Door prizes were given each evening. Some persons were given items of food prepared that night and others were given food items provided by Loma Linda Foods, Worthington Food Company, and the Arizona Book and Bible House.

At the close of the last night, Mrs. Bierwagen, a General Conference certificated food instructress, and John V. Stevens, pastor of the Central church, gave out over 70 certificates to those who attended the course faithfully. All felt the cooking school was profitable.

With the command "Pass in Review," eleven Pathfinder clubs marched past the reviewing stand to be observed by Elder Harry Garlick, associate Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Pacific Union Conference. The Mountain View Mountaineers Club carried the colors while the Glendale and Beacon Light clubs furnished excellent music. Mr. Ed McGhee, principal of the Glendale elementary school, directed this musical group which added color to the parade.

The clubs competed in various events: Softball throw, 100 yard dash, and running broad jump. Emmaylin Mason, Beacon Light, Steve Zudell, Central, Nancy McCormick, Tempe, and Tim McCormick, Tempe, were the first place winners in the 100 yard dash. The running broad jump winners were: Janene Reed, Glendale, Larry Dunford, Glendale, Ruth Laspe, Thunderbird, Tim McCormick, Tempe. Softball throw first place awards went to: Susan Tatz, Mountain View, Doug Cowan, Thunderbird, Lenice Maxim, Tucson

Spanish, and Terry Stevens, Thunderbird.

Balloons varying in size from six inches to six feet filled the air at mid-day. Near the end of the day 100 kites took to the sky. (At least 100 tried!) A 15 minute period was given to get the kite 200 feet in the air. The winner, Pat Baione, worked with vigor and finally reached the goal. For his efforts he was awarded a four inch pocket watch.

It takes a lot of effort on the part of all the directors and other leaders to sponsor such a day of activity. You folk are to be commended for your unselfish and dedicated service. Everyone enjoyed it. By the way, you who are parents and church members, why not express your appreciation to all the Pathfinder leaders in your church for their untiring efforts in behalf of your children?

Have a good summer and we will look forward to another "Big" year in Pathfinding!

As far as can be determined there had been no all out evangelistic thrust in Salt Lake City since 1938 when Elder Charles Everson came to conduct a public meeting. A number of smaller meetings have been held by pastors in the past, but not such that covered the Greater Salt Lake area.

Elder Robert Whitsett's Search for Truth Crusade has been well received in the city and the church has loyally supported the meetings. The opening weeks of the crusade meetings were conducted in the Coliseum at the State Fair Grounds, and then as soon as the new Central Seventh-day Adventist church was sufficiently completed the meetings were transferred there.

The Lord has blessed us with 75 decisions by people who wish to accept Christ and join the church by baptism. By the time this article goes to press at least 25 precious souls will have been baptized. It is anticipated that many more will follow

Those who are connected with the meetings as workers are: Elder Robert M. Whittsett, evangelist; Elder Robert T. Hirst, singing evangelist; Miss Kathy Robinson, Bible instructor; Pastor H. Eugene Miller, associate pastor; and Elder Lawrence Davidson, pastor. The laymen of the church have cooperated very well in the ushering and planning the advertising as well as in bringing people to the meetings.

After a two month respite a Field School of Evangelism from Andrews University with ten married couples and the current staff will conduct a second major series of evangelistic meetings in this great city.

Something New Planned for Believers in Hawaii

CAMP MEETING IN HAWAII—a unique experience, a privilege of spiritual blessings, fellowship, and instruction—will be extended to all of our believers in the "Paradise of the Pacific."

Currently plans are being finalized for a weekend camp meeting on each island, beginning with Kauai, September 2; Hawaii, September 9; Maui, September 17;

Hawaiian Mission

Molokai-Lanai, September 23; and Oahu, September 30. A program that will be of genuine interest and rich benefit to all our believers is being planned. Contact your pastor for details.

The camp meeting to be held in Honolulu Friday night, September 30, and Sabbath, October 1, will be blessed with many visiting speakers. This meeting is being planned in facilities large enough to seat our membership from throughout the island field, and we invite all of our people, regardless of where you live within the Islands, to plan to attend this camp meeting, if possible, in addition to the one on your specific island.

At these camp meetings a new missionary program will be introduced which we are confident will bring a new day in soul winning endeavors and the growth of the church in Hawaii.

Mission School Students Promote Faith for Today

It always makes one happy to see young people who are willing to take an active part in promoting the gospel. With the faculty guiding the young people from the Kailua Mission School, located on the windward side of Oahu, they began to work toward promoting the gospel. There were a number of students who sold various and sundry items and others went home to do extra work so that their goal might be realized. At the end of a period of time, $161.78 was turned in to the general fund for promoting the gospel to those who know it not.

The faculty and students felt that the greatest facility for reaching the most people was the wonderful Faith for Today program. A check was sent to Faith for Today headquarters by the principal, Mr. Robert Midkiff. The students know that they have helped in a tangible way.

It is heartening to see the effect that Christian education has on our young people in this day and age. This is only one of many rewards of Christian education.

Physical Therapy at Castle Memorial Hospital

Kanani Akana, nine years old, fell from a mango tree, fracturing her hip, so was brought to Castle Memorial Hospital. The day Mr. Elburton Rice, RPT, arrived, the doctor ordered physical therapy treatments which Mr. Rice gave to Kanani while she was in a cast, and while on crutches, so that today she is back attending school.

Castle Memorial, a 72 bed hospital, has had a full time physical therapist just a little over one year. The 1965 record demonstrates how a small hospital can benefit from having such an individual on its staff. Mr. Rice gave 3,000 treatments to 300 patients who were referred to the hospital by 45 physicians.

On the active staff of Castle Memorial are 35 physicians from the Kailua, Kaneohe, and Honolulu areas, three of whom are Seventh-day Adventists.

Central California

MRS. BESSIE MacMILLAN, known as "Mother Mac," and James Tadd, missionary leader of the Fresno Central church, are two vital members of Central California's "Total Evangelism" team. "Mother Mac" at 94 holds five Bible studies a week and is an active "Signs" evangelist, being just two years older than the "Signs of the Times" magazine. She has been an Adventist all of her life, and the "Signs" has been in her home since early childhood. As far as she can recall, she has never missed a camp meeting from infancy, and she plans to be "present and on time" when the 1966 Saquel gathering begins August 11. "Mother Mac" is a sister of Elder Luther Warren, well known western evangelist and youth leader of earlier days.—Reuben Engstrom, PR Department.

Turlock Evangelistic Crusade Adds Many to the Church

The Wings of Prophecy evangelistic team comprised of Stanley Harris, Jerry Dill, Al Stern, and Viola Brooks has just completed a crusade at the Fairgrounds Auditorium in Turlock. Around 90 souls have been baptized to date. Another 20 or more will be uniting with the churches in the area soon. A number of people are studying and planning to unite with the Modesto church. It has taken more time with these because of a late start in visiting in that area.

The Turlock church has become overcrowded due to the influx of new members. Extra chairs are needed and the overflow is using the choir loft. The Turlock church is pushing ahead with its new building plans, which should be under way in the next month or two.

Turlock is one of the strongest religious towns in the United States. There was great opposition to the crusade meetings by the various churches. Our work was attacked in the press and on the radio. However, the attendance was strong from beginning to end. Our people were extraordinarily faithful. The Adventist physicians and dentists gave outstanding support all the way.

The caliber of people baptized in this series was generally above average. There

San Luis Obispo Church Hosts Area Dorcas Societies

The San Luis Obispo church was the location for the meeting of the Dorcas societies from Lompoc, Santa Maria, Atascadero, Arroyo Grande, and San Luis Obispo on May 5.

Elder D. E. Dirksen, Pacific Union Conference home missionary secretary, spoke on the necessity of broadening the scope of the Health and Welfare Society. He also discussed the value of the youth of the church in the welfare work, and the need to educate the church members to their part in this work.

Elder B. W. Mattison, Central California's home missionary secretary, presented a film on the "Program of Medical Self-help." Each church represented was encouraged to provide this course for the people in its community.

Elder Phelps of the local church opened the meeting with the devotional thought, "Who Is Thy Neighbor?"

The ladies of the Arroyo Grande Dorcas Society were hostesses for the meeting. The luncheon, with the entree furnished by Loma Linda Foods, was enjoyed by the entire group.

were several Portuguese Catholics. A large number of good, strong, aggressive men were added to the flock, and these should provide future leadership in the local church. Practically all who were baptized were adults, due to the fact that our own school children were baptized before the effort began.

The Turlock church members feel that their city has been stirred beyond anything they have ever seen before. The crusade was a topic of conversation all over the city. An interest that should eventually spring up and bear fruit has been planted in the hearts of thousands of people.

In addition to the members of our own team, we should give credit to the lay people of the area for their faithful support. Recognition should also be given to the local pastor, Elder Aaron Wagner, for his complete cooperation. We also had excellent help from Elder T. J. Mostert, pastor of the Ceres church. We praise God for the increase from this soul winning endeavor, and now we look forward to the next crusade to be held in the fall at the San Mateo Fairgrounds Auditorium. This is considered to be a hard place, so please offer a prayer for the salvation of all the honest of heart in this area.

STANLEY HARRIS, Evangelist.

This fine group is part of the 90 who were baptized following the evangelistic crusade conducted recently by the Harris-Dill-Brooks team in Turlock. The Turlock church is building a new sanctuary to accommodate the influx of new members in this rapidly growing area.

Azusa Valley Sanitarium and Rest Home.

Azusa Valley Facility Modernized

What is the Azusa Valley Sanitarium and Rest Home? This is a question often asked by readers of the RECORDER. The Azusa Valley Sanitarium and Rest Home is a convalescent nursing and rest home owned and operated by the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. It is located near the foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains. The home is licensed by the California Bureau of Hospitals. It is also accredited by the State Commission of Accreditation of Nursing Homes in California.

Those who have known the Azusa Valley Sanitarium in the past will be delighted with the newer modern facilities that have been built recently. The facility has been modernized in both buildings and equipment. We would urge that you visit your conference institution and have the delightful experience of seeing senior citizens enjoying pleasant living in this beautiful valley.

WALLACE JOHNSON, Administrator, Azusa Valley Sanitarium and Rest Home.

Ricky Haigh Memorial Auditorium Opened May 15

Two separate ceremonies marked the opening of the new Ricky Haigh Memorial Auditorium of the Inglewood Seventh-day Adventist school.

On May 15 the formal ribbon cutting ceremony officially opened the auditorium's doors to the public. Miss Inglewood, Linda Habif, assisted by city, church, conference, and school officials, cut the ribbon in the afternoon ceremony during a scheduled Home and School Day Fair. Guided tours were conducted throughout the afternoon.

On May 21 the building was dedicated in the evening service of the annual church Homecoming Sabbath. The purpose of the building was explained by George Beckner, M.D., building committee chairman. Present were representatives from city, conference, and school with greetings read from the platform by Mr. Ernest Haigh, first elder of the Inglewood church.

Following the dedication of the building by Pastor Don Parks of the Inglewood church, the school chorus presented a short musical program.

The evening's activities ended with the first volleyball game to be played on the new court.

Voice of Youth '66 Ends With Dramatic Statement of Faith

Voice of Youth '66, "a series of student forums on today's problems," sponsored by the Student Association of Glendale Academy, concluded Friday evening, April 29. The eight conferences, planned by students for students, were held in the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist church youth chapel. Invitations were sent to students and youth organizations throughout the foothill area. Over 800 attended the total of eight meetings.

The theme of the meetings was "God and Man in the Space Age." Topics considered included: "Where Is Our Civilization Going?" "Peace and War—Crime and the Cities," "Are the Ten Commandments Relevant Today?" and "What Is the Christian Way of Life?"

Each program consisted of a presentation on the topic by two Adventist high school or college students, and a general discussion moderated by Allen Brandstater, a journalism major at Glendale College. The speakers were: Roland Perez, Gordon Bietz, Chuck Sandefur, Noel Johnson, Richard Davidson, Mike Hanson, and Don Thurber of La Sierra College; and Tom Farr, Kathy Dirksen, Keith Seltzer, Jan Horsley, Sharon Thurber, Joy Brunt, Lyn Baker, Dean Hadley, and Kathy Jones of Glendale Union Academy.

The Glendale students had laid the ground work for the series by distributing over 150 publicity kits and posters in youth centers, and other places where youth gather, in the foothill area. One whole club of the Methodist Youth League attended, and commented that they would like to start a similar program for their youth.

Monte Sahlin, president of the Student Association of Glendale Union Academy, served as executive director of the project. He stated, "This is real action Adventism. We as students and Adventist Christians must get out and do something for our community. Voice of Youth '66 is a dynamic new evangelistic method of speaking out for the truth."

At the last session on Friday, April 29, which over 200 persons attended, a "Public Statement of Faith" was signed by over 180 students and young people. Monte Sahlin revealed that the youth plan to send it on to other academies and colleges around the world. He said, "We would like to see this statement of faith come back in the future with thousands of signatures on it. This could just possibly be the start of a spiritual re-awakening, a revolution for Christ, within the ranks of Adventist students."

A Public Statement of Faith

Glendale Academy Voice of Youth '66

IN THIS TIME of moral and spiritual crisis it is the responsibility of students and youth to affirm certain eternal relationships between God and man.

WE as young Christians do believe:

THAT our civilization is headed toward moral bankruptcy; that we dare not place our trust in its largely aimless and self-centered leadership; that it is the responsibility of all of us to find the truths of life within our own hearts;

THAT there is an eternal, living God; that He not only is interested in each human being, but cares about the individual's problems and wants to help him, if he will let Him;

THAT the Bible is the truth; that no man, in any walk of life, can fail to have a full life and a rewarding tomorrow if he knows the Book, believes the Book, and lives the Book; THAT war among the nations and crime in the cities are just two of the numerous guideposts toward a great second Advent of Jesus Christ;

THAT all true morality is based on all of the ten principles given by God; that these ten precepts find their basis in love—love for God and love for our fellow men; that in love each of us will find the answer to his problems;

THAT each of us has sinned, and therefore the status quo of this world is sin; that each one of us must fight sin, yet love the sinner, and work toward a bright, sinless, New Earth;

THAT the breakdown of the family is the basis of the social problems of today's world; that now is the time to establish each family on the eternal natural laws of love, faith, and freedom;

THAT the Christian way of life is a total plan based on love; that it becomes part of everything a Christian does, whatever he eats, drinks, reads, looks at, or participates in; that the true Christian will take part in the world around him, becoming involved in action for Christ;

EACH OF US signing here does pledge his moral support, his intellect, and his physical presence to the great task of taking this message of love into the community around us, the nation we live in, and even the whole earth.

PACIFIC UNION CONFERENCE MEDICAL CADET CORPS SUMMER TRAINING CAMP

AUGUST 24 TO 31, 1966

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE CAMPGROUNDS

SOQUEL, CALIFORNIA

WHY MCC TRAINING?

Because of the world situation every male Seventh-day Adventist who is or who will be facing the draft in the near future would benefit from this training. Sabbath observance and a belief in noncombatancy bring some definite problems to Seventh-day Adventists when in the military forces. These problems are kept to a minimum because of Medical Cadet training, though they are ever present. The knowledge of how to meet them, and the knowledge of what the position of the church is on these subjects, is invaluable to a young man facing military service. This camp will be operated by the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists to answer these questions for its young men and to prepare them for the sometimes difficult transition from civilian to military life.

COURSES OFFERED

BASIC TRAINING - MILITARY: Drill and ceremonies, military courtesy, military justice, organization of the Army, and Medical Service, etc.; MEDICAL: Standard Red Cross first aid, evacuation of sick and wounded, sanitation, and prevention of diseases, etc.; CHARACTER GUIDANCE: Principles of governmental relationships and noncombatancy, Sabbath observance in the Armed Forces, etc.

WHO CAN COME?

For practical reasons attendance at camp is limited to those young men who are at least 16 years of age or who will be in at least the eleventh grade the following school year.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

For additional information and application blank, just drop a postcard with name and address to MCC, P.O. Box 146, Glendale, California 91209.

Native Minister From New Guinea Speaks to La Sierra Students

The need of medical and educational help for the people of New Guinea was told to LSC students by Pastor Paul Piari, a native New Guinea minister, at the May 24 chapel service. Introduced by Elder Len H. Barnard of the New Guinea mission, Pastor Piari spoke to the students in pidgin English, translated by Elder Barnard.

Pastor Piari is a member of the Lagaip tribe of northwest New Guinea and is on his way to Detroit, Michigan, where he will be a delegate to the fiftieth quadrennial General Conference session.

Speaking to LSC students, he told of his heathen way of life before becoming a Christian. As he became acquainted with Christian missions, he did not feel they were sincere until he watched the actions of the Adventist mission some miles from his village. He asked the Adventists to send a teacher to his tribe. The only one the missionary could send was a 12 year old boy.

The Lagaip tribesmen did not like the Adventist mission because it forbade smoking and pig eating, so when Pastor Piari and the boy completed a grass hut and church school the people burned them down. Three times this happened. Each time he said nothing but simply rebuilt the hut and church. Today there is a 200 member Adventist church at Laiagam and he is its pastor.

Elder Barnard is a missionary pilot who regularly visits Pastor Piari's area in the Andrew Stewart missionary airplane, which he has flown over 72,000 miles in New Guinea's rugged terrain since 1964. Elder Barnard used to spend weeks trekking into remote New Guinea villages on foot, but now cuts a week's walking to minutes with the plane.

Business and Secretarial Departments Outline Programs

Announcements made recently concerning plans of the business and secretarial administration department for this summer and the coming year indicate that seven hours of graduate study toward the Master of Arts degree in business education will be offered this summer, and the two year stenographic program will now lead to the conferring of the Associate in Arts degree in stenography.

Requirements for the A.A. degree in stenography total 64 credit hours, nearly half of which are in office skills with the remainder in general education classes. Typewriting, secretarial accounting, filing, business machines, and office procedure are taught, with shorthand recommended but not required. The A.A. degree prepares students to qualify for initial jobs as stenographers and general office workers.

This summer the business and secretarial administration department will feature seven hours credit in graduate study toward the M.A. degree in business education. During the six week session, June 19 to July 29, Paul Rosburg, who is on the staff of Fullerton Junior College and teaches part time at LSC, will teach a two hour class, Improvement of Instruction in Bookkeeping. Miss Prudence Ortner, assistant professor of secretarial administration, will teach a three hour class, Curriculum Construction in Business Education.

A workshop in instructional media will be held August 1 to 12, for which two hours credit will be given. Miss Irene Ortner, professor of secretarial administration, will be the director. This workshop will stress a practical approach to the use of the newer as well as the more familiar instructional devices and illustrative materials available to teachers.

Other members of the business and secretarial administration staff include Richard C. Larson, assistant professor and acting head of the department in the absence of Dr. Ralph L. Koorennny, Harvey L. Caviness, assistant professor, and Glee King, associate professor, who will join the staff next fall.

Correction

(The following corrects misinformation appearing in the May 9 RECORDER.)

Mrs. Florence Domingo has accepted a position with the San Fernando Valley elementary school. Miss Rosalie Howard will be teaching grades three and four in the Simi Valley school, and Mr. Robert Millard will be teaching grades five and six in the Simi Valley school.

A.A. Degree in Food Service Supervision Offered at LSC

The La Sierra College Board recently voted to offer an Associate in Arts degree to students successfully completing a new two year program in Food Service Supervision starting September 1966.

This course in Food Service Supervision is the first in denominational history. LSC was requested to offer this new course because of its well qualified staff and convenient location near other large Seventh-day Adventist institutions in the area. Staff members include Mary Byers, M.S., Shirley Moore, Ph. D., director of the program, and seven other staff members with Master's degrees.

The A.A. degree will prepare individuals for careers in food service supervision in hospitals, colleges, boarding academies, and nursing homes. Students with a high school diploma and at least a C average may apply.

$46,300 Is Awarded to La Sierra Students During May 26 Chapel

A total of $46,300 was given away at the annual Awards Day chapel in College Hall on May 26. Because of a high rating in scholarship and citizenship, over 90 students received financial assistance for their education.

Awards were from state scholarships and various organizations that donate money as a financial help to students. There were 14 new state scholarships totaling $9,800 for LSC next year. This coupled with $25,000 in 34 renewals gives a total of $34,800 in state scholarships.

Various other concerns gave a total of $11,500 to help with educational expense of over 40 students.

Academy Choirs Perform in Festival of Choral Music

Sunday evening, March 6, it was my privilege and pleasure to hear the massed choirs of the senior academies of the Northern and Central California conferences presented in a program at Pacific Union College.

We ought to be grateful for the high quality of work being done for our youth in our Seventh-day Adventist schools. Truly they are fortresses of protection, under God, against the increasing iniquity prevalent everywhere.

The large percentage of our teachers in our schools are earnest, dedicated workers striving by God's grace to train our boys and girls for useful service in this world and for the higher joy of greater service in God's kingdom.

This dedication and earnest effort on the part of our academy music directors was clearly evident in the beautiful choral renditions sung by the academy students in the Festival of Choral Music.

As a parent I was thrilled with the high quality both of the music and the performance. It was obvious that the festival was the product of unnumbered hours of work by the music directors and students.

The performance of the honor choir under the direction of Mr. John Thurber was second to none. As I listened to this spiritually inspirational music my heart was filled with gratitude for God's provision of our educational system.

As a parent and a pastor it is my prayer that God will continue to bless and to guide these teachers of our boys and girls. Teachers—I salute you.

Books Make Excellent Gifts

We talk each month about the books we feel you should be adding to your personal library—what, why, and of course how much. Though we do want to encourage you along these lines, we'd like to remind you also that books of every sort make excellent gifts for any number of different occasions.

Take Father's Day, for example, which is just around the corner. Young parents will be delighted with such practical child guidance books as Children Can Be Taught, by Josephine Edwards, or Thelma Beem's Dignity of a Child.

Of course, you've already given copies of By Faith I Live, the 1966 missionary book, to all your close friends. But perhaps a new family has moved into your neighborhood. This would make a fine "welcome to our town" gift. Have you left a copy in your doctor's office and in your beauty salon or barber shop? Remember to take along several copies on your vacation to leave behind in motel rooms.

Two new "Headliner" books from Southern Publishing Association, featuring the new picture-text treatment of current church events, make fine, inexpensive gifts for just about anyone. Miracle of the Microphone, by Bill Oliphant, is the dramatic story of H. M. S. Richards and the Voice of Prophecy. The growth of one small radio program in Long Beach, California, to a worldwide broadcast heard on 1,250 stations in more than thirty languages is an inspiring portrayal of personal faith and determination.

Jamaica: Island of Miracles, by Arthur Sutton, is the second new addition to the "Headliner" series. The rapid advance of mission work in this Caribbean paradise is colorfully told in both pictures and words.

The first two "Headliner" books, released last year, are Wind High, Sand Deep, the story of Monument Valley Mission Hospital by Herbert Ford; and The Heart Menders, by Arthur Sutton. Prices on all these attractive little books are under $1.—why not give the entire set?

If you need any more ideas, visit your local Book and Bible House.
